

- volving death or violence in a way that is strange, frightening, or unpleasant • a macabre story of murder and madness • Police discovered a macabre scene inside the house.
- mac·ad·am /mə'kædəm/ noun [noncount] : a road surface made with a dark material that contains small broken stones
- mac·a·ro·ni /,mækə'rouni/ noun [noncount] : a type of pasta in the shape of small curved tubes • (US) macaroni and cheese = (Brit) macaroni cheese [=a dish of macaroni in a cheese sauce] — see picture at PASTA
- mac·a·roon /,mækə'ru:n/ noun, pl -roons [count] : a cookie made of egg, sugar, and almonds or coconut
- ma·caw /mə'kɑ:/ noun, pl -caws [count] : a bird of South and Central America that has a long tail and bright colorful feathers
- ¹mace /'meis/ noun, pl mac·es [count]
- 1 : a heavy club with many sharp points that was used as a weapon in the Middle Ages
- 2 : a decorated pole carried by an official in special ceremonies as a symbol of authority
- compare ²MACE
- ²mace noun [noncount] : a spice made from the dried covering of a type of seed (called a nutmeg) — compare ¹MACE
- ³mace verb mac·es; maced; mac·ing [+ obj] : to spray (a person) with Mace • She maced the man who attacked her.
- Mace /'meis/ trademark — used for a liquid that stings the eyes and skin and that is used as a spray to defend against an attacker
- Mach /'mɑ:k, Brit 'mæk/ noun [noncount] technical — used to indicate the high speed of something (such as an airplane) by comparing it to the speed of sound • a jet flying at Mach 2 [=twice the speed of sound]
- ma·chete /mə'ʃeti/ noun, pl -chet·es [count] : a large, heavy knife that is used for cutting plants and as a weapon
- Ma·chi·a·vel·lian /,mækijə'velijən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : using clever lies and tricks in order to get or achieve something : clever and dishonest • He relied on Machiavellian [=devious] tactics to get elected. • a Machiavellian battle for control of the company
- Machiavellian noun, pl -lians [count] • a political Machiavellian
- mach·i·na·tions /,mækə'neɪʃənz/ noun [plural] formal + usually disapproving : deceptive actions or methods that are used to get or achieve something • His plans were defeated by the machinations of his enemies.
- ¹ma·chine /mə'ʃi:n/ noun, pl -chines [count]
- 1 : a piece of equipment with moving parts that does work when it is given power from electricity, gasoline, etc. • Shovels are tools; bulldozers are machines. • Do you know how to operate/use/run this machine? • The machine is working/running properly. • The machine is broken. • machine-sorted mail [=mail that is sorted by using a machine] • a fax/copy/exercise machine • a coffee/soda/ice/cash machine [=a machine from which you can get coffee/soda/ice/cash] — often used to refer informally to a specific type of machine • Are there any new messages on the machine? [=on the answering machine] • I have a load of laundry in the machine. [=in the washing machine] • I'm having software problems on my ma·chine. [=computer] — see also ANSWERING MACHINE, FLYING MACHINE, ROWING MACHINE, SEWING MACHINE, SLOT MACHINE, TIME MACHINE, VENDING MACHINE, VOTING MACHINE, WASHING MACHINE
- 2 informal : a vehicle (such as a car or motorcycle) • He was bragging about his new machine.
- 3 a : a person or group that does something efficiently, quickly, or repeatedly like a machine • The coach turned the team into a scoring machine. • My younger brother is an eating machine. • a publicity machine b : a powerful and well-organized group • a politician who dared to challenge the local party machine • a powerful war machine • Their army is a well-oiled machine.
- by machine : with a machine • The mail used to be sorted by hand but is sorted now by machine.
- ma·chine·like /mə'ʃi:n,laɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • He worked with machinelike efficiency.
- ²machine verb -chines; -chined; -chin·ing [+ obj] : to shape (something) by using a machine • The parts of the engine have been precisely machined.
- machine gun noun, pl ~ guns [count] : a gun that is able to shoot many bullets very quickly one after the other • They heard the sound of machine-gun fire. — see picture at GUN
- ma·chine·gun verb -guns; -gunned; -gun·ning [+ obj] • The soldiers were machine-gunned from the air.

- ma·chine·gunner noun, pl ~ -ners [count]
- ma·chine·gun /mə'ʃi:n,ɡʌn/ adj, always used before a noun, informal : very quick • a comedian with a machine-gun [=rapid-fire] delivery
- machine-readable adj : in a form that can be used and understood by a computer • machine-readable data
- ma·chin·ery /mə'ʃi:nəri/ noun [noncount]
- 1 : machines of a particular kind or machines in general • Some of the mill's machinery was damaged in the fire. • a piece of farm machinery
- 2 : the working parts of a machine • Something was clogging the machinery.
- 3 : an organization or system by which something is done • the machinery of government • The United Nations has set up machinery for mediation.
- machine shop noun, pl ~ shops [count] : a place where metal parts are made and put together
- machine tool noun, pl ~ tools [count] : a tool (such as a drill) that is powered by electricity and designed for shaping metal or wood
- ma·chin·ist /mə'ʃi:nɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who makes, repairs, or operates machines • He is a machinist at the factory.
- ma·chis·mo /mə'ʃi:zmou, Brit mə'ʃɪzməu/ noun [noncount] often disapproving : an attitude, quality, or way of behaving that agrees with traditional ideas about men being very strong and aggressive • athletes displaying their machismo • a culture of machismo
- ma·cho /'mɑ:tʃou, Brit 'mæʃəu/ adj [more ~; most ~] often disapproving : having or showing qualities (such as very noticeable strength and aggression) that agree with traditional ideas about what men are like : manly or masculine in a very noticeable or exaggerated way • He thinks he's a real macho man. [=a very masculine man] • the macho world of football
- mack variant spelling of MAC
- mack·er·el /'mækərəl/ noun, pl -el or -els [count, noncount] : a large fish that lives in the northern Atlantic Ocean and is often eaten as food — see color picture on page C8
- mack·in·tosh /'mækən,tə:ʃ/ noun, pl -tosh·es [count] Brit, old-fashioned : RAINCOAT — called also mac
- mac·ra·mé /'mækra,meɪ/ noun [noncount] : the art of tying knots in string to make decorative things • Her hobbies include knitting and macramé; also : things made in this way • her collection of macramé
- mac·ro /'mækrou/ noun, pl -ros [count] computers : a set of instructions that causes a computer to perform a series of tasks
- mac·ro- /'mækrou/ combining form : large • macroeconomics
- mac·ro·bi·o·tic /,mækroubaɪə'tɪk/ adj : consisting of mainly whole grains and vegetables • a macrobiotic diet
- mac·ro·cosm /'mækra,kɑ:zəm/ noun [singular] : a large system (such as the entire universe) that contains many smaller systems — compare MICROCOSM
- mac·ro·eco·nom·ics /,mækrou,ekə'nɑ:mɪks, ,mækrou,ɪ:kə'nɑ:mɪks/ noun [noncount] : the study of the large economic systems of a country or region — compare MICROECONOMICS
- mac·ro·eco·nom·ic /,mækrou,ekə'nɑ:mɪk, ,mækrou,ɪ:kə'nɑ:mɪk/ adj
- mad /'mæd/ adj mad·der; mad·dest
- 1 not used before a noun, chiefly US, informal : very angry • If you keep teasing that dog, you'll make/get him mad. • She's mad at me. = (less commonly) She's mad with me. • What are you so mad about? • That guy makes me so mad! • She was mad at me for being late. = She was mad that I was late. = She was mad about my being late. • She was hopping mad. [=extremely angry] — see also fighting mad at ¹FIGHT
- 2 a : having or showing severe mental illness : INSANE • (chiefly Brit) The man in the park was clearly mad. • a movie about a mad scientist • He was stark raving mad. [=completely insane] = (Brit) He was barking mad. b : unable to think in a clear or sensible way • He was mad [=insane] with jealousy/anger. • (chiefly Brit) They must have been mad [=crazy] to buy that house. • a power-mad prosecutor c : very foolish • (chiefly Brit) He made a mad decision to drive home in the storm.
- 3 chiefly Brit, informal : liking someone or something very much : very fond of or enthusiastic about someone or something • She's mad for a cute boy in her class. • He's mad keen on sailing. — often + about • She's mad [=wild] about dancing. • He's mad [=crazy] about her.

4 always used before a noun : wild and uncontrolled • There was a mad [=frantic] rush when the store opened. • a mad scramble drive (someone) mad 1 : to cause (someone) to become mentally ill • Years alone in the jungle had driven him mad.

2 : to annoy or bother (someone) very much. • That noise is driving me mad!

go mad 1 : to become mentally ill • Sometimes I think the whole world has gone mad! • He had gone mad after years alone in the jungle. 2 : to act in a way that is out of control : to act wildly • The crowd went mad [=went crazy] when the team won the championship.

like mad informal 1 : with a lot of energy and speed • We've been working like mad [=like crazy] to get done on time. 2 : very quickly • Cars were selling like mad. • He's been spending money like mad. 3 : very much • She started shivering like mad.

mad as a hatter see HATTER

mad·am /'mædəm/ noun, pl -ams [count]

1 pl mes·dames /meɪ'dɑ:m, meɪ'dæm/ formal — used to politely speak to a woman who you do not know • Would madam care for a drink? = Would you care for a drink, madam?

2 Madam — used at the start of a formal letter to a woman whose name you do not know • Dear Madam • Dear Sir or Madam

3 Madam — used when you are speaking to a woman who has a high rank or position • Madam President • Madam Ambassador

4 : a woman who is in charge of a brothel

5 Brit, informal + disapproving : a girl who expects other people to do things for her • She was a bossy little madam.

ma·dame /mə'dæm, mə'dɑ:m/ noun, pl mes·dames /meɪ'dɑ:m, meɪ'dæm/ [count] — used like Mrs. as a title for a married Frenchwoman mad·cap /'mæd,kæp/ adj, usually used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : very foolish or silly • a madcap scheme • a madcap [=zany] movie about a car race around the world • madcap antics mad cow disease noun [noncount] : a fatal disease that affects the brain and nervous system of cattle mad·den /'mædn/ verb -dens; -dened; -den·ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) angry — often used as (be) maddened • The general was maddened by the delays.

maddening adj [more ~; most ~] : very annoying • He has a maddening habit of interrupting other people. • She shows a maddening inability to control her children.

— mad·den·ing·ly /'mædnɪŋli/ adv • a maddeningly difficult problem • maddeningly slow service

1 made past tense and past participle of ¹MAKE

2 made /'meɪd/ adj

1 not used before a noun a — used to say that someone has the right qualities to be or to do something • He was made to be an actor. = He was made to act. b — used to say that something has the right qualities for or to do something • She has a body made for running. • The furniture was made to last. [=the furniture will last a long time]

2 : built, formed, or shaped in a specified way • newly made tissue cells — often used in combination • American-made cars • machine-made rugs — see also HANDMADE, HOME-MADE, MAN-MADE, TAILOR-MADE

3 informal : certain of success • a made man • If this works, we'll all be made for life! [=we will have enough money to live well for the rest of our lives]

have it made informal : to be in a very good position or situation • My brother has it made with a good job, a beautiful wife, and a big house with a pool. • (US) She had to work hard for many years to achieve success, but now she has it made in the shade.

made for each other informal : perfectly suited to each other • I'm not surprised that they have such a happy marriage. I always knew that they were made for each other.

made of money see MONEY

what you're made of ♦ If people want to find out what you're made of, they want to see if you have the necessary courage, skill, etc., to succeed. • Let's give him a chance and find out what he's made of.

— see also READY-MADE, SELF-MADE, UNMADE

ma·de·moi·selle /,mædmwə'zel/ noun, pl ma·de·moi·selles /,mædmwə'zelz/ or mes·de·moi·selles /,meɪdmwə'zel/ [count] — used like Miss as a title for a

Frenchwoman who is not married made-to-measure adj : made to fit a particular person or thing • a made-to-measure [=custom-made] suit • made-to-measure curtains made-to-order adj : made to fit the needs or requirements of a particular person • made-to-order [=custom-made] shoes/furniture • a made-to-order meal

made-up /'meɪd'ʌp/ adj

1 : created from the imagination : not true or real • a made-up [=fictitious] story/name

2 [more ~; most ~] : wearing makeup • made-up eyelids • She was nicely made-up.

mad·house /'mæd,haʊs/ noun, pl -hous-es [count]

1 old-fashioned + offensive : a hospital for people who are mentally ill

2 informal : a place where there is a lot of excitement or confusion • The stadium was a madhouse when the team won the championship.

mad·ly /'mædli/ adv

1 : to an extreme or excessive degree • He told her that he loved her madly. • a madly ambitious businessman • She fell madly in love with him.

2 : in a mad or insane way • He pulled out a knife and started waving it around madly. [=wildly] • grinning madly mad·man /'mæd,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,men/ [count]

1 : a man who has severe mental illness : an insane man • a celebrity being stalked by a madman

2 informal : a man who acts in a wild and uncontrolled way • He is a madman out on the ski slopes. [=he is an extremely daring or reckless skier] • He drives like a madman. [=he drives very recklessly]

mad·ness /'mædnəs/ noun [noncount]

1 : a state of severe mental illness • The king's madness [=insanity] was well-known. • He suffered a series of tragedies that nearly drove him to madness.

2 : behavior or thinking that is very foolish or dangerous • Her friends told her the idea was pure/sheer madness, but she went through with it anyway. • It was the height of madness for him to drive at such high speeds! — see also (a) method in/to your madness at METHOD

Ma·don·na /mə'dɑ:nə/ noun, pl -nas

1 the Madonna : the Virgin Mary : the mother of Jesus Christ

2 [count] : a painting or statue of the Virgin Mary mad·ri·gal /'mædrɪgəl/ noun, pl -gals [count] : a type of song for several singers without instruments that was popular in the 16th and 17th centuries

mad·wom·an /'mæd,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom·en /-,wɪmən/ [count]

1 : a woman who has severe mental illness : an insane woman • a story about a madwoman locked up by her husband

2 informal : a woman who acts in a wild and uncontrolled way • She is a madwoman on the dance floor. • She drives like a madwoman. [=she drives recklessly]

mael·strom /'meɪlstrəm/ noun, pl -stroms [count] literary

1 : a situation in which there are a lot of confused activities, emotions, etc. • She was caught in a maelstrom of emotions. • the maelstrom of war • a maelstrom of activity

2 : a dangerous area of water that moves very fast in a circle : WHIRLPOOL • The ship was drawn into the maelstrom.

mae·stro /'maɪstroʊ/ noun, pl mae·stros also mae·stri

/'maɪstri:/ [count] : a man who is an expert at writing, conducting, or teaching music — often used as part of a title • The orchestra played under Maestro Bernstein. • Which tempo do you prefer, Maestro?

Ma·fia /'mɑ:fɪə, Brit 'mæfɪə/ noun, pl -fias

1 the Mafia a : a secret criminal organization in Italy b : a similar criminal organization in the U.S. • a member of the Mafia — often used as Mafia before another noun • a politician accused of having Mafia connections

2 or mafia [count] : a group of closely connected people who have great power or influence in a particular field or business • He's an important figure in the television mafia.

ma·fi·o·so /,mɑ:fɪ'ʊsʊs, Brit ,mæfɪ'ʊsʊs/ noun, pl -si /-si/ [count] : a member of the Mafia mag·a·zine /'mægə'zi:n, ,mægə'zi:n/ noun, pl -zines [count]

1 : a type of thin book with a paper cover that contains stories, essays, pictures, etc., and that is usually published every week or month • a literary/fashion magazine • a magazine rack • She subscribes to several gardening magazines.

2 : a radio or television program that discusses different topics

3 : a part of a gun that holds bullets

4 : a building or room where military supplies are stored

ma·gen·ta /mə'dʒentə/ noun, pl -tas [count, noncount] : a bright, deep purplish-red color — see color picture on page C3

— magenta adj

mag·got /'mægət/ noun, pl -gots [count] : an insect that looks like a small worm and that is a young form of a fly • The rotten meat was infested with maggots.

— mag·goty /'mægəti/ adj [more ~; most ~] • rotten mag-goty meat

Ma·gi /'meɪ,dʒaɪ/ noun

the Magi : the three wise men in the Bible who come from the East with gifts for the baby Jesus

¹mag·ic /'mædʒɪk/ noun [noncount]

1 : a power that allows people (such as witches and wizards) to do impossible things by saying special words or performing special actions • perform/work (feats of) magic • children who believe in magic — see also BLACK MAGIC

2 : tricks that seem to be impossible and that are done by a performer to entertain people • a book that explains how to do magic

3 : special power, influence, or skill • Some doubted the company could ever get back its former magic. [=could ever succeed again as it had succeeded before] • Both pitchers, though they are older, haven't lost their magic.

4 : a very pleasant, attractive, or exciting quality • the magic of their singing • They wanted to get the old magic back into their marriage.

by magic : by the power of magic • a mop that gets rid of dirt as if by magic like magic informal : in a very fast and impressive way • Shapes changed like magic on the computer screen. • a mop that works like magic [=that works extremely quickly or well] work your magic 1 : to do something very well • the kitchen where a great cook works her magic 2 : to have a desired good effect • It may take a few hours for the medication to work its magic.

²magic adj

1 : having the power to make impossible things happen : having supernatural power • a magic potion/spell that makes you able to fly • a magic charm

2 : involving the skill of doing tricks that seem to be impossible • magic tricks • a magic show/act

3 : capable of producing good results very easily • There is no magic solution to these problems. • He claims to know the magic formula for financial success. [=he claims to know a simple and sure way to achieve financial success] • She has a magic touch with animals. [=she is able to calm or control animals with unusual ease]

4 [more ~; most ~] : very pleasant or exciting • It was a magic moment when they met. • They spent a magic [=magical] evening together.

mag·i·cal /'mædʒɪkəl/ adj

1 : ²MAGIC 1 • a magical potion • magical powers

2 [more ~; most ~] : very pleasant or exciting • We had a magical time.

— mag·i·cal·ly /'mædʒɪkli/ adv • The magician made the car magically appear. • I can't magically make your problems go away.

magic bullet noun, pl ~ -lets [count]

1 : a drug or treatment that cures a disease quickly and easily without producing bad effects

2 : something that solves a difficult problem easily • There is no magic bullet to fix our educational system.

magic carpet noun, pl ~ -pets [count] in stories : a carpet that can carry a person through the air

ma·gi·cian /mə'dʒɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count]

1 : a person who has the power to make impossible things happen : SORCERER

2 : a performer who does tricks that seem to be impossible • The magician pulled a rabbit out of a hat.

3 : a person who has amazing skills • She is a magician on the basketball court.

magic lantern noun, pl ~ -terns [count] : a machine that was used in the past to show pictures on a wall or screen

Magic Marker trademark — used for a felt-tip pen

magic wand noun, pl ~ wands [count] : a stick that is used to make magic things happen • The magician waved his magic wand and pulled a rabbit out of the hat. — sometimes used figuratively • The new law is not a magic wand that will solve all our problems.

mag·is·te·ri·al /,mædʒə'stirijəl/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] formal : showing impressive knowledge about a subject • His book is a magisterial [=authoritative] study of the artist.

2 [more ~; most ~] formal : having the confident quality of someone who expects to be obeyed by other people • He spoke with a magisterial tone.

3 : of or relating to a magistrate • magisterial duties

— mag·is·te·ri·al·ly /,mædʒə'stirijəli/ adv

mag·is·trate /'mædʒə'streɪt/ noun, pl -trates [count] : a local official who has some of the powers of a judge mag·ma /'mægmə/ noun [noncount] technical : hot liquid rock below the surface of the Earth mag·na cum lau·de /'mɑːgnəkum'laudə/ adv, formal : with great honor — used in the U.S. to indicate that a student has graduated from a college or university at the second highest of three special levels of achievement • He graduated magna cum laude. — compare CUM LAUDE, SUMMA CUM LAUDE mag·nan·i·mous /mæg'nænəməs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing a generous and kind nature • The team was magnanimous in victory. [=the team treated its defeated opponents in a respectful and generous way] • She was too magnanimous to resent all the things others had said to her. • a magnanimous gesture

— mag·na·nim·i·ty /,mægnə'nɪməti/ noun [noncount] • He had the magnanimity to forgive her for lying about him. • The team showed magnanimity in victory. — mag·nan·i·mous·ly adv

mag·nate /'mæɡneɪt/ noun, pl -nates [count] : a person who has great wealth and power in a particular business or industry • a railroad magnate

magnesia see MILK OF MAGNESIA

mag·ne·sium /mæg'niːzɪəm/ noun [noncount] : a silver-white metallic element that produces a very bright white light when it burns mag·net /'mæɡnət/ noun, pl -nets [count]

1 : a piece of material (such as iron or steel) that is able to attract certain metals • (US) a refrigerator magnet [=a small object with a magnet attached to it that can stick to a refrigerator or other metal surface]

2 : something or someone that attracts people or things — often + for • The town is a magnet for tourists in the summer months. • a controversial politician who has become a magnet for criticism [=who attracts a great deal of criticism]

mag·net·ic /mæg'netɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of or relating to a magnet or magnetism • magnetic materials • a strong/powerful magnetic field

2 : having great power to attract and hold the interest of other people • a magnetic personality • a magnetic performer

— mag·net·i·cal·ly /mæg'netɪkli/ adv • a magnetically charged particle • a magnetically attractive personality magnetic compass noun, pl ~ -pass-es [count] : COMPASS 1

magnetic disk noun, pl ~ disks [count] : DISC 2

magnetic north noun [noncount] : the direction or area to the north toward which the needle of a compass points — compare TRUE NORTH magnetic pole noun, pl ~ poles [count]

1 : an area near either the North or South Pole of the Earth toward which the needle of a compass points

2 : either one of the two ends of a magnet

magnetic resonance im·ag·ing /-'ɪmɪdʒɪŋ/ noun [noncount] medical : a method used to produce images of the inside of a person's body by means of a strong magnetic field — called also MRI magnetic tape noun [noncount] : a thin plastic tape that is coated with magnetic material on which information (such as sound or television images) may be stored

mag·ne·tism /'mæɡnə'tɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

1 : the property of attracting certain metals : the attracting property of a magnet

2 : a quality that makes someone able to attract and hold the interest of other people • Much of his success as a politician can be attributed to his personal magnetism. — see also animal magnetism at ²ANIMAL mag·ne·tize also Brit mag·ne·tise /'mæɡnə'taɪz/ verb -tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing

1 : to cause (something) to become magnetic • magnetize a metal bar • a highly magnetized particle

2 : to attract and hold the interest of (someone) • Her performance magnetized the audience.

— mag-ne-tiz-able also Brit mag-ne-tis-able /'mægnə'taɪzəbəl/ adj — mag-ne-ti-za-tion also Brit mag-ne-ti-sa-tion /,mægnətə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,mægnə'taɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] magnet school noun, pl ~ schools [count] chiefly US : a school that has courses in special subjects (such as the arts or technology) and is designed to attract students from all parts of a community mag-ni-fi-ca-tion /,mægnəfə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act of making something look larger than it is : the act of magnifying something • magnification of an image

2 : the larger appearance of an object when it is seen through a microscope, telescope, etc. [noncount] We used a microscope to examine the cells under magnification. [count] At/Under higher magnifications the differences between the cells become clear. • The telescope has a magnification of 30X. [=objects appear to be 30 times larger when viewed through the telescope]

mag-nif-i-cent /mæg'nɪfəsənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very beautiful or impressive : very great • the magnificent cathedrals of Europe • He gave a magnificent performance. • The view was magnificent.

— mag-nif-i-cence /mæg'nɪfəsəns/ noun [noncount] • We were awed by the splendor and magnificence of the palace.

— mag-nif-i-cent-ly adv • a magnificently decorated palace • He performed magnificently.

mag-ni-fy /'mægnə,far/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to make (something) greater • The sound was magnified by the calm air. • Their health problems have been magnified [=worsened] by unsanitary living conditions. • Her successful handling of the crisis has magnified [=increased, improved] her chances to win reelection. b : to make (something) seem greater or more important than it is • His failures have been magnified by the success of his friends. • I don't want to magnify the importance of these problems.

2 : to make (something) appear larger • The lens magnified the image 100 times. • a magnified view of the image

— mag-ni-fi-er /'mægnə,fajə/ noun, pl -ers [count] magnifying glass noun, pl ~ glasses [count] : a specially shaped piece of glass that is attached to a handle and is used to make an object look larger than it is • The jeweler examined the diamond with a magnifying glass.

mag-ni-tude /'mægnə,tuːd, Brit 'mægnə,tjuːd/ noun

1 [noncount] : the size, extent, or importance of something • The country's small army would be crushed in a war of such magnitude. [=in such a large war] • At this point no one really knows the true/real magnitude [=scale] of the problem.

2 [count, noncount] technical a : a number that shows the brightness of a star b : a number that shows the power of an earthquake • a magnitude 6.7 earthquake = an earthquake of magnitude 6.7

mag-no-lia /mæg'nouljə/ noun, pl -lias [count] : a tree or tall bush that has white, pink, yellow, or purple flowers mag-num opus /'mægnəm'oupəs/ noun [singular] : a great work : the greatest achievement of an artist or writer • His last novel was his magnum opus.

mag-pie /'mæg,pai/ noun, pl -pies [count]

1 : a noisy black-and-white bird

2 chiefly Brit, informal : a person who collects and keeps different things ma-ha-ra-ja or ma-ha-ra-jah /,mɑ:hə'rɑ:dʒə/ noun, pl -jas or -jahs [count] : a Hindu prince ma-ha-ra-ni or ma-ha-ra-nee /,mɑ:hə'rɑ:ni/ noun, pl -nis or -nees [count]

1 : the wife of a maharaja

2 : a Hindu princess ma-hat-ma /mə'hɑ:tmə, Brit mə'hætme/ noun, pl -mas [count] : a person who is respected for being good, wise, and holy — used as a title of honor by Hindus • Mahatma Gandhi

mah-jongg or mah-jong /,mɑ:'ʒɑ:ŋ, ,mɑ:'dʒɑ:ŋ/ noun [noncount] : a Chinese game that four people play using small pieces of wood with symbols on them

ma-hog-a-ny /mə'hɑ:gəni/ noun, pl -nies

1 [noncount] : a strong reddish-brown wood that is used especially for making furniture and that comes from several tropical trees; also [count] : a tree that produces this wood

2 [noncount] : a reddish-brown color — see color picture on page C3

— mahogany adj

maid /'meɪd/ noun, pl maids [count]

1 : a female servant • a lady's maid, especially : a woman or girl who does cleaning work in a house or hotel • She hired a maid to do the cleaning. • a hotel maid

2 old-fashioned + literary : a girl or woman who is not married : MAIDEN • a young maid — see also OLD MAID

1 maid-en /'meɪdn/ noun, pl -ens [count] old-fashioned + literary : a young girl or woman who is not married • a story about a courageous knight who rescues a fair maiden • a maiden in distress — see also HANDMAIDEN

2 maiden adj, always used before a noun

1 of a woman, old-fashioned : not married • my maiden aunt

2 : coming before all others : first or earliest • the ship's maiden voyage • the maiden issue of a new magazine • a politician giving his maiden speech in the Senate maid-en-hair /'meɪdn,heə/ noun [count, noncount] : a type of fern that has thin stems and delicate leaves — called also maidenhair fern maid-en-head /'meɪdn,hed/ noun, pl -heads old-fashioned

1 [noncount] of a woman : the state of being a virgin

2 [count] : HYMEN

maiden name noun, pl ~ names [count] : a woman's family name before she is married • After she divorced, she took back her maiden name.

maid of honor (US) or Brit maid of honour noun, pl maids of honor [count] chiefly US : an unmarried woman who is the main bridesmaid at a wedding • She asked her sister to be her maid of honor. — compare MATRON OF HONOR maid-ser-vant /'meɪd,səvənt/ noun, pl -vants old-fashioned : a female servant • menservants and maidservants

1 mail /'meɪl/ noun [noncount] ♦ Mail is used in British English but it is much more common in U.S. English. The usual word in British English is post.

1 : the system used for sending letters and packages from one person to another • They do business by mail. • Don't bring the check to the office—send it through the mail. • The check is in the mail. [=the check has been sent and will be delivered by mail] • I hope the check hasn't gotten lost in the mail. • interoffice mail — called also (chiefly Brit) post; see also AIRMAIL, DIRECT MAIL, REGISTERED MAIL, RETURN MAIL, SURFACE MAIL, VOICE MAIL

2 : letters or packages sent from one person to another • Was the notice in today's mail? • Did we get any mail today? • Has the mail arrived yet? • sorting through the mail • There's a pile of mail on the table. • collecting and delivering the mail • reading the mail • They got a lot of hate mail [=extremely angry letters, e-mail, etc.] from people who disagree with their policies. • He has a job in the mail room. [=the room in an office where mail is handled] — called also (chiefly Brit) post; see also FAN MAIL, JUNK MAIL, SNAIL MAIL the mails chiefly US, law, formal : the system used for sending letters, packages, etc. : a nation's postal system • packages sent through the mails • He was charged with using the mails to commit fraud.

3 : 'E-MAIL • I need to check my computer to see if I've gotten any mail today.

— compare ³MAIL

2 mail verb mails; mailed; mail-ing [+ obj] chiefly US : to send (something, such as a letter or package) by mail • Have you mailed (out) the invitations yet? [= (chiefly Brit) have you posted the invitations yet?] • She mailed me a copy of her manuscript. = She mailed a copy of her manuscript to me.

3 mail noun [noncount] : a kind of protective clothing (called armor) that is made of many small pieces or rings of metal which are linked together • a coat of mail — see also CHAIN MAIL — compare ¹MAIL mail-bag /'meɪl,bæg/ noun, pl -bags [count]

1 : a large bag used for sending letters and packages in a truck, airplane, etc.

2 chiefly US : a bag carried by a person who delivers the mail — called also (Brit) postbag

mail-box /'meɪl,bɑ:ks/ noun, pl -box-es [count] chiefly US

1 : a public box in which letters and packages are placed to be collected and sent out • On the way to work, I dropped my letters in the corner mailbox. — called also (Brit) letter box, (Brit) postbox

2 : a private box on or near a house in which mail is placed when it is delivered • She checked her mailbox daily, hoping mail

greeting card (US), greetings card (Brit)

postcard

package (chiefly US), parcel

manila envelope

for a letter from her son. — called also (Brit) letter box; see picture at HOUSE

3 computers : a computer folder that holds e-mail • an electronic mailbox

mail carrier noun, pl ~ers [count] US : a person who delivers mail : LETTER CARRIER

mail drop noun, pl ~drops [count] US

1 : a place or address where mail or messages can be left for someone

2 : a box in which mail can be placed mail-er /'meɪlə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US

1 : a person or organization that mails something • a letter mailer

2 : a container used for mailing something

3 : something (such as an advertisement) that is sent by mail

mail-ing /'meɪlɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : the act of mailing something • Get the check ready for mailing and take it to the post office.

2 [count] : something (such as a letter or an advertisement) that is mailed to many people at one time • mass mailings • The charity sent out several mailings to everyone on its mailing list. — called also (Brit) mailshot mailing address noun, pl ~dresses [count] : an address to which mail can be sent • His mailing address [=postal address] is different from his home address.

mailing list noun, pl ~lists [count]

1 : a list of names and addresses to which mail is sent • The charity sent out letters to everyone on its mailing list. • He asked the company to put him on their mailing list so that he could receive their catalog.

2 : a list of names and e-mail addresses to which e-mails are sent by people who are on the list • People subscribe to Internet mailing lists in order to exchange information about special subjects.

mail-man /'meɪl,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,men/ [count] US : a man who delivers mail : POSTMAN

mail order noun, pl ~ders

1 [noncount] : a method of buying products that are received by mail • You can purchase the books by mail order.

2 [count] : a product that is sent by mail to the person who bought it • The store sent out all its mail orders in time for the holiday.

— mail-or-der /'meɪl,ɔːdər/ adj, always used before a noun • a mail-order catalog [=a catalog of products that can be ordered through the mail]

mail-shot /'meɪl,ʃɔ:t/ noun, pl -shots [count] Brit : MAILING 2

maim /'meɪm/ verb maims; maimed; maim-ing [+ obj] : to injure (someone) very badly by violence • The bomb killed 16 people and maimed several others. • The accident left him (badly) maimed for life. — sometimes used figuratively • a career maimed by scandal

1 main /'meɪn/ adj, always used before a noun : most important

: CHIEF, PRINCIPAL • the main idea/point • the main goal/purpose • Speed is the main advantage of this approach. • The company's main office is located in New York. • the novel's main character • driving down the main road/highway • the main gate/entrance • This dish can be served as a main course or appetizer. • And now for the main event of the evening!

— main-ly adv • The reviews have been mainly [=mostly] positive. • a plant found mainly [=chiefly] in coastal regions • I don't like the plan, mainly because I think it's too expensive. • The problems have been mainly minor ones. [=most of the problems have been minor ones] • They depend mainly on/upon fish for food.

2 main noun, pl mains

1 [count] : the largest pipe in a system of connected pipes • a gas main • a water main

2 the mains Brit a : the system of pipes or wires for electricity, gas, or water • My radio runs either off batteries or off the mains. — often used as mains before another noun • We haven't had any mains water/electricity since the storm. b : the place where electricity, gas, or water enters a building or room • Turn off the water at the mains.

in the main : in general — used to say that a statement is true in most cases or at most times • The workers are in the main very capable. [=most of the workers are very capable] • The weather has in the main been quite good. [=has been quite good most of the time]

main clause noun, pl ~clauses [count] grammar : a clause that could be used by itself as a simple sentence but that is part of a larger sentence — called also independent clause; compare COORDINATE CLAUSE, SUBORDINATE CLAUSE main drag noun, pl ~drags [count] US, informal : the main street in a town or city • A carload of teenagers were cruising down the main drag.

main-frame /'meɪn,freɪm/ noun, pl -frames [count] : a large and very fast computer that can do many jobs at once

main-land /'meɪn,lænd/ noun [singular] : a large area of land that forms a country or a continent and that does not include islands — used with the • the Chinese mainland = the mainland of China • After spending a week on the tiny island, we were happy to return to the mainland. — often used before another noun • mainland China

1 main-line /'meɪn,lain/ adj, chiefly US : belonging to an established and widely accepted group or system • mainline [=mainstream] churches

2 mainline verb -lines; -lined; -lin-ing slang : to inject (a drug) directly into a vein [+ obj] addicts mainlining heroin [no obj] His addiction grew worse when he began mainlining.

main line noun, pl ~lines [count] : an important highway or railroad line

main man noun, pl ~men [count] US, informal

1 : someone's best male friend • He's still her main man.

2 : the most important or admired man in a group • The team has many good players, but he is clearly the main man.

main-sail /'meɪn,seɪl, 'meɪnsəl/ noun, pl -sails [count] : the largest sail of a sailing ship

main-spring /'meɪn,spɪŋ/ noun, pl -springs [count]

1 : the most important spring in a watch or clock

2 : the most important or powerful cause or part of something • Agriculture is the mainspring of their economy.

main squeeze noun, pl ~ squeezes [count] chiefly US slang : someone's main girlfriend, boyfriend, or lover • She's my main squeeze.

main-stay /'meɪn,steɪ/ noun, pl -stays [count] : a very important part of something • Fish is a mainstay of their diet. • a dietary mainstay : something or someone that provides support and makes it possible for something to exist or succeed • My mother has always been the mainstay of our family.

1 main-stream /'meɪn,stri:m/ noun

the mainstream : the thoughts, beliefs, and choices that are accepted by the largest number of people • His ideas are well outside the mainstream of political opinion. = His ideas are well outside the political mainstream.

– mainstream adj [more ~; most ~] • mainstream medicine [=the type of medicine that is most widely practiced and accepted] • mainstream movies • Advertisers are trying to attract a more mainstream audience.

2 main-stream /'meɪn'stri:m/ verb -streams; -streamed; -stream-ing [+ obj]

1 chiefly US : to place (a child with special educational needs) in regular school classes

2 : to cause (someone or something) to be included in or accepted by the group that includes most people • The poor should be mainstreamed into the private health-insurance system. • Ideas that were once controversial have now become mainstreamed.

main street noun, pl ~ streets

1 [count] : the most important street of a U.S. town where there are many stores, banks, etc. — often used as a name • The restaurant is at 257 Main Street.

2 Main Street [noncount] US — used to refer to middle-class people in the U.S. who have traditional beliefs and values • What does Main Street think of this policy?

main-tain /meɪn'teɪn/ verb -tains; -tained; -tain-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (something) to exist or continue without changing • They have always maintained high standards of professional conduct. • He has found it difficult to maintain a healthy weight. • maintain a good reputation • They barely had enough food to maintain life. [=to make it possible for life to exist or continue]

2 : to keep (something) in good condition by making repairs, correcting problems, etc. • The company has done a poor job of maintaining its computer network. • It was obvious that the house had been poorly maintained.

3 : to continue having or doing (something) • She was finding it hard to maintain her balance. • She still maintains a close relationship with her college roommate. • It's difficult to maintain a correspondence when we're both so busy. • The pilot was struggling to maintain control of the aircraft. • The police say that they will do whatever is necessary to maintain law and order. • She continues to maintain her silence. [=she continues to say nothing] • He was struggling to maintain his cool/composure. [=he was struggling not to become angry or upset]

4 : to say that (something) is true • He maintains that such decisions are best left to local authorities. • He continues to maintain his innocence. = He continues to maintain that he is innocent. • She maintains that my theory is flawed.

5 : to provide support for (someone or something) • He has a family to maintain.

main-te-nance /'meɪntənəns/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of maintaining something or someone: such as a : the act of keeping property or equipment in good condition by making repairs, correcting problems, etc. • The building has suffered from years of poor maintenance. • the costs of routine car maintenance — often used before another noun • a maintenance worker [=a worker whose job is to keep property or equipment in good condition] • a maintenance fee • She works in the company's maintenance department. b : the act of causing something to exist or continue without changing • maintenance of law and order c : the act of providing support for someone or something • money for the family's maintenance

2 Brit : CHILD SUPPORT

maize /'meɪz/ noun [noncount] Brit : ¹CORN 1a

ma-jes-tic /mə'dʒestɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : large and impressively beautiful • majestic mountains/trees • majestic phrases — ma-jes-ti-cal-ly /mə'dʒestɪkli/ adv • mountains rising majestically above the surrounding hills

maj-es-ty /'mædʒəsti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : a great and impressively beautiful quality • the majesty of the mountains

2 Majesty [count] — used as a title for a king, queen, emperor, or empress; used with his, her, your, or their • Your Majesty • Her Majesty's Government • Their Majesties

1 ma-jor /'meɪdʒə/ adj

1 a : very important • a major poet/artist • He's one of the major figures in 19th-century U.S. history. • Researchers have announced a major advance/breakthrough in the treatment of cancer. • major American cities • a major event • a question of major [=great] importance • major rivers/roads • She played a major role in the negotiations. • a major earthquake • a writer's major works • No major changes are expected. • The problems do not appear to be (very) major. b always used before a noun : large in number, amount, or extent • The grant covered a major part of the cost. • Butter is one of the major ingredients in the recipe. • The movie turned out to be a major disappointment. [=the movie was very disappointing] • (informal) A car like that costs major money. [=a lot of money]

2 : very serious or bad • None of his health problems are major. • a major illness/disease • He suffered a major heart attack. • She's having major surgery. • major depression • a major accident

3 music a of a scale : having semitones between the third and fourth and the seventh and eighth notes • a major scale • the C-major scale [=the major scale that is in the key of C] b

: based on a major scale • a major key — compare ¹MINOR 3

2 major noun, pl -jors [count]

1 : a military officer in the army, air force, or marines who ranks above a captain • an Army major • Major Smith — see also SERGEANT MAJOR

2 US a : the main subject studied by a college or university student • He chose history as his major and French as his minor. • What was your major in college? — compare ²MINOR

2 b : a student who has a specified main subject of study • In college, he was a history major. • a club for physics majors the majors US, informal : the major leagues of baseball • As a boy, he dreamed of playing in the majors.

— see also DRUM MAJOR

3 major verb -jors; -jored; -jor-ing

major in [phrasal verb] major in (something) US, of a college or university student : to have (a specified subject) as your main subject of study • In college, he majored in history and minored in French.

major on [phrasal verb] major on (something) Brit : to pay special attention to (something) • The carmaker majors on comfort in its new models.

ma-jor-do-mo /,meɪdʒə'doumou/ noun, pl -mos [count]

1 old-fashioned : the person who runs a large house

2 : someone who runs an organization or a project

ma-jor-ette /,meɪdʒə'ret/ noun, pl -ettes [count] : a girl or woman who marches with a band and spins a baton — called also drum majorette

major general noun, pl ~ -als [count] : a military officer of high rank in the army, air force, or marines

ma-jor-i-ty /mə'dʒɔrəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [singular] : a number that is greater than half of a total • Unfortunately, the majority of (the) students [=most of the students] in the class failed the test. • The policy is supported by the great/vast/overwhelming majority of (the) voters. • A clear majority of the voters support the policy.

2 a [count] : a number of votes that is more than half of the total number • They won by a majority of seven. [=the total number of votes they received was seven more than half of all the votes] • The proposal failed to win a majority in the Senate. [=the proposal was defeated because it was not voted for by more than half the senators] • The law will pass only if it is approved by at least a two-thirds majority. [=if two out of three voters approve it] b [singular] : the group or party that is the greater part of a large group • The Republicans/Democrats are currently the majority in the Senate. • Supporters of the new law appear to be in the majority [=there are more people who support the new law than who oppose it] — see also SILENT MAJORITY

3 [noncount] law: the age at which a person is given the full rights of an adult. The age of majority in the U.S. is 18. = The age when you reach your majority in the U.S. is 18. — compare MINORITY 4 — majority adj, always used before a noun • the majority opinion [=the opinion of most of the people] • a majority decision [=a decision supported by most of the people] • Republicans/Democrats are the majority party in the Senate.

majority leader noun, pl ~ -ers [count]: the leader of the political party that has the most members in the U.S. Senate or House of Representatives — compare MINORITY LEADER majority rule noun [noncount]: a political system in which the group that has the most members has the power to make decisions

major leagues noun

the major leagues: the two highest U.S. baseball leagues (the American League and the National League) • He always dreamed of playing in the major leagues. [= (US) the big leagues] — sometimes used figuratively • She's moving up to the major leagues in the television industry. — compare MINOR LEAGUE

— major-league adj • major-league baseball • a major-league player — sometimes used figuratively • We've been experiencing some major-league problems. [=major problems, very serious problems] — major leaguer noun, pl ~ -guers [count] • He hopes to be a major leaguer [= (US) big leaguer] some day.

major-ly /'meɪdʒəli/ adv, informal: very or extremely • She was majorly annoyed.

1 make /meɪk/ verb makes; made /'meɪd/; mak-ing

1 [+ obj] a: to build, create, or produce (something) by work or effort • make a box/chair/suit • make someone a dress = make a dress for someone • He works in a factory that makes jet engines. • She made the curtains herself. • He collected wood to make a fire. • She used cheese and a mixture of other ingredients to make a delicious sauce. — often followed by with to describe the things that are used to produce something • She made the sauce with cheese and other ingredients. — often followed by of to describe the material that forms something • The box is made of wood. [=it is a wood/wooden box; the material used to produce the box was wood] • The topping is made entirely of cheese. [=the topping consists entirely of cheese] — often followed by from to describe the source of a product • Cheese is made from milk. b: to use (something) to create a product — + into • She made the material into a dress. • She made a mixture of ingredients into a delicious sauce.

2 [+ obj] a: to cause (something) to exist, happen, or appear. Someone was making a disturbance. • The car's engine has been making a strange noise lately. • The rock made a dent in the car's fender. • I'm not trying to make trouble. • The typist made a mistake. • I called the doctor's office to make an appointment. • They moved over and made room for her. • I want to make a good home for my children.

3 [+ obj] a: to create or write (something) in an official or legal way. The government should make laws to protect poor people. • I don't make the rules; I just follow them. • You should make a will.

4 [+ obj] a: to produce, direct, or act in (something, such as a movie) • a director who has made some classic films • That actor has made many films.

5 [+ obj] a: to cause (something or someone) to be changed in a specified way. They adapted a Russian play and made the setting Dublin rather than Moscow. • We originally planned on a one-week vacation, but we decided to make it two weeks instead. • The experience made him a cynic. = The experience made a cynic (out) of him. = The experience made [=changed, turned] him into a cynic. • I'd like a hamburger. No, wait—make that a cheeseburger.

6 [+ obj] a: to cause (something or someone) to have a specified quality, feeling, etc. • A good teacher makes learning enjoyable. • She made what she wanted clear to us. = She made (it) clear to us what she wanted. [=she said or showed clearly what she wanted] • He made it understood/known that he expected us to help. • The experience made him cynical. • Working in the garden makes me very tired. • It makes me sad to think that the summer is ending. • The photograph makes me seem/look fat. ✧ To make yourself useful means to do something useful. • Why don't you make yourself useful by washing the dishes? ✧ To make yourself heard/understood (etc.) means to do what is necessary to be sure that people hear you, understand you, etc. • The music was so loud that she could hardly make herself heard. • She doesn't speak French well, but she can make herself understood.

7 [+ obj] a: to cause (something) to be or become something. A good teacher makes learning a pleasure. = A good teacher makes it a pleasure to learn. • Yes, you can leave work early today, but don't make it a habit. • The bright paint really makes the room come alive!

8 [+ obj] a: to cause (someone) to do something. He yelled at her and made her cry. • How can I make you understand that I love you?! b: to force (someone) to do something. We have to find a way to make them work faster. • They made me wait for an hour. • If he doesn't want to do it, we can't make him (do it). • They used threats to make her do it. = She was made to do it by the use of threats.

9 [+ obj] a: to give a particular job, title, status, etc., to (someone) • They made him (the) Emperor. • They made her a member of their club. = She was made a member of their club.

10 [+ obj] a: to perform (a particular action) • He made a bow. [=he bowed] • We made [=took] a detour to avoid traffic. • They made [=got] an early start. [=they started early] • I have to make a (telephone) call to my boss. [=I have to call/telephone my boss] • May I make a suggestion? [=may I suggest something?] • "Make love, not war!" shouted the demonstrators. • I'm not used to making [=giving] speeches. • They made a bet [=they bet] that she would win. • Don't make any sudden movements. • They made a contribution. [=they contributed] • We should make a distinction between them. • She made a promise to him. = She made him a promise. • He made note of her address. • Time is running out. You'll have to make a decision soon.

11 [+ obj] a: to form (a plan) in your mind • Have you made any plans for your vacation?

12 [+ obj] a: to arrange the blankets and sheets on (a bed) so that the mattress is covered • She always makes the bed after she gets up in the morning.

13 [+ obj] a: to prepare (food or drink) • Let me make dinner for you. = Let me make you dinner. • Can I make you a drink? • I'll make the pasta if you make the salad. • She made a cake for her daughter's birthday.

14 a [linking verb] — used to indicate a total • That makes the third time you've said the same thing! • I've lost again! That makes $3 I owe you. • "I'm hungry." "That makes two of us" [=I'm hungry too] b [+ obj] a: to be equal to (an amount) • Three plus two make/makes [=equals, totals] five.

c [+ obj] a: to calculate (an amount, total, etc.) • "What do you make the time?" [=what do you think the time is?] "(I make it) About half past three." • I make the distance back to camp about four miles. = I make it about four miles back to camp.

15 a [+ obj] a: to be used to produce (something) • Rags make the best paper. b [linking verb] a: to be suited for use as (something) • This new building would make [=be] a fine school. c [linking verb] a: to be or become (something) • She and her boyfriend make [=are] a lovely couple. • She will make a fine judge one day. • She made [=was] a loving wife to him. = She made him a loving wife.

16 [+ obj] a: to arrive at (a place) • The ship made port today.

17 [+ obj] a: to earn or gain (money, a profit, etc.) • He makes $50,000 a year. • She makes a good salary. • Their products are so inexpensive I don't know how they make a profit. • She made $100 on the deal. = The deal made $100 for her. = The deal made her $100. • He makes a/his living by doing small jobs. • He made a/his fortune in the stock market.

18 [+ obj] a: to be accepted as a member of (a group, team, etc.) • She's finally made the team. b: to appear on or in (a newspaper, a headline, etc.) • The story of his accident made the front page of the paper. • The story made headlines all across the country. c chiefly US: to be promoted to (a level or rank) • My uncle is in the army. He made major last year.

19 [+ obj] sports a: to succeed in doing (something that you attempt) • I missed the first foul shot but made the second one. • He has to make this putt to win the tournament. — opposite MISS b: to produce (a particular score) • She made a 6 on the second hole. • He made a birdie/bogey.

20 [+ obj] a: to not be too late for (something) • They (just/barely) made the deadline. • We got to the station just in time to make the train. — opposite MISS b: to reach or go to (a place) • We made [=reached] Atlanta in just under two hours.

c : to succeed in reaching or going to (something) • The team made [=qualified for] the play-offs last year. • I don't know if I'll be able to make that meeting. — opposite MISS 21 [+ obj] : to act in a way that causes someone to be your friend, enemy, etc. • She makes friends easily. • He made a few enemies when he worked here.

22 [+ obj] : to cause the success of (someone or something) • This film could make or break her career. [=the success or failure of her career could depend on the success or failure of this film] — see also MAKE-OR-BREAK

23 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to be enjoyable, attractive, etc. • The bright paint really makes the room! • Meeting the star of the show really made our day.

24 [no obj] old-fashioned + literary : to seem to begin an action • She made to go. = She made as if to go. [=she moved in a way that suggested she was going]

make a face see FACE

make away with [phrasal verb] make away with (something) literary : to steal and take away (something) • Someone had made away with [=made off with] all the money.

make believe see BELIEVE

make do : to proceed or do what you can with the things that you have even though you do not have what you want • They didn't have much money but they somehow managed to make do. — often + with • If we can't get what we want, we'll just have to make do with what we've got. — often + without • If we don't have carrots for the soup, we'll just have to make do without them.

make eyes at see EYE

make for [phrasal verb] make for (something) 1 : to go toward (a place) quickly • Everyone made for [=headed for] the exit as soon as the show was over. • After he left the office he made straight for home. 2 : to cause (something) to happen or to be more likely • Courtesy makes for safer driving.

make friends see FRIEND

make it 1 : to reach a particular place, goal, etc. • The ship made it to port. • You'll never make it that far. • The climbers finally made it to the top of the mountain. • Welcome to the party. I'm glad you could make it! = Welcome! I'm glad you could make it to the party! • The story made it to the front page. [=the story appeared on the front page] • She's finally made it onto the team. [=she finally was accepted on the team] • If we hurry, we can still make it home before dark. 2 : to not fail, die, etc. : SURVIVE • Many new businesses don't make it through their first year. • He's very sick. The doctor doesn't think he's going to make it. 3 : to become successful • It's tough to succeed in this business, but if you work hard I know you'll make it eventually. • He made it big [=became very successful] in real estate. 4 chiefly US, informal : to have sex • His girlfriend caught him making it with another girl.

make like US, informal 1 : to pretend to be (someone or something) • He made like a rooster and strutted across the stage. 2 : to act in a way that does not show your true feelings • He made like [=acted like] he didn't care.

make love see LOVE

make merry see MERRY

make much of : to treat (something) as very important • In talking about his past, the book makes much of the influence of his brother. [=the book says that his brother's influence was very important] • She tends to make far too much of her problems. • You shouldn't make too much of what he said—he was only joking.

make nice see NICE

make of [phrasal verb] 1 make (something) of (something or someone) : to have or form an opinion about (something or someone) • What do you make of this? [=what is your opinion about this?] • I can't make anything of it at all. • I don't know what to make of her behavior. [=I don't understand her behavior] • He's a strange guy. I don't know quite what to make of him. 2 make (a day, night, etc.) of it : to continue with an enjoyable activity during all of (a day, night, etc.) • Since we're going out to dinner anyway, let's make an evening of it and go to a movie afterward. 3 make something of (yourself or your life) : to become successful • She has worked very hard to make something of herself. • He wants to make something of his life. [=to have a successful and productive life] 4 make something of it informal : to treat something as a reason for arguing or being angry — used in speech as an angry way of telling someone that you are prepared to fight or argue about something • Yes, I got home late last night. Do you want to make something of it? [=do you want to argue/fight about it?] — see also MAKE MUCH OF (above)

make off [phrasal verb] 1 chiefly Brit : to leave quickly especially in order to escape • After taking the money, the thieves made off toward the main highway. 2 make off with (something) : to take or steal (something) and go away • Someone broke into the office and made off with some valuable equipment.

make out [phrasal verb] 1 make (something) out or make out (something) : to write down the required information on (something, such as a check) • He made out a check for $100 to cover the cost of the repairs. • make out [=fill out] a form • The doctor will make out a prescription for you. = The doctor will make you out a prescription. • She made out a shopping list before going to the grocery store. 2 make (something) out or make out (something) a : to see and identify (something) • We could just make out a ship approaching through the fog. b : to hear and understand (something) • I couldn't quite make out what she said. c : to learn or understand (something) by studying, searching, etc. • I can't quite make out [=tell] whether he's drunk or sober. • We're still trying to make out [=find out, figure out] what really happened. 3 make (someone) out informal : to understand the behavior of (someone) — used in negative statements • I just can't make him out [=figure him out]—he's so contradictory. 4 make (someone or something) out : to describe (someone or something) in a specified and usually false way • The book makes them out to be criminals. • Don't make them out as worse than they are. • He's not as bad as he's made out (to be). = He's not as bad as people make him out (to be). 5 informal — used to ask about or describe the success or progress of someone or something • “How are you making out [=doing, getting along] in your new job?” “Just fine, thank you!” • “How did the team make out yesterday?” “They won.” • (US) He made out like a bandit [=he made a lot of money] when he sold the company. 6 chiefly US, informal : to kiss and touch for a long time in a sexual way • She was making out [=old-fashioned necking] with her boyfriend.

make over [phrasal verb] 1 make (something or someone) over or make over (something or someone) : to change the appearance of (something or someone) • We made the whole house over so it looked more modern. — see also MAKEOVER 2 make (something) over or make over (something) : to give (property) to another person in an official or legal way • He made the ranch/shares over to his eldest son.

make up [phrasal verb] 1 make (something) up or make up (something) : to create or invent (a story, a lie, etc.) • He entertained the children by making up a funny story about a cat that lived on a sailboat. • He made up some excuse about having problems with his car, but no one believed him. • It never happened: you made it all up! • He didn't have a prepared speech. He just made it up as he went along. — see also MADE-UP 2 make (something) up or make up (something) a : to combine to produce (something) • Ten chapters make up this volume. = This volume is made up [=composed] of 10 chapters. b : to produce or create (something) by putting together different parts • They're going to make up a list of requirements for us. = They're going to make us up a list of requirements. c : to prepare (something) so that it is ready to be used • I'll make up a bed for you. = I'll make you up a bed. [=I'll prepare a bed for you to sleep in] d Brit : to supply (something) according to directions • make up [=US fill] a prescription 3 make (something) up or make up (something) : to provide an amount of time, money, etc., that is needed • The total cost of the repairs is $200. If you can pay half of that, I'll make up the rest. • I'll make up the difference. • I have to leave work early today, but I'll make up the time by working late tomorrow. 4 make up (someone or something) or make (someone or something) up a : to put makeup on (someone or someone's face) • She made herself up for the party. • Her face was heavily made up. [=there was a lot of makeup on her face] — see also MADE-UP b : to change the appearance of (someone or something) by using costumes, decorations, etc. • The actor was made up to look like George Washington. • The room was made up to look like a disco. 5 informal : to become friendly again after being angry • They quarreled but later made up (with each other). • He made up with his girlfriend. • (chiefly Brit) She's trying to make it up with him. 6 make up for (something) : to do or have something as a way of correcting or improving (something else) • He wanted to make up for [=atone for] neglecting his children by spending more time with them. • She tried to make up for lost time by working extra hard. • What the movie lacks in plot it makes up for in special effects. 7 make up to (someone) Brit, informal + disapproving : to treat (someone) in a very friendly or helpful way in order to get something for yourself • an employee who's always making up to [= (US, informal) sucking up to] the boss 8 make it up to (someone) : to do something helpful or good for (someone you have hurt or treated wrongly) • He'd neglected his children and wanted to make it up to them by spending more time with them.

make up your mind see ¹MIND

make your way, make way see ¹WAY

— see also MADE

2 make noun, pl makes [count] : a group of products that are all made by a particular company and given a particular name • The store sells computers in many different makes [=brands] and models. • "What make of car is that?" "I think it's a Ford."

on the make informal + often disapproving 1 : trying to get more money or power • He doesn't trust anyone in the movie business. He thinks that everyone in Hollywood is always on the make. 2 : trying to get sex • a beautiful woman who's often approached by guys on the make make-able or mak-able /'meɪkəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] sports : able to be made or likely to be made • a makeable putt • a makable field goal

1 make-believe /'meɪkbəli:v/ noun [noncount] : things that are imagined or pretended to be true or real • He has been living in a world of make-believe. [=he has been believing things that are not true; he has been living in a fantasy world] ♦ When children play make-believe, they think of an imaginary world and pretend to live in it as people, animals, fairies, etc. — see also make believe at BELIEVE make-or-break /'meɪkə'breɪk/ adj, always used before a noun : resulting in either definite success or definite failure • a make-or-break decision • The next year will be a make-or-break time for the company.

2 make-believe adj, always used before a noun : not real • The commercial showed a make-believe scientist in a white lab coat talking about the benefits of the product. • He has been living in a make-believe world.

make-over /'meɪk,ouvə/ noun, pl -overs [count] : the act or process of making changes to improve the appearance or effectiveness of someone or something • The actress had a complete makeover to turn her into a glamorous star. • They gave their advertising a total makeover to improve their corporate image. — see also make over at ¹MAKE

mak-er /'meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers

1 [count] a : a person who makes something • a maker of action films — often used in combination • a filmmaker • a troublemaker • a glassmaker • government policy-makers • a peacemaker b : a company that makes a specified product • one of the nation's leading makers [=manufacturers] of fine cars • a maker of computer chips • computer makers — often used in combination • an automaker c : a machine that makes something • an ice-cream maker • a pasta maker — often used in combination • a coffeemaker

2 Maker [singular] : GOD • a hymn giving thanks to the Maker of all things meet your maker or meet your Maker : to die • He says he's not afraid to meet his maker. — often used figuratively • My old car has finally gone to meet its maker.

make-shift /'meɪkʃɪft/ adj : used as a usually rough and temporary replacement for something • A large box served as a makeshift table.

make-up /'meɪk,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups

1 [singular] : the way in which something is put together or arranged — often + of • the makeup of the Earth's atmosphere • the ethnic makeup of the neighborhood • the make-up [=layout] of a printed page

2 [singular] : the physical, mental, and moral character of a person • His daring attitude toward risks is a major part of his makeup. • her psychological makeup

3 [noncount] a : substances (such as lipstick or powder) used to make someone's face look more attractive • She put on some makeup before the party. • She applied her makeup lightly/heavily. • wearing heavy/thick makeup • She's too young to wear makeup. • a makeup artist [=a person whose job is to put makeup on actors or models] b : materials

(such as wigs or cosmetics) that are used to change the appearance of an actor • put on makeup for a play • I didn't recognize him when he was in his theatrical/stage makeup.

4 [count] US : a special test for a student who has missed or failed a previous test • He'll have to pass the makeup to graduate. — often used before another noun • a makeup exam/test/quiz — see also make up at ¹MAKE

mak-ing /'meɪkɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : the action or process of producing or making something • methods used in the making of wine — often used in combination • dressmaking • filmmaking • government policy-making

2 [noncount] : something that causes someone to become better or more successful • His time in the army was the making of him. [=he became a better person because of his time in the army] • That movie was the making of her as an actress. [=that movie made her a well-known and successful actress]

3 makings [plural] a US : the people or things that are needed for making something • With beans, rice, cheese, and fresh salsa, you have (all) the makings off/for a delicious burrito. b : the qualities that are needed to become something • He has (all) the makings of a great quarterback. [=he has the talent needed to become a great quarterback]

in the making : in the process of being made • The film was three years in the making. [=it took three years to make the film] • She has a talent for spotting problems in the making. [=for spotting problems as they are beginning to develop] • We were watching history in the making. [=we were watching an important historical event as it happened]

of your own making : caused by your own actions • The problem is entirely of your own making. [=the problem is entirely your own fault; you alone are responsible for the problem]

mal- combining form : bad or badly • malpractice • mal-treatment • malodorous

mal-ad-just-ed /,mælə'dʒʌstəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not able to deal with other people in a normal or healthy way • socially maladjusted people — opposite WELL-ADJUSTED

— mal-ad-just-ment /,mælə'dʒʌstmənt/ noun [noncount] • emotional maladjustment

mal-adroit /,mælə'droɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very awkward : not skillful or adroit • The governor has been criticized for his maladroit handling of the budget crisis. • a socially maladroit teenager

— mal-adroit-ly adv — mal-adroit-ness noun [noncount]

mal-a-dy /'mælədi/ noun, pl -dies [count] formal : a disease or illness • The patient was suffering from a mysterious malady [=ailment] that the doctors were unable to identify. — often used figuratively • unemployment and other social maladies

mal-aise /mə'leɪz/ noun

1 medical : a slight or general feeling of not being healthy or happy [noncount] The symptoms include headache, mal-aise, and fatigue. [singular] An infected person will feel a general malaise. • a spiritual malaise

2 : a problem or condition that harms or weakens a group, society, etc. [noncount] postwar malaise [singular] The country's current economic problems are symptoms of a deeper malaise.

mal-a-prop-ism /'mælə,prə'pɪzəm/ noun, pl -isms [count] : an amusing error that occurs when a person mistakenly uses a word that sounds like another word but that has a very different meaning ma-lar-ia /mə'leriə/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease that causes chills and fever and that is passed from one person to another by the bite of mosquitoes

— ma-lar-i-al /mə'leriəl/ adj • malarial fever

ma-lar-key /mə'laeki/ noun [noncount] informal : foolish words or ideas : NONSENSE • He thinks everything politicians say is just a bunch of malarkey.

mal-con-tent /,mælkən'tent, Brit 'mælkəntent/ noun, pl -tents [count] disapproving : a person who is always or often unhappy or angry about something • He complained so much that he got a reputation for being a malcontent.

1 male /'meɪl/ adj

1 a : of or relating to the sex that cannot produce young or lay eggs • a male bird/mammal/insect • male athletes • a study of male [=men's] sexuality • There were more male than female students. b [more ~; most ~] : characteristic of boys or men • a male [=masculine] voice/name c : having members who are all boys or men • a male choir

2 of a plant : not producing fruit or seeds • a male holly

3 technical : having a part that fits into the hole in another part (called a female part) • Most extension cords have a male plug on one end and a female plug on the other.

– male-ness noun [noncount]

2 male noun, pl males [count]

1 : a man or a boy : a male person • She attended a school where there were more males than females.

usage The use of male to mean “man” or “boy” now occurs most commonly in scientific or technical language. • According to the study, males scored about the same as females. • The suspect was a white male aged about 30. In other contexts, it is often seen as a humorous or mildly insulting word. • She referred to her husband’s friends as “a bunch of clumsy males.”

2 : a male animal • The male of this species assists the female in feeding the young.

3 : a plant that does not produce seed or fruit : a male plant male-fac-tor /ˈmæləˌfæktər/ noun, pl -tors [count] formal : someone who is guilty of a crime or offense : a person whose behavior is wrong or evil • He favors harsh punishment for chronic malefactors. [=criminals]

ma-lev-o-lent /məˈlevələnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing a desire to cause harm to another person • Her reputation has been hurt by malevolent [=malicious] gossip. • a malevolent demon • a malevolent lie/smile

– ma-lev-o-lence /məˈlevələns/ noun [noncount] – ma-lev-o-lent-ly adv

mal-fea-sance /ˈmælˈfiːzns/ noun [noncount] law : illegal or dishonest activity especially by a public official or a corporation • The investigation has uncovered evidence of corporate malfeasance.

mal-for-ma-tion /ˈmælfəˈmeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions medical : a condition in which part of the body does not have the normal or expected shape [noncount] The condition is marked by malformation of the spine. [count] She underwent surgery to correct a heart malformation.

mal-formed /ˈmælˈfɔːmd/ adj, medical : not having the normal or expected shape especially because of a problem in the way something has developed or grown : badly or improperly formed • a malformed foot mal-func-tion /ˈmælˈfʌŋkʃən/ verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing [no obj] : to fail to function or work properly • A software problem is causing the system to malfunction.

– malfunction noun, pl -tions [noncount] The problem is causing malfunction of the system. [count] system malfunctions

mal-ice /ˈmæləs/ noun [noncount] : a desire to cause harm to another person • an attack motivated by pure malice • She claimed that her criticisms were without malice.

with malice aforethought law — used to describe a criminal act that was deliberately planned to cause harm to someone • Murder is the killing of another person with malice aforethought.

ma-li-cious /məˈlɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a desire to cause harm to another person : having or showing malice • a malicious liar • malicious gossip • a malicious distortion of the truth

– ma-li-cious-ly adv • He claims his statements have been maliciously distorted. – ma-li-ci-ous-ness noun [noncount]

1 ma-lign /məˈlaɪn/ verb -ligns; -ligned; -lign-ing [+ obj] formal : to say bad things about (someone or something) publicly : to criticize (someone or something) harshly or unfairly • Her supporters say she is being unfairly maligned in the press. • I did not intend to malign [=impugn] his motives. • They have given up their much-maligned [=widely criticized] attempt to reform tax policy.

2 malign adj [more ~; most ~] formal : causing or intended to cause harm • He has used his power for malign [=malevolent] purposes.

ma-lig-nan-cy /məˈlɪgnənsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [noncount] medical + formal : a malignant quality or state • the malignancy of the tumor

2 [count] medical : a tumor that is malignant • The test revealed a malignancy in the patient’s chest.

ma-lig-nant /məˈlɪgnənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 medical : very serious and dangerous : tending or likely to grow and spread in a rapid and uncontrolled way that can cause death • a malignant [=cancerous] tumor/growth • a highly malignant form of cancer — opposite BENIGN

2 formal : very evil • a powerful and malignant influence

– ma-lig-nant-ly adv

ma-lin-ger /məˈlɪŋgər/ verb -gers; -gered; -ger-ing [no obj] : to pretend to be sick or injured in order to avoid doing work • His boss suspected him of malinger because of his frequent absences from work.

– ma-lin-ger-er /məˈlɪŋgərə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

mall /ˈmɑːl/ noun, pl malls [count]

1 : a large building or group of buildings containing stores of many different kinds and sizes • They spent the afternoon shopping at the mall. — see also STRIP MALL

2 : a public area where people walk • a pedestrian mall

mal-lard /ˈmæləd/ noun, pl mallard or mal-lards [count] : a very common kind of duck mal-lea-ble /ˈmæliəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 technical : capable of being stretched or bent into different shapes • a malleable metal

2 formal : capable of being easily changed or influenced • a malleable [=flexible] plan • malleable young minds

– mal-lea-bil-i-ty /ˈmæliəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount] • the malleability of the metal

mal-let /ˈmælət/ noun, pl -lets [count]

1 : a hammer with a large usually wooden head

2 sports : a club used for hitting the ball in croquet or polo

mal-nour-ish-ed /ˈmælˈnəʃɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not eating enough food or not eating enough healthy food : poorly nourished • malnourished children

mal-nu-tri-tion /ˈmælnuˈtrɪʃən, Brit ˈmælnjuˈtrɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the unhealthy condition that results from not eating enough food or not eating enough healthy food : poor nutrition • a program to help poor children suffering from malnutrition

mal-odor-ous /ˈmælˈoudərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having a bad smell • a malodorous [=smelly] mixture of chemicals mal-prac-tice /ˈmælˈpræktəs/ noun [noncount] law : careless, wrong, or illegal actions by someone (such as a doctor) who is performing a professional duty • a surgeon accused of malpractice • Doctors need to have malpractice insurance to protect themselves against lawsuits.

malt /ˈmɑːlt/ noun, pl malts

1 [noncount] : grain and especially barley that is soaked in water and used in making alcoholic drinks (such as beer and whiskey)

2 [count] US, informal : MALTED MILK • a chocolate malt

3 [count, noncount] : MALT WHISKEY

1 malt-ed /ˈmɑːltəd/ adj, always used before a noun : changed into malt • malting grain/barley

2 malted noun, pl -eds [count] US, informal : MALTED MILK • ordered a hot dog and a chocolate malted

malted milk noun, pl ~ milks [count, noncount] US : a drink made by mixing a special powder of malted grains and dried milk into a liquid (such as milk) and usually adding ice cream and flavoring malt liquor noun, pl ~ -quors [count, noncount] US : a type of beer that has a high amount of alcohol mal-treat /ˈmælˈtri:t/ verb -treats; -treat-ed; -treat-ing [+ obj] : to treat (someone) in a rough or cruel way • He claims that he was mal-treated [(more commonly) mistreated, abused] by the prison guards.

– mal-treat-ment /ˈmælˈtri:təmənt/ noun [noncount]

malt whiskey (US) or Brit malt whisky noun, pl ~ -keys [count, noncount] : whiskey made in Scotland from malted barley mam /ˈmæm/ noun, pl mams [count] Brit, informal : a person’s mother ma-ma or mam-ma also mom-ma /ˈmɑːmə/ noun, pl -mas [count] informal : a person’s mother — used especially by young children • Where’s mama? • Read me a story, Mama! — compare PAPA

mama’s boy noun, pl ~ boys [count] US, disapproving : a boy or man who is seen as weak because he is controlled or protected too much by his mother

mam-bo /ˈmɑːmbou, Brit ˈmæmbəu/ noun, pl -bos

1 [count] : a lively dance originally from Cuba • They learned to dance the mambo.

2 [count, noncount] : the music for the mambo • The band played a mambo.

mam-mal /ˈmæməl/ noun, pl -mals [count] : a type of animal that feeds milk to its young and that usually has hair or fur covering most of its skin • Human beings, dogs, and cats are all mammals.

– mam-ma-li-an /mə'merliən/ adj, technical • characteristics of the mammalian brain • mammalian species

mam-ma-ry /'mæməri/ adj, technical : of or relating to the breasts • mammary cells mammary gland noun, pl ~ glands [count] technical : a gland in a woman's breast or in a female animal that produces milk mam-mo-gram /'mæməgræm/ noun, pl -grams [count] medical : a photograph of a woman's breasts made by X-rays • She went to the hospital for her yearly mammogram.

– mam-mog-ra-phy /mæ'mɑ:grəfi/ noun [noncount]

¹mam-moth /'mæməθ/ noun, pl -moths [count]

1 : a type of large, hairy elephant that lived in ancient times and that had very long tusks that curved upward

2 : something that is very large • The little business she started by herself has now become a mammoth [=giant] in the industry.

²mammoth adj [more ~; most ~] : very large • a mammoth [=huge, gigantic] building • Renovating the house is a mammoth undertaking.

¹man /'mæn/ noun, pl men /'men/

1 [count] : an adult male human being • He was a shy boy, but he grew to be a strong and confident man. • He's a grown man now. • The movie is popular with men and women. • He's a man of great talent. = He's a very talented man. • a good/bad man

2 : a man or boy who shows the qualities (such as strength and courage) that men are traditionally supposed to have [count] Don't cry, little boy: be a man! • A few years in the army will make a (real) man (out) of you! [noncount] Are you man enough to meet the challenge?

3 : a woman's husband or boyfriend [count] Who's the new man in her life? = Who's her new man? [noncount] I now pronounce you man [=husband] and wife. — see also OLD MAN

4 a [count] : an individual human being : PERSON • Time waits for no man. [=for no one] • the differences between men [=people] and beasts/animals • He believes that all men are created equal. b [noncount] : the human race • prehistoric man • It's not a fit night out for man or/nor beast. [=for people or animals] • the problems facing modern man [=the human race in modern times] ♦ Senses 4a and 4b are now sometimes avoided because they are considered sexist.

5 [count] — used when you are talking to a man • (chiefly US, informal) Hey, man, how are you? • (old-fashioned) Pull yourself together, man! • Okay, men, let's go out there and win! • (US, informal) Hey, my man! It's good to see you! • (chiefly Brit, old-fashioned) My good man, can you tell me where the railroad station is?

6 [count] : a male worker who goes to people's homes • The furnace man came to repair the heater.

7 men [plural] : a group of male workers, soldiers, etc. • The men have threatened to go on strike. • He led his men into battle against overwhelming odds.

8 [count] a : a man who does a particular kind of work • a medical/military man b : a man who has a specified job or position or who belongs to a specified category of worker — used in combination • a council*man* • Has the mail*man* come yet? • He's a shrewd business*man*. c : a man who works for or represents a particular person or organization • our man in Washington • He spoke with the president's man.

9 [count] old-fashioned : a male servant — usually singular • My man will show you to your room.

10 [count] a somewhat old-fashioned : a male student or former student at a college or university • He's a Harvard man. b : a man who comes from or lives in a specified town, city, etc. — used chiefly by journalists • One of the accident victims has been identified as a Boston man.

11 [count] : a man who likes something very much or who is known for some activity or interest • I'm strictly a vanilla ice cream man. [=I'm a man who likes vanilla ice cream]

12 [singular] a : a person who can do what is needed • If you need someone to help organize the files, I'm/he's/she's your man! [=I'm/he's/she's the person you need for the job] b : the person someone (such as a police officer) is looking for • He matches the description, but I don't think he's our man. • a detective who always gets his man [=catches the criminal]

mammoth

13 [count] : one of the pieces in a game like chess or checkers

a fine figure of a man see ¹FIGURE

as one man old-fashioned, now usually used of a group of men : as a group : all together • The audience rose as one man [=everyone in the audience stood up] and cheered.

be/become your own man : to be or become a man who is not controlled by other people or who is able to support himself without the help of other people • He left home and moved to the city to become his own man.

every man for himself — used to describe a situation in which people do not help each other and each person has to take care of himself or herself • As soon as there was a crisis, it was every man for himself.

iron man see ²IRON

man of action see ACTION

man of the hour see HOUR

man's best friend — used to refer to a dog or to dogs as a group • She devotes her life to helping man's best friend.

poor man's see POOR

separate the men from the boys see ²SEPARATE

the man US, informal 1 or the Man somewhat old-fashioned : the police • He got in trouble with the Man and ended up in jail. 2 or the Man also The Man : the white people who are seen as having power in the U.S. : the white establishment • He got a job working for the Man. 3 : a man who is admired or respected as a leader or as the best man in a particular field, sport, etc. • The other players on the team all know that he's the man. • You're the man! = (very informal) You the man! = (very informal + humorous) You da man!

the man in the street or Brit the man on the Clapham omnibus : the ordinary and average person • What does the man in the street think about it?

the odd man out see ODD to a man — used to say that all the members in a group of men said, did, or thought the same thing • He worried that some of his friends might object, but, to a man, they supported his decision. [=all of them supported his decision] to the last man : until all the men in a group are killed, defeated, etc. • They vowed to fight to the last man.

²man interj, chiefly US, informal — used to express excitement, surprise, etc. • Man, what a game! • Oh man, I can't believe she said that! • Man, how much longer can this hot weather last?

³man verb mans; manned; man-ning [+ obj]

1 : to be the person who controls or is in charge of (something) • He stocked shelves while I manned the cash register. • We'll need someone to man the phones this evening. • No one was manning the front desk.

2 : to place people at or on (something) to do work • man the sails/lifeboats — see also MANNED man-about-town /,mænə,baut'taun/ noun [singular] somewhat old-fashioned : a man who goes to many popular parties, clubs, etc.

man-a-cle /'mænikəl/ noun, pl -a-cles [count] : either one of a set of two metal rings designed to lock around a person's wrists or ankles — usually plural • The prisoner was led into the courtroom in manacles.

– manacle /'mænikəl/ verb -cles; -cled; -cling [+ obj] •

The prisoner was manacled and led into the courtroom.

man-age /'mæniɔ:/ verb -ag-es; -aged; -ag-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to have control of (something, such as a business, department, sports team, etc.) • She manages [=runs] her family's bakery. • The business is managed by the owner's daughter. • The company is badly managed. • When she managed the department, we never missed a deadline. b : to take care of and make decisions about (someone's time, money, etc.) • He manages his own finances. • You need to manage [=use] your time more wisely. c : to direct the professional career of (someone, such as an entertainer or athlete) • an agency that manages entertainers — see also STAGE-MANAGE

2 [+ obj] a : to control the movements or actions of (something) • She manages [=handles] her skis well. • He is skillful in managing horses. : to keep (something) under your control • He's not able to manage [=more commonly] control his emotions. • This form of diabetes can be managed by diet. [=it can be controlled by eating a certain way] b : to control the behavior of (a child, animal, etc.) • She has difficulty managing [=handling] her young students.

3 [+ obj] : to use (something) carefully and without waste • There's enough food if we manage it well. • We need to do a better job of managing our natural resources.

4 a [no obj] : to be able to live or to do what is needed by using what you have even though you do not have much — often + on • When he lost his job, we didn't know if we could manage [=get by] on just my salary. — often + with or without • I wonder how they manage with so little income. • We'll have to manage with just one car. • This kind of plant can manage [=survive] with very little water. • They'll have to manage [=get by] without presents this year. [=they'll have to accept that they are not getting presents this year] b : to succeed in doing (something) [+ obj] "We'll need to talk about this again. Can you manage a meeting next week?" • With his ankle broken, he could only manage (taking) a few steps at a time. • She wasn't feeling well, but she still managed a smile for the photographers. • He's too weak to manage the stairs on his own. [=to go up/down the stairs on his own] — often followed by to + verb • She never studies but always manages to pass her tests. • He always manages to win somehow. • Somehow, they've managed to avoid trouble. • We were poor, but we still managed to have enough to eat. • How'd they manage to get away with it? • It was tough, but we managed not to let the secret out. • Only a few passengers managed to survive the crash. • These plants manage to stay alive with very little water. • They couldn't get tickets, but we managed to. [no obj] I don't know how we ever managed without you. • It's hard living alone, but somehow I manage. • "Do you need help with that suitcase?" "No, thanks. I think I can manage."

man·age·able /'mænidʒəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : easy to control or deal with • We bought smaller, more manageable suitcases. • They divided the students into three manageable groups. • manageable and unmanageable problems • The conditioner makes your hair more manageable.
— man·age·abil·i·ty /,mænidʒə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount]

man·age·ment /'mænidʒmənt/ noun, pl -ments
1 a [noncount] : the act or skill of controlling and making decisions about a business, department, sports team, etc. • She's planning a career in (business) management. • Business improved under the management of new owners. • She's responsible for the day-to-day management [=running] of the hospital. • a smart management decision • We're using new management techniques/practices. b : the people who make decisions about a business, department, sports team, etc. [noncount] To save money, (the) management decided to reduce the size of the staff. • Management and labor could not agree. • He has a job in middle management. • senior/top management • (The) Management is planning to hire more workers. = (Brit) (The) Management are planning to hire more workers. • The restaurant is now under new management. [=is now controlled by different people] [count] The managements of several top corporations met yesterday.
2 [noncount] : the act or process of deciding how to use something • He's extremely cautious when it comes to money management. [=he is careful about the way he uses money] • time management • a new system of water management
3 [noncount] : the act or process of controlling and dealing with something • anger management • crisis management

man·ag·er /'mænidʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count]
1 : someone who is in charge of a business, department, etc. • I'd like to speak to the manager, please. • He was promoted to manager last year. • a sales/bank/personnel manager • The team's general manager acquired five new players for the upcoming season. — see also STAGE MANAGER
2 : someone who directs the training and performance of a sports team; especially, US : a person who directs a baseball team • The manager decided to change pitchers in the eighth inning.
3 : someone who directs the professional career of an entertainer or athlete • The actress recently fired her manager.
4 : someone who decides how to use something • She's a bad manager of her time/money.

man·ag·er·ess /'mænidʒərəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count]
Brit : a woman who is in charge of a business, shop, etc.

man·a·ge·ri·al /,mænə'dʒɪriəl/ adj
1 : relating to the skill or process of controlling and making decisions about a business or organization • They lack the managerial experience needed for the job. • a change in (their) managerial practices

2 : of or relating to a manager or group of managers • managerial positions • a managerial team

managing director noun, pl ~ -tors [count] : someone who is in charge of a large company or organization managing editor noun, pl ~ -tors [count] : an editor who is in charge of the editorial activities of a newspaper, magazine, etc.

man·a·tee /'mænə,ti:/ noun, pl -tees [count] : a large animal that lives in warm waters and eats plants

man·da·rin /'mændərən/ noun, pl -rins
1 [count] : a small type of orange — called also mandarin orange
2 [count] : a public official in China in the past
3 Mandarin [noncount] : the official language of China

1 man·date /'mæn,deɪt/ noun, pl -dates [count] formal
1 : an official order to do something • Royal mandates must be obeyed. • They carried out the governor's mandate to build more roads.
2 : the power to act that voters give to their elected leaders • He won the election so convincingly that he believed he had been given a mandate for change/reform. — often followed by to + verb • He believed he had been given a mandate (from the people) to implement his policies. • There is no mandate to raise taxes.

2 mandate verb -dates; -dat-ed; -dat-ing [+ obj] chiefly US, formal
1 : to officially demand or require (something) • Ours was the first state to mandate [=order] the change. • The law mandates that every car have seat belts. — often used as (be) mandated • Drug tests have been mandated by the government. • a mandated [=required, mandatory] drug test
2 : to officially give (someone) the power to do something • He won the election so convincingly that he believed the people had mandated him to carry out his policies.

man·da·to·ry /'mændə,tori, Brit 'mændətri/ adj : required by a law or rule • This meeting is mandatory for all employees. [=all employees must go to this meeting] • The mandatory fine for littering is $200. [=everyone caught littering must pay $200] • a mandatory retirement age [=an age at which workers are required to retire] • a mandatory drug test man·di·ble /'mændəbəl/ noun, pl -di·bles [count]

1 : JAWBONE
2 : either the upper or lower part of a bird's beak
3 : a part of an insect's mouth that looks like a jaw and is often used for biting things man·do·lin /,mændə'lin/ noun, pl -lins [count] : a small musical instrument that has a long neck, a body that is shaped like a pear, and usually four pairs of strings mane /'meɪn/ noun, pl manes [count]

1 : long, thick hair growing from the neck of a horse or around the neck of a lion — see picture at HORSE
2 informal : long, thick hair on a person's head • an actor with a thick mane of silver hair man·eat·er /'mæn,i:tə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : an animal (such as a shark or a tiger) that kills and eats people
2 humorous : an attractive woman who has many lovers — man·eat·ing /'mæn,i:tɪŋ/ adj • man-eating tigers • a man-eating shark

1 ma·neu·ver (US) or Brit ma·noeu·vre /mə'nu:və/ noun, pl -vers
1 : a clever or skillful action or movement [count] With a quick maneuver, she avoided an accident. • acrobats performing dangerous maneuvers • Through a series of legal maneuvers, the defense lawyer kept her client out of jail. [noncount] The strict requirements left us very little room for maneuver. [=opportunity to make changes or to do things differently in order to produce a better result]
2 a [count] : a planned movement of soldiers or ships • He led his troops in a well-planned maneuver. b maneuvers [plural] : military activities that are done for training • To prepare for war, the army is performing/conducting maneuvers off the coast. • The army is on maneuvers.

2 maneuver (US) or Brit manoeuvre verb -vers; -vered; -ver-ing
1 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to move (something or someone) in a careful and usually skillful way [+ obj] She maneuvered her car into the tiny garage. • It took seven people to maneuver the tiger out of its cage. • We had a hard time maneuvering our furniture through the doorway. [no obj] The giant ships maneuvered into their docks. • The vehicle easily maneuvered through rocky terrain. • They held hands while maneuvering through the crowd.

2 : to do something in an effort to get an advantage, get out of a difficult situation, etc. [no obj] The companies are maneuvering for position in the limited market. • The strict requirements left us very little room to maneuver [=opportunity to make changes or to do things differently in order to produce a better result] [+ obj] Somehow, she always manages to maneuver herself out of difficult situations. • He maneuvered his way into her heart. [=he did things to make her love him] — see also OUTMANEUVER

3 : to move (soldiers, ships, etc.) where they are needed for battle [+ obj] We maneuvered our troops to the south. [no obj] The opposing forces maneuvered quickly.

— maneuvering noun, pl -ings [noncount] It took a lot of legal maneuvering for the defense lawyer to keep her client out of jail. [count] political maneuverings

ma·neu·ver·able (US) or Brit ma·noeu·vra·ble /mə'nu:vəɹəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be moved quickly, easily, or in small spaces • The new ships are faster and more maneuverable. • a highly maneuverable airplane

— ma·neu·ver·abil·i·ty (US) or Brit ma·noeu·vra·bil·i·ty /mə'nu:vəɹə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • They've improved the ship's speed and maneuverability.

man·ful·ly /'mænfəli/ adv : in a brave and strong way : in a manly way • He manfully accepted the challenge. • He walked manfully into the courtroom.

man·ga·nese /'mæŋgə,ni:z/ noun [noncount] : a grayish-white usually hard metal that breaks easily

mange /'meɪndʒ/ noun [noncount] : a skin disease of animals (such as cats and dogs) and sometimes people that causes itching and loss of hair man·ger /'meɪndʒə/ noun, pl -gers [count] : an open box in which food for farm animals is placed

mange·tout /,mɑ:nʒ'tu:/ noun, pl mangetout or mangel-touts [count] Brit : SNOW PEA

1 man·gle /'mæŋgəl/ verb man·gles; man·gled; man·gling [+ obj]

1 : to injure or damage (something or someone) severely by cutting, tearing, or crushing • His leg had been mangled by an explosion. • a mangled piece of metal

2 : to do (something) badly : to ruin (something) because of carelessness or a lack of skill • The newspaper mangled the story. [=it did not report the story correctly] • He mangled [=botched] the speech. • They mangled my favorite song!

2 mangle noun, pl mangles [count] : an old-fashioned machine used to squeeze water out of wet clothes after they have been washed man·go /'mæŋgou/ noun, pl man·goes also man·gos [count] : a juicy tropical fruit that has firm yellow and red skin and a hard seed at its center — see color picture on page C5

man·grove /'mæŋ,grouv/ noun, pl -groves [count] : a tropical tree that has roots which grow from its branches and that grows in swamps or shallow salt water • a mangrove swamp

mangy /'meɪndʒi/ adj mang·i·er; -est

1 of an animal : having a skin disease that causes itching and loss of hair : suffering from mange • a mangy dog

2 : having thin or bare spots • She finally threw out that mangy [=shabby] old rug. • a mangy beard man·han·dle /'mæŋ,hændl/ verb -han·dles; -han·dled; -han·dling [+ obj]

1 : to move (something) by using rough force • They manhandled the heavy boxes onto the truck. • She manhandled the posts into place.

2 : to treat (someone) in a rough or physically harmful way • He was manhandling the boy. • He says he was manhandled by the police.

man·hole /'mæŋ,houl/ noun, pl -holes [count] : a covered hole in a street that a person can go down into to do work under the street

man·hood /'mæŋ,hud/ noun

1 [noncount] : the qualities (such as strength and courage) that are expected in a man • He took the comment as a challenge to his manhood. • Boxing was a way for him to prove his manhood [=to prove that he was a strong/brave man]

2 [noncount] : the state or condition of being an adult man and no longer a boy • He grew from boyhood to manhood in a small southern town. • In his early manhood [=when he was a young man] he decided to become a doctor.

3 [noncount] : adult men • the manhood of a nation

4 [singular] literary + humorous : a man's penis • He wore no clothing except a cloth that hid his manhood.

man·hour /'mæn'awə/ noun, pl -hours [count] : an hour of work done by one worker • The job will take at least 300 man-hours and cost about $20 per man-hour.

man·hunt /'mæn,hʌnt/ noun, pl -hunts [count] : an organized search for a person and especially for a criminal • After several days of searching, the sheriff called off the manhunt. • The FBI launched a manhunt to find the kidnappers.

ma·nia /'meɪniə/ noun, pl -nias

1 : mental illness in which a person becomes very emotional or excited [noncount] She would typically experience a period of mania and then suddenly become deeply depressed. [count] patients affected by manias

2 : extreme enthusiasm for something that is usually shared by many people [count] — usually singular • The band was part of the early rock-and-roll mania. [=craze] • The city's sports mania is very well-known. — often + for • He had a mania for cleanliness. [noncount] The entire city has been gripped by baseball mania.

ma·ni·ac /'meɪni,æk/ noun, pl -acs [count]

1 : someone who is violent and mentally ill • The movie he rented was about a maniac [=madman, lunatic] who goes on a murderous rampage. • a homicidal maniac

2 informal : a person who behaves in a very wild way • He's a complete maniac when he's playing football. • She drives like a maniac [=she drives in a very reckless and dangerous way]

3 informal : a person who is extremely enthusiastic about something • His friends are all sports maniacs. [=fanatics] • a movie maniac [=freak]

— maniac adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] • maniac killers/fans — ma·ni·a·cal /mə'najəkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a maniacal killer/fan • She let out a maniacal laugh. • maniacal sports fans — ma·ni·a·cal·ly /mə'najəkli/ adv • laughing maniacally

man·ic /'mænik/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having or relating to a mental illness that causes someone to become very excited or emotional • The patient has a manic personality. = The patient is manic. • a manic state/mood

2 : very excited, energetic, or emotional • a manic sense of humor • manic behavior/fans

— man·i·cal·ly /'mænikli/ adv

manic depression noun [noncount] : a mental illness in which a person experiences periods of strong excitement and happiness followed by periods of sadness and depression — called also bipolar disorder, manic-depressive illness man·ic·de·press·ive /,mænikdr'presɪv/ noun, pl -ives [count] : someone who is affected by manic depression • Her brother is a manic-depressive.

— manic-depressive adj • He takes medicine to control his manic-depressive behavior. • a manic-depressive patient man·i·cot·tl /,mænə'kɑ:ti/ noun [noncount] US : a type of pasta in the shape of tubes that are usually filled with meat or cheese and covered with tomato sauce

1 man·i·cure /'mænə,kjə/ noun, pl -cures [count] : a treatment to improve the appearance and health of the hands and fingernails • She gets a manicure every week or so. — compare PEDICURE

2 manicure verb -cures; -cured; -cur·ing [+ obj]

1 : to give a beauty treatment to (someone's hands and fingernails) : to give a manicure to (someone's hands and fingernails) • She manicured her nails.

2 : to make (something, such as a lawn or a garden) look neat, smooth, and attractive • She spends her weekends working in her garden and manicuring her lawn.

— manicured adj • manicured hands • carefully manicured gardens • a well-manicured lawn

man·i·cur·ist /'mænə,kjərɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] : a person who does beauty treatments for the hands and fingernails : a person who gives manicures

1 man·i·fest /'mænə,fest/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : able to be seen : clearly shown or visible • Their sadness was manifest in their faces. • His love for literature is manifest in his large library. • There was manifest confusion in the streets.

2 : easy to understand or recognize • The truth was manifest [= (more commonly) obvious] to everyone but me. • a manifest injustice — man·i·fest·ly adv • The decision was manifestly [=clearly, obviously] unjust.

2 manifest verb -fests; -fest·ed; -fest·ing [+ obj] formal : to show (something) clearly • Both sides have manifested a stubborn unwillingness to compromise. • Their religious beliefs are manifested in every aspect of their lives. • Love manifests [=reveals] itself in many different ways. [=love appears in many ways] • Her behavior problems began manifesting themselves soon after she left home.

man·i·fes·ta·tion /ˌmænəfəˈsteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal
1 : a sign that shows something clearly — usually + of • The first manifestations of her behavior problems occurred soon after she left home. • Her work with the poor was a manifestation [=indication] of her compassionate nature.
2 : one of the forms that something has when it appears or occurs • Hate in all its manifestations [=forms] is wrong.
3 : an occurrence in which the ghost or spirit of a dead person appears • ghostly manifestations manifest destiny or Manifest Destiny noun [noncount] formal : a future event that is sure to happen : a destiny that can be clearly seen and that cannot be changed • They were living in a time when expansion to the Pacific was regarded by many people as the Manifest Destiny of the United States.

man·i·fes·to /ˌmænəˈfestəʊ/ noun, pl -tos or -toes [count] : a written statement that describes the policies, goals, and opinions of a person or group • The group's manifesto focused on helping the poor and stopping violence. • a political party's manifesto

¹man·i·fold /ˌmænəˈfəʊld/ adj, formal : many and various • the country's manifold problems • The benefits of this approach are manifold.

²manifold noun, pl -folds [count] technical : a part of an engine that connects different pipes for moving fuel and air into the engine or for carrying gases away from the engine • an intake manifold [=a manifold that brings fuel and air into an engine] • an exhaust manifold — see picture at CAR man·i·kin also man·ni·kin /ˌmænikən/ noun, pl -kins [count] : MANNEQUIN

ma·nila /məˈnɪlə/ adj : made of strong, light brown paper • a manila folder • manila envelopes

ma·nip·u·late /məˈnɪpjəˌleɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj]
1 a : to move or control (something) with your hands or by using a machine • manipulate a pencil • The baby is learning to manipulate blocks. • manipulate a computer mouse • The mechanical arms are manipulated by a computer. b medical : to move (muscles and bones) with your hands as a form of treatment • The doctor manipulated my back/spine.
2 : to use or change (numbers, information, etc.) in a skillful way or for a particular purpose • The program was designed to organize and manipulate large amounts of data. • He's always been good at manipulating numbers in his head. • As part of the experiment, students manipulated light and temperature to see how it affected the plants.
3 usually disapproving a : to deal with or control (someone or something) in a clever and usually unfair or selfish way • She knows how to manipulate her parents to get what she wants. • He felt that he had been manipulated by the people he trusted most. • The editorial was a blatant attempt to manipulate public opinion. b : to change (something) in an unfair or selfish way • He's accused of trying to manipulate the price of the stock. • The company manipulated its accounts to exaggerate its profits.

— ma·nip·u·la·tion /məˈnɪpjəˌleɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] price manipulations [noncount] trying to control the election through blatant manipulation of public opinion • her shameless manipulation of her parents ma·nip·u·la·tive /məˈnɪpjəˌleɪtɪv, məˈnɪpjələtɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] usually disapproving : using or controlling other people in a clever and often unfair or selfish way • a clever and manipulative salesman • manipulative behavior ma·nip·u·la·tor /məˈnɪpjəˌleɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] often disapproving : a person who uses or controls other people in a clever and often unfair or selfish way : a manipulative person • He said she was a clever political manipulator.

man·kind /ˌmænˈkaɪnd/ noun [noncount] : all people thought of as one group : HUMANKIND • All of mankind will benefit from this new technology. • We have seen the same pattern throughout the history of mankind. — compare WOMANKIND man·ky /ˌmæŋki/ adj man·ki·er; -est Brit, informal : dirty and unattractive • a manky old dog • manky clothing

man·ly /ˌmænli/ adj man·li·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : having or showing qualities (such as strength or courage) that are expected in a man • He wasn't manly enough to fight. • a manly competitor • He has a deep, manly voice.

— man·li·ness noun [noncount] • a test of his manliness [=manhood]

man-made /ˌmænˈmeɪd/ adj : made by people rather than by nature • The government flooded the valley to create a man-made lake. • She preferred wearing cotton to man-made [=synthetic] fabrics. • man-made building materials man·na /ˌmænə/ noun [noncount]

1 : food which according to the Bible was supplied by a miracle to the Israelites after they escaped from Egypt
2 : something needed that is received unexpectedly • Your generous gift was manna from heaven.

manned /ˌmænd/ adj : carrying or done by a person • manned spaceflight • a manned mission to the moon — opposite UNMANNED man·ne·quin /ˌmænikən/ noun, pl -quins [count] : a figure shaped like a human body that is used for making or displaying clothes

man·ner /ˌmænə/ noun, pl -ners
1 [singular] somewhat formal : the way that something is done or happens • She has a very forceful manner of speaking. • I objected to the manner in which the decision was made. — often used after in • Continue stirring in this manner until the sauce thickens. • In this manner, we were able to save enough money for a new car. • In what manner was the data collected? [=how was the data collected?] • We worked in a quick manner. [=we worked quickly] • She taught her class in an informal manner. • He always begins his stories in the same manner. • We were allowed to spend the money in any manner we wanted.
2 a [count] : the way that a person normally behaves especially while with other people — usually singular • He had a gentle manner (about him). • He listened patiently to his children, as was his manner. • It was her energetic and friendly manner that got her the job. — see also BEDSIDE MANNER
b manners [plural] : behavior while with other people • His children have excellent manners. [=his children behave very well] • It's bad manners [=it is impolite] to talk with your mouth full. c manners [plural] : knowledge of how to behave politely while with other people • Some people have no manners. • Someone should teach you some manners! • He forgot his manners and reached across the table for the salt. ♦ To remember/mind your manners is to behave in a polite and proper way. • “Mind your manners,” Mom said sternly, “and thank your uncle for the nice gifts.” — see also TABLE MANNERS 3 [singular] : an artistic style or method • He painted this picture in his early manner. — often used in the phrase in/after the manner of • She wrote after the manner of [=in the style of] her favorite poet. • This church was built in the manner of the English Gothic style.
all manner of : all kinds or sorts of (things or people) • The store sells all manner of musical instruments. • All manner of people come to the city.
in a manner of speaking — used to say that a statement is true or accurate in a certain way even if it is not literally or completely true • His retirement was, in a manner of speaking, the beginning of his real career. • After the storm destroyed their house, they were, in a manner of speaking [=so to speak, as it were], lost at sea. [=they felt lost and confused after their house was destroyed]
not by any manner of means see MEANS to the manner born : suited to a particular position, role, or status in a way that seems very natural • He had never been on a boat before, but he walked along the deck as if to the manner born.
what manner of old-fashioned + literary : what kind or sort of • What manner of person could have committed such a crime? • What manner of woman is she to have done something like that?

man·nered /ˌmænəd/ adj
1 : behaving in a certain way — used in combination • He was a mild-mannered [=gentle] man who rarely became angry. • well-mannered [=well-behaved] children
2 [more ~; most ~] disapproving : formal in a way that is intended to impress other people • He had a very mannered [=unnatural] way of speaking.

man·ner·ism /ˌmænəˈrɪzəm/ noun, pl -isms [count] : a person's particular way of talking or moving • The actor can mimic the President's mannerisms perfectly.

man·ner·ly /ˌmænəli/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : behaving politely while with other people : showing good manners • When he was a child, he was quiet and mannerly. • a mannerly young man man-nish /'mæniʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : suitable for or typical of a man rather than a woman : not feminine • She was wearing a hat and mannish clothing. • She had a deep and rather mannish voice.

— man-nish-ly adv — man-nish-ness noun [noncount]

ma-no a ma-no /,mɑ:nou'a mɑ:nou/ adv — used to describe a situation in which two people directly compete, fight, or argue with each other • They fought mano a mano. • Tomorrow night the candidates (will) go mano a mano [=compete against each other] in the first of two debates. ✧ Mano a mano comes from a Spanish phrase that means “hand to hand.”

manoeuvre, manoeuvrable Brit spellings of MANEUVER, MANEUVERABLE

man of God noun, pl men of God [count] formal : a man who is a priest or minister man of letters noun, pl men of letters [count] : a man who writes or who knows a lot about novels, poems, etc. : a literary man man of straw noun, pl men of straw [count] chiefly Brit : STRAW MAN man of the cloth noun, pl men of the cloth [count] formal + old-fashioned : a man who is a priest or minister

man of the house noun

the man of the house : the male family member who has the most responsibility for taking care of and making decisions about the household • When his father died, John became the man of the house even though he was only 18.

man of the people noun

a man of the people : a man (such as a politician) who understands and is liked by ordinary people

man of the world noun, pl men of the world [count] : a man who has had many experiences and who is not shocked by things that may be shocking to other people man-of-war /,mænəv'wɔ:/ noun, pl men-of-war /,menəv'wɔ:/ [count] : a ship that has many weapons and is used for war

man-or /'mænə/ noun, pl -ors [count]

1 : a large country house on a large piece of land

2 Brit, informal : the area or section of a city that a particular group of police officers are responsible for to the manor born : born into a wealthy family that has a high social status

— ma-no-ri-al /mə'nɔriəl/ adj • manorial landowners/estates

man-pow-er /'mæn,pawə/ noun [noncount] : the number of people who are available to work • Currently we are experiencing a shortage of manpower. • military manpower

man-qué /man'keɪ, Brit 'mɒŋkeɪ/ adj, always used after a noun, formal — used to describe what a person could or should have been but never was • He works as a cook but thinks of himself as a poet manqué. • an artist manqué

manse /'mæns/ noun, pl mans-es [count]

1 : the house of a minister

2 : a large and impressive house : MANSION man-ser-vant /'mæn,səvənt/ noun, pl menservants [count] old-fashioned : a male servant • menservants and maidservants

man-sion /'mænsjən/ noun, pl -sions [count] : a large and impressive house : the large house of a wealthy person • a mansion with 10 bedrooms and an indoor swimming pool man-sized /'mæn,sɑɪzd/ also man-size /'mæn,sɑɪz/ adj : large and suitable for or typical of a man • a man-sized sandwich • his man-sized appetite • a man-size effort • This is a man-sized job.

man-slaugh-ter /'mæn,slɑ:tə/ noun [noncount] law : the crime of killing a person without intending to do so • She was convicted of manslaughter for driving while drunk and killing three people.

man's man noun [singular] : a man who is liked and admired by other men — compare LADIES' MAN man-tel /'mæntl/ noun, pl -tels [count] chiefly US : the shelf above a fireplace — see picture at LIVING ROOM

man-tel-piece /'mæntl,pɪ:s/ noun, pl -piec-es [count]

1 : the shelf above a fireplace and the decorative pieces on the sides of the fireplace

2 : MANTEL

man-tis /'mæntəs/ noun, pl man-tis-es or man-tes /'mæn,tɪ:z/ [count] : PRAYING MANTIS

¹man-tle /'mæntl/ noun, pl man-tles [count]

1 : a loose piece of clothing without sleeves that was worn over other clothes especially in the past : CLOAK

2 literary : something that covers or surrounds something else — + of • The ground was covered/cloaked in a mantle of leaves. • mountains blanketed/wrapped in a mantle of snow • A mantle of secrecy surrounded the family's past. [=the family's past was kept secret]

3 formal : the position of someone who has responsibility or authority • He took on the mantle of director. [=he took on the job of being the director] • She accepted/assumed the mantle of leadership.

4 technical : the middle layer of the Earth that is between the top crust and the inner core

²mantle verb mantles; man-tled; man-ting [+ obj] formal + literary : to cover or surround (something) — usually used as (be) mantled • The mountains were mantled with/in snow.

man-to-man /'mæntə'mæn/ adj

1 always used before a noun : happening between two men — used to describe speech between men that is honest, open, and informal • We need to have a man-to-man talk. • a man-to-man discussion

2 chiefly US, sports : of or relating to a way of playing defense in football, basketball, etc., in which each player on the defense is supposed to stop a particular player on the offense • They were playing a man-to-man defense. • man-to-man coverage

— man-to-man adv • talking man-to-man • The defense was playing man-to-man.

man-tra /'mɑ:ntrə, Brit 'mæntərə/ noun, pl -tras [count]

1 : a sound, word, or phrase that is repeated by someone who is praying or meditating

2 : a word or phrase that is repeated often or that expresses someone's basic beliefs • a businessman whose mantra is “bigger is better”

¹man-u-al /'mænjəwəl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : doing or involving hard physical work • low-paid manual workers/laborers • She spent the summer doing manual labor on her uncle's farm.

2 : of or relating to using the hands • He has quite a bit of manual dexterity. [=skill and ease in using his hands] • manual skill

3 : operated or controlled with the hands or by a person • I can't drive her car because it has a manual transmission instead of an automatic transmission. [=it has a system for changing gears that has to be operated by the driver] : operated only with the hands and without electric power • He has a collection of old-fashioned manual typewriters.

— man-u-al-ly adv • manually operated machinery

²manual noun, pl -als [count]

1 : a small book that gives useful information about something : HANDBOOK • Here's the owner's manual of your new car. • The computer program comes with a user's manual. • We lost the instruction manual and couldn't put our bikes together. • Please refer to the training/employee manual if you have any questions about your job.

2 : a vehicle that has a system for changing gears that has to be operated by the driver : a car with a manual transmission

• Is your car a manual or an automatic?

¹man-u-fac-ture /,mænjə'fæktʃə/ verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) usually in large amounts by using machines • materials used in manufacturing cars/computers • a company that manufactures wool and cotton clothing

2 : to create (something, such as a false story or explanation) by using your imagination often in order to trick or deceive someone • He manufactured [=fabricated, invented] a story/lie/falsehood in order to get out of trouble.

²manufacture noun [noncount] : the process of making products especially with machines in factories • materials used in the manufacture of cars/computers • We're developing new methods of paper manufacture.

man-u-fac-tur-er /,mænjə'fæktʃərə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

: a company that makes a product • Follow the instructions recommended by the manufacturer. • They are one of the country's leading manufacturers of children's clothing. • car manufacturers

man-u-fac-tur-ing /,mænjə'fæktʃərɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

: the industry or business of making products especially with machines in factories • Manufacturing is central to the economy of the country. • They've created new jobs in manufacturing.

ma·nure /mə'nuə, Brit mə'njuə/ noun, pl -nures : solid waste from farm animals that is used to make soil better for growing plants [noncount] a bag of cow manure [count] fertilizers made from animal manures

man·u·script /'mæn.jə.skript/ noun, pl -scripts : the original copy of a play, book, piece of music, etc., before it has been printed [count] The library owns the author's original manuscript. • a copy of the composer's manuscript [noncount] She read the book in manuscript. [=she read the manuscript of the book]

¹many /'meni/ adj — used to refer to a large number of things or people • She worked hard for many years. • They were one of the many, many families that came to watch the parade. • Gardening is one of her very many interests. • They talked about the many benefits of learning English. • You can never have too many friends. • Some people will come, but many more people will not. • A great/good many people [=very many people] did not survive. — often used in negative statements • We don't have many choices. [=we have few choices] • There weren't many people at the party.

as many — used to talk about or compare amounts • She read as many books as she could. [=she read the largest number of books possible] • She read three times as many books as he did. [=she read three times more books than he did] • We saw three plays in as many days. [=we saw three plays in three days] • She wrote five books in as many years.

how many — used to ask or talk about an amount • How many people were there? • I was surprised by how many people were there. • How many times [=how often] do I have to tell you to lock the door?

²many pronoun : a large number of people or things • Some people will come, but many [=many people] will not. • The medicine has helped many with the disease. • Many of his friends never went to college. • I know some of the people here, but not (very) many of them. • Far/All too many have died in this war. • A lot of people have tried to climb the mountain, but a great/good many of them have failed. • I wanted a dozen, but they didn't have that many. = They didn't have as many as that. [=they had fewer than a dozen] as many as — used to suggest that a number or amount is surprisingly large • She read as many as 60 books! • As many as 60 students competed for the prize. • They lost by as many as 20 points.

many a/an formal + literary — used with a singular noun to refer to a large number of things or people • It remained a mystery for many a year. [=for many years] • I've been there many a time. [=many times] • Many a tale was told. [=many tales were told] • Many an answer [=many answers] can be found in this book. • Many a man has tried [=many men have tried] but few men have succeeded.

many's the formal + literary — used to say that something is common or has happened often • Many's the day we have spent together. [=we have spent many days together] • Many's the time I've been there. [=I've been there many times] the many : the great majority of people • policies that help the privileged few at the expense of the many

Mao·ri /'mauri/ noun, pl -ris

¹ [count] : a member of the original people living in New Zealand

² [noncount] : the language of the Maori people

— Maori adj • Maori culture

¹map /'mæp/ noun, pl maps [count]

¹ : a picture or chart that shows the rivers, mountains, streets, etc., in a particular area • a map of the country • different maps of the world • a road/street map [=a map showing the roads/streets of an area] • "Can you find where we are on the map?" "Sorry: I'm no good at reading maps." • "How do I get to the station?" "Here, let me draw you a map." — see also RELIEF MAP

² : a picture or chart that shows the different parts of something • a map of the brain

all over the map US, informal : not staying the same : characterized by frequent and extreme changes • Prices have been all over the map.

put (something or someone) on the map : to make (a place, a person, etc.) famous or well-known • The story has put our little town on the map. • The success of his first album really put him on the map in the music industry.

²map verb maps; mapped; map·ping [+ obj]

¹ : to make a map of (something) • He mapped the stars. •

The coastline was mapped by early explorers.

² US : to plan the details of (something) • We mapped [=mapped out] a plan of action.

map onto [phrasal verb] map (something) onto (something) technical : to find or show the connections between two things or groups of things • map brain functions onto brain structures map out [phrasal verb] map (something) out or map out (something) : to plan the details of (something, such as a program or your future) • We mapped out a plan of action.

• They mapped her campaign for governor all out. • She has her future all mapped out.

ma·ple /'meɪpəl/ noun, pl ma·ples

¹ [count] : a type of tree that grows in northern parts of the world and has hard wood often used in making furniture • The maple leaf is an emblem of Canada. — called also maple tree

² [noncount] : the wood of a maple tree • a table made of ma·ple

maple sugar noun [noncount] : a brown sugar made from the sap of maple trees

maple syrup noun [noncount] : a sweet, thick liquid made from the sap of maple trees • pancakes served with butter and maple syrup

mar /'mɑə/ verb mars; marred; mar·ring [+ obj] : to ruin the beauty or perfection of (something) : to hurt or damage the good condition of (something) • A large scar marred his face. • Her acting mars an otherwise great movie. — often used as (be) marred • The report is marred by numerous errors. • a car marred by scratches

Mar. abbr March

ma·ra·ca /mə'rɑ:kə, Brit mə'rækə/ noun, pl -cas [count] : a musical instrument with a handle and a round hollow top that is filled with beads, beans, etc., and is shaken to make noise — usually plural • play the maracas

mar·a·sch·i·no /,merə'ski:nou, merə'fi:nou/ noun, pl -nos

¹ [count] : a kind of sweet cherry that is used in desserts or alcoholic drinks — called also maraschino cherry

² [count, noncount] : a sweet alcoholic drink made from cherry juice

¹mar·a·thon /'merə,θɑ:n/ noun, pl -thons [count]

¹ : a running race that is about 26 miles (42 kilometers) long • He ran (in) a marathon.

² a : something (such as an event or activity) that lasts an extremely long time or that requires great effort • We watched a marathon of our favorite movies. • a movie marathon • a shopping marathon b : a contest in which people compete with each other to see who can do something for the longest amount of time • a dance marathon

²marathon adj, always used before a noun : lasting an unusually long time • Their marathon meeting lasted two full days. • a marathon negotiating session

mar·a·thon·er /'merə,θɑ:nə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a runner who competes in a marathon ma·raud·ing /mə'rɑ:dɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : traveling from place to place to attack others • Marauding soldiers wandered from town to town. • a marauding band/gang of thieves • marauding lions

— ma·raud·er /mə'rɑ:də/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a band/gang of marauders

mar·ble /'mɑəbəl/ noun, pl mar·bles

¹ [noncount] : a kind of stone that is often polished and used in buildings and statues • The statue is made of marble. • a block of marble — often used before another noun • the museum's polished marble floor/staircase • a marble countertop

² a [count] : a little glass ball used in some children's games • I love to play with marbles. b marbles [noncount] : a children's game played with little glass balls • Let's play marbles. = Let's play a game of marbles.

lose your marbles informal + humorous : to become insane • When he started ranting about how the government was out to get him, I thought he'd lost his marbles. [=gone crazy] • He hasn't completely lost his marbles yet.

mar·bled /'mɑəbəld/ adj

¹ : made from or decorated with marble • The mansion has beautiful marbled columns. • a marbled hall

² : having markings or colors similar to marble • marbled paper

³ of meat : having lines of fat mixed throughout • marbled beef • The meat was marbled with fat.

¹march /'mɑəʃ/ verb march·es; marched; march·ing

¹ [no obj] a : to walk with regular steps as a group : to walk

in the regular and organized way of soldiers • The band marched onto the field. • The soldiers were lined up and ordered to begin marching. • Hundreds of people marched in the parade. b always followed by an adverb or preposition : to go into, out of, or through a place as an army • The army marched south to cut off the enemy's retreat. • Enemy troops were marching on the city. [=they were coming toward the city to attack it]

2 [no obj] : to walk with a large group of people who are protesting or supporting something • We marched for/against new elections. • Demonstrators marched on City Hall to protest the war.

3 [no obj] : to walk somewhere quickly in a direct and forceful way • He marched angrily out the door. • I marched into the office and demanded an answer. • She marched right up to me and asked what was wrong.

4 [+ obj] : to cause or force (a person) to walk somewhere • They marched the prisoners through the streets of the city. • We marched the children off to bed. [=we made the children go to bed] — see also FROG-MARCH march on [phrasal verb] : to go or continue onward • Time marches on. • Governments come and go, but civilization marches on.

— march-er /'mɑːtʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • There were hundreds of marchers in the parade. • protest marchers

²march noun, pl marches

1 [count] a : an act of walking together as an organized group : an act of marching • The soldiers were ordered to begin their march.; especially : an organized walk by a large group of people to support or protest something • a protest march • They led a march in support of affirmative action. b : the distance covered by marching for a specified period of time • The nearest town was a day's march away.

2 [singular] somewhat formal : forward movement or progress • the march of time/civilization • Time continues its march onward/forward.

3 [count] : a piece of music with a strong regular beat that is written to be played while people are marching • They played the general's favorite march.

on the march 1 : marching toward a place • Thousands of troops were on the march. 2 : going forward • Time is on the march.

steal a march on chiefly Brit : to get ahead of or win an advantage over (someone) in an unexpected and clever way • He stole a march on his competitors by being the first to put the product on the market.

March /'mɑːtʃ/ noun, pl March-es : the third month of the year [noncount] in (early/middle/mid-/late) March • early/late in March • We arrived on March the fourth. = (US) We arrived on March fourth. = We arrived on the fourth of March. [count] Sales are up (for) this March. • It happens every March. ♦ The saying March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb means that the month of March begins with bad weather and ends with good weather. — abbr. Mar.

marching band noun, pl ~ bands [count] : a group of musicians who play instruments while marching together at a parade or sports event

marching orders noun [plural]

1 US : orders that tell you what to do • The boss called a meeting and gave the new employees their marching orders.

2 Brit — used to say that someone has been ordered to leave a place, job, etc. • I was given my marching orders. = I got/received my marching orders. [=I was fired from my job]

Mar-di Gras /'mɑːdi,grɑː/ noun : the Tuesday before the beginning of Lent that is often celebrated with parades and parties [noncount] We're going to New Orleans for Mardi Gras. [singular] It was a Mardi Gras to remember!

mare /'meə/ noun, pl mares [count] : an adult female horse

mar-ga-rine /'mɑːdʒərən, Brit 'mɑːdʒə'ri:n/ noun, pl -rines [count, noncount] : a food that resembles butter and is made from vegetable oils • a stick of margarine

mar-ga-ri-ta /'mɑːgə'ri:tə/ noun, pl -tas [count] : an alcoholic drink made of tequila, lime or lemon juice, and an orange-flavored liquor

marge /'mɑːdʒ/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal : MARGARINE

mar-gin /'mɑːdʒən/ noun, pl -gins [count]

1 : the part of a page that is above, below, or to the side of the printed part • Please write your name in the left/left-hand margin of the page. • a book with wide/narrow margins

2 : the place where something (such as a piece of land) stops : the edge of something • We'll meet at the margin [(more commonly) edge] of the forest. • Mountains lie at the city's northern/southern margins. — often used figuratively in the phrase on the margins or (US) on the margin • We are trying to improve medical care for poor families living on the margins of society. [=poor families who are often forgotten or ignored by society] • The business has been operating on the margins of respectability. [=has been operating in a way that is not truly respectable]

3 : an extra amount of something (such as time or space) that can be used if it is needed • a safety margin ♦ If you have little or no margin for/of error, it means that you need to be very careful not to make mistakes. If you have a greater margin for/of error, you can be less careful. • We want the design to offer users a generous margin for error. • The schedule allows us very little margin for error.

4 : a measurement of difference • The bullet missed his heart by a narrow/slim margin. [=the bullet narrowly missed his heart] • We lost the election by a one-vote margin. [=we lost the election by one vote] • She won by a margin of 3,000 votes. • He was the winner by a large/considerable margin. ♦ A margin of error is a number or percentage that shows how accurate a measurement is. • The poll indicates that the President is supported by 54 percent of the voters, with a margin of error of 3 percent. [=it is possible that as few as 51 percent or as many as 57 percent of the voters support the President] — see also PROFIT MARGIN

¹mar-gin-al /'mɑːdʒənəl/ adj

1 a : not very important • a marginal problem b : very slight or small • There has been only a marginal improvement in her condition.

2 : not included in the main part of society or of a group • marginal voters

3 chiefly US : not very good • His reading and writing abilities are marginal. • She's a marginal athlete. • marginal living conditions

4 always used before a noun : written or printed in the margin of a page • marginal notes

5 Brit : able to be won or lost by changing only a few votes • At the next election the opposition parties will try to capture some marginal seats [=marginals] from the government.

6 of land : just able to produce enough crops to pay for the cost of producing those crops • farmers who must eke out a living on marginal land(s)

²marginal noun, pl -als [count] Brit : a political seat, position, etc., that is won or lost by only a few votes • How many marginals changed hands at the last election?

mar-gin-al-ize also Brit mar-gin-al-ise /'mɑːdʒənəlaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to put or keep (someone) in a powerless or unimportant position within a society or group • We are protesting policies that marginalize women. [=that do not allow women to have important or powerful positions in a society] • The program helps people from marginalized groups/populations.

— mar-gin-al-i-za-tion also Brit mar-gin-al-i-sa-tion /'mɑːdʒənələ'zeɪʃən, Brit 'mɑːdʒənə'laɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

mar-gin-al-ly /'mɑːdʒənəli/ adv

1 : to a small extent or degree : SLIGHTLY • This book is marginally more interesting than the others. • Her plan was only marginally successful.

2 US : almost not : BARELY • He is only marginally qualified for the job.

ma-ri-a-chi /,mari'a:tʃi, ,meri'a:tʃi/ noun [noncount] US : a type of lively Mexican street music played by a band of trumpets and guitars — usually used before another noun • a marachi band/musician mari-gold /'merə,ɡould/ noun, pl -golds [count] : a plant that is grown for its bright yellow or orange flowers mar-i-jua-na /,merə'wɑːnə/ noun [noncount] : the dried leaves and flowers of the hemp plant that are smoked as a drug ma-rim-ba /mə'rimbə/ noun, pl -bas [count] : a wooden musical instrument that is similar to a xylophone ma-ri-na /mə'ri:nə/ noun, pl -nas [count] : an area of water where privately owned boats (such as yachts) are kept

¹mar-i-nade /,merə'neɪd/ noun, pl -nades : a sauce in which meat or fish is soaked to add flavor or to make the meat or fish more tender [noncount] a bottle of marinade [count] a variety of spicy marinades

²marinade verb -nades; -nad-ed; -nad-ing [+ obj] : MARI-NATE

mar-i-nate /'merə,neɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing

: to put meat or fish in a sauce for a period of time to add flavor or to make the meat or fish more tender : to soak in a marinade [+ obj] The recipe says that you should marinate the chicken overnight. [no obj] The chicken should be allowed to marinate overnight.

1 marine /mə'ri:n/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to the sea or the plants and animals that live in the sea • marine life • marine animals such as dolphins and whales • a marine environment • marine biologists [=scientists who study life in the sea]

2 : of or relating to sailing on the sea or doing business (such as trading) by sea • a marine [=nautical] chart • marine [(more commonly) maritime] law

2 marine or Marine noun, pl -rines [count] : a member of the U.S. Marine Corps or the British Royal Marines • He is a former U.S. Marine. • The marines have landed. • the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines • marine barracks the Marines : the part of a country's military forces that includes soldiers who serve on a ship or are closely associated with a naval force : the U.S. Marine Corps or the British Royal Marines • an officer in the Marines

Marine Corps noun

the Marine Corps : the part of the U.S. military that consists of soldiers who serve at sea and also on land mar-i-ner /'merənə/ noun, pl -ners [count] old-fashioned + literary : SAILOR

mar-i-o-nette /,merijə'net/ noun, pl -nettes [count] : a puppet that is moved by pulling strings or wires that are attached to its body

mar-i-tal /'merət/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to marriage • They've been having marital problems/difficulties. • marital vows • They've enjoyed many years of marital bliss. [=happiness in marriage] marital status noun [noncount] : the state of being married or not married — used on official forms to ask if a person is married, single, divorced, or widowed • Please enter your marital status. • What is your marital status?

mar-i-time /'merə,taim/ adj

1 : of or relating to sailing on the sea or doing business (such as trading) by sea • The country's maritime industry is an important part of its economy. • She's an expert in maritime law. • a maritime museum

2 : located near or next to the sea • maritime nations/provinces • the country's maritime region

mar-jo-ram /'mædʒərəm/ noun [noncount] : an herb that has a pleasant smell and is often used in cooking

1 mark /'mæk/ noun, pl marks

1 [count] a : a small area on the surface of something that is dirty, damaged, etc. • a burn/scratch mark • The glass left a water mark on the wooden table. — see also BLACK MARK

b : an area of something (such as an animal's fur or skin) that is a different color from the area around it • The cat has white fur with some black marks on its head and tail. — see also BIRTHMARK, STRAWBERRY MARK, STRETCH MARKS

2 [count] a : a written or printed shape or symbol • proof-reading marks — see also PUNCTUATION MARK b : a symbol or shape on something that identifies it, shows its quality, etc. • The goldsmith's mark is stamped on the back. — see also LANDMARK, POSTMARK, TRADEMARK c : a cross made in place of a signature by someone who cannot read and write • We read him the document and he made his mark on it.

3 [count] : something that shows how someone feels about something : a sign or indication of something • He gave her the necklace as a mark of his esteem. • They left flowers on the grave as a mark of respect. • Those extra responsibilities he's giving you are a mark of confidence. [=they show that he has confidence in you]

4 [count] : a quality or trait that is typical of a particular type of person or thing — + of • Courtesy is the mark [=hallmark, sign] of a true gentleman. • A willingness to ask tough questions is the mark of a good journalist. • He thinks that indecisiveness is a mark of weakness. [=indecisiveness shows weakness]

5 [count] : a number or letter that indicates how a student has performed in a class or on a test : GRADE • I got a good/high/low mark in/for English. • I got a good/high/low mark on the spelling test. • She barely earned passing marks in her first year of college. • failing marks — often used figuratively

marionette

• I'll give them high/top marks for honesty. [=they are very honest; I give them a lot of praise and credit for being honest] — see also FULL MARKS

6 [singular] : a specified point or level • We're at the halfway mark in the first period of play. • The population has topped the 1,000,000 mark. — see also HIGH-WATER MARK

7 [count] : something that is aimed at or shot at : TARGET • The arrow hit/missed/overshot the mark. • The bullet found its mark [=hit the target that was aimed for] — often used figuratively • Our fund-raising fell/was short of the mark. [=we did not raise as much money as we needed]

8 [count] US : a person who is tricked into losing money or property • They proved to be easy marks for the swindler.

9 [count] : the line or place where a race starts • The runners were told to take their marks. [=to get into position for the start of the race] • On your mark, get set, go!

close to the mark or near the mark : fairly accurate : almost correct • Their estimate was pretty close to the mark.

leave/make a/your mark : to do something that causes you to be remembered : to create a lasting or strong impression • He worked at several jobs, but he didn't make much of a mark in any of them. • From the moment we saw her in action, we knew she would make her mark as a teacher. • Her kindness left its mark on her students.

miss its/the mark : to fail or be wrong • Their estimates completely missed the mark. [=were not accurate] • The ad campaign was supposed to appeal to young people but it missed the mark. — see also ¹MARK 7 (above)

off the mark or wide of the mark : not accurate or correct : not achieving the desired result • The results of the fund-raising were wide of the mark. • His efforts to console her were off the mark. [=his efforts to console her did not help]

quick/slow off the mark : quick or slow to act or to understand something • As soon as the opportunity arose, he was quick off the mark in exploiting it. • I was slow off the mark [=I did not act quickly] and missed my chance.

up to the mark : up to the usual standard of performance, quality, etc. : as good as usual — usually used in negative statements • I haven't been feeling up to the mark lately. • His work hasn't been up to the mark.

— compare ³MARK

2 mark verb marks; marked; mark-ing

1 : to make or leave a visible mark (something) [+ obj] Any little bit of dirt will mark that fabric. • Be careful not to mark the floor with your shoes. [no obj] a fabric that marks easily [=that easily becomes dirty or stained]

2 [+ obj] a : to write or make (a mark) • mark an accent on/over a letter • She marked an "X" on each box. b : to write a note about (something) • I have marked the event on my calendar. • Mark [=jot] down these names. c : to write or make a mark on (something) • She marked each box with an "X." • Mark that page.; also : to write on (something) in order to indicate what it is • The officials marked the document "Top Secret." = The officials marked the document as top secret. d : to write or put a mark around or near (something) so that it will be easily seen or noticed • I've marked several items on the first page. [=I've put marks next to several items on the first page]

3 [+ obj] a : to indicate (a location, such as a location on a map) with a mark or symbol • X marks the spot where the suspect was last seen. • I have marked (out) the best route on the map. b : to put something on or near (a particular place) in order to find it later • Use a bookmark to mark your place. • We put some tape on the floor to mark where the tables should go. c of an animal : to leave urine, feces, body oils, etc., in (a place) as a signal to other animals • The dog marked the base of the tree by urinating. • a tiger mark-ing its territory

4 [+ obj] : to be a typical feature or quality of (someone or something) : CHARACTERIZE • the flamboyance that marks her style — often used as (be) marked • His artwork is marked by unusual uses of color. [=color is used in unusual ways in his artwork] • The adjective "paranoid" can be defined as "marked by paranoia."

5 [+ obj] : to have a permanent and usually bad effect on (someone or something) • Her time in prison marked her for life.

6 : to give a mark to (a student or a student's work) : GRADE [+ obj] Students will be marked on their reading ability. • She spent the evening marking the students' exams/papers. [no obj] She generally marks high/low. [=she generally gives high/low marks] — see also MARK DOWN (below)

7 [+ obj] a : to be or occur at (a particular time) • This year

marks her 10th year with the company. [=this is her 10th year with the company] b : to indicate the occurrence of (an important event or time) • Her death marked the end of an era. [=an era ended when she died] c : to celebrate (an important event or time) by doing something • We'll have a big party to mark our 50th anniversary.

8 [+ obj] : to show that (someone or something) is special or different in some way • Her very first book marked her as a great poet. [=showed that she was a great poet] • She was evidently marked [=destined] for greatness. — see also MARK OUT (below)

mark down [phrasal verb] 1 mark down or mark (someone or something) down or mark down (someone or something) : to give a lower mark to (someone or something) • mark a student down for not acknowledging his sources • Your paper was well-written, but I had to mark it down [=give it a lower grade] for being late. • Some teachers mark down for poor penmanship. 2 mark (something) down or mark down (something) : to give (something) a lower price • a product marked down from $15 to $13.75 • Everything has been marked down for the sale. — see also MARKDOWN mark my words — used to tell someone to listen to and remember what you are saying • Mark my words: nothing good will come of this!

mark off [phrasal verb] mark (something) off or mark off (something) : to make (an area) separate with a line, fence, etc. • We marked off an area where people could wait.

mark out [phrasal verb] 1 mark (something) out or mark out (something) : to draw lines around (something) so that it can be clearly seen • He marked out his mining claim. 2 mark (something) out or mark out (something) : to plan the details of (a course of action) • She talked about the course the European Union has marked out [=mapped out] for itself. 3 mark (someone or something) out or mark out (someone or something) chiefly Brit : to show that (someone or something) is special or different in some way • Her very first book marked her out as a great poet. [=showed that she was a great poet] • She was marked out [=destined, marked] for greatness.

mark time 1 : to move your feet up and down like someone who is marching but without moving forward • The soldiers marked time until ordered to advance. 2 : to live without doing much while you wait for something to happen • I'm just marking time until I retire.

mark up [phrasal verb] 1 mark (something) up or mark up (something) : to make marks and write comments in or on (something) • mark up a manuscript 2 mark (something) up or mark up (something) : to give (something) a higher price • a product marked up from $15 to $15.99 • a product marked up by 10 percent — see also MARKUP

mark you Brit, old-fashioned — used in speech to give stress to a statement that you are making so that a preceding or following statement will not be misunderstood • I don't always agree with him. Mark you, [=mind you] I'm not criticizing him!

— see also MARKED

³mark noun, pl marks [count] : DEUTSCHE MARK — compare ¹MARK

mark-down /'mɑ:kdaʊn/ noun, pl -downs [count] : a reduction in price • a markdown of 10 percent = a 10 percent markdown — see also mark down at ²MARK

marked /'mɑ:kt/ adj

1 : having a mark or a particular kind of mark • a marked card [=a playing card that has a secret mark on its back so that someone can see what the card is without looking at its face] • All the streets are well-marked. [=all the streets have signs showing their names] • The bird's wings are marked with white. [=the bird has white marks on its wings]

2 always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : very noticeable • He speaks with a marked accent. • There was a marked change in her attitude. • There's been a marked improvement in the weather. • His current friendly manner is in marked contrast to his usual behavior. [=is very different from his usual behavior]

a marked man/woman 1 : someone who is famous or who gets a lot of attention • Winning the race made him a marked man. • As the front-runner, the candidate has become a marked woman. 2 : someone who is not liked or trusted or who is in danger of being harmed • His unpopular ideas made him a marked man at work.

— mark-ed-ly /'mɑ:kədli/ adv • markedly different opinions • The town had changed markedly.

mark-er /'mɑ:kə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : something (such as a sign or an object) that shows the location of something • a grave marker

2 : something that shows the presence or existence of something • a marker for/of cancer • A person's accent can be a marker of social class.

3 : a type of pen that makes wide lines — see picture at OFFICE; see also MAGIC MARKER

¹mar-ket /'mɑ:kət/ noun, pl -kets

1 [count] a : a place where products are bought and sold • a fish/meat/produce market • a street market • a country market — see also FLEA MARKET b US : a store where foods and often household items are sold : SUPERMARKET • I stopped at the market on the way home for some juice.

2 [count] a : an area (such as a country or part of a country) where a product or service can be sold • They are trying to develop foreign markets for American cotton. • The company sells mainly to the Southern market. • New markets are opening up all over the world. b : a particular type of people who might buy something • Advertisers are trying to appeal to the youth market. • targeting a more mature market • a reference work for the educational market — see also BLACK MARKET, BUYER'S MARKET, SELLER'S MARKET

3 [singular] : the amount of need and desire that people have for a product or service — used to describe how many people want to buy something; usually + for • There is a good/growing market for new homes. [=there are many people who want to buy new homes] • There is currently a poor/declining market for used cars. • They found a ready market for their products. [=they easily found many people who wanted to buy their products]

4 [singular] : the available supply of workers or jobs • the labor market [=the number of workers who are available to be hired] • the job market [=the number of jobs that are available for workers]

5 [singular] : the economic activity of buying and selling that causes prices to become higher or lower • He believes that housing prices should be determined by the market without government interference. • a market-driven industry/economy — see also FREE MARKET, SINGLE MARKET

6 [count] : the activity of buyers and sellers of a particular product • It's not clear how these changes may affect the software market.

7 [singular] : STOCK MARKET • The market was down today in heavy trading. • He enjoys playing the market. [=actively buying and selling stocks in the hope of making a profit] — see also BEAR MARKET, BULL MARKET in the market : looking for something in particular : interested in buying or finding something • He hasn't found a new job yet, but he is still in the market. [=he is still looking for a new job] — usually + for • She is in the market for a new house. [=she is looking for a new house to buy] • She's in the market for a husband.

on the market : available to be bought • Their house is still on the market. • The land just came on the (open) market last week. • The software will be on the market next month. • They've decided to put their house on the market. [=they've decided to sell their house]

price (someone) out of the market see ²PRICE

²market verb -kets; -ket-ed; -ket-ing [+ obj]

1 : to do things that cause people to know about and want to buy (something) • The company has spent millions marketing the latest version of its software. • These products are being aggressively marketed to teenagers through television ads. — see also MARKETING

2 : to offer (something) for sale in a market : SELL • He markets his wares at craft shows.

— mar-ket-er noun, pl -ers [count] • a leading marketer of software • She is a marketer for a publishing company.

mar-ket-able /'mɑ:kətəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be sold : wanted by buyers or employers • a marketable product • an employee with highly/very marketable skills

— mar-ket-abil-i-ty /,mɑ:kətə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • a product's potential marketability

market economy noun, pl ~ -mies [count] : an economic system in which prices are based on competition among private businesses and not controlled by a government mar-ke-teer /,mɑ:kə'tiə/ noun, pl -teers [count]

1 : a person or company that sells or promotes a product or service • software marketeers [=marketers]

2 : a person or company that is associated with a specified kind of market • a black marketeer [=a person who sells things on the black market] • a free marketeer [=a person who supports free markets]

market forces noun [plural] : the actions of buyers and sellers that cause the prices of goods and services to change without being controlled by the government : the economic forces of supply and demand • The value of these commodities is determined by market forces.

market garden noun, pl ~ -dens [count] Brit : TRUCK FARM

— market gardener noun, pl ~ -ers [count]

mar·ket·ing /'mɑ:kətɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the activities that are involved in making people aware of a company's products, making sure that the products are available to be bought, etc. • The company will increase its budget for marketing. • She has a job in marketing. • She runs the company's marketing department.

mar·ket·place /'mɑ:kətpleɪs/ noun, pl -places

1 [singular] : the economic system through which different companies compete with each other to sell their products • Their products must compete in the marketplace. • The company has struggled to survive in a rapidly changing marketplace.

2 [count] : a place in a town where markets are held market price noun [singular] : the price at which a product can be sold at a particular time market research noun [noncount] : research that is done to get information about what people want to buy, why they want to buy it, etc.

— market researcher noun, pl ~ -ers [count]

market share noun, pl ~ shares : the percentage that a company has of the total sales for a particular product or service [noncount] The company has gained/lost market share in the past year. [count] companies working to increase/improve their market shares market value noun, pl ~ -ues : the price at which something can be sold : the price that buyers are willing to pay for something [count] When he tried to sell his car he found out that its market value was much lower than he had expected. [noncount] The house sold below market value.

mark·ing /'mɑ:kɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : a mark, shape, or word that is written or drawn on something — usually plural • road markings • It was difficult to read the markings on the label.

2 : a mark or pattern of marks on the body of an animal — usually plural • a black cat with white markings

3 : the act or process of giving a grade to a student's work • the marking [= (US) grading] of students' papers have (all) the markings of chiefly US : to have the qualities or features of (something) • They have all the markings of a championship team. • a movie that has all the markings of [=has all the makings of] a big hit marks·man /'mɑ:ksmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a person (especially a man) who is skilled in shooting a gun at a target marks·man·ship /'mɑ:ksmənʃɪp/ noun [noncount] : skill in shooting guns marks·wom·an /'mɑ:kswʊmən/ noun, pl -wom·en /-wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who is skilled in shooting a gun at a target

mark·up /'mɑ:kʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] : an amount added to the price of something : the difference between the cost of producing something and its selling price • The retail markup on their products is 25 percent. • selling used cars at high markups — see also mark up at ²MARK

mar·lin /'mɑ:lən/ noun, pl marlin or mar·lins [count] : a large fish that lives in the sea and that people catch for sport — see color picture on page C8

mar·ma·lade /'mɑ:məleɪd/ noun, pl -lades [count, noncount] : a sweet jelly that contains pieces of fruit • a jar of orange marmalade

mar·mo·set /'mɑ:məset, Brit 'mɑ:məzet/ noun, pl -sets [count] : a small monkey of South and Central America that has soft fur and a long tail

mar·mot /'mɑ:mət/ noun, pl -mots [count] : a small animal of America and Europe that has short legs and that lives in holes that it digs in the ground

¹ma·roon /mə'ru:n/ noun [noncount] : a dark red color — see color picture on page C3

— maroon adj • a maroon fabric

²maroon verb -roons; -rooned; -roon·ing [+ obj] : to leave (someone) in a place (such as an island) that is difficult or impossible to get away from — usually used as (be) marooned • The sailors were marooned [=stranded] on the island for six months. • She was marooned [=stuck] at the office without a ride home.

marque /'mɑ:k/ noun, pl marques [count] : a group of products (such as sports cars) that are made by a particular company and given a particular name • could finally afford a car of a fashionable marque [=brand, make]

¹mar·quee /mɑ:ˈki:/ noun, pl -quees [count]

1 US a : a covered structure over the entrance to a building (such as a hotel or theater) b : a sign over the entrance to a theater that shows the name of the show, movie, play, etc., and the names of the main performers • She dreamed of seeing her name on the theater marquee.

2 Brit : a large tent that is set up for an outdoor event (such as a party)

²marquee adj, always used before a noun, US, informal : very popular and well known • The film features two marquee [=big-name, star] performers. • marquee athletes/events

mar·quess /'mɑ:kwəs/ noun, pl -quess·es [count] : a British nobleman who has a rank that is below a duke and above an earl mar·quis /'mɑ:kwəs/ noun, pl -quis·es [count] : MAR-QUESS

mar·riage /'merɪdʒ/ noun, pl -riages

1 a : the relationship that exists between a husband and a wife [count] It was his second marriage. • They have a very happy marriage. • Her first two marriages ended in divorce. [noncount] She has old-fashioned ideas about marriage. • the institution of marriage • He proposed marriage to his girlfriend. [=asked his girlfriend to marry him] • couples living together before marriage • They were joined in marriage [=they were married] last year. • They are related by marriage. [=they are related because one of them is married to a family member of the other] — see also ARRANGED MARRIAGE, CIVIL MARRIAGE, MARRIAGE OF CONVENIENCE, MIXED MARRIAGE b : a similar relationship between people of the same sex [count] a same-sex marriage [noncount] opponents/supporters of same-sex marriage • gay marriage

2 [count] : a ceremony in which two people are married to each other • Many friends and relatives were present at their marriage. • a priest who has performed many marriages

3 [singular] : a close union of or between two things • a marriage of sweet and spicy flavors • a marriage of science and art • a marriage between form and function

marriage bed see ¹BED

mar·riage·able /'merɪdʒəbəl/ adj : able to marry or suitable for marriage • a woman of marriageable age [=a woman who is old enough to marry]

marriage certificate noun, pl ~ -cates [count] : a legal document that shows that a marriage has taken place marriage counseling (US) or Brit marriage counsel·ing noun [noncount] chiefly US : help for married couples who have problems in their relationship • They are going to marriage counseling. • They need marriage counseling. — called also (Brit) marriage guidance marriage license noun, pl ~ -censes [count] : a legal document that is needed for a marriage to occur marriage of convenience noun, pl marriages of convenience [count] : a marriage made for social, political, or economic reasons and not for love — usually singular; often used figuratively • The two companies have joined together in a marriage of convenience.

¹mar·ried /'merɪd/ adj

1 a : united in marriage • a newly/recently married couple • They are happily married with several children. • They're planning to get married [=planning to marry] in October. b : having a husband or wife • a married man/woman • Is he married? — often + to • He has been married to his wife for almost 50 years. = He and his wife have been married to each other for almost 50 years. c always used before a noun : of or relating to marriage • He's enjoying married life.

2 : very involved with something (such as a job) — + to • He's married to his work. [=he gives all of his attention to his work]

²married noun, pl -rieds [count] informal : a married person — usually plural • Lots of young marrieds are moving into the neighborhood.

married name noun, pl ~ names [count] : a married woman's last name if she uses her husband's last name as her own • She used to be Susan Brown, but her married name is Susan Wilson.

mar·row /'merou/ noun, pl -rows

1 [noncount] : a soft substance that fills the bones of people and animals — called also bone marrow

2 [count, noncount] Brit : a large, long vegetable with dark green skin to the marrow : very much • We were frozen to the marrow. [=we were very cold] • The look in his eyes chilled me to the marrow [=made me feel very fearful]

mar·ry /'meri/ verb -ries; -ried; -ry·ing

1 : to become the husband or wife of (someone) : to become joined with (someone) in marriage [+ obj] He married his college sweetheart. • marrying a doctor/lawyer • I asked her to marry me. • "Will you marry me?" "Yes, I will." [no obj] He hopes to marry [=get married] soon. • She married young. [=she was young when she married] • They married for love, not money.

2 [+ obj] : to perform a ceremony in which two people get married • The minister has married more than 100 couples. • They hope to have a priest marry them. • They were married by a justice of the peace.

3 [+ obj] : to find a husband or wife for (your child) — often + to • He married his daughter to his partner's son. — often + off • They married their son off to the daughter of a close friend. • trying to marry their children off marry into [phrasal verb] marry into (something) : to become a member of (something, such as a family, group, culture, etc.) by marrying someone • He married into a very wealthy family. [=his wife's family is very wealthy] • She married into the upper class.

4 [+ obj] : to join or combine (two things) closely • The design marries traditional elements with/to/and modern methods.

marry money : to marry someone who is wealthy • My cousin hopes to marry money.

Mars /'mæz/ noun [singular] : the planet that is fourth in order from the sun

marsh /'mæʃ/ noun, pl marsh·es : an area of soft, wet land that has many grasses and other plants [count] wetlands and marshes [noncount] a wide expanse of marsh • marsh grasses

– marshy /'mæʃi/ adj marsh·i·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] • a wet marshy region/habitat • marshy ground

mar·shal /'mæʃəl/ noun, pl -shals [count]

1 : an officer of the highest rank in some military forces — see also FIELD MARSHAL

2 US : a federal official who is responsible for doing the things that are ordered by a court of law, finding and capturing criminals, etc.

3 US : the head of a division of a police or fire department • a fire marshal

4 : person who arranges and directs ceremonies or parades • a parade marshal — see also GRAND MARSHAL marshal verb -shals; US -shaled or chiefly Brit -shalled; US -shal·ing or chiefly Brit -shal·ling [+ obj]

1 a : to arrange (a group of people, such as soldiers) in an orderly way • marshal the troops/forces b : to move or lead (a group of people) in a careful way • The teacher marshaled [=ushered] the children into the classroom.

2 : to arrange or prepare (something, such as your thoughts or ideas) in a clear, effective, or organized way • She carefully marshaled her thoughts before answering the question. • marshal an argument

marsh·land /'mæʃ,lænd/ noun, pl -lands : an area of soft and wet land : MARSH [count] living near a marshland [noncount] one hundred acres of marshland marsh·mal·low /'mæʃ,melou, Brit ,mæ:'mæləu/ noun, pl -lows [count, noncount] : a soft, white, sweet food made of sugar and eggs • We toasted marshmallows over the fire.

mar·su·pi·al /mæ'su:pijəl/ noun, pl -als [count] : a type of animal (such as a kangaroo or an opossum) that carries its babies in a pocket of skin on the mother's stomach

– marsupial adj • a marsupial species mart /'mæɪ/ noun, pl marts [count] chiefly US : a place where things are bought and sold : MARKET • an antiques mart

mar·ten /'mæɪn/ noun, pl marten or mar·tens

1 [count] : a small animal that is related to the weasel and has soft gray or brown fur

2 [noncount] : the fur of a marten

mar·tial /'mæʃəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to war or soldiers • martial music • martial [=military] discipline martial art noun, pl ~ arts [count] : any one of several forms of fighting and self-defense (such as karate and judo) that are widely practiced as sports • He was trained in the martial arts.

– martial artist noun, pl ~ -ists [count]

martial law noun [noncount] : control of an area by military forces rather than by the police • The government has imposed/declared martial law throughout the city to stop the riots. • an area placed under martial law

Mar·tian /'mæʃən/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the planet Mars • the Martian landscape • the Martian day/year

Martian noun, pl -tians [count] : an imaginary creature in books, movies, etc., that lives on or comes from the planet Mars mar·tin /'mæɪn/ noun, pl -tins [count] : a small bird that is related to the swallows mar·ti·net /,mæɪtə'net/ noun, pl -nets [count] formal : a person who is very strict and demands obedience from others • The prison's warden was a cruel martinet.

mar·ti·ni /mæɪ'ti:ni/ noun, pl -nis [count] : an alcoholic drink made with gin and vermouth • He ordered a martini. • a martini glass • a dry martini; also : a similar drink made with vodka instead of gin • a vodka martini

mar·tyr /'mæɪtə/ noun, pl -tyrs [count]

1 : a person who is killed or who suffers greatly for a religion, cause, etc. • the early Christian martyrs • They know that killing him will only make a martyr out of him. [=will make him someone who is admired as a hero for having suffered or died for a cause] — sometimes + to • He was a martyr to a noble cause. [=he died or suffered for a noble cause]

2 disapproving : a person who pretends to suffer or who exaggerates suffering in order to get praise or sympathy • He enjoys playing the martyr [=he enjoys acting like someone who deserves admiration or sympathy because of being badly treated]

3 : a person who suffers greatly from something (such as an illness) — + to • a martyr to rheumatism martyr verb -tyrs; -tyred; -tyr·ing [+ obj] : to kill (someone) for refusing to give up a belief or cause — usually used as (be) martyred • He was martyred for his religious beliefs.

mar·tyr·dom /'mæɪtədəm/ noun, pl -doms : the suffering and death of a martyr [noncount] He suffered martyrdom [=he was martyred] for his religious beliefs. [count] religious martyrdoms mar·vel /'mævəl/ noun, pl -vels [count] : someone or something that is extremely good, skillful, etc. : a wonderful or marvelous person or thing • That boy is a marvel! [=wonder] • The bridge is a marvel of engineering. = The bridge is an engineering marvel. • architectural marvels marvel verb -vels; US -veled or chiefly Brit -velled; US -vel·ing or chiefly Brit -vel·ling : to feel great surprise, wonder, or admiration [no obj] — usually + at or over • The audience marveled at the magician's skill. • The doctors are marveling over her dramatic recovery. [+ obj] The doctors marveled that anyone could recover so quickly.

mar·vel·ous (US) or chiefly Brit mar·vel·lous /'mævələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : extremely good or enjoyable : WONDERFUL • We had a marvelous time at the party. • He has a marvelous way with children. • The weather was simply marvelous. • a marvelous writer/book/idea

– mar·vel·ous·ly (US) or chiefly Brit mar·vel·lous·ly adv • They all get along marvelously. • a marvelously entertaining book

Marx·ism /'mæɪksɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the political, economic, and social theories of Karl Marx including the belief that the struggle between social classes is a major force in history and that there should eventually be a society in which there are no classes

– Marx·ist /'mæksɪst/ adj • Marxist theory • a Marxist government — Marxist noun, pl -ists [count]

mar·zi·pan /'mæzə,pæn/ noun [noncount] : a sweet food that is made with almonds, sugar, and eggs and that is often made into various shapes or used to cover cakes

mas·cara /mæ'skerə, Brit mæ'skɑ:rə/ noun, pl -caras [count, noncount] : a type of makeup used for darkening and thickening eyelashes — see picture at GROOMING

mas·cot /'mæskɑ:t/ noun, pl -cots [count] : a person, animal, or object used as a symbol to represent a group (such as a sports team) and to bring good luck • The team had a mountain lion as their mascot.

1 masculine /'mæskjələn/ adj
1 [more ~; most ~] : of, relating to, or suited to men or boys
• a masculine voice/perspective/name • The living room is decorated in a more masculine style than the bedroom. • She has a rather masculine [=mannish] voice/handshake. — compare 1 FEMININE
2 grammar, in some languages : of or belonging to the class of words (called a gender) that ordinarily includes most of the words referring to males • a masculine noun • “He” is a pronoun of the masculine gender. • The masculine form of the Spanish adjective “linda” is “lindo.” — compare 1 FEMININE, 1 NEUTER
— mas-cu-lin-i-ty /,mæskjə'lməti/ noun [noncount] • traditional ideas about femininity and masculinity

2 masculine noun, pl -lines [count] grammar, in some languages : a word or form of the masculine gender • The masculine of the Spanish adjective “linda” is “lindo.”

1 mash /'mæʃ/ verb mash-es; mashed; mash-ing [+ obj]
: to make (something, such as a type of food) into a soft mass by beating it or crushing it • She mashed (up) the potatoes/carrots. • mashing fruit for the baby • She fed the baby some mashed carrots. • For dinner we had steak with green beans and mashed potatoes [=potatoes that have been boiled and then mashed]

2 mash noun [noncount]
1 : a wet mixture of crushed malt or grain that is used in making alcoholic drinks (such as beer and whiskey)
2 : a soft mixture of grains used as food for animals
3 Brit, informal : mashed potatoes • bangers and mash

mash-er /'mæʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a tool that is used for mashing food • a potato masher

mash note noun, pl ~ notes [count] US, informal : a note or letter that expresses love or affection for the person who receives it • Her glowing review of his performance reads like a mash note from a lovesick fan.

1 mask /'mæsk, Brit 'mɑ:sk/ noun, pl masks [count]
1 : a covering for your face or for part of your face: such as a : a covering used to hide or disguise your face • a Halloween mask • Everyone wore costumes and masks to the dance. • The robbers wore masks.
b : a covering used to protect your face or cover your mouth • Doctors wear surgical masks in the operating room. • a (baseball) catcher's mask — see picture at SCUBA DIVING; see also FACE MASK, GAS MASK, OXYGEN MASK, SKI MASK
2 : a way of appearing or behaving that is not true or real — usually singular • Her anger and resentment were hidden behind a mask of friendship. [=she pretended to be friendly but was really angry and resentful]

2 mask verb masks; masked; mask-ing [+ obj]
1 : to hide (something) from sight • The house was masked by trees.
2 : to keep (something) from being known or noticed • She masked [=hid] her anger with a smile. • They tried to mask their real purpose. • She tried using perfume to mask the bad odor.

masked /'mæskt, Brit 'mɑ:skt/ adj
1 : wearing a mask • The bank was held up by masked robbers. • The dancers were masked.
2 always used before a noun : done by or involving people who wear masks • a masked ball [=a formal party for dancing at which people wear masks] • a masked dance masking tape noun [noncount] : a type of tape that is sticky on one side and that has many different uses (such as to cover an area when you are painting near it)

mas-och-ism /'mæsə,kɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : enjoyment of pain : pleasure that someone gets from being abused or hurt; especially : sexual enjoyment from being hurt or punished — compare SADISM
— mas-och-ist /'mæsəkɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • sexual masochists — mas-och-is-tic /,mæsə'kɪstɪk/ adj • masochistic tendencies/behavior — mas-och-is-ti-cal-ly /,mæsə'kɪstɪkli/ adv

ma-son /'meɪsn/ noun, pl -sons [count]

mask

1 : a skilled worker who builds or works with stone, brick, or concrete — see also STONEMASON

2 Mason : FREEMASON

Ma-son-ic /mə'sanɪk/ adj : of or relating to Freemasons or Freemasonry • a Masonic temple ma-son jar or Ma-son jar /'meɪsn-/ noun, pl ~ jars [count] US : a glass jar that has a wide opening and that is usually used in preserving fruits or vegetables

ma-son-ry /'meɪsnri/ noun [noncount]
1 : the stone, brick, or concrete used to build things • a structure built of masonry • blocks of masonry • a masonry wall
2 : work done using stone, brick, or concrete : work done by a mason • skillful masonry

3 Masonry : FREEMASONRY

masque /'mæsk, Brit 'mɑ:sk/ noun, pl masques [count] : a type of play that was performed in the 16th and 17th centuries by actors wearing masks

1 mas-quer-ade /,mæskə'reɪd/ noun, pl -ades [count]
1 : a party at which people wear masks and often costumes
2 : a way of appearing or behaving that is not true or real • Their happy marriage was all just a masquerade. [=charade] • She could not keep up the masquerade any longer.

2 masquerade verb -ades; -ad-ed; -ad-ing [no obj] : to pretend to be someone or something else • He was masquerading under a false name. — usually + as • The movie is about a spy who masquerades as a salesman. • a man masquerading as a woman
— mas-quer-ad-er noun, pl -ers [count]

1 mass /'mæs/ noun, pl mass-es
1 [count] : a usually large amount of a substance that has no particular shape • The slush froze into an icy mass. • a cold air mass • rock masses — often + of • a mass of metal/clay/dough • masses of floating ice — see also BODY MASS INDEX, CRITICAL MASS, LANDMASS
2 a [count] : a large number or amount of something • The plant produces a (great/large/huge) mass of blossoms every spring. = The plant produces masses of blossoms every spring. • a mass of data/information b [count] : a large number of people • A great mass of voters turned out for the election. • The team was greeted by a mass [=crowd] of fans. • The war has forced masses of people to flee their homes. c masses [plural] Brit, informal : a large amount of something • Don't worry: we've still got masses [=lots] of time.
3 the masses : the ordinary or common people • His films are not intended to appeal to the masses. • the needs of the masses • a politician who is popular with the masses • trying to reach the masses
4 [noncount] physics : the quantity of matter in something • a star's mass
the mass of : the main part of (something) • The mass of the iceberg [=the largest part of the iceberg] is below the surface of the water. • His policies are supported by the (great/broad) mass of the people. [=by most of the people]

2 mass verb masses; massed; mass-ing : to form or gather into a large group [no obj] A large crowd of demonstrators massed outside the courthouse. • Clouds were massing on the horizon. [+ obj] The generals massed their troops.

3 mass adj, always used before a noun : involving, affecting, or designed for many people • mass demonstrations • weapons of mass destruction • mass murder • a mass murderer • mass hysteria • Television is a mass medium. • a mass market

Mass noun, pl Mass-es
1 : a Christian ceremony especially in the Roman Catholic Church in which people eat bread and drink wine representing the body and blood of Jesus Christ [noncount] They attend Mass every Sunday. • a priest's duty to say/celebrate Mass [count] Sunday Masses are held at three different times.
2 [count] : music written for the parts of a Mass

1 mas-sa-cre /'mæsɪkə/ noun, pl -sa-cre
1 : the violent killing of many people [count] a massacre of civilians • bloody massacres [noncount] evidence of massacre
2 [count] informal : a game or competition in which one person or team easily defeats another • The game turned out to be a complete massacre.

2 massacre verb -sa-cre; -sa-cred; -sa-cred-ing [+ obj]
1 : to violently kill (a group of people) : SLAUGHTER • Hundreds have been massacred in the uprising.
2 informal : to easily defeat (someone or something) • The other team really massacred us on Saturday.

3 : to do (something) very badly : to ruin (something) because of lack of skill • He really massacred that song.

1 mas·sage /mə'sɑ:ʒ, Brit 'mæ,sɑ:ʒ/ noun, pl -sages : the action of rubbing or pressing someone's body in a way that helps muscles to relax or reduces pain in muscles and joints [count] She gave him a neck massage. • a facial/foot massage [noncount] using massage to help relax • a massage therapist • massage therapy

2 massage verb -sages; -saged; -sag-ing [+ obj]

1 : to rub or press (someone's body) in a way that helps muscles to relax or reduces pain in muscles and joints : to give a massage to (someone or a part of someone's body) • She massaged his back. • He massaged his forehead. • She massaged her leg until the numbness was gone.

2 : to change (numbers, data, etc.) in a dishonest way in order to deceive people • Researchers of the drug have been accused of massaging [=manipulating] the data to make it appear to be more effective than it really is.

massage someone's ego : to say things that make someone feel important and proud • He gained the friendship of powerful politicians by massaging their egos.

massage parlor (US) or Brit massage parlour noun, pl ~ -lors [count]

1 : a place where people pay to be given a massage

2 : a place that is supposed to be for massages but where people pay to have sex

mas·seur /mə'sɜ:/ noun, pl -seurs [count] : a man whose job is to give massages mas·seuse /mə'sɜ:z/ noun, pl -seuses [count] : a woman whose job is to give massages mas·sive /'mæsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very large and heavy • The fort had massive walls. • massive furniture • the dog's massive head/jaw • stars more massive than the sun

2 a : large in amount or degree • A massive effort will be required to clean up the debris. • You can find a massive amount of information on the Internet. • The stunt received massive publicity. • a massive collection of baseball cards b : very severe • a massive heart attack • a massive stroke

— mas·sive·ly adv • a massively built structure • a massively popular actor [=an extremely popular actor] — mas·sive·ness noun [noncount] • the castle's sheer massiveness

mass media noun [plural] : the radio stations, television stations, and newspapers through which information is communicated to the public • an event that has attracted a lot of attention from the mass media • the dissemination of news by mass media • The mass media have ignored this important issue. — sometimes used with a singular verb • The mass media has ignored this important issue.

mass noun noun, pl ~ nouns [count] grammar : NON-COUNT NOUN

mass·pro·duce /,mæsprə'du:s, Brit ,mæsprə'dju:s/ verb -duc-es; -duced; -duc-ing [+ obj] : to produce very large amounts of (something) usually by using machinery • The company has begun mass-producing computer chips.

— mass-produced adj • mass-produced foods/furniture

— mass production noun [noncount] • the mass production of computer chips

mass transit noun [noncount] chiefly US : the system that is used for moving large numbers of people on buses, trains, etc. • The mayor is trying to encourage more commuters to use mass transit in order to alleviate traffic in the city. — called also public transit mast /'mæst, Brit 'mɑ:st/ noun, pl masts [count]

1 : a long pole that supports the sails of a boat or ship — see picture at BOAT

2 : a tall pole that supports or holds something (such as a flag) — see also HALF-MAST

1 mas·ter /'mæstə, Brit 'mɑ:stə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] : someone who has control or power over others: such as a : someone (especially a man) who has a servant or slave • As a slave he was required to do his master's bidding without question. b : someone (especially a man) who owns a pet (such as a dog) • The dog was always obedient to its master. c formal : the male head of a household • the master and mistress of the house d : a man who is in charge of the people on a ship • a ship's master

2 [count] : a person who has control of something — usually + of • He was the master of his feelings. [=he was able to control his own feelings] • She proved herself (to be) master of the situation. • We are the masters of our own destiny.

3 [count] : a person who has become very skilled at doing something • She is a master of her craft. • a chess master • a Dutch master [=one of the great Dutch painters of the past] — often + at • He is a master at manipulating people. — see also GRAND MASTER, PAST MASTER

4 a [count] old-fashioned : a male teacher — see also HEAD-MASTER, SCHOOLMASTER b Master — used as a title for the male head of certain British colleges • He was Master of Balliol.

5 [count] : a person who has received a master's degree • a master of arts

6 [count] : an original version of something (such as a recording) from which copies can be made

7 Master formal + old-fashioned — used as a title for a boy who is too young to be called Mister • Master Timothy jack-of-all-trades, master of none see JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES

serve two masters see ¹SERVE

2 master adj, always used before a noun

1 : highly skilled • a master carpenter/electrician • a master storyteller • a master chef

2 : largest or most important • the house's master bedroom/bathroom • the network's master computer

3 — used to describe an original version from which other copies can be made • a master tape recording • the master copy

3 master verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [+ obj]

1 : to succeed in controlling (something, such as an emotion) • He mastered [=overcame] his fear. • master a desire

2 : to learn (something) completely : to get the knowledge and skill that allows you to do, use, or understand (something) very well • She mastered French in college. • He is determined to master every aspect of the business.

mas·ter·ful /'mæstəfəl, Brit 'mɑ:stəfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to take control of people or situations • a masterful commander • His manner was masterful and abrupt.

2 : very skillful • a masterful [=masterly] performance/translation • a masterful work of art • He did a masterful job of staying out of trouble.

— mas·ter·ful·ly adv • The chairman walked masterfully into the meeting. • The book was masterfully translated.

master key noun, pl ~ keys [count] : a key that can be used to open many locks (such as all the door locks in a building)

mas·ter·ly /'mæstəli, Brit 'mɑ:stəli/ adj : showing great skill : very skillful • He deserves congratulations for the masterly [=masterful] way in which he handled the crisis. • a masterly performance • She did a masterly job of organizing the conference.

1 mas·ter·mind /'mæstəmaɪnd, Brit 'mɑ:stəmaɪnd/ noun, pl -minds [count] : a person who plans and organizes something • He is considered (to be) the mastermind of the team's winning strategy. • a criminal mastermind • the mastermind behind the terrorist plot

2 mastermind verb -minds; -mind-ed; -mind-ing [+ obj] : to plan and organize (something) : to be the mastermind of (something) • They masterminded a unique solution to the problem. • He masterminded the bank robbery.

master of ceremonies noun, pl masters of ceremonies [count] : a person who introduces guests, speakers, or performers at a formal event • The master of ceremonies introduced the guest of honor. — called also (US) emcee, MC

mas·ter·piece /'mæstəpi:s, Brit 'mɑ:stəpi:s/ noun, pl -piec-es [count]

1 : a great book, painting, piece of music, movie, etc. • a literary/cinematic masterpiece • The painting was immediately recognized as a masterpiece; also : the best book, painting, piece of music, movie, etc., by a particular person • Herman Melville's masterpiece was Moby-Dick.

2 : something done with great skill • a masterpiece of planning • Her study of apes is a masterpiece.

master plan noun, pl ~ plans [count] : a detailed plan for doing something that will require a lot of time and effort • He has a master plan for becoming a millionaire.

master's noun, pl master's [count] informal : MASTER'S DEGREE • She has a master's in biology.

master's degree noun, pl ~ -grees [count] : a degree that is given to a student by a college or university usually after one or two years of additional study following a bachelor's degree

mas·ter·work /'mæstəwə:k, Brit 'mɑ:stəwə:k/ noun, pl

-works [count] : a great work of art : MASTERPIECE • a musical masterwork

mas·tery /'mæstəri, 'ma:stəri/ noun

1 : knowledge and skill that allows you to do, use, or understand something very well : COMMAND — usually + of [noncount] We were impressed by her mastery of the subject. [singular] She achieved a complete mastery of French.

2 [noncount] : complete control of something • He struggled to gain mastery of/over his fears.

mast-head /'mæst,hed, Brit 'ma:st,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count]

1 : the top of a ship's mast

2 : the name of a newspaper shown on the top of the first page

mas·ti·cate /'mæstə,keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat·ed; -cat·ing technical : to chew (food) [+ obj] The cows were masticating their food. [no obj] masticating cows

— mas·ti·ca·tion /,mæstə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

mas·tiff /'mæstəf/ noun, pl -tiffs [count] : a type of large, powerful dog

mas·to·don /'mæstə,dɔ:n/ noun, pl -dons [count] : a type of animal that was related to the mammoth and that lived in ancient times

mas·tur·bate /'mæstə,bet/ verb -bates; -bat·ed; -bat·ing [no obj] : to touch or rub your own sexual organs for sexual pleasure

— mas·tur·ba·tion /,mæstə'beɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

— mas·tur·ba·to·ry /'mæstəbə'tori, Brit 'mæstə'beɪtəri/ adj • masturbatory fantasies

mat /'mæt/ noun, pl mats [count]

1 a : a small piece of material used to cover the floor or ground • Be sure to wipe your dirty feet on the mat [=door-mat] before you enter the house. — see also BATH MAT, WELCOME MAT b : a small piece of material used to protect the surface of a table • She set the hot plate on the mat. — see also PLACE MAT, TABLE MAT c : a thick pad that is used as a soft surface for some activities (such as wrestling, gymnastics, yoga, etc.)

2 : a thick mass of something that is stuck or twisted together — usually + of • a thick mat of vegetation/hair go to the mat chiefly US, informal : to make a lot of effort to do something : to try very hard at something • They went to the mat to protect the program. • She'll go to the mat for you. [=she will do everything she can to help you]

mat·a·dor /'mætə,dɔə/ noun, pl -dors [count] : the person who has the major part in a bullfight and who kills the bull

¹match /'mætʃ/ noun, pl match·es

1 [singular] : someone or something that is equal to or as good as another person or thing • He was no match for his opponent. [=his opponent was able to defeat him easily] • He was more than a match for his opponent. [=he defeated his opponent easily] • She knew after the first game that she had met her match. [=knew that her opponent was as good as she was and could defeat her] • a politician who has finally met his match

2 [singular] a : two people or things that are suited to each other • The curtains and carpet are a good/perfect match (for each other). • Deborah and Brad are/make a good match. • Everyone thought that they were a match made in heaven. [=two people perfectly suited to each other] b : someone or something that is suited to another person or thing — usually + for • She found a sweater that was a nice match for her skirt. • He was a good match for her because they shared the same interests.

3 [count] : a contest between two or more players or teams • a soccer match [=game] • a chess match • He lost a close match against a tough opponent. • a tennis/boxing match — sometimes used figuratively • He got into a shouting match with his neighbor. = (Brit) He got into a slanging match with his neighbor. [=he and his neighbor were angrily shouting at each other] • They got into a shoving match. [=they were angrily shoving each other] — see also RETURN MATCH, grudge match at ¹GRUDGE

— compare ³MATCH

²match verb matches; matched; match·ing

1 a : to be suited to (someone or something) : to go well with (someone or something) [+ obj] The curtains match the carpet perfectly. = The curtains and the carpet match each other perfectly. • This color matches your skin tone. • She was wearing a beautiful skirt, but her sweater didn't match it. • The upbeat music matched her mood. [no obj] The curtains and carpet don't match. [=go together] • Her skirt and sweater matched perfectly. • Do these colors match? • (chiefly US) a wine that matches (up) well with rich foods • He's a large man with hands to match. [=a large man with large hands] b : to have the same appearance, color, etc. [no obj] The pillows on the couch all match. • Your socks don't match. [+ obj] Your socks don't match each other.

2 [+ obj] : to make or see a connection or relationship between (two people or things) • The children matched (up) the names of the animals to the correct pictures. — often + with • My mom is always trying to match me up with her friends' daughters. — see also mix and match at ¹MIX

3 : to be in agreement with (something) [+ obj] The description matches [=fits] him closely. • His story doesn't match the facts. [no obj] Their stories didn't match (up). [=their stories didn't agree with each other] • His story doesn't match (up) with the facts.

4 a : to be the equal of (something or someone) : to be as good as (something or someone) [+ obj] Nothing will ever match the sheer excitement of that game. = Nothing will ever match that game in/for sheer excitement. • The movie didn't match our expectations. [=the movie was not as good as we expected it to be] • Nobody can match him at golf. [=no one is as good as he is at playing golf] • The car has a record of reliability that's hard to match. • His talents are matched only by his ego. • The company's growth has been matched by the increase in its political influence. • I've never seen anything to match this spectacle. • The two runners were matching each other stride for stride. • It was a close game between two evenly matched teams. [=two teams that are equally good] [no obj] The concert didn't match up to [=equal, meet] our expectations. b [+ obj] : to provide, produce, or do something that is equal to (something else) • We were unable to match their offer. • The company will match employee contributions to the insurance plan. • An anonymous donor has promised to match the first $10,000 donated to the charity. • He could never hope to match his brother's success.

5 [+ obj] : to place (someone or something) in competition against another — often + against • They were matched against each other in the first round of the play-offs. — often + with • The game will match last year's champions with their leading rivals.

6 [+ obj] : to compare (something) with something else — usually + against • The fingerprints were matched against those stored in the computer.

— matching adj, always used before a noun • She was wearing a dark blue skirt with/and a matching sweater. • matching colors

³match noun, pl matches [count] : a short, thin piece of wood or thick paper with a special tip that produces fire when it is scratched against something else • light a match • a book/box of matches — compare ¹MATCH match·book /'mætʃ,bʊk/ noun, pl -books [count] : a small folder that contains rows of matches match·box /'mætʃ,bɔ:ks/ noun, pl -box·es [count] : a small box for matches match·less /'mætʃ,ləs/ adj : having no equal : better than all others • The museum has a matchless collection of paintings. • matchless beauty match·mak·er /'mætʃ,meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who tries to bring two people together so that they will marry each other — match·mak·ing /'mætʃ,meɪkɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

match point noun, pl ~ points

1 : a situation in tennis in which one player or team can win the match by winning the next point [count] He won with an ace on his second match point. [noncount] He won with an ace on/at match point.

2 [count] : the final point that must be won to win a match in tennis — compare GAME POINT match·stick /'mætʃ,stɪk/ noun, pl -sticks [count] : the wood or paper part of a match • Cut the peppers into pieces the size of matchsticks.

¹mate /'meɪt/ noun, pl mates

1 [count] : a person who lives with you, works in the same place as you, etc. — usually used in combination with another noun • We have been office mates for 10 years. [=we have worked together in the same office for 10 years] — see also CLASSMATE, FLATMATE, HOUSEMATE, PLAYMATE, ROOMMATE, RUNNING MATE, SCHOOLMATE, SEATMATE, SHIP-

matchbook

M

MATE, SOUL MATE, STABLEMATE, TABLEMATE, TEAMMATE, WORKMATE

2 [count] : either one of a pair of animals that are breeding • One bird remains at the nest while its mate hunts for food.

3 [count] chiefly US : a person's husband, wife, or romantic or sexual partner • He was finding it difficult to find a mate. • an ideal mate

4 [count] chiefly US, informal : either one of a pair of objects • I can't find the mate to this glove.

5 [count] : an officer on a ship who has a rank below the captain • a first/second/third mate

6 [count] chiefly Brit, informal : a friend • Me and a couple of mates of mine went round to the pub. • She and I have been best mates for ages. — often used as a friendly way for one man to address another man • Got a light, mate?

7 [count] chiefly Brit : an assistant or helper • a plumber's mate • an electrician's mate

8 [noncount] : CHECKMATE

2mate verb mates; mat-ed; mat-ing

1 a [no obj] of animals : to have sexual activity in order to produce young • This species of bird mates in early spring. • The male mated with the female. = The male and the female mated. • a mating call/ritual • the mating season [=the time of year when an animal mates] • These birds mate for life. [=they form pairs and stay together throughout their lives]

b [+ obj] : to bring (animals) together so that they will breed and produce young • Researchers mated two different kinds of mice. • mating a male dog to/with a female

2 [+ obj] : to join or connect (things) together • The stereo sounds best when it is mated to/with high-quality speakers.

1ma-te-ri-al /mə'tɪrɪəl/ noun, pl -als

1 a : a substance from which something is made or can be made [count] building materials • paper, plastic, or other materials [noncount] small pieces of material • hard material like stone — see also RAW MATERIAL b : a substance that has a particular quality [count] a sticky material • explosive materials [noncount] genetic material

2 : something used in doing a particular activity [count]. — usually plural • writing/reference materials [noncount] She was never without reading material.

3 [noncount] : cloth or fabric • The curtains required yards of expensive material.

4 [noncount] : information or ideas • He has been gathering material for a new biography. • The revised edition includes a large amount of new material. • The comedian gets his material from things that have happened to him.

5 [noncount] : a person who is suited to a particular position or job • Her boss regards her as executive material. [=as someone who would make a good executive] • My parents never felt that I was college material. [=that I was someone who should go to college]

2material adj

1 always used before a noun a : relating to or made of matter : PHYSICAL • the material world • material objects b : physical rather than spiritual or intellectual • He is concerned only with his own material comforts/needs. • material goods/possessions/rewards/wealth

2 formal : having real importance • The researchers included all data that was material. • material facts — often + to • The evidence is not material [=relevant] to the case. — opposite IMMATERIAL

— ma-te-ri-al-ly adv • The organization contributes materially to the efforts for peace. • a materially rich but spiritually poor culture

ma-te-ri-al-ism /mə'tɪrɪə,lɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

1 : a way of thinking that gives too much importance to material possessions rather than to spiritual or intellectual things • the materialism of modern society

2 philosophy : the belief that only material things exist

— ma-te-ri-al-ist /mə'tɪrɪəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • a greedy materialist — ma-te-ri-al-is-tic /mə'tɪrɪəlɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She is spoiled and very materialistic. • a materialistic culture/society

ma-te-ri-al-ize also Brit ma-te-ri-al-ise /mə'tɪrɪə,ləɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [no obj]

1 : to become visible : to appear especially in a sudden or magical way • A waiter suddenly materialized beside our table. • Rain clouds materialized on the horizon.

2 : to begin to happen or exist : to occur or become real — usually used in negative statements • The bad weather we had worried about never materialized. • The money they promised us has so far failed to materialize.

— ma-te-ri-al-i-za-tion /mə'tɪrɪə,lə'zeɪʃən, Brit mə'tɪrɪə-lə'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

ma-té-ri-el or US ma-te-ri-el /mə'tɪrɪ'el/ noun [noncount] : equipment and supplies used by soldiers • weapons and other matériel

ma-ter-nal /mə'tɜːnəl/ adj

1 a : of or relating to a mother : MOTHERLY • maternal love • maternal feelings/instincts b always used before a noun : of or relating to a woman who is having a baby • Doctors are concerned about the effects of the drug on maternal health. • maternal smoking

2 always used before a noun : related through the mother • his maternal grandparents [=the parents of his mother] • a maternal aunt/uncle — compare PATERNAL

— ma-ter-nal-ly adv • She smiled at them maternally. • maternally inherited genes

1 ma-ter-ni-ty /mə'tɜːnəti/ noun [noncount] : the state of being a mother : MOTHERHOOD — compare PATERNITY

2 maternity adj, always used before a noun

1 : designed to be worn by a woman who is pregnant • maternity clothes • a maternity dress

2 : relating to the time when a woman gives birth to a baby • maternity pay • The company granted her maternity leave. [=time off to take care of a newborn child]

3 — used to refer to an area in a hospital where women who are giving birth to babies are cared for • a maternity unit/ward

1 mat-ey /'merti/ adj mat-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] Brit, informal : FRIENDLY • a boss who is matey with his staff

2 matey noun [singular] Brit, informal + sometimes impolite — used as a way for one man to address another man • Listen, matey, I'm not putting up with that anymore!

math /'mæθ/ noun [noncount] US : MATHEMATICS • She's always been good at math. [= (Brit) maths]

math-e-mat-i-cal /,mæθə'mætɪkəl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or involving mathematics • a mathematical problem/equation/formula • a mathematical genius

2 : very exact or complete • They recorded the changes with mathematical precision. • The results can be predicted with mathematical [=absolute] certainty.

3 : possible but very unlikely • The team has only a mathematical chance of making the play-offs.

— math-e-mat-i-cal-ly /,mæθə'mætɪkli/ adv • mathematically precise • She solved the problem mathematically. • a mathematically inclined person math-e-ma-ti-cian /,mæθəmə'tɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] : a person who is an expert in mathematics

math-e-mat-ics /,mæθə'mætɪks/ noun [noncount] : the science of numbers, quantities, and shapes and the relations between them • Algebra, arithmetic, calculus, geometry, and trigonometry are branches of mathematics. • She has a degree in mathematics. • a professor of mathematics • Mathematics is my favorite subject. — often used before another noun • a mathematics teacher • the mathematics department at the university maths /'mæθs/ noun [noncount] Brit : MATHEMATICS • being tested in English and maths [= (US) math]

mat-i-nee or mat-i-née /,mætn'nei, Brit 'mætə,nei/ noun, pl -nees or -nées [count] : a play, movie, etc., that is performed or shown in the afternoon matinee idol noun, pl ~ idols [count] somewhat old-fashioned : a handsome male actor who is popular with women

ma-tri-arch /'meɪtri,ɑːk/ noun, pl -archs [count] : a woman who controls a family, group, or government • Our grandmother was the family's matriarch. • The tribe's matriarch ruled for 20 years before her death. — compare PATRIARCH

— ma-tri-ar-chal /,meɪtri'ɑːkəl/ adj • matriarchal societies [=societies that are controlled by women]

ma-tri-ar-chy /'meɪtri,ɑːki/ noun, pl -chies

1 [count] : a family, group, or government controlled by a woman or a group of women • For 20 years, the country was ruled as a matriarchy. • ancient matriarchies

2 [noncount] : a social system in which family members are related to each other through their mothers • a region in which matriarchy is practiced — compare PATRIARCHY matrices plural of MATRIX

ma-tri-cide /'mætrə,said/ noun, pl -cides [count] : the act of murdering your own mother — compare FRATRICIDE, PATRICIDE ma-tric-u-late /mə'trɪkjə,lɛɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lating [no obj] formal : to become a student at a school and especially in a college or university • She matriculated in/at the college and began (to take) classes in the fall.

— ma·tric·u·la·tion /məˌtrɪkjəˈleɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

mat·ri·mo·nial /ˌmætrəˈmouniəl/ adj. always used before a noun, formal : of or relating to marriage • They took their matrimonial vows in the spring. [=they got married in the spring] • matrimonial [(more commonly) marital, marriage] problems/troubles • matrimonial lawyers [=lawyers who specialize in marriage and divorce]

mat·ri·mo·ny /ˌmætrəˈmouni/ noun [noncount] formal : the joining together of a man and woman as husband and wife : MARRIAGE • two people joined in matrimony • They were united in (the bonds of) holy matrimony [=they were married in a religious ceremony] on the first of May.

ma·trix /ˈmeɪtrɪks/ noun, pl -tri·ces /-trəˈsɪz/ also -trix·es /-trɪksəz/ [count] technical

1 : something (such as a situation or a set of conditions) in which something else develops or forms • the complex social matrix in which people live their lives

2 : something shaped like a pattern of lines and spaces • The wires all crossed each other and formed a matrix.

3 : a container that can be filled with a material (such as very hot metal) to give the material a new shape : MOLD • a matrix used for making knives

4 : rock in which something hard (such as a diamond or a fossil) has been formed • pieces of light blue turquoise in a dark matrix

5 : the area on a human finger or toe from which the finger-nail or toenail grows

6 mathematics : a set of numbers in which the numbers are listed in rows and columns and can be added or multiplied according to special rules

— see also DOT MATRIX

ma·tron /ˈmeɪtrən/ noun, pl -trons [count]

1 : an older married woman who usually has a high social position • society matrons who organize benefits for charity

2 US : a woman whose job is to be in charge of children or other women • the matron of a school for girls • a prison ma-tron

3 Brit, old-fashioned : a female nurse who is in charge of the other nurses in a hospital

ma·tron·ly /ˈmeɪtrənli/ adj [more ~; most ~] : like or suitable for an older married woman • She feared she was becoming a matronly old woman. • She wore a matronly blue dress. ♦ Matronly is used as a polite way to describe a woman who is not young and is somewhat fat.

matron of honor (US) or Brit matron of honour noun, pl matrons of honor [count] : a married woman who is the main bridesmaid at a wedding • Her cousin was her ma-tron of honor. — compare MAID OF HONOR

matte (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit mat /ˈmæt/ adj : having a surface that is not shiny • a matte fabric • a photograph with a matte finish • matte [=dull] black — opposite GLOSSY mat·ted /ˈmætəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : twisted together in an untidy way • matted hair • matted grass

1 mat·ter /ˈmætər/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] : something that is being done, talked about, or thought about • He has a few personal matters to deal with. • Disagreement is one thing, but accusations of lying are a different matter altogether! • Thanks for bringing this matter to our attention. [=for telling us about this problem or issue] • That's a matter for a jury (to decide). • The schedule is a mat-ter of some concern. [=is something that we are worried about] • It's no easy/simple matter [=it's not easy] to find a decent place to live in this city. • This is no joking/laughing matter. = This is a serious matter. • Getting the money to finance a project like this is no small matter. [=is not an easy thing to do] — often used in an ironic way to refer to a difficult or important situation or problem • He wants to buy a new car, but first there's the little/small matter of getting enough money to pay for it. [=he can't buy a new car until he has enough money to pay for it]

2 matters [plural] : the situation or subject that is being discussed or dealt with • Let's not allow matters [=things] to get out of control. • She's an expert in legal/financial/money matters. = (formal) She's an expert in matters legal/financial. • It's best not to interfere in matters [=affairs] of the heart. • It didn't exactly help matters [=it didn't make the situation better] when he accused her of lying! • He laughed at her and then, to make matters worse, he accused her of lying! [=it made the situation worse when he accused her of lying] • To

(further) complicate matters, they both have the same name. = To complicate matters further, they both have the same name. [=the situation is more complicated because they both have the same name] • After months of waiting for something to happen, he decided to take matters into his own hands. [=to do something himself instead of waiting for other people to do something]

3 [noncount] a physics : the thing that forms physical objects and occupies space • Can matter and energy be changed into each other? b : material of a particular kind • vegetable matter • organic/waste matter • printed/reading matter [=books, magazines, newspapers, etc.] — see also BACK MATTER, FRONT MATTER, GRAY MATTER, SUBJECT MATTER

4 the matter — used to ask if there is a problem or to say that there is or is not a problem • What's the matter? [=what's the problem?; what's wrong?] • “Is anything the matter?” [=is anything wrong?; is there a problem?] “No, nothing's the matter.” — often + with • Nothing's the matter with me. I'm fine. • There's something the matter with the car. [=there's something wrong with the car; there's a problem with the car]

usage The question “What's the matter?” is usually asked in a friendly way. • You look sad. What's the matter? [=what's wrong?] The question “What's the matter with you?” is usually asked in an unfriendly way by someone who is annoyed or angry. • You keep making stupid mistakes. What's the matter with you? [=what's wrong with you?; why do you keep making stupid mistakes?]

a matter of 1 — used to refer to a small amount • It cooks in a matter of (a few) minutes. [=it cooks in just a few minutes] • They quarreled over a matter of a mere couple of dollars. • The crisis was resolved in a matter of a few hours. • The ball was foul by a matter of inches. 2 — used to say that one thing results from or requires another • Learning to ride a bicycle is a matter of practice. [=learning to ride a bicycle requires practice] • His success was just a matter of being in the right place at the right time. [=he succeeded because he was in the right place at the right time] • It's only a matter of time before/until we catch him. [=we will catch him eventually] 3 — used to explain the reason for something • She insists on honesty as a matter of principle. [=because she believes that honesty is morally right] • All requests for free tickets are turned down as a matter of policy. [=because our policy requires it; because we have decided that that is what we should always do] 4 — used to say that something is based on opinion, taste, etc. • “He's doing a terrible job.” “That's a matter of opinion.” [=that's not a definite fact; that's something that people have different opinions about] • Some people like seafood and some people don't. It's all just a matter of taste. [=it is something that is based on personal taste] • Her plans for the election are still a matter of conjecture. [=people are not sure about her plans for the election] 5 — used to say that something is important, interesting, etc. • The outcome of the trial is a matter of interest to many people. [=many people are interested in the outcome of the trial] • Resolving this problem quickly is a matter of (some) urgency/importance. [=it is urgent/important to resolve this problem quickly] • I'd like to know how much it costs, just as a matter of interest. [=because I am interested in knowing even though I do not need to know]

a matter of debate see ¹DEBATE

a matter of life and death see ¹LIFE

a matter of record : something that is known because it has been publicly said or reported in the past • His opposition to the plan is a matter of record.

as a matter of course — used to say that something will or should happen because it is natural, usual, or logical • You should take proper precautions as a matter of course. [=as part of your usual routine] • We went out to dinner on her birthday, and as a matter of course [=of course, naturally] we paid for her meal.

as a matter of fact see FACT for that matter — used with a statement that adds to a previous statement • I haven't seen him for years—or her either, for that matter. [=I also haven't seen her for years]

mind over matter see ¹MIND

no matter 1 informal — used to say that something is not important • “I may be delayed for a few minutes.” “No mat-ter. [=it doesn't matter] We still have plenty of time.” 2 — used with what, how, when, etc., to say that something does not, will not, or should not affect something else • I'm going to do it, no matter what you say. = No matter what you say, I'm going to do it. [=nothing you say will stop me from doing it] • He intends to buy that car no matter how much it costs. • Everyone is welcome here, no matter where they come from. • He wants to win, no matter what. [=he wants to win so much that he will do anything to win] — see also no matter how you slice it at ²SLICE

the fact of the matter is — used to emphasize a statement that follows • She thinks she knows what she's talking about, but the fact of the matter is, she's wrong. • The budget is very tight this year. The fact of the matter is, we may have to lay off a few employees.

the truth of the matter — used to stress the truth of a statement • We may have to lay off a few employees this year. That's the truth of the matter. [=that's the truth] • The truth of the matter is, she was wrong and he was right.

²matter verb, not used in progressive tenses -ters; -tered; -tering [no obj] : to be important • Our families and friends are the people who matter most to us. [=the people we care about most] • Her wealth doesn't matter to me. = It doesn't matter to me that she's rich. [=I don't care that she is rich] • It may not matter to you, but it matters a lot to me! • "Which would you prefer?" "Either one is fine. It really doesn't matter (to me)." • I don't care if you're a little late. All that matters is that you're safe. = The only thing that matters is that you're safe. = What matters is that you're safe. • "Why are you being so quiet?" "Does it matter?" "Of course it matters!" • What does it matter? = It doesn't matter. [=it's not important; I don't care] • I see that she's late again. Not that it matters (to me). [=she's late again, but that's all right] — often + that • He acts as if it doesn't matter that he lied to us. — often + how, who, what, etc. • It doesn't matter how old you are. • It doesn't matter what I say to him. He just won't listen. • It doesn't matter whether we stay at home or go out.

mat-ter-of-fact /ˌmætərəˈfækt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not showing emotion especially when talking about exciting or upsetting things • We were surprised by the matter-of-fact way he told us the terrible news. • Her voice had a matter-of-fact quality. • His tone was calm and matter-of-fact. — mat-ter-of-fact-ly /ˌmætərəˈfæktli/ adv • She explained the problem matter-of-factly. — mat-ter-of-fact-ness /ˌmætərəvˈfæktɪnəs/ noun [noncount]

mat-ting /ˈmætɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : rough cloth used especially as floor covering • bamboo matting

mat-tress /ˈmætrəs/ noun, pl -tress-es [count] : a cloth case that is filled with material and used as a bed — see picture at BED

mat-u-ra-tion /ˌmætʃəˈreɪʃən/ noun [noncount] formal : the process of becoming mature : the process of developing in the body or mind • the early stages of maturation : the process of developing to a desired level • the maturation of wine/cheese • the maturation of his skills

¹ma-ture /məˈtuə, məˈtuə/ adj ma-tur-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing the mental and emotional qualities of an adult • We were surprised by how mature [=adult] she had become. • She's very mature for her age. • He has a mature outlook on life. • His parents didn't think he was mature enough to live on his own. — opposite IMMATURE

2 a : having a fully grown or developed body : grown to full size • The dog will stand three feet tall when (it has become) mature. [=when it has matured] • Their bodies were mature, but they still behaved like children. • mature [=adult] animals • mature trees/leaves • the dog's mature size [=the dog's size when it is fully grown] • sexually mature [=old enough or developed enough to produce a baby] — opposite IMMATURE

b : having reached a final or desired state • a mature wine/cheese — opposite IMMATURE c : not young : middle-aged or older • airline discounts for mature travelers [=for senior citizens who travel; for old people who travel] • a man of mature years [=an older man]

3 a : based on careful thought • a mature plan • After/On mature reflection, he concluded that he had been mistaken. b : showing the highest level of skill that a person develops • an artist's mature work/style

4 finance : having reached the time when an amount of money (such as money for a government bond or an insurance policy) must be paid : due for payment • The bond becomes mature in 10 years.

— ma-ture-ly adv • They acted maturely and responsibly.

²mature verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing [no obj] : to become mature: such as a : to become fully developed in the body and mind • Girls mature earlier than boys both physically and mentally. — often + into • He matured into a kind and intelligent young man. b : to continue developing to a desired level • Her talent is maturing slowly. • Wine and cheese mature with age. c finance : to become due for payment • The bond matures in 10 years.

mature student noun, pl ~ -dents [count] Brit : a student at a college or university who starts studying there at a later age than usual

ma-tu-ri-ty /məˈtʊrəti, məˈtʃʊrəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the condition of being mature: such as a : the state of being fully developed in the body or the mind • His behavior shows a lack of maturity. • He reached emotional maturity late in his life. • the maturity level of a child • full physical maturity b finance : the state of being due for payment • The bond will reach maturity in 10 years.

2 [count] finance : the amount of time that must pass before something (such as a bond) becomes due for payment • Maturities on these bonds can be as long as 10 years.

mat-zo or mat-zoh /ˈmɑːtsə/ noun, pl mat-zoth /ˈmɑːtsəʊt/ or mat-zos or mat-zohs [count, noncount] : a dry, thin bread eaten especially by Jewish people at Passover — often used before another noun • a matzo ball [=a round dumpling made from matzo] • matzo meal [=flour made from ground matzo]

maud-lin /ˈmɑːdlən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : showing or expressing too much emotion especially in a foolish or annoying way • He became maudlin and started crying like a child. • a maudlin love story • maudlin poetry maul /ˈmɑːl/ verb mauls; mauled; maul-ing [+ obj]

1 : to attack and injure (someone) in a way that cuts or tears skin : to attack (someone) and cause a bloody injury • The girl was mauled (to death) by a dog. • A bear killed one hiker and badly mauled the other. — often used figuratively • a movie that has been mauled by the critics • Many investors were badly mauled by the recession.

2 : to touch or handle (someone) in a rough sexual way • She was mauled [=groped] by some drunk as she left the bar.

— mauling noun, pl -ings [count] • The movie received a mauling from critics.

maun-der /ˈmɑːndə/ verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing [no obj] Brit : to talk for a long time in a boring way — often + on • I apologize for maundering on like this.

Maun-dy Thursday /ˈmɑːndi-/ noun [singular] Christian religion : the Thursday before Easter

mau-so-le-um /ˌmɑːsəˈliːjəm/ noun, pl -le-ums also -lea /-ˈliːjə/ [count] : a stone building with places for the dead bodies of several people or the body of an important person • a family mausoleum

mauve /ˈmɑːv, ˈmouv/ noun, pl mauves [count, noncount] : a light or medium purple color — see color picture on page C3

— mauve adj

ma-ven /ˈmeɪvən/ noun, pl -vens [count] US : a person who knows a lot about a particular subject : EXPERT • fashion/marketing mavens • a wine maven

mav-er-ick /ˈmævrɪk/ noun, pl -icks [count] : a person who refuses to follow the customs or rules of a group • He's always been a (bit of a) maverick in the world of fashion. • political mavericks [=nonconformists]

— maverick adj, always used before a noun • a maverick director/musician • maverick lawyers

maw /ˈmɑː/ noun, pl maws [count] literary : the mouth, jaws, or throat of an animal • the gaping maw of the tiger — often used figuratively • the dark maw of the cave • prisoners falling into the gaping maw of the criminal justice system

mawk-ish /ˈmɑːkɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : sad or romantic in a foolish or exaggerated way • a mawkish love story • mawkish poetry

— mawk-ish-ly adv • mawkishly romantic/sentimental — mawk-ish-ness noun [noncount]

¹max /ˈmæks/ noun [singular] chiefly US, informal : the largest amount possible : MAXIMUM • The boat can hold a max of 20 people. • He bet the max. [=he bet the largest amount that he could] to the max informal : as much as possible • The theater was filled to the max. [=it was completely filled] • She had three tests in one day and was stressed to the max. [=extremely stressed]

²max adv, informal : at the most : MAXIMUM • You'll need to wait two weeks max. [=you will not have to wait longer than two weeks] • The boat can hold 20 people max. [=it can hold no more than 20 people]

³max verb max-es; maxed; max-ing

max out [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to reach an upper limit : to come to the highest level possible • Most athletes max out before the age of 30. — often + at • The car maxed out at 100 mph. [=the car could go no faster than 100 mph] • Back in those days, teachers' salaries maxed out at $30,000 a year. 2 max (something) out or max out (something) a : to spend all of the money that your credit card allows you to borrow : to use up all available credit on (a credit card) • She's maxed out three credit cards. b : to use or fill (something) as much as possible : to push (something) to a limit or an extreme • The new increase in population has nearly maxed out the city's resources. [=has nearly used up all of the city's resources] • The school is maxed out with students. [=the school does not have room for any more students] • After years of competing, she has maxed out her potential as an ice-skater. • Our schedule is maxed out [=is full] for this week.

max-im /'mæksəm/ noun, pl -ims [count] : a well-known phrase that expresses a general truth about life or a rule about behavior • My mother's favorite maxim [=saying] was "Don't count your chickens before they hatch." [=don't assume that things will happen the way you expect them to happen]

max-i-mal /'mæksəmə/ adj, technical : greatest or highest possible • a maximal heart rate
— max-i-mal-ly adv

max-i-mize also Brit max-i-mise /'mæksəmaɪz/ verb -miz-es; -mized; -miz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to increase (something) as much as possible : to increase (something) to a maximum • The company is trying to maximize its profits. [=to make the most money possible]

2 : to use (something) in a way that will get the best result • We planned out each day in order to maximize [=make the most of] our time on vacation. • I rearranged the furniture to maximize the space in my small apartment. • This program will teach you how to maximize your strengths while minimizing your weaknesses.

3 computers : to make (a program's window) very large : to make (a program's window) fill the screen of a computer — opposite MINIMIZE

— max-i-mi-za-tion also Brit max-i-mi-sa-tion /,mæksəmə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,mæksəmaɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [non-count] • maximization of profits

¹max-i-mum /'mæksəmə/ noun, pl max-i-mums or technical max-i-ma /-əmə/ [count] : the highest number or amount that is possible or allowed — usually singular • Twenty years is the maximum. • This security system gives you the maximum in protection. — often + of • You may invite a maximum of 10 guests to the party. • You may stay for a maximum of two weeks. • She will serve a minimum of 10 and a maximum of 20 years in jail. — opposite MINIMUM

²maximum adj, always used before a noun : greatest possible in amount or degree • He will receive the maximum (possible) punishment allowed by law. • She took some maximum-strength medicine for her headache. • The maximum number of points scored in one game is 100. • shoes that are designed for maximum comfort • What is the maximum occupancy of this room? [=what is the largest number of people who can legally be in this room at the same time?] • a maximum security prison [=a prison that does as much as possible to keep prisoners from escaping and watches them very closely] — opposite MINIMUM

³maximum adv : at the most • She will serve 20 years maximum in jail. [=she will not serve more than 20 years in jail]

may /'meɪ/ verb [modal verb]

1 — used to indicate that something is possible or probable • They may still succeed. • Do you think they may [=can, could, might] still succeed? • "Have they failed?" "They may have." = (Brit) "They may have done." [=it's possible that they failed] • You may [=might, could] be right. • If you work hard now, you may end up sitting in the boss's chair some day! • What you see may (well/very well) surprise you. • There may be some difficulties ahead. • I think he may be trying to cheat us. • It may possibly be true, mightn't it? [= (less formally) it could possibly be true, couldn't it?] • May it not [=mightn't it, (less formally) couldn't it] after all turn out to be true? • This vacation may [=might] not be so bad after all. • When you're older, you may understand. • We may go if they ask us, but then again we may not. • As you may or may not have heard, we've won!

2 — used to say that one thing is true but something else is also true • He may [=might] be slow, but he does very good work. = Slow though he may be, he (still) does very good work. [=although he's slow, he does very good work] • It may [=might] be cold outside, but it's still a beautiful day. [=although it's cold outside, it's still a beautiful day] • She may [=might] have been a great actress, but she was a terrible parent.

3 formal — used to indicate that something is allowed • You may go now. [=you have permission to leave now] • No one may enter without a ticket. • The children may play wherever they choose. • You may tell me your opinion, but I won't change my mind. — compare CAN 4b

4 formal — used to ask a question or make a request in a polite way • "May [=might] I borrow your pen?" "Of course you may!" • "May I help you," asked the waiter, "or are you already being served?" • May I ask who is calling? • "May I leave a little early today?" "No, you may not." — compare CAN 4a

5 formal — used to express a wish • Long may the Queen reign! [=I hope the Queen will reign for a long time] • May the best man win! • May you have a long and happy life!

6 formal — used to make a polite suggestion • You may [=might] want to think again and consider your options carefully. • It may [=might] be wise to proceed cautiously.

7 formal — used in various polite expressions with I • May I just say how pleased I am to be here. [=I would like to say how pleased I am to be here] • If I may (interrupt you), would you please repeat the answer? • I'd like to ask a question, if I may. • This has been, if I may say so, one of the happiest days of my life.

8 formal + old-fashioned — used to indicate the reason for something or the purpose of something • We exercise so that we may [=will] be strong and healthy. [=we exercise in order to be strong and healthy] • I work hard so that my family may [=will] not go hungry.

be that as it may formal — used to introduce a statement that is somehow different from what has just been said • There has been some improvement in the economy in recent months, but, be that as it may [=despite that, even so], many people are still looking for work.

— see also come what may at ¹COME

May /'meɪ/ noun, pl Mays : the fifth month of the year [noncount] in (early/middle/mid-/late) May • early/late in May • We arrived on May the fourth. = (US) We arrived on May fourth. = We arrived on the fourth of May. • April showers bring May flowers. [=rain in April causes flowers to bloom in May] • Shakespeare called it "the merry month of May." [count] The last two Mays have been cold and rainy.

Ma-ya /'majə/ noun, pl Maya or Ma-yas [count] : a member of a group of people living mostly in southern Mexico and Guatemala

— Ma-yan /'majən/ adj • Mayan culture • the Mayan calendar

¹may-be /'meɪbi/ adv : possibly but not certainly : PERHAPS

Maybe is a more informal word than perhaps. It is used when you are talking about an action that has a chance of happening in the future. • Maybe we'll meet again. • "Will you go to the party?" "I don't know. Maybe." • "Will you go?" "Maybe, maybe not." • Maybe I'll go and maybe I won't. • They're hoping that she'll maybe change her mind. = They're hoping that maybe she'll change her mind. • You should hear from them soon, maybe even by next week. = Maybe you'll hear from them by next week. It is also used to suggest something that is possibly correct, true, or proper. • Maybe we should just stay here and wait. • Maybe it would be better if you left. • There were maybe 10,000 fans at the game. • I got three, maybe four hours [=about three or four hours] of sleep last night. • Maybe it's time to stop fooling around. • We waited an hour, maybe more. • Did you ever think that maybe, just maybe, it wasn't his fault? [=although it seems like it was his fault, did you ever consider the possibility that it wasn't?] And maybe can be used to say that one thing is true but that something else is also true. • Maybe at first I didn't like her, but now she's one of my best friends. • Maybe he's slow [=he may be slow], but he does very good work. • Her accomplishments are impressive, maybe, but she's had a lot of help.

²maybe noun, pl -bes [count] : something that is not known for certain • There are too many maybes [=uncertainties] about this project.

May·day /'meɪ,deɪ/ — a word used to call for help when an airplane or ship is in danger • The pilot shouted “Mayday! Mayday!” over the radio. — compare SOS

May Day /'meɪ,deɪ/ noun [singular] : May 1 celebrated in many countries as a spring festival and in some countries as a holiday in honor of working people may·fly /'meɪ,flaɪ/ noun, pl -flies [count] : a small flying insect that lives for only a short time — see color picture on page C10 may·hem /'meɪ,hem/ noun [noncount] : actions that hurt people and destroy things : a scene or situation that involves a lot of violence • movies filled with murder and mayhem • committing mayhem • a criminal who escaped from prison and caused mayhem — often used figuratively • musical mayhem • There was mayhem [=a lot of excited activity] on the field after the winning goal was scored.

mayo /'meɪjoʊ/ noun [noncount] informal : MAYONNAISE • She ordered a turkey sandwich and told the waiter to hold the mayo. [=to not include mayonnaise on the sandwich]

may·on·naise /'meɪjə,neɪz/ noun [noncount]

1 : a thick, white sauce used especially in salads and on sandwiches and made chiefly of eggs, vegetable oil, and vinegar or lemon juice

2 Brit : a food made by mixing something (such as chopped eggs) with mayonnaise • egg mayonnaise [= (US) egg salad] • tuna mayonnaise [= (US) tuna salad]

may·or /'meɪjər/ noun, pl -ors [count]

1 : an official who is elected to be the head of the government of a city or town • the mayor of New York

2 : a British official who represents a city or borough at public events — see also LORD MAYOR

— may·or·al /'meɪjərəl/ adj • mayoral elections may·or·al·ty /'meɪjərəlɪ/ noun, pl -ties formal

1 [noncount] : the time during which a person is mayor • During her mayorality, the mayor greatly improved the city.

2 [count] : the job or position of being mayor • He won the mayorality in the last two elections.

may·or·ess /'meɪjərəs, Brit 'mɛərəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count] Brit

1 : a woman who is a mayor

2 : the wife or official hostess of a mayor may·pole or May·pole /'meɪ,pəʊl/ noun, pl -poles [count]

: a tall pole decorated with ribbons and flowers that forms a center for the spring festival held on May 1

maze /'meɪz/ noun, pl maz·es [count]

1 : a complicated and confusing system of connected passages • The garden includes a maze. [=an area where there are tall walls or hedges on both sides of a path that keeps turning in different directions so that a person walking on the path cannot see where the path leads] • The experiment measured the time it took for a mouse to find its way through a maze to get its reward of cheese. • The school is a maze of classrooms. • I bought a book of mazes. [=a book of puzzles that are drawings which look like mazes]

2 : a confusing collection or mixture of things (such as rules) • a maze of rules and regulations

Mb abbr megabit

MB abbr 1 megabyte 2 chiefly Brit Bachelor of Medicine

M.B.A. or MBA abbr Master of Business Administration • He earned an M.B.A. from Harvard.

MC /,em'si:/ noun, pl MC's or MCs [count] : MASTER OF CEREMONIES

McCoy /mə'kɔɪ/ noun

the real McCoy also US the McCoy informal : something or someone that is real or genuine : something or someone that is not a copy or imitation • Is that a fake gun, or is it the real McCoy? [=is it a real gun?] • These diamonds look like the real McCoy, but they could be fake. • To help her play the role of a lawyer, the actress studied with the real McCoy. [=with an actual lawyer] • Maybe he's the McCoy, and maybe he's not.

MD abbr 1 or US M.D. Doctor of Medicine 2 Maryland 3 Brit Managing Director

¹me /'mi:/ pronoun, objective case of I — used to refer to the speaker as the indirect object or direct object of a verb • She gave me a book. • They baked me a cake. • He sent me an e-mail. • They know me very well. • Can you help me? • She visited me in the hospital. — used to refer to the speaker as the object of a preposition • Are you talking to me? • Please come with me. • He talked with me for an hour.

usage In ordinary speech me is used instead of I after the verb to be. • “Who’s there?” “It’s me.” [=“I am.”] • Why is it always me who has to do the dirty work? [=why am I always the one who has to do the dirty work?] • This dress is pretty, but it’s not really me. [=it doesn’t look like the clothes I usually wear; it doesn’t look right for me] Me is also used alone without a verb in spoken questions, answers, etc. • “Who’s there?” “Me.” • “Who did it?” “Not me!” • “Come here!” “Who? Me?” “Yes, you!” “Why me?” • “I’m hungry.” “Me too.” The expression It is I is extremely formal and old-fashioned and is unlikely to be used in speech except in a joking way. Me is also sometimes used in very informal speech in place of I if the subject of a sentence has two parts that are connected by and. • My brother and me went camping last weekend. = Me and my brother went camping last weekend. But in ordinary polite use, I is required in such sentences. • My brother and I went camping last weekend.

— see also me either at ⁴EITHER, me neither at ⁴EITHER

²me chiefly Brit spelling of MI

¹ME /,em'i:/ noun [noncount] Brit, medical : CHRONIC FATIGUE SYNDROME ♦ ME is an abbreviation of “myalgic encephalomyelitis.”

²ME abbr 1 Maine 2 US medical examiner mea cul·pa /,meɪ'kʊlpə/ noun, pl mea cul·pas [count]

: a statement in which you say that something is your fault •

The mayor’s public mea culpa didn’t satisfy his critics. • (humorous) Okay, so maybe I misjudged you. Mea culpa!

mead /'mi:d/ noun [noncount] : an alcoholic drink made from honey mead·ow /'medəʊ/ noun, pl -ows [count] : a usually flat area of land that is covered with tall grass mead·ow·lark /'medəʊ,lɑ:k/ noun, pl -larks [count] : a North American bird that has a brown back and a yellow breast mea·ger (US) or Brit mea·gre /'mi:gə/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very small or too small in amount • Every morning he eats a meager breakfast of toast and coffee. • We’ll have to do the best we can with this year’s meager harvest. • meager wages • She came to this country with a fairly meager English vocabulary, but she is learning more words every day.

2 : not having enough of something (such as money or food) for comfort or happiness • They suffered through several meager years at the beginning of their marriage. • Although she’s now rich and famous, she remembers her meager beginnings as a child from a poor family.

— mea·ger·ly adv • They lived meagerly in order to save money. — mea·ger·ness noun [noncount] synonyms MEAGER, SCANTY, and SPARSE mean not having enough of what is normal, necessary, or wanted. MEAGER suggests a lack of good or necessary things. • They lived on a meager diet of rice and vegetables. • She earned a meager income of five dollars a day. SCANTY stresses that something is not large enough in size or amount. • She was wearing a scanty black dress. • We had a scanty supply of water. SPARSE suggests a small number of things or people that are far apart. • His hair had become white and sparse. • It’s a large country with a sparse population.

¹meal /'mi:l/ noun, pl meals [count]

1 : the foods eaten or prepared for eating at one time • He eats/has three full meals a day. • Dad cooked/prepared/made a delicious meal of chicken and potatoes. • The waitress served our meal. • a three-course meal • This soup is a meal in itself. [=all that is needed for a meal] — see also SQUARE MEAL

2 : a time or occasion when food is eaten : the act or time of eating a meal • Breakfast is her favorite meal. • the midday/evening meal • She makes us drink a glass of milk at every meal. • We went to Grandma’s for a big holiday meal. • If you want to lose weight, don’t eat between meals.

make a meal (out) of 1 : to eat (a particular food) as your meal without anything else • This bread is so good, I could make a meal of it. 2 Brit, informal : to do (something) in a way that makes it seem more important or difficult than it really is • It’s not all that hard, you know! Don’t make a meal of it!

— compare ²MEAL

²meal noun [noncount]

1 : a coarse flour made from ground seeds — see also CORN-MEAL

2 : something that looks or feels like meal — see also BONEMEAL

— compare ¹MEAL

meals-on-wheels noun — used as the name of a service that delivers meals to the homes of old or sick people who are unable to prepare their own meals meal ticket noun, pl ~ -ets [count]

1 informal : a person or thing that is depended on as a source of money, success, etc. • a star player who is expected to be the team's meal ticket for many years • An advanced degree was his meal ticket.

2 : a piece of paper that you can exchange for a meal • We bought three meal tickets at the fair.

meal-time /'mi:l,taim/ noun, pl -times : the usual time when a meal is eaten [noncount] Take one pill at mealtime. [count] The two children have different mealtimes.

mealy /'mi:li/ adj meal-i-er; -est : feeling rough and dry in your mouth • the mealy flesh of a pear • a mealy potato — meal-i-ness noun [noncount]

mealy-mouthed /'mi:li,maʊðd/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : not willing to tell the truth in clear and simple language • a mealy-mouthed politician

¹mean /'mi:n/ verb means; meant /'ment/; mean-ing

1 not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] : to have (a particular meaning) • What does this word mean in English? = What is meant in English by this word? • The word meant one thing in Shakespeare's day, but it means something else now. • The abbreviation "U.S." means [=stands for] "United States." • Red means "stop" and green means "go." • Can you tell me what my dream means? • "Bonjour" is a French word meaning "hello." = "Bonjour" is a French word that means "hello."

2 not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] : to want or intend to express (a particular idea or meaning) • I meant what I said. [=I was sincere when I said it] • What was meant by the poet? • Don't distort what she meant by taking her words out of context. • When she says the play was "interesting," she means (that) it wasn't very good. • He's very ambitious, and I mean that as a compliment. • It's a very easy question. Anyone, and I mean anyone, should be able to answer it. • You hold it like this. (Do you) See what I mean? [=do you understand what I'm showing you?] • She's not getting any thinner, if you know/get what I mean. • "He can be a little difficult. (Do you) Know what I mean?" • "He can be a little difficult." • "What/How do you mean?" = "Meaning?" [=what exactly do you mean when you say that?] • "He can be a little difficult." • "I know what you mean." [=I agree] • "He can be a little difficult." • "What's that supposed to mean?" [=I am surprised that you would say that; I don't agree with what you are saying]

3 [+ obj] : to have (something) in your mind as a purpose or goal • Just what do you mean (by) coming into my room without knocking? [=what is your reason for coming into my room without knocking?] • She says she didn't mean anything by what she did. • She didn't mean (you) any harm. = She meant no harm (to you). [=she did not intend to cause any harm (to you)] • I'm sorry if I hurt your feelings. I meant (you) no offense/disrespect. • I don't trust him. He means no good. — often followed by to + verb • He didn't mean [=intend] to do any harm. • She means to win. • I keep meaning to visit you—I just never seem to get around to it. • He says he never meant to hurt her.

4 not used in progressive tenses a : to plan for or want (someone or something) to do or to be something [+ obj] — often + as • His comment was meant [=intended] as a joke. — often followed by to + verb • We meant her to come with us. • She meant her remarks to be funny. • "What you said hurt his feelings!" "Well, I meant it to!" [no obj] (chiefly US) — + for • We meant for her to come with us. b [+ obj] : to want (something that you control, provide, or have made) to be used for a particular purpose or by a particular person — often + for • I meant [=intended] the flowers for you, not for your sister. • The book was meant for children, but it is popular with adults too. • His criticism is meant for all of us. — often followed by to + verb • They meant the book to be a present. — sometimes + as • They meant the book as a present.

5 not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] : to make a statement to or about (someone) • "Hey, you!" "I'm sorry: do you mean me?" [=are you talking to me?] • "Some people here are too

bossy!" "Do you mean me?" [=are you referring to me?]

6 not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] a : to indicate or show (something that is going to happen) • Those clouds mean rain. = Those clouds mean (that) it's going to rain. • When he gets that angry look in his eyes, you know it means trouble. [=you know that there will be trouble] b : to cause or result in (something) • The bad weather could mean further delays. c : to involve or require (something) as a necessary part • Becoming a concert pianist means practicing a lot. [=if you're going to become a concert pianist you have to practice a lot] • I'll get the work done today even if it means staying late.

7 not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] — used to say or ask how important something is to someone; usually + to • How much does your health mean to you? [=how important is your health to you?] • It means a lot to me to know that you believe me. • "I believe you." "Thank you. You don't know how much that means to me." • Your good opinion means a great deal to me. • He claims that money means nothing to him. [=that he does not care at all about money] • Her words meant nothing to me. [=I did not care what she said] • I thought our friendship meant something to you. [=I thought that you cared about our friendship] • His wife means everything to him. = His wife means the world to him. [=he loves his wife very much]

I mean informal 1 — used to emphasize a statement • He has to stop drinking. I mean, he's going to kill himself if he keeps it up. • He throws, I mean, really hard! 2 — used to correct a previous statement • We met in Toronto—I mean Montreal. 3 — used when you are unsure of what to say or how to say it • I'm not mad. It's just that, I mean, I think you've been acting a little selfishly.

know what it means : to understand what it is like to do or be something • I know what it means to be poor. — usually used in negative statements • You don't know what it means to be truly alone. — sometimes used in an exaggerated way to make a forceful statement • I don't know what it means to surrender! [=I will never surrender]

mean business see BUSINESS

meant for (someone) informal : perfectly suited for (someone) • You were meant for me and I was meant for you. • I'm not surprised that they have such a happy marriage. I always knew that they were meant for each other. — see also ¹MEAN 4b (above)

meant to be/do something 1 : intended to do or be something • I was never meant to teach. • They knew as soon as they met that they were meant to be together. • I thought we could be friends, but I guess it just wasn't meant to be. [=it was not destined to happen] 2 Brit : supposed to be or do something • The buses are meant [=expected] to arrive every 15 minutes. • Brighton is meant to be very beautiful at this time of year. [=people say that Brighton is very beautiful at this time of year]

mean well : to want to do good or helpful things : to have good intentions • He means well, but he's not really helping anyone. — see also WELL-MEANING

²mean adj mean-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 somewhat informal a : not kind to people : cruel or harsh • My boss is a mean and nasty old man who treats everyone badly. • the mean stepmother in the fairy tale • Why are you being so mean to me? [=why are you treating me so harshly?] • It was mean of them not to invite her to the party. • Someone played a mean trick on her. • He has a mean streak. b chiefly US : very dangerous : VICIOUS • a mean dog

2 chiefly Brit : not liking to spend money : STINGY, CHEAP • He's a mean man who never gives presents to anyone. • He's very mean with his money.

3 old-fashioned + literary : of poor quality or status • mean city streets • living in mean circumstances

4 chiefly US, informal : excellent or impressive • He plays a mean trumpet. = He's a mean trumpet player. [=he plays the trumpet very well] • an athlete who describes himself as a lean, mean scoring machine • We wanted our business to be lean and mean. [=to be efficient and successful]

no mean informal — used to say that something is good or impressive • a tennis player of no mean ability [=a very good tennis player] • Getting the project done on time will be no mean feat. [=will be a difficult and impressive accomplishment]

— compare ³MEAN

— mean-ly /'mi:nli/ adv • behaving/living meanly • a meanly ambitious man — mean-ness /'mi:nəs/ noun [noncount] • the meanness of her character • meanness of spirit

³mean adj, always used before a noun : occurring exactly between the highest and lowest number : AVERAGE • the mean temperature — compare ²MEAN

⁴mean noun, pl means [count]

1 : 'AVERAGE 1 • Take all these temperatures and calculate/find their mean.

2 : a middle point between two things • trying to find a golden mean between doing too little and doing too much

— see also MEANS

me-an-der /mi'ændə/ verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing [no obj]

1 : to have a lot of curves instead of going in a straight or direct line : to follow a winding course • The path meanders through the garden. • a meandering stream

2 : to walk slowly without a specific goal, purpose, or direction • We meandered around/through the village.

3 : to go from one topic to another without any clear direction • The conversation meandered on for hours. • He delivered a meandering [=rambling] speech about his early career.

— me-an-der noun, pl -ders [count] • We went for a meander in the park.

mean-ie /'mi:ni/ noun, pl -ies [count] informal : a mean or unkind person — used especially by children • You're nothing but a big meanie!

mean-ing /'mi:nɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 : the idea that is represented by a word, phrase, etc. [count] What is the precise/exact meaning of this word in English? • Many words have developed more than one meaning. [=sense] • an old word that has taken on a new meaning • The word has both literal meanings and figurative meanings. [noncount] a word with various shades of meaning

2 a : the idea that a person wants to express by using words, signs, etc. [count] Don't distort her meaning by taking her words out of context. • Do you get my meaning? = (chiefly Brit) Do you take my meaning? [=do you understand what I'm telling you?] • I didn't understand the meaning of his remark/gesture. [noncount] a glance full of meaning [=a meaningful glance] b : the idea that is expressed in a work of writing, art, etc. [count] Literary critics disagree about the meanings of his poems. [noncount] a poem with subtle shades of meaning

3 [noncount] a : the true purpose of something • What is the meaning of life? • It's a story about the true meaning of Christmas. b : a quality that gives something real value and importance • He began to feel that his life had lost its meaning. • a life without meaning = a life devoid of meaning [=a meaningless life] • Working with children has given her life new meaning. c : the reason or explanation for something • What is the meaning of this intrusion?

know the meaning of (something) : to understand (something) because you have experienced it • I know the meaning of loneliness. [=I know what it is like to be lonely] — often used in negative statements • Those people don't know the meaning of hard work. — often used in an exaggerated way to make a forceful statement • He doesn't know the meaning of fear. [=he is very brave] • I'll never stop trying. I don't know the meaning of the word "failure." [=I am determined not to fail]

mean-ing-ful /'mi:nɪŋfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having a clear meaning • The test did not produce any meaningful results.

2 : expressing an emotion or idea without words • She looked at him in a meaningful way. • a meaningful expression/glance/pause

3 : having real importance or value • He wanted to feel that his job was meaningful. • The trip turned out to be very meaningful for/to both of them. • a meaningful relationship/discussion — mean-ing-ful-ly adv • She paused meaningfully before answering the question. — mean-ing-ful-ness noun [noncount] mean-ing-less /'mi:nɪŋləs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having no meaning • a meaningless phrase

2 : having no real importance or value • He felt that his work was meaningless. • The movie was filled with meaningless violence. • Their offer to help us was just a meaningless [=empty] gesture.

— mean-ing-less-ly adv • a meaninglessly violent movie

— mean-ing-less-ness noun [noncount] means /'mi:nz/ noun, pl means

1 [count] : a way of doing something or of achieving a desired result • trains, buses, and other means of transportation

• a means of communication/expression • using fingerprints as a means of identification • "What's the best means of getting there?" "Public transportation." • The property was obtained by illegal means. • He vowed that he would succeed by any means necessary. [=by doing whatever was needed] • He would use all/any manner of means to succeed. • For her, marrying a rich man was just a means to an end. [=something done only to produce a desired result] All she really cared about was money. • How can she survive when she has no visible means of support? [=she has no apparent way to pay for the things that she needs to live] — see also WAYS AND MEANS, the end justifies the means at ¹END

2 [plural] : the money that someone has : WEALTH • He has the means to give you everything you want. • His means are enough to pay for college. • a man/woman of means [=a wealthy man/woman] • She is a woman of independent means. [=she has enough money to support herself without help from others] • He enjoys a style of living that is beyond the means of all but the wealthiest people. [=that only the wealthiest people can afford] • She was living beyond her means. [=she was spending more money than she could afford to spend] • He began to save money when he finally learned to live within his means. [=to spend money only on what he could afford]

by all means : of course : CERTAINLY • "May I come in?" "By all means!" • By all means feel free to get a second opinion.

by means of : through the use of (something) • He got out of trouble by means of a clever trick.

by no means or not by any means also not by any manner of means : in no way : not at all • It's by no means certain that he'll come. = It's not by any means certain that he'll come. • This is by no means the first time we have had this problem. • I was not happy about the arrangements by any means, but I agreed to do it. • This issue has not been resolved yet by any manner of means.

mean-spir-it-ed /'mi:n'spɪrətəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling or showing a cruel desire to cause harm or pain • a mean-spirited person • a mean-spirited book review means test noun, pl ~ tests [count] : a process done to find out the amount of money a person has in order to see if that person qualifies for government assistance

— means-test-ed /'mi:nz'testəd/ adj • a means-tested program • means-tested assistance/benefits [=assistance/benefits based on the results of a means test]

meant past tense and past participle of ¹MEAN

¹mean-time /'mi:n,taim/ noun

for the meantime : for the present time : until some time in the future • You should continue to take the medicine for the meantime. [=for now] in the meantime 1 : during the time before something happens or before a specified period ends • He can come back to work when he's feeling better, but in the meantime he should be resting as much as possible. • The project is scheduled for completion in three months, and there's a great deal of work to be done in the meantime. • The new computers won't arrive until next week, but we can keep using the old ones in the meantime. 2 : while something else is being done or was being done • She spent four years studying for her law degree. In the meantime, she continued to work at the bank.

²meantime adv, somewhat informal : ¹MEANWHILE • He can come back to work when he's feeling better. Meantime, he should be resting as much as possible.

¹mean-while /'mi:n,wajəl/ adv : at or during the same time : in the meantime • You can set the table. Meanwhile, I'll start making dinner. • She spent four years studying for her law degree. Meanwhile, she continued to work at the bank. • He can come back to work when he's feeling better, but meanwhile he should be resting as much as possible.

²meanwhile noun

in the meanwhile : at or during the same time : in the meantime • The new computers won't arrive until next week, but we can keep using the old ones in the meanwhile.

mea-sles /'mi:zəlz/ noun [noncount] : a disease that causes a fever and red spots on the skin • He has (the) measles. • get/catch the measles — see also GERMAN MEASLES mea-sly /'mi:zli/ adj mea-sli-er; -est informal + disapproving : very small or too small in size or amount • He left a measly [=lousy] dime for a tip. • She complained about being given such a measly raise. • All I want is a few measly minutes of your time.

mea-sur-able /'meɜrəbəl/ adj : large enough to be measured or noticed • We haven't had a measurable amount of rain in the past several weeks. • There has been a measurable [=significant] improvement in the company's performance.

– mea-sur-ably /'meɜrəbli/ adv • His job performance has improved measurably.

1 mea-sure /'meɜ/ noun, pl -sures

1 : an amount or degree of something [count] She felt equal measures of hope and fear. — usually singular • The province has gained a large measure of freedom. • Their children want a greater measure of independence. [=they want more independence] • The coating provides a measure of protection [=provides some protection] against corrosion. • The proposal has been met with a measure [=a certain amount] of skepticism. • The alarm system provides an added measure of security. [=provides more security] [noncount] The show mixes comedy and drama in equal measure. [=in equal amounts] • He returned their hostility in full measure. [=he was as hostile toward them as they were toward him] • The company's success is due in no small measure to her talents. [=its success is largely due to her talents] • Their actions were motivated in large measure by a desire for revenge. • An occasion like this calls for some measure of decorum.

2 [count] a : something (such as a cup or a ruler) that is used to measure things — see also TAPE MEASURE b : a unit used in measuring something • The meter is a measure of length. • The dictionary includes a table of weights and measures. — see also MADE-TO-MEASURE

3 [count] : an action planned or taken to achieve a desired result • The legislature has passed a measure aimed at protecting consumers. • The governor has proposed a number of cost-cutting measures. • They were forced to resort to desperate/extreme measures. • protective/punitive/preventive measures • We need to take measures to protect ourselves.

4 [count] : a sign or indication of something — usually singular • Wealth is not a measure of happiness. • Her willingness to compromise is a measure of how much she's changed.

5 [count] : a way of judging something • The company is a success by any measure. • Are IQ tests the best measure of intelligence?

6 [count] chiefly US, music : a part of a line of written music that is between two vertical lines or the group of beats between these lines • a brief clarinet solo in the third measure • Can you hum a few measures [=bars] of that song?

beyond measure formal : to a very great degree • an artist who is talented beyond (all) measure [=who is exceptionally talented] • Her joy was beyond measure. [=she was very happy] for good measure : as something added or extra • He performed his most recent songs, and then threw in a couple of old ones for good measure.

have/take/get the measure of (someone) or have/take/get someone's measure chiefly Brit : to have or get a good understanding about what is needed to defeat or deal with (someone you are competing against) • She failed to take the measure of her opponent. [=she failed to realize how good her opponent was]

2 measure verb -sures; -sured; -sur-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to find out the size, length, or amount of (something) • using a ruler to measure a piece of paper • an instrument for measuring air pressure • I measured [=estimated] the distance with my eye. • mental abilities measured by IQ testing b : to find out the size of (someone) for clothing • He's being measured for a new suit.

2 [+ obj] : to judge the importance, value, or extent of (something) • It's difficult to measure [=evaluate] the importance of these events. • His success cannot be measured solely on the basis of his popularity. — often + against • Her accomplishments need to be measured against [=compared with] those of her predecessor.

3 [linking verb] : to have a specified size • The cloth measures 3 meters. • The room measures 15 feet wide by 30 feet long.

measure off [phrasal verb] measure off (something) also measure (something) off : to measure (something) and mark its edges or its beginning and ending • They measured off a half-acre plot for the house lot. • He measured off three yards of cloth.

measure out [phrasal verb] measure out (something) also measure (something) out : to measure and remove (something) from a larger amount • She carefully measured out three cups of flour.

measure up [phrasal verb] : to be as good as expected or needed • His early works were promising, but his recent films haven't measured up. [=his recent films haven't been as good as his early ones] — often + to • His recent films haven't measured up to his earlier works. • Her work didn't measure up to our expectations. [=was not as good as we expected it to be]

– mea-sur-er /'meɜrə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

mea-sured /'meɜd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : done with thought and care • This crisis requires a measured response. • She spoke in carefully measured tones.

mea-sure-less /'meɜləs/ adj : too great or large to be measured • the measureless [=immeasurable] universe • She seems to have measureless [=boundless] energy.

mea-sure-ment /'meɜmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [noncount] : the act or process of measuring something • The test is for the measurement of a student's progress. • Carpentry requires careful measurement. • The instruments provide accurate measurement of atmospheric conditions.

2 [count] : a size, length, or amount known by measuring something • The room's measurements are 30 by 15 feet. • The instruments are used for taking measurements of atmospheric conditions. • Accurate measurements are required in carpentry. • The tailor took his measurements, and his waist measurement is 36 inches.

measuring cup noun, pl ~ cups [count] US : a cup that has markings for measuring ingredients when cooking; also : a cup that holds a particular amount of an ingredient used in cooking • a set of measuring cups ranging from ¼ cup to 1 cup — see picture at KITCHEN; compare MEASURING JUG measuring jug noun, pl ~ jugs [count] Brit : a cup that has markings for measuring liquids when cooking — compare MEASURING CUP

measuring tape noun, pl ~ tapes [count] : TAPE MEASURE

meat /'mi:t/ noun, pl meats

1 a [noncount] : the flesh of an animal used as food • She doesn't eat meat. • a piece/slice of meat • raw meat • (US) ground meat • meat sauce [=sauce that contains meat] ✧ Meat often refers specifically to the flesh of mammals or birds instead of the flesh of fish. It can also sometimes refer only to the flesh of mammals. • She eats fish but not meat. • The soup can be made with meat, chicken, or fish. b [count] : a type of meat • The restaurant serves a variety of meats. • sandwich meats — see also DARK MEAT, LUNCHEON MEAT, WHITE MEAT

2 [noncount] : the part of something (such as a nut) that can be eaten • coconut meat

3 [noncount] : the most important or interesting part of something • The real meat of the book is found in its discussion of his economic plan.

4 [noncount] US : the thickest part of something (such as a baseball bat) • He hit the ball right on the meat of the bat.

— see also DEAD MEAT

meat and potatoes noun [noncount] US, informal : the most basic or important part of something : MEAT • Basic conservation is still the meat and potatoes of their environmental plan. • the meat and potatoes of the contract/argument meat-and-potatoes adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US, informal

1 : of, relating to, or preferring simple food (such as meat and potatoes) instead of fancy food • a meat-and-potatoes diet • The restaurant appeals to the meat-and-potatoes crowd. • I'm a meat-and-potatoes guy.

2 : ordinary or simple • meat-and-potatoes rock and roll meat-ball /'mi:t,bɑ:l/ noun, pl -balls [count] : a small ball of chopped or ground meat • spaghetti and meatballs

meat-head /'mi:t,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] informal : a stupid person • Her brother's a real meathead.

meat loaf noun, pl ~ loaves also ~ loafs [count, noncount] : meat that is chopped in very small pieces, mixed with spices, chopped onions, eggs, etc., and baked in the form of a loaf • a slice of meat loaf meat market noun, pl ~ -kets [count]

1 : a place where meat is sold

2 US, informal : a place where people are judged only on the basis of their physical qualities (such as sexual attractiveness or athletic ability) • That bar/club is a real meat market. • The scouting camp is a meat market for pro football candidates.

meat-pack-ing /'mi:t,pækɪŋ/ noun [noncount] US : the business of killing animals for meat and getting the meat ready to be sold — often used before another noun • the meatpacking industry/business meaty /'mi:ti/ adj meat-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 a : of, relating to, or resembling meat • meaty flavors/aromas • a meaty hunk of fish • The mushrooms have a meaty texture. b : having or including a large amount of meat • meaty bones • a meaty diet/stew

2 : large and heavy or thick with flesh or muscles • an athlete with meaty forearms/hands

3 : having a lot of interesting ideas or information • a meaty novel • an actor auditioning for a meaty role • The meatiest part of the book is the historical background it gives.

— meat-i-ness noun [noncount] • the meatiness of the stew

mec·ca /'mekə/ noun, pl -cas

1 Mecca [singular] : a city in Saudi Arabia that was the birthplace of Muhammad and is the holiest city of Islam

2 [count] : a place that attracts many people • The valley is a mecca for wine lovers. • The town has become a mecca for tourists. • tourist meccas

me·chan·ic /mɪ'kænɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : a person who repairs machines (such as car engines) and keeps them running properly • an automotive mechanic — see also MECHANICS

me·chan·i·cal /mɪ'kænɪkəl/ adj

1 a : of or relating to machinery • The flight was delayed because of mechanical problems/difficulties. • a mechanical failure/breakdown • I was impressed by her mechanical know-how. • He's a mechanical genius. [=he is a person who is very smart about machines] • mechanical parts/components b : having or using machinery • a mechanical toy/clock/device

2 [more ~; most ~] disapproving : happening or done without thought or without any effort to be different or interesting • She gave a mechanical reply. • Copying down the numbers is a boring and mechanical job. • The actor gave a stiff and mechanical performance.

3 technical : of or relating to physical energy and forces : relating to the science of mechanics • mechanical properties

— me·chan·i·cal·ly /mɪ'kænɪkli/ adv • a mechanically complex apparatus • He's not mechanically inclined. [=he is not knowledgeable about machinery]

mechanical drawing noun, pl ~ -ings US : drawing done by using special instruments that allow you to draw a machine, building, etc., in a very precise and accurate way [noncount] She's taking a class in mechanical drawing. [count] a detailed series of mechanical drawings mechanical engineering noun [noncount] : a type of engineering that is mainly concerned with the use of machines in industry

— mechanical engineer noun, pl ~ -neers [count]

mechanical pencil noun, pl ~ -cils [count] US : a pencil made of metal or plastic with a lead that is moved forward by a mechanical device — called also (Brit) propelling pencil

me·chan·ics /mɪ'kænɪks/ noun

1 [noncount] : a science that deals with physical energy and forces and their effect on objects — see also QUANTUM MECHANICS

2 [plural] : the details about how something works or is done • the mechanics of running • He still has a lot to learn about the mechanics of running a business.

mech·a·nism /'mekə,nɪzəm/ noun, pl -nisms [count]

1 : a piece of machinery : a mechanical part or group of parts having a particular function • The camera's shutter mechanism is broken. • a timing/locking mechanism

2 : a process or system that is used to produce a particular result • Scientists are studying the body's mechanisms for controlling weight. • There is no mechanism in place for enforcing the new law. • a legal mechanism to prevent lobbyists from exerting unfair influence

3 : a way of acting, thinking, or behaving that helps or protects a person in a specified way • a coping/survival mechanism • psychological mechanisms for dealing with a tragic loss — see also DEFENSE MECHANISM, ESCAPE MECHANISM

mech·a·nize also Brit mech·a·nise /'mekə,nəɪz/ verb -niz-es; -nized; -niz-ing [+ obj] : to change (a process or an activity) so that it is done with machines instead of by people or animals • an invention that helped to mechanize agriculture

— mech·a·ni·za·tion also Brit mech·a·ni·sa·tion /,mekə'nəɪzəʃən, Brit /mekə,nəɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the mechanization of the industry — mechanized also Brit

mechanised adj [more ~; most ~] • a highly mechanized industry

¹med /'med/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US, informal : ¹MEDICAL • med school • med students

²med noun, pl meds [count] chiefly US, informal : MEDICATION 1 — usually plural • He stopped taking his meds.

³med abbr medium

Med abbr Mediterranean

MEd abbr master of education

¹med·al /'medl/ noun, pl -als [count] : a piece of metal often in the form of a coin with designs and words in honor of a special event, a person, or an achievement • He was awarded a medal for his heroism. — see also BRONZE MEDAL, GOLD MEDAL, MEDAL OF HONOR, SILVER MEDAL

²medal verb -als; US -aled or chiefly Brit -alled; US -al-ing or chiefly Brit -al-ling [no obj] : to win a medal • She medaled in figure skating in the Olympics.

med·al·ist (US) or chiefly Brit med·al·list /'medlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who receives or wins a medal • an Olympic medalist me·dal·lion /mə'dæljən/ noun, pl -lions [count]

1 : a large medal

2 : a decoration that is shaped like a large medal

3 : a small, round piece of food (such as meat) • medallions of veal

Medal of Honor noun, pl Medals of Honor [count] : the highest U.S. military award that is given to someone for extreme bravery while in battle with an enemy

med·dle /'medl/ verb med·dles; med·dled; med·dling [no obj]

1 : to become involved in the activities and concerns of other people when your involvement is not wanted : INTERFERE — usually + in • He was always meddling in other people's personal lives. — sometimes + with • They are meddling with things that don't concern them.

2 : to change or handle something in a way that is unwanted or harmful — + with • Don't meddle with my stuff.

— med·dler /'medlə/ noun, pl med·dlers [count] • She thought she was being helpful, but her neighbors saw her as a meddler. — meddling noun [noncount] • He was annoyed by his neighbor's meddling. — meddling adj, always used before a noun • meddling neighbors med·dle·some /'medlsəm/ adj [more ~; most ~] : interfering with the activities and concerns of other people in an unwanted or unwelcome way : inclined to meddle • Her neighbors saw her as a meddlesome nuisance.

med·e·vac also med·i·vac /'medə,væk/ noun, pl -vacs US

1 [noncount] : emergency removal of sick or injured people from an area especially by helicopter — usually used before another noun • a medevac mission/team

2 [count] : a helicopter used to remove sick or injured people from an area • The wounded soldiers were evacuated by medevac to the hospital. • an Army medevac

— medevac also medivac verb -vacs; -vaced or -vacked; -vac-ing or -vack-ing [+ obj] • The wounded soldiers were medevaced to the hospital.

¹media plural of ¹MEDIUM

²me·dia /'mi:dɪə/ noun [plural]

1 : the radio stations, television stations, and newspapers through which information is communicated to the public : MASS MEDIA • The event attracted a lot of attention from the media. = The event attracted a lot of media attention. • the news media — sometimes used with a singular verb • He feels that the media is ignoring this important issue.

2 chiefly US : people who work as news reporters, publishers, and broadcasters : members of the media • The event attracted a lot of media. • a large crowd of media

mediaeval variant spelling of MEDIEVAL media event noun, pl ~ events [count] : an event that attracts attention from the news media • The President's visit to the school was a major media event.

¹me·di·an /'mi:dɪən/ noun, pl -ans [count]

1 mathematics : the middle value in a series of values arranged from smallest to largest medal

2 US : MEDIAN STRIP

²median adj, always used before a noun : in the middle; especially, mathematics : having a value that is in the middle of a series of values arranged from smallest to largest • What is the median price of homes in this area?

median strip noun, pl ~ strips [count] US : a grassy or paved area that divides a highway so that traffic going in one direction is kept separate from traffic going in the opposite direction — called also (US) median, (Brit) central reservation

me-di-ate /'mi:di,eɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing

1 a : to work with opposing sides in an argument or dispute in order to get an agreement [no obj] He has been appointed by the government to mediate (in the dispute) between the company and the striking workers. [+ obj] (US) • He has been appointed to mediate the dispute. b [+ obj] : to get (something, such as a settlement or agreement) by working with opposing sides in a dispute • He is attempting to mediate a settlement between the company and the striking workers. • Negotiators are trying to mediate a cease-fire.

2 [+ obj] formal + technical : to have an effect or influence in causing (something) to happen — usually used as (be) mediated • The study indicates that human aggression is partly mediated by biological factors.

— me-di-a-tion /,mi:di'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • mediation of the dispute — me-di-a-tor /'mi:di,eɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • She has been appointed to act as a mediator [=intermediary] in the dispute.

med-ic /'medɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : a person who does medical work: such as a US : a member of the military whose job is to provide emergency medical care to soldiers who have been wounded in battle b Brit, informal : a medical student or doctor

Med-ic-aid /'medɪ,keɪd/ noun [singular] US : a government program that provides money to people who are unable to pay for regular medical care • patients who are eligible for Medicaid — compare MEDICARE

¹med-i-cal /'medɪkəl/ adj : of or relating to the treatment of diseases and injuries : of or relating to medicine • medical care/advice/attention • high medical bills • medical problems/procedures • the medical profession • a medical breakthrough • medical school/students • He has a dangerous medical condition. • The report was published in a leading medical journal. • Her recovery was a medical miracle. • He opened his own medical practice. • an important advance in medical science • a medical center [=a place where people go for medical treatment]

— med-i-cal-ly /'medɪkli/ adv • a medically necessary operation • a medically useful drug

²medical noun, pl -cals [count] Brit : a medical examination : PHYSICAL medical examiner noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : a public official who examines the bodies of dead people to find the cause of death medical practitioner noun, pl ~ -ers [count] formal : ¹DOCTOR

Medi-care /'medɪ,keə/ noun [singular] US : a government program that provides medical care especially for old people • patients eligible for Medicare — compare MEDICAID med-i-cate /'medɪ,keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] : to treat (a person or disease) with medicine and especially with drugs • medicate an illness • The patient had been heavily medicated.

med-i-cat-ed adj : containing a substance that kills germs and helps to keep your skin or hair healthy • medicated soap/shampoo • medicated foot powder

med-i-ca-tion /,medɪ'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : a substance used in treating disease or relieving pain : MEDICINE [noncount] She's taking medication for high blood pressure. = She's on medication for high blood pressure. [count] The company has developed a new allergy medication. • He stopped taking his medications.

2 [noncount] : the act or process of treating a person or disease with medicine • His condition requires medication. • Her illness has not responded to medication.

me-dic-i-nal /mə'dɪʃnəl/ adj : used to prevent or cure disease or to relieve pain • a medicinal substance • medicinal herbs/plants • medicinal properties • This drug is to be used only for medicinal purposes.

— me-dic-i-nal-ly adv • a medicinally useful substance • The plant was once used medicinally.

med-i-cine /'medəsən, Brit 'medsən/ noun, pl -cines

1 : a substance that is used in treating disease or relieving pain and that is usually in the form of a pill or a liquid [count] a cough medicine • herbal medicines • He forgot to take his medicine. [noncount] I took some medicine. • Did you look in the medicine cabinet/chest for a pain reliever?

2 [noncount] : the science that deals with preventing, curing, and treating diseases • Their research has led to many important advances in modern medicine. • She's interested in a career in medicine. • the practice/study of medicine • preventive medicine — see also INTERNAL MEDICINE, SOCIALIZED MEDICINE, SPORTS MEDICINE, WESTERN MEDICINE a taste/dose of your own medicine informal : harsh or unpleasant treatment that is like the treatment you have given other people • The movie is about a playboy who gets a taste of his own medicine when the girl he falls in love with jilts him for another guy.

take your medicine informal : to accept something that is unpleasant because it is necessary and cannot be avoided • If he loses the case, he should just take his medicine and stop complaining.

medicine ball noun, pl ~ balls [count] : a heavy leather-covered ball that is used for exercises

medicine dropper noun, pl ~ -pers [count] : DROPPER

medicine man noun, pl ~ men [count] : a person in Native American cultures who is believed to have magic powers that can cure illnesses and keep away evil spirits med-i-co /'medɪ,kou/ noun, pl -cos [count] informal : ¹DOCTOR • She proved the medicos wrong by recovering quickly from her injuries.

med-i-co-le-gal /,medɪkou'li:gəl/ adj : of or relating to both medicine and law • medicolegal problems me-di-eval also me-di-ae-val /,mi:di'i:vəl, Brit ,medi'i:vəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of or relating to the Middle Ages : of or relating to the period of European history from about A.D. 500 to about 1500 • medieval music/history/warriors

2 informal : very old : too old to be useful or acceptable • They're using a computer system that seems positively medieval by today's standards.

me-di-o-cre /,mi:di'oukə/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not very good • The dinner was delicious, but the dessert was mediocre. • The carpenter did a mediocre job. • a mediocre wine • The critics dismissed him as a mediocre actor.

me-di-oc-ri-ty /,mi:di'ɑ:kreti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality of something that is not very good : the quality or state of being mediocre • We were disappointed by the mediocrity of the wine.

2 [count] : a person who does not have the special ability to do something well • He thought that he was a brilliant artist himself and that all his fellow painters were just mediocrities.

med-i-tate /'medə,teɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [no obj] : to spend time in quiet thought for religious purposes or relaxation • He meditates for an hour every morning.

meditate on/upon [phrasal verb] meditate on/upon (something) : to think about (something) carefully • She meditated on whether or not to return to school. • He was meditating upon the meaning of life.

med-i-ta-tion /,medə'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the act or process of spending time in quiet thought : the act or process of meditating [noncount] She spent the morning in meditation. • Daily meditation helps clear his mind. [count] his daily meditations

2 [count] formal : an expression of a person's thoughts on something — often + on or upon • The essay is a meditation on modern life. — often plural • She recently published her meditations on ethics.

med-i-ta-tive /'medə,teɪtv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very thoughtful • a meditative student • I could see that she was in a meditative mood. : involving or allowing deep thought or meditation • meditative music

— med-i-ta-tive-ly adv • She gazed meditatively at him.

Med-i-ter-ra-nean /,medətə'reɪniən/ adj : of or relating to the Mediterranean Sea or to the lands that surround it • a Mediterranean island/climate • Mediterranean cuisine

¹me-di-um /'mi:diəm/ noun, pl me-di-ums or me-dia /'mi:diə/ [count]

1 pl mediums : something that is sold in a medium size : something that is the middle size when compared with things that are larger and smaller • I take a medium. • These shirts are all mediums and I take a large. • Make my French fries a medium.

2 pl usually media : a particular form or system of communication (such as newspapers, radio, or television) • an effective advertising medium = an effective medium for advertising — see also MEDIA

3 : the materials or methods used by an artist • Her preferred medium is sculpture. • The artist works in two media/mediums, pencil and watercolor.

4 : the thing by which or through which something is done • Money is a medium [=means] of exchange. • English is an important medium of international communication.

5 pl mediums : a person who claims to be able to communicate with the spirits of dead people • She visited a medium to try to talk to her dead son.

6 formal : a surrounding condition or environment • Ocean fish live in a medium of salt water.

happy medium : a good choice or condition that avoids any extremes • They are looking for a happy medium: a house that is not too big but that has lots of storage space. • The car's designers have found/struck a happy medium between affordability and luxury.

²medium adj

1 : in the middle of a range of possible sizes, amounts, etc. • These T-shirts are available in three sizes: small, medium, and large. • a person of medium build/height/weight • a medium blue [=a blue that is neither very light nor very dark]

2 of meat : cooked to a point that is between rare and well-done • How would you like your steak, sir: rare, medium, or well-done? ♦ Meat that is medium rare is cooked to a point between rare and medium, while meat that is medium well is cooked to a point between medium and well-done.

— medium adv • He likes his steak cooked medium.

medium-sized or medium-size adj : neither large nor small • a medium-sized pan • a medium-size car/house/city medium-term adj, always used before a noun : lasting for a period of time that is neither long nor short • Our short-term prospects are grim and our medium-term prospects are uncertain, but our long-term prospects are good.

medivac variant spelling of MEDEVAC

med·ley /'medli/ noun, pl -leys [count]

1 : a musical piece made up of parts of other musical works • a medley of show tunes

2 : a mixture of different people or things • a medley of sights/sounds/aromas

3 sports : a race in swimming in which swimmers use a different stroke for each different part of the race • the 400-meter medley meek /'mi:k/ adj meek·er; -est : having or showing a quiet and gentle nature : not wanting to fight or argue with other people • a meek child dominated by his brothers • a meek reply • She may seem meek and mild but it is all an act.

— meek·ly adv • He asked meekly for help. — meek·ness noun [noncount]

¹meet /'mi:t/ verb meets; met /'met/; meet·ing

1 : to see and speak to (someone) for the first time : to be introduced to or become acquainted with (someone) [+ obj] He met his wife at work. • We met each other in college. • Did you meet anyone interesting at the party? • I'd like you to meet my good friend Bob. • I'm happy/glad/pleased to meet you. = (informally) Pleased to meet you. • It was nice meeting you. = It was a pleasure meeting you. = I'm happy/glad to have met you. [no obj] The couple met at a dance. • We met in college. • Have we met? You look familiar. • Actually, we've already met.

2 a : to come together in order to talk : to go to a place to be with someone else [no obj] They met for drinks after work. • We arranged to meet for lunch. • Let's meet at the park. • They meet together every week. • We are meeting downtown tomorrow. [+ obj] I arranged to meet her for lunch. • She said she'd meet me in/at the park. • I'm being met by a friend at the airport. • I'm planning to meet his plane at the airport. [=to be at the airport waiting for him when his plane arrives]

b [no obj] : to come together formally : to have a meeting • The club meets every Wednesday night. : to come together for a discussion • We are meeting today to discuss the plans.

3 [+ obj] a : to see (someone) by chance • I met [=ran into] an old friend at the store. • I hope we'll meet again someday.

b : to come near (someone or something) as you are passing by • We only met one other car on the road.

4 : to face each other in a game, competition, war, etc. [no obj] The teams met in the finals last year. • The candidates will meet for two debates. • Two great armies met on the battlefield that day. [+ obj] The Boston Red Sox will meet the New York Yankees in a three-game series this weekend. •

The army was advancing to meet the enemy.

5 : to touch and join with or cross something else [+ obj] the point where the river meets the sea [no obj] the point where the river and the sea meet • His jacket does not meet in front. [=the two sides of his jacket do not touch in the front; his jacket is too small]

6 [+ obj] a : to be equal to (something) : to match (something) • The store promises to meet the price of any competitor. b : to succeed in doing or providing (something) • They met all our demands. [=they did everything that we demanded] • The restaurant didn't meet (our) expectations. [=it was not as good as we expected it to be] • They haven't yet met the requirements for entry. [=they have not done what they must do for entry] c : to reach (something, such as a goal) • They failed to meet their target/goals. • The students here are expected to meet very high standards. : to succeed in doing what is required by (something) • They met the challenge. • We somehow managed to meet the deadline. • The new policies are intended to help meet the growing demand for new housing. • The company was unable to meet its payroll. [=the company was unable to pay its employees when it was supposed to] • We have enough money to meet our needs. [=to pay for the things that we need] • We work very hard to meet the needs of our customers. [=to provide our customers with what they need]

7 [+ obj] a : to experience or be affected by (something bad or unpleasant) • They met defeat bravely. • They met trouble on the way home. • The proposal has met [=encountered] some opposition. [=there has been some opposition to the proposal] • This is the place where he met his death. [=where he was killed; where he died] • I hope they don't meet the fate of so many others in their situation. [=I hope the things that happen to others in their situation do not happen to them] b : to deal with or face (something) directly • She met his glance/gaze without looking away. [=she looked directly at him as he looked at her] ♦ When two people's eyes meet they look directly at each other. • Their eyes met. = His eyes met hers. = He met her eyes.

8 [+ obj] : to be sensed by (the eyes, ears, etc.) • We were shocked by the sight that met our eyes/gaze/view. [=we were shocked by what we saw] • A distant murmur met his ear/ears. [=he heard a distant murmur] • When they opened the door they were met by/with a shocking sight. [=they saw something shocking]

make ends meet see ¹END

meet (someone) halfway : to reach an agreement with (someone) by giving up something that you want : to compromise with (someone) • We can't comply with all your requests, but we can meet you halfway. • Can we at least meet halfway on this?

meet up with [phrasal verb] meet up with (someone) informal : to come together with (someone) : to go to a place to be with (someone) • I'll meet up with you later. [=I'll meet you later] • They met up with each other for drinks.

meet with [phrasal verb] 1 meet with (someone) : to come together with (someone) to talk about something : to have a meeting with (someone) • We are meeting with the architect today to discuss the plans. • Can you meet with us later today? 2 meet with (something) : to have or experience (something) • The proposal has met with (some) opposition. • We met with many adventures on our trip. • He met with a warm reception [=he was warmly received/welcome] when he arrived. • When she didn't arrive on time, we were worried that she might have met with an accident. • Her ideas met with their approval. [=they approved her ideas]

meet your maker see MAKER

more than meets the eye see ¹EYE

— meet·er noun, pl -ers [count] • He's one of the company's meeters and greeters. [=a person who meets new people and welcomes them to a place]

²meet noun, pl meets [count]

1 chiefly US : a large gathering of athletes for a sports competition • a track/swim meet — called also (Brit) meeting; see also SWAP MEET

2 Brit : an event or occasion when people come together to hunt foxes meet·ing /'mi:tɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 a [count] : a gathering of people for a particular purpose (such as to talk about business) • The club's monthly meeting will be held next Monday evening. • She was too busy to attend the meeting. • Let's have/hold/call/convene a meeting to discuss these problems. • postpone/adjourn/close a business meeting • a committee/staff meeting • I wasn't able to talk to him because he was in a meeting. b : a gathering of people for religious worship [count] a Quaker meeting • a revival meeting • a prayer meeting [noncount] (US) He attends Quaker meeting.

2 [count] a : a situation or occasion when two people see and talk to each other • They started dating each other soon after their first meeting. • Their friendship began with a chance meeting at a business convention. b : a situation or occasion when athletes or teams compete against each other • Tonight's game will be their first meeting of the season. c Brit : ²MEET 1 • an athletics meeting

3 [singular] : the place where two things come together • a town at the meeting of two rivers

a meeting of minds or US a meeting of the minds : an understanding or agreement between two people or groups • The company and the union tried to come to a meeting of the minds. [=they tried to reach an agreement]

meet-ing-house /'mi:tɪŋ,haʊs/ noun, pl -houses [count] : a building used for public gatherings and especially for Christian worship in the past mega /'megə/ adj, informal

1 : very large : VAST • a mega electronics store

2 [more ~; most ~] : very popular, successful, or important • an actor who has become a mega celebrity mega- /'megə/ combining form

1 a : great : large • a megastore b informal : extremely • mega-rich

2 technical : million : multiplied by one million • megahertz • megabyte

mega-bit /'megə,bɪt/ noun, pl -bits [count] computers : one million bits — abbr. Mb

mega-bucks /'megə,bʌks/ noun [plural] informal : an extremely large amount of money • a star athlete who is earning megabucks

— mega-buck /'megə,bʌk/ adj, always used before a noun • a megabuck movie [=a movie that cost a great amount of money to produce] • an athlete with a megabuck contract

mega-byte /'megə,bart/ noun, pl -bytes [count] computers : a unit of computer information equal to 1,048,576 bytes • The CD has a storage capacity of 800 megabytes. — abbr. MB; compare GIGABYTE, KILOBYTE

mega-cor-po-ra-tion /,megə,kɒpə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : an extremely large and powerful corporation mega-dose /'megə,dəʊs/ noun, pl -doses [count] US : a large amount of medicine, vitamins, etc. : a large dose • He took megadoses of vitamin C.

mega-hertz /'megə,hɜːts/ noun, pl -hertz [count] technical : a unit of radio frequency equal to one million hertz — abbr. MHz mega-hit /'megə,hɪt/ noun, pl -hits [count] informal : something (such as a movie) that is extremely successful • His latest movie was a megahit.

mega-lith /'megə,lɪθ/ noun, pl -liths [count] : a very large stone used in ancient cultures as a monument or part of a building

— mega-lith-ic /,megə'lɪθɪk/ adj • a megalithic tower/tomb/monument

meg-a-lo-ma-nia /,megə'lou'meɪnɪjə/ noun [noncount] : a condition or mental illness that causes people to think that they have great or unlimited power or importance • Their CEO has an arrogance that borders on megalomania.

meg-a-lo-ma-ni-ac /,megə'lou'meɪnɪ,æk/ noun, pl -acs [count] : a person who believes that he or she has unlimited power or importance : a person who has megalomania • Their CEO is a real megalomaniac.

— megalomaniac adj • a megalomaniac artist — meg-a-lo-ma-ni-a-cal /,megə'loumə'najəkəl/ adj • megalomaniacal delusions • a megalomaniacal politician

meg-a-lop-o-lis /,megə'lɑ:pələs/ noun, pl -lis-es [count] US

1 : a very large city

2 : an area that includes a large city or several large cities

mega-phone /'megə,fəʊn/ noun, pl -phones [count] : a cone-shaped device used to make your voice louder when you speak through it — compare BULLHORN

mega-plex /'megə,pleks/ noun, pl -plexes [count] US : a large building that contains many movie theaters — compare MULTIPLEX

mega-star /'megə,stɑː/ noun, pl -stars [count] informal : a very famous and successful performer (such as an actor or an athlete)

mega-store /'megə,stɔː/ noun, pl -stores [count] : a very large store that sells many different products • a discount megastore [=superstore]

mega-ton /'megə,tʌn/ noun, pl -tons [count] : an explosive force that is equal to one million tons of TNT • an atomic explosion with a force of several megatons mega-watt /'megə,wɔːt/ noun, pl -watts [count] : a unit of electrical power equal to one million watts • 50 megawatts of electricity — compare KILOWATT

mein see CHOW MEIN, LO MEIN

meis-ter /'maɪstə/ noun, pl -ters [count] informal : someone who knows a lot about something : someone who is an expert in something — usually used in combination • a champion puzzle-meister • a rap-meister

mel-a-mine /'melə,mɪn/ noun [noncount] : a type of hard plastic that is used especially for covering other materials

mel-an-cho-lia /,melən'kɒlɪjə/ noun [noncount] old-fashioned + literary : a feeling of sadness and depression

mel-an-cho-lic /,melən'kɑːlɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] old-fashioned + literary : very sad : GLOOMY • a melancholic outlook • melancholic music

¹mel-an-choly /'melən,kɑːli/ noun [noncount] old-fashioned + literary : a sad mood or feeling • suffering from melancholy • a time of melancholy

²melancholy adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling or showing sadness : very unhappy • She was in a melancholy mood. • He became quiet and melancholy as the hours slowly passed. • melancholy [=sad, depressing] music/thoughts

mé-lange /meɪ'lɑːndʒ/ noun, pl -lang-es [count] : a mixture of different things • a mélange of colors and shapes • a mélange of architectural styles

mel-a-nin /'melənən/ noun [noncount] : a dark brown or black substance that is a natural part of people's skin, hair, and eyes

mel-a-no-ma /,melə'noumə/ noun, pl -mas also -ma-ta /-mətə/ medical : a type of cancer or tumor that begins as a dark spot or area on the skin [noncount] She has melanoma. [count] a malignant melanoma

¹meld /'meld/ verb melds; meld-ed; meld-ing : to blend or mix together [no obj] Cook the sauce slowly to let the flavors meld (together). [+ obj] Cook the sauce slowly to meld the flavors (together).

²meld noun [singular] chiefly US : a mixture of things • a meld [=blend] of musical influences • a meld of Jewish and Christian customs me-lee /'meɪ,leɪ, Brit 'mɛ,leɪ/ noun, pl -lees [count] : a confused struggle or fight involving many people — usually singular • They were seriously injured in the melee.

mel-lif-lu-ous /me'lɪfləwəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having a smooth, flowing sound • mellifluous speech • a mellifluous voice

— mel-lif-lu-ous-ly adv • She sang mellifluously.

¹mel-low /'meləʊ/ adj mel-low-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : pleasantly rich, full, or soft : not harsh, bright, or irritating • The painting captures the mellow light of a summer evening. • mellow music • a mellow golden color

2 : having a pleasing rich flavor that develops over time • This wine is very mellow. • a mellow cheese

3 a : very calm and relaxed • He was in a mellow mood. • She was a tough and demanding teacher, but she became mellow-er in her old age. • He's a very mellow guy. • a mellow crowd b informal : relaxed from drinking alcohol or using drugs • After a couple of drinks we all started feeling pretty mellow.

²mellow verb -lows; -lowed; -low-ing : to become or to cause (someone or something) to become less harsh, irritating, nervous, etc. [no obj] She was a tough and demanding teacher, but she has mellowed in her old age. • The wine needs time to mellow. [+ obj] She was a tough and demanding teacher, but old age has mellowed her. • Time mellowed [=softened] their hard feelings.

mellow out [phrasal verb] US, informal : to become relaxed and calm • She mellowed out as she grew older. : to calm down • You're getting all upset over nothing. You need to mellow out.

— mel-low-ness noun [noncount]

me-lod-ic /mə'lɑːdɪk/ adj

1 : of or relating to melody • the melodic flow of the music • a pleasing melodic line/pattern

2 [more ~; most ~] : having a pleasant musical sound or melody • a melodic tune • a melodic voice

— me-lod-i-cal-ly /mə'lɑ:dɪkli/ adv • The birds were singing melodically.

me-lo-di-ous /mə'lɒdijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a pleasing melody • a melodious song : having or making a pleasant musical sound • a melodious sound/voice • melodious birds/instruments

— me-lo-di-ous-ly adv • singing melodiously — me-lo-di-ous-ness noun [noncount]

melo-dra-ma /'melə,drɑ:mə/ noun, pl -mas

1 : drama in which many exciting events happen and the characters have very strong or exaggerated emotions [noncount] Critics dismissed his work as melodrama. • an actor with a talent for melodrama [count] She is starring in another melodrama.

2 : a situation or series of events in which people have very strong or exaggerated emotions [count] The trial turned into a melodrama. [noncount] a life full of melodrama

melo-dra-mat-ic /,melədrə'mætɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] often disapproving : emotional in a way that is very extreme or exaggerated : extremely dramatic or emotional • a melodramatic movie/story/script • Oh, quit being so melodramatic! • melodramatic music

— melo-dra-mat-i-cal-ly /,melədrə'mætɪkli/ adv • She threw herself onto the bed melodramatically and sobbed.

melo-dra-mat-ics /,melədrə'mætɪks/ noun [plural] : extremely dramatic or emotional behavior : melodramatic behavior • He told the story without any melodramatics.

mel-o-dy /'melədi/ noun, pl -dies

1 : a pleasing series of musical notes that form the main part of a song or piece of music [count] He wrote a piece that includes some beautiful/haunting melodies. [noncount] a composer known for his love of melody

2 [count] : a song or tune • He sang a few old-fashioned melodies.

mel-on /'melən/ noun, pl -ons [count, noncount] : a large, round fruit that has a hard skin and sweet, juicy flesh — see also HONEYDEW MELON, WATERMELON

¹melt /'melt/ verb melts; melt-ed; melt-ing

1 : to change or to cause (something) to change from a solid to a liquid usually because of heat [no obj] The butter melted in the frying pan. • The snow is finally melting. [+ obj] She melted butter in the frying pan. • a tablespoon of melted butter • melted cheese

2 [no obj] : to gradually become less or go away : DISAPPEAR • Their determination melted in the face of opposition. — often + away • Her anger melted away when she saw that he was truly sorry. • As the sun rose the fog began to melt away.

3 : to begin to have feelings of love, kindness, sympathy, etc. [no obj] She melted at his kindly words. • Her heart melted with compassion. [+ obj] It would have melted your heart [=it would have filled you with compassion, sympathy, etc.] to see her lying in that hospital bed.

butter wouldn't melt in someone's mouth see ¹BUTTER

melt down [phrasal verb] 1 a of a nuclear reactor : to heat up accidentally, melt, and release radiation • The reactor's core melted down. b : to experience a very fast collapse or failure • The stock market has melted down. — see also MELTDOWN 2 melt (something) down or melt down (something) : to melt (something) so that it can be used for another purpose • melt down a coin • The stolen gold has probably already been melted down.

melt into [phrasal verb] melt into (something) : to become difficult or impossible to see by changing into or becoming combined with (something else) • The colors in the painting melt into one another. • Her frown melted into a smile. • She melted into [=disappeared into] the crowd. • He seemed to melt into thin air. [=he seemed to disappear]

melt in your mouth ✧ Food that melts in your mouth is delicious and feels soft or becomes soft when you put it in your mouth. • chocolate candies that melt in your mouth • The fish practically melts in your mouth.

²melt noun, pl melts [count] US : a sandwich made with melted cheese • a tuna melt

melt-down /'melt,daʊn/ noun, pl -downs

1 : an accident in which the core of a nuclear reactor melts and releases radiation [count] a nuclear meltdown [noncount] fears that an accident could cause meltdown

2 a : a very fast collapse or failure [count] a stock market meltdown [noncount] a company experiencing financial meltdown b [count] chiefly US, somewhat informal : a very fast loss of emotional self-control • After a long day at the beach, our toddler had a major meltdown in the car on the way home. — see also melt down at ¹MELT melt-ing /'meltɪŋ/ adj : having a quality that causes gentle feelings of love, sympathy, etc. • a love song's melting lyrics • She looked at him with melting eyes.

— melt-ing-ly adv

melting point noun, pl ~ points [count, noncount] : the temperature at which something melts • a metal's melting point

melting pot noun, pl ~ pots [count] : a place (such as a city or country) where different types of people live together and gradually create one community — usually singular • The city is a melting pot of different cultures. • the American melting pot

in the melting pot Brit : not yet certain or finally decided : still changing or likely to change • Our plans are still in the melting pot. • It looked like our team was winning, but then everything went back in the melting pot. [=the outcome became uncertain again]

mem-ber /'membə/ noun, pl -bers [count]

1 : someone or something that belongs to or is a part of a group or an organization • a club/committee/team member • family members • The club has 300 members. • She is a member of the House of Representatives. • She is a member/Member of Parliament. • a member of the audience • band/crew/gang members • This bird is a member of the finch family. • countries that are members of the United Nations — see also CHARTER MEMBER, FOUNDING MEMBER

2 technical : a part of a structure (such as a building or a bridge) • a horizontal member of a bridge • the roof's supporting members

3 a old-fashioned : a body part (such as an arm or a leg) • his lower members b — used as a polite way of saying penis • the male member

mem-ber-ship /'membəʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships

1 : the state of belonging to or being a part of a group or an organization : the state of being a member [noncount] (US) He applied for membership in the club. = (Brit) He applied for membership of the club. [count] What is the cost of a one-year membership? • They renewed their memberships.

2 : all the people or things that belong to or are part of an organization or a group [noncount] Membership in the club doubled last year. • clubs that are hoping to increase their membership [count] The club has a large membership. • The membership has voted to accept the proposal. = (Brit) The membership have voted to accept the proposal. • clubs that are hoping to increase their memberships

mem-brane /'mem,breɪn/ noun, pl -branes [count] : a thin sheet or layer • The computer chip is covered by/with a plastic membrane. [=the computer chip is covered by/with a very thin sheet of plastic] especially : a thin sheet or layer of tissue that is part of a plant or an animal's body • a cell membrane

— mem-bran-ous /'membrənəs/ adj, technical • membranous tissue

me-men-to /mə'mentəʊ/ noun, pl -tos or -toes [count] : something that is kept as a reminder of a person, place, or thing : SOUVENIR • a collection of photographs and mementos • It was a memento of our trip.

memo /'meməʊ/ noun, pl mem-os [count] : a usually brief written message from one person or department in an organization, company, etc., to another : MEMORANDUM • He sent a memo to the staff.

mem-oir /'mem,wəʊ/ noun, pl -oirs

1 memoirs [plural] : a written account in which someone (such as a famous performer or politician) describes past experiences • a retired politician who is writing his memoirs

2 [count] : a written account of someone or something that is usually based on personal knowledge of the subject • He has written a memoir of his mother. • a memoir of Hollywood in the 1930s mem-o-ra-bil-ia /,memərə'bɪliə/ noun [plural] : objects or materials that are collected because they are related to a particular event, person, etc. : things collected as souvenirs • a display of sports/military memorabilia • She collects Beatles memorabilia.

mem-o-ra-ble /'memərəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very good or interesting and worth remembering • a memorable vacation/experience • It was the most memorable line of the play. • She gave a memorable performance.

— mem-o-ra-bly /'memərəbli/ adv • a memorably exciting event

mem·o·ran·dum /ˌmɛməˈrændəm/ noun, pl -dums or -da /-də/ [count]

1 : a usually brief written message or report from one person or department in a company or organization to another • The company president sent a memorandum [(less formally) memo] to each employee.

2 law : an informal written record of an agreement that has not yet become official

1 me·mo·ri·al /məˈmɔriəl/ noun, pl -als [count] : something (such as a monument or ceremony) that honors a person who has died or serves as a reminder of an event in which many people died • a war memorial — often + to • The new hospital is a fitting memorial to her.

2 memorial adj, always used before a noun : created or done to honor a person who has died or to remind people of an event in which many people died • a memorial service/monument • a memorial scholarship fund

Memorial Day noun, pl ~ Days [count, noncount] : the last Monday in May that is a national holiday in the U.S. honoring members of the armed forces who died in wars me·mo·ri·al·ize also Brit me·mo·ri·al·ise /məˈmɔriəˌlaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] formal : to do or create something that causes people to remember (a person, thing, or event) • an exciting period in history that has been memorialized in many popular books and movies

memoriam see IN MEMORIAM

mem·o·rize also Brit mem·o·rise /ˈmɛməˌraɪz/ verb -riz-es; -rized; -riz-ing [+ obj] : to learn (something) so well that you are able to remember it perfectly • He memorized the speech. • an actress memorizing her lines

— mem·o·ri·za·tion also Brit mem·o·ri·sa·tion /ˌmɛməˈraɪzəʃən; Brit /ˌmɛməˌraɪˈzeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

mem·o·ry /ˈmɛməri/ noun, pl -ries

1 : the power or process of remembering what has been learned [count] He began to lose his memory as he grew older. • He has an excellent memory for faces. [=he is very good at remembering faces] • Those people have long memories. [=they remember things that happened long ago] • She has a short memory. [=she forgets things quickly] • Dad has a selective memory. he remembers the times he was right and forgets the times he was wrong. [noncount] They claim that these pills can improve (the) memory. • short-term/long-term memory • He committed the speech to memory. [=he memorized the speech] • If memory serves (me rightly/correctly), his name is John. [=if I remember accurately, his name is John] — see also PHOTOGRAPHIC MEMORY

2 a [count] : something that is remembered • We have pleasant memories of the trip. • trying to repress bitter/painful memories • childhood memories • His name evokes memories of a happier time. • That time is just a dim/faint memory to me now. b [noncount] : the things learned and kept in the mind • The happiness of those times is still vivid in my memory. • Her name has faded from memory. • I seem to have very little memory of that time in my life. • Her name has faded from my memory. [=I cannot remember her name] • That tragic day has become part of our collective memory. [=it is something that we all remember] • He has no memory of what happened. [=he does not remember what happened] • I can't remember exactly how much it costs. Could you refresh my memory? [=remind me] • The sudden shock jogged his memory and everything came flooding back into his mind.

3 [count] : the things that are remembered about a person who has died • Even though he is no longer with us, his memory lives on. [=we still remember him]

4 : the period of time that a person can remember [count] — usually singular • These events occurred within their memory. [=occurred during the time that they can remember] [noncount] These events occurred within living memory. • The harbor froze over for the first time in (modern/recent) memory.

5 [noncount] computers a : capacity for storing information • a computer with 512MB of memory • The computer needs more memory. b : the part of a computer in which information is stored • information stored in memory — see also RANDOM-ACCESS MEMORY from memory : without reading or looking at notes • She delivered the speech (entirely) from memory. • He played the entire piece from memory. • She can recite from memory the capitals of all the states of the U.S.

in memory of or in someone's memory : made or done to honor someone who has died • The monument is in memo- ry of the soldiers who died in battle on this field. • He donated the painting in his wife's memory.

memory lane ✧ If you take a stroll/trip/walk (etc.) down memory lane, you think or talk about pleasant things from the past. • We took a stroll down memory lane, talking about our time at school together.

men plural of ¹MAN

1 men·ace /ˈmɛnəs/ noun, pl -ac-es

1 [count] a : a dangerous or possibly harmful person or thing — usually singular • Those dogs are a menace. — often + to • Those dogs are a menace to the neighborhood. • a criminal who is a menace to society b : someone who causes trouble or annoyance — usually singular • That kid is a menace.

2 [noncount] : a dangerous or threatening quality • There was an atmosphere of menace in the city. • She could hear the menace in his voice.

with menaces Brit, law : with threats : using threatening actions or language • They were accused of demanding money with menaces.

2 menace verb -aces; -aced; -ac-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal : to threaten harm to (someone or something) — often used as (be) menaced • She was menaced by a man with a knife. • a country menaced by war — menacing adj [more ~; most ~] • He gave her a menacing look. — men·ac·ing·ly /ˈmɛnəsɪŋli/ adv • He looked at her menacingly.

mé·nage à trois /meɪˈnaːʒɑˈtrwaː/ noun, pl mé·nages à trois /meɪˈnaːʒɑˈtrwaː/ [count] : an arrangement in which three people have sex with each other especially while living together me·nag·er·ie /məˈnædʒəri/ noun, pl -ies [count] : a collection of animals kept especially to be shown to the public • a menagerie of rare creatures — sometimes used figuratively • The jail houses a menagerie of criminals.

1 mend /ˈmɛnd/ verb mends; mend-ed; mend-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (something broken or damaged) usable again : to repair (something broken or damaged) • Dad's trying to mend [=fix] the roof. • The town needs to mend these roads. • Fishermen were mending their nets. • She spent the evening mending (the holes in) her socks. • mending a torn sleeve = mending a tear in a sleeve — often used figuratively • He's trying to mend his reputation. • We've mended our differences [=stopped arguing] and agreed on a plan.

2 : to heal or cure (a broken bone, a sad feeling, etc.) [+ obj] Surgery was needed to mend (the break in) the bone. • Only time can mend a broken heart. [=make someone stop being sad] [no obj] Her arm mended slowly after surgery. • His broken heart never completely mended.

mend fences or mend your fences : to improve or repair a relationship that has been damaged by an argument or disagreement • She mended fences with her father. • They are trying to mend their fences. • After the election, he spent a lot of time mending political fences.

mend your ways : to change or improve your behavior : to stop behaving badly • It's time (for you) to mend your ways. • She told her teenage son to start mending his ways.

— mend·er noun, pl -ers [count] • road menders

2 mend noun [singular] : a place where something (such as a piece of clothing) has been repaired • You can hardly see the mend in the sleeve.

on the mend : becoming better after an illness or injury • Her broken leg is on the mend. • Her health is on the mend. : becoming better after a bad or poor period • The country's economy is on the mend. • They almost got a divorce, but now their marriage is on the mend.

men·da·cious /mɛnˈdeɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : not honest : likely to tell lies • a mendacious businessman

2 : based on lies • The newspaper story was mendacious and hurtful. • a mendacious political campaign

— men·da·cious·ly adv — men·da·cious·ness noun [noncount] men·dac·i·ty /mɛnˈdæsəti/ noun [noncount] formal : lack of honesty : the condition of being mendacious • The people learned of their government's mendacity [=learned that their government had told lies] only after the war had ended.

men·di·cant /ˈmɛndɪkənt/ noun, pl -cants [count] formal : someone (such as a member of a religious group) who lives by asking people for money or food • wandering mendicants — mendicant adj • mendicant friars • a mendicant monk men·folk /ˈmɛnˌfoʊk/ noun [plural] old-fashioned + humorous : the men of a family, town, etc. • While the women prepared dinner, the menfolk relaxed in the living room.

¹me-nial /'mi:nijəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] — used to describe boring or unpleasant work that does not require special skill and usually does not pay much money • a menial job • She thought household chores were menial and unimportant. • performing menial labor/tasks

²menial noun, pl -nials [count] old-fashioned : a person (such as a servant) who does boring or unpleasant work for little money : someone who does menial work • low-paid menials men-in-gi-tis /,menən'ɔ:ɡɪtəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious and often deadly disease in which an outside layer of the brain or spinal cord becomes infected and swollen • She was diagnosed with spinal meningitis.

Men-no-nite /'menə,nait/ noun, pl -nites [count] : a person who belongs to a Christian religious group whose members live simply and wear plain clothing men-o-pause /'menə,pə:z/ noun [noncount] : the time in a woman's life when blood stops flowing from her body each month : the time when a woman stops menstruating • (US) a woman going through menopause = (Brit) a woman going through the menopause ♦ Menopause usually occurs when a woman is near the age of 50.

— men-o-paus-al /,menə'pə:zəl/ adj • menopausal signs and symptoms • menopausal women

me-no-rah /mə'norə/ noun, pl -rahs [count] : an object that holds seven or nine candles and that is used in Jewish worship men-ses /'men,si:z/ noun [plural] medical : the flow of blood that comes from a woman's body each month

men's room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] US : a public bathroom for use by men and boys — called also (Brit) gents; compare LADIES' ROOM

men-stru-al /'menstruəl/ adj : of or relating to menstruation : of or relating to the flow of blood that comes from a woman's body each month • menstrual pain • menstrual blood • the menstrual cycle [=the monthly series of changes that happen in the body of a woman who is menstruating]

menstrual period noun, pl ~ -ods [count] : the time when a woman menstruates each month • She experiences pain during her menstrual period. — called also period men-stru-ate /'menstru,et/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [no obj] of a woman : to have blood flow from your body as part of a process that happens each month • She began menstruating at the age of 12.

— men-stru-a-tion /,menstru'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

mens-wear /'menz,weə/ noun [noncount] : clothes for men • The store sells an extensive line of menswear. • He works in the menswear department.

-ment /mənt/ noun suffix

1 : the action or process of doing something • improvement • development

2 : the product or result of an action • entertainment

3 : the state or condition caused by an action • amazement • fulfillment

men-tal /'mentl/ adj

1 a : of or relating to the mind • mental abilities • She was worried about her son's mental and physical development. • the mental state/condition of a criminal • mental health b : existing or happening in the mind • We had a mental image/picture of what we thought the house would look like. • I've got a mental list of the things I need at the store. • I'll make a mental note to see if we can reschedule the meeting. • mental arithmetic [=arithmetic done in your mind without writing numbers or using a calculator]

2 always used before a noun a : relating to or affected by an illness of the mind • She was beginning to show signs of mental illness. • a mental disorder • He suffered a mental breakdown. • a mental patient b : caring for people with mental illnesses • mental hospitals

3 informal : CRAZY • She looked at me as if I had gone mental. • That guy is a complete mental case. [=he is crazy]

— men-tal-ly adv • mentally ill • mentally competent • Mentally I'm OK, but physically I'm a wreck!

mental age noun, pl ~ ages [count] technical : a measurement of a person's ability to think and understand that is expressed as the age at which an average person reaches the same level of ability • a 40-year-old man with the mental age of 10 men-tal-i-ty /men'tæləti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : a particular way of thinking — usually singular • You can only wonder about the mentality of someone who does such things. • He criticizes filmmakers for their blockbuster mentality. [=for thinking only about making movies that could be blockbusters] • a war mentality — see also BUNKER MENTALITY, SIEGE MENTALITY, VICTIM MENTALITY

menthe see CRÈME DE MENTHE

men-thol /'men,θɑ:l/ noun [noncount] : an oil made from mint that has a strong smell and that is used in candies, cigarettes, and especially medicines for sore throats

— men-tho-lat-ed /'menθə,leɪtəd/ adj • mentholated cigarettes [=cigarettes that contain menthol]

¹men-tion /'menʃən/ verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing [+ obj]

1 : to talk about, write about, or refer to (something or someone) especially in a brief way • In her speech, she mentioned (the help of) her parents, husband, and fellow actors. • She's never mentioned anything to me about her husband. • I get nervous every time his name is mentioned. • They mentioned him by name. • I believe I mentioned the problem to you last week. • Most history books don't even mention the event. • As previously mentioned, his proposal has been widely criticized. • He fails/neglects to mention, however, the seriousness of the crime. • She mentioned that she would be out of the office the following day. • She has helped me in ways too numerous to mention. [=has helped me in very many ways] • Her contributions were mentioned only in passing. [=mentioned only in a way that was very brief] • Now (that) you mention it. I do remember seeing him before.

2 : to refer to or suggest (someone) as having a possible role or status • He's being mentioned as a possible candidate. [=people are saying that he is a possible candidate] don't mention it — used to answer someone who has just thanked you for something • "Thank you so much for your help." "Don't mention it. It was the least I could do."

not to mention — used when referring to another thing that relates to what you have just said • Our favorite Italian restaurant makes its own fresh bread and salad dressing, not to mention [=in addition to] a great spaghetti sauce. • We were cold, wet, and hungry, not to mention [=and also] extremely tired.

²mention noun, pl -tions : a short statement about something or someone : an act of mentioning something or someone — usually singular [count] In her speech, she carefully avoided any mention of her costar. • There was barely a mention of the plan's possible dangers. • The mere mention of blood makes me ill. • I get nervous at the mention of his name. • Her contributions deserve a mention. [noncount] One other issue deserves special mention. • Her contributions deserve some mention. = Her contributions are worthy of mention. • She made mention of [=she mentioned] their contributions. • Most history books make no mention of the event. [=they say nothing about the event] — see also HONORABLE MENTION

¹men-tor /'men,tə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : someone who teaches or gives help and advice to a less experienced and often younger person • After college, her professor became her close friend and mentor. • He needed a mentor to teach him about the world of politics. • We volunteer as mentors to/of disadvantaged children. • young boys in need of mentors

²mentor verb -tors; -tored; -tor-ing [+ obj] : to teach or give advice or guidance to (someone, such as a less experienced person or a child) : to act as a mentor for (someone) • The young intern was mentored by the country's top heart surgeon. • Our program focuses on mentoring teenagers.

— mentoring noun [noncount] • young boys in need of mentoring

menu /'men,ju:/ noun, pl men-us [count]

1 a : a list of the foods that may be ordered at a restaurant • I'd like to see your lunch menu, please. • What's good on the menu today? • There are two chicken dishes under eight dollars listed on the menu. b : the foods that are served at a meal • When you're planning a dinner party, the choice of (the/your) menu is very important.

2 : a list of things that you can choose from • a menu of television programs; especially, computers : a list shown on a computer from which you make choices to control what the computer does • You can save your work by choosing "Save" from the "File" menu. — see also DROP-DOWN MENU, PULL-DOWN MENU

¹me-ow (chiefly US) or Brit mi-aow /mi'au/ noun, pl me-ows [count] : the crying sound made by a cat the cat's meow see CAT

menorah

²meow (chiefly US) or Brit miaow verb meows; me-owed; me-ow-ing [no obj] of a cat : to make a crying sound • We could hear a cat meowing at the door.

mer-can-tile /'mækən,tɪl, 'mækən,tajəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : of or relating to the business of buying and selling products to earn money : of or relating to trade or merchants • mercantile policy • a small mercantile [=merchant] town • wealthy mercantile families

¹mer-ce-nary /'məsə,neri, Brit 'mæsənəri/ noun, pl -nar-ies [count] : a soldier who is paid by a foreign country to fight in its army : a soldier who will fight for any group or country that hires him • an army of foreign mercenaries

²mercenary adj

1 always used before a noun : hired to fight • mercenary armies • a mercenary soldier

2 [more ~; most ~] disapproving : caring only about making money • His motives in choosing a career were purely mercenary. • a mercenary [=greedy] businesswoman

¹mer-cha-n-dise /'mæʃən,daɪz/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal : goods that are bought and sold • We sell quality merchandise. • The merchandise will arrive by truck at noon. • He's developed his own brand of merchandise.

²merchandise verb -dis-es; -dised; -dis-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make the public aware of (a product being offered for sale) by using advertising and other methods • merchandising women's shoes

2 : to present (someone) to the public like a product being offered for sale • merchandise a movie star • The political candidates are being merchandised to the public.

– mer-cha-n-dis-er noun, pl -ers [count] • Merchandisers decorated their stores' windows for the holidays.

mer-cha-n-dis-ing /'mæʃən,daɪzɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 : the activity of trying to sell goods or services by advertising them or displaying them attractively • She is the company's director of merchandising.

2 : the activity of selling products that are related to something (such as a television show, movie, or sports team) in order to make more money • The film made a lot of money thanks to strong merchandising. • Most of the movie's earnings came from merchandising and not ticket sales.

¹mer-chant /'mæʃənt/ noun, pl -chants [count]

1 somewhat old-fashioned : someone who buys and sells goods especially in large amounts • a wine merchant [=dealer] • Merchants traveled hundreds of miles to trade in the city. • a family of wealthy merchants

2 chiefly US or Scotland : the owner or manager of a store • The town's merchants closed their shops during the parade. • Prizes were given by local merchants.

3 informal : someone who is known for a particular quality, activity, etc. • He's a real speed merchant. [=he runs very fast] • doom merchants [=people who are always saying that bad things are going to happen]

²merchant adj, always used before a noun : used for or involved in trading goods • merchant ships • a society's merchant class • a wealthy merchant family

mer-chant-able /'mæʃəntəbəl/ adj, law : of good enough quality to be sold • merchantable wood

merchant bank noun, pl ~ banks [count] chiefly Brit : a bank for large companies that trade goods in other countries – merchant banker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] – merchant banking noun [noncount]

merchant marine noun [singular] chiefly US : all of a country's ships that are used for trading goods rather than for war; also : the people who work such ships • a member of the merchant marine — called also (Brit) merchant navy merchant seaman noun, pl ~ -men [count] : a sailor who works on a ship involved in trading goods : a member of the merchant marine

mer-ci-ful /'mɜːsɪfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : treating people with kindness and forgiveness : not cruel or harsh : having or showing mercy • a merciful ruler • a merciful god • He became less merciful to his enemies. • a merciful decision

2 : giving relief from suffering • He died a quick and merciful death. • The movie at last came to a merciful end. [=the movie was so bad that its ending was a relief]

mer-ci-ful-ly /'mɜːsɪfəli/ adv

1 : in a kind or merciful way • His crimes have been dealt with mercifully.

2 : in a good or lucky way • He makes movies that are mercifully free of violence. [=it is good that his movies do not have much violence] • The lecture was mercifully brief. [=I was glad that the lecture was so brief] • Mercifully, the professor always makes our tests easy.

mer-ci-less /'mɜːsɪləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing no mercy : very cruel or harsh • a merciless killer • a merciless army • the merciless killing of innocent people • merciless honesty • He has been merciless in his criticism of his opponent.

– mer-ci-less-ly adv • mercilessly honest criticism • the mercilessly hot sun mer-cu-ri-al /mə'kjəriəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : changing moods quickly and often — used to describe someone who often changes from being happy to being angry or upset in a quick and unexpected way • a mercurial movie star • She had a mercurial personality/disposition. • mercurial behavior b : changing often : very changeable • mercurial weather

2 : very lively and quick • mercurial wit

mer-cu-ry /'mækjəri/ noun

1 [noncount] a : a silver metal that is liquid at normal temperatures b : the mercury in a thermometer that shows the air's temperature • In the summer, the mercury can reach over 100 degrees Fahrenheit. • By late afternoon, the mercury had dropped (to) below zero.

2 Mercury [singular] : the planet that is closest to the sun mer-cy /'mɜːsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [noncount] : kind or forgiving treatment of someone who could be treated harshly • He is a vicious criminal who deserves no mercy. • She fell to her knees and asked/begged/pleaded for mercy. • Have you no mercy? = Are you utterly without mercy? • May God have mercy on us all. [=may God treat us all with kindness and forgiveness] • He showed no mercy to his enemies. = He showed his enemies no mercy. [=he treated his enemies very harshly] • The boss took mercy on us [=he treated us kindly] and let us go home early. • a man of mercy [=a man who treats other people with kindness and forgiveness] • The prisoner confessed his crimes and threw himself on the mercy of the court. [=the prisoner begged the court for mercy]

2 [noncount] : kindness or help given to people who are in a very bad or desperate situation • an act of mercy • They came on a mission/errand of mercy to provide food and medical care for starving children. • a mercy mission

3 [count] : a good or lucky fact or situation • It's a mercy that the building was empty when the fire started. • We should be grateful/thankful for small mercies. [=even though bad things have happened to us, we should be grateful that our situation is not worse] • Thank heaven for small mercies.

4 old-fashioned + informal — used as an interjection to show surprise • Mercy! That wind is cold! • I'm not hungry, but mercy [=heavens, goodness], that food sure does smell good! • Mercy me! That wind is cold.

at the mercy of or at someone's or something's mercy

: in a position or situation in which you can be harmed by (someone or something you cannot control) • With no way to control the ship, we were at the mercy of the sea. • The people were at the mercy of the advancing army. = The army advanced, and the people were at their mercy. [=the people could do nothing to defend themselves from the army] • Our plans were at the mercy of the weather.

to the mercy of or to the (tender) mercies of : without any protection from (someone or something you cannot control) • He had to leave his boat to the mercy of the storm. • As the army retreated, the people were left to the mercies of the advancing enemy.

mercy killing noun, pl ~ -ings : the killing of someone who is very sick or injured in order to prevent any further suffering [count] Some called her death a mercy killing. [noncount] He is opposed to mercy killing. [=euthanasia]

mere /'miə/ adj, always used before a noun mer-est

1 — used to say that something or someone is small, unimportant, etc. • She was a mere child [=she was only a child] when her father died. • His voice did not rise above a mere whisper. = His voice did not rise above the merest [=slightest] whisper. • You can taste a mere hint of spice. = You can taste the merest hint of spice. • The trip takes a mere two hours. [=the trip takes only two hours] • You can own this car for a mere 20 dollars a week. • These mysteries can't be solved by mere mortals like us.

2 — used to say that something small is important or has a big effect or influence • The mere thought of going makes me nervous. • The mere fact that he agreed to help us is a good sign. • The mere/merest mention of his name makes her angry. • He gets sick at the merest sight of blood.

mere·ly /'miəli/ adv : ONLY, JUST — used to say that someone or something is small, unimportant, etc. • This is merely a minor delay. • They were merely children when their father died. • Was it merely a coincidence? • It was merely a suggestion. — used to describe the only reason for something or the only effect of something • She got the job merely because her father owns the company. [=the only reason she got the job was because her father owns the company] • Your essay merely hints at the real problem. • You shouldn't blame her. She was merely following orders. [=she was following orders and not doing anything more than that] • I'm not criticizing you. I'm merely suggesting that we try a new approach.

not merely — used to say that one thing is true and that another thing is also true • He was not merely a great baseball player, he was also a great person.

mer·e·tri·cious /,merə'triʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapproving : attractive in a cheap or false way • meretricious beauty

merge /'mɜːdʒ/ verb merg·es; merged; merg·ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (two or more things, such as two companies) to come together and become one thing • They planned to merge [=combine, unite] the two companies. • Their music merges [=blends, combines] different styles from around the world. : to join or unite (one thing) with another • To save the business, the owners decided to merge it with one of their competitors. b [no obj] : to become joined or united • The two banks merged to form one large institution. • Many small companies have been forced to merge. • Three lanes of traffic all merge at this point. — often + with • Many small companies have been forced to merge with other small companies. — often + into • The two former rivals have merged into one large business. • Three lanes of traffic merge into one.

2 [no obj] : to change into or become part of something else in a very gradual way • Day slowly merged into night. • Along the coast the mountains gradually merge with the shore. • She merged into the crowd and disappeared.

merg·er /'mɜːdʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : the act or process of combining two or more businesses into one business • The law firm announced its $50 million merger with one of its competitors. • If the proposed merger of the two oil companies goes through, it would be bad for the economy.

me·rid·i·an /mə'ridiən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : any one of the lines that go from the North Pole to the South Pole on maps of the world — see also PRIME MERIDIAN me·ringue /mə'ræŋ/ noun, pl -ringues [count, noncount] : a light, sweet mixture of egg whites and sugar that is baked and used as a topping for pies and cakes • a layer of meringue • lemon meringue pie

mer·it /'merət/ noun, pl -its

1 [count] : a good quality or feature that deserves to be praised • The great merit [=advantage, strength] of this plan is its simplicity. — usually plural • The plan has many merits. • It's difficult to judge the merits of her proposal. • We were talking about the relative merits of running and walking as kinds of exercise. • The five contestants will be judged on their own merits. [=they will be judged by looking at their skills and their good and bad qualities] • We should consider each idea on its merits. [=we should consider the good and bad things about each idea]

2 [noncount] formal : the quality of being good, important, or useful : value or worth • His ideas have (some) merit. • She saw merit in both of the arguments. • Their idea is without merit. = Their idea has no merit. • The study has no scientific merit. • Hiring decisions are based entirely on merit. [=people are hired because they have the skills to do the job well]

2 merit verb -its; -it·ed; -it·ing [+ obj] : to deserve (something, such as attention or good treatment) by being important or good • Both ideas merit further consideration. • These issues merit special attention. • His good work merits a raise. • She did well enough to merit a second interview. • The attention she received was not merited.

mer·i·to·ri·ous /,merə'toriəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : deserving honor or praise • She was given an award for meritorious service. • meritorious conduct • a meritorious [=praiseworthy] achievement

mer·maid /'mɜːmeɪd/ noun, pl -maids [count] : an imaginary sea creature that has a woman's head and body and a fish's tail instead of legs

mer·ri·ment /'merɪmənt/ noun [noncount] : laughter and enjoyment • a time of great joy and merriment • Their house was always filled with merriment. • My embarrassment was a cause/source of great merriment among my friends. [=my friends were very amused by my embarrassment]

mer·ry /'meri/ adj mer·ri·er; -est somewhat old-fashioned

1 : very happy and cheerful : feeling or showing joy and happiness • Let's eat, drink, and be merry! • They sang a merry little song. • a merry man • merry laughter

2 : causing joy and happiness • a very merry occasion

go on your merry way 1 or be on your merry way : to leave a place • Soon I'll be on my merry way. [=soon I'll be leaving] 2 often disapproving : to continue doing what you have been doing • She just goes on her merry way, loving men and then breaking their hearts.

lead (someone) a merry chase/dance see LEAD make merry old-fashioned : to have fun and enjoy yourself by eating, drinking, dancing, etc. • They made merry throughout the night.

Merry Christmas — used to wish someone an enjoyable Christmas holiday • Merry Christmas to you and your family. • We wish you a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year!

the more the merrier — used to say that more people are welcome or invited to do something • "Can I bring my friends to the party?" "Of course, the more the merrier!"

— mer·ri·ly /'merəli/ adv • laughing merrily — mer·ri·ness /'merɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • the merriness of the occasion

mer·ry-go-round /'merɪgou,raʊnd/ noun, pl -rounds [count]

1 : a large round platform that turns around in a circle and has seats and figures of animals (such as horses) on which children sit for a ride • We rode the merry-go-round at the town fair. — called also (US) carousel, (Brit) roundabout

2 : a set or series of repeated activities that are quick, confusing, or difficult to leave • a merry-go-round of parties • She couldn't get off the legal merry-go-round.

merry-go-round

mer·ry·mak·ing /'meri,meɪkɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : fun and enjoyment : joyful celebration that includes eating, drinking, singing, and dancing • a night of merrymaking

— mer·ry·mak·er /'meri,meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a crowd of merrymakers

me·sa /'meɪsə/ noun, pl -sas [count] : a hill that has a flat top and steep sides and that is found in the southwestern U.S. — see color picture on page C7

mes·ca·line also Brit mes·ca·lin /'meskələn/ noun [noncount] : a drug that comes from a cactus and that makes people see things that are not real

mes·clun /'mesklən/ noun [noncount] US : a mixture of young leaves from different plants (such as different types of lettuce) that is eaten as a salad

mesdames plural of MADAM 1, MADAME

mesdemoiselles plural of MADEMOISELLE

1 mesh /'meʃ/ noun, pl mesh·es : a material made from threads or wires with evenly spaced holes that allow air or water to pass through [noncount] We covered the blueberry bushes in nylon mesh to keep the birds from the fruit. • wire mesh [count] a wire mesh — sometimes used figuratively • She was caught in a mesh [= (more commonly) web] of her own lies.

2 mesh verb meshes; meshed; mesh·ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (things) to fit together or work together successfully • They meshed traditions from several cultures into one wedding ceremony. • The book tries to mesh philosophy and/or humor. b [no obj] : to fit or work together successfully • The two plans mesh well/nicely. — often + with • The movie's score meshes well with its somber plot. • He never meshed with the rest of the team.

2 [no obj] of the parts of a machine : to fit together and move together properly • The gears weren't meshing properly.

mes·mer·ize also Brit mes·mer·ise /'mezmə,raɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to hold the attention of (someone) entirely : to interest or amaze (someone) so much that nothing else is seen or noticed — usually used as (be) mesmerized • The crowd was mesmerized by the acrobats.

— mesmerizing also Brit mesmerising adj [more ~; most ~] • a mesmerizing voice/performance/beat mes·quite /mə'ski:t/ noun, pl -quites [count] : a tree or bush that grows in the southwestern U.S. and Mexico and that has a hard wood which is often used in grilling food because of the special flavor produced by its smoke; also [non-count] : the wood of the mesquite

¹mess /'mes/ noun, pl mess-es

1 a [count] : a very dirty or untidy state or condition — usually singular • We found the papers in a mess. • It took years to clean up the mess caused by the oil spill. • She's the only cook in the family who never makes a mess of/in the kitchen. b [singular] : something or someone that looks very dirty or untidy • The apartment was a mess when he left it. = He left the apartment a mess. • He was a mess after gardening all day. • My hair is a mess.

2 [count] a : a situation that is very complicated or difficult to deal with • I don't know how the economy got to be (in) such a mess. • Well, that's another fine mess you've gotten me into! • How do we get ourselves into these messes? b : something that is not organized well or working correctly • The school system is a mess. • Things were a real mess for a while after she retired. • My life is a complete mess.

3 [singular] informal a : someone who is very unhappy, confused, etc. • She was a real mess for a while after her divorce. b US : someone who is showing a lot of emotion especially by crying • He was a mess during his daughter's wedding ceremony.

4 [count] : the place where people in the military eat • the officers' mess — called also mess hall

5 [singular] US, informal : a large amount of something — + of • a mess of cash • a mess of cabbage/greens/peas • They're in a mess of trouble. [=a lot of trouble]

6 informal : solid waste from an animal [count] The puppy made a mess on the rug. [noncount] cleaning up dog mess make a mess of : to ruin (something) or to make many mistakes in doing (something) • The scandal made a mess of his political career. • The weather made a mess of our plans. • He made a mess of his speech.

²mess verb messes; messed; mess-ing

mess around or Brit mess about [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to spend time doing things that are not useful or serious : to waste time • We just messed around [=fooled around] all afternoon. • She spent the evening messing around on the computer. • It's time we stopped messing around and got busy. 2 : to have sex with someone who is not your husband, wife, or regular partner • His wife discovered that he was messing around [=fooling around] (on her). — often + with • His wife discovered that he was messing around with his secretary. 3 mess (someone) around/about Brit : to cause problems or trouble for (someone) especially by making changes that are not expected • I don't like being messed about this way! 4 mess around/about with (something) a : to use or do (something) in a way that is not very serious • I'm not really a painter; I just like to mess around with paints. • She spent the evening messing around with [=fooling around with] the computer. b : to handle or play with (something) in a careless or foolish way • Stop messing around [=fiddling around] with the stereo.

mess up [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to make a mistake : to do something incorrectly • About halfway into the recipe, I realized that I had messed up, and I had to start over. — often + on • She's afraid she'll mess up on the test. • I messed up on my first attempt. 2 mess (something) up or mess up (something) a : to make mistakes when you are doing or making (something) • He messed up the speech. • I messed up my first attempt and had to try again. b : to make (something) dirty or untidy : to make a mess of (something) • Don't mess up my room. • The wind messed up her hair. = Her hair got messed up in the wind. c : to damage or ruin (something) • She's really messed up her life. • His life has been messed up by his drug addiction. : to damage or change (something) so that it does not work properly • I don't know what I did, but I somehow messed up the computer. • My watch has been messed up [=has not worked properly] ever since I dropped it in the sink. • The mountains messed up the cell phone signal. 3 mess (someone) up or mess up (someone) a US : to beat and injure (someone) • He got messed up [=roughed up, beaten up] by a gang of bullies. • They messed him up pretty badly. b : to make (someone) very upset and unhappy • Breaking up with her boyfriend has really messed her up. • She's been pretty messed up ever since she broke up with her boyfriend.

mess with [phrasal verb] informal 1 mess with (someone) : to cause trouble for (someone) : to deal with (someone) in a way that may cause anger or violence • I wouldn't want to mess with him. • You'd better not be messing with me. 2 mess with (something) a chiefly US : to deal with or be involved with (something that causes or that could cause trouble) • The company doesn't want to mess with small distributors. • He doesn't want to mess with cocaine anymore. b : to handle or play with (something) in a careless way : to mess around with (something) • Don't mess with the camera. 3 ♦ In very informal English, something that messes with your mind/head causes you to feel confused. • The movie messes with your mind and you don't find out what's going on until the end.

mes·sage /'mesɪdʒ/ noun, pl -sag-es

1 [count] : a piece of information that is sent or given to someone • an e-mail message • deliver/send/receive a message • Did you get my message? • She has received messages of support/sympathy from hundreds of people. • Were there any messages for me? = Did anyone leave a message for me? • I left a message on her answering machine. • He's not here right now. Can I take a message? • The computer displayed an error message. [=a message indicating that an error has occurred] — see also TEXT MESSAGE

2 [singular] : an important idea that someone is trying to express in a book, movie, speech, etc. • I liked the story but I didn't really agree with the book's message. • He believed in the church's message of forgiveness. • She hopes the speech will help her to get the party's message across. [=help her to tell people what the party believes or stands for] get the message informal : to understand something that is not being said directly • When they didn't return my phone calls, I finally got the message. [=I finally realized that they did not want to talk to me] • He gave her an angry look, hoping she'd get the message.

mixed messages see MIXED

off message : saying things that do not agree with the official position of a political group or party • A few Cabinet members seem off message on government policy.

on message : saying things that agree with the official position of a political group or party • The President wants everyone to be/get back on message when giving interviews.

message board noun, pl ~ boards [count] : a public computer system on the Internet that allows people to read and leave messages for other users — called also bulletin board

mes·sag·ing /'mesɪdʒɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : a system used for sending messages electronically • an electronic messaging system/service • wireless messaging — see also INSTANT MESSAGING

mes·sen·ger /'mesɪŋdʒə/ noun, pl -gers [count] : someone who delivers a message or does other small jobs that involve going somewhere • Their company's messenger brought us the plans. = The company's plans were brought to us by messenger. • They sent a messenger to pick up the package.

blame/shoot the messenger : to become angry at someone who has told you bad news mess hall noun, pl ~ halls [count] : ¹MESS 4

mes·si·ah /mə'sajə/ noun, pl -ahs

1 the Messiah a Judaism : a king who will be sent by God to save the Jews b Christianity : Jesus Christ

2 [count] : a person who is expected to save people from a very bad situation • They thought the new principal was the messiah the school had been hoping for. • a political messiah

mes·si·an·ic /,mesi'ænik/ adj

1 : relating to or having the qualities of a messiah • a messianic political leader

2 : supporting a social, political, or religious cause or set of beliefs with great enthusiasm and energy • messianic zeal

Messrs. (US) or Brit Messrs /'mesəz/ — used as a formal plural of Mr. • Messrs. Lowry and Jones, Attorneys at Law messy /'mesi/ adj mess-i-er; -est

1 : not clean or tidy • a very messy room • messy papers

2 : carelessly made or done : not careful or precise • messy [=sloppy] thinking

3 : causing or involving a mess • a messy pen • Painting a room can be messy work. : likely to make something dirty or sticky • Some kinds of glue are messier than others. • messy hair gel • a delicious but messy sandwich

4 : very unpleasant and complicated • a messy divorce/scandal • I heard all of the messy details of the lawsuit.

— mess-i-ly /'mesəli/ adv • She splattered the paint messily [=sloppily, carelessly] on the wall. — mess-i-ness /'mesinəs/ noun [noncount] met past tense and past participle of ¹MEET

meta- /metə/ prefix

1 : change • metamorphosis

2 : more than : beyond • metaphysics

me-tab-o-lism /mə'tæbə,lizəm/ noun, pl -lisms biology : the chemical processes by which a plant or an animal uses food, water, etc., to grow and heal and to make energy [count] studying the metabolisms of various organisms • Regular exercise can help to increase your metabolism. [=increase the rate at which your body turns food into energy] [noncount] protein metabolism

— met-a-bol-ic /,metə'bɑ:lɪk/ adj • metabolic rate • a metabolic disorder — met-a-bol-ic-al-ly /,metə'bɑ:lɪkli/ adv

me-tab-o-lize also Brit me-tab-o-lise /mə'tæbə,ləɪz/ verb -liz-es; -lized; -liz-ing [+ obj] biology : to change (food) into a form that can be used by your body : to process and use (substances brought into your body) by metabolism • metabolizing nutrients • Food is metabolized by the body.

met-al /'metl/ noun, pl -als : a substance (such as gold, tin, or copper) that usually has a shiny appearance, is a good conductor of electricity and heat, can be melted, and is usually capable of being shaped [noncount] scraps/strips/sheets/lumps/pieces of metal • a mixture of various kinds of metal • sculptors who work in metal and clay [count] a mixture of different metals • Gold is a metal. — often used before another noun • metal bowls • a metal roof — see also HEAVY METAL, SHEET METAL, precious metal at PRECIOUS put the pedal to the metal see ¹PEDAL

me-tal-lic /mə'tælɪk/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : resembling metal: such as a : shiny like metal • a metallic blue color • We chose a paint with a metallic luster. b : tasting like metal • The medicine has a metallic taste.

2 : made of metal or containing metal • metallic threads • Silver is a metallic element.

3 [more ~; most ~] : having a harsh sound • a metallic [=grating] voice • the metallic screech of the car's brakes met-al-lur-gy /'metl,ædʒi, Brit mə'tælədʒi/ noun [noncount] : a science that deals with the nature and uses of metal • studying metallurgy

— met-al-lur-gi-cal /,metl'ædʒɪkəl/ adj • metallurgical techniques — met-al-lur-gist /'metl,ædʒɪst, Brit mə'tælədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] • an expert metallurgist

met-al-work /'metl,wək/ noun [noncount] : things that are made out of metal; especially : metal objects that are made in an artistic and skillful way • fine metalwork • a beautiful piece of metalwork

met-al-work-ing /'metl,wəkɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the act or process of making things out of metal • ancient metal-working techniques

— met-al-work-er /'metl,wəkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a skillful metalworker

meta-mor-phrase /,metə'moə,fəʊz/ verb -phos-es; -phosed; -phos-ing [no obj] : to change in an important and obvious way into something that is very different : to undergo metamorphosis — usually + into • This once-small company has metamorphosed into an industrial giant. • She has metamorphosed from a shy schoolgirl into a self-confident young businesswoman. • studying the process by which caterpillars metamorphose into butterflies

meta-mor-pho-sis /,metə'moəfəsəs/ noun, pl -pho-ses /-fə,sɪz/

1 : a major change in the appearance or character of someone or something [count] We have watched her metamorphosis from a shy schoolgirl into a self-confident businesswoman. • a company that has gone through a series of metamorphoses [noncount] The government has undergone political metamorphosis since his election.

2 biology : a major change in the form or structure of some animals or insects that happens as the animal or insect becomes an adult [noncount] the metamorphosis of tadpoles into frogs • The class learned about how caterpillars undergo metamorphosis to become butterflies. [count] caterpillars undergoing metamorphoses

met-a-phor /'metə,fəʊ, Brit 'metəfə/ noun, pl -phors

1 : a word or phrase for one thing that is used to refer to another thing in order to show or suggest that they are similar [count] "He was drowning in paperwork" is a metaphor in which having to deal with a lot of paperwork is being compared to drowning in an ocean of water. • Her poems include many imaginative metaphors. [noncount] a poet admired for her use of metaphor — compare SIMILE; see also MIXED METAPHOR

2 [count] : an object, activity, or idea that is used as a symbol of something else — often + for • The author uses flight as a metaphor for freedom. • The veil is a metaphor for [=symbol of] secrecy.

— met-a-phor-i-cal /,metə'fɔrɪkəl/ adj • a metaphorical description of children as plants growing in a garden • In this class, we'll be taking a metaphorical journey through Russian literature of the 19th century. — met-a-phor-i-cal-ly /,metə'fɔrɪkli/ adv • speaking metaphorically

meta-phys-i-cal /,metə'fɪzɪkəl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or based on metaphysics • metaphysical philosophy • metaphysical questions

2 : of or relating to things that are thought to exist but that cannot be seen • a metaphysical world of spirits

— meta-phys-i-cal-ly /,metə'fɪzɪkli/ adv

meta-phys-ics /,metə'fɪzɪks/ noun [noncount] : the part of philosophy that is concerned with the basic causes and nature of things

mete /'mi:t/ verb metes; met-ed; met-ing

mete out [phrasal verb] mete (something) out or mete out (something) : to give (something) to the people who you decide should get it : to give out or distribute (something) • We're trying to be fair in meting out rewards and punishments. — usually used to refer to something unpleasant (such as punishment) • Huge fines were meted out as punishment. • The king meted out justice as he saw fit.

me-te-or /'mi:tɪjə/ noun, pl -ors [count] : a piece of rock or metal that burns and glows brightly in the sky as it falls from outer space into the Earth's atmosphere • a meteor shower [=a large number of meteors seen in a short time]

me-te-or-ic /,mi:tɪ'ɔrɪk/ adj

1 : very sudden or fast • a meteoric rise to fame • a meteoric ascent • a meteoric fall

2 : marked by very quick success • a meteoric career me-te-or-ite /'mi:tɪjə,rart/ noun, pl -ites [count] : a piece of rock or metal that has fallen to the ground from outer space : a meteor that reaches the surface of the Earth without burning up entirely

me-te-o-rol-o-gy /,mi:tɪjə'rɑ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] : a science that deals with the atmosphere and with weather

— me-te-o-ro-log-i-cal /,mi:tɪjə'rɑ:lədʒɪkəl/ adj • meteorological forecasts • meteorological conditions — me-te-o-rol-o-gist /,mi:tɪjə'rɑ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] • a storm forecast by meteorologists

¹me-ter /'mi:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a device that measures and records the amount of something that has been used • a gas meter • a water meter

2 : PARKING METER • He left the restaurant to feed the meter. [=to put more money in the parking meter]

— compare ²METER, ³METER

²meter (US) or Brit me-tre noun, pl -ters [count] : the basic metric unit of length equal to about 39.37 inches — compare ¹METER, ³METER

³meter (US) or Brit metre noun, pl -ters : a way of arranging the sounds or beats in poetry : a particular rhythmic pattern in poetry [count] the poet's use of different meters [noncount] the poet's use of rhyme and meter — compare ¹METER, ²METER

— meter noun combining form : device used to measure something • barometer • thermometer meter maid noun, pl ~ maids [count] chiefly US, somewhat old-fashioned : a woman whose job is to find vehicles that are parked illegally meth-a-done /'mɛθə,dəʊn/ noun [noncount] : a drug that people take to help them stop taking heroin meth-ane /'mɛ,θeɪn, Brit 'mi:,θeɪn/ noun [noncount] : a colorless gas that has no smell and that can be burned for fuel meth-a-nol /'mɛθə,nɑ:l/ noun [noncount] technical : a poisonous alcohol that is used to keep liquids from freezing, as a fuel, etc. — called also methyl alcohol me-thinks /mɪˈθɪŋks/ verb me-thought /mɪˈθɔ:t/ literary + humorous : I think • It's going to rain, methinks. [=I think it's going to rain] • Methought [=I thought] I heard him calling.

meth-od /ˈmɛθəd/ noun, pl -ods

1 [count] : a way of doing something • He claims to have developed a new method for growing tomatoes. • Their teaching method tries to adapt lessons to each student. • We need to adopt more modern methods of doing things. — see also SCIENTIFIC METHOD

2 [noncount] formal : a careful or organized plan that controls the way something is done • The book lacks method. [=the book is not arranged in an orderly way]

(a) method in/to your madness ♦ If there is method in your madness or (US) (a) method to your madness, there are good reasons for your actions even though they may seem foolish or strange. • Though his staff is often confused by the way he runs the office, I've found that there's method in his madness.

me-thod-i-cal /məˈθɑ:dɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : done by using a careful and organized procedure • a methodical search • Their methodical review of the evidence exposed some problems with the study's findings.

2 : working in a very careful and organized way • She's a slow and methodical worker, and her drawings reflect the extra care she takes.

— me-thod-i-cal-ly /məˈθɑ:dɪkli/ adv • They are methodically reviewing the evidence.

Meth-od-ist /ˈmɛθədɪst/ adj : of or relating to any one of several Christian churches that follow the teachings of John Wesley • He comes from a family of Methodist preachers. • a Methodist church

— Meth-od-ism /ˈmɛθəˌdɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

— Methodist noun, pl -ists [count]

meth-od-ol-o-gy /ˈmɛθəˌdɔ:lədʒi/ noun, pl -gies : a set of methods, rules, or ideas that are important in a science or art : a particular procedure or set of procedures [count] scientific theories and methodologies [noncount] He blamed the failure of their research on poor methodology.

meth-yl alcohol /ˈmɛθəl-/ noun [noncount] technical : METHANOL me-tic-u-lous /məˈtɪkjələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very careful about doing something in an extremely accurate and exact way • He described the scene in meticulous detail. • She did meticulous work. • He keeps meticulous records. • He is meticulous about keeping accurate records. • She's a meticulous researcher.

— me-tic-u-lous-ly adv • It's a beautiful Victorian house, meticulously restored. • meticulously careful research

— me-tic-u-lous-ness /məˈtɪkjələsnəs/ noun [noncount]

mé-tier also me-tier /ˈmɛ,tjɛr/ noun, pl -tiers [count] formal : something that a person does very well • After trying several careers, she found her true métier in computer science. • Public speaking is not my métier. [=forte, strength]

metre Brit spelling of ²METER, ³METER

met-ric /ˈmɛtrɪk/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or based on the metric system • The metric unit of energy is the “joule.” • a metric wrench [=a wrench that is sized according to the metric system]

2 : METRICAL • metric patterns met-ri-cal /ˈmɛtrɪkəl/ adj : of, relating to, or arranged in a rhythmic pattern of beats : of or relating poetic meter • metrical patterns

— met-ri-cal-ly /ˈmɛtrɪkli/ adv

metric system noun

the metric system : a system of weights and measures that is based on the meter and on the kilogram

metric ton noun, pl ~ tons [count] : a unit of mass and weight equal to one million grams

¹met-ro /ˈmɛtrou/ noun, pl -ros [count] : an underground railway system in some cities : SUBWAY • the Paris Metro • We took the metro to the museum. = We went by metro to the museum.

²metro adj, always used before a noun, US, informal : of or relating to a large city and sometimes to the area around it • The event was attended by people from all over the metro [=metropolitan] area.

met-ro-nome /ˈmɛtrəˌnoʊm/ noun, pl -nomes [count] : a device that makes a regular, repeated sound to show a musician how fast a piece of music should be played

— met-ro-nom-ic /ˈmɛtrəˌnɑ:mɪk/ adj me-trop-o-lis /məˈtrɑ:pələs/ noun, pl -lis-es [count] : a very large or important city — usually singular • a bustling metropolis

met-ro-pol-i-tan /ˌmɛtrəˈpɑ:lətən/ adj : of or relating to a large city and the surrounding cities and towns • the greater New York metropolitan area • This is one of the best seafood restaurants in metropolitan Los Angeles. • a metropolitan newspaper met-tle /ˈmɛtl/ noun [noncount] : strength of spirit : ability to continue despite difficulties • He proved/showed his mettle [=he proved/showed how tough he is] as a fighter tonight.

• The competition will test her mettle

on your mettle chiefly Brit : making an effort to do as well as possible • She'll have to be on her mettle [=at her best] to win this competition.

mew /ˈmju:/ noun, pl mews [count] : MEOW • a cat's mew

— mew /ˈmju:/ verb mews; mewed; mew-ing [no obj] • a mewing cat

mews /ˈmju:z/ noun, pl mews [count] chiefly Brit : a street or area with buildings that were once horse stables but that have been made into houses • a house in an elegant mews • a mews house

Mex-i-can /ˈmɛksɪkən/ noun, pl -cans [count]

1 : a person born, raised, or living in Mexico

2 : a person whose family is from Mexico

— Mexican adj • Mexican food/music • Mexican Spanish [=the Spanish spoken in Mexico]

Mexican jumping bean noun, pl ~ beans [count] : JUMPING BEAN

Mexican wave noun

the Mexican wave Brit : ²WAVE 7

mez-z-a-nine /ˈmɛzəˌni:n/ noun, pl -nines [count]

1 : a small floor that is between two main levels of a building and that is usually in the form of a balcony

2 US : the lowest balcony in a theater

mez-zo /ˈmɛtsou/ noun, pl -zos [count] music : MEZZO-SOPRANO

mez-zo-so-pra-no /ˌmɛtsousəˈprænou, ˌmɛtsousəˈpra:nou/ noun, pl -nos [count] music : a female singing voice that is higher than the contralto and lower than the soprano • a singer with a beautiful mezzo-soprano; also : a female singer with such a voice

MFA abbr master of fine arts

mfg. abbr manufacturing mg abbr milligram

mgmt. abbr management

mgr. abbr manager

MHz abbr megahertz

mi or chiefly Brit me /ˈmi:/ noun [noncount] music : the third note of a musical scale • do, re, mi, fa, sol, la, ti

mi. abbr mile

MI abbr Michigan

MIA /ˌɛmˌaɪˈeɪ/ noun, pl MIAs [count] chiefly US : a soldier who was not found after a battle and who may or may not be dead : a soldier who is missing in action • The fate of most MIAs in the war is still not known.

miaow Brit spelling of MEOW

mi-as-ma /maɪˈæzmə/ noun, pl -mas [count] formal + literary : a heavy cloud of something unpleasant or unhealthy — usually singular • A miasma of smog settled over the city. • a miasma of smoke • a miasma of foul odors mic /ˈmaɪk/ noun, pl mics [count] US, informal : MICROPHONE mi-ca /ˈmaɪkə/ noun [noncount] : a mineral that separates easily into thin sheets

mice plural of MOUSE

mick-ey /ˈmɪki/ noun, pl -eys [count] informal + old-fashioned : a drink of alcohol to which a drug has been added to cause the person who drinks it to become unconscious • Someone tried to slip him a mickey. [=tried to knock him out by giving him a drugged drink]

take the mickey (out of someone) Brit, informal : to make fun of someone • Did you mean what you said about me or were you just taking the mickey? [=kidding] • We took the mickey out of her [=we teased her] about her new hairstyle.

Mickey Mouse adj, informal + disapproving : not deserving to be taken seriously : having little value or importance • He took a lot of Mickey Mouse [=very easy] courses when he was in college. • The company is just a Mickey Mouse operation.

micro- combining form

1 a : very small • microfilm • microcomputer b : making a sound louder or an image larger • microphone • microscope

2 : one millionth part of a (specified) unit • microsecond • micrometer

mi-crobe /'maɪ,kroub/ noun, pl -crobés [count] : an extremely small living thing that can only be seen with a microscope : MICROORGANISM • a disease-causing microbe
— mi-cro-bi-al /maɪ'kroubijəl/ adj • microbial life/growth/contamination mi-cro-bi-ol-o-gy /,maɪkroubaɪ'ɔ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] : a science that studies extremely small forms of life (such as bacteria and viruses) • a degree in microbiology

— mi-cro-bi-o-log-i-cal /,maɪkrou,bajə'la:dʒɪkəl/ adj • microbiological contamination — mi-cro-bi-ol-o-gist /,maɪkroubaɪ'ɔ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

mi-cro-brew /'maɪkrou,bru:/ noun, pl -brews [count] chiefly US : a beer made by a microbrewery • The restaurant serves several locally produced microbrews.

mi-cro-brew-ery /,maɪkrou'bru:wəri/ noun, pl -er-ies [count] chiefly US : a small brewery that makes beer in small amounts mi-cro-chip /'maɪkrou,tʃɪp/ noun, pl -chips [count] computers : a group of tiny electronic circuits that work together on a very small piece of hard material (such as silicon) — called also integrated circuit

mi-cro-com-put-er /'maɪkroukəm,pju:tə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a small computer; especially : PERSONAL COMPUTER

mi-cro-cosm /'maɪkrə,kɔ:zəm/ noun, pl -cosms [count] : something (such as a place or an event) that is seen as a small version of something much larger • The village is a microcosm of the whole country. • The game was a microcosm of the entire season. — compare MACROCOSM in microcosm : in a greatly reduced size or form • The model is designed to represent the town in microcosm.

mi-cro-eco-nom-ics /,maɪkrou,ekə'nɔ:mɪks, ,maɪkrou,ɪ:kə'nɔ:mɪks/ noun [noncount] : the study of the economic decisions and actions of individual people, companies, etc. — compare MACROECONOMICS

— microeconomic adj

mi-cro-elec-tron-ics /,maɪkrouɪ,lek'trɔ:nɪks/ noun, technical

1 [noncount] : the design, production, or use of very small electronic devices and circuits • a job in microelectronics

2 [plural] : very small electronic devices or circuits • the manufacturing of microelectronics

— mi-cro-elec-tron-ic /,maɪkrouɪ,lek'trɔ:nɪk/ adj • micro-electronic chips/devices/technology mi-cro-fiche /'maɪkrou,fi:ʃ/ noun, pl -fiches : a sheet of film that has very small photographs of the pages of a newspaper, magazine, etc., which are viewed by using a special machine : a sheet of microfilm [noncount] Every issue of the magazine is available on microfiche. [count] He looked at microfiches of old magazines.

mi-cro-film /'maɪkrə,fɪlm/ noun, pl -films : film on which very small photographs of the printed pages of a newspaper, magazine, etc., are stored [noncount] newspapers available on microfilm [count] studying newspaper microfilms from the early 1900s mi-cro-man-age /,maɪkrou'mæniɔ:ʒ/ verb -ag-es; -aged; -ag-ing [+ obj] chiefly US : to try to control or manage all the small parts of (something, such as an activity) in a way that is usually not wanted or that causes problems • He micromanaged every detail of the budget.

— mi-cro-man-age-ment /,maɪkrou'mæniɔ:ʒmənt/ noun [noncount] — mi-cro-man-ag-er /,maɪkrou'mæniɔ:ʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

¹mi-crom-e-ter /maɪ'krɔ:mətə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a device used for measuring very small distances — compare ²MICROMETER

²mi-cro-me-ter (US) or Brit mi-cro-me-tre /'maɪkrou,mi:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : one millionth of a meter — compare ¹MICROMETER

mi-cron /'maɪ,krɔ:n/ noun, pl -crons [count] : ²MICROMETER

mi-cro-or-gan-ism /,maɪkrou'ɔ:gə,nɪzəm/ noun, pl -isms [count] biology : an extremely small living thing that can only be seen with a microscope mi-cro-phone /'maɪkrə,fəʊn/ noun, pl -phones [count] : a device into which people speak or sing in order to record their voices or to make them sound louder — called also (informal) mike mi-cro-pro-ces-sor /,maɪkrou'prɔ:səsə, Brit ,maɪkrəʊ-

'prəʊ,səsə/ noun, pl -sors [count] computers : the device in a computer that manages information and controls what the computer does mi-cro-scope /'maɪkrə,skəʊp/ noun, pl -scopes [count] : a device used for producing a much larger view of very small objects so that they can be seen clearly • Students viewed the crystals through/under/with a microscope. — see also ELECTRON MICROSCOPE under a/the microscope : in a state of being watched very closely • Celebrities can find it difficult (to be) living under the microscope. • The business has recently been put under the microscope by federal investigators.

mi-cro-scop-ic /,maɪkrə'skɔ:pɪk/ adj

1 a : able to be seen only through a microscope : extremely small • At this point, the embryo is a microscopic clump of only 100 cells. • There is a microscopic crack in the diamond.

b : much smaller than what is usual, normal, or expected • He has a microscopic attention span. • He recorded every aspect of his trip in microscopic detail.

2 always used before a noun : done with a microscope • a microscopic examination/analysis • a microscopic study of plant tissues

— mi-cro-scop-i-cal-ly /,maɪkrə'skɔ:pɪkli/ adv • examined/studied the tissue microscopically • a microscopically thin fiber mi-cro-sec-ond /'maɪkrou,səkənd/ noun, pl -onds [count]

1 : one millionth of a second

2 informal : a very short period of time • She raised her hand a microsecond [=second] too late.

¹mi-cro-wave /'maɪkrou,weɪv/ noun, pl -waves [count]

1 : MICROWAVE OVEN • The apartment came with a microwave. — often used before another noun • microwave cooking [=cooking using a microwave oven] • microwave [=microwavable] popcorn • a microwave dinner

2 physics : a very short wave of electromagnetic energy • antennas for detecting microwaves • microwave radiation

²microwave verb -waves; -waved; -wav-ing [+ obj] : to cook or heat (food) in a microwave oven • microwave a bowl of soup

— mi-cro-wav-able or mi-cro-wave-able /,maɪkrə'weɪvəbəl/ adj • a microwavable pizza • He heated up his soup in a microwavable bowl. [=a bowl that can be safely used in a microwave oven]

microwave oven noun, pl ~ ovens [count] : an oven in which food is cooked or heated quickly by very short waves of electromagnetic energy — called also microwave; see picture at KITCHEN mid /'mɪd/ adj, always used before a noun : in or near the middle of something • He's in his mid [=middle] twenties. • the mid to late 1700s — often used in combination • the mid-18th century • He's in his mid-twenties. • We'll be there in mid-August. • He cut me off in mid-sentence. • The ship was adrift in mid-ocean.

mid-af-ter-noon /,mɪd,æftə'nu:n, Brit ,mɪd,ɑ:ftə'nu:n/ noun [noncount] : the middle part of the afternoon • We hope to make it home by midafternoon. — often used before another noun • a midafternoon snack mid-air /'mɪd'eə/ noun [noncount] : a region in the air not close to the ground • The two planes collided in midair. • We watched birds catching insects in midair. — often used before another noun • a midair collision

Mi-das touch /'maɪdəs-/ noun

the Midas touch : the ability to make everything that you are involved with very successful • an actor/businesswoman with the Midas touch

mid-Atlantic also Mid-Atlantic adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to the region of the U.S. that includes all or some of the states between New York and South Carolina • mid-Atlantic states/cities/beaches

2 : located in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean • mid-Atlantic islands

mid-day /'mɪd,deɪ/ noun [noncount] : the middle of the day : NOON • They arrived around midday. — often used before another noun • the midday sun • the midday meal [=lunch]

¹mid-dle /'mɪdl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : equally distant from the ends or sides : halfway between two points • He walked down the middle [=center] aisle. • during the century's middle decades • High temperatures today should be in the middle 80s.

2 : in a state or place between two things or people • He grew up as the middle child in a family with three children. [=he was the child born before the youngest and after the oldest] • Franklin D. Roosevelt's middle initial stood for "Delano."

2 middle noun, pl mid-dles [count]

1 : a middle part, point, or position • He parts his hair in the middle. [=center] • A good essay will have a clear beginning, middle, and end. • He stood exactly in the middle of the room. • She opened the book to the middle and began to read. • The car stopped in the middle of the road. • The house should be finished by the middle of next summer. • The beginning and ending of the movie were good, but the middle was pretty boring. • Slice the banana right down the middle. [=slice it into two equal parts] • We split the cost down the middle. [=we split the cost equally]

2 : the middle part of a person's body : WAIST • She put her arms around his middle. • He tied the sash around his middle. in the middle : in a difficult or unpleasant position • She hated conflict and did not want to be put in the middle. • He was caught in the middle of his parents' divorce. = He was caught in the middle when his parents got divorced.

in the middle of 1 : while (something) is happening or being done : during (something) • The protesters interrupted her in the middle of her speech. • He kept waking up in the middle of the night. • The movie was so bad we walked out right in the middle of it. 2 : in the process of (doing something) • I was in the middle of (eating) dinner [=I was eating dinner] when the phone rang.

in the middle of nowhere : in a place that is far away from other people, houses, or cities • We got lost in the middle of nowhere.

middle age noun [noncount] : the period in a person's life from about age 40 to about age 60 • as our generation approaches middle age • The patient was in late middle age. • He feared the approach of middle age.

— mid-dle-aged /ˌmɪdl'eɪdʒd/ adj • health problems common in middle-aged men and women • a book loved by the young, the old, and the middle-aged [=middle-aged people]

Middle Ages noun

the Middle Ages : the period of European history from about A.D. 500 to about 1500

Middle America noun [noncount] : the usually traditional or conservative people of the middle class in the U.S. • a politician who understands the needs of Middle America

— Middle American noun, pl ~-cans [count] — middle-American also Middle-American adj • a typical middle-American home • Middle-American values

Middle Atlantic adj, usually used before a noun : MID-ATLANTIC 1 • the Middle Atlantic region

— Middle Atlantic noun [noncount] • moderate winters in the Middle Atlantic

mid-dle-brow /ˌmɪdlˌbraʊ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : interested in art, literature, etc., that is not very serious and that is easy to understand • This book appeals to middlebrow readers. : relating to or intended for people who are interested in art, literature, etc., that is not very serious and that is easy to understand • people with middlebrow tastes • a middlebrow magazine/movie — compare HIGHBROW, LOWBROW middle C noun, pl ~ Cs [count, noncount] music : the musical note C that is close to the center of a piano's keyboard • the note above middle C

middle class noun, pl ~ classes [count] : the social class that is between the upper class and the lower class and that includes mainly business and professional people, government officials, and skilled workers — compare LOWER CLASS, UPPER CLASS

— middle-class adj [more ~; most ~] • traditional middle-class values • a typical middle-class family

middle distance noun, pl ~-tances

1 the middle distance : the area in a scene or view that is neither very close nor very far away : an area between the foreground and the background • As I looked out over the water, a small boat appeared in the middle distance.

2 [count] : a racing distance that is neither short nor long and that is usually between 800 to 1,500 meters — often used as middle-distance before another noun • a middle-distance runner/race/event middle ear noun [singular] : the middle part of the ear that is inside the eardrum • fluid in the middle ear • a middle ear infection

Middle East noun

the Middle East : the countries of northern Africa and southwestern Asia that are on or near the eastern edge of the Mediterranean Sea : the Near East — compare FAR EAST — Middle Eastern adj • Middle Eastern culture/food — Middle Easterner noun, pl ~-ers [count]

Middle English noun [noncount] : the English language between about 1100 and 1400 — compare OLD ENGLISH

middle finger noun, pl ~-gers [count] : the long finger that is the middle one of the five fingers of the hand — see picture at HAND middle ground noun : a position or set of opinions that is acceptable to many different people [singular] The judge of the case chose a middle ground between harshness and leniency. [noncount] Both sides in this debate need to do more to establish some middle ground.

mid-dle-man /ˈmɪdlˌmæn/ noun, pl -men /-ˌmɛn/ [count]

1 : a person or company that buys goods from a producer and sells them to someone else • The Internet helps consumers save money by buying products directly from companies and eliminating/bypassing the middleman. • We've cut out the middleman and can reduce prices for our customers.

2 : a person who helps two people or groups to deal with and communicate with each other when they are not able or willing to do it themselves • He acted as the middleman in the talks between labor and management.

middle management noun [noncount] : the group of people in a company who are in charge of employees but are not involved in important decisions concerning the company • He was just promoted to middle management.

middle manager noun, pl ~-ers [count] : a person who works in middle management middle name noun, pl ~ names

1 [count] : a name between a person's first name and family name • President John F. Kennedy's middle name was "Fitzgerald."

2 [singular] informal : a word that accurately describes a person's qualities • Patience is her middle name. [=she is a very patient person] middle-of-the-road adj [more ~; most ~] : supporting or following a course of action that is not extreme and that is acceptable to many different people • He took a middle-of-the-road approach to the problem. • middle-of-the-road [=moderate] voters/politicians middle school noun, pl ~ schools [count, noncount]

1 US : a school for children that usually includes grades five to eight or six to eight — compare ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, HIGH SCHOOL, JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

2 Brit : a school for children between the ages of 8 and 12 or 9 and 13

mid-dle-sized /ˌmɪdlˌsaɪzd/ adj : neither large nor small • a middle-sized [=medium-sized] business

mid-dle-weight /ˌmɪdlˌweɪt/ noun, pl -weights [count] sports : a fighter who is in a class of boxers with an upper weight limit of 160 pounds (72 kilograms) : a boxer who is heavier than a lightweight and lighter than a heavyweight — often used before another noun • a middleweight boxer/champion • fighting for the middleweight title/crown

Middle West noun

the Middle West : the northern central part of the U.S. : the Midwest • the rich farmlands of the Middle West

— Middle-Western adj • Middle-Western states/cities/farms — Middle-Westerner noun, pl -ers [count]

mid-dling /ˈmɪdlɪŋ/ adj : of average size or quality • a mid-dling profit • a middling performance • The food was fair to middling. [=just average; not especially good]

Mid-east /ˌmɪdˈiːst/ noun

the Mideast US : the Middle East • a trip to the Mideast

— Mid-east-ern /ˌmɪdˈiːstən/ adj

mid-field /ˈmɪdˌfiːld/ noun, pl -fields

1 [noncount] : the area of a playing field in sports like American football and soccer that is in the middle between the two goals • The team captains shook hands at midfield. • The ball went out of bounds near midfield.

2 [count] : the players on a soccer team who normally play in the midfield • They have a talented midfield this year.

— mid-field-er /ˈmɪdˌfiːldə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a talented midfielder [=a talented player who plays in the midfield]

midge /ˈmɪdʒ/ noun, pl midg-es [count] : a very small flying insect that bites people and animals

1 midg-et /ˈmɪdʒət/ noun, pl -ets [count] often offensive : a very small person

2 midget adj, always used before a noun : very small : much smaller than usual or normal • a midget race car • a midget submarine for two people mid-land /'mɪdlənd/ noun, pl -lands [count] : the central region of a country — usually plural • I left the midlands for the coast. • Birmingham is the major city in the Midlands (of England).

mid-life /'mɪd'laɪf/ noun [noncount] : MIDDLE AGE • changes that occur at midlife

midlife crisis noun, pl ~ crises [count] : a time in middle age when a person feels a strong desire for change • We knew he was going through a midlife crisis when he bought a new sports car.

mid-morn-ing /'mɪd'mɔːnɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the middle of the morning : the time around 10 a.m. • I'm usually hungry by midmorning. — often used before another noun • a midmorning snack

mid-night /'mɪd,nait/ noun [noncount] : the middle of the night : 12 o'clock at night • Her parents wanted her home before midnight. • The clock struck midnight. • It was 12 midnight when we arrived home. — often used before another noun • a midnight snack • at the midnight hour [=at midnight] burn the midnight oil see ¹BURN mid-point /'mɪd,pɔɪnt/ noun, pl -points [count] : a point at the middle of something • The crowd begins to leave after the midpoint of the final period. • The team is in last place at the midpoint of the season. : a point halfway between two ends • the midpoint between her knee and ankle • The train stopped to refuel at the midpoint between New York and Chicago. • the midpoint of one side of the rectangle mid-riff /'mɪd,rɪf/ noun, pl -riffs [count] : the area around a person's middle : the front of a person's body between the chest and the waist • She wore a skimpy outfit that showed her bare midriff.

mid-season /'mɪd'siːzn/ noun, pl -sons [count] : the middle of a season (such as a season of games in a sport or a season of television programs) • He was traded to a better team at midseason. • The network added several new shows to its schedule at midseason. — often used before another noun • a midseason slump • The game show was a midseason replacement for a show that was canceled.

mid-sec-tion /'mɪd,sɛkʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] chiefly US : a middle section, part, or area • Grassy plains used to cover large portions of America's midsection. • the midsection of the boat/bridge; especially : the area around a person's middle • He threw a hard punch to my midsection.

mid-ship-man /'mɪd,ʃɪpmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count]

¹ : someone who is being trained to become an officer in the U.S. Navy

² : an officer who is of the lowest rank in the British Navy mid-size /'mɪd,sɑɪz/ also mid-sized /'mɪd,sɑɪzd/ adj : neither large nor small • a midsize car • The new service will appeal to large and midsize [=medium-sized, middle-sized] companies.

midst /'mɪdst/ noun [noncount]

¹ a : the middle area or part of something • The river passes through the midst of the city. • a bustling city in the midst of the desert b : the period of time when something is happening or being done • We are in the midst of a terrible war. • They were in the midst of remodeling their house. • The region is currently in the midst of a terrible drought. • We never gave up hope in the midst of our troubles.

² — used to say that someone is among the people in a group • We sensed a traitor in our midst. [=we sensed that one of the people in our group was a traitor] • He stood in their midst [=he stood among them], waiting for a reply. • strangers in their midst

mid-stream /'mɪd'stri:m/ noun

in midstream ¹ : in the middle of a river or stream • The boat struck a rock in midstream. ² : while in the process of doing something • She began talking about the party but changed topics in midstream. • The government stopped the project in midstream. — see also change horses in midstream at ¹HORSE

mid-sum-mer /'mɪd'sʌmə/ noun [noncount] : the middle of summer • The new product should be in stores by midsummer. — often used before another noun • a hot midsummer night

mid-term /'mɪd,tərm/ noun, pl -terms US

¹ a [count] : an examination given at the middle of a school term • The students will be busy taking midterms next week. • a midterm exam b [noncount] : the middle of a school

term • He dropped the course before midterm.

² [noncount] : the middle of a term of office • assessing the President's performance at midterm — often used before another noun • midterm Congressional elections [=elections that occur halfway through a President's term of office]

mid-town /'mɪd,təʊn/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : the part of a city or town between its downtown and uptown • Rents in midtown are very expensive. — often used before another noun • a midtown hotel/bar/restaurant • midtown Manhattan

¹mid-way /'mɪd,weɪ/ adv

¹ : in the middle between two places or points : at the halfway point • We stopped for lunch about midway [=halfway] between New York and Philadelphia. • You should begin reading at the paragraph that begins midway down the page.

² : in the middle of an act, process, or period of time • She was interrupted when she was midway [=halfway] through her presentation. • They took the lead midway through the second period.

— midway adj • at the midway point of our trip

²midway noun, pl -ways [count] US : an area at a fair, carnival, or amusement park for food stands, games, and rides • We played every game on the midway.

mid-week /'mɪd,wɪk/ noun [noncount] : the middle of the week • She has to finish the report by midweek.

— midweek adj, always used before a noun • a midweek deadline — midweek adv • They'll be arriving midweek.

Mid-west /'mɪd'west/ noun

the Midwest : the northern central part of the U.S. : the Middle West • the rich farmlands of the Midwest — often used before another noun • my Midwest childhood • Midwest cities

— Mid-west-ern /'mɪd'westən/ adj • Midwestern states/cities/farms — Mid-west-ern-er /'mɪd'westənə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

mid-wife /'mɪd,wɪf/ noun, pl -wives /-,waɪvz/ [count] : a person (usually a woman) who helps a woman when she is giving birth to a child • a trained and certified midwife

— mid-wife-ry /'mɪd'wɪfəri/ noun [noncount] • She has been trained in midwifery. [=the work done by a midwife]

mid-win-ter /'mɪd'wɪntə/ noun [noncount] : the middle of winter • the heavy snows and frigid temperatures of midwinter — often used before another noun • a cold midwinter day • deep midwinter snows mid-year /'mɪd,jɪə/ noun [noncount] : the middle of a year • She expects to get a promotion at midyear. — often used before another noun • midyear budget cuts • a midyear performance review mien /'mi:n/ noun [singular] old-fashioned + literary : a person's appearance or facial expression • a kindly mien • He has the mien of an ancient warrior.

miffed /'mɪft/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : slightly angry or annoyed • They were (a bit) miffed [=upset] about what they considered to be unfair treatment. • She was miffed at them for not inviting her to the party.

¹might /'maɪt/ verb [modal verb]

¹ — used to say that something is possible • We might [=may] go if they ask us, but then again we might not. • It might [=could] be true. • Might it not be true? • The test might include some questions about geography. • There might be some difficulties ahead. • She might get hundreds of responses to her survey. • What you see might (well/very well) surprise you. • I thought you might like this. • She might have been the greatest actress of her generation. [=it's possible that she was the greatest actress of her generation] • They might still succeed. • I think he might be trying to cheat us. • "Have they failed?" "They might have." = (Brit) "They might have done." • If we hurry, we might get there before it rains. • The movie might be better than you expect. • Some people might have given up at that point, but not her. • She's not as upset with them as might be expected. • As you might or might not have heard, we've won! • He might win and so might she.

² — used to say that one thing is true but something else is also true • He might [=may] be slow, but he does very good work. = Slow though he might be, he (still) does very good work. [=although he's slow, he does very good work] • It might be cold outside, but it's still a nice day. • She might have been a great actress, but she was a terrible parent.

³ — used to talk about a possible condition that does not or did not actually exist • If you were older, you might understand. • If she had been given a chance, she might have been a great actress.

4 formal — used as the past tense of may • He asked if he might [=could] leave. [=he asked, "May I leave?"] • He gave his life so that others might [=could] live.

5 a — used in speech to ask a question or make a request in a polite way • Might [=may] I ask who is calling? [=who is calling?] • "Do you think I might possibly borrow your pen?" "Of course you may!" b — used to make a polite suggestion • You might [=may] want to consider leaving early. • It might be wise to proceed cautiously. c — used to politely say something about someone or something • Might I just say how pleased I am to be here. • This has been, if I might say so, one of the happiest days of my life. • He is her husband and, I might add, one of her biggest fans.

6 — used to say that you are annoyed by something that was or was not done • You might [=could] at least apologize! • If you weren't coming, you might (at least) have told me in advance!

7 — used to indicate what is or was expected • You might [=would] think that he would be more grateful after all I've done for him. • I might [=should] have known you wouldn't keep your promise!

8 — used in speech when asking a question about someone or something that surprises or annoys you • "I have a request to make." "And what might that be?" [=what is your request?] • And who might you be? [=who are you?]

2 might noun [noncount] : power to do something : force or strength • an impressive display of military might • the legal might of the government • He swung the bat with all his might. [=he swung the bat as hard as he could] might makes right or might is right — used to say that people who have power are able to do what they want because no one can stop them

might-i-ly /'maɪtəli/ adv

1 : to a great degree : very much • They contributed mightily to the cause. • She struggled mightily to read his handwriting.

2 : with great force or strength • The soldiers fought mightily before finally surrendering. • He shouted mightily.

mightn't /'maɪnt/ — used as a contraction of might not • People mightn't always agree with his decisions, but they do think he's fair.

might've /'maɪtəv/ — used as a contraction of might have • I think we might've had different goals. • She did what any other smart person might've done in that situation.

1 mighty /'maɪti/ adj might-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing great strength or power • The barbarians faced a mighty army. • the decline of a mighty empire • the mighty Mississippi • a mighty oak • mighty deeds • With a mighty leap, he jumped across the stream.

2 : very great • A mighty famine devastated the land. • It took a mighty effort to get everything done on time.

high and mighty see ¹HIGH

2 mighty adv, chiefly US, informal : to a great degree : VERY • Your father and I are mighty proud of you. • That was a mighty tasty dinner. • He made the offer mighty appealing. • She has some mighty important decisions to make. • It sure was mighty cold last night. • We're mighty glad to be here.

mi-graine /'maɪgreɪn, Brit 'miːgreɪn/ noun, pl -graines : a very bad headache [count] He suffers from migraines. • a mi-graine headache/attack [noncount] He suffers from mi-graine.

mi-grant /'maɪgrənt/ noun, pl -grants [count]

1 : a person who goes from one place to another especially to find work • migrants in search of work on farms • migrant (farm) workers — compare EMIGRANT, IMMIGRANT

2 : a bird or animal that moves from one area to another at different times of the year • Not all birds are migrants. • mi-grant birds

mi-grate /'maɪgreɪt/ verb -grates; -grat-ed; -grat-ing [no obj]

1 : to move from one country or place to live or work in another • He migrates from New York to Florida each winter. • Thousands of workers migrate to this area each summer. — compare EMIGRATE, IMMIGRATE

2 of a bird or animal : to move from one area to another at different times of the year • The whales migrate between their feeding ground in the north and their breeding ground in the Caribbean. • They followed the migrating herds of buffalo across the plains. • migrating birds

— mi-gra-tion /maɪ'greɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] an expert on bird migration [count] mass migrations of workers • fall migrations to breeding grounds — mi-gra-tion-al /maɪ'greɪʃənəl/ adj • migrational movements

mi-gra-to-ry /'maɪgrətori, Brit maɪ'greɪtəri/ adj : moving from one place to another at different times of the year : migrating regularly • migratory birds • migratory [= (more commonly) migrant] workers

1 mike /'maɪk/ noun, pl mikes [count] informal : MICROPHONE • The announcer was wearing a mike.

2 mike verb mikes; miked; mik-ing [+ obj] informal : to put a microphone on (someone) • The announcer was miked (up) (for sound).

mil or mill /'mɪl/ noun, pl mil or mill [count] US slang : a million dollars • He has a couple mil in the bank.

mild /'maɪld/ adj mild-er; -est [more ~; most ~]

1 : gentle in nature or behavior • a mild young man • He has a mild manner/disposition. • He was a mild-mannered man who rarely became angry.

2 a : not strong in action or effect • a mild drug/detergent • mild [=gentle] soap • b : not strong or harsh in taste • mild flavors • mild cheese • c : not strongly felt • He has only a mild [=slight] interest in politics. • They had a mild disagreement.

3 a : not harsh or severe • She has a mild case of the flu. • a mild headache/fever • mild pain • He suffered a mild concussion/heart attack. • a mild reprimand, not a stern one • b : not too hot or too cold : pleasantly warm • a mild [=temperate] climate • a mild winter's day • We've been having a very mild winter.

— mild-ly adv • He's mildly [=slightly, somewhat] interested in politics. • It's a mildly amusing comedy. • He has been mildly criticized by a few former colleagues. • She was upset, to put it mildly. [=she was extremely upset] • He is, to put it mildly, a demanding boss. [=he is a very demanding boss] — mild-ness noun [noncount] • the mildness of the weather

mil-dew /'mɪl,dʊː, Brit 'mɪl,djuː/ noun [noncount] : a usually white substance that grows on the surface of things in wet, warm conditions • The basement's damp walls were covered with mildew.

— mil-dewed /'mɪl,dʊː, Brit 'mɪl,djuːd/ adj • mildewed walls

— mil-dewy /'mɪl,dʊːwi, Brit 'mɪl,djuːwi/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a mildewy basement

mile /'maɪl/ noun, pl miles

1 [count] : a unit of measurement equal to 5,280 feet (about 1,609 meters) • How many miles is it from here to New York? = How far is it from here to New York in miles? • We passed mile after mile of beautiful scenery as we drove through the country. • We traveled over miles of dirt road. • He lives about a half (a) mile from here. • The car was traveling at 70 miles per/an hour. — often used figuratively • He won the election by a mile. [=he won the election by a very large margin] • He missed the target by a mile. [=he completely missed the target] • Her smile was a mile wide. • You can see the stain (from) a mile away. = (Brit) You can see the stain a mile off. • She was talking a mile a minute. [=very fast] • The twin's resemblance stood/stuck out a mile. [=the resemblance was very obvious] — see also NAUTICAL MILE

2 miles [plural] : a great distance • They walked for miles. • There was no one (to be seen) for miles around. • We were miles from home. • We still have miles to go. • The beach stretched on for miles and miles. • He lives by himself in a cabin miles from nowhere/anywhere. [=very far from other people and places] — often used figuratively • He was miles ahead of the other students in his class. • Politically he's now miles away from his original position. • She feels as if her sister is miles beyond her in education. • They're still miles from an agreement. — see also MILES

3 [singular] : a race that is a mile long • the first man to run a four-minute mile [=the first man to run a mile in less than four minutes]

go the extra mile : to do more than you are required to do • She's always willing to go the extra mile to help a friend.

mile-age /'maɪlɪdʒ/ noun [noncount]

1 a : distance in miles • What's the mileage from here to New York? [=how many miles is it from here to New York?] b : distance traveled in miles by a vehicle • My old car has a lot of mileage on it. = My old car has racked up a lot of mileage. [=it has been driven for a large number of miles since it was new] • a car with high/low mileage • The car's rental rate includes unlimited mileage. [=the rate does not increase no matter how far the car is driven] • The company pays me a mileage allowance [=an amount of money paid for every mile traveled] when I have to travel for work.

2 : the average number of miles a vehicle will travel on a gallon of gasoline • My new car gets much better mileage than my old one did. • good/bad mileage • fuel/gas mileage

3 a : benefit or use over a period of time • The company has gotten a lot of mileage out of a simple idea. • The movie gets a lot of mileage out of an old story. b : useful ability • He's not the pitcher he once was, but he still has a lot of mileage left in him. [=he is still able to pitch well; his career as a pitcher is far from finished] mile·om·e·ter or mi·lom·e·ter /maɪˈlɑːmətər/ noun, pl -ters [count] Brit : ODOMETER

mile·post /ˈmajəl,pəʊst/ noun, pl -posts [count] US

1 : a post by the side of a road that shows the distance in miles to a specified place

2 : MILESTONE 2 • We've reached a new milepost in the field of genetic research.

mil·er /ˈmaɪlə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a runner in a race that is a mile long miles /ˈmajəlz/ adv, chiefly Brit, informal : very much • This one is miles worse/better than that one.

mile·stone /ˈmajəl,stəʊn/ noun, pl -stones [count]

1 : a stone by the side of a road that shows the distance in miles to a specified place

2 : an important point in the progress or development of something : a very important event or advance — usually + in • The birth of their first child was a (major) milestone in their marriage. • The study marks an important milestone in our understanding of the disease.

mi·lieu /milˈjuː/ noun, pl -lieux or -lieux /milˈjuːz/ [count] formal : the physical or social setting in which people live or in which something happens or develops • He and his wife come from different cultural milieus. [=backgrounds, environments]

mil·i·tant /ˈmɪlətənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a desire or willingness to use strong, extreme, and sometimes forceful methods to achieve something • militant protesters • an angry and militant speech • militant foreign policy — mil·i·tan·cy /ˈmɪlətənsi/ noun [noncount] • the militancy of the protesters — militant noun, pl -tants [count] • a protest by angry militants — mil·i·tant·ly adv

mil·i·ta·rism /ˈmɪlətəˈrɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the opinions or actions of people who believe that a country should use military methods, forces, etc., to gain power and to achieve its goals • The administration has been criticized for the militarism of its foreign policy.

— mil·i·ta·rist /ˈmɪlətərist/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a militarist regime — militarist noun, pl -rists [count] • a government dominated by militarists — mil·i·ta·ris·tic /ˈmɪlətəˈrɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a militaristic foreign policy

mil·i·ta·rize also Brit mil·i·ta·rise /ˈmɪlətəˈraɪz/ verb -rizes; -rized; -riz·ing [+ obj]

1 : to put weapons and military forces in (an area) — usually used as (be) militarized • The area is now fully militarized. • a militarized zone — opposite DEMILITARIZE

2 : to give a military quality or character to (something) • militarize a country's foreign policy • an increasingly militarized society

— mil·i·ta·ri·za·tion also Brit mil·i·ta·ri·sa·tion /ˈmɪlətəˈraɪzəʃən, Brit ˈmɪlətəˈraɪˈzeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

¹mil·i·tary /ˈmɪləteri/ adj

1 a : of or relating to soldiers or the armed forces (such as the army, navy, marines, and air force) • military discipline/life • military glory • military aircraft/officers/history/personnel/operations • a military base/camp/hospital • He is being tried in a military court rather than in a civilian court. • He has had a long military career. • He tried to avoid military service. [=he tried to avoid becoming a member of the army, navy, etc.] b : of or relating to the army • military and naval affairs

2 : controlled or supported by armed forces • a military government/dictatorship/regime • a military coup

— mil·i·tari·ly /ˈmɪləˈteri/ adv • a militarily superior force

²military noun [plural] : members of the armed forces : military people • There were many military present but only a few civilians.

the military : the armed forces • He has had a long career in the military. • The policy is opposed by the military. • The military oppose/opposes the policy. [=military leaders oppose the policy]

military police noun [plural] : an organized part of a military force (such as an army) that acts as the police for that force

— military policeman noun, pl ~ -men [count]

mil·i·tate /ˈmɪləteɪt/ verb -tates; -tat·ed; -tat·ing

militate against [phrasal verb] militate against (something) formal : to make (something) unlikely to happen : to prevent (something) from happening • His inexperience militates against his getting an early promotion. • factors militating against success mi·li·tia /məˈlɪfə/ noun, pl -tias [count] : a group of people who are not part of the armed forces of a country but are trained like soldiers — mi·li·tia·man /məˈlɪfəmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count]

¹milk /ˈmɪlk/ noun [noncount]

1 : a white liquid produced by a woman to feed her baby or by female animals to feed their young • mother's/breast milk • cheese made from sheep's milk; especially : milk from cows or goats that is used as food by people • a glass of low-fat/whole milk • serving milk and cookies • pasteurized/homogenized milk • whole milk [=milk from which no fat has been removed] — see also CONDENSED MILK, EVAPORATED MILK, MALTED MILK, SKIM MILK

2 : a white liquid produced by a plant • coconut milk

cry over spilled/spilt milk see ¹CRY

land of milk and honey see ¹LAND

the milk of human kindness literary : kind feelings or behavior toward other people • He was filled with the milk of human kindness. [=he was filled with kindness; he was very kind]

²milk verb milks; milked; milk·ing [+ obj]

1 : to get milk from (an animal) • milk a cow

2 : to use (something or someone) in a way that helps you unfairly • They milked [=exploited] their advantage for all it was worth. • greedy landlords milking their tenants of all their money — see also milk (someone or something) dry at ¹DRY

— milk·er /ˈmɪlkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a mechanical milker [=a machine used for milking cows]

milk chocolate noun [count, noncount] : a kind of chocolate that is made with milk — compare DARK CHOCOLATE milk float noun, pl ~ floats [count] Brit : a small electric vehicle used to deliver milk to people's homes

milk·maid /ˈmɪlk,meɪd/ noun, pl -maids [count] old-fashioned : DAIRYMAID

milk·man /ˈmɪlk,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,men/ [count] : a man who sells or delivers milk milk of mag·ne·sia /-mægˈniːzə/ noun [noncount] : a thick, white liquid that contains magnesium and is used as a medicine for stomach problems (such as indigestion)

milk·shake /ˈmɪlk,ʃeɪk/ noun, pl -shakes [count] : a thick drink made of milk, a flavoring syrup, and often ice cream • a chocolate/vanilla milkshake — called also shake

milk·sop /ˈmɪlk,sɔːp/ noun, pl -sops [count] old-fashioned : a weak boy or man

milk tooth noun, pl ~ teeth [count] : BABY TOOTH

milk·weed /ˈmɪlk,wɪd/ noun, pl -weeds [count, noncount] : a type of North American plant that has white juice milky /ˈmɪlki/ adj milky·i·er; -est

1 a : looking or tasting like milk • cheese with a light milky taste • milky (white) skin b : not clear • a milky [=cloudy] liquid • eyes covered by a milky glaze

2 : containing a large amount of milk • milky coffee

— milk·i·ness noun [noncount]

Milky Way noun

the Milky Way 1 : a broad band of light that can be seen in the night sky and that is caused by the light of a very large number of faint stars 2 : the galaxy in which we live that contains the stars that make up the Milky Way • Our solar system is in the Milky Way (galaxy).

¹mill /ˈmɪl/ noun, pl mills [count]

1 a : a building with machinery for grinding grain into flour b : a machine for grinding grain

2 : a small machine for grinding or crushing pepper, coffee, etc. • a food/pepper mill

3 : a building in which a particular product is made : FACTORY • a paper/cotton/textile/lumber/steel mill • mill workers — see also SAWMILL

4 : something that is compared to a factory because it produces things in large numbers or in a mechanical way • Some critics have described the school as a diploma mill. [=a school where students can obtain diplomas very easily] • The rumor mill has been churning out stories about their marriage. [=there are many rumors about their marriage]

grist for/to your/the mill see GRIST

through the mill chiefly Brit : through a very difficult experience • They've been (put) through the mill in the months since their father died.

²mill verb mills; milled; mill-ing

1 [+ obj] : to produce (something) in a mill especially by grinding, crushing, or cutting it • milled wheat/lumber

2 [no obj] of a group of people : to walk around in a general area without any particular aim or purpose • The crowd was milling outside the exit. — usually + around or (chiefly Brit) about • People were just milling around while they waited.

³mill variant spelling of MIL

mil·len·ni·um /mə'lenijəm/ noun, pl -nia /-nijə/ or -ni-ums [count]

1 : a period of 1,000 years • The book describes the changes that have occurred in the landscape over many millennia.

2 : a period of a thousand years counted from the beginning of the Christian era • The year 2000 was celebrated as the beginning of the third millennium. • We had a party to celebrate the millennium. [=the beginning of the millennium]

— mil·len·ni·al /mə'lenijəl/ adj • millennial celebrations mill·er /'mɪlə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who works in or is in charge of a flour mill

mil·let /'mɪlət/ noun [noncount] : a type of grass that is grown for its seeds which are used as food; also : the seeds of millet milli- combining form : one thousandth part of something • millimeter

mil·li·gram also Brit mil·li·gramme /'mɪlə,græm/ noun, pl -grams [count] : a weight equal to 1/1000 gram

mil·li·li·ter (US) or Brit mil·li·li·tre /'mɪlə,li:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a measure of capacity equal to 1/1000 liter

mil·li·me·ter (US) or Brit mil·li·me·tre /'mɪlə,mi:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a length equal to 1/1000 meter

mil·li·ner /'mɪlənə/ noun, pl -ners [count] : a person who designs, makes, or sells women's hats

mil·li·nery /'mɪlə,neri/ noun [noncount]

1 : women's hats • a shop that sells millinery

2 : the business of making or selling women's hats

mil·lion /'mɪljən/ noun, pl mil·lions or million [count]

1 : the number 1,000,000 • a/one/two million (of them) • a hundred million = 100 million • several million (of them) = (less commonly) several millions (of them) • a million and one [=1,000,001] • a million and a half = 1.5 million [=1,500,000] • The company is worth mil·lions. [=worth millions of dollars, pounds, euros, etc.] • a mil·lion dollars

2 : a very large amount or number • I've heard that excuse a million times before. [=many, many times before] — often plural • The drug could save millions of lives. • millions and millions of people look/feel like a million dollars/bucks informal : to look/feel very good • She looks like a million bucks since she lost all that weight.

never/not in a million years see YEAR one in a million informal : a person or thing that is very unusual, special, or admired • Thanks for all the help you've given me. You're one in a million.

thanks a million informal : thank you very much • Hey, thanks a million for your help. • (humorous) "I'll let you wash the dishes today." "Thanks a million."

— mil·lionth /'mɪljənθ/ adj • our (one) millionth customer • This is the millionth time I've seen this show. [=I have seen this show many times] — millionth noun, pl -lionths [count] • one millionth [=one of a million equal parts] of a second mil·lion·aire /,mɪljə'neə/ noun, pl -aires [count] : a rich person who has at least a million dollars, pounds, etc.

mil·lion·air·ess /,mɪljə'nerəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count] : a rich woman who has at least a million dollars, pounds, etc. : a woman who is a millionaire

mil·li·pede /'mɪlə,pi:d/ noun, pl -pedes [count] : a small creature that is like an insect and that has a long, thin body with many legs

mil·li·sec·ond /'mɪlə,sekənd/ noun, pl -onds [count] : one thousandth of a second mill·pond /'mɪl,pɑ:nd/ noun, pl -ponds [count] : a pond that supplies water for running a mill mill·stone /'mɪl,stoun/ noun, pl -stones [count]

1 : either one of two large, round stones used for grinding grain in a mill

2 : a problem or responsibility that does not go away and that makes it difficult or impossible to do or achieve something • College loans can quickly become a millstone for students. • The scandal has become a political millstone. • The scandal has been a millstone around her neck.

milometer variant spelling of MILEOMETER

¹mime /'maɪm/ noun, pl mimes

1 [noncount] : a form of entertainment in which a performer plays a character or tells a story without words by using body movements and facial expressions • an actor with a gift for mime • a performance done in mime

2 [count] a : a performance done without speaking : a performance using mime b : a performer who uses mime • an actor who is a talented mime

²mime verb mimes; mimed; mim-ing [+ obj] : to make the movements of someone who is doing (something) without actually doing it • He mimed playing a guitar. • She mimed picking up the phone and dialing a number. • He mimed the words to the song. [=he moved his mouth like someone singing the song but he did not actually sing the words]

¹mim·ic /'mɪmɪk/ verb -ics; -icked; -ick-ing [+ obj]

1 : to copy (someone or someone's behavior or speech) especially for humor • He can mimic [=imitate] the way his father talks perfectly. • He mimicked her accent. • She has a talent for mimicking famous actresses.

2 : to create the appearance or effect of (something) • software that can mimic [=simulate] human thought • The lamp mimics natural sunlight.

3 : to naturally look like (something) • a butterfly that mimics a leaf

²mimic noun, pl -ics [count] : a person who copies the behavior or speech of other people : a person who mimics other people • She's a talented mimic; also : an animal that naturally looks like something else

mim·ic·ry /'mɪmɪkri/ noun [noncount] : the activity or art of copying the behavior or speech of other people : the activity or art of mimicking other people • a talent for mimicry

mi·mo·sa /mə'mousə/ noun, pl -sas

1 [count, noncount] : a tropical tree or shrub that has small white or pink flowers that are shaped like balls

2 [count] US : an alcoholic drink made with champagne and orange juice

min·a·ret /,mɪnə'ret/ noun, pl -rets [count] : a tall, thin tower of a mosque with a balcony from which the people are called to prayer

¹mince /'mɪns/ verb minc-es; minced; minc-ing

1 [+ obj] : to cut (food) into very small pieces • The recipe says that you should mince the onions. • minced parsley/carrots/garlic • (chiefly Brit) minced beef [= (US) ground beef, hamburger]

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to walk with quick, short steps in a way that does not seem natural and that is often meant to be funny • The comedian minced across the stage. = The comedian walked with mincing steps across the stage.

not mince (your) words or US mince no words : to speak in a very direct and honest way without worrying that you may be offending someone • He doesn't mince words about the proposed law, which he considers "unconstitutional" and "idiotic." • She minces no words in stating her opinions.

— minc·ing·ly /'mɪnsɪŋli/ adv • walked mincingly across the stage

²mince noun [noncount]

1 Brit : HAMBURGER 2 • The recipe uses a pound of mince. [= (US) ground beef]; also : ground meat of a specified kind • lamb mince

2 : MINCEMEAT 2 • a mince pie

mince·meat /'mɪns,mi:t/ noun [noncount]

1 : meat that has been cut into very small pieces : minced meat

2 : a mixture of raisins, apples, spices, etc., that is used especially in pies • mincemeat pie make mincemeat out of informal : to destroy, ruin, or defeat (someone or something) in a very thorough and complete way • Last year's champions have been making mincemeat of the competition again this year.

¹mind /'maɪnd/ noun, pl minds

1 : the part of a person that thinks, reasons, feels, and remembers [count] He read great literature to develop/cultivate his mind. • It's important to keep your mind active as you grow older. • He went for a walk to help clear his mind. • the mysteries of the human mind • My mind is always open to new ideas. • You can't argue with him. His mind is closed. •

I can't concentrate: my mind is always wandering and I can't keep it focused on anything. • Let me get this clear/straight in my mind [=let me understand this clearly]: are you saying that she was lying to me all along? • I can't get that image out of my mind. = I can't stop seeing that image in my mind. = That image is stuck in my mind. • The smell of pine sends my mind back to childhood. • The sound of her voice jerked my mind back to the present. • My mind tells me it can't work, but my heart tells me I want to try it. • We must appeal to and win (over) the hearts and minds of the people. [=the emotions and the reasoning of the people] • His conscious mind had forgotten the incident, but the memory of it was still buried somewhere in his subconscious/unconscious mind. • There's absolutely no doubt in my mind about his guilt. [=I am sure that he is guilty] • I know you're disappointed by their decision, but you should just put that out of your mind [=stop thinking about that] and go back to work. • I'll handle the schedule. Just put it out of your mind. [=don't think or worry about it] • Is there something on your mind? [=is there something troubling you?; are you worried or bothered about something?] • Why don't you just say what's on your mind? [=why don't you just say what you are thinking?] • I wish there were some way I could ease your (troubled) mind = I wish there were some way I could set/put your mind at ease/rest [=could make you stop worrying] • These problems have been preying/weighing on his mind [=he has been worrying about these problems] • The safety of the children should be foremost/uppermost in all our minds now. [=we should all be thinking most about the safety of the children now] • The idea that we might lose was the furthest thing from my mind [=I never thought that we might lose] • I have no intention of quitting my job. Nothing could be further from my mind. • She says that getting married again is the last thing on her mind right now. [=she is not thinking at all about getting married again] • What was going/running through your mind [=what were you thinking] when you agreed to do this? • His name slips/escapes my mind at the moment. [=I can't remember his name] ♦ If something (such as an illness) is all in your/the mind, you are imagining it. • He thinks he's very ill, but it's all in his mind. ♦ If your mind is set on something or you have your mind set on something, you are very determined to do or to get something. • Her mind is set on becoming a doctor. = She has her mind set on becoming a doctor. [noncount] It's important to be healthy in both body and mind. • He's in a bad/good state of mind [=he's in a bad/good mood] • Installing a security system in your home will give you greater peace of mind [=a feeling of being safe or protected] — see also FRAME OF MIND, PRES-ENCE OF MIND

2 [count] — used to describe the way a person thinks or the intelligence of a person • She has a brilliant mind. • He has an inquisitive/inquiring mind. • He's an evil man with a warped/twisted mind. • He's recognized as having one of the sharpest minds [=intellects] in this field.

3 — used in phrases that describe someone as mentally ill or crazy • There's something wrong with him. He's not in his right mind [=he is mentally ill] • No one in their right mind would try such a stunt. = Who in their right mind would try such a stunt? • (law) She claims that her father was not of sound mind when he changed his will. = She claims her father was of unsound mind [=was not sane or rational] — usually used informally in an exaggerated way • What a ridiculous idea! You must be out of your mind [=crazy] to believe that. • I was (going) out of my mind with worry. [=I was extremely worried] • I feel like I'm losing my mind = I feel like I'm going out of my mind [=I feel like I'm going crazy] • That noise is driving me out of my mind [=driving me crazy] ♦ The phrase out of your mind is also used informally to make a statement stronger. • I was bored out of my mind. [=I was very bored] • She was frightened out of her mind.

4 [count] : a very intelligent person • Many of the world's greatest minds in physics will be attending the convention.

5 [noncount] : a particular way of thinking about a situation • Everyone at the meeting was of like mind [=everyone agreed] about how to proceed. • She is of the same mind as me. [=she agrees with me] • We're all of one mind about him [=we all agree about him]; he's the one we want. • To/in my mind that's wrong.

6 [noncount] : attention that is given to a person or thing • Try to relax and take/get/keep your mind off your problems. [=stop thinking about your problems] • I'm finding it hard to keep my mind on my work. [=to concentrate on my work] • After finishing work on the remodeling project, she was able to turn her mind to [=direct her attention to; work on] other matters. • Don't pay him any mind [=don't pay attention to him; ignore him] • He kept talking but she paid him no mind. • You shouldn't pay any/much mind to what he says.

a meeting of (the) minds see MEETING

at/in the back of your mind see ¹BACK

blow someone's mind informal : to strongly affect someone's mind with shock, confusion, etc. : to amaze or overwhelm someone's mind • The music really blew my mind. • The thought of all she's accomplished at such a young age just blows my mind. — see also MIND-BLOWING

call/bring (something) to mind : to cause (something) to be remembered or thought of • Seeing her again brought to mind the happy times we spent together in college.

change someone's mind : to cause someone to change an opinion or decision • I tried to convince her, but I couldn't change her mind.

change your mind : to change your decision or opinion about something • He wasn't going to come, but at the last minute he changed his mind. • I tried to convince her, but she wouldn't change her mind.

come/spring/leap to mind : to be remembered or thought of • What comes to mind when you hear his name? • I didn't mean to offend you. I just said the first thing that came to/into my mind

concentrate the/your mind see ¹CONCENTRATE

cross someone's mind see ²CROSS

enter your mind see ENTER give someone a piece of your mind : to speak to someone in an angry way • He stopped making so much noise after I went over there and gave him a piece of my mind.

have a good mind or have half a mind ♦ If you have a good mind or have half a mind to do something, you have a feeling that you want to do it, especially because you are angry or annoyed, but you will probably not do it. • I have a good mind to go over there and tell him to be quiet. • I have half a mind to tell her what I really think of her.

have a mind like a sieve see ¹SIEVE

have a mind of your own : to have your own ideas and make your own choices about what should be done • Her parents want her to go to college, but she has a mind of her own and she insists on trying to become an actress. — often used figuratively • I can't get the camera to work right. It seems to have a mind of its own.

have (someone or something) in mind : to be thinking of (someone or something): such as a : to be thinking of choosing (someone) for a job, position, etc. • They have you in mind for the job. [=they are thinking of giving the job to you] b : to be thinking of doing (something) • "I'd like to do something special for our anniversary." "What sort of thing did you have in mind?" • He had it in mind [=intended] to leave the business to his daughter.

in mind : in your thoughts • We designed this product with people like you in mind. [=we designed it for people like you] • He went into the bar with trouble in mind. [=intending to cause trouble] • Before you disregard his advice, keep/bear in mind [=remember] that he is regarded as one of the leading experts in this field. • We have a limited amount of money to spend, and we need to keep that in mind [=think of that; consider that] while we're planning our vacation.

in your mind's eye see ¹EYE

know your own mind see ¹KNOW

make up your mind : to make a decision about something • I can't make up my mind [=decide] where to take my vacation. • He had made up his mind not to go. • He's thinking about going, but he still hasn't made up his mind (about it). • He's not going. His mind is made up [=he has made a decision and will not change it] • I can't decide for you. You'll have to make up your own mind mind over matter — used to describe a situation in which someone is able to control a physical condition, problem, etc., by using the mind • His ability to keep going even when he is tired is a simple question of mind over matter.

of two minds (US) or Brit in two minds : not decided or certain about something : having two opinions or ideas about something • I can't make up my mind where to take my vacation: I'm of two minds about where to go. • I'm of two minds about (hiring) him: he seems well-qualified, but he doesn't have much experience.

open your mind see ²OPEN

put (someone) in mind of (something) : to cause (someone) to remember or think of (something) • What happened to you yesterday puts me in mind of [=reminds me of] what happened to me a year ago.

put/set your mind to (something) : to give your attention to (something) and try very hard to do it • You'd be surprised at what you can accomplish when you put your mind to it. • We can solve this problem if we put our minds to it.

read someone's mind : to know exactly what someone is thinking • "I think we should go out to a movie tonight." "You read my mind. I was thinking the same thing." • It's as if you could read my mind. • He claims that he has the ability to read minds — see also MIND READER speak your mind : to say what you think : to state your opinion • If you don't agree with him, don't be afraid to speak your mind.

take a load/weight off your mind : to make you stop worrying about something • Hearing that she's safe has really taken a load off my mind!

²mind verb minds; minded; minding

1 not used in progressive tenses : to be bothered by (something) : to object to or dislike (something) [+ obj] I mind it greatly [=it bothers me very much] when people are rude. • I don't mind the rain. = I don't mind if it rains. [=the rain doesn't bother me] • I don't mind making dinner. [=I am willing to make dinner; making dinner does not bother me] • I wouldn't mind having a piece of pie myself. [=I would like to have a piece of pie too] [no obj] It was raining, but I didn't mind. • Our flight was delayed—not that I minded [=I was not bothered by it], since I was late getting to the airport myself. • I'd like another cupcake, if you don't mind [=if it is all right with you]

2 [+ obj] : to care about or worry about (something or someone) • They don't seem to mind where they sit. = They seem not to mind where they sit. • I don't mind very much what happens. • "Why is he so angry?" "Oh, don't mind him. He's always complaining about something." • Don't mind me [=don't worry about or pay attention to me]: I'll be all right.

3 [+ obj] a — used to make a polite request • Do you mind me/my sitting here? [=would you be bothered if I sat here?] • Do you mind if I smoke? = Would you mind if I smoked? • Would you mind doing me a small favor? • I'm tired. Would you mind leaving a little early? = Would you mind it if we left a little early? b — used in phrases with if when you have said something that might bother or upset someone • How old are you, if you don't mind my/me asking? [=may I ask how old you are?; would you be offended if I asked how old you are?] • You look a bit old for this job, if you don't mind my/me saying so [=if I may say so] c — used in informal phrases with I • "Would you like another cup of coffee?" "Thank you: I don't mind if I do" [=yes, I'd like another cup] • I was shocked by the news, I don't mind telling you [=I must say/admit that I was shocked by the news] • I don't mind saying/admitting that I was very disappointed by her decision. d — used in informal phrases that show anger or annoyance • "That old woman's a real pain!" "Do you MIND? That's my mother you're talking about!" • "Let me help you with that." "I'll do it myself, if you don't mind"

4 [+ obj] US : to do what you are told to do by (someone) : OBEY • Mind your parents!

5 [+ obj] : to take care of (something or someone) : to watch or be in charge of (something or someone) • Who's going to mind the office while you're away? • Who's minding the children? — see also MIND THE STORE (below)

6 [+ obj] a : to be careful about (something) • You'd better mind what you say. • Mind your tongue/language [=stop saying offensive or improper things] • His mother told him to mind his manners [=to behave in a polite and proper way] • (chiefly Brit) Mind how you behave when we get there. — see also mind your p's and q's at ¹P b chiefly Brit — used to tell someone to be aware of something that could be a problem or danger • The wind is very strong: mind your hat! • Mind the broken glass! [=watch out for the broken glass] • Mind the missing step! c chiefly Brit — used to tell someone to be sure to do something or to be careful to prevent something from happening • Mind [=make sure] you've finished the project before he gets back! • Mind he doesn't lose his ticket! mind out [phrasal verb] Brit — used to tell someone to be careful • Mind out—one of the steps is missing! • There's a car coming! Mind out! [=look out, watch out] mind the store (US) or Brit mind the shop : to be in charge of a place when the person who is usually in charge is not there • Who's minding the store while the boss is away?

mind you informal — used in speech to give stress to a statement that you are making so that a preceding or following statement will not be misunderstood • His advice wasn't very helpful. I'm not criticizing him, mind you. • Mind you, I'm not criticizing him, but the truth is that his advice wasn't very helpful. — often used in British English without you • His advice wasn't very helpful. I'm not criticizing him, mind!

mind your own business see BUSINESS

mind your step see ¹STEP

never mind 1 — used to tell someone not to worry about something • Never mind your mistake: it wasn't serious. • So you made a little mistake! Never mind (about that): it wasn't serious. • Do you know where my keys are? Oh, never mind. Here they are. 2 — used to refer to something that is even less likely or possible than the thing previously mentioned • I can barely understand it, never mind [=let alone, much less] explain it.

never you mind informal — used to tell someone that you will not be answering a question • "Just how old are you anyway?" "Never you mind!"

mind-al-ter-ing /'maɪnd,ɑːltərɪŋ/ adj : causing changes to the mind or to behavior • mind-altering drugs

mind-bend-ing /'maɪnd,bendɪŋ/ adj

1 : causing changes to the mind or to behavior : MIND-ALTERING • mind-bending drugs

2 [more ~; most ~] informal : very confusing, exciting, etc. : MIND-BLOWING • a mind-bending experience • mind-bending special effects

— mind-bend-ing-ly adv

mind-blow-ing /'maɪnd,blowɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : very confusing, exciting, or shocking • The power of her performance was positively mind-blowing. • a mind-blowing [=mind-boggling] number of possibilities — see also blow someone's mind at ¹MIND

— mind-blow-ing-ly adv

mind-bog-gling /'maɪnd,bɒːɡlɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : having a very powerful or overwhelming effect on the mind • a mind-boggling [=stunning] performance : amazingly or confusingly large, great, etc. • a mind-boggling array of options • He received a mind-boggling $200 million in pay. • The sheer vastness of space is mind-boggling.

— mind-bog-gling-ly adv • mind-bogglingly large numbers

mind-ed /'maɪndəd/ adj

1 a : having a particular kind of mind — used in combination • narrow-minded • open-minded • closed-minded b : interested in or concerned about a particular subject — used in combination • bargain-minded customers • She's very health-minded. [=she is very concerned about doing things that promote good health]

2 Brit, formal : having a desire or intention to do something • The government is mind-ed [=inclined, disposed] to grant their request.

mind-er /'maɪndə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit, informal : BODYGUARD • The reporters were kept away by the celebrity's mind-ers. — see also NETMINDER mind-ful /'maɪndfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : aware of something that may be important — often + of • Investors should be mindful of current political trends. — often + that • Investors should be mindful that political trends may influence the market.

— mind-ful-ly /'maɪndfəli/ adv — mind-ful-ness noun [noncount]

mind-less /'maɪndləs/ adj

1 a : having or showing no ability to think, feel, or respond • a mindless killer • a mindless bureaucracy b : showing no use of intelligence or thought • mindless devotion to fashion • The article was a mindless piece of nonsense. : having no purpose • The movie has been criticized for its mindless violence. • a mindless waste of time c : requiring very little attention or thought • mindless activity/work

2 : not aware of something : not mindful of something • He seemed to be completely mindless of the danger he was facing. • She was mindless of her appearance.

— mind-less-ly adv • a mindlessly violent movie — mind-less-ness noun [noncount]

mind-num-bing /'maɪnd,nʌmɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : very dull or boring • mind-numbing work

— mind-num-bing-ly adv • mind-numbingly dull mind reader noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : someone who is able to know another person's thoughts without being told what they are : someone who is able to read minds • How was I supposed to know what you were thinking? I'm no mind reader. • "I think we should eat out tonight." "You must be a mind reader: that's just what I was thinking myself!"

— mind reading noun [noncount]

mind-set /'maɪnd, set/ noun, pl -sets [count] : a particular way of thinking : a person's attitude or set of opinions about something • politicians trying to understand the mind-set of voters • a conservative/liberal mind-set

¹mine /'maɪn/ pronoun

1 : that which belongs to me : my one : my ones • The book is mine. [=it is my book] • Those books are mine. [=those are my books] • Mine is the book on the left. [=my book is the one on the left] • His eyes are blue and mine are brown. • a former professor/friend of mine [=one of my former professors/friends]

2 Brit, informal : my home : my place • Let's go back to mine for a drink.

²mine noun, pl mines [count]

1 : a pit or tunnel from which minerals (such as coal, gold, diamonds, etc.) are taken — see also GOLD MINE, STRIP MINE

2 : a bomb that is placed in the ground or in water and that explodes when it is touched — see also LAND MINE

3 : a rich source of something (such as information) • He has proven to be a mine [=gold mine] of information. [=he has provided a large amount of information]

³mine verb mines; mined; min-ing

1 a : to dig a mine in order to find and take away coal, gold, diamonds, etc. — usually + for [no obj] The area was soon filled with prospectors who were mining for gold. [+ obj] Prospectors mined the region for diamonds. b [+ obj] : to find and take away (coal, gold, diamonds, etc.) from a mine • Local people were hired to mine the gold.

2 [+ obj] : to search for something valuable in (something) — usually + for • Police have been mining the tapes for information. [=they have been listening to the tapes in order to get information from them]

3 [+ obj] : to put mines (sense 2) in or under (something) • The enemy had mined the harbor. • The road was mined.

mine-field /'maɪn, fi:ld/ noun, pl -fields [count]

1 : an area of land or water that contains mines (sense 2)

2 : something that has many dangers or risks • This issue is a political minefield.

min-er /'maɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who works in a mine • coal/gold miners

min-er-al /'maɪnərəl/ noun, pl -als [count]

1 : a substance (such as quartz, coal, petroleum, salt, etc.) that is naturally formed under the ground

2 : a chemical substance (such as iron or zinc) that occurs naturally in certain foods and that is important for good health • an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals

min-er-al-o-gy /,maɪnə'rælədʒi/ noun [noncount] : the scientific study of minerals

— min-er-al-og-i-cal /,maɪnə'rælədʒɪkəl/ adj — min-er-al-o-gist /,maɪnə'rælədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

mineral water noun, pl ~ -ters [count, noncount] : water that contains mineral salts and gases (such as carbon dioxide) • a glass of mineral water

min-e-stro-ne /,maɪnə'strouni/ noun [noncount] : a thick Italian soup that is usually made with beans, vegetables, and pasta mine-sweep-er /'maɪn, swi:pə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a ship designed for removing or destroying mines

min-gle /'mɪŋɡəl/ verb min-gles; min-gled; min-gling

1 : to combine or bring together two or more things [+ obj] The story mingles fact and/or with fiction. [no obj] Several flavors mingle in the stew. • It's a story in which fact mingles with fiction.

2 [no obj] : to move around during a party, meeting, etc., and talk informally with different people • The host was too busy to mingle during the party. — often + with • The speaker stayed to mingle with the audience after the lecture. — see also INTERMINGLE mingy /'mɪŋdʒi/ adj min-gl-er; -est chiefly Brit, informal

1 : not liking to spend money : STINGY • a mingy uncle

2 : not large enough • a mingy portion of food

— min-gi-ness noun [noncount]

mini /'mini/ noun, pl minis [count] : a very short skirt : MINISKIRT

mini- combining form : smaller or shorter than usual or normal : MINIATURE • minibike • miniskirt

¹min-i-a-ture /'minijə, tʃuə/ adj, always used before a noun

: very small : TINY • a collection of miniature books • a miniature tea set • a miniature camera • The little boy looks like a miniature version of his father. • a miniature poodle [=a poodle that is bred to be smaller than normal; a poodle breed that is smaller than the normal breed]

²miniature noun, pl -tures [count] : a very small sculpture, portrait, or painting • She collects porcelain miniatures.

in miniature : in a very small form : on a very small scale • The model depicts the project in miniature. • The little boy looks like his father in miniature.

miniature golf noun [noncount] US : a golf game played with a putter on a small course that has various obstacles at each hole — called also (US) minigolf, (Brit) crazy golf

min-i-a-tur-ize also Brit min-i-a-tur-ise /'minijətʃə, raɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to design or make (something) in a very small size • Technology has made it possible to miniaturize electronic circuits. • a miniaturized radio

— min-i-a-tur-i-za-tion also Brit min-i-a-tur-i-sa-tion /,minijətʃurə'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] mini-bar /'mini,bɑː/ noun, pl -bars [count] : a small refrigerator in a hotel room that has drinks inside it for guests mini-bike /'mini,bɑɪk/ noun, pl -bikes [count] US : a small motorcycle mini-bus /'mini,bʌs/ noun, pl -bus-es [count] : a small bus or van mini-cab /'mini,kæb/ noun, pl -cabs [count] Brit : a taxi that only picks up customers who call by telephone mini-golf /'mini,gɔːlf/ noun [noncount] US : MINIATURE GOLF min-im /'mɪnəm/ noun, pl -ims [count] Brit : HALF NOTE

minima plural of ¹MINIMUM

min-i-mal /'mɪnəməl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very small or slight in size or amount • The storm caused minimal damage. • The costs were minimal. • areas at minimal risk for flooding • They made the repairs with minimal disruption [=with the least possible disruption] to the schedule.

— min-i-mal-ly adv • a minimally adequate supply • a minimally useful tool

min-i-mal-ist /'mɪnəməlɪst/ adj : of, relating to, or following a style in art, literature, or music that is very simple and uses a small number of colors, parts, materials, etc. • mini-malist art • a minimalist artist

— min-i-mal-ism /'mɪnəməlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • a student of minimalism — minimalist noun, pl -ists [count] • artists who are minimalists

min-i-mize or Brit min-i-mise /'mɪnə,maɪz/ verb -mizes; -mized; -miz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something bad or not wanted) as small as possible • We need to minimize the chance of error. • The company will work to minimize costs.

2 : to treat or describe (something) as smaller or less important than it is • I don't want to minimize the contributions he has made to the company. • During the interview, she minimized her weaknesses and emphasized her strengths.

3 computers : to make (a program's window) change to a very small form that takes almost no room on a computer's screen • Please minimize all open windows. — opposite MAXIMIZE

— min-i-mi-za-tion or Brit min-i-mi-sa-tion /,mɪnəmə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,mɪnə,maɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

¹min-i-mum /'mɪnəməm/ noun, pl min-i-mums or technical min-i-ma /'mɪnəmə/ [count] : the lowest number or amount that is possible or allowed — usually singular • Ten years is the minimum needed. = We'll need 10 years at a/the minimum. [=we'll need at least 10 years] • We need to keep expenses to a (bare) minimum. [=we need to keep expenses as low as possible] — often + of • Refrigerate the dough for a minimum of two hours. [=for at least two hours] • She will serve a minimum of 10 years in jail. — opposite MAXIMUM

²minimum adj, always used before a noun : least or lowest possible in amount or degree • They made the repairs with minimum [=minimal] disruption to the schedule. • What are the minimum requirements for the job? • minimum height/weight • The minimum sentence for her crime is 10 years. • a minimum security prison [=a prison in which prisoners are allowed more freedom than in most other prisons because they are not considered dangerous or likely to escape] — opposite MAXIMUM

³minimum adv : at the least • She will serve 10 years minimum. [=the least amount of time she will serve is 10 years]

minimum wage noun [singular] : an amount of money that is the least amount of money per hour that workers must be paid according to the law • Congress will vote on a bill to raise the minimum wage.

min-ing /'maɪnɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the process or business of digging in mines to obtain minerals, metals, jewels, etc. • He works in mining. • the mining industry

min-ion /'mɪnjən/ noun, pl -ions [count] : someone who is not powerful or important and who obeys the orders of a powerful leader or boss • one of the boss's minions

mini-se-ries /'mɪni,sɪrɪz/ noun, pl miniseries [count] : a story on television that is shown in two or more parts on different days

mini-skirt /'mɪni,skɜ:t/ noun, pl -skirts [count] : a very short skirt — called also mini; see color picture on page C14

¹min-is-ter /'mɪnəstə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a person whose job involves leading church services, performing religious ceremonies (such as marriages), and providing spiritual or religious guidance to other people : a member of the clergy in some Protestant churches

2 : an official who heads a government department or a major section of a department in some countries (such as Britain) • (Brit) the Minister of Defence [= (US) the Secretary of Defense] — see also PRIME MINISTER

3 : a person who represents his or her own government while living in a foreign country

²minister verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing

minister to [phrasal verb] minister to (someone or something) : to help or care for (someone or something) • She devoted herself to ministering to the poor and sick. • The nurse ministered to his wounds.

min-is-te-ri-al /,mɪnə'stɪrɪəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to a government minister • She holds a ministerial office. • ministerial meetings/duties • They function in a ministerial capacity in the embassy.

min-is-tra-tions /,mɪnə'streɪʃənz/ noun [plural] formal + humorous : actions done to help someone • She recovered quickly despite the ministrations of her doctor.

min-is-try /'mɪnəstri/ noun, pl -tries

1 a the ministry : religious leaders as a group : ministers as a group • a member of the ministry b : the office, duties, or work of a religious minister [count] — usually singular • His ministry is among the city's immigrants. [noncount] She learned a lot during her first year of ministry. • When did he enter the ministry? [=when did he start doing religious work?; when did he become a minister?]

2 [count] : a government department or the building in which it is located • (Brit) the Ministry of Defence [= (US) Department of Defense]

mini-van /'mɪni,væn/ noun, pl -vans [count] : a small van — called also (Brit) people carrier, (Brit) people mover; see picture at CAR

mink /'mɪŋk/ noun, pl mink or minks

1 [count] : a small animal that has a thin body and soft, dark brown fur

2 a [noncount] : the skin and fur of a mink used for making clothing • a coat made of mink • a mink coat

b [count] : a piece of clothing (such as a coat) made of mink • women wearing expensive jewelry and minks

min-now /'mɪnou/ noun, pl min-nows also minnow [count] : a very small fish that is often used as bait to catch larger fish

¹mi-nor /'maɪnə/ adj

1 a : not very important or valuable • a minor artist/author/celebrity • Her role in the project was minor. • a minor component/part • I'm not worried about minor details. • a minor news story • minor characters • Doctors described her recovery as a minor miracle. [=her health was very bad and doctors were not sure if she would recover] b always used before a noun : small in number, quantity, or extent • The grant covered only a minor part of the cost.

2 : not very serious : not causing much trouble or damage • a minor illness/injury/setback • The delay will be minor. • a very minor annoyance/accident • a minor earthquake • minor errors/mistakes • He suffered a minor heart attack.

3 music a : having semitones between the second and third, the fifth and sixth, and sometimes the seventh and eighth notes in a scale • a minor scale b : based on a minor scale • a minor key — compare ¹MAJOR 3

4 always used before a noun : not yet old enough to have the rights of an adult • He has minor children living in the house.

²minor noun, pl -nors [count]

1 : a person who is not yet old enough to have the rights of an adult • families with children who are still minors • The nightclub was shut down for selling alcohol to a minor.

2 US : a second subject studied by a college or university student in addition to a main subject • She majored in chemistry with a minor in biology. — compare ²MAJOR 2 the minors US, informal : the minor leagues of baseball • He spent his entire career in the minors.

³minor verb -nors; -nored; -nor-ing minor in [phrasal verb] minor in (something) US : to have (a specified second subject of study) in addition to your main subject • In college, she majored in chemistry and minored in biology.

mi-nor-i-ty /mə'nɒrəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [singular] : a number or amount that is less than half of a total • The proposal is opposed by a minority of voters.

2 [singular] : the group that is the smaller part of a larger group • The Republicans/Democrats are now the minority in the Senate. • Opponents of the new law appear to be in the minority. [=there are fewer people who oppose the new law than who support it]

3 [count] a : a group of people who are different from the larger group in a country, area, etc., in some way (such as race or religion) • the country's ethnic minorities • The group is becoming an influential minority in the community. b chiefly US : a member of such a group — usually plural • The college encouraged women and minorities to apply. • The company is making an effort to hire more minorities.

4 [noncount] law : the time or period when a person is not yet old enough to have the full rights of an adult — compare MAJORITY 3

— minority adj, always used before a noun • Republicans/Democrats are the minority party in the Senate. • a minority group minority leader noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : the leader of the political party that has fewer members than the leading party in the U.S. Senate or House of Representatives • the House/Senate minority leader — compare MAJORITY LEADER minor league noun, pl ~ leagues [count] : a professional baseball league that is not one of the major leagues — usually plural • He spent many years in the minor leagues before being called up to the major leagues; also : a league of lesser importance in another sport (such as hockey or football) — compare MAJOR LEAGUES

— minor-league adj • minor-league baseball — sometimes used figuratively • These problems are minor-league. [=these problems are not serious] — minor lea-guer noun, pl ~ -guers [count] • He was a minor leaguer before he was drafted into the majors. — sometimes used figuratively • The police decided he was a minor leaguer in the drug trafficking world.

min-strel /'mɪnstrel/ noun, pl -strels [count]

1 : a musical entertainer in the Middle Ages • a wandering minstrel

2 US : a member of a group of entertainers who performed black American songs and jokes usually with blackened faces • a minstrel show ♦ Minstrel shows were popular in the 19th and early 20th centuries.

¹mint /'mɪnt/ noun, pl mints

1 [noncount] : an herb that has a strong pleasant smell and taste and that is used in medicine and food — see color picture on page C6

2 [count] : a piece of candy that tastes like mint

— compare ²MINT

— minty /'mɪnti/ adj mint-i-er; -est • a minty flavor

²mint noun, pl mints

1 [count] : a place where coins are made — usually used with the • coins shipped directly from the mint

2 [singular] informal : a large amount of money • He made a mint [=he earned a large sum of money] in real estate. • Her family is worth a mint. [=is very wealthy] in mint condition ♦ If something is in mint condition, it is in perfect condition, just as if it were new. • He kept the car in mint condition.

— compare ¹MINT

³mint verb mints; mint-ed; mint-ing [+ obj] : to make (coins) out of metal • coins that were minted before 1965 • We mint coins out of copper.

mink

min·u·et /ˌmɪnjəˈwet/ noun, pl -ets [count]

1 : a slow, graceful dance that was popular in the 17th and 18th centuries • danced a minuet

2 : the music for a minuet • The orchestra played a minuet.

¹mi·nus /ˈmaɪnəs/ prep

1 — used to indicate that one number or amount is being subtracted from another • 10 minus 5 equals/is 5. • We earned 600 dollars minus travel expenses. [=the amount we earned was less than 600 dollars because we had to pay for travel expenses]

2 informal : not having (something) : WITHOUT • He left the restaurant minus his hat. • a fruit that looks like a peach, minus the fuzz • The lower 48 states are all the United States minus Alaska and Hawaii. [=not counting or including Alaska and Hawaii]

plus or minus see ³PLUS

²minus noun, pl -nus-es [count]

1 informal : a problem or disadvantage • She decided that the pluses of owning a home outweighed the minuses. • Some employers see a lack of experience as a real minus.

2 mathematics : MINUS SIGN • Put the minus to the left of the number.

³minus adj

1 always used before a noun : having a value that is below zero : NEGATIVE • a minus quantity • minus 3 • The temperature was minus 10. [=10 degrees below zero] — opposite ¹PLUS 1

2 — used following a grade (such as A, B, or C) to show that the work is slightly worse than the letter by itself would indicate • I got a B minus on my English exam. • The teacher said I could bring the C minus up to a C if I studied more. — opposite ¹PLUS 2 on the minus side — used to describe the less appealing or attractive part of something • On the minus side, the job doesn't pay well, but on the plus side, the work is easy.

mi·nus·cule /ˈmɪnəsˌkjʊl/ adj : very small • a minuscule [=tiny] house/apartment/garden

minus sign noun, pl ~ signs [count] mathematics : the symbol — used to show that a number is being subtracted from another number or that a quantity is less than zero — compare PLUS SIGN

¹min·ute /ˈmɪnət/ noun, pl -utes

1 [count] a : a unit of time equal to 60 seconds : one 60th of an hour • Bake the cake for 25–30 minutes. • We waited for several minutes, but no one came to the door. • He can run a six-minute mile. [=he can run a mile in six minutes] b : a brief period of time : MOMENT • I saw him a minute ago. • Dinner will be ready in just a few minutes. • One minute it was sunny, the next it was pouring rain. • Could I have a minute of your time? = Do you have a minute? = Could I speak to you for a minute? [=could I speak to you briefly?] • I'm coming, just give me a minute. [=wait for me] • It was an excellent show. I enjoyed every minute of it. [=I enjoyed all of it] • I'll explain that in a minute [=shortly, soon] — see also LAST MINUTE

2 [count] : the distance that can be traveled in a minute • My house is just a few minutes from here.

3 minutes [plural] : an official record of what was said and done in a meeting • The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. • The secretary took the minutes [=recorded in writing what happened] during the meeting.

4 [count] technical : one of 60 equal parts into which a degree can be divided for measuring angles • 42 degrees and 30 minutes

a laugh a minute see ²LAUGH

any minute ♦ If something could happen (at) any minute (now), it could happen very soon. • The bus should be here any minute now. • I'm expecting a phone call any minute. • Things could change at any minute. [=at any moment]

at/on a minute's notice see ¹NOTICE

from minute to minute or from one minute to the next or minute by minute : very quickly as time passes • Things kept changing from minute to minute. [=from moment to moment]

hold/hang on a minute or wait/just a minute informal 1 — used to tell someone to wait or to stop for a brief time • “Aren't you finished yet?” “Hold on a minute. I'm almost done.” • Hang on a minute—I didn't hear you. Could you repeat what you said? 2 — used to express surprise or disbelief • Hey, wait a minute! That's not what you said yesterday!

just this minute see ²JUST not for a/one minute : at no time : not at all : NEVER • I did not believe her for one minute. = Not for one minute did I believe her. [=I never believed her] the minute : as soon as • Please call me the minute you get home. • I knew the minute (that) I saw it that I had to have this dress.

this minute : right now : IMMEDIATELY • Stop it this minute! • I have to have the report this minute.

to the minute : exactly or precisely • The buses were on time to the minute. — see also UP-TO-THE-MINUTE within minutes : within a very short amount of time • We called an ambulance and it arrived within minutes.

²mi·nute /maɪˈnu:t, Brit maɪˈnju:t/ adj mi·nut·er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : very small : TINY • There were minute particles of dust in the air. • The test detected minute amounts of contamination. • The equipment is able to detect the minutest errors.

2 : very complete and precise • She told him what happened in minute detail. • a minute examination of the evidence

— mi·nute·ly adv • a minutely detailed drawing • studied the evidence minutely minute hand noun, pl ~ hands [count] : the long hand that marks the minutes on a watch or clock — compare HOURLY HAND, SECOND HAND

min·ute·man /ˈmɪnət,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,men/ [count]

: a member of a group of men who fought on the side of the American colonies and who were ready to go quickly into battle during the American Revolution mi·nu·ti·ae /məˈnu:ʃi,i:, Brit məˈnju:ʃi,i:/ noun [plural] : small or minor details • the minutiae of daily life • He was bewildered by the contract's minutiae.

minx /ˈmɪŋks/ noun, pl minx-es [count] old-fashioned : a sexually attractive and playful woman who often causes trouble • a clever little minx

mir·a·cle /ˈmɪrɪkəl/ noun, pl -a·cles [count]

1 : an unusual or wonderful event that is believed to be caused by the power of God • a divine miracle • She believed that God had given her the power to work/perform miracles. • a miracle worker [=a person who is able to work/perform miracles]

2 : a very amazing or unusual event, thing, or achievement • It would take a miracle for this team to win. • The bridge is a miracle of engineering. = The bridge is an engineering miracle. • the miracle of birth • It's a (minor) miracle that he succeeded. • the miracle of his recovery • She worked miracles with those kids. [=she accomplished wonderful things with those kids] • a miracle drug/cure [=a drug/cure that is extremely or amazingly effective] • These days, thanks to the miracle of television we can watch events happening on the other side of the world. • By some miracle I was on time for work every day this week. [=it is surprising/amazing that I was on time for work every day this week] mi·rac·u·lous /məˈrækjələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very wonderful or amazing like a miracle • He made a miraculous recovery after the accident. • Her memory is nothing short of miraculous.

— mi·rac·u·lous·ly adv • Miraculously, no one was hurt.

mi·rage /məˈrɑ:ʒ, Brit ˈmɪrɑ:ʒ/ noun, pl -rag-es [count]

1 : something (such as a pool of water in the middle of a desert) that is seen and appears to be real but that is not actually there

2 : something that you hope for or want but that is not possible or real • A peaceful solution proved to be a mirage.

Mi·ran·da /məˈrændə/ adj, always used before a noun, US, law : of or relating to the legal rights of an arrested person to have an attorney and to refuse to answer questions • Miranda rights • The suspect was given a Miranda warning [=was told about his Miranda rights]

mire /ˈmajə/ noun : thick and deep mud [noncount] The troops marched onward through the muck and the mire. — often used figuratively • stuck in the mire of cynicism • The economy is sinking deeper into the mire. [=the economy is bad and getting worse] • His name/reputation has been dragged through the mire [=has been unfairly damaged or ruined] [singular] They found themselves in a mire of debt. [=they could not get out of debt]

mired /ˈmajəd/ adj, not used before a noun

1 : stuck in a very difficult situation • She was mired in work all weekend. • He has been mired in controversy throughout his term in office. • The company is mired in legal troubles.

2 : stuck in deep mud • The car was mired in the muck.

¹mir·ror /ˈmɪrə/ noun, pl -rors [count]

1 : a piece of glass that reflects images • She saw her reflection in the mirror. = She looked at herself in the mirror. • a bathroom mirror — see pictures at BATHROOM, CAR; see also REARVIEW MIRROR

2 : something that shows what another thing is like in a very clear and accurate way — usually singular • Her art is a mirror of modern American culture.

— see also SMOKE AND MIRRORS

— mir·ored /'mirəd/ adj • a mirrored wall [=a wall that has a mirror or mirrors on it] • mirrored glass

2 mirror verb -rors; -rored; -ror-ing [+ obj]

1 : to be very similar to (something) • Her mood mirrored the gloomy weather. [=her mood was gloomy like the weather]

: to show (something) in a very clear and accurate way • Her art mirrors [=reflects] modern American culture.

2 : to show the image of (something) on a surface : REFLECT • The building was mirrored in the lake.

mirror image noun, pl ~ -ages [count]

1 : something that looks like something else but with its left and right sides reversed • The left hand and the right hand are mirror images (of each other). = The left hand is the/a mirror image of the right hand. • The left side of the building is a mirror image of the right.

2 : someone who looks like someone else • He's the mirror image [(more commonly) spitting image] of his father. [=he looks just like his father] mirth /'mɜθ/ noun [noncount] formal + literary : happiness and laughter • Her clumsy attempt to cut the cake was the cause of much mirth.

— mirth·ful /'mɜθfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • He was in a mirthful mood.

mirth·less /'mɜθləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : showing or feeling no happiness or pleasure • a mirthless smile/laugh

mis- /mis/ prefix

1 : badly : wrongly • misjudge • misfile • misbehave

2 : bad : wrong • misunderstanding • misdeed • misdiagnosis

3 : opposite or lack of • mistrust

mis·ad·ven·ture /,misəd'ventʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count] : an unlucky event or occurrence : a bad experience or accident that is usually minor • His vacation turned into a series of misadventures.

death by misadventure Brit, law : death caused by an accident • a verdict of death by misadventure

mis·an·thrope /'misn,θrəʊp/ noun, pl -thropes [count] formal : a person who does not like other people

mis·an·thro·py /mis'ænθrəpi/ noun [noncount] formal : dislike or hatred of other people — compare PHILANTHROPY

— mis·an·throp·ic /,misn'θrə:pik/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She became increasingly misanthropic in her old age.

mis·ap·ply /,misə'plai/ verb -plies; -plied; -ply-ing [+ obj] : to use (something) incorrectly or in a way that was not intended • a list of words that are often misapplied • He has been accused of misapplying public funds.

— mis·ap·pli·ca·tion /mis,æplə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • misapplication of public funds mis·ap·pre·hen·sion /mis,æprə'hɛnʃən/ noun, pl -sions formal : an incorrect understanding of something : a wrong idea about something [count] He acted on/under the misapprehension that they would change their minds. [=he mistakenly thought that they would change their minds] [noncount] an error caused by misapprehension of the facts labor under a misapprehension see ²LABOR mis·ap·pro·pri·ate /,misə'prəʊpri,et/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] formal : to take (something, such as money) dishonestly for your own use : to appropriate (something) wrongly • They accused him of misappropriating town funds.

— mis·ap·pro·pri·a·tion /,misə'prəʊpri'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • She was fired for the misappropriation of funds.

mis·be·got·ten /,misbə'gɑ:tən/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : badly planned or thought out • He was sent on a misbegotten [=misconceived] diplomatic mission that was sure to fail.

mis·be·have /,misbr'herv/ verb -haves; -haved; -hav-ing [no obj] : to behave badly • The children misbehaved during dinner.

— mis·be·hav·ior (US) or Brit mis·be·hav·iour /,misbr'hervjə/ noun [noncount] • The children were punished for their misbehavior.

misc. abbr miscellaneous

mis·cal·cu·late /mis'kælkjə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing

1 : to make an error about the size or amount of something [+ obj] The waiter miscalculated our check. [no obj] Unless I miscalculated, we have about $500 left.

2 : to make an error in judging a situation [+ obj] She has clearly miscalculated the importance of her decision. [no obj] He realized that he had miscalculated in thinking that his proposal would be welcome.

— mis·cal·cu·la·tion /mis,kælkjə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] The waiter made a slight miscalculation. [noncount] The discrepancy could be caused by mistake or miscalculation.

mis·car·riage /mis'kerɪdʒ/ noun, pl -riages

1 medical : a condition in which a pregnancy ends too early and does not result in the birth of a live baby [count] She had a miscarriage. • a woman who has suffered/had multiple miscarriages [noncount] a high risk of miscarriage

2 [count] law : an unjust legal decision — used in the phrase miscarriage of justice • His conviction was a tragic/grave/gross miscarriage of justice.

mis·car·ry /,mis'kerɪ/ verb -ries; -ried; -ry-ing [no obj]

1 medical : to have a miscarriage : to experience the early and unexpected end of a pregnancy • She miscarried at 13 weeks. = She miscarried when she was 13 weeks pregnant.

2 formal : to go wrong : to fail to achieve the intended purpose • The plan miscarried.

mis·cast /,mis'kæst, Brit ,mis'kɑ:st/ verb -casts; -cast; -cast-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give (an actor) a role for which the actor is not suited — usually used as (be) miscast • He was miscast in that film.

2 : to make bad choices in selecting actors for (something, such as a play or movie) — usually used as (be) miscast • The play was miscast.

mis·ce·ge·na·tion /mɪ'sɛdʒə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] formal : sexual relations or marriage between people of two different races (such as a white person and a black person)

mis·cel·la·neous /,misə'leɪniəs/ adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : including many things of different kinds • a miscellaneous collection of tools • miscellaneous expenses/items

mis·cel·la·ny /'misə,leɪni, Brit mɪ'seləni/ noun, pl -nies [count] : a mixture or collection of different things • a miscellany of old toys mis·chance /,mis'tʃæns, Brit ,mis'tʃɑ:ns/ noun, pl -chances formal

1 [noncount] : bad luck • two enemies brought together by mischance

2 [count] : something caused by bad luck : MISFORTUNE • a series of mischances

mis·chief /'mɪʃɪf/ noun [noncount]

1 : behavior or activity that is annoying but that is not meant to cause serious harm or damage • Those children are always up to some mischievous. = Those children are always getting into mischievous. • engaging in mischievous • It's hard to keep him out of mischievous.

2 : a playful desire to cause trouble • There was (a hint of) mischievous in his eyes/smile.

3 somewhat formal : harmful behavior • criminal/malicious mischievous mis·chie·vous /'mɪʃɪvəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing or tending to cause annoyance or minor harm or damage • a mischievous puppy/child

2 : showing a playful desire to cause trouble • mischievous behavior • a mischievous smile

3 : intended to harm someone or someone's reputation • mischievous gossip • a mischievous lie

— mis·chie·vous·ly adv • She smiled mischievously. — mis·chie·vous·ness noun [noncount]

mis·con·ceived /,mɪskən'si:vɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : poorly planned or thought out : badly conceived • a misconceived notion • a misconceived attempt to fix the system mis·con·cep·tion /,mɪskən'sɛpʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a wrong or mistaken idea • a common/popular misconception • I'd like to clear up a few misconceptions about the schedule.

labor under a misconception see ²LABOR

mis·con·duct /mɪ'skɑ:ndəkt/ noun [noncount] : wrong behavior : behavior or activity that is illegal or morally wrong • He was forced to defend himself against charges of sexual misconduct. • There have been reports of misconduct by several employees.

mis·con·strue /,mɪskən'stru:/ verb -strues; -strued; -stru-ing [+ obj] formal : to understand (something) incorrectly • My words were misconstrued. • They could misconstrue our intentions. — compare CONSTRUE mis-count /mɪs'kaʊnt/ verb -counts; -count-ed; -count-ing : to count (something) incorrectly [+ obj] They believe the votes were miscounted. [no obj] He had to start counting again when he realized that he had miscounted.

mis-cre-ant /'mɪskrɪjənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] formal : a person who does something that is illegal or morally wrong • He supports tough penalties against corporate miscreants.

mis-deed /,mɪs'di:d/ noun, pl -deeds [count] formal : a morally wrong or illegal act • She threatened to expose to the public the misdeeds he had committed.

mis-de-mean-or (US) or Brit mis-de-mean-our /,mɪsdrɪ'mi:nə/ noun, pl -ors [count] law : a crime that is not very serious : a crime that is less serious than a felony • He was charged with (committing) a misdemeanor.

mis-di-ag-nose /mɪs'daɪg,nous/ verb -nos-es; -nosed; -nos-ing [+ obj] : to form an incorrect opinion about the cause of (a disease or problem) : to incorrectly diagnose (a disease or problem) • Her condition was misdiagnosed by several doctors.

mis-di-ag-no-sis /mɪs,dəɪg'nousəs/ noun, pl -no-ses /mɪs,dəɪg'nou,sɪz/ : an incorrect conclusion about the cause of a disease or problem : an incorrect diagnosis [count] The doctor made a misdiagnosis. • Following several misdiagnoses, we finally discovered what the problem really was. [noncount] Without proper testing, the potential for misdiagnosis is high.

mis-di-rect /,mɪsdə'rekt/ verb -rects; -rect-ed; -rect-ing [+ obj]

1 : to use or direct (something) in a way that is not correct or appropriate • I feel that his criticism of the government is misdirected. [=that his criticism is not deserved or appropriate] • badly misdirected energy/efforts

2 a : to send (someone or something) to the wrong place • Their mail was misdirected to our address. b : to give (someone) incorrect information • If he tells you he's not interested, he's trying to misdirect you.

— mis-di-rec-tion /,mɪsdə'rekʃən/ noun [noncount]

mi-ser /'maɪzə/ noun, pl -sers [count] disapproving : a person who hates to spend money : a very stingy person • a mean-spirited old miser

mis-er-a-ble /'mɪzərəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : very unhappy • He had a miserable childhood. • My boss is making my life thoroughly/utterly miserable with her constant demands and criticism. • He felt lonely and miserable after his divorce. b : very sick or unwell • She drank too much and felt miserable [=wretched, rotten] the next day.

2 : very severe or unpleasant • I've had a miserable cold for the past week. • We've been having miserable weather. = The weather has been miserable.

3 : very poor in condition or quality • He lived in a miserable little shack. • miserable [=wretched] living conditions

4 always used before a noun : very bad • He did a miserable job making the sign. [=he made the sign very poorly] • The business was a miserable failure. • Their trip turned out to be a miserable experience. • She has a miserable temper. • the miserable state of the economy

5 always used before a noun : deserving to be hated • Their boss is a rotten, miserable tyrant.

— mis-er-a-bly /'mɪzərəbli/ adv • The business failed miserably. • miserably poor/unhappy mi-ser-ly /'maɪzəli/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving

1 : hating to spend money • The team's miserly [=stingy, tight-fisted] owner refused to pay for new equipment.

2 : very small or too small amount • He was given a miserly raise. • miserly wages

— mi-ser-li-ness noun [noncount] • the miserliness of the team's owner

mis-ery /'mɪzəri/ noun, pl -er-ies

1 [noncount] : extreme suffering or unhappiness • The war brought misery to thousands of refugees. • They were living in overcrowded slums in conditions of great misery. • a source of human misery • the joy and misery of life

2 a [count] : something that causes extreme suffering or unhappiness — usually plural • He tends to exaggerate the miseries of his childhood. • the joys and miseries of life b [singular] : a very unhappy or painful time or experience • The last years of her life were a misery. • My former boss made my life a misery. [=my former boss made my life miserable] ♦ When an injured or sick animal is put out of its misery, it is killed so that it no longer has to suffer. This phrase is sometimes used to refer to people as well. • patients who are in constant pain and want to be put out of their misery • (humorous) I know you're all anxious to hear the results, so let me put you out of your misery. [=let me end your suffering by telling you the results] • The champion finally put him out of his misery by knocking him out in the fifth round. [=the champion was beating him badly and finally ended the fight by knocking him out]

3 [singular] Brit, informal : an unhappy person who complains often or constantly : MISERY GUTS • Stop being such a misery.

misery guts noun [singular] Brit, informal : an unhappy person who complains often or constantly • Lighten up: don't be such an old misery guts! [=sourpuss] mis-file /'mɪs,fajəl/ verb -files; -filed; -fil-ing [+ obj] : to put (a document) in the wrong place : to file (something) in the wrong place • I found papers that had been misfiled.

mis-fire /,mɪs'fajə/ verb -fires; -fired; -fir-ing [no obj]

1 of an engine : to fail to work properly because the fuel mixture burns at the wrong time

2 of a gun : to fail to fire properly : to fail to shoot a bullet

3 : to fail to have an intended effect : to fail to work properly • The plan/joke misfired. [=the plan/joke did not have the effect it was meant to have]

— misfire noun, pl -fires [count] • an engine misfire • The joke was an unfortunate misfire.

mis-fit /'mɪs,fɪt/ noun, pl -fits [count] : a person who is different from other people and who does not seem to belong in a particular group or situation • a social misfit

mis-for-tune /,mɪs'fɔ:tʃən/ noun, pl -tunes

1 [noncount] : bad luck • a victim of economic misfortune • She endured her misfortune without complaint. • It was my misfortune to be chosen first. • It was the worst movie I've ever had the misfortune to see. = (chiefly US) It was the worst movie I've ever had the misfortune of seeing.

2 [count] : an unlucky condition or event • Her injury was a great misfortune. • He blamed the party's misfortunes on poor leadership.

mis-giv-ing /,mɪs'gɪvɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings : a feeling of doubt about something : a feeling that something might not be right or might not work as planned — often + about [count] — usually plural • Many people have expressed (deep/serious/grave) misgivings about her qualifications for the job. • I felt some misgivings about his ability to do the job. [noncount] I felt some misgiving about his ability to do the job. • They regarded the plan with misgiving.

mis-guid-ed /,mɪs'gaɪdəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having wrong or improper goals or values • She's been getting a lot of bad advice from misguided friends.

2 : resulting from wrong or improper goals or values • He blames the crisis on the government's misguided economic policies. • a misguided attempt/effort to help • misguided ideas/notions

— mis-guid-ed-ly adv • misguidedly attempting to help

mis-han-dle /,mɪs'hændl/ verb -han-dles; -han-dled; -han-dling [+ obj]

1 : to deal with or manage (something) badly or incorrectly • The police mishandled the investigation.

2 : to touch or treat (something) in a way that causes damage • mishandle a package • Apples are easily bruised when they are mishandled.

3 sports : to fail to catch or hold (a ball) properly • The short-stop mishandled the throw. • The quarterback fumbled when he mishandled the snap.

— mis-han-dling noun [noncount] • The police have been criticized for their mishandling of the investigation.

mis-hap /'mɪs,hæp/ noun, pl -haps

1 : a small mistake or amount of bad luck [count] We experienced the usual mishaps of a family vacation. [noncount] The ceremony proceeded without mishap.

2 [count] : an unlucky accident or mistake • The fire was a tragic mishap that could have been prevented.

mis-hear /,mɪs'hɪə/ verb -hears; -heard /-'həd/; -hear-ing [+ obj] : to hear (a person who is speaking) incorrectly • You misheard me. I said I was feeling anxious, not angry. : to hear (something that is said) incorrectly • I must have misheard the instructions. • I misheard "mother" as "mutter."

mis-hit /,mɪs'hit/ verb -hits; -hit; -hit-ting [+ obj] sports : to hit (something, such as a ball) incorrectly • She made a bogey after mishitting her tee shot.

— mishit noun, pl -hits [count]

mish-mash /'mɪʃ,mæʃ/ noun [singular] informal : a confused mixture of things — usually + of • The collection is a mishmash [=hodgepodge, jumble] of different styles.

mis·in·form /ˌmɪsɪnˈfɔrm/ verb -forms; -formed; -forming [+ obj] : to give (someone) false or incorrect information • The company is accused of misinforming its shareholders about last year's profits. • I felt I had been misinformed about the risks involved. — see also MISINFORMED

mis·in·for·ma·tion /ˌmɪsɪnfəˈmeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : information that is not completely true or accurate • a company accused of providing misinformation to its shareholders — compare DISINFORMATION misinformed adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not having accurate or completely accurate information about something • The public is badly/sadly misinformed about the possible effects of the proposed law. • questions from a misinformed reporter

2 : based on information that is not accurate or not completely accurate • misinformed beliefs/choices mis·in·ter·pret /ˌmɪsn̩ˈtəprət/ verb -prets; -pret-ed; -pret-ing [+ obj] : to understand or explain (something) incorrectly : to interpret (something) incorrectly • He claims that his statements have been misinterpreted by the media. • Her silence should not be misinterpreted as consent.

— mis·in·ter·pre·ta·tion /ˌmɪsn̩ˈtəprəˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • The rules should be written so that they are not subject to misinterpretation. [=so that they cannot be misunderstood] mis·judge /ˌmɪsˈdʒʌdʒ/ verb -judg-es; -judged; -judg-ing [+ obj] : to judge (someone or something) incorrectly or unfairly: such as a : to have an unfair opinion about (someone) • I can see that I've completely misjudged you. I apologize. b : to estimate (something, such as an amount, distance, etc.) incorrectly • The outfielder misjudged the fly ball and it went over his head. • The pilot misjudged the landing.

— mis·judg·ment also chiefly Brit mis·judge·ment /ˌmɪsˈdʒʌdʒmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count, noncount] • tactical misjudgments

mis·lay /ˌmɪsˈleɪ/ verb -lays; -laid /ˌmɪsˈleɪd/; -lay·ing [+ obj] : to lose (something) for a short time by forgetting where you put it • I mislaid [=misplaced] my car keys.

mis·lead /ˌmɪsˈli:d/ verb -leads; -led /ˌmɪsˈled/; -lead·ing : to cause (someone) to believe something that is not true [+ obj] We believe that her comments were deliberately meant to mislead the public. • Don't be misled [=fooled] by his friendly appearance—he's really a ruthless competitor. • The early results misled us into thinking we would win the election easily. [no obj] We believe that her comments were deliberately meant to mislead.

— mis·lead·ing adj [more ~; most ~] • The early results were very misleading. [=deceptive] • deliberately misleading comments — mis·lead·ing·ly /ˌmɪsˈli:dɪŋli/ adv • a misleadingly labeled product mis·man·age /ˌmɪsˈmænɪdʒ/ verb -ag-es; -aged; -ag·ing [+ obj] : to manage or control (something) badly • mismanage a company

— mis·man·age·ment /ˌmɪsˈmænɪdʒmənt/ noun [noncount] • These problems are due to mismanagement.

¹mis·match /ˌmɪsˈmætʃ/ verb -match-es; -matched; -match·ing [+ obj] : to put (people or things that are not suited to each other) together : to match (people or things) badly • a designer who intentionally mismatches colors

— mis·matched adj • wearing mismatched clothes • They were married for three years, but they were badly mis-matched. [=they were not suited to each other]

²mismatch noun, pl -matches [count] : a bad match: such as a : a situation in which two people or things that are not suited to each other are together • a marital mismatch b : a situation in which two people or things are not balanced or equal to each other in some way • a mismatch between supply and demand; especially : a game or contest in which one person, team, etc., is much better or stronger than the other • The election turned out to be a mismatch.

mis·name /ˌmɪsˈneɪm/ verb -names; -named; -nam·ing [+ obj]

1 : to give (someone or something) a name that is not proper or appropriate • They misnamed the airport when they called it “international.” Almost all the arriving and departing flights are local.

2 : to give or show an incorrect name for (someone or something) • The caption misnamed the person in the picture.

mis·no·mer /ˌmɪsˈnoʊmə/ noun, pl -mers [count] : a name that is wrong or not proper or appropriate • “International Airport” is something of a misnomer, since almost all the arriving and departing flights are local.

mi·sog·y·nist /məˈsɑːdʒənɪst/ noun, pl -nists [count] : a man who hates women — often used before another noun • a misogynist joke • their misogynist boss

— mi·sog·y·ny /məˈsɑːdʒəni/ noun [noncount] • lyrics that promote violence and misogyny

mis·place /ˌmɪsˈpleɪs/ verb -plac-es; -placed; -plac·ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (something) in the wrong place • misplace a comma

2 : to lose (something) for a short time by forgetting where you put it : MISLAY • He misplaced his keys.

3 : to direct (a feeling, such as trust or confidence) toward someone or something that does not deserve it • She realized that her trust had been misplaced. [=she had trusted someone who did not deserve to be trusted]

— misplaced adj • misplaced [=unrealistic, inappropriate] expectations • His confidence in himself seems misplaced. • misplaced loyalty/faith — mis·place·ment /ˌmɪsˈpleɪsmənt/ noun [noncount] • the misplacement of trust mis·play /ˌmɪsˈpleɪ/ noun, pl -plays [count] : a mistake made by a person who is playing a sport (such as baseball or tennis) • a misplay [=error] by the shortstop

— mis·play /ˌmɪsˈpleɪ/ verb -plays; -played; -play·ing [+ obj] • The shortstop misplayed the grounder. [=failed to catch it, stop it, etc.]

mis·print /ˌmɪsˈprɪnt/ noun, pl -prints [count] : a mistake (such as a spelling error) in something printed • a book with many misprints mis·pro·nounce /ˌmɪsprəˈnaʊns/ verb -nounc-es; -nounced; -nounc·ing [+ obj] : to pronounce (a word or name) incorrectly • His name is often mispronounced.

— mis·pro·nun·ci·a·tion /ˌmɪsprəˈnɑːnsiˈeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] mis·quote /ˌmɪsˈkwout/ verb -quotes; -quot-ed; -quot·ing [+ obj] : to report or repeat (something that someone has said or written) in a way that is not correct or accurate : to quote (someone) incorrectly • misquote Shakespeare • The mayor says that she was misquoted by the press.

— mis·quo·ta·tion /ˌmɪskwouˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • an article containing many misquotations — misquote noun, pl -quotes [count] • an article containing many misquotes

mis·read /ˌmɪsˈriːd/ verb -reads; -read /-ˈred/; -read·ing [+ obj]

1 : to read (something) incorrectly • I guess I misread the instructions.

2 : to understand (something) incorrectly • They have misread the lessons of the past. • Politicians may have misread the mood of the public. • I badly misread the situation.

— mis·read·ing noun, pl -ings [count] — usually singular • a potentially dangerous misreading of the public mood mis·rep·re·sent /ˌmɪsˈreprɪzənt/ verb -sents; -sent-ed; -sent·ing [+ obj] : to describe (someone or something) in a false way especially in order to deceive someone : to give someone a false idea about (something or someone) • The company is accused of misrepresenting its earnings. • He misrepresented himself as a writer. [=he claimed to be a writer but he wasn't one] • The movie deliberately misrepresents the facts/truth about her life.

— mis·rep·re·sen·ta·tion /ˌmɪsˈreprɪzənˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • deliberate misrepresentations of the truth

mis·rule /ˌmɪsˈruːl/ noun [noncount] : bad government • The people of that country have endured many years of misrule.

¹miss /ˌmɪs/ verb miss-es; missed; miss·ing

1 : to fail to hit, catch, reach, or get (something) [+ obj] miss a target • He swung and missed the ball completely. • The shot missed the goal by inches. • miss a putt • They (just/barely) missed the deadline. • The team missed the play-offs last year. [=the team failed to qualify for the play-offs] [no obj] The batter swung and missed. • She took three shots and missed every time. • The shot missed badly.

2 [+ obj] a : to fail to use (something, such as an opportunity) • I would hate to miss this opportunity. • She could have joined us, but she missed her chance. • This opportunity is too good to miss. [=so good that no one would want to fail to use it] b : to fail to do, take, make, or have (something) • The driver was so distracted that he missed the turn. [=he failed to turn when he should have] • They missed a payment on their car loan. • miss a tackle • She missed her medication.

• He was in such a hurry that he missed breakfast.

3 [+ obj] : to be without (something) : to lack (something) — used in the phrase be missing • He was missing one of his front teeth. [=he did not have one of his front teeth; one of his front teeth was missing] • The old house is missing some of its windows. — see also MISSING

4 [+ obj] a : to fail to be present for (something) • She missed three days of school when she was sick. • miss a class • He hasn't missed a day's work in years. • This is an event you won't want to miss. = This is an event that is not to be missed [=that you should experience] • "Are you going to their wedding?" "Yes, I wouldn't miss it for the world." [=I would not consider not going; I will definitely go] b : to arrive too late for (something or someone) • He missed his train. • I missed the flight/connection by only a few minutes. • She was delayed in traffic and missed her appointment. • You just missed him—he left five minutes ago.

5 [+ obj] : to notice or feel the absence of (someone or something) • I'm so glad you're back. I've missed you. • She left quietly, and it was a while before she was missed. [=before anyone noticed that she had left] • We miss our old friends. [=we feel sad because we are not near our old friends] • I miss being home at Christmas. [=I am sad not to be home at Christmas] • You'll be (sorely/much) missed when you retire. • He misses his wife terribly. • I miss the old neighborhood. • I didn't miss my bag [=I didn't notice that my bag was missing] until I got to the car.

6 [+ obj] a : to fail to understand (something) • You missed the main point of the story. • You're missing my point. • Am I missing something? • She doesn't miss a thing. [=she understands everything that is being said, that is happening, etc.] b : to fail to hear or learn about (something) • Here's the latest news, in case you missed it. • I'm sorry, but I missed the first part of what you said. c : to fail to see or notice (something or someone) • It's a big white building on the corner—you can't miss it [=it is impossible not to see/notice it] • As the only woman in the race, she was hard to miss.

7 [+ obj] : to avoid (something) • Her car skidded off the road and barely missed hitting a telephone pole. • He just missed being seriously hurt. [=he was almost seriously hurt]

8 [no obj] : to fail to succeed • With a cast like this, the movie can't miss. [=it will definitely succeed]

9 [no obj] : MISFIRE 1 • The engine missed.

miss a beat see ²BEAT

miss its/the mark see ¹MARK

miss out [phrasal verb] 1 : to lose an opportunity : to be unable to have or enjoy something • It's too bad you weren't able to come with us. You really missed out. — often + on • You really missed out on a good time. • If you don't act now you could miss out on a great opportunity.

2 miss out (someone or something) or miss (someone or something) out Brit : to leave (someone or something) out : OMIT • You've missed out the most important fact!

miss the boat see ¹BOAT

miss the forest for the trees see TREE

never/not miss a trick see ¹TRICK

²miss noun, pl misses [count]

1 : a failure to hit something • She hit the target five straight times without a miss. • His first shot was a bad miss.

2 : a failure to reach a desired goal or result • Her movies have been a mixture of hits and misses. [=some have been successful and some have not] — see also HIT-AND-MISS, NEAR MISS give (something) a miss chiefly Brit, informal : to choose not to do (something) or go (somewhere) • I had so much else to do that I decided to give the party a miss.

— compare ³MISS

³miss noun, pl misses

1 Miss a — used as a title before the name of an unmarried woman or girl • Miss Jones — compare MRS., MS. b — used as a title before the name of a married woman who does not use her husband's name • Miss Bette Davis c — used as part of a title for a girl or young woman who has won a contest (such as a beauty contest) and who represents the place or thing indicated • Miss America d Brit — used by children as a way to address a female teacher

2 a — used as a polite way to address a girl or young woman • Can I help you, miss? b [count] old-fashioned : a girl or young woman • a talented young miss

3 misses [plural] US : a clothing size for women of average height and weight — usually used before another noun • misses dresses

— compare ²MISS

mis-shap-en /ˌmɪsˈʃeɪpən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : badly shaped : having an ugly shape • a misshapen hand mis-sile /ˈmɪsəl, Brit ˈmɪˌsaɪl/ noun, pl -siles [count] : an object that is thrown, shot, or launched as a weapon • The protesters were arrested for throwing missiles [=rocks, bottles, etc.] at the police.; especially : a rocket that explodes when it hits a distant target • a nuclear missile — see also BALLISTIC MISSILE, CRUISE MISSILE, GUIDED MISSILE, SURFACE-TO-AIR MISSILE, SURFACE-TO-SURFACE MISSILE

miss-ing /ˈmɪsɪŋ/ adj

1 : unable to be found : not in a usual or expected place • My keys are missing. [=I can't find my keys] • One of his front teeth is missing. [=he does not have one of his front teeth; he is missing one of his front teeth] • a missing tooth • missing children — often + from • A few books are missing from the shelf. • She discovered that some important papers were missing from her desk. — sometimes used in the phrase go missing • My keys have gone missing again. [=I cannot find my keys again; my keys are missing again] ♦ This phrase is more common in British English than in U.S. English.

2 : needed or expected but not included • The new director has provided the missing ingredient that was needed for the show's success. • It's a good sauce, but there's something missing. [=it lacks something that would make it better] — often + from • There was something missing from his life.

missing in action — used to say that a soldier cannot be found after a battle and might have been killed, captured, or wounded • soldiers who are missing in action and presumed dead

missing link noun, pl ~ links

1 [count] : something that you do not have and that you need to complete a series or to solve a problem • Police are hopeful that the new evidence will provide the missing links needed to solve the crime.

2 the missing link : a kind of animal that was in some ways like an ape and in some ways like a human being and that is thought to have existed in the past but has not been discovered • scientists searching for the missing link

missing person noun, pl ~ -sons [count] : a person whose location is not known and whose absence has been reported to the police • Their teenage daughter has been officially listed as a missing person since she failed to return home after leaving school. • They've filed a missing person report with the police. [=a document that officially reports that someone is missing]

mis-sion /ˈmɪʃən/ noun, pl -sions [count]

1 a : a task or job that someone is given to do • Our mission was to recover the stolen plans. • He was sent on a fact-finding mission. = He was sent on a mission to gather information. • By patient negotiation she succeeded in her mission of averting a strike. • go on a rescue mission [=go somewhere to rescue someone] • The volunteers were on a mission of mercy to help victims of the disaster. [=the volunteers were sent to help the victims of the disaster] • a mercy mission b : a specific military or naval task • a reconnaissance mission • a peacekeeping mission • a combat/training mission c : a flight by an aircraft or spacecraft to perform a specific task • a bombing mission • a manned space mission • a shuttle mission • a mission to the moon — see also MISSION CONTROL

2 : a task that you consider to be a very important duty • His mission is to help poor children. = He has made it his mission in life to help poor children. = He's a man with a mission to help poor children. • She's on a mission to locate her lost sister. [=she is very determined to find her lost sister]

3 : a group of people sent to a foreign country for a specific reason (such as to have discussions or to provide training or assistance) • a member of a trade mission

4 a : a group of people who are sent to a foreign country to do religious work : a group of missionaries • a Catholic mission b : a place or building where such work is done • touring a Spanish mission in California • a mission church

1 mis-sion-ary /ˈmɪʃəˌneri, Brit ˈmɪʃənəri/ noun, pl -ar-ies [count] : a person who is sent to a foreign country to do religious work (such as to convince people to join a religion or to help people who are sick, poor, etc.) • a Christian missionary

2missionary adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to missionaries • missionary work • a missionary school

2 : very enthusiastic and eager about doing a job or supporting a cause • He spoke with missionary zeal about the project. [=he spoke with great enthusiasm about the project] mission control noun [noncount] : the group of people on the ground who direct or control the flight of a spacecraft • The astronauts received a message from mission control.

mission statement noun, pl ~ -ments [count] : something that states the purpose or goal of a business or organization • The company's mission statement emphasizes its ongoing commitment to meeting the needs of the community.

missis variant spelling of MISSUS

mis-sive /'misiv/ noun, pl -sives [count] formal + humorous : a letter or other written message • a fund-raising missive • She received yet another lengthy missive from her father.

mis-spell /,mis'spel/ verb -spells; -spelled or chiefly Brit -spelt /-'spelt/; -spell-ing [+ obj] : to spell (a word or name) incorrectly • The name of the town had been mis-spelled on the map.

– mis-spell-ing /,mis'spelɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] • The letter contains numerous misspellings.

mis-spend /,mis'spend/ verb -spends; -spent /-'spent/; -spend-ing [+ obj] : to spend or use (something, such as time or money) in a way that is not legal, careful, or wise • Several government officials have been accused of mis-spending public money.

– misspent adj • misspent money • a misspent summer • He enjoys telling stories of his misspent youth. [=of the time when he was young and doing things that are not considered wise or proper] mis-state /,mis'steɪt/ verb -states; -stated; -stating [+ obj] : to state or report (something) incorrectly • The company misstated its profits. • An article in yesterday's paper misstated the name of the district attorney.

– mis-state-ment /,mis'steɪtmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count, noncount] • correcting a misstatement

mis-step /,mis'step/ noun, pl -steps [count] chiefly US : an action or decision that is a mistake • Their decision to relocate the company was a major misstep. • make a strategic misstep [=blunder]

mis-sus also mis-sis /'misəz/ noun, pl -sus-es also -sis-es [count]

1 informal + old-fashioned : WIFE — usually singular • He had another argument with his missus. • How's the missus? — compare MISTER 2

2 Brit, informal — used to address a woman whose name is not known • Need a hand with your luggage, missus?

¹mist /'mist/ noun, pl mists

1 : water in the form of very small drops floating in the air or falling as rain [noncount] We could barely see the shore through the mist. [count] The hills were veiled/shrouded in a fine mist.

2 [count] : a stream of liquid in the form of very small drops : a fine spray • an aerosol mist

3 [count] : something that makes understanding difficult • an issue clouded by mists of confusion lost in the mists of time ✧ Something lost in the mists of time is forgotten because it happened long ago. • The origins of this ancient ritual are lost in the mists of time.

²mist verb mists; mist-ed; mist-ing

1 [no obj] a : to become covered with very small drops of water — usually + up • My glasses misted [=fogged] up when I came in from the cold. b of a person's eyes : to fill with tears • Her eyes misted. — usually + over or up • Her eyes misted over as she thought of her old friends.

2 [+ obj] a : to cover (something) with mist • a misted valley b : to spray (something) with very small drops of water • The plant should be misted regularly.

3 [no obj] : to rain very lightly • It was misting when we arrived. • a misting rain

¹mis-take /mə'steɪk/ noun, pl -takes [count] : something that is not correct : a wrong action, statement, or judgment : ERROR • It would be a mistake to assume that we can rely on their help. • There must be some mistake. • a stupid/careless mistake • a costly/serious/bad mistake • a deadly/fatal/tragic mistake • The manuscript contains numerous spelling mistakes. • There's a mistake in the schedule. • "When does the movie start?" "At 8:00. No, wait—my mistake—it starts at 8:30." • Don't worry about it. It was an honest mistake. [=something that anyone could be wrong about] — often used with make • Everybody makes mistakes from time to time. • I made the mistake of believing her. — see also MAKE NO MISTAKE (below) and no mistake chiefly Brit, old-fashioned — used to stress

the truth or accuracy of a statement • She's the one I saw, and no mistake. [=she is definitely the person I saw]

by mistake : because of a mistake : without intending to • I got on the wrong train by mistake. [=accidentally] make no mistake — used to stress the truth or accuracy of a statement • Make no mistake (about it), if we don't address these problems now, they will only get worse.

²mis-take verb mis-takes; mis-took /mə'stʊk/; mis-taken /mə'steɪkən/; mis-tak-ing [+ obj]

1 : to understand (something or someone) incorrectly • They mistook my meaning.

2 : to make a wrong judgment about (something) • The army's leaders mistook the strength of the enemy. [=they did not realize how strong the enemy was] ✧ If you say there is no mistaking something, it is very clear or obvious. • She may be unconventional but there's no mistaking her ability to run the company. • There was no mistaking his determination. [=his determination was obvious]

3 : to identify (someone or something) incorrectly — usually + for • I mistook him for his brother. [=I thought that he was his brother]

mistaken adj [more ~; most ~] : not correct : incorrect or wrong • I may be mistaken, but I think we've met before. • If you think the job is finished, you are sadly/badly/sorely mistaken. • He ignored the law in the mistaken belief that he was immune from punishment. • If I'm not mistaken, the bus leaves at 7:00. • a mistaken assumption • Her arrest was a case of mistaken identity. [=she was arrested because the police thought she was someone else] • a mistaken impression/interpretation

– mis-tak-en-ly adv • He mistakenly believed that he was immune from punishment.

mis-ter /'mɪstə/ noun, pl -ters

1 Mister — used sometimes in writing instead of Mr.

2 [count] US, informal + old-fashioned : HUSBAND — usually singular • She went off to the store while the/her mister [=her husband] stayed home. — compare MISSUS 1

3 informal — used in speech especially by children to address a man whose name is not known • Hey mister, do you want to buy a paper?

mis-time /,mis'taɪm/ verb -times; -timed; -tim-ing [+ obj] : to do or say (something) at the wrong time : to time (something) incorrectly • They mistimed their arrival. • a mistimed remark • The batter mistimed his swing.

mis-tle-toe /'mɪsl,təʊ/ noun [noncount] : a plant with yellowish flowers and white berries that is traditionally used as a Christmas decoration ✧ Pieces of mistletoe are often hung from the ceiling or in a doorway at Christmastime. According to tradition, if you stand with someone under a piece of mistletoe, you are supposed to kiss that person.

mistook past tense of ²MISTAKE

mis-treat /,mis'tri:t/ verb -treats; -treat-ed; -treat-ing [+ obj] : to treat (someone or something) badly : ABUSE • They accuse him of mistreating his wife. • She claimed she had been mistreated by the police.

– mis-treat-ment /,mis'tri:təmənt/ noun [noncount] • the mistreatment of prisoners

mis-tress /'mɪstrəs/ noun, pl -tress-es [count]

1 : a woman who has control or power over others: such as a : a woman who has a servant or slave • Servants were required to do the mistress's bidding without question. b : a woman who owns a pet (such as a dog) • The dog was always obedient to its master and mistress. c formal : the female head of a household • the master and mistress of the house — compare MASTER

2 : a woman who has control of something • She proved herself (to be) mistress of the situation.

3 : a woman who has a sexual relationship with a married man • a married man who has/keeps a mistress • His wife suspected that the woman she'd seen with him was his mistress.

4 a chiefly Brit, old-fashioned : a female teacher : SCHOOLMISTRESS — see also HEADMISTRESS b Mistress — used as a title for the female head of certain British colleges • She was Mistress of Girton (College).

5 Mistress old-fashioned — used as a title before the name of a woman • Mistress Jones

mistress of ceremonies noun, pl mistresses of ceremonies [count] : a woman who introduces guests, speakers, or performers at a formal event : a woman who is a master of ceremonies mis-tri-al /'mɪs,tɹajəl/ noun, pl -als [count] law : a trial that is not valid because of an error or because the jury is unable to decide a verdict • The judge declared a mistrial.

¹mis-trust /ˌmɪsˈtrʌst/ noun : lack of trust or confidence : a feeling that someone is not honest and cannot be trusted [noncount] She was very open about her mistrust [=distrust] of politicians. [singular] She has a strong mistrust of politicians.

— mis-trust-ful /ˌmɪsˈtrʌstfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] — often + of • She is mistrustful of politicians. — mis-trust-fully /ˌmɪsˈtrʌstfəli/ adv

²mistrust verb -trusts; -trust-ed; -trust-ing [+ obj] : to have no trust or confidence in (someone or something) : DIS-TRUST • She mistrusts politicians. • I was starting to mistrust my own judgment.

misty /ˈmɪsti/ adj mist-i-er; -est

1 : full of mist • a misty valley • misty weather

2 : not clearly seen or remembered • misty [=vague, indistinct] memories of the past

3 informal : TEARFUL • misty eyes • I get (all) misty [=I get tears in my eyes; I feel sentimental] when I hear that song.

— mist-i-ly /ˈmɪstəli/ adv • memories mistily remembered — mist-i-ness /ˈmɪstɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • the mistiness of the weather

misty-eyed /ˈmɪstiˈaɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having tears in your eyes • He gets misty-eyed when he talks about that time.

2 : dreamy or sentimental • misty-eyed recollections mis-un-der-stand /ˌmɪsˌʌndəˈstænd/ verb -stands; -stood /-ˈstʊd/; -stand-ing [+ obj] : to fail to understand (someone or something) correctly • Don't misunderstand me—I'm not criticizing your decision. • You misunderstood my question. • He feels that the critics have completely misunderstood his movies. • She expressed herself in clear terms that no one could misunderstand.

misunderstanding noun, pl -ings

1 : a failure to understand something [noncount] The instructions are carefully written in order to avoid/prevent misunderstanding. [count] Her comments reflect a misunderstanding of the basic problem. • using clear language to avoid misunderstandings

2 [count] : a usually minor argument or disagreement • an unfortunate misunderstanding between old friends • We had our little misunderstandings in the past but we managed to clear them up long ago.

mis-un-der-stood /ˌmɪsˌʌndəˈstʊd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : thought of incorrectly : not understood • a misunderstood genius • This is a common and often misunderstood problem. • He sees himself as a misunderstood victim of the media.

¹mis-use /ˌmɪsˈjuːz/ verb -us-es; -used; -us-ing [+ obj]

1 : to use (something) incorrectly • She's charged with misusing company funds. • a word that is frequently misused

2 : to treat (someone) unfairly • He feels he has been misused [= (more commonly) mistreated] by the press.

— mis-us-age /ˌmɪsˈjuːsɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] • misusage [= (more commonly) misuse] of company funds

²mis-use /ˌmɪsˈjuːs/ noun, pl -us-es : the act of using something in an illegal, improper, or unfair way : incorrect use [noncount] No refunds will be offered on products damaged by/through misuse. — usually + of • the misuse of words • She's charged with misuse of company funds. [count] — usually + of • a common misuse of a word • misuses of power mite /ˈmaɪt/ noun, pl mites [count]

1 : a very small creature that often lives on plants, animals, and foods — see also DUST MITE

2 : a small person (such as a child) or thing • his mite of a daughter • a tiny mite of a woman • This little vacuum cleaner is a mighty mite [=something that is small but very strong or powerful]

3 old-fashioned : a very small amount • There could be a mite [= (more commonly) bit] of trouble.

a mite : to a small degree : somewhat or slightly • The box could stand to be a mite bigger. • The movie's plot is a mite [=a bit, a little] confusing. • This is a mite embarrassing.

¹mi-ter (US) or Brit mi-tre /ˈmaɪtər/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a high pointed hat worn by a bishop or abbot in church ceremonies

2 : MITER JOINT

²miter (US) or Brit mitre verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [+ obj] technical : to match or fit (boards) together in a miter joint • The corners of the frame were carefully mitered.

miter joint (US) or Brit mitre joint noun, pl ~ joints [count] : a joint or corner made by cutting the edges of two boards at an angle and fitting them together

mit-i-gate /ˈmɪtəˌɡeɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) less severe, harmful, or painful • Emergency funds are being provided to help mitigate the effects of the disaster. • mitigate a punishment • medicines used to mitigate a patient's suffering — see also UN-MITIGATED

— mit-i-ga-tion /ˌmɪtəˈɡeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the mitigation of suffering/punishment

mitigating adj — used to describe something (such as an unusual situation) that makes something (such as a crime or a mistake) seem less serious or deserving of blame; usually used in the phrase mitigating circumstances/factors • His sentence was reduced because of mitigating circumstances. [=extenuating circumstances]

mitt /ˈmɪt/ noun, pl mitts [count]

1 : MITTEN • children bundled up in hats and mitts — see also OVEN MITT

2 baseball a : a special type of heavy glove worn by the catcher • a catcher's mitt b : a special type of glove worn by the first baseman • a first baseman's mitt

3 informal : HAND • He can hold anything in those big mitts of his.

mit-ten /ˈmɪtn/ noun, pl -tens [count] : a covering for the hand that has a separate part for the thumb only — compare GLOVE

— mit-tened /ˈmɪtnəd/ adj • a mittened hand [=a hand wearing a mitten]

¹mix /ˈmɪks/ verb mix-es; mixed; mix-ing

1 a : to combine (two or more things) to make one thing that is the same throughout : to combine (two or more substances) to make a different substance [+ obj] Mix [=blend] flour and water (together) to make a paste. • To make frosting for the cake, mix powdered sugar with a little milk and vanilla. • You can make purple by mixing the colors red and blue. [no obj] Add the ingredients and mix [=blend] well. b [+ obj] : to add (something) to something else • Mix some water with the flour to make a paste. — often + in or into • I mixed in [=added] a little more sugar. • Slowly mix [=stir] in the rice. • Mix water into the flour to make a paste.

2 [no obj] : to be combined and become one thing that is the same throughout • Oil will not mix with water. = Oil and water don't mix. • Flour can mix [=blend, combine] with water to make a paste.

3 [+ obj] : to make or prepare (something, such as an alcoholic drink) by combining different things • Please mix a drink for me. = Please mix me a drink.

4 [+ obj] : to make (a recording of music) by electronically putting sounds together from more than one source • She mixed her own CD of dance music.

5 [+ obj] : to bring (different things) together • His novel mixes humor with drama. • Playing golf with clients is one way to mix business with pleasure. [=to do something enjoyable that is related to your work]

6 [no obj] : to talk in a friendly way with different people and especially with strangers • She mixes well in social situations. • Our families don't mix [=don't get along] with each other.

7 [no obj] : to be able to be combined or put together in a way that has good results — used in negative statements • Drinking (alcohol) and driving don't mix. [=you should not drive after you have been drinking alcohol] • They claim that art and politics do not mix.

mix and match : to put different things (such as pieces of clothing) together in different ways • She's able to mix and match her sweaters with different skirts to create new outfits. • She buys clothing that she can mix and match.

mix it up (US) or Brit mix it informal : to fight or argue • The two boxers started mixing it up. • He loves to mix it up with his younger brothers.

mix up [phrasal verb] informal 1 mix (someone or something) up or mix up (someone or something) : to mistakenly think that (someone or something) is someone or something else • Those two women look so much alike—I always mix them up. [=I never know who is who] • He got the days mixed up [=confused] and thought the meeting was today. • I always mix up the times when my classes start. 2 mix (something) up or mix up (something) : to mistakenly put (something) in a place where something else should be • I accidentally mixed up the two files. [=I put each of the files in the place where the other one should have gone] — often + with • Did my homework get mixed up with your papers? 3 mix (someone) up or mix up (someone) a : to cause (someone) to be involved in a usually dangerous or improper activity or situation — usually used as (be/get) mixed up in • He got mixed up in a plan to destroy the government. [=he became involved in a plan to destroy the government] b : to cause (someone) to become involved with a particular group of people and especially with people who cause trouble — usually used as (be/get) mixed up with • She was mixed up with the wrong crowd. • teenage boys getting mixed up with gangs — see also MIXED-UP, MIX-UP

²mix noun, pl mixes

1 : a dry mixture of ingredients that is sold in one package and used for making something (such as a type of food) [count] a cake mix • a new brand of soup mixes [noncount] We bought two boxes of muffin mix. • a bag of cement mix [=material that forms cement when you add water to it]

2 [singular] : a combination of different kinds of things : MIXTURE • a snack mix containing pretzels, nuts, and raisins — often + of • We worked on finding the right mix of food, music, and decorations for the wedding. • They talked to each other in a mix of English and Spanish. • an attractive mix of red, orange, and yellow flowers

mixed /'mɪkst/ adj

1 always used before a noun : made of different kinds of things mixed together or combined • a can of mixed nuts • bags of mixed candy • We ate salads of mixed greens.

2 a : including or involving people of different races or religions • They live in a mixed neighborhood. • She's of mixed African and European ancestry. • children of mixed race/races • people of mixed racial origin/ancestry • a racially mixed couple b : including or involving people of both sexes • She went to a mixed school. [=a school for both boys and girls] • a mixed chorus • playing mixed doubles in tennis [=a game of doubles in which each team has a man and a woman] ♦ When people are in mixed company, they are with both men and women. • The women never spoke of sex or pregnancy in mixed company. [=when men were present]

3 : both good and bad, favorable and unfavorable, etc. • The play received mixed reviews. = The play's reviews were mixed. [=some critics liked the play, while other critics did not] • His decision got a mixed reaction from the family. • The experiment got mixed results. ♦ When people have mixed emotions or mixed feelings about something, they have both good and bad thoughts or feelings about it. • He had mixed emotions [=he was both happy and sad] about the end of his trip. • I'm having mixed feelings about this class.

mixed messages/signals ♦ Someone gives mixed messages or mixed signals by showing a thought or feeling and then showing another very different thought or feeling. • I don't know if he likes me; he keeps giving me mixed messages. • She's sending mixed signals about her feelings.

mixed bag noun [singular]

1 : a collection of different kinds of things — often + of • The movie has a mixed bag of characters. • We're working with a mixed bag of old and new ideas.

2 : something that has both good and bad qualities or parts • His performance was a mixed bag.

mixed blessing noun, pl ~ -ings [count] : something that is good in some ways and bad in other ways • He says that computers are a mixed blessing because sometimes they help and sometimes they create problems. • Living next to your in-laws can be a mixed blessing.

mixed drink noun, pl ~ drinks [count] : an alcoholic drink made with two or more ingredients • a mixed drink of rum and soda mixed economy noun, pl ~ -mies [count] : an economy in which some companies are owned by the government and other companies are not mixed marriage noun, pl ~ -riages : marriage between two people of different races or religions [count] children of mixed marriages [noncount] a culture in which mixed marriage is rare mixed metaphor noun, pl ~ -phors [count] : a metaphor that combines different images or ideas in a way that is foolish or illogical • "If we want to get ahead we'll have to iron out the remaining bottlenecks" is an example of a mixed metaphor.

mixed-up /'mɪkst'ʌp/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal

1 : confused and usually emotionally troubled : not capable of making good decisions about life • They're just a bunch of crazy, mixed-up kids.

2 : confusing, difficult to understand, and filled with problems • This is a crazy, mixed-up world we live in. • He has mixed-up ideas about our past. — often written as two separate words when used following a verb • She's a nice person, but her life is really mixed up. — see also mix up at ¹MIX

mix-er /'mɪksə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a machine used for mixing things • a handheld mixer • Using an electric mixer, blend the cake batter on medium (speed) for two minutes. • a cement mixer [=a large machine that keeps cement wet and soft by turning until the cement is used] — see picture at KITCHEN

2 : a drink (such as soda) that does not contain alcohol and that is used in an alcoholic mixed drink • Orange juice is her favorite mixer.

3 : someone who controls the recording of sounds (such as the words and music) that go with a movie or television show • the sound mixer

4 ♦ A good mixer is someone who is comfortable in social situations and can talk easily with other people. A poor mixer is uncomfortable or awkward in social situations. • For a politician, she was not a very good mixer. • He was shy and a poor mixer.

5 chiefly US : a social gathering to help people in a group meet each other in a friendly and informal way • an informal mixer mixing bowl noun, pl ~ bowls [count] : a large bowl used in cooking for mixing ingredients — see picture at KITCHEN

mix-ture /'mɪkstʃə/ noun, pl -tures

1 [count] : something made by combining two or more ingredients • Stir the sugar and butter until the mixture is light and fluffy. • Now add eggs to the mixture. • Pour the cake mixture into a well-greased pan and bake. — often + of • The chicken was marinated in a mixture of oil and spices. • The horses were fed a mixture of grass and oats.

2 [count] : a combination of different things — + of • The dog's coat is a mixture of yellow, brown, and black fur. • We were feeling a mixture of fear and excitement. • They talked to each other in a mixture of English and Spanish.

3 [noncount] : the act of mixing two or more things together — + of • a society formed by the gradual mixture of different cultures mix-up /'mɪks'ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] : a mistake caused by confusion about something • Because of a mix-up [=mistake, error] at the hotel, we were overcharged for our stay. • The mix-ups nearly cost him his job. • I thought you were someone else. Sorry for the mix-up. [=misunderstanding, confusion] — see also mix up at ¹MIX

ml abbr milliliter

mm abbr millimeter

MN abbr Minnesota

mne-mon-ic /nɪ'mɑ:nɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : something (such as a word, a sentence, or a song) that helps people remember something (such as a rule or a list of names) • HOMES is used as a mnemonic for the names of the Great Lakes: Huron, Ontario, Michigan, Erie, and Superior.

— mnemonic adj • a mnemonic device

mo /'mou/ noun [singular] chiefly Brit, informal : a short time • Hang on a mo [=moment]: who did you say you'd seen?

Mo. abbr Monday

¹MO /'em'ou/ noun, pl MOs [count] : a usual way of performing a crime : MODUS OPERANDI • two thieves with very different MOs

²MO abbr Missouri

¹moan /'moun/ verb moans; moaned; moan-ing

1 [no obj] : to make a long, low sound because of pain, unhappiness, or physical pleasure • The wounded soldier moaned in/with pain. • The crowd moaned [=groaned] as the other team scored another goal. • He moaned with pleasure as she rubbed his back.

2 a [no obj] : to express unhappiness about something : COMPLAIN • We were all moaning about the cold, rainy weather. • He's always moaning about his salary. • The children were moaning and groaning all morning, but their mother would not let them go outside. • I'm tired of all his moaning and groaning about his salary. b [+ obj] : to say (something) in a way that shows pain or unhappiness • "But I don't want to go," moaned the boy. • "Oh, my stomach hurts," she moaned. = She moaned that her stomach hurt.

3 [no obj] : to make a long, low sound • The wind moaned in the trees.

— moan-er /'mounə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • He dismisses his critics as a bunch of moaners. [=people who are always unhappy or complaining about something]

²moan noun, pl moans [count]

1 : a long, low sound that someone makes because of pain, unhappiness, or physical pleasure • She let out a long, deep moan. • a moan of despair/pleasure • a low/feeble/weak moan

2 : a long, low sound • the moan of the wind • the moan of the car's engine

3 Brit, informal : a complaint about something • He's always having a moan [=complaining] about his job.

moat /'mout/ noun, pl moats [count] : a deep, wide ditch that is usually filled with water and that goes around the walls of a place (such as a castle) to protect it from being attacked

¹mob /'ma:b/ noun, pl mobs

1 [count] : a large group or crowd of people who are angry or violent or difficult to control • The angry mob smashed store windows and attacked people on the streets. • The police had to be called in to handle/disperse the growing/gathering mob. • violent mobs — see also LYNCH MOB, MOB SCENE

2 [count] informal : a large number of people — usually + of • On our walk, we were passed by a mob of bicycle riders. — often plural • Mobs of teenagers filled the room. • The team was greeted by mobs of excited fans.

3 the mob or the Mob informal : a secret organized group of criminals • The Mob [=the Mafia] controlled most businesses in the city. • He was jailed for his dealings with the Mob. — often used as mob before another noun • Their family had mob [=Mafia] connections. • a mob boss [=someone who controls part of an organized criminal group] — see also MOBSTER

4 the mob old-fashioned : the people of a society who are poor and uneducated • politicians trying to keep the mob happy ♦ This use of the mob is now usually considered insulting.

²mob verb mobs; mobbed; mob-bing [+ obj]

1 of a group of people : to move close to (someone) in an excited way : to crowd around (someone) in an aggressive, excited, or annoying way • The actor's fans mobbed him wherever he went. — often used as (be) mobbed • The actor was mobbed by fans wherever he went. • I walked into the room and was immediately mobbed by small children.

2 : to come together in (a place) with many other people • Shoppers mobbed the stores during the holidays. — often used as (be) mobbed • The stores were mobbed by/with customers.

— mobbed adj • The stores were mobbed [=very crowded] today! • mobbed airports

¹mo-bile /'moubəl, 'mou,bajəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : able to move from one place to another • the age at which most babies become mobile [=able to crawl or walk] • The doctors say she will be mobile [=able to walk] again when her broken leg heals. b : able to move with the use of vehicles (such as trucks and airplanes) • Their armies are now fully mobile. • mobile fighting forces • mobile troops

2 : able to be moved • Computers have become more mobile [=portable] in recent years. • mobile hospital equipment • The news station has two mobile television units [=trucks or vans with television equipment] for reporting news directly from where events happen. • a mobile kitchen that helps bring food to homeless people • mobile health clinics • a mobile crime laboratory

3 : able to move from one level of a society to another • socially mobile workers — see also UPWARDLY MOBILE

²mo-bile /'mou,bi:l, Brit 'məubail/ noun, pl -biles [count]

1 : a work of art or a decoration that is hung from above and that has attached shapes or figures that move easily in the air • They hung a mobile over the baby's bed.

2 Brit, informal : CELL PHONE • Even if I'm out of the office you can reach me on my mobile.

mobile home noun, pl ~ homes [count] : a house that is built in a factory and then moved to the place where people will live in it — compare MOTOR HOME

mobile home

mobile library noun, pl ~ -braries [count] Brit : BOOKMOBILE

mobile phone noun, pl ~ phones [count] : CELL PHONE

mo-bil-i-ty /mou'biləti/ noun [noncount]

1 : the ability or tendency to move from one position or situation to another usually better one • Social mobility is often affected by a person's birth, income, and education. • The degree of economic mobility is different in different societies. • the career mobility of women • the geographic mobility of a country's workers [=the tendency of workers to move from one place to another]

2 : ability to move quickly and easily • The army has improved its weapons and increased its mobility since the last war. • He was a great football player known for his mobility on the field. • She lost mobility in her left hand. • elderly people with limited mobility

mo-bi-lize also Brit mo-bi-lise /'moubə,lai:z/ verb -liz-es; -lized; -liz-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to bring (people) together for action • The President mobilized [=rallied] his supporters. • They couldn't mobilize enough support to pass the new law. b [no obj] : to come together for action • Several groups have mobilized to oppose the proposed new law. • They have the ability to mobilize quickly.

2 [+ obj] : to make (soldiers, an army, etc.) ready for war • The government had to mobilize the army quickly. • More than 10,000 troops were mobilized for war. • mobilizing the nation's resources mob scene noun, pl ~ scenes [count] US : a place or situation where a crowd of people behave in a violent or uncontrolled way • The peaceful protest quickly turned into a mob scene as protesters began fighting the police.; also : a very crowded place or situation • The store became a real mob scene.

— mo-bi-li-za-tion also Brit mo-bi-li-sa-tion /,moubə'lə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,məubə,lai'zeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • The army carried out a full-scale mobilization.

mob-ster /'ma:bstə/ noun, pl -sters [count] : someone who is part of a secret organized group of criminals : a member of the Mob • a reputed mobster

mo-c-a-sin /'ma:kəsən/ noun, pl -sins [count] : a flat shoe that is made of soft leather and is similar to a shoe originally worn by some Native Americans — see picture at SHOE; see also WATER MOCCASIN mo-cha /'moukə, Brit 'møkə/ noun, pl -chas [count, non-count] : a drink that is a mixture of coffee and chocolate • a cup of mocha

¹mock /'ma:k/ verb mocks; mocked; mock-ing [+ obj]

1 : to laugh at or make fun of (someone or something) especially by copying an action or a way of behaving or speaking • The boys mocked him for showing fear. • They mocked his cries for help. [=they imitated his cries for help in an exaggerated way that was meant to ridicule him] • Other children would mock her accent. [=would make fun of the way she spoke by copying it in an exaggerated way]

2 : to criticize and laugh at (someone or something) for being bad, worthless, or unimportant • He mocks art only because he doesn't understand it. • They continue to mock the idea of a new government. • We are being mocked for our religious beliefs. • You can mock me as much as you like, but I'm going to do it anyway.

— mock-er /'ma:kə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • mockers of poetry — mocking adj [more ~; most ~] • mocking words • a mocking crowd — mock-ing-ly /'ma:kɪŋli/ adv • They laughed at him mockingly.

²mock adj, always used before a noun

1 : not based on real or honest feelings • "I'd love to go," he said with a mock [=feigned, fake] smile. • We stared at him in mock surprise. • mock anger

2 : done or performed to look like the real thing • Two boys started a mock [=simulated] fight in the hallway. • Every summer, our history club performs mock battles to relive our country's greatest war. • a mock trial [=a fake legal trial used for education and practice] • a mock election

³mock noun, pl mocks [count] Brit : an exam that does not count and that is done to practice for a real exam : a mock exam — usually plural • He did so well on the mocks that I'm sure he'll pass the real ones.

mock-ery /'ma:kəri/ noun

1 [noncount] : behavior or speech that makes fun of someone or something in a hurtful way : mocking behavior or speech • The bright orange house was an object of mockery on our street. [=people mocked the house; people laughed at it and criticized it] • His kind of personality invites mockery. • the children's cruel mockery of each other

2 [singular] : a bad or useless copy of something • The judge's decisions are a mockery of real justice. [=the judge's decisions are very unjust] ✧ If you make a mockery of something, you make it seem ridiculous or useless. • The judge's decisions have made a mockery of the legal system. • He's made a mockery of our marriage.

mock·ing·bird /'mɑ:kɪŋ,bɜ:d/ noun, pl -birds [count] : a North American bird that sings loudly and copies the songs of other birds — see color picture on page C9

mock turtleneck noun, pl ~ -necks [count] US : a knit shirt or sweater with a high collar that goes all the way around your neck and that is not folded down — called also (chiefly Brit) turtleneck

mock-up /'mɑ:kʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] : a full-sized model of something (such as a boat or a car) that is used for studying, testing, or showing its features

mod·al /'moudl/ noun, pl -als [count] grammar : MODAL VERB

modal verb noun, pl ~ verbs [count] grammar : a verb (such as can, could, shall, should, ought to, will, or would) that is usually used with another verb to express ideas such as possibility, necessity, and permission — called also modal, modal auxiliary, modal auxiliary verb

mod cons /,mɑ:d'kɑ:nz/ noun [plural] Brit, informal : the equipment and features that are found in a modern home and that make life easier and more comfortable • Well, I see your new house has got all the mod cons you'd expect: a washing machine, a dishwasher, central heating . . . ✧ Mod cons is taken from the phrase "modern conveniences."

mode /'moud/ noun, pl modes [count]

1 formal a : a particular form or type of something (such as transportation or behavior) • We're changing the factory's mode [=method] of operation in order to save money. • Technology has created new modes of communication. • different modes of thought • buses, trains, airplanes, and other modes of transportation b : a particular way of doing something • We're using a new mode [=method] of teaching. • a different mode [=way] of living • new modes of thinking

2 : the state in which a machine does a particular function • The VCR has two different recording modes. • When taking pictures indoors, put the camera in flash mode.

3 informal : a specified way of thinking, feeling, or acting • Let's get into work mode. [=let's get ready to work] • When I'm in my creative mode [=when I'm feeling creative], I can write for hours. • Reading helps me get into my relaxation mode. • He goes into attack mode [=he becomes very hostile and aggressive] whenever his decisions are questioned.

— see also À LA MODE

1 mod·el /'mɑ:dəl/ noun, pl -els [count]

1 : a usually small copy of something • She's building a model of the Earth for science class. • models of famous buildings • a plastic model of the human heart • a scale model [=a small but exact copy] of a ship

2 : a particular type or version of a product (such as a car or computer) • We've improved on last year's model, making the car safer and easier to control. • He bought one of the old 1965 models. • We couldn't afford one of the fancy TVs and had to buy the standard model.

3 : a set of ideas and numbers that describe the past, present, or future state of something (such as an economy or a business) • a mathematical model • We've developed a computer model of the economy to predict what will happen in the future. • Companies are developing new business models.

4 a : something or someone that is a very good example of something • The city is now a model of safety and cleanliness. [=the city is now very safe and clean] • He is a model of politeness. [=he is very polite] • The country was the model of a peaceful nation for over 50 years. b : something or someone that deserves to be copied by others • The country's economy is a model for the rest of the world. • Her work has become a model to/for other writers. • These soldiers serve as models for their country. — see also ROLE MODEL

5 : someone who is paid to wear clothing, jewelry, etc., in photographs, fashion shows, etc., so that people will see and want to buy what is being worn • a fashion model • male models • She's a model turned actress. [=a model who later became an actress] — see also SUPERMODEL

6 : someone whose image is painted, photographed, etc., by an artist • The same model sat/posed for several of his paintings. • drawings of nude models • an artist's model

2 model adj, always used before a noun

1 : deserving to be copied by others : very good or excellent • They're all model students. • He's a model husband. • Our university has a model program for training its athletes.

2 — used to describe something that is a small copy of something larger • a model airplane • He'll play with his model trains for hours.

3 model verb -els; US -eled or Brit -elled; US -el-ing or Brit -el-ling

1 [+ obj] : to design (something) so that it is similar to something else — + on or (chiefly US) after • They modeled their educational system on the U.S. system. [=they used the U.S. system as a model when they created their educational system] • His best dish is closely modeled on his mother's recipe. [=is based on and very similar to his mother's recipe] • The church was modeled after an earlier French design.

2 [+ obj] a : to make a small copy of (something) : to create a model of (something) • The faces of the gods were modeled in white stone. b : to make something by forming or shaping clay or some other material • modeling [=molding] figures in/from clay = modeling clay into figures

3 : to wear clothing, jewelry, etc., in photographs, fashion shows, etc., so that people will see and want to buy what you are wearing [+ obj] They're modeling this year's new spring fashions. • She got a job modeling shoes for a catalog company. • a fashion model who has angered animal lovers by modeling fur coats [no obj] She models [=she works as a fashion model] for the world's most successful modeling agency.

4 [no obj] : to be a model for an artist : to be painted or photographed by an artist • She agreed to model for him and appeared in many of his most famous works.

model yourself on or chiefly US model yourself after : to try to be like and to behave like (someone you admire) • She models herself on the leaders that came before her. • Children often model themselves after their parents.

— mod·el·er (US) or Brit mod·el·ler /'mɑ:dəl/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a ship modeler [=someone who makes small copies of ships]

mod·el·ing (US) or Brit mod·el·ing /'mɑ:dəlɪŋ/ noun [non-count]

1 : the work of a fashion model : the job of displaying things for sale usually by wearing them and being photographed • She hoped modeling would help start her acting career. — often used before another noun • a modeling agency • his modeling career

2 : the act or activity of making small copies of things (such as planes, trains, etc.) : the hobby of making models • ship modeling

3 : a process in which computers use a set of ideas and numbers to describe the past, present, or future state of something (such as an economy or a business) • Computer modeling helps scientists understand the Earth's weather systems. • economic modeling

mo·dem /'moudəm/ noun, pl -dems [count] : a device that changes the form of electric signals so that information can be sent through telephone lines from one computer to another computer • a high-speed modem

1 mod·er·ate /'mɑ:dərət/ adj

1 a : average in size or amount : neither too much nor too little • Her doctor recommended moderate exercise. • There were moderate levels of chemicals in the lake. • drinking moderate amounts of coffee • Most of these medicines relieve mild to moderate pain. • a family of moderate income • a book of moderate length • a moderate distance b : neither very good nor very bad • The group met with only moderate success. • a writer of moderate talent

2 [more ~; most ~] : not expensive : not too high in price • The hotel offers comfortable rooms at moderate prices.

3 [more ~; most ~] : having or expressing political beliefs that are neither very liberal nor very conservative • Both moderate Democrats and moderate Republicans can agree on this new law. • She holds a moderate position on the subject of taxes. • The group is in need of more moderate voices. [=the group needs more members who do not express extreme ideas]

4 [more ~; most ~] a : avoiding behavior that goes beyond what is normal, healthy, or acceptable • a moderate eater [=a person who does not eat too much] • a moderate diet • He believes that moderate drinking is healthy. • a person of moderate habits b : not showing strong emotions or excitement • She expressed herself in moderate [=calm, reasonable] language.

²mod·er·ate /'mɑ:dərət/ noun, pl -ates [count] : a person whose political ideas are not extreme : a person who has moderate opinions or is a member of a moderate political group • Moderates from both political parties have agreed on an economic plan.

³mod·er·ate /'mɑ:də'reɪt/ verb -ates; -at·ed; -at·ing

1 : to make (something) less harsh, strong, or severe or to become less harsh, strong, or severe [+ obj] The protesters have been unwilling to moderate their demands. [no obj] The wind moderated [=lessened] after the storm.

2 : to guide a discussion or direct a meeting that involves a group of people [no obj] She moderates at our office meetings. [+ obj] She moderates our discussions so that we don't argue or talk at the same time. • moderate a debate

mod·er·ate·ly /'mɑ:dərətli/ adv

1 : not completely or extremely : to a moderate degree or extent • a moderately [=fairly, rather, somewhat] sweet wine • a moderately hot day • The medicine is only moderately effective against coughs. • Cook the chicken over moderately high heat for three minutes.

2 [more ~; most ~] : in a way that is not too expensive : in a moderate way • We tried to find a more moderately priced hotel. • moderately priced wines

mod·er·a·tion /,mɑ:də'reɪʃən/ noun

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being reasonable and avoiding behavior, speech, etc., that is extreme or that goes beyond what is normal or acceptable • She expressed her opinions with moderation. = She showed moderation in the expression of her opinions. [=she expressed her opinions moderately] • The organization is encouraging moderation among the world's leaders. • a diet of moderation [=a moderate diet] • He has been a voice of moderation. [=a person saying things that are reasonable and moderate]

2 : a decrease in something that is strong or severe — often + in [singular] The weather has been extremely hot, but the forecast calls for a slight moderation in temperatures over the next several days. [=temperatures will become slightly cooler] [noncount] We should be seeing some moderation in the growth of the economy.

in moderation : in a way that is reasonable and not excessive : in a moderate way • She believes in doing things in moderation. • Some people say that drinking alcohol in moderation can be good for you.

mod·er·a·tor /'mɑ:də'reɪtər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : someone who leads a discussion in a group and tells each person when to speak : someone who moderates a meeting or discussion • The moderator allowed audience members to ask the governor questions. • She acts as the moderator in our office meetings.

¹mod·ern /'mɑ:dən/ adj

1 always used before a noun a : of or relating to the present time or the recent past : happening, existing, or developing at a time near the present time • ancient and modern history • He talked about the role of television in modern [=contemporary] politics. • The country's modern [=present] government was formed over 100 years ago. • The earthquake was one of the worst disasters in modern [=recent] times. • Water pollution is a growing problem in the modern world. • the modern American family [=the typical American family living today] • He's known as the father of modern medicine. b or Mod·ern : of or relating to the current or most recent period of a language • The English that was spoken by William Shakespeare is very different from the modern English spoken today. • She is learning Modern Greek.

2 [more ~; most ~] : based on or using the newest information, methods, or technology • We'll need to have modern [=up-to-date] plumbing and wiring installed in the old house before we can move in. • They live in one of the most modern cities in the world. • modern methods of communication including e-mail and the Internet

3 [more ~; most ~] : of or relating to a style or way of thinking that is new and different • She cut her long hair for a modern look. • He made his old-fashioned apartment look more modern by changing the color of the walls and buying new furniture. • Their latest movie is a modern version of a classic children's story. • She has modern ideas about dating and marriage. — opposite OLD-FASHIONED

4 : of or relating to forms of art (such as dance, music, and architecture) in which the styles used are newer and very different from the older and more traditional styles • She loves both ballet and modern dance. • a combination of classical and modern architecture • a museum of modern art

— mod·ern·ness /'mɑ:dənnəs/ noun [noncount] • the modernness of an artist's style

²modern noun, pl -erns [count] : a modern person: such as a : a person who has modern ideas, tastes, or attitudes — usually plural • furniture designed for young moderns b : a modern artist or writer — usually plural • comparing the art of the ancients and the moderns

mod·ern·day /'mɑ:dən'deɪ/ adj, always used before a noun : existing today • problems facing most modern-day families • modern-day China — often used to indicate that someone or something of the present is similar to someone or something of the past • The two lovers are a modern-day [=latter-day] Romeo and Juliet. • He's been called a modern-day saint. • the modern-day equivalent of slavery

mod·ern·ism /'mɑ:də'nɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a style of art, architecture, literature, etc., that uses ideas and methods which are very different from those used in the past — compare POSTMODERNISM

— mod·ern·ist /'mɑ:dənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • a leading modernist — modernist adj [more ~; most ~] • a modernist painter — mod·ern·is·tic /,mɑ:də'nɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a somewhat modernistic style mo·der·ni·ty /mə'dənəti/ noun [noncount] formal : the quality of being modern • the modernity of an artist's style : a modern way of living or thinking • a traditional town that has resisted modernity

mod·ern·ize also Brit mod·ern·ise /'mɑ:də'naɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz·ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (something) modern and more suited to present styles or needs • We're modernizing our kitchen with a new oven, refrigerator, and dishwasher. • The country recently announced plans to begin modernizing its army. • The school needs a building with modernized classrooms.

2 [no obj] : to become modern : to begin using the newest information, methods, or technology • Older companies will need to modernize quickly if they are to survive in today's economy.

— mod·ern·i·za·tion also Brit mod·ern·i·sa·tion /,mɑ:dənə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,mɒdə'naɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • a company in need of modernization

mod·est /'mɑ:dəst/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not very large in size or amount • Despite its modest [=somewhat small] size, the city has many things to offer tourists. • They own a modest home near the beach. • She enjoyed modest success with her singing career. • He earns a modest income. • We live on a modest budget. • New cars are now available at relatively modest prices. • He has only a modest amount of knowledge on the subject. • It is a book of only modest importance.

2 approving : not too proud or confident about yourself or your abilities : not showing or feeling great or excessive pride • She's very modest about her achievements. • Don't be so modest. Your performance was wonderful! • "I'm not a hero. I was just doing my job," he said in his characteristically modest way. • He is unusually modest for a man who is so famous and successful. — opposite IMMODEST

3 a of clothing : not showing too much of a person's body • She preferred wearing more modest swimsuits. • In some countries, women must wear very modest clothing in public. b : shy about showing your body especially in a sexual way : preferring to wear modest clothing • a modest young woman — opposite IMMODEST

— mod·est·ly adv • Our business has been modestly successful. • a modestly priced car • a modestly dressed young woman • She modestly refused to accept credit for the team's success.

mod·es·ty /'mɑ:dəsti/ noun [noncount] : the quality of being modest: such as a : the quality of not being too proud or confident about yourself or your abilities • She accepted the award with modesty. • He is known for his modesty, an uncommon characteristic for a politician. • There was no false modesty in her victory speech. ♦ The phrases in all modesty and (US) with all modesty are used to stress that a statement you are making about yourself is true even if it sounds like something said because of pride. • In all modesty, I don't know anyone who could beat me at tennis. • I'll admit with all modesty that I have had a very successful career. b : the quality of behaving and especially dressing in ways that do not attract sexual attention • the young woman's modesty • the modesty of her clothing mo·di·cum /'mɑ:dɪkəm/ noun [singular] formal : a small amount — + of • The group had a modicum of success in the early 1990s. • Anyone with even a modicum of intelligence would understand. • He told a story that didn't have a modicum of truth to it.

mod·i-fi-ca-tion /ˌmɑːdəfəˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of changing parts of something : the act or process of modifying something • The program can be used on all computers without modification. — often + of • The bad weather required modification of our travel plans.

2 [count] : a change in something (such as a system or style) • They passed the law with only a few minor/slight/small modifications. • The weather required some major/minor modifications to our travel plans. — often + of or to • A few modifications of the design might be necessary. • We made some modifications to the original plan.

mod·i-fi-er /ˌmɑːdəˈfaɪə/ noun, pl -ers [count] grammar : a word (such as an adjective or adverb) or phrase that describes another word or group of words • In “a red hat,” the adjective “red” is a modifier describing the noun “hat.” • In “They were talking loudly,” the adverb “loudly” is a modifier of the verb “talking.”

mod·i-fy /ˌmɑːdəˈfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to change some parts of (something) while not changing other parts • We can help you modify an existing home or build a new one. • He modified the recipe by using oil instead of butter. • modify a plan • She has modified her views on the matter. • The design was modified to add another window. • We played a modified version of our favorite game.

2 grammar : to limit or describe the meaning of (a word or group of words) • Adjectives usually modify nouns, and adverbs usually modify verbs, adjectives, and other adverbs. • In the phrase “a red hat,” the adjective “red” modifies the noun “hat.”

mod·ish /ˈmoʊdɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : fashionable or stylish in a modern way • He wore a modish gray suit and hat. • a modish writer

— mod·ish-ly adv • a modishly dressed woman

mod·u-lar /ˈmɑːdʒələ/ adj : having parts that can be connected or combined in different ways • In many offices, desks are separated by modular walls that can be moved around. • a factory that produces modular homes • modular buildings • (chiefly Brit) This is a modular course of three components, and students can take those three modules in any order.

mod·u-late /ˈmɑːdʒəˌleɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing

1 [+ obj] formal : to change the sound of (your voice) by making it quieter, higher, lower, etc. • Please modulate [=soften, tone down] your voice. • Because she doesn't modulate her voice, she sounds the same when she's excited as when she's sad.

2 [no obj] music : to move gradually from one key to another • The music quickly modulates from its original key, changing the mood of the song.

3 [+ obj] : to change or adjust (something) so that it exists in a balanced or proper amount • These organs modulate [=regulate] the amount of salt in the body.

— mod·u-la-tion /ˌmɑːdʒəˈleɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

mod·ule /ˈmɑːdʒuːl, Brit ˈmɒdjuːl/ noun, pl -ules [count]

1 : one of a set of parts that can be connected or combined to build or complete something • factories that build engines, transmissions, brakes, and other modules for cars • (chiefly Brit) This is a modular course of three components, and students can take those three modules in any order.

2 : a part of a computer or computer program that does a particular job • special software modules • a memory module for storing information

3 : a part of a space vehicle that can work alone • the spacecraft's command module [=the main part of a spacecraft] • a lunar module [=a space vehicle used to land on the moon]

mo·dus ope·ran·di /ˌmoʊdəs,ɑːpəˈrændi/ noun [singular] formal : a usual way of doing something; especially : the usual way that a particular criminal performs a crime • the murderer's modus operandi ♦ Modus operandi is a Latin phrase that means “method of operation” in English. — called also MO

mo·dus vi·ven·di /ˌmoʊdəsviˈvendi/ noun [singular] formal : an arrangement that helps people, groups, or countries work together peacefully even though they do not agree with each other • The two nations developed a modus vivendi in order to avoid war. ♦ Modus vivendi is a Latin phrase that means “manner of living” in English.

mog·gy also mog·gie /ˈmɑːgi/ noun, pl -gies [count] Brit, informal : CAT

¹mo·gul /ˈmouɡəl/ noun, pl -guls [count] : a powerful and important person • TV moguls • advertising moguls • a young Hollywood mogul — compare ²MOGUL

²mogul noun, pl -guls [count] : a bump or small hill on a ski slope — compare ¹MOGUL

mo·hair /ˈmou,heə/ noun [noncount] : an expensive fabric or wool made from the long, soft hair of a goat from Asia • a sweater made of mohair and silk — often used before another noun • She wore her mohair hat and mittens.

Mo·hawk /ˈmou,hɑːk/ noun, pl -hawks [count]

1 : a member of a Native American people of central New York state

2 US : a hairstyle in which the head is shaved except for a narrow strip of hair that goes down the center of the head — called also (Brit) Mohican

Mo·he-gan /mouˈhi:gən/ noun, pl -gans [count] : MOHICAN 1b

Mo·hi-can /mouˈhi:kən/ noun, pl -cans [count]

1 a : a member of a Native American people of northeastern New York State b : a member of a Native American people of southeastern Connecticut

2 Brit : MOHAWK 2

moist /ˈmoɪst/ adj moist-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : slightly or barely wet : not completely dry • I love cookies when they are moist and chewy. • The pork chops were tender and moist. • a moist and spongy chocolate cake • The plant grows best in direct sunlight and with rich, moist soil. • She dabbed her moist eyes with a handkerchief.

2 : having a lot of moisture in the air : HUMID • Fog is formed when warm moist air moves over a cold surface. • moist tropical heat • The eggs will hatch sooner in warm, moist conditions.

— moist-ness noun [noncount] the moistness of the air/cookies [singular] There is a moistness in the air today.

synonyms MOIST, DAMP, and DANK mean somewhat wet. MOIST suggests a slight wetness that is usually pleasant or desirable. • She wiped her face with a moist towel. DAMP suggests that the wetness of something makes it unpleasant to touch. • His shirt was damp with sweat. DANK suggests a cold, unpleasant wetness that may be harmful to a person's health. • He was kept prisoner in a cold, dank cell.

moist-en /ˈmoɪsn/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (something) slightly wet : to make (something) moist • Corn syrup can be used to moisten and flavor baked foods. • The chemical reaction begins as soon as the powder is moistened.

2 [no obj] : to become slightly wet • His eyes moistened [=his eyes became tearful] at the memory of their kindness.

mois-ture /ˈmoɪstʃə/ noun [noncount] : a small amount of a liquid (such as water) that makes something wet or moist • These flowers grow best with moisture and shade. • Wool socks will pull moisture away from your skin. • The leaves absorb moisture from the air.

mois-tur-ize also Brit mois-tur-ise /ˈmoɪstʃəˌraɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to add moisture to (something, such as a person's skin) • Use this cream to gently moisturize dry skin.

— mois-tur-iz-er also Brit mois-tur-is-er noun, pl -ers [count, noncount] • She uses a moisturizer on her skin.

— mois-tur-iz-ing also Brit mois-tur-is-ing adj • a moisturizing cream/lotion mo·jo /ˈmoʊdʒou/ noun, pl -jos chiefly US, informal : a power that may seem magical and that allows someone to be very effective, successful, etc. [noncount] He's been suffering from incredibly bad mojo lately. • The team has lost its mojo. [count] We need to get our mojos working again.

mo-lar /ˈmoulə/ noun, pl -lars [count] : a large tooth near the back of the jaw with a wide surface used especially for grinding food mo-las-ses /məˈlæsəz/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : a thick, brown, sweet liquid that is made from raw sugar • molasses cookies [=cookies made with molasses] — called also (Brit) treacle

slow as molasses or slower than molasses US, informal : very slow or slowly • I used to be a fast runner, but now I'm slow as molasses. • People have complained that the legislature is moving/working slower than molasses.

¹mold (US) or Brit mould /ˈmoʊld/ noun, pl molds [count]

1 a : a container that is used to give its shape to something that is poured or pressed into it • The candles are made in a mold. • The gelatin is poured into a mold and chilled until firm. b : something made in a mold • a large plaster mold of a foot

2 : a usual or typical example of something : a pattern or type of something that is an example to be followed • a movie in the classic/traditional/familiar mold of a Hollywood thriller • She does not fit (into/in) the mold of a typical college professor. [=she is not a typical college professor] • He is (cast) in the same mold as other troubled heroes. [=he resembles other troubled heroes]

break the mold 1 : to do something in a completely new way • Voters are looking for a candidate who will break the mold and give them honest answers. 2 informal — used to describe a very unusual or admired person • He was the greatest man I ever knew. They broke the mold when they made that guy. [=there will never be another person like him]

— compare ³MOLD

²mold (US) or Brit mould verb molds; mold-ed; mold-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to form or press (something, such as wax, plastic, clay, or dough) into a particular shape • mold dough into loaves of bread b : to make (something) from a material that has been formed or pressed • mold loaves of bread • She gave her mother a tiny statue that she molded from clay. • The mountains were molded [=formed, shaped] by the glaciers over thousands of years.

2 [+ obj] : to make (something) by pouring or pressing material (such as wax or plastic) into a mold • The art class spent its time molding candles. • mold plastic toys • a molded plastic chair

3 [+ obj] : to create, influence, or affect the character of (someone or something) • She has dedicated her life to teaching and molding young children into responsible adults. • molding young minds • He took a struggling company and molded it into something special.

4 [no obj] : to fit to the shape of something • This new mattress pad will mold to your body [=it will change its shape to fit your body] when you sleep on it. • The fabric is thin and flexible and will mold to your shape.

— mold-er (US) or Brit mould-er /'mouldə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • He sees himself as a molder of world events. • a molder of young minds

³mold (US) also Brit mould noun, pl molds : a soft substance that grows on the surface of damp or rotting things [noncount] She's allergic to mold, cigarette smoke, and dust. • bread mold [=mold that grows on bread] [count] a slime mold [=a mold that is slimy] — compare ¹MOLD

mold-er (US) or Brit mould-er /'mouldə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing [no obj] : to rot slowly especially from not being used : to decay slowly • An entire shipment of fruit is mold-ering (away) in the warehouse because of the strike. • mold-ering [=decaying] old books mold-ing (US) or Brit mould-ing /'mouldɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count, noncount] : a strip of material (such as wood or metal) with some design or pattern that is used as a decoration on a wall, on the edge of a table, etc. • The house has beautiful moldings around its doors and windows.

moldy (US) or Brit mouldy /'mouldi/ adj mold-i-er; -est 1 : covered with mold • Her books became moldy after being left in a damp basement. • moldy bread/fruit 2 : resembling mold : tasting, smelling, or looking like mold • The wine had a slightly moldy aroma/flavor.

¹mole /'moul/ noun, pl moles [count] 1 : a small animal with very small eyes and soft fur that digs tunnels in the ground and eats insects 2 : a spy who works inside an organization and gives secret information to another organization or country — compare ²MOLE, ³MOLE

²mole noun, pl moles [count] : a small, brown spot on a person's skin • He has a mole on his cheek. — compare ¹MOLE, ³MOLE

³mo-le /'mouleɪ/ noun, pl mo-les [count, noncount] chiefly US : a spicy sauce used in Mexican cooking • chicken with mole (sauce) — compare ¹MOLE, ²MOLE

mol-e-cule /'ma:li,kju:l/ noun, pl -cules [count] 1 : the smallest possible amount of a particular substance that has all the characteristics of that substance • a molecule of water/oxygen • sugar molecules 2 : a very small amount of something • There is not a molecule of evidence to support these charges.

— mo-lec-u-lar /mə'lekjələ/ adj • molecular weight • molec- ular structure/movement • She studied molecular biology in college.

mole-hill /'moul,hɪl/ noun, pl -hills [count] : a small pile of dirt that is pushed up by a mole when it digs tunnels underground make a mountain out of a molehill : to make something seem much more difficult or important than it really is • She thought that he was making a mountain out of a molehill by complaining about the placement of the silverware.

mole-skin /'moul,skɪn/ noun [noncount]

1 : the skin of the mole used as fur

2 : a soft cotton cloth • moleskin pants

mo-lest /mə'lest/ verb -lests; -lest-ed; -lest-ing [+ obj]

1 : to harm (someone) through sexual contact : to touch (someone) in a sexual and improper way • He was sent to jail for molesting children.

2 old-fashioned : to bother or annoy (someone or something) • It was illegal to molest, capture, or kill any of the animals in the park.

— mo-les-ta-tion /,mou,lɛ'steɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • child molestation • a victim of molestation — mo-lest-er /mə'lestə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • putting child molesters in jail

moll /'ma:l/ noun, pl molls [count] chiefly US, old-fashioned + informal : a girlfriend of a criminal • a gangster's moll — called also (chiefly US) gun moll

mol-li-fy /'ma:li,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) less angry : to calm (someone) down • He tried to mollify his critics with an apology. • All attempts to mollify the extremists have failed. • The landlord fixed the heat, but the tenants still were not mollified.

mol-lusk (US) or Brit mol-lusc /'ma:ləsk/ noun, pl -lusks [count] biology : any one of a large group of animals (such as snails and clams) that have a soft body without a backbone and that usually live in a shell mol-ly-cod-dle /'ma:li,kɑ:dəl/ verb -cod-dles; -cod-dled; -cod-dling [+ obj] : to treat (someone) with more kindness and attention than is appropriate : to treat (someone) too nicely or gently • You need to stop mollycoddling [=babying, coddling] that boy if you want him to succeed on his own. • The coach has been mollycoddling the team's star players.

Mo-lo-tov cocktail /'ma:lə,tɑ:f-/ noun, pl ~ -tails [count] : a simple bomb made from a bottle filled with gasoline and stuffed with a piece of cloth that is lit just before the bottle is thrown — called also (Brit) petrol bomb molt (US) or Brit moult /'moult/ verb molts; molt-ed; molt-ing [no obj] biology : to lose a covering of hair, feathers, etc., and replace it with new growth in the same place • Snakes molt as they grow, shedding the old skin and growing a larger new skin.

mol-ten /'moultən/ adj, always used before a noun : melted by heat • molten metal/glass/lead • molten lava

mom /'ma:m/ noun, pl moms [count] US, informal : a person's mother • My mom [= (Brit) mum] wants me to call when I get there. — often used as a form of address • Mom, do you know where I left my keys? — see also SOCCER MOM

mom-and-pop /'ma:mən'pɑ:p/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US : owned and run by a married couple or by a small number of people • Big department stores can drive mom-and-pop shops/stores out of business. • a mom-and-pop business that grew to become a large corporation

mo-ment /'moumənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [count] : a very short period of time • The sunshine that was here a moment [=minute, second] ago is gone. • The sun was shining. Moments later, it began to rain. • It was a moment before she realized what had happened. • She stopped for a moment and peeked into the window. • It should only take a moment to fix the problem. • Do you have a (spare) moment? [=do you have some free time so we can talk to each other briefly?] • I'm very busy and I don't have a moment to spare. • The doctor arrived not a moment too soon. [=the doctor arrived just in time to help] • I'll explain that in a moment [=shortly, soon] • The crowd observed a moment of silence [=a short period of silent thought or prayer] for those who died in the tragedy.

2 [count] : a particular time : a precise point in time • One moment it was sunny; the next it was pouring rain. • We enjoyed every moment of the play. [=we enjoyed all of the play] • The moment for us to act has arrived. • The moment is ripe for action. [=this is the right time for action] • War seemed unavoidable at that moment in history. • She knew exactly the right moment to ask for a raise. • We had an exciting vacation. There was never a dull moment.

3 a [noncount] : the present time • At the moment [=right now, at the current time] she is working on a novel. • We aren't prepared at this moment [=at this time, now] to say what our plans are. • As of this moment [=as of now, right now], there's nothing you can do. ♦ Something that is true for the moment is true now but might not be true for long. • For the moment, it is the world's largest city. [=it is the world's largest city now, but that may not be true much longer] • He's staying out of trouble for the moment. • For the moment, at least, I had the room to myself. ♦ Someone or something that is of the moment is very popular at a particular time. • the vacation destination of the moment [=the vacation destination that is now most popular] • the man/woman of the moment [=the man/woman who is now very popular and admired] b [count] : a time of importance or success • She took the time to relish her moment of triumph. • He's not the best player on the team, but he has his moments. [=he has times when he is extremely good, successful, etc.] • It was a defining moment for him. • It was a crowning moment in his presidency.

any moment ♦ If something could happen (at) any moment (now), it could happen very soon. • He could lose his temper at any moment. • The war could begin at any moment. • She should be arriving at any moment now.

at/on a moment's notice see ¹NOTICE

from moment to moment or from one moment to the next or moment by moment : very quickly as time passes • The weather kept changing from one moment to the next. = The weather kept changing from moment to moment. [=from minute to minute] hold/hang on a moment or wait/just a moment informal — used to tell someone to wait or to stop for a brief time • "Aren't you finished yet?" "Hold on a moment. I'm almost done." • Hang on a moment—I don't understand.

moment of truth : the time when you have to do or decide something • The moment of truth came early, when we had to decide whether to stay or go. • It was her moment of truth, when she needed to show that she had the talent to succeed.

not for a/one moment : at no time : not at all • I did not believe her for one moment. [=I never believed her] of moment formal : having importance • an event of great moment [=a very important event] • There is no news of any moment to report.

on the spur of the moment see ¹SPUR

the last moment : the latest possible time : the last minute • Our flight was canceled at the last moment. • She finished her paper at the last moment. • Many people wait until the last (possible) moment before shopping for Christmas presents.

the moment : as soon as • The moment the cameras are turned off, he is able to relax. • Everything stops the moment she walks in the room.

within moments : very quickly : within a very short amount of time • Within moments, dozens of people had gathered.

mo·men·tar·i·ly /,moumən'terəli, Brit 'məuməntərəli/ adv

1 : for a short time : for a moment : BRIEFLY • The pain eased momentarily. • The wind let up momentarily, allowing us to start a campfire. • He paused momentarily before finishing his speech.

2 US : very soon : at any moment • We expect them to arrive momentarily. • The pilot announced that the plane would be landing momentarily. [=shortly] mo·men·tary /'moumən,teri, Brit 'məuməntəri/ adj : lasting a very short time : lasting only a moment • There was a momentary [=brief] pause between songs. • He experienced a momentary loss of consciousness.

mo·men·tous /mou'mentəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very important : having great or lasting importance • My college graduation was a momentous day in my life. • a momentous decision/event

— mo·men·tous·ly adv • a momentously important decision

mo·men·tum /mou'mentəm/ noun [noncount]

1 a : the strength or force that something has when it is moving • forward momentum • The wagon gathered/gained momentum [=it moved faster] as it rolled down the hill. • The wagon lost momentum [=it moved more slowly; it slowed down] as it rolled up the hill. b : the strength or force that allows something to continue or to grow stronger or faster as time passes • The company has had a successful year and hopes to maintain its momentum by introducing new products. • The campaign slowly gained/gathered momentum. [=the campaign slowly became more popular and successful] • The movie loses momentum toward the end.

2 physics : the property that a moving object has due to its mass and its motion

mom·ma variant spelling of MAMA

mom·my /'ma:mi/ noun, pl -mies [count] chiefly US, informal : a person's mother — used especially by children • Where's my mommy? — often used as a form of address • Can I go out to play, mommy?

Mon. abbr Monday

mon·arch /'ma:,nərk/ noun, pl -archs [count] : a person (such as a king or queen) who rules a kingdom or empire • a new history of French monarchs • an absolute monarch

monarch butterfly noun, pl ~ -flies [count] : a large orange and black American butterfly mo·nar·chi·cal /mə'narkikəl/ also mo·nar·chic /mə'nərkik/ adj : of or relating to a monarch or monarchy • monarchical authority • a monarchical government mon·ar·chist /'manəkist/ noun, pl -chists [count] : a person who believes that a country should have a monarch (such as a king or queen) : a person who supports a monarch or monarchy • Loyal monarchists fought for the king.

— monarchist adj • monarchist loyalties/beliefs

mon·ar·chy /'manəki/ noun, pl -chies

1 [count] : a country that is ruled by a monarch (such as a king or queen)

2 [count, noncount] : a form of government in which a country is ruled by a monarch • the French monarchy of the 18th century — see also CONSTITUTIONAL MONARCHY

mon·as·tery /'ma:nə,steri, Brit 'ma:nəstri/ noun, pl -teries [count] : a place where monks live and work together • a Catholic/Buddhist monastery — compare CONVENT mo·nas·tic /mə'næstik/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of or relating to monks or monasteries • a monastic community • monastic life • He founded a monastic order in Belgium.

2 : resembling or suggesting a monk or the life of a monk • He shows a monastic dedication to his job. • She studied for the test with monastic zeal. • a quiet, monastic existence

— mo·nas·ti·cism /mə'næstə,sizəm/ noun [noncount] • the history of Christian/Buddhist monasticism

Mon·day /'man,dei/ noun, pl -days : the day of the week between Sunday and Tuesday [count] I had lunch with her last Monday. • I'll be seeing her again next Monday. • The class meets on Mondays. [=every Monday] • My birthday falls on a Monday this year. • (Brit) Next week I'll arrive on the Monday and leave on the Friday. [noncount] Next week I'll arrive on Monday and leave on Friday. • The paper is due on Monday. = (chiefly US) The paper is due Monday. • I will arrive on Monday morning. — abbr. Mon.

— Mondays adv • He works late Mondays. [=he works late every Monday]

Monday-morning quarterback noun, pl ~ -backs

[count] US, disapproving : a person who unfairly criticizes or questions the decisions and actions of other people after something has happened • After the water main broke, the Monday-morning quarterbacks [=second-guessers] in the media criticized the city for not replacing the old pipes.

mon·e·tary /'ma:nə,teri, Brit 'manətri/ adj

1 : of or relating to money • a crime committed for monetary gain

2 : of or relating to the money in a country's economy • this administration's monetary policy • Gold was once the basis of the U.S. monetary system.

— mon·e·tar·i·ly /,ma:nə'terəli, Brit 'manətrəli/ adv • Many companies will benefit/gain monetarily from the decision.

mon·ey /'mani/ noun, pl mon·ies or mon·eys /'maniz/

1 [noncount] : something (such as coins or bills) used as a way to pay for goods and services and to pay people for their work • Dinner cost a lot of money last night. = We were charged a lot of money for dinner last night. • a sum of money • That painting must be worth a lot of money. • She's been making a lot of money in her new job. = (informal) She's been making big/good money in her new job. • He earned some money last summer as a musician. • We're trying to save enough money for a new car. • The town is raising money for the elementary school. • Friends would always ask her for money. • It's an interesting idea, but there's no money in it; it'll never sell. • The club made money [=earned money; made a profit] by selling advertisements in the newsletter. •

She knew she could make money [=earn a profit] on the deal. = She knew there was money to be made from/on the deal. • When they take a vacation, money is no object [=they are not concerned about the price of things] They always stay at the most expensive places. — see also BLOOD MONEY, FUNNY MONEY, HUSH MONEY, OLD MONEY, PAPER MONEY, POCKET MONEY, SEED MONEY, SOFT MONEY, SPENDING MONEY, smart money at ¹SMART

2 [noncount] : a person's wealth : the money that a person has • He made his money in the insurance business. • He lost his money on foolish investments. = He threw all his money away on foolish investments. • They decided to put all their money in the stock market. • We didn't have much money when I was growing up. • She comes from money. [=her family is rich] • She married into money. [=she married a wealthy man] — see also marry money at MARRY

3 monies or moneys [plural] formal : amounts of money • Most of the project is being paid for by federal monies. • All monies received will be deposited in a special account.

a run for your money see ²RUN

for love or/nor money see ¹LOVE

for my money informal : in my opinion • This book is, for my money, her best novel yet. [=I think this is her best novel yet] • For my money, nothing beats a juicy peach on a hot summer day.

in the money 1 US : among the top three finishers in a race (such as a horse race) • Whatever horse I bet on, it never finishes in the money. 2 informal : having lots of money • They struggled for many years but now they're in the money.

made of money informal : having a lot of money : RICH • Do I look like I'm made of money? • Stop asking your father for a bigger allowance. He's not made of money, you know!

money for jam or money for old rope Brit, informal : money that is easily earned or gotten : easy money money talks — used to say that money has a strong influence on people's actions and decisions • In politics, money talks. [=people and companies with a lot of money have a powerful influence in politics]

money to burn informal : a large amount of money to spend • expensive cars for people with money to burn on the money US, informal : exactly right or accurate • His prediction that it would rain was (right) on the money.

put (your) money on : to bet on (something or someone) • Everyone there put their money on the underdog. — often used to say that you feel very sure that something is true, will happen, etc. • "Do you think he'll win?" "I'd put money on it." • It's going to rain tomorrow. I'd put money on it.

put your money where your mouth is informal : to give or spend money or take some action in order to do or support something that you have been talking about • It's time for the mayor to put his money where his mouth is and increase funding for schools.

throw money around : to spend money in a foolish or careless way • He really throws (his) money around.

throw money at : to try to solve (a problem) by spending a large amount of money on it without giving enough thought to exactly what should be done • The flaws in our school system will never be fixed as long as the government continues to just throw money at the problem.

time is money — used to say that a person's time is as valuable as money your money's worth : as much as you deserve because of the money you paid or the effort you made • His new movie gives his fans their money's worth. [=his new movie is good and is worth the money that his fans pay to see it] • The people who showed up for the concert certainly got their money's worth. • He insisted on staying until the end of the show so that he could get his money's worth.

mon-ey-back /'mɒni'bæk/ adj, always used before a noun : allowing buyers to get their money back if the product breaks, does not work, or is not what the buyer wanted • All of their tools come with a money-back guarantee.

mon-ey-bags /'mɒni,bægz/ noun, pl moneybags [count] informal : a very rich person • His campaign is being paid for by a local moneybags.

money box noun, pl ~ boxes [count] chiefly Brit : a box that has a narrow opening in the top and that is used for saving coins

mon-eyed or mon-ied /'mɒnid/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : having a lot of money : very rich • a member of the moneyed classes

mon-ey-grub-ber /'mɒni,grʌbər/ noun, pl -bers [count] informal : a person who cares too much about getting money • a selfish money-grubber

— mon-ey-grub-bing /'mɒni,grʌbɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a bitter, money-grubbing old miser — money-grubbing noun [noncount]

mon-ey-lend-er /'mɒni,lendər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who lends money as a business • He was unable to repay his debts to the moneylender.

mon-ey-mak-er /'mɒni,meɪkər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : something (such as a product) that earns a profit • The book eventually became a money-maker for its publisher. • This movie should be the biggest money-maker of the summer. — called also (Brit) money-spinner

2 : a person who earns or wins a large amount of money • He is one of the top money-makers in professional tennis.

— mon-ey-mak-ing /'mɒni,meɪkɪŋ/ adj • a film with money-making potential

mon-ey-man /'mɒni,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,men/ [count] : a man who controls the use of large amounts of money — usually plural • a politician being bankrolled by a group of powerful money-men money order noun, pl ~ -ders [count] : a written order to pay a particular amount of money to a specified person or company • A money order can be bought from a bank or post office and sent by mail like a check to make a payment to another person. • She mailed a money order to the company for the cost of the TV she bought. • Payments can be made by check or by money order. [=by using a money order] — called also (Brit) postal order

mon-ey-spin-ner /'mɒni,spɪnər/ noun, pl -ners [count] Brit, informal : MONEY-MAKER 1

— mon-ey-spin-ning /'mɒni,spɪnɪŋ/ adj, Brit money supply noun

the money supply business : the total amount of money available for spending in a country's economy • an increase in the money supply

mon-goose

/'mɒn,guːs/ noun, pl -goos-es [count] : a small and very fast animal from India that eats snakes and rodents

mongoose

mon-grel /'mɒn,grəl/ noun, pl -grels [count]

: a dog with parents of different breeds • She owns several dogs, including a mongrel named Stella. — often used before another noun • a mongrel dog — sometimes used figuratively • The new house was a mongrel, with a mix of styles from different times and places.

monied variant spelling of MONEYED

monies plural of MONEY

mon-i-ker /'mɒ:nɪkər/ noun, pl -kers [count] informal : a name or nickname • He earned the moniker "Gator" from his days wrestling alligators in Florida. • I think "Happy" is an appropriate moniker for someone who smiles so much.

¹mon-i-tor /'mɒ:nətər/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a device that is used for showing, watching, or listening to something: such as a : a device that shows information or images on a screen • a computer monitor • a television monitor • They watched the press conference on a video monitor in a back room. — see pictures at CAMERA, COMPUTER b : a device that is used to listen to sounds being made in another room • We put a baby monitor in the nursery. c : a device that shows and records information about a condition or function of the body • a heart monitor

2 : a student who helps the teacher at a school • (US) He was chosen to be a hall monitor. [=a student who watches the hallways for bad behavior]

3 : a person who has the job of checking or watching some activity or behavior • U.N. weapons monitors and inspectors

²monitor verb -tors; -tored; -tor-ing [+ obj] : to watch, observe, listen to, or check (something) for a special purpose over a period of time • Nurses constantly monitored the patient's heart rate. • We're in a good position to monitor and respond to customer concerns. • She's been able to monitor [=keep track of] his progress. • Government agents have been monitoring the enemy's radio communications.

monk /'mɒŋk/ noun, pl monks [count] : a member of a religious community of men who usually promise to remain poor, unmarried, and separated from the rest of society • Catholic/Buddhist monks — compare NUN

— monk-ish /'mʌŋkɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a quiet monk-ish man • a monkish way of life

1 monkey /'mʌŋki/ noun, pl -keys [count]

1 : a type of animal that is closely related to apes and humans and that has a long tail and usually lives in trees — see also RHESUS MONKEY

2 chiefly Brit : a person (especially a child) who causes trouble in a playful way • He's quite a cheeky little monkey, isn't he?

a monkey on your back : a problem that you cannot easily get rid of or solve : a problem or situation that makes you unhappy and that lasts for a long time • His drug addiction has been a monkey on his back for years. • He finally got the monkey off his back and kicked his drug addiction. • After many years of disappointment, she finally got the monkey off her back by winning the championship.

make a monkey out of informal : to cause (someone) to look very foolish : to make a fool out of (someone) • I'm not going to let that salesman make a monkey out of me!

more fun than a barrel (full) of monkeys see 1 BARREL not give a monkey's Brit, informal : to not care at all about something. • I don't give a monkey's about their problems!

— see also GREASE MONKEY

2 monkey verb -keys; -keyed; -key-ing

monkey around or Brit monkey about [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to do things that are not useful or serious : to waste time • We just monkeyed around [=fooled around, messed around] all afternoon. • a young scientist monkey-ing around in the lab 2 monkey around/about with (something) informal a : to use or do (something) in a way that is not very serious • He enjoys monkeying around with [=fooling around with] his car's engine. b : to handle or play with (something) in a careless or foolish way • You shouldn't be monkeying around with dangerous chemicals.

monkey with [phrasal verb] monkey with (something) informal : to handle or play with (something) in a careless way : to monkey around with (something) • I told you not to monkey with [=fool with] the lawn mower.

monkey bars noun [plural] US : a frame of bars that children can play on by climbing and by swinging from one bar to the next one in the way that monkeys in a tree swing from branch to branch monkey business noun [noncount] informal

1 : playful tricks or jokes • Our teacher warned us not to try any monkey business while she was out of the room.

2 : illegal or improper activity or behavior • political monkey business

mon-key-shines /'mʌŋki,ʃaɪnz/ noun [plural] US, informal + old-fashioned : playful tricks and jokes : MONKEY BUSINESS • mischievous children engaging in monkeyshines monkey wrench noun, pl ~ wrenches [count] : a wrench that can be adjusted to grip or turn things of different sizes — used in U.S. English to refer especially to a large, heavy wrench with a long, straight handle throw/hurl/toss a monkey wrench into US, informal : to damage or change (something) in a way that ruins it or prevents it from working properly • The storm threw a monkey wrench into their plans for a picnic. [=the storm ruined their plans for a picnic]

mono /'mɑ:nou/ noun [noncount]

1 informal : MONONUCLEOSIS

2 : a way of recording and playing back sound so that all the sound comes from one direction • They recorded the album in mono. — compare STEREO

— mono adj • a mono recording mono- combining form : one : single • monoplane • monolingual

mono-chro-mat-ic /,mɑ:nəkrəʊ'mætɪk/ adj : having or made up of one color or shades of one color • It's a monochromatic room with a blue rug and blue furniture.

mono-chrome /'mɑ:nə,kroum/ adj

1 : having or made up of one color or shades of one color : MONOCHROMATIC • a monochrome paint scheme • monochrome colors

2 : using or showing only black and white and shades of gray • a monochrome film/photograph — sometimes used figuratively • a dull, monochrome existence

mon-o-cle /'mɑ:nɪkəl/ noun, pl mon-o-cles [count] : a single round lens for one eye that helps people see and that is held in place by the muscles around the eye

— mon-o-cled /'mɑ:nɪkəld/ adj • a monocled professor [=a professor wearing a monocle]

mo-nog-a-my /mə'nɑ:gəmi/ noun [noncount]

1 : the state or practice of being married to only one person at a time — compare POLYGAMY

2 : the state or practice of having only one sexual partner during a period of time • young couples who practice monogamy • Monogamy is common among birds.

— mo-nog-a-mous /mə'nɑ:gəməs/ adj • They've been in a monogamous relationship for many years. • Many birds are monogamous.

mono-gram /'mɑ:nə,græm/ noun, pl

-grams [count] : a symbol that has the first letters of a person's first, middle, and last names and that is put on towels, blankets, clothes, etc., as a decoration or to show ownership

— mono-grammed /'mɑ:nə,græmd/ adj • monogrammed towels

mono-lin-gual /,mɑ:nə'liŋgwəl/ adj

1 : able to speak and understand only one language • He regrets being monolingual and wishes he were bilingual.

2 : using or expressed in only one language • a monolingual dictionary — compare BILINGUAL, MULTILINGUAL

mono-lith /'mɑ:nə,lɪθ/ noun, pl -liths [count]

1 a : a very large stone that is usually tall and narrow; especially : a stone that was put in position by people as a monument or for religious reasons • an ancient monolith b : a very large building or other structure • The new office building is a massive steel and concrete monolith.

2 often disapproving : a very large and powerful organization that acts as a single unit • The media monolith owns a number of networks. • a global monolith

— mono-lith-ic /,mɑ:nə'liθɪk/ adj • a large, monolithic building • a monolithic organization

mono-logue also US mono-log /'mɑ:nə,lɑ:g/ noun, pl -logues also US -logs [count]

1 : a long speech given by a character in a story, movie, play, etc., or by a performer (such as a comedian) • The play begins with the main character's monologue. • The comedian is famous for his monologue about winning the lottery.

2 : a long speech made by one person that prevents anyone else from talking • I stifled a yawn as she launched into a monologue about how she is going to become a famous star.

mono-nu-cle-o-sis /,mɑ:nə,nʊ:kli'əʊsəs, Brit ,mɒnə-,nʊ:kli'əʊsəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a disease that makes people very tired and weak for a long time — called also (Brit) glandular fever, (informal) mono mono-plane /'mɑ:nə,pleɪn/ noun, pl -planes [count] : an airplane with one set of wings — compare BIPLANE ♦ Most modern airplanes are monoplanes.

mo-nop-o-lize also Brit mo-nop-o-lise /mə'nɑ:pə,lɑɪz/ verb -liz-es; -lized; -liz-ing [+ obj] : to take over and control (something or someone) completely • He's always monopolizing the conversation. • The company has monopolized the market for computer operating systems. • The demands of the job have been monopolizing my time. [=using up all my time] : to use (something) in a way that prevents others from using it • One group monopolized the camping area, taking almost all of the campsites.

— mo-nop-o-list /mə'nɑ:pə,lɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] • a powerful monopolist [=a person or company that has or controls a monopoly] — mo-nop-o-li-za-tion also Brit mo-nop-o-li-sa-tion /mə'nɑ:pə,lə'zeɪʃən, Brit mə'nɒpə-,lɑɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

mo-nop-o-ly /mə'nɑ:pə,lɪ/ noun, pl -lies

1 [count] a : complete control of the entire supply of goods or of a service in a certain area or market • The company has gained/acquired a (virtual/near) monopoly of/on/over the logging industry in this area. b : a large company that has a monopoly • The government passed laws intended to break up monopolies.

2 [singular] : complete ownership or control of something — usually + on or (chiefly Brit) of • He seems to think he has a monopoly on the truth. [=to think that he is the only person who knows what is true]

— mo-nop-o-lis-tic /mə'nɑ:pə'lɪstɪk/ adj • monopolistic business practices mono-rail /'mɑ:nə,reɪl/ noun, pl -rails : a type of railroad that uses a single track which is usually high off the ground [count] Monorails connect different parts of the park. [non-count] traveling by monorail, also [count] : a vehicle that monogram

travels on a monorail • The passengers boarded the monorail.

mono-so-di-um glu-ta-mate /ˌmɑːnəˌsɒdijəmˈɡluːtəˌmeɪt/ noun [noncount] : a kind of salt used for seasoning foods — called also MSG mono-syl-la-ble /ˌmɑːnəˌsɪləbəl/ noun, pl -la-bles [count] : a word that has only one syllable • He answered all their questions with monosyllables like “yes” and “no.”

mono-syl-lab-ic /ˌmɑːnəˌsɪləbɪk/ adj

1 : having only one syllable • a monosyllabic word/reply
: made up of words that have only one syllable • a monosyllabic conversation

2 : saying very little or responding with one-syllable words •

The movie star was monosyllabic with newspaper reporters.

mono-the-ism /ˌmɑːnəˌθiːjɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the belief that there is only one God

— mono-the-ist /ˌmɑːnəˌθiːjɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

— mono-the-ist-ic /ˌmɑːnəˌθiːɪstɪk/ adj • a monotheistic religion

mono-tone /ˌmɑːnəˌtoʊn/ noun [singular] : a way of talking or singing without raising or lowering the sound of your voice • She read the story in a dull monotone. • He sang in a soft, low monotone. • She spoke in a monotone voice.

mo-not-o-nous /məˈnɑːtnəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] — used to describe something that is boring because it is always the same • a monotonous task • Students complained that the meals were monotonous. • She spoke in a monotonous voice.

— mo-not-o-nous-ly adv • The teacher droned on monotonously.

mo-not-o-ny /məˈnɑːtni/ noun [noncount] : a lack of change that makes something boring : a monotonous quality • She hated the monotony of the job. • The brief storm was a relief from the monotony of the hot summer afternoon.

mono-un-sat-u-rat-ed /ˌmɑːnəʊˌʌnˈsæt̩fəreɪtəd/ adj, technical — used to describe a type of oil or fat that is found in foods such as olives and almonds and that is better for your health than saturated fats and trans fats • monounsaturated fats • monounsaturated oils such as olive, peanut, and canola oils — compare POLYUNSATURATED, SATURATED, UNSATURATED

monoxide see CARBON MONOXIDE

mon-si-gnor /mənˈsɪˌnjər/ noun, pl mon-si-gnors or mon-si-gno-ri /ˌmɑːnˌsɪˌnɔːri/ [count] : a Roman Catholic priest of high rank • bishops and monsignors • Monsignor Donsuso

mon-soon /mənˈsuːn/ noun, pl -soons [count]

1 : a wind in the Indian Ocean and southern Asia that brings heavy rains in the summer

2 a : the rainy season that occurs in southern Asia in the summer • the beginning of the monsoon (season) b : the rain that falls during this season • floods caused by summer monsoons — sometimes used in an exaggerated way to refer to a heavy rainstorm • The game was played in a monsoon.

¹mon-ster /ˈmɑːnstər/ noun, pl -sters [count]

1 : a strange or horrible imaginary creature • mythical monsters • a sea monster • a monster movie [=a movie about monsters]

2 informal : something that is extremely or unusually large • That car is a monster. • It's a monster of a house. [=a very large house]

3 : a powerful person or thing that cannot be controlled and that causes many problems • Inflation has become an economic monster.

4 a : an extremely cruel or evil person • His father was a monster who punished his children for no reason. • You don't want to work for that monster. b : a person (such as a child) who behaves very badly • My nephew is a little monster.

— see also GREEN-EYED MONSTER

²monster adj, always used before a noun, informal : very popular and successful • The movie turned out to be a monster hit. • a monster band mon-stros-i-ty /mənˈstrɑːsəti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : something (such as a building) that is very large and ugly • Did you see the new mall? It's a monstrosity.

mon-strous /ˈmɑːnstrəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : extremely or unusually large : GIGANTIC • a monstrous billboard

2 : very wrong or unfair • It was monstrous of him to keep the truth from them all those years. • a monstrous injustice

3 : very ugly, cruel, or vicious • a monstrous crime/criminal • monstrous depravity

— mon-strous-ly adv • a monstrously large billboard

mon-tage /mənˈtɑːʒ/ noun, pl -tag-es

1 : a work of art that is made up of several different kinds of things (such as strips of newspaper, pictures, or pieces of wood) [count] a photographic montage [noncount] a photographer who often uses montage in her pictures

2 [count] : a mixture of different things — usually + of • a montage of emotions/sounds/images

Mon-te-rey jack /ˈmɑːntəˌrerˈdʒæk/ noun [noncount] US : a mild kind of cheese

month /ˈmʌnθ/ noun, pl months

¹[count] : any one of the 12 parts into which the year is divided • July is my favorite month. • It was hard to keep warm in the cabin during the winter months. • the merry month of May • The payments are due (on) the third of the month. [=on the third day of every month] • We visit them twice a month. [=two times every month] • I saw her last month and I'll see her again next month. • The price changes from month to month. = The price changes each/every month. • The price sometimes changes dramatically from one month to the next. • His health has been getting better month by month. = His health has been getting better with each passing month. [=his health has been getting better in a gradual and steady way as months have passed] • These problems have continued month after month. [=for several or many months]

2 [count] : a period of time that lasts about four weeks or 30 days • The baby is four months old. [=a four-month-old baby]

• a pregnant woman who is in her eighth month = a woman who has been pregnant for eight months • He was gone for a month. • She was back to work a month after the accident. • I'll be seeing her again in a month. = I'll be seeing her again a month from now. = I'll be seeing her again in a month's time.

3 months [plural] : a long period of time that is less than a year • He's been gone for months. • I haven't talked to her in months.

a month of Sundays informal : an extremely long time • I haven't talked to her in a month of Sundays.

of the month : chosen for special honors or attention during a particular month • He's been chosen as the employee of the month four times this year! [=chosen as the employee who is honored in a particular month for doing excellent work] • the book of the month — see also flavor of the month at ¹FLAVOR

month-long /ˈmʌnθˈlɔːŋ/ adj : lasting an entire month • a monthlong vacation

¹month-ly /ˈmʌnθli/ adj

1 : happening, done, or made every month • The monthly meeting is today. • The regional manager visits the office on a monthly basis.

2 : published once every month • She writes a monthly column for the magazine. • a monthly magazine/newsletter

3 : of or relating to one month • monthly payments • her monthly salary [=the salary she receives every month] • a monthly fee • the monthly total of traffic accidents

— monthly adv • The magazine is published monthly. • Water the plant when the soil feels dry and feed it monthly. [=once every month]

²monthly noun, pl -lies [count] : a magazine that is published once every month • He reads one of the travel monthlies.

mon-u-ment /ˈmɑːnjəmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count]

1 a : a building, statue, etc., that honors a person or event • They have erected a monument in his honor. — often + to • The statue serves as a monument to those who have served in the armed forces. b : a building or place that is important because of when it was built or because of something in history that happened there • ancient monuments C : NATIONAL MONUMENT

2 : an example of something — + to • The fashions of that era are a monument to bad taste. [=they are a perfect example of bad taste] • His life is a monument to what people can endure and overcome.

mon-u-men-tal /ˌmɑːnjəˈmentl/ adj

1 : very important • a monumental discovery/achievement

2 : very great or extreme • It's more than a mistake; it's a case of monumental stupidity. • the monumental complexity of the issue • Repairing the damage will be a monumental task/job.

3 always used before a noun : of or relating to a monument • The class was about modern monumental architecture.

— mon-u-men-tal-ly adv • monumentally stupid/important moo /muː/ noun, pl moos [count] : the sound made by a cow

— moo verb moos; mooed; moo-ing [no obj] • We heard the cows mooring in the field.

mooch /'mu:tʃ/ verb mooch-es; mooched; mooch-ing US, informal + disapproving : to ask for and get things from other people without paying for them or doing anything for them [+ obj] He's always mooching [=bumming] cigarettes. — often + off • She's been mooching money off everyone she knows. [no obj] — usually + off • He's always mooching off his friends. • He mooched off his parents for a few years [=he lived with his parents and didn't do any work] and then found a job and moved to the city.

mooch around/about [phrasal verb] Brit, informal : to walk around with no particular purpose • I've just been mooching about all afternoon. • We mooched around at some antique stores and then went to a café.

mood /'mu:d/ noun, pl moods

1 [count] : the way someone feels : a person's emotional state • He's been in a good mood all week. [=he's been happy and pleasant all week] • Watching the news has put me in a bad mood. [=has made me unhappy and depressed] • The kids are in a silly mood today. • The good news lifted/lightened her mood. • The bad news darkened/depressed her mood. • She is a woman of many moods. Let's hope she's in one of her cheerful moods today. • She may join us later. It depends on what kind of mood she's in. • He's in one of his moods. [=he's in a bad mood] • Quit teasing him. He's obviously in no mood for joking. • It's a gorgeous day, and I'm in no mood to clean the house. • It's hard to relate to someone who has such wild/extreme mood swings. [=someone whose mood changes very quickly] • (medical) mood disorders such as severe depression or anxiety

2 [singular] : an attitude or feeling shared by many people • The mood of the country/city was grim.

3 [count] : a quality that creates a particular feeling • She turned down the lights and lit a candle to create a more romantic mood. [=atmosphere] in the mood : feeling a desire for (something) or to do something • I'm in the mood for sushi. • She was in the mood for love. • He's a great pianist and goes to the jazz club whenever he's in the mood to play. • I'm sorry. I'm just not in the mood to talk. [=I do not want to talk to anyone right now] • "Would you like to see a movie?" "No, I'm not in the mood (to see a movie)."

the mood takes you ♦ When the mood takes you, you have the feeling of wanting to do something. • She can be very sociable when/if the mood takes her.

— compare ²MOOD

2 mood noun, pl moods [count] grammar : a set of forms of a verb that show whether the action or state expressed by the verb is thought of as a fact, a command, or a wish or possibility • In "I walked to school," the verb "walked" is in the indicative mood. • the imperative/subjunctive mood — compare ¹MOOD mood music noun [noncount] : music that is meant to create a relaxed or romantic feeling • He lit some candles and put on some mood music.

moody /'mu:di/ adj mood-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 a : often unhappy or unfriendly • moody teenagers • I don't know why I get so moody sometimes. b : having moods that change often • She's a moody woman—she can be happy one minute and angry the next.

2 : creating a certain mood or feeling • The room's moody lighting suggested mystery and romance. • a moody painting/ballad/film

— mood-i-ly /'mu:dəli/ adv • He stared moodily out the window. • a moodily lit room — mood-i-ness /'mu:dinəs/ noun [noncount] • Her moodiness makes her hard to get along with.

moo-la or moo-lah /'mu:lə:/ noun [noncount] US slang : MONEY • They're making major/much moola. [=a lot of money]

moon /'mu:n/ noun, pl moons

1 the moon or the Moon : the large round object that circles the Earth and that shines at night by reflecting light from the sun • The telescope makes the craters on the surface of the moon incredibly clear. • The moon isn't out tonight. = There's no moon tonight. [=the moon cannot be seen tonight] • the first moon [=lunar] landing [=the first time people landed a spacecraft on the moon] • the orbit of the Moon around the Earth — see also BLUE MOON, FULL MOON, HALF-MOON, HARVEST MOON, NEW MOON

2 [count] : a large round object like the moon that circles around a planet other than the Earth • Europa and Io are both moons of Jupiter. • a planet orbited by one moon

ask for the moon or Brit cry for the moon informal : to ask for something that is very difficult or impossible to get • The striking workers say they just want to be paid what they're worth. They're not asking for the moon.

many moons informal : a very long time • I visited my old school yesterday for the first time in many moons. • But that was all many moons ago.

over the moon informal : very happy or pleased about something • She's over the moon at being chosen for the award.

promise (someone) the moon see ²PROMISE reach/shoot for the moon : to try to do or get something that is very difficult to do or get • an ambitious businessman who is always shooting for the moon

— moon-less /'mu:nləs/ adj • a moonless night [=a night during which the moon cannot be seen]

2 moon verb moons; mooned; moon-ing informal : to bend over and show your bare buttocks to someone as a rude joke or insult [+ obj] One of the boys mooned the crowd. [no obj] One of the boys mooned at the crowd.

moon around/about [phrasal verb] Brit, informal : to move around slowly because you are unhappy • I was feeling depressed and just mooned about [=moped around] all day.

moon over also US moon after [phrasal verb] moon over/after (something or someone) : to spend too much time thinking about or looking at (someone or something that you admire or want very much) • All the girls in the class are moon-ing over the handsome new teacher. • fans moon-ing after movie stars moon-beam /'mu:nbi:m/ noun, pl -beams [count] : a ray of light from the moon : a beam of moonlight • Moonbeams shone through the leaves of the trees.

1 moon-light /'mu:nlaɪt/ noun [noncount] : the light of the moon • A figure appeared in the moonlight. • a moonlight cruise down the river = a cruise down the river by moonlight do a moonlight flit Brit, informal : to leave a place secretly during the night especially to avoid paying money that you owe

2 moonlight verb -lights; -light-ed; -light-ing [no obj] : to work at a second job in addition to your regular job • She is a secretary who moonlights as a waitress on weekends.

— moon-light-er noun, pl -ers [count]

moon-lit /'mu:nlaɪt/ adj : lighted by the moon • a moonlit night/landscape/room

moon-roof /'mu:nru:f/ noun, pl -roofs [count] chiefly US : a part of a roof of a car or truck that is made of glass and that can be opened to let air in — compare SUNROOF

moon-scape /'mu:nskeɪp/ noun, pl -scapes

1 [singular] : the way the surface of the moon looks

2 [count] : a dry and empty place that looks like the surface of the moon • The valley is a desolate moonscape.

moon-shine /'mu:nʃaɪn/ noun [noncount] informal

1 chiefly US : a kind of alcohol that people make illegally • a jug of moonshine

2 Brit : foolish or untrue words : NONSENSE • Everything they said was just a load of moonshine.

— moon-shin-er /'mu:nʃaɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • an old moonshiner [=a person who makes moonshine]

moon-struck /'mu:nstrʌk/ adj : silly, foolish, or crazy especially because you are in love • a celebrity mobbed by moonstruck teenage girls

moony /'mu:ni/ adj moon-i-er; -est chiefly US, informal : full of romantic feelings : MOONSTRUCK • moony teenagers

1 moor /'muə/ noun, pl moors [count] : a broad area of open land that is not good for farming — used especially to refer to land in Great Britain; usually plural • We watched the sun setting over the moors.

2 moor verb moors; moored; moor-ing : to hold (a boat or ship) in place with ropes or cables or with an anchor [+ obj] We found a harbor and moored the boat there for the night. • The boat was moored alongside the dock. [no obj] We need to find a place to moor for the night.

Moor /'muə/ noun, pl Moors [count] : a member of a group of North African Arab people who ruled parts of Spain from the eighth century until 1492

— Moor-ish /'muərɪʃ/ adj • Moorish architecture • a Moorish instrument

moor-ing /'muərɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [count] : a place where a boat or ship can be anchored or moored • We found a temporary mooring in the harbor. — often plural • We'll be renting private moorings there for the summer.

2 moorings [plural] : the anchors, ropes, and cables that are used to hold a boat or ship in place • The wind was strong enough to tear the boat from its moorings. • secure the moorings moor-land /'mu:ələnd/ noun, pl -lands : land that consists of moors [noncount] an area of open moorland [count] We hiked across the moorlands.

moose /'mu:s/ noun, pl moose [count] : a large animal with very large, flat antlers that lives in forests in the northern part of America, Europe, and Asia — see picture at DEER

¹moot /'mu:t/ adj

1 : not certain : argued about but not possible for people to prove • He says that they should have foreseen the accident, but that point is moot. [=debatable]

2 US : not worth talking about : no longer important or worth discussing • The court ruled that the issue is now moot because the people involved in the dispute have died. • I think they were wrong, but the point is moot. Their decision has been made and it can't be changed now.

²moot verb moots; moot-ed; moot-ing [+ obj] formal : to introduce (an idea, subject, etc.) for discussion — usually used as (be) mooted • The idea has been mooted in Congress, and it should be a topic of discussion for some time.

¹mop /'mɑ:p/ noun, pl mops [count]

1 : a tool for cleaning floors that has a bundle of cloth or yarn or a sponge attached to a long handle

2 : a large amount of tangled or untidy hair on a person's head • a mop of hair

²mop verb mops; mopped; mop-ping

1 : to clean (a floor) with a mop [+ obj] The kitchen (floor) needs to be mopped. [no obj] I'm almost done mop-ping.

2 [+ obj] a : to wipe (something that is wet) • He mopped his brow (dry) with a handkerchief. b : to wipe (a liquid) from something • He mopped the sweat from/off his brow.

mop up [phrasal verb] 1 mop (something) up or mop up (something) : to remove (a liquid) from a surface by using a mop, towel, etc. • It will only take a moment to mop up the spill. •

She used the thick bread to mop up the last of her soup. — sometimes used figuratively • The movie mopped up all the awards. 2 mop up or mop (something) up or mop up (something) informal : to do the final things that are needed to complete a job or task • I'm almost done with the project. I just need a little more time to mop up. • Just let me mop up [=finish] a few things and I'll be done. • The battle has been won. The focus is now on mopping up small pockets of resistance. — see also MOP-UP mope /'moup/ verb mopes; moped; mop-ing [no obj] disapproving

1 : to behave in a way that shows you are unhappy and depressed • Like a little child, he often moped when he didn't get what he wanted.

2 : to move around slowly because you are unhappy — often + around or (Brit) about • I was feeling depressed and just moped around all day. • I spent hours just moping around the house.

mo-ped /'mou,ped/ noun, pl -peds [count] : a small motorcycle that can be pedaled like a bicycle — see picture at MOTORCYCLE mop-pet /'mɑ:pət/ noun, pl -pets [count] informal : a young person : CHILD mop-up /'mɑ:p,ʌp/ noun [singular] informal : the actions that complete a job or task after the more difficult parts have been done • The project is almost done. All that's left is the mop-up. — often used before another noun • mop-up duty • the mop-up phase of operations — see also mop up at ²MOP

¹moral /'morəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun a : concerning or relating to what is right and wrong in human behavior • The church takes a strong stand on a number of moral [=ethical] issues. • The author avoids making moral judgments. • moral arguments • Each story teaches an important moral lesson. b : based on what you think is right and good • He felt that he had a moral obligation/responsibility/duty to help the poor. • He's a man with strong moral convictions. [=a man who believes strongly that some things are right and others are wrong] • We're confident she has the moral fiber/fortitude to make the right decision.

2 a [more ~; most ~] : considered right and good by most people : agreeing with a standard of right behavior • moral conduct • Their behavior was not moral. • a moral young man [=a young man who tries to behave in a moral way] — compare AMORAL, IMMORAL b : able to choose between right and wrong behavior • Animals are not moral creatures and are not responsible for their actions.

moral authority ♦ A person, group, or organization that has moral authority is trusted to do what is right. • The scandal has undermined the government's moral authority.

moral support ♦ Someone who gives you moral support helps you by supporting or encouraging you rather than by giving you money or practical help. • She counted on her sisters for moral support.

moral victory ♦ If you achieve a moral victory you do not win anything but you achieve something that is important and good. • Although they lost, the minority claimed the vote as a moral victory since they had won the support of so many former opponents.

²moral noun, pl -als

1 [count] : a lesson that is learned from a story or an experience • The moral of the story is to be satisfied with what you have. • the movie's moral • The moral here is: pay attention to the warning lights in your car.

2 morals [plural] : proper ideas and beliefs about how to behave in a way that is considered right and good by most people • No one questions her morals. [=no one doubts that she is a good person who tries to behave in a moral way] • Socrates was accused of corrupting the morals of the youth of Athens. • He has no morals. [=he is not a good or honest person] • The author points to recent cases of fraud as evidence of the lack of morals in the business world. • a person with/of loose morals [=a person whose behavior and especially whose sexual behavior is considered morally wrong by some people]

mo-rale /mə'ræl/ noun [noncount] : the feelings of enthusiasm and loyalty that a person or group has about a task or job • The company has been struggling and employee morale is low. [=employees do not feel happy or enthusiastic about their work] • The team is playing well and their morale is high. • The President's speech boosted/raised/improved the morale of the troops.

mor-al-ist /'morəlist/ noun, pl -ists [count] usually disapproving : a person who has strong feelings and opinions about what is right and who tries to control the moral behavior of other people

mor-al-is-tic /,morə'listik/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : having or showing strong opinions about what is right behavior and what is wrong behavior • While a moralistic speech won't convince kids not to try drugs, a story about people affected by drugs might. • a moralistic tone/attitude mo-ral-i-ty /mə'ræləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 : beliefs about what is right behavior and what is wrong behavior [noncount] the changing cultural morality • The group is calling for a return to traditional morality. • Christian morality [count] two groups with clashing moralties

2 [noncount] : the degree to which something is right and good : the moral goodness or badness of something • The decision may be legally justified, but I question its morality. — usually + of • We discussed the morality of telling lies to protect someone.

mor-al-ize also Brit mor-al-ise /'morəlaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [no obj] usually disapproving : to express beliefs about what is good behavior and what is bad behavior • an essay moralizing about the evils of alcohol • moralizing judgments/statements

— mor-al-iz-er also Brit mor-al-is-er noun, pl -ers [count]

mor-al-ly /'morəli/ adv : according to what is considered right and good by most people • a morally good person • She behaved in a way that was morally wrong/right. • She felt morally obligated to help. • He acted morally. [=in a moral way] • She seems to think she's morally superior to the rest of us. • His behavior cannot be morally justified.

mo-rass /mə'ræs/ noun, pl -rass-es [count] : an area of soft, wet ground : a marsh or swamp — usually singular • a morass of muck — usually used figuratively to refer to a complicated or unpleasant situation that is difficult to get out of or to move through • a legal morass • trying to find our way through a morass of city traffic mor-a-to-ri-um /ˌmɒrəˈtɒrɪəm/ noun, pl -to-ri-ums or -to-ria /-ˈtɒrɪə/ [count] : a time when a particular activity is not allowed • The treaty calls for a nuclear testing moratorium. — often + on • a moratorium on nuclear testing • City officials declared a moratorium on building more houses in that part of the city.

mop

M

mor-bid /ˈmɒrəbɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : relating to unpleasant subjects (such as death) • She has a morbid interest in funerals. • He has a morbid sense of humor. • a morbid fascination with death • wanting to learn about a celebrity's downfall out of morbid curiosity

2 technical : not healthy or normal • suffering from a morbid condition • morbid obesity • The child has a morbid fear/horror of snakes.

— mor-bid-ly adv • She was morbidly fascinated with death. • morbidly obese mor-dant /ˈmɒrdənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : expressing harsh criticism especially in a way that is funny • a writer famous for her mordant humor/wit

— mor-dant-ly adv • mordantly funny/witty novels

¹more /ˈmɒr/ adj

1 : greater in amount, number, or size • I felt more pain after the procedure, not less. • The new engine has even more power. • You like more sugar in your tea than I do. • He had done more harm than he had intended. • More and more people [=an increasingly large number of people] are using e-mail these days. • The company has more than [=over] 2,000 employees. [=the number of employees is greater than 2,000] • Choose no/not more than three options. [=choose three options or fewer]

2 : extra or additional • I bought more apples. • The series will have five more episodes. • The company hired a few more employees. • I offered him some more coffee. • One more thing and then I'm leaving. • Can you say that one more time? • She wants more money.

²more adv

1 : to a greater degree or extent • The shot hurt more than I expected. • This cake is pretty good, but I'd like it (even) more if it had chocolate frosting. • It happens more often than it used to. • The building looks more like a museum than a library. • more active/important • more actively/importantly • The players grew more intense as the game went on. • She wanted a more sporty car. [=a sportier car] • To me, there's nothing more exciting than playing football. • She more closely resembles her aunt than her mother. • He struggled to find a more comfortable position. • a more complex explanation • It's the same product—they've done nothing more than change the label. • It's getting more and more difficult [=increasingly difficult] to distinguish fake diamonds from real ones. • The fact that they'd written the play themselves made it all the more impressive. [=made it even more impressive]

2 : more often or for a longer period of time • You need to help (out) with the housework more. = You need to help (out) more with the housework. • She's a better piano player than I am because she practices more (than I do). • You need to work on it (some) more.

3 : in addition • wait one day more • a couple of times more • What more could you ask for?

4 — used to say that one way of describing a person or thing is better or more accurate than another • She is more an acquaintance than a friend. = She's an acquaintance more than she is a friend.

more like it see ³LIKE

more or less 1 : not completely but to a great degree • The clothes are more or less [=mostly] dry. • The problem is more or less [=informal] pretty much fixed now. • They were more or less willing. • The building remains more or less [=essentially] intact. • The business has remained more or less [=fairly, reasonably] successful. 2 — used to indicate that a number, amount, time, etc., is not exact or certain • The garden contains five acres, more or less. [=about/approximately five acres] • It should take you 20 minutes, more or less. [=it should take you about/approximately 20 minutes] • I divided it into six more or less equal parts. [=into six approximately equal parts] more than : to a great degree : VERY, EXTREMELY • Please call me anytime. I'm more than happy to help (out) in any way I can. ♦ A clause that includes more than is often followed by another clause that gives more information or limits the first clause in some way. • I am more than happy to help you, but I'd appreciate being asked politely. • You are more than [=entirely] welcome to stay for dinner, but we aren't having anything special.

more than a little : to a great degree : VERY, EXTREMELY •

He was more than a little surprised by her decision.

once more see ¹ONCE

what's more see ¹WHAT

³more pronoun : a greater number or amount • More [=more people] were found as the search continued. • We're waiting until more [=more information] is known. • I need to spend less and save more. • You have more than everyone else. • I'm too full to eat (any) more. • If these estimates are correct, we'll need much/far/even more. • It costs a little more but it's worth it. • People are often willing to pay more for a better product. • We got more than we expected. • (We'll have) More on the weather later. • We need 22 boxes—no more, no less. • More and more of them [=an increasingly large number of them] are willing to try. • People expect more and more from their computers. • We've been hearing more and more about this issue in recent months.

little more than see ²LITTLE

more of — used to say that one way of describing a person or thing is better or more accurate than another • It's more of a guess than an estimate. • No, I wouldn't call the color red—it's more of a maroon.

more's the pity see ¹PITY

more than meets the eye see ¹EYE

the more the merrier see MERRY

more-over /mɒrəʊvər/ adv, somewhat formal : in addition to what has been said • It probably wouldn't work. Moreover [=furthermore, besides, in addition], it would be very expensive to try it. • The cameras will deter potential criminals. Moreover, they will help police a great deal when a crime actually is committed.

mo-res /ˈmɒrɪz/ noun [plural] : the customs, values, and behaviors that are accepted by a particular group, culture, etc. • social mores • society's changing mores • current cultural/sexual mores

morgue /ˈmɒrɡ/ noun, pl morgues [count]

1 : a place where the bodies of dead people are kept until they are buried or cremated • the city morgue • a hospital morgue — often used figuratively or in the phrase like a morgue to describe a place that is very quiet and sad • The locker room was a morgue after the team lost yet another game. • The locker room was like a morgue. — called also (chiefly Brit) mortuary

2 US : a place in the editorial offices of a newspaper, magazine, etc., where old articles and other documents are kept • old news stories found in a newspaper morgue

mor-i-bund /ˈmɒrəˌbʌnd/ adj, formal

1 : no longer active or effective : close to failure • an actor who is trying to revive his moribund career • a moribund economy/industry • The peace talks are moribund.

2 : very sick : close to death • The patient was moribund. • moribund [=dying] trees

Mor-mon /ˈmɒmən/ noun, pl -mons [count] : a member of a Christian church that was founded by Joseph Smith in the U.S. in 1830 : a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints — Mormon adj • a Mormon church — Mor-mon-ism /ˈmɒməˌnɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

morn /ˈmɒn/ noun, pl morns literary : MORNING [count] • a frosty winter morn • early in the morn • [noncount] from morn to night morn-ing /ˈmɒnɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 a : the early part of the day : the time of day from sunrise until noon [count] She liked to get things done early in the morning. • I worked in the yard for part of the morning. • I saw him this morning, and I'll be meeting with him again tomorrow morning. • We have a meeting scheduled for 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. • On Sunday mornings I like to relax and read the newspaper. • She arrived on the morning of March 18. • the morning after a storm • that night and the next/following morning = that night and the morning after • I'll talk to you again in the morning. [=I'll talk to you again early tomorrow] [noncount] It was early/late morning when I woke. • We sat around drinking coffee all morning. • We won't find out until morning. • (literary) Morning has broken. [=the sun has risen; it is dawn] — often used before another noun • the morning sun/light • my morning (cup of) coffee [=the coffee I drink every morning] • My brother is a night

owl/person, but I'm a morning person. [=a person who likes the early part of the day; a person who has the most energy in the morning] b [noncount] : the part of the day between midnight and noon • The party continued into the wee/small hours of the morning. [=after midnight] • The phone rang at 2 o'clock in the morning. [=at 2 a.m.]

2 — used informally to say hello to someone in the morning • Morning. [=good morning] How are you today?

morning, noon, and night : during all times of the day : all the time • The system is operating morning, noon, and night. • We've been working morning, noon, and night [=many hours each day] to get the project finished on time.

— see also MORNINGS morning-after pill noun, pl ~ pills [count] : a pill that a woman takes after having sex so that she will not become pregnant morning coat noun, pl ~ coats [count] : a type of formal black coat worn by men with some suits • The groom wore a morning coat.

morning glory noun, pl ~ -ries [count] : a plant that has many brightly colored flowers that open in the morning — see color picture on page C6 morn-ings /'moʊnɪŋz/ adv : in the morning • She works mornings in the kitchen of a small local restaurant. • Mornings, I like to weed the garden.

morning sickness noun [noncount] : a feeling of sickness that a pregnant woman may feel especially early in the morning : a feeling of nausea caused by pregnancy morning star noun

the morning star : the planet Venus when it can be seen in the eastern sky in the early morning — compare EVENING STAR mo·ron /'moʊrən/ noun, pl -rons [count] informal : a very stupid or foolish person : IDIOT • They were acting like a bunch of morons. • I can't believe I did something so stupid. I feel like a complete moron. • an utter moron

— mo·ron·ic /mə'rɒnɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • That's the most moronic thing I've ever heard. • moronic behavior • moronic humor — mo·ron·i·cal·ly /mə'rɒnɪkli/ adv • They were behaving moronically.

mo·rose /mə'rouz/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 of a person : very serious, unhappy, and quiet • He became morose and withdrawn and would not talk to anyone.

2 : very sad or unhappy • morose song lyrics • morose thoughts

— mo·rose·ly adv • gazing/staring morosely at the sad scene • "I lost," she said morosely. — mo·rose·ness noun [noncount]

morph /'moʊf/ verb morphs; morphed; morph-ing

1 of an image on a screen : to gradually change into a different image [no obj] The picture of a dog morphed into a picture of a cat. [+ obj] Using the new software, we morphed a picture of a dog into a picture of a cat.

2 : to change gradually and completely from one thing into another thing usually in a way that is surprising or that seems magical [no obj] a quiet college student who has morphed into a glamorous actress [+ obj] He is trying to morph himself into a different person.

mor·pHEME /'moʊfɪ:m/ noun, pl -phemes [count] linguistics : a word or a part of a word that has a meaning and that contains no smaller part that has a meaning • The word "pins" contains two morphemes: "pin" and the plural suffix "-s."

— mor·phe·mic /mə'fɪ:mɪk/ adj mor·phine /'moʊfɪ:n/ noun [noncount] : a powerful drug made from opium that is used to reduce pain • a shot/dose of morphine

mor·phol·o·gy /mə'fɒ:lədʒi/ noun, pl -gies

1 [noncount] linguistics : the study and description of how words are formed in language

2 biology a [noncount] : the study of the form and structure of animals and plants b : the form and structure of a plant or animal or any of its parts [noncount] plants with unusual morphology [count] plants with unusual morphologies

— mor·pho·log·i·cal /mə'fɒ'lɒ:dʒɪkəl/ adj

mor·row /'marou/ noun, pl -rows old-fashioned + literary

1 : MORNING [noncount] "Good-night, good-night! parting is such sweet sorrow / That I shall say good-night till it be morrow." —Shakespeare, Romeo and Juliet [count] "Many good morrows to my noble lord!" —Shakespeare, Richard III

2 the morrow : the next day • We don't know what the mor- row may bring. [=we don't know what may happen in the future] • We expect them to arrive on the morrow. [=tomorrow]

Morse code /'moʊs-/ noun [noncount] : a system of sending messages that uses long and short sounds, flashes of light, or marks to represent letters and numbers

mor·sel /'moʊsəl/ noun, pl -sels [count] : a small piece of food • tender morsels of beef • bite-size morsels • She ate every morsel. • a tasty/delicious morsel — often used figuratively • a juicy morsel of gossip

¹mor·tal /'moʊtəl/ adj

1 : certain to die • Every living creature is mortal. — opposite ¹IMMORTAL

2 a : causing death : FATAL • He suffered a mortal wound in the battle. • a mortal injury/blow — often used figuratively • She claims that the proposed law would deal/strike a mortal blow to many small businesses. [=would cause many small businesses to fail] synonyms see ¹DEADLY b : possibly causing death • facing mortal danger • two gladiators locked in mortal combat [=a fight that will result in the death of the loser; a fight to the death] c : relating to or connected with death • mortal agony — see also mortal remains at REMAINS

3 always used before a noun : very great or severe • She lived in mortal fear/terror/dread of being betrayed. [=she was very afraid of being betrayed] mortal enemy also mortal foe/rival : someone you hate very much and for a long time • They've been mortal enemies for many years.

— mor·tal·ly /'moʊtəli/ adv • He was mortally [=fatally] wounded in the battle. • She is mortally [(more commonly) terminally] ill with cancer. • I'm mortally [=extremely] afraid of snakes.

²mortal noun, pl -tals [count] : a human being • stories about gods interfering in the lives of mortals • the troubles that come to ordinary mortals — often used humorously • He's a big star now. He doesn't waste his time talking to mere/lesser mortals [=people] like you and me. — compare ²IMMORTAL

mor·tal·i·ty /mə'tæləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being a person or thing that is alive and therefore certain to die : the quality or state of being mortal • The news of her cousin's death reminded her of her own mortality. [=reminded her that she would also die some day] — opposite IMMORTALITY

2 : the death of a person, animal, etc. [count] cancer mortalities [=deaths caused by cancer] [noncount] a leading cause of mortality

3 [noncount] : the number of deaths that occur in a particular time or place • a decrease in cancer mortality [=a decrease in the number of people dying from cancer] • The government is trying to reduce infant mortality. = The government is trying to reduce the mortality rate among infants. [=trying to reduce the number of infants who die each year]

mortal sin noun, pl ~ sins [count] in the Roman Catholic Church : a sin (such as murder) that will result in punishment that lasts forever unless the person who has sinned sincerely confesses to God and asks to be forgiven • commit a mortal sin — compare VENIAL SIN

mor·tar /'moʊtə/ noun, pl -tars

1 [count] : a heavy, deep bowl in which seeds, spices, etc., are pounded or crushed with a heavy tool (called a pestle)

2 [count] : a military weapon used to fire shells (sense 5a) high into the air at a low speed • fire/shoot a mortar — often used before another noun • The soldiers came under mortar fire. • a mortar attack

3 [noncount] : a wet substance that is spread between bricks or stones and that holds them together when it hardens • seal the joints with mortar — see also BRICK-AND-MORTAR, bricks and mortar at ¹BRICK

— mortar verb -tars; -tared; -tar-ing [+ obj] • a building mortared with mud • bricks mortared together

mor·tar·board /'moʊtəboʊd/ noun, pl -boards [count] : a hat with a flat square top that is worn for special ceremonies at some schools • The students donned robes and mortarboards for graduation.

¹mort·gage /'moʊgɪdʒ/ noun, pl -gag-es [count] : a legal agreement in which a person borrows money to buy property (such as a house) and pays back the money over a period of years • He will have to take out a mortgage in order to buy the house. • a 30-year mortgage • a $50,000 mortgage • They hope to pay off the mortgage on their home soon. — often used before another noun • a mortgage agreement/banker/lender/loan • Mortgage rates are down. — see also REVERSE MORTGAGE

²mortgage verb -gages; -gaged; -gag-ing [+ obj] : to give someone a legal claim on (property that you own) in exchange for money that you will pay back over a period of years • She mortgaged her house in order to buy the restaurant.

mortgage the/your future chiefly US, disapproving : to borrow a large amount of money that will have to be paid back in the future or to do something that may cause problems for you in the future • The city has mortgaged its future to pay for the new stadium. • Some critics say that she has mortgaged her political future on a program that is likely to fail.

mort-gag-ee /,mɒrˈgɑːʒi/ noun, pl -ees [count] law : a person or organization (such as a bank) that lends money to someone for buying property mort-gag-or /,mɒrˈgɑːʒə/ also mort-gag-er /ˈmɒrˈgɑːʒə/ noun, pl -ors also -ers [count] law : a person who borrows money for buying property : a person who takes out a mortgage in order to buy property mor-ti-cian /mɒrˈtɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] US, formal : a person whose job is to prepare dead people to be buried and to arrange and manage funerals : UNDERTAKER

mor-ti-fy /ˈmɒrtɪfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to feel very embarrassed and foolish • Her behavior mortified her parents. = Her parents were mortified by her behavior. • It mortified me to have to admit that I'd never actually read the book.

— mor-ti-fi-ca-tion /,mɒrtɪfəˈkeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • He was filled with mortification when he realized his mistake. • Imagine my mortification when I realized who she was!

— mortified adj [more ~; most ~] • I was completely mortified when I realized who she was. — mortifying adj [more ~; most ~] • a completely mortifying experience

— mor-ti-fy-ing-ly adv • a mortifyingly stupid mistake

mortis see RIGOR MORTIS

mor-tise also Brit mor-tice /ˈmɒrtəs/ noun, pl -tis-es [count] technical : a hole that is cut in a piece of wood or other material so that another piece (called a tenon) will fit into it to form a connection

mortise lock or Brit mortice lock noun, pl ~ locks [count] chiefly Brit : DEAD BOLT

¹mor-tu-ary /ˈmɒrtʃəri, Brit ˈmɔːtʃəri/ noun, pl -ar-ies [count]

¹ US : FUNERAL HOME

² chiefly Brit : MORGUE ¹ • a hospital mortuary

²mortuary adj, always used before a noun, formal : of or relating to death or burial • mortuary ceremonies/customs/rituals

mo-sa-ic /mouˈzeɪk/ noun, pl -ics

¹ : a decoration on a surface made by pressing small pieces of colored glass or stone into a soft material that then hardens to make pictures or patterns [count] a church decorated with old mosaics [noncount] a picture done in mosaic— often used before another noun • a mosaic floor • mosaic glass/tiles

² [count] : something made up of different things that together form a pattern — usually singular • a complex mosaic of islands • the country's ethnic/political/religious/social mosaic

mosaic

mo-sey /ˈmouzi/ verb mo-seys; mo-seyed; mo-sey-ing [no obj] US, informal : to walk or move in a slow and relaxed way • I think I'll mosey (on) over to the post office and see if the mail has come in yet. • He moseyed up to the bar.

mosey along [phrasal verb] informal : to go away : LEAVE • I'm finished here, so I'll just mosey along now.

mosh /ˈmɑːʃ/ verb mosh-es; moshed; mosh-ing [no obj] informal : to dance in a wild and rough way near the stage at a rock concert

— mosh-er noun, pl -ers [count]

mosh pit noun, pl ~ pits [count] informal : an area in front of a stage at a rock concert where people dance in a wild and rough way

Mos-lem /ˈmɑːzləm/ variant spelling of MUSLIM ♦ The spelling Moslem is old-fashioned and is sometimes considered offensive. It should be avoided.

mosque /ˈmɑːsk/ noun, pl mosques [count] : a building that is used for Muslim religious services

mos-qui-to /məˈskiːtə/ noun, pl -toes also -tos [count] : a small flying insect that bites the skin of people and animals and sucks their blood • a swarm of mosquitoes • the bite of a mosquito = a mosquito bite ♦ Mosquitoes sometimes spread serious diseases like malaria. — see color picture on page C10

mosquito net noun, pl ~ nets [count] : a net that is placed over something (such as a bed) in order to keep out mosquitoes

moss /ˈmɔːs/ noun, pl moss-es : a type of green plant that has very small leaves and no flowers and that grows on rocks, bark, or wet ground [noncount] Moss covered the fallen logs. [count] ferns and mosses— see also PEAT MOSS, SPANISH MOSS

— moss-like /ˈmɔːsˌlaɪk/ adj — mossy /ˈmɔːsi/ adj moss-i-er; -est • a mossy roof [=a roof covered with moss] • mossy rocks/stones

¹most /ˈmoust/ adj

¹ : almost all : the majority of — usually used before a plural noun • Most people believe this. • Most eligible voters went to the polls. • I'm afraid of most dogs, but not this one. • I like most foods.

² : greatest in amount or degree • Choosing a color took the most time. • That family owned the most land. • Unfortunately the negative aspects of our schools get the most attention.

for the most part ¹ : almost all or almost completely •

Menu items are, for the most part, under $5. [=almost all the menu items cost less than $5] • We wanted to keep it simple, and I think we were successful for the most part.

² — used to describe a condition or situation that usually exists or is true • Streets fill with people during the festival, but for the most part [=usually, most of the time] it's a quiet, sleepy town.

²most adv

¹ : in or to the greatest degree • Of all the gifts he received that day, the book pleased him most. • What matters most to you? • The island is the most southern in the chain. • You'll benefit most from the exercises if you do them every day. • most active/important • most actively/importantly • It's the most challenging job she has ever had. • the most beautiful woman there • Even the most careful of us make mistakes. • the most common/popular kind • The report shows the intersections at which accidents are most likely to occur. • the most widely used treatment

² somewhat formal : to a great extent : VERY • He is a most careful driver. • Their argument was most persuasive.

— compare ⁵MOST

³most noun

at most or at the most : not more than a specified amount, level, etc. • It took an hour at most. [=it took no more than an hour; it took an hour or less than an hour] • She only worked here for a month or two at the most. • It costs, at most, only a few dollars. • This is worth $10 at most.

make the most of : to use (something) in a way that will get the best result • She was determined to make the most of the opportunity.

the most : something of the greatest importance, strength, value, etc. • The most I can give you is $10. [=I can give you $10, but I can't give you more than $10] • Is that the most you can do? • You'll need to make wise investments if you want get the most out of your money. • A second chance is the most we can hope for now. • He tries hard, but that's the most [=all] we can say for him. [=the best thing we can say about him is that he tries hard]

⁴most pronoun

¹ : the largest number of people or things • Some people kept working, but most became discouraged and quit. • Some of the chairs were broken but most were in good condition. • Most (of the people) who were present voted in favor of the proposal. • Most of them will appreciate the offer. • She was more fragile than most.

² : the largest part of something • Most of it is hidden from view. • They spent most of the decade overseas.

⁵most adv, US, informal : very nearly : ALMOST — usually used with the adjectives all, every, and any; the pronouns all, everyone, everything, everybody, anyone, anything, and anybody; and the adverbs everywhere, anywhere, and always • The cost of most everything is higher. • Most anyone can go. • most everywhere in the country • We'll be arriving most any time now. • They most always skip lunch. — compare ²MOST

— most /ˈmoust/ adj suffix : in or to the greatest degree : MOST • innermost • outermost • topmost

M

most-ly /'moustli/ adv

1 — used to say that a statement you are making is true or correct at most times or that it describes a usual situation or condition. He gets around mostly [=mainly, chiefly] by car. [=he usually uses a car to get around] • “What did you do this weekend?” “I worked in the yard, mostly.” [=I spent most of my time working in the yard] • I concentrated mostly [=mainly] on getting good grades when I was in college.

2 : almost all or almost completely. The story was mostly accurate. [=most of the story was accurate] • The people at the concert were mostly older people. [=most of the people were older people]

MOT /,em,ou'ti:/ noun, pl MOTs or MOT's [count] Brit : an official test of all cars and other vehicles in Britain that are more than three years old to make sure that they are safe to drive — called also MOT test

mote /'mout/ noun, pl motes [count] old-fashioned : a very small piece of dust, dirt, etc. • a mote [=speck] of dust • dust motes mo-tel /mou'tel/ noun, pl -tels [count] : a place that is next to a road and that has rooms for people to stay in especially when they are traveling by car ♦ The rooms of a motel are usually reached directly from an outdoor parking lot.

moth /'ma:θ/ noun, pl moths /'maðz/ [count] : a kind of insect that is similar to a butterfly but that flies mostly at night and is usually less colorful — see color picture on page C10; see also GYPSY MOTH ♦ Some types of small moths eat holes in clothing.

¹moth-ball /'ma:θ,bɑ:l/ noun, pl -balls

1 [count] : a small ball that contains a strong-smelling chemical and that is used to keep moths away from stored clothing

2 mothballs [plural] — used in phrases like in/into mothballs and out of mothballs to describe something that is stored without being used for a long time. Many ships in the navy's fleet were put in mothballs after the war. • a computer system that has gone into mothballs • The old ship is being taken out of mothballs. — sometimes used to describe a person (such as a performer) who has not been seen for a long time. an old comedian who is being brought out of mothballs to star in a new television show ²mothball verb -balls; -balled; -ball-ing [+ obj] : to stop using (something) while keeping it to be possibly used in the future. Many navy ships were mothballed after the war.

moth-eat-en /'ma:θ,i:tŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having holes caused by moths : eaten into by moths. a moth-eaten sweater/sofa — often used figuratively. a moth-eaten [=outdated, antiquated] computer system moth-er /'mʌðə/ noun, pl -ers

1 [count] : a female parent. She became a mother when she was in her 20s. • She's the mother of three small children. • She has been like a mother to me. • Our dog is the mother of all those puppies. • She has always been close to her mother. • an expectant mother [=a woman who is pregnant] • She is a single mother [=a mother who does not have a husband or partner] — see also BIRTH MOTHER, GRANDMOTHER, QUEEN MOTHER, STEPMOTHER, SURROGATE MOTHER

2 [count] : a woman who is thought of as being like a mother. • She was a mother to me after my own mother died. — see also DEN MOTHER

3 a [count] : a woman who invents or begins something — usually singular. She is regarded as the mother of an entire industry. • the mother of an important social movement b [singular] : a cause or origin of something. Some say that scandal is the mother of reform.

4 [count] : MOTHER SUPERIOR — used especially as a title or as a form of address. Mother Teresa • Thank you, Mother.

5 [singular] informal — used to say that something is larger, better, worse, etc., than all other things of the same kind. It has been described as the mother of all construction projects. [=an extremely large construction project]

6 [count] US, offensive : MOTHERFUCKER. That guy is one mean mother.

learn (something) at your mother's knee see ¹KNEE

necessity is the mother of invention — used to say that new ways to do things are found or created when there is a strong and special need for them

— moth-er-hood /'mʌðə,hud/ noun [noncount] • She is looking forward to marriage and motherhood. — moth-er-less /'mʌðə,ləs/ adj • Her death left three motherless children. • a motherless calf

²mother verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give birth to (a child). She mothered two sons but no daughters.

2 : to be or act as mother to (someone) : to care for or protect (someone) like a mother. He says he's old enough to care for himself and he doesn't want to be mothered. [=he doesn't want to be cared for as if he were a child]

— moth-er-ing /'mʌðərɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • a sensitive child who needs careful mothering — mothering adj • her mothering [=maternal] abilities/instincts moth-er-board /'mʌðə,bɔ:d/ noun, pl -boards [count] : the main circuit board of a computer mother country noun, pl ~ -tries [count]

1 : the country where people who live in a colony or former colony came from — usually singular; usually used with the. The colonies rebelled against the mother country.

2 : the country where you were born or where your family came from : MOTHERLAND — usually singular. Her books have sold better abroad than in her mother country. — often used with the. an immigrant's nostalgia for the mother country

Mother Earth noun [singular] — used to refer to the planet Earth as a woman or a goddess. to respect/worship Mother Earth. We must protect the resources of Mother Earth.

mother figure noun, pl ~ -ures [count] : an older woman who is respected and admired like a mother. Camp counselors are mother figures to many of the girls at the camp.

moth-er-fuck-er /'mʌðə,fʌkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US, offensive

1 : an annoying person or thing. a stupid motherfucker

2 : a person or thing that is impressive in some way. He's a strong motherfucker. ♦ This is one of the most offensive words in U.S. English and should be avoided.

moth-er-fuck-ing /'mʌðə,fʌkɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US, offensive — used to make an angry statement more forceful. a motherfucking jerk ♦ This is one of the most offensive words in U.S. English and should be avoided.

mother hen noun, pl ~ hens [count] : a person who worries about, cares for, or watches over other people in a way that is annoying or unwanted. a football coach who fusses over his players like a mother hen

Mothering Sunday noun, pl ~ -days [count, noncount] Brit, old-fashioned : MOTHER'S DAY

moth-er-in-law /'mʌðərən,lɑ:/ noun, pl moth-ers-in-law /'mʌðəzən,lɑ:/ [count] : the mother of your husband or wife mother-in-law apartment noun, pl ~ -ments [count] US : IN-LAW APARTMENT

moth-er-land /'mʌðə,lænd/ noun [count] : the country where you were born or where your family came from — usually singular. Although she had lived in America for many years, she still spoke the language of her motherland. — often used with the. The whole family wanted to return to the motherland. ♦ Motherland can refer to any country, but it is often associated especially with Russia. — compare FATHERLAND mother lode noun, pl ~ lodes [count] chiefly US : the place where the largest amount of gold, silver, etc., in a particular area can be found — usually singular. a gold miner who struck/hit the mother lode [=who found the place containing the largest amount of gold] — often used figuratively. • The library's collection of old newspapers has proven to be a mother lode of information about the town's early history.

moth-er-ly /'mʌðəli/ adj [more ~; most ~] : of a mother. She took her motherly duties very seriously. • motherly [=maternal] instincts : resembling a mother. a motherly nurse : showing the affection or concern of a mother. motherly advice

Mother Nature noun [singular] — used to refer to the natural world as if it were a woman. the forces of Mother Nature • an athlete whose talents are a gift from Mother Nature

moth-er-of-pearl /,mʌðərɒv'pɛəl/ noun [noncount] : a hard, shiny, and smooth substance that is on the insides of the shells of some shellfish (such as mussels) and that is used to decorate objects (such as buttons)

Mother's Day noun, pl ~ Days [count, noncount] : the second Sunday in May in the U.S. and the fourth Sunday in Lent in Britain treated as a special day for honoring mothers mother ship noun, pl ~ ships [count] : a large ship or spaceship that sends out boats or smaller spaceships to explore, do scientific research, etc.

Mother Superior noun, pl ~ -ors [count] : a woman who is the head of a convent • the watchful eye of the Mother Superior — often used as a form of address • Good morning, Mother Superior. — called also Reverend Mother mother tongue noun, pl ~ tongues [count] : the language that a person learns to speak first • He speaks English fluently but his mother tongue [=native language, first language] is Chinese.

mo·tif /mou'ti:f/ noun, pl -tifs [count]

1 : something (such as an important idea or subject) that is repeated throughout a book, story, etc.

2 : a single or repeated design or pattern • The wallpaper has a flower motif.

¹mo·tion /'mouʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a : an act or process of moving : MOVEMENT [noncount] All motion stopped. • She has a simple golf swing with no/little wasted motion. [count] a rocking/smooth/steady motion • planetary motions • the rhythmic motions of the waves — see also SLOW MOTION b [count] : a movement of your body or of a part of your body • He caught the ball and flipped it back to me in one fluid motion. • She made a motion [=gesture] to her assistant. • The wax should be applied using a circular motion. • He made hand motions to get our attention.

2 [count] a : a formal suggestion or proposal that is made at a meeting for something to be done • She made a motion calling for the repeal of the law. • Her motion was voted on. • She made a motion that the meeting (should) be adjourned. = She made a motion to adjourn (the meeting). b law : a formal request made to a court of law or judge for something to be done or happen • His lawyer filed a motion for a mistrial. • Her lawyer has filed a motion that the case (should) be dismissed. • The judge denied a motion to delay the hearing.

3 [count] Brit, medical a : an act of passing solid waste from the body : a bowel movement b : the solid waste that is passed from the body go through the motions : to do something without making much effort to do it well • He claimed that he was looking for a job, but he was really just going through the motions.

in motion 1 : moving • She's a very busy person who's constantly in motion. • He likes taking photographs of people in motion. 2 ✧ When something, such as a plan or process, is in motion or has been set in motion or put in/into motion, it has begun and is proceeding. • They will be taking steps to set/put the divorce proceedings in motion. [=to begin the divorce proceedings] • The plan has been put into motion.

poetry in motion see POETRY

²motion verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing : to make a movement of your hand, head, etc., that tells someone to move or act in a certain way [+ obj] They motioned me to come forward. = They motioned me forward. • The guard motioned us through the gate. [no obj] She motioned to her assistant. • He motioned (to me) with one hand while opening the door with the other. • She motioned at the empty chair beside her and told me to sit down.

mo·tion·less /'mouʃənləs/ adj : not moving • He stood there absolutely motionless, waiting for her to speak.

motion picture noun, pl ~ -tures [count] US : MOVIE, FILM • He was given a starring role in a major motion picture. • the motion-picture industry motion sickness noun [noncount] : a feeling of sickness caused by the motion of a car, airplane, boat, etc. — called also (Brit) travel sickness

mo·ti·vate /'moutə'veɪt/ verb -vates; -vat-ed; -vat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give (someone) a reason for doing something • No one knows what motivated him to act in such a violent way. • The company has used a number of methods to motivate its employees (to work harder). — often used as (be) motivated • She said that she was motivated by a desire to help children.

2 : to be a reason for (something) • He denied that political pressures had motivated his decision. = He denied that his decision was politically motivated. [=done for political reasons] • a racially motivated crime — motivated adj [more ~; most ~] • a highly motivated employee [=an employee who is eager to do work and who wants to be successful] — mo·ti·va·tor /'moutə'veɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • The fear of failure can be a powerful motivator.

mo·ti·va·tion /'moutə'veɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] a : the act or process of giving someone a reason for doing something : the act or process of motivating someone • Some students need motivation to help them through school. b : the condition of being eager to act or work : the condition of being motivated • employees who lack motivation

2 : a force or influence that causes someone to do something [noncount] His behavior seemed to be without motivation. = There seemed to be no motivation [=reason, motive] for his behavior. [count] Many people have questioned her motivations in choosing to run for office at this time.

— mo·ti·va·tion·al /'moutə'veɪʃənəl/ adj • a motivational speech [=a speech that is intended to motivate people]

¹mo·tive /'moutɪv/ noun, pl -tives [count] : a reason for doing something • Their motive in running away was to avoid being punished. • I think he's guilty of the crime. He had the motive, the means, and the opportunity. • She denied that her offer to help was based on selfish motives. • hidden/ulterior motives • making decisions based on the profit motive [=the desire to make a profit] — often + for • No one knows the main/real/underlying motive for his behavior.

— mo·tive·less /'moutɪvləs/ adj

²motive adj, always used before a noun, technical : of, relating to, or causing motion • motive power

mot·ley /'mɑ:tli/ adj [more ~; most ~] usually disapproving : made up of many different people or things • a motley collection of junk • a motley crew/group of musicians mo·to·cross /'moutə,kɒrɔ:s/ noun [noncount] : the sport of racing motorcycles over a rough course with many hills, sharp turns, etc.

¹mo·tor /'moutə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a machine that produces motion or power for doing work • a gasoline motor [=engine] • electric motors — see also OUTBOARD MOTOR

2 chiefly Brit, informal + old-fashioned : CAR

— mo·tor·less /'moutələs/ adj • a motorless lawn mower • a motorless boat

²motor adj, always used before a noun

1 a : of, relating to, used in, or involving a vehicle that is powered by a motor (such as a car or motorcycle) • a motor mechanic/trip/accident • motor fuel/oil • motor racing/sports b : having a motor • a motor [=motorized] cart

2 technical : of or relating to the part of the nervous system that controls the movement of muscles • motor nerves/activities • motor areas of the brain • a motor reaction

³motor verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition -tors; -tored; -tor-ing [no obj]

1 : to travel in a car : DRIVE • We spent the afternoon motor-ing through the countryside.

2 of a car, truck, etc. : to move in a specified manner or direction : DRIVE • The car motored slowly up the hill.

mo·tor·bike /'moutə,bɑ:k/ noun, pl -bikes [count]

1 US : a small motorcycle

2 Brit : ¹MOTORCYCLE

mo·tor·boat /'moutə,bəʊt/ noun, pl -boats [count] : a boat with a motor — see picture at BOAT mo·tor·cade /'moutə,kæɪd/ noun, pl -cades [count] : a group or line of cars or other vehicles that travel together • a presidential motorcade [=a line of vehicles that includes a car carrying the President]

mo·tor·car /'moutə,kɑ:ə/ noun, pl -cars [count] old-fashioned : CAR • driving an antique motorcar motor court noun, pl ~ courts [count] US : MOTEL — used chiefly in the names of motels • We stayed overnight at the Pleasant Valley Motor Court.

¹mo·tor·cy·cle /'moutə,sɑɪkl/ noun, pl -cy·cles [count] : a vehicle with two wheels that is powered by a motor and that can carry one or two people • ride (on) a motorcycle • a motorcycle race/accident — see picture on the next page

²motorcycle verb -cy·cles; -cy·cled; -cy·cling [no obj] : to ride on a motorcycle • He spent his vacation motorcy·cling across the country.

— mo·tor·cy·clist /'moutə,sɑɪklɪst/ noun, pl -clists [count] • a law requiring motorcyclists to wear helmets motor home noun, pl ~ homes [count] : a type of vehicle that people can live and sleep in when they are traveling — compare MOBILE HOME motoring adj, always used before a noun, chiefly Brit : involving or relating to cars or driving • a motoring accident/offense motor inn noun, pl ~ inns [count] US : MOTEL; especially : a large motel — used chiefly in the names of motels • We stayed at the South Bridge Motor Inn.

motorcycle

motor scooter, scooter

moped

motorcycle

mo-tor-ist /'moutərɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who drives a car • When our car broke down, we were helped by a passing motorist. • an uninsured motorist

mo-tor-ized also Brit mo-tor-ised /'moutə,raɪzd/ adj

1 : having a motor • motorized vehicles • a motorized bicycle/wheelchair

2 : using motorized vehicles • motorized troops mo-tor-man /'moutəmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a man whose job is to drive a subway train or a streetcar mo-tor-mouth /'moutə,maʊθ/ noun, pl -mouths [count] informal : a person who talks too much motor pool noun, pl ~ pools [count] : a group of vehicles that are available for use motor scooter noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a small vehicle with two wheels that is powered by a motor and that has a low seat and a flat area for resting your feet — called also scooter; see picture at MOTORCYCLE

motor vehicle noun, pl ~ -hi-cles [count] : a vehicle (such as a car, truck, or motorcycle) that is powered by a motor • You can register your car at the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

mo-tor-way /'moutə,wei/ noun, pl -ways [count] Brit : a large highway : EXPRESSWAY

mot-tled /'mɑ:tld/ adj [more ~; most ~] : marked with colored spots or areas • a tree with mottled leaves • mottled skin • a fabric mottled with green and yellow mot-to /'mɑ:tou/ noun, pl mot-toes also mot-tos [count] : a short sentence or phrase that expresses a rule guiding the behavior of a particular person or group • "Hope for the best and prepare for the worst" is my motto. • The Boy Scout mot-to is "Be prepared."

mould Brit spelling of MOLD

moulder Brit spelling of MOLDER

moulding Brit spelling of MOLDING

mouldy Brit spelling of MOLDY

moult Brit spelling of MOLT

¹mound /'maʊnd/ noun, pl mounds [count]

1 : a small hill or pile of dirt or stones • the burial mounds of an ancient people

2 : the slightly raised area of ground on which a baseball pitcher stands • the pitcher's/pitching mound

3 : a heap or pile of something • a mound of dirty laundry • a mound of snow • a mound of mashed potatoes — sometimes used figuratively • We have a mound of work to do. [=we have a lot of work to do] • an athlete who has earned mounds of money [=a large amount of money]

²mound verb mounds; mound-ed; mound-ing [+ obj] chiefly US

1 : to make a pile with or of (something) • He mounded the food onto his plate. • The snow was mounded (up) on both sides of the road. [=there was a pile of snow on both sides of the road]

2 : to cover (something) with a pile of something • His plate was mounded with food. [=there was a pile of food on his plate] • a desk mounded with books and papers

¹mount /'maʊnt/ verb mounts; mount-ed; mount-ing

1 [+ obj] : to go or climb up (something) • mount a ladder • mount the stairs : to climb up onto (something) • mount a platform

2 [no obj] : to increase in amount • Their troubles have continued to mount. • The pressure mounted as the crisis continued. • Costs can mount (up) very quickly.

3 : to seat yourself on a horse, bicycle, etc. [+ obj] The cowboy mounted his horse and then quickly dismounted. • She mounted her bicycle and rode away. [no obj] The cowboy mounted (up) and rode off.

4 [+ obj] : to attach (something) to something for support or use • The jeweler mounted the pearl in a ring. • She mounted the photograph to a piece of cardboard. — often + on • The airplane's engines are mounted on the wings. [=are attached to the wings] • He mounted a rack on the roof of his car. • The speakers were mounted on the walls. • He mounted a specimen on a slide for examination with a microscope.

5 [+ obj] : to organize and do (something that usually requires the effort of many people) • mount an assault/attack • The police have mounted a nationwide search for the killer. • She is expected to mount a serious challenge in the coming election. • The museum is mounting an exhibition of his paintings.

6 [+ obj] of a male animal : to climb onto (a female animal) in order to have sex — mounting adj • The company is faced with mounting [=increasing] costs. • mounting debts/tension/frustration

²mount noun, pl mounts [count]

1 : something onto which something else is or can be attached • a lens mount [=the part of a camera where a lens is attached]

2 old-fashioned + literary : a horse that is being ridden by a person • The cowboy got down slowly from his mount.

— compare ³MOUNT

³mount noun, pl mounts [count] : MOUNTAIN — used chiefly in names • Mount Everest — compare ²MOUNT

moun-tain /'maʊntn/ noun, pl -tains [count]

1 : an area of land that rises very high above the land around it and that is higher than a hill • She watched the sun set behind the mountains. • the Rocky Mountains • He climbed the mountain. • a cabin in the mountains • They both like mountain climbing. • mountain scenery • a mountain range/lake • a mountain man [=a man who lives in the mountains] — see color picture on page C7

2 : a very large amount of something • We've received a mountain of mail. • mountains of data

make a mountain out of a molehill see MOLEHILL

mountain ash noun, pl ~ ashes [count] : a small tree that produces red berries — called also (Brit) rowan

mountain bike noun, pl ~ bikes [count] : a type of bicycle that has a strong frame, thick tires, and straight handlebars and that is used for riding over rough ground — mountain biker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] — mountain biking noun [noncount] • He enjoys mountain biking.

moun-tain-er /,maʊntə'niə/ noun, pl -eers [count] : a person who climbs mountains : a mountain climber

— moun-tain-er-ing /,maʊntə'nɪrɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • the sport of mountaineering

mountain goat noun, pl ~ goats [count] : an animal that has horns and a thick white coat and that lives in the mountains of western North America mountain laurel noun, pl ~ -rels [count] : a North American evergreen tree or bush that has shiny leaves and pink or white flowers mountain lion noun, pl ~ -ons [count] : COUGAR

moun-tain-ous /'maʊntənəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having many mountains • mountainous terrain/country/land • a mountainous area/region

2 : extremely large : HUGE • mountainous costs • mountainous waves

moun-tain-side /'maʊntn,said/ noun, pl -sides [count] : the side of a mountain • a steep mountainside

moun-tain-top /'maʊntn,tɑ:p/ noun, pl -tops [count] : the top of a mountain • a snowy mountaintop

moun-te-bank /'maʊntɪ,bæŋk/ noun, pl -banks [count] old-fashioned + literary : a dishonest person : a person who tricks and cheats other people • a gang of swindlers and mountebanks

mounted adj, usually used before a noun : having a horse or horses for riding • mounted infantry/troops • a mounted policeman

Mount-ie /'maʊnti/ noun, pl -ies [count] : a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police mount-ing /'maʊntɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] : something on which something else is or can be attached • a mounting

for an engine • a mounting for a diamond mourn /'moʊn/ verb mourns; mourned; mourn-ing

1 : to feel or show great sadness because someone has died [no obj] When he dies, people throughout the world will mourn. [=grieve] — often + for • Thousands mourned for him. [+ obj] She is still mourning her husband, who died last year. • Thousands of people mourned his death/passing. • She was mourned by everyone who knew her.

2 : to feel or show great sadness or unhappiness about (something) [+ obj] She mourned the loss of her youth. • He still mourns the fact that he never went to college. [no obj] — usually + for • She mourned for her lost youth.

mourn-er /'moʊnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who mourns for someone who has died; especially : a person who goes to someone's funeral • His funeral services attracted hundreds of mourners.

mourn-ful /'moʊnfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : full of sorrow : very sad • a mournful face • mournful eyes • a mournful song/occasion

— mourn-ful-ly /'moʊnfəli/ adv • He spoke mournfully.

— mourn-ful-ness noun [noncount]

mourn-ing /'moʊnɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of mourning for someone who has died • a day of national mourning • She is still in mourning for her dead husband. • The whole town was in mourning. • She went into mourning for her dead husband. [=she began to mourn for her dead husband]

2 : great sadness felt because someone has died • a period of deep mourning

3 : black clothing that is worn to show that you are mourning for someone who has died • His widow was dressed in mourning.

mouse /'maʊs/ noun, pl mice /'maɪs/ [count]

1 : a very small animal that has a pointed nose and a long, thin tail • The house was infested with mice and rats. • a field mouse [=a type of mouse that lives in fields] • a house mouse [=a type of mouse that lives in people's houses] — sometimes used figuratively to refer to a weak, frightened, or quiet person • Stand up for your rights! What are you—a man or a mouse?! — see picture at RODENT

2 pl also mous-es : a small device that is connected to a computer and that you move with your hand to control the movement of a pointer on the computer screen • He moved the mouse to click on the icon. • (US) a mouse pad = (Brit) a mouse mat [=a small pad that a computer's mouse rests on] — see picture at COMPUTER

— see also CAT AND MOUSE

mous-er /'maʊsə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a cat that is good at catching mice mouse-trap /'maʊs, træp/ noun, pl -traps [count] : a small trap for catching mice

mous-sa-ka /mu'sɑ:kə/ noun, pl -kas [count, noncount] : a Greek dish of ground meat (such as lamb or beef) and sliced eggplant mousse /'mu:s/ noun, pl mouss-es [count, noncount]

1 : a cold and sweet food made with whipped cream or egg whites and usually fruit or chocolate • chocolate mousse • a lemon mousse

2 : a foamy substance that is used in styling a person's hair • a jar of styling/hair mousse

moustache chiefly Brit spelling of MUSTACHE

moustachio chiefly Brit spelling of MUSTACHIO

mousy also mous-ey /'maʊsi/ adj mous-i-er; -est

1 : shy and quiet • The movie is a fantasy about a mousy housewife who is transformed into a glamorous star.

2 of hair : dull brown in color • mousy [=drab] brown hair

1 mouth /'maʊθ/ noun, pl mouths /'maʊðz/

1 : the opening through which food passes into the body : the part of the face that includes the lips and the opening behind them [count] He kissed her on the mouth. • He threatened to punch me in the mouth. • She stood there with her mouth agape/open. • I burned the roof of my mouth. • They told him to keep his mouth closed when chewing and not to talk with his mouth full. • He wiped his mouth with a napkin after eating. • She regretted saying it as soon as the words were out of her mouth. • The smell of the food made my mouth water. • The candy melts in your mouth. • He says something stupid every time he opens his mouth.

[=every time he speaks] • The experience left a bad taste in my mouth. [=the experience left me feeling bad or disgusted] [noncount] The medication is taken by mouth.

2 [count] : an opening in something — usually + of • the mouth of a cave/bottle — see also GOAL MOUTH

3 [count] : the place where a river enters the ocean • the mouth of the river = the river's mouth

4 [singular] informal : an unpleasant or offensive way of talking • That guy has quite a mouth on him. • He has a loud mouth. • He cursed and his mother angrily told him to watch his mouth. [=to not use offensive language] — see also BIG MOUTH, LOUDMOUTH, SMART-MOUTH

all mouth (and no trousers/action) Brit, informal — used to describe someone who talks a lot about doing something but never actually does it

born with a silver spoon in your mouth see BORN

butter wouldn't melt in someone's mouth see ¹BUTTER

by word of mouth see ¹WORD down in the mouth : unhappy or depressed • I was surprised to see her looking so down in the mouth.

foam at the mouth see ²FOAM

from the horse's mouth see ¹HORSE froth at the mouth see ²FROTH

hand to mouth see ¹HAND

heart in your mouth see HEART

keep your mouth shut 1 : to not say anything • When he starts talking about politics, I just keep my mouth shut. 2 : to not talk about something (such as a secret) • She told me to keep my mouth shut about the news. [=she told me not to tell anyone about the news] • I never tell him anything important because he doesn't know how to keep his mouth shut. [=he tells other people what he has been told]

look a gift horse in the mouth see ¹HORSE

melt in your mouth see ¹MELT

mouth to feed : a person (such as a child) who needs to be fed • They can't afford another child. They already have too many (hungry) mouths to feed.

put words in/into someone's mouth see ¹WORD put your foot in your mouth see ¹FOOT put your money where your mouth is see MONEY

run your mouth see ¹RUN shoot your mouth off see ¹SHOOT

shut your mouth see ¹SHUT

take the words right out of someone's mouth see ¹WORD

2 mouth /'maʊð/ verb mouths; mouthed; mouth-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say or repeat (something) without really meaning it or understanding it • She was just mouth-ing the usual meaningless platitudes about the need for reform.

2 : to form (words) with your lips without speaking • The librarian mouthed "quiet." • silently mouth-ing the words to a song mouth off [phrasal verb] informal : to talk in a loud, unpleasant, or rude way • He got in trouble again for mouth-ing off to his teacher. • She's always mouth-ing off about how much better she could run the company herself.

-mouthed /,maʊðd/ adj : having a mouth of a specified type — usually used in combination with another adjective • a large-mouthed jar • big-mouthed • loud*mouthed*

mouth-ful /'maʊθ,ful/ noun, pl -fuls

1 [count] : as much as a mouth will hold • a mouthful of food/water • It was a delicious meal. We enjoyed every mouthful.

2 [singular] informal a : a word, name, or phrase that is very long or difficult to say • His last name is a real mouthful. b US : something said that has a lot of meaning or importance • You said a mouthful! [=I agree with what you said; you said something that was entirely correct and that was worth saying] mouth organ noun, pl ~ -gans [count] : HARMONICA mouth-piece /'maʊθ,pi:s/ noun, pl -piec-es [count]

1 : a part of something that is placed between or near your lips • the mouthpiece of a trumpet/telephone

2 : someone who speaks for another person or for a group mousetrap

or organization • He's been acting as a mouthpiece for the government on questions of foreign policy. • The company has hired an attorney as a mouthpiece to answer its critics.

mouth-to-mouth resuscitation noun [noncount] : a method of helping a person who is not breathing to start breathing again by blowing air into the person's mouth and lungs — called also mouth-to-mouth

mouth ulcer noun, pl ~cers [count] : CANKER SORE mouth-wash /'mauθ,wɑ:ʃ/ noun, pl -wash-es [count, non-count] : a liquid that is used to clean your mouth and teeth and to make your breath smell better mouth-water-ing /'mauθ,wɑ:tərɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a very delicious taste or appealing smell • a mouth-watering aroma • mouth-watering food — mouth-water-ing-ly adv • food that smells mouth-wateringly good mouthy /'mauθi/ adj mouth-i-er; -est informal : talking too much and often in an unpleasant or rude way • a mouthy show-off

mov-able also move-able /'mu:vəbəl/ adj

1 : able to be moved • a movable antenna/partition • movable property — opposite IMMOVABLE

2 : happening on a different date each year • Thanksgiving is a movable holiday. • Easter is a movable feast. [=a religious festival that occurs on a different date each year]

¹move /'mu:v/ verb moves; moved; mov-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to cause (something or someone) to go from one place or position to another • He moved the chair closer to the table. • It may be necessary to move the patient to intensive care. • The breeze moved the branches of the trees. • The knife had sunk deeply into the wood and couldn't be moved. [=budded] b [no obj] : to go from one place or position to another • The boat moved [=rocked] slowly from side to side as the wind rose. • The branches moved gently in the breeze. 2 a : to cause (your body or a part of your body) to go from one position to another [+ obj] She was unable to move her legs. • Nobody moved a muscle. [=nobody moved at all; everyone was very still] [no obj] The dancers moved gracefully. • Nobody moved. • She was so frightened that she could hardly move. • I moved over so that she could sit next to me. b [no obj] : to go or walk from one place to another • We moved into the shade. • The police were moving through the crowd telling people to move toward the exit. • People were moving (about/around) freely. • We could hear someone moving around upstairs. • move along • They moved closer to each other and spoke in whispers.

3 [+ obj] a : to cause (something) to go to a specified place or to proceed in a specified way • The records show that she moved large amounts of money to a foreign bank account. • He lacks enough support to move his proposals through the legislature. b : to cause (something) to happen at a different time • The meeting has been moved [=changed] to this afternoon.

4 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to go to a different and usually higher position [no obj] The team has moved into second place. • She has been steadily moving up the corporate ladder. • Congratulations on your promotion. It's nice to see how you're moving up in the world. [+ obj] A win will move the team into second place.

5 a : to go to a different place to live [no obj] We've had to move twice in the past year. • He didn't like small towns and decided to move to the city. • We're planning to move into a new apartment. • He moved (away) with his family to California. [+ obj] He moved his family to California. • (Brit) We've had to move house twice in the past year. b : to go to a different place to work or do business [no obj] The company is moving from New York to Chicago. [+ obj] The company is moving its offices from New York to Chicago. — see also MOVING 3

6 [+ obj] a : to affect the feelings of (someone) : to cause (someone) to feel an emotion and especially sadness or sympathy • The sad story of his childhood moved us deeply. • I was greatly moved by his story/kindness. • He's not easily moved to anger. [=he does not become angry easily] • His story moved us to tears. [=it affected us so strongly that we cried] — see also MOVING 2 b : to cause (someone) to act or think in a specified way — followed by to + verb • The report moved [=persuaded] me to change my mind. • His arguments moved them to reconsider the plan. • I felt moved [=compelled] to speak. c : to cause (someone) to feel or think in a different way • We were unable to move him from his convictions. • He would not be moved.

7 [no obj] : to take action : ACT • We need to move quickly to close this deal. • He was waiting for the right time to move against his enemies. • She hasn't yet moved on their recommendations. • We must move [=proceed] very carefully to avoid offending them.

8 a : to formally make a suggestion or proposal at a meeting [no obj] — + for • She moved for an adjournment. [+ obj] She moved to adjourn the meeting. = She moved that the meeting be adjourned. b [no obj] law : to make a formal request to a court of law or judge for something to be done or happen — + for • His lawyer moved for a mistrial. • The plaintiff moved for a retrial.

9 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to make progress • The plot of the novel moves [=develops] slowly. • They're moving closer to making a decision.

10 informal : SELL [+ obj] a store that moves a lot of merchandise [no obj] The products have been moving slowly.

11 [no obj] informal : to go fast • When the police car passed us it was really moving.

12 [no obj] : to spend time with a particular group of people or at a particular level of society • She moves in high circles. [=she is friendly with wealthy and powerful people] • She and her sister move in very different circles. [=they are friendly with very different groups of people]

13 [no obj] informal : to leave a place • It was getting late and I thought it was time to be moving. [=going]

14 : to cause a piece in a game (such as chess or checkers) to go from one place to another [+ obj] He moved a pawn. [no obj] It's your turn to move.

as/when the spirit moves you see ¹SPIRIT get moving informal : to start moving or going quickly • We need to get moving [=hurry] or we'll miss the show.

move ahead/along 1 : to make progress • The project is finally starting to move ahead. 2 : to go on to something else • Let's move along [=move on] to the next item.

move heaven and earth : to work very hard to do something • He vowed that he would move heaven and earth to finish the project on schedule.

move in [phrasal verb] 1 : to start living in a house, apartment, etc. • I remember when our neighbors first moved in. • He's planning to move in with his girlfriend. 2 move in on (someone or something) : to move closer or nearer to (someone or something that you are trying to reach, get, etc.) • The police moved in on [=closed in on] the wanted criminal. • The police moved in on the criminal's hideout. • The lion was moving in on its prey. — often used figuratively • Our competitors are trying to move in on our territory. [=trying to get control of our territory] • He was trying to move in on my girlfriend. [=trying to take my girlfriend from me]

move it US, informal : to start moving or going quickly • We'd better move it if we don't want to be late.

move on [phrasal verb] : to go on to a different place, subject, activity, etc. • Let's put that issue aside and move on. • We should move on [=move ahead] to the next item on the list. • After 10 years working for one company, she felt it was time to move on to a new job.

move out [phrasal verb] : to leave your house, apartment, etc., and go to live somewhere else • He was 20 when he moved out of his parents' house. • Her lease ends next month, so she'll have to move out (of her apartment) soon.

²move noun, pl moves [count]

1 : an act of moving your body or a part of your body : MOVEMENT • fancy dance moves • He made a sudden move that scared away the squirrel. • an athlete who has some good moves • No one made a move toward the exits. [=no one moved toward the exits] • The policeman warned him not to make any false moves. • He was afraid to make a move.

2 : an action • The police are watching his every move. = The police are watching every move he makes. [=the police are watching everything he does] • No one is sure what his next move will be. • He was waiting for her to make the first move. [=to act first]

3 : the act of moving to a different place • He's preparing for his move to California.

4 : something done to achieve a desired result or goal • Starting her own business was a risky/bold move. • In a move to attract new customers, the company has decided to devote more money to advertising. • a smart/wise move • a good career move [=something done to help a person's career]

5 : an act of moving a piece in a game (such as chess or checkers) • the opening moves in a game of chess • It's your move. [=turn]

get a move on informal : to start moving or going quickly •

We'd better get a move on if we don't want to be late.

make a move Brit, informal : to leave a place • It's been a lovely evening, but it's time we were making a move.

on the move 1 : moving or going from place to place • As a young man, he was always on the move. 2 : making progress • After a slow start, the project is finally on the move. • a civilization on the move put the moves on US, informal : to do or say things in an effort to start a sexual relationship with someone • He accused me of trying to put the moves on his girlfriend.

move·ment /'mu:vmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 a : the act or process of moving people or things from one place or position to another [noncount] He developed an efficient system for movement of raw materials to the factory. [count] troop movements b : the act of moving from one place or position to another [noncount] increased cell movement [count] studying the movements of the planets c : the act of moving your body or a part of your body [noncount] We wore loose clothes to allow for easier movement. • freedom of movement [count] the graceful movements of a dancer • careful and precise movements • muscle/hand/eye movements

2 movements [plural] : a person's actions or activities • The police have been keeping a careful record of his movements.

3 [count] a : a series of organized activities in which many people work together to do or achieve something • She started a movement [=campaign] for political reform. • There's a movement afoot to rename the town. • a book about the history of the civil rights movement b : the group of people who are involved in such a movement • They joined the anti-war/peace/feminist movement.

4 a : a noticeable change in the way people behave or think [noncount] There has been a movement back to more therapeutic treatments of mental disorders in recent years. [count] There has been some movement to more therapeutic treatments. b : a noticeable change in a situation [noncount] There hasn't been any movement in the negotiations. [=the negotiations have not progressed] [count] There has been a movement [=tendency] toward lower prices in the housing market recently. [=prices have been going lower in the housing market recently]

5 [count] music : a main section of a longer piece of music • the first movement of the symphony

6 [count] medical : an act of passing solid waste from the body — called also bowel movement

mov·er /'mu:və/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone or something that moves in a certain way • a slow/fast mover

2 : a machine that moves people or things from one place to another • an earth mover [=a machine that is used to move large amounts of soil] — see also PEOPLE MOVER

3 US : a person or company that moves furniture and other possessions from one home or place of business to another • a furniture mover [= (Brit) remover]

movers and shakers : people who are active or powerful in some field • the movers and shakers of the computer industry • political movers and shakers

mov·ie /'mu:vi/ noun, pl -ies chiefly US

1 [count] : a recording of moving images that tells a story and that people watch on a screen or television • He's making a movie [=film, motion picture] about growing up in a small town. • a Hollywood movie • We went to (see) a movie after dinner. • Do you want to rent a movie [=rent a video or DVD] tonight? • an action movie • a horror movie — often used before another noun • a movie star/producer/director • a movie camera/studio • the movie business/industry • a movie critic/review • a movie house/theater — see also HOME MOVIE

2 the movies a : a showing of a movie in a theater • We are going to the movies tonight. [=we are going to see a movie tonight]; also : a movie theater • What's (playing/showing) at the movies? b : the business of making movies : the film industry • He wants to work in the movies. • a career in the movies

mov·ie·go·er /'mu:vi,gowə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US : a person who goes to a theater to watch movies

mov·ie·mak·er /'mu:vi,meikə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US : a person who makes movies : FILMMAKER

— mov·ie·mak·ing /'mu:vi,meikɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • a talent for moviemaking

moving adj

1 : changing place or position • a moving target • the machine's moving parts

2 [more ~; most ~] : having a strong emotional effect : causing feelings of sadness or sympathy • a moving story of a faithful dog • The tribute was very moving. [=touching] • He gave a moving speech at the memorial service.

3 always used before a noun : relating to the activity or process of moving to a different place to live or work • moving expenses moving force/spirit : someone or something that causes something to happen • one of modern sculpture's moving spirits • He has been the moving force/spirit behind the project from the beginning.

— mov·ing·ly adv • He spoke movingly at the memorial service.

moving picture noun, pl ~ -tures [count] old-fashioned : MOVIE moving staircase noun, pl ~ -cases [count] old-fashioned : ESCALATOR moving van noun, pl ~ vans [count] US : a large vehicle in which furniture and other things are moved from one home or building to another — called also (Brit) removal van

1 mow /'mou/ verb mows; mowed; mowed or mown /'moun/; mow·ing [+ obj] : to cut (something, such as grass) with a machine or a blade • mow the grass • mow hay • mow the lawn [=cut the grass that grows on the lawn]

mow down [phrasal verb] mow (someone) down or mow down (someone) informal : to kill or knock down (a person or many people) in a sudden and violent way • The soldiers were mowed down by machine guns. • The car mowed down four pedestrians.

— mow·er /'mowə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

2 mow noun, pl mows [count] informal : an act of mowing something (such as a lawn) • The lawn needs a mow. [=needs to be mowed]

mox·ie /'mɑ:ksi/ noun [noncount] US, informal + old-fashioned

1 : the ability to be active : ENERGY • full of moxie [=pep]

2 : courage or determination • He showed a lot of moxie in questioning the policy.

moz·za·rel·la /,mɑ:tʃə'relə/ noun [noncount] : a soft Italian cheese that has a mild flavor

MP /'em'pi:/ noun, pl MPs [count]

1 : a member of the military police

2 Brit : an elected member of Parliament mpg abbr miles per gallon • a car that gets 30 mpg

mph abbr miles per hour • a car traveling 60 mph

MP3 /,em'pi:'θri:/ noun, pl MP3s

1 [noncount] : a computer format for creating sound files (such as songs) that are much smaller than standard sound files — often used before another noun • MP3 files • an MP3 player [=a device that stores and plays songs in the MP3 format]

2 [count] : a computer file (such as a song) in the MP3 format • downloading MP3s off the Internet

Mr. (US) or Brit Mr /'mɪstə/ noun

1 a — used as a title before the name of a man • Mr. Doe • How are you, Mr. Jones? • Mr. John Doe — compare MISTER; see also MESSRS. b — used as a title when speaking to a man who has an honored position or office • "It's an honor to meet you, Mr. President/Chairman."

2 a — used as part of a title for a man who has won a contest • Mr. Universe b — used to refer to a man who is very successful and famous for a particular activity (such as a sport) or who has a particular quality • He came to be known as Mr. Baseball. • She thinks her boyfriend is Mr. Wonderful. [=she thinks her boyfriend is wonderful]

Mr. Big (US) or Brit Mr Big noun [singular] informal : a very powerful or important man; especially : the leader of a group of criminals

MRI /,em,ɑə'aɪ/ noun, pl MRIs medical

1 [noncount] : MAGNETIC RESONANCE IMAGING • an MRI machine/scanner

2 [count] : a procedure in which magnetic resonance imaging is used • He had an MRI (done) on his knee.

Mr. Nice Guy (US) or Brit Mr Nice Guy noun [singular] informal : a man who treats people kindly : a nice man — used chiefly in the phrase no more Mr. Nice Guy • I'm tired of the way they treat me. From now on, no more Mr. Nice Guy! [=I'm not going to be nice to them from now on]

Mr. Right (US) or Brit Mr Right noun [singular] informal : a man who would be the best husband for a particular woman

• She's still looking for Mr. Right. [=the perfect man for her to marry]

Mrs. (US) or Brit Mrs /'mɪsəz/ noun

1 a — used as a title for a married woman • Mrs. Smith • Mrs. Jane Smith • Mrs. Robert Smith [=the wife of Robert Smith] — compare MISS, MS. b — used as a title when speaking to a married woman who holds an honored position or office • "It's an honor to meet you, Mrs. [= (more commonly) Madam] President/Chairman."

2 a — used as part of a title for a married woman who has won a contest • Mrs. America b — used to refer to a married woman who is very successful and famous for a particular activity (such as a sport) or who has a particular quality • She has come to be known as Mrs. Golf. • He thinks his wife is Mrs. Wonderful. [=he thinks his wife is wonderful]

Ms. (US) or Brit Ms /'mɪz/ noun — used as a title before a woman's name instead of Miss or Mrs. • Ms. Smith • Ms. Jane Smith ♦ Ms. can be used whether or not a woman is married. — compare MISS, MRS.

MS abbr 1 Mississippi 2 multiple sclerosis

MSG /,ɛm,ɛs'dʒi/ noun [noncount] : MONOSODIUM GLUTAMATE

MT abbr 1 Montana 2 mountain time

¹much /'mʌʃ/ adj : large in amount or extent : not little • Much research [=a lot of research] was carried out. • Fixing the problem will require much effort. [=a lot of effort] • The project is taking too much time. [=is taking more time than it should] • I can't believe that we spent so much money. [=such a large amount of money] — often used in questions and in negative statements • How much money do you have? • Was there much food at the party? • He doesn't know much French. • There wasn't much more that we could do. • It doesn't cost much money. • There isn't much difference between them. • The clerk wasn't much help. [=was not very helpful] • There wasn't much doubt about who would win.

a bit much see ¹BIT

never so much as see NEVER

so much — used for emphasis • The house burned like so much paper. [=it burned as if it were made of paper] • The explanation sounded like so much nonsense. [=it sounded like a lot of nonsense] too much 1 : too difficult to accept or deal with • Working two jobs was too much (for him). 2 informal : very unusual in either an enjoyable or annoying way • I can't believe the way he talks. That guy is too much. • We laughed so hard. It was just too much.

²much adv

1 a : to a great degree or extent • I'm feeling much better. • much happier/prettier/wealthier • The new car is much better on gas mileage. • They both talk too much. • Thank you so/very much for your help. b : VERY, EXTREMELY • He is much interested in the project. • They were much pleased by the compliment. • some much-needed repairs • a much-deserved vacation • He's not much good at golf. [=he plays golf badly; he is not a good golfer] c : FREQUENTLY, OFTEN • She doesn't visit her family much. • Do you travel much? d : by a long time • He didn't arrive much before noon. [=he didn't arrive until almost noon]

2 : very nearly • The town still looks much [=essentially] the way it did years ago. • The town looks much the same. • We came to much the same conclusion. • We left the house much as we found it.

as much : the same • I helped her through the divorce—I know she would do as much for me. [=I know that she would help me if I were going through a divorce] • He likes baseball but he likes hockey just as much. • "Where is he?" "He's still at home." "I thought as much." [=I thought so; that is what I thought] as much as 1 — used to say that two things are equal in amount or degree • He likes hockey as much as he likes basketball. [=he likes hockey and basketball equally] 2 : ALMOST — used to say that someone came very close to doing something • He as much as admitted his guilt.

much as : ALTHOUGH • She knew the truth, much as [=even though] she wanted to deny it.

much less see ²LESS

pretty much see ²PRETTY

so much as see ¹SO

so much the better see ³BETTER

very much — used for emphasis • She is very much [=entirely, decidedly] in control of the situation. • The company is still very much an important part of the community.

³much pronoun

1 : a large amount • Much that was said is false. • We all learned much [=a lot] from this experience. • He gave away much of what he owned. • Not much is known about his childhood. • She did much to improve the city. • Do you see much of your family? [=do you see your family often?] • She's trying to do too much. [=trying to do more than she should]

2 : something that is important or impressive — used in negative statements • There was some food there, but it wasn't much. [=there was not much food] • The evidence didn't amount to much. [=there was not much evidence] • Her contributions didn't add up to much. [=her contributions were not important] • Before the renovations, the house was not much to look at. [=was not attractive] as much as — used to say that an amount is as large as another amount • She earns as much as he does.

make much of see ¹MAKE

not much of a — used to say that someone or something is not very good • He's not much of a cook. [=he's not a very good cook] • It wasn't much of a vacation.

not much on : not known for, good at, or interested in (something) • He's not much on looks. [=he is not very attractive] • She's not much on studying. [=she does not like to study]

not think much of see ¹THINK

so much see ¹SO

¹muck /'mʌk/ noun [noncount] informal

1 : wet dirt or mud • Clean that muck off your shoes.

2 chiefly Brit : solid waste from farm animals : MANURE

3 informal : something that is disgusting • How can they expect us to eat this muck? [=garbage, junk] make a muck of something Brit, informal : to do something badly or with many mistakes • He's made a muck of things.

— mucky /'mʌki/ adj muck-i-er; -est • mucky shoes

²muck verb mucks; mucked; muck-ing

muck about/around [phrasal verb] Brit, informal 1 : to spend time doing things that are not useful or serious : to waste time • We just mucked about [=messed around] all afternoon. 2 muck about/around with (something) : to use or do (something) in a way that is not very serious • She spent the evening mucking around with [=fooling around with] the computer. 3 muck (someone) about/around : to be unfair or dishonest with (someone) : to lie to or cheat (someone) • I want them to stop mucking me around. • He's tired of being mucked about. [= (US) jerked around] muck in [phrasal verb] Brit, informal : to help out especially by doing work • muck in [=pitch in] with the hard work muck out [phrasal verb] muck (something) out or muck out (something) informal : to clean (the place where a farm animal lives) : to remove animal waste and dirty hay, sawdust, etc., from (a place, such as a barn) • We went to the barn to muck out [=clean out] the stalls.

muck up [phrasal verb] muck (something) up or muck up (something) chiefly Brit, informal 1 : to make (something) dirty • Take those dirty shoes off before you muck up the floor. 2 : to spoil or ruin (something) : to make mistakes in doing or making (something) • He mucked up [=messed up] the speech. = He mucked the speech up. • I mucked up my first attempt and had to try again.

muck-rak-er /'mʌk,reɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone (such as a reporter) who tries to find embarrassing or shocking information about famous people

— muck-rak-ing /'mʌk,reɪkɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • a journalist accused of muckraking — muckraking adj • a muckraking journalist mu-cous membrane /'mju:kəs-/ noun, pl ~-branes [count] : a thin, wet layer of skin that is inside some parts of the body (such as the nose and throat) and that produces mucus mu-cus /'mju:kəs/ noun [noncount] : a thick liquid that is produced in some parts of the body (such as the nose and throat) mud /'mʌd/ noun [noncount] : soft, wet dirt • He tracked mud into the house. • His shoes were covered with mud. = His shoes were caked in/with mud. • The car was stuck in the mud.

as clear as mud informal : very difficult to understand : not clear at all • The explanation was as clear as mud.

drag someone's name through the mud see ¹DRAG

sling/throw mud chiefly US : to publicly say false or bad things about someone (such as a political opponent) in order to harm that person's reputation • The candidates started slinging mud (at each other) early in the campaign. — see also MUDSLINGING your name is mud informal ✧ If your name is mud people do not like or trust you. • The scandal ruined his reputation and now his name is mud.

¹mud·dle /'mʌdl/ verb mud·dles; mud·dled; mud·dling [+ obj]

1 : to cause confusion in (someone or someone's mind) — often used as (be) muddled • a mind muddled by too much advice

2 : to mix up (something) in a confused way • muddle the household accounts • I always get their names muddled (up) [=mixed up] in my mind.

muddle along [phrasal verb] informal : to think, act, or proceed in a confused way or without a plan • She muddled along for a few years before going to college.

muddle through [phrasal verb] informal : to do something without doing it very well or easily • I had a hard time with the class, but somehow I muddled through. [=got by] • We won't have much money but we'll muddle through [=manage] somehow.

— muddled adj [more ~; most ~] • a muddled story • The instructions were so muddled [=confused, confusing] that we couldn't follow them.

²muddle noun [singular]

1 a : a state of confusion or disorder • Her thoughts were in a muddle. [=she was very confused] • His papers were in a muddle. • (chiefly Brit) They got in/into a muddle over the train schedule. b : a situation or mistake caused by confusion • There's been a bit of a muddle [=mix-up] about the plan.

2 : a confused mess • His mind was a muddle.: a disordered mixture • a muddle of documents

¹mud·dy /'mʌdi/ adj mud·di·er; -est

1 : filled or covered with mud • a muddy pond • His shoes were muddy.

2 : similar to mud • a muddy color • muddy coffee

3 : not clear or bright : dull or cloudy • a muddy complexion • The recording sounded muddy.

4 : unclear in thought or meaning • muddy thinking • The facts in the case are muddy.

²muddy verb -dies; -died; -dy·ing [+ obj] : to make (something) muddy: such as a : to cover (something) with mud • His shoes were muddied. • The flooding muddied the roads. b : to make (a color) cloudy or dull • She muddied the color by adding some brown. c : to cause (something) to become unclear or confused • muddying the line between fact and fiction • The debate further muddied the issues.

muddy the waters : to make something more complicated or difficult to understand • The latest study muddies the waters by suggesting an alternate explanation.

mud flap noun, pl ~ flaps [count] : a sheet of thin material that hangs behind a wheel of a vehicle and that stops mud and water from hitting the vehicle or other vehicles mud·guard /'mʌd,gɑːd/ noun, pl -guards [count]

1 US : MUD FLAP

2 Brit : FENDER 2

mud·room /'mʌd,rʊ:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] US : a room at an entrance to a house where people can leave wet or dirty shoes and clothing mud·slide /'mʌd,s্লাইd/ noun, pl -slides [count] : a large mass of wet earth that suddenly and quickly moves down the side of a mountain or hill • The heavy rain triggered a mud-slide.

mud·sling·ing /'mʌd,sলিং/ noun [noncount] : the act or practice of publicly saying false or bad things about someone (such as a political opponent) in order to harm that person's reputation • a campaign marred by mudslinging on both sides

— mud·sling·er /'mʌd,sলিংə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a political mudslinger

¹muff /'mʌf/ noun, pl muffs [count] : a warm covering for your hands that is shaped like a tube with open ends in which both hands may be placed — see also EARMUFF

²muff verb muffs; muffed; muff·ing [+ obj] informal : to make a mistake in doing or handling (something) : BOTCH • She muffed the speech. • He muffed his chance for a promotion. • The outfielder muffed an easy catch.

muf·fin /'mʌfən/ noun, pl -fins [count]

1 : a small bread or cake that is usually eaten at breakfast • a blueberry/bran/corn muffin— see picture at BAKING

2 Brit : ENGLISH MUFFIN

muf·fle /'mʌflə/ verb muf·fles; muf·fled; muf·fling [+ obj]

1 : to make (a sound) quieter • They tried to muffle the noise. : to decrease the noise made by (something) • muffle [=suppress] a cough • I could hear their muffled voices from the next room. • a muffled cough

2 chiefly Brit : to wrap or cover (someone or something) in clothing or cloth for warmth or protection • She was muffled (up) in a huge overcoat.

muf·fler /'mʌflə/ noun, pl -flers [count]

1 US : a device that is attached to the engine of a vehicle to make it quieter — called also (Brit) silencer; see picture at CAR

2 : a piece of cloth worn around your neck to keep it warm : SCARF

¹mug /'mʌg/ noun, pl mugs [count]

1 a : a large drinking cup with a handle •

a collection of coffee mugs • a beer mug

b : the liquid that is contained in a mug • He drank a mug of coffee.

2 slang : the face or mouth of a person • his ugly mug

3 Brit, informal : a foolish person who is easily tricked : PATSY • They're taking you for a mug. • Drinking and driving is a mug's game. [=something that only a foolish person would do]

mug

²mug verb mugs; mugged; mug·ging

1 [+ obj] : to attack and rob (someone) • He was mugged (when he was) walking home from work.

2 [no obj] chiefly US : to act or pose in a silly way or make silly facial expressions especially to attract attention or when being photographed — usually + for • She was mugging for the camera. • mugging for the crowd mug up [phrasal verb] mug up or mug (something) up or mug up (something) or mug up on (something) Brit, informal : to study or try to learn a lot of information quickly for a test, exam, etc. • He's going to mug up for the exam. • She had better mug up before she interviews him. • He mugged up on his French for the trip.

mug·ger /'mʌgə/ noun, pl -gers [count] : a person who attacks and robs another person : a criminal who mugs someone • The police arrested the mugger.

mugging noun, pl -gings : the act of attacking and robbing someone : the act of mugging someone [count] There have been several muggings in the park recently. [noncount] The park has had an increased rate of mugging recently.

mug·gins /'mʌgənz/ noun [singular] Brit, informal : a foolish person who is easily tricked — usually used to refer to yourself • He left early and muggins here was left to finish the job.

mug·gy /'mʌgi/ adj mug·gi·er; -est : unpleasantly warm and humid • a muggy day in August • It's very muggy out today. • muggy weather mug shot noun, pl ~ shots [count] : a photograph of someone's face; especially : a photograph taken by the police of someone who has been arrested mu·lat·to /mə'lætəu, mə'lɑ:tou/ noun, pl -toes or -tos [count] old-fashioned + often offensive : a person with one black and one white parent mul·ber·ry /'mʌl,beri, Brit 'mʌlbəri/ noun, pl -ries [count]

1 : a type of tree that has purple berries that can be eaten — called also mulberry tree

2 : a berry from a mulberry tree

¹mulch /'mʌlʃ/ noun, pl mulch·es [count, noncount] : a material (such as straw, leaves, or small pieces of wood) that is spread over the ground in a garden to protect the plants or help them grow and to stop weeds from growing • She spread some mulch around the plants.

²mulch verb mulches; mulched; mulch·ing [+ obj] : to cover (the ground, a garden, etc.) with mulch • She mulched the flower beds.

mule /'mju:l/ noun, pl mules [count]

1 : an animal that has a horse and a donkey as parents

2 : a woman's shoe that is open at the heel • wearing a pair of mules

3 slang : someone who secretly brings illegal drugs into a country mul·ish /'mju:lɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : refusing to do what other people want or to change your opinion or the way you do something : very stubborn • She approached the job with mulish determination. • a mulish insistence on doing things his own way mull /'mʌl/ verb mulls; mulled; mull-ing [+ obj] : to think about (something) slowly and carefully : PONDER • The company is mulling the offer. — usually + over • mull over an idea • It's a fine offer, but we need time to mull it over.

mulled /'mʌld/ adj : mixed with sugar and spices and served warm • mulled wine/cider

mul-let /'mʌlət/ noun

1 pl mullet or mul-lets [count, noncount] : a type of fish that lives in the ocean and is often eaten as food

2 pl mullets [count] : a hairstyle in which the hair is short on the top and sides and long in the back mul-lion /'mʌljən/ noun, pl -lions [count] : an upright piece of wood, stone, metal, etc., that separates two windows

— mul-lioned /'mʌljənd/ adj • mullioned windows

multi- combining form

1 a : many : much • multicolored b : more than two • multinational • multiracial

2 : many times over • multimillionaire

mul-ti-col-ored (US) or Brit mul-ti-col-oured /'mʌlti-,kʌləd/ adj : having, made up of, or including many colors • multicolored balloons/ribbons mul-ti-cul-tur-al /,mʌlti'kʌltʃərəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : relating to or including many different cultures • a multicultural society

— mul-ti-cul-tur-al-ism /,mʌlti'kʌltʃərəlɪzəm/ noun [non-count]

mul-ti-dis-ci-plin-ary /,mʌlti'dɪsəplə,neri, Brit ,mʌlti'drɪsəplənəri/ adj : involving two or more subject areas • a multidisciplinary class taught jointly by a history teacher and an English teacher mul-ti-eth-nic /,mʌlti'eθnɪk/ adj : relating to or including people from many ethnic groups • a multiethnic country

mul-ti-fac-et-ed /,mʌlti'fæsətəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having many different parts : having many facets • a multifaceted approach to health care

mul-ti-far-i-ous /,mʌltə'ferɪjəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : of many and various kinds • multifarious [=diverse] activities

mul-ti-func-tion-al /,mʌlti'fʌŋkʃənəl/ adj : having many uses or functions : MULTIPURPOSE • a multifunctional tool

mul-ti-lat-er-al /,mʌlti'lætərəl/ adj : involving more than two groups or countries • a multilateral treaty/agreement — compare BILATERAL, TRILATERAL, UNILATERAL mul-ti-lay-ered /,mʌlti'leɪəd/ adj : having or involving three or more layers or levels • a multilayered cake • The novel's plot is multilayered. • a multilayered political system

mul-ti-lin-gual /,mʌlti'liŋgwəl/ adj

1 : able to speak and understand several languages • multilingual students

2 : using or expressed in several languages • multilingual instructions • a multilingual dictionary • multilingual countries — compare BILINGUAL, MONOLINGUAL

mul-ti-me-dia /,mʌlti'mi:diə/ adj, always used before a noun : using or involving several forms of communication or expression • a multimedia exhibit of photographs, films, and music

mul-ti-mil-lion /,mʌlti'mɪljən/ adj, always used before a noun : involving two or more million : costing or worth millions of dollars or pounds — often used in combination • a multimillion-dollar home

mul-ti-mil-lion-aire /,mʌlti,mɪljə'neə/ noun, pl -aires [count] : a very wealthy person : a person who has property or money worth millions of dollars or pounds

¹mul-ti-na-tion-al /,mʌlti'næʃənəl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or involving more than two nations • a multinational alliance/force

2 : working in several countries • a multinational corporation

²multinational noun, pl -als [count] : a company that works in several countries : a multinational corporation mul-ti-par-ty /,mʌlti'pɑ:ti/ adj : of or involving more than one political party • multiparty elections • multiparty democracy

¹mul-ti-ple /'mʌltəpəl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : more than one : MANY, NUMEROUS • She made multiple copies of the report. • a person of multiple achievements • He suffered multiple injuries in the accident. • a multiple birth [=the birth of more than one baby at a time; a birth of twins, triplets, etc.]

2 : shared by many people • multiple ownership [=ownership by more than one person]

²multiple noun, pl -ti-ples [count]

1 mathematics : a number that can be produced by multiplying a smaller number • 35 is a multiple of 7. • 12 is a multiple of 6.

2 Brit : CHAIN STORE

multiple-choice adj

1 : having several answers from which one is to be chosen • a multiple-choice question

2 : made up of multiple-choice questions • a multiple-choice test • The exam will be multiple-choice.

multiple sclerosis noun [noncount] medical : a disease of the nervous system that causes the gradual loss of muscle control — abbr. MS

mul-ti-plex /'mʌltə,pleks/ noun, pl -plex-es [count] : a building that contains several movie theaters — called also multiplex cinema

mul-ti-pli-ca-tion /,mʌltəplə'keɪʃən/ noun

1 [noncount] mathematics : the process of adding a number to itself a certain number of times : the act or process of multiplying numbers • Students are learning multiplication and division.

2 : an increase in the number or amount of something [noncount] a disease causing uncontrolled multiplication of cells [singular] an uncontrolled multiplication of cells multiplication sign noun, pl ~ signs [count] mathematics : a symbol (such as "x") that is used to show that two numbers are to be multiplied — usually singular multiplication table noun, pl ~ tables [count] mathematics : a list that shows the results of multiplying certain numbers (such as 1 through 12) by each other — called also times table

mul-ti-PLIC-i-ty /,mʌltə'plɪsəti/ noun [singular] formal : a very large number — + of • a multiplicity of colors/ideas/styles

mul-ti-PLY /'mʌltə,plai/ verb -plies; -plied; -ply-ing

1 a [no obj] : to increase greatly in number or amount : to become much more numerous • Complaints about the new procedure soon multiplied. • Her responsibilities multiplied when she was promoted. b [+ obj] : to cause (something) to increase greatly in number or amount • Her responsibilities were multiplied by the promotion.

2 [no obj] : to increase in number by reproducing • The bacteria multiply rapidly in warm, moist conditions.

3 mathematics : to add a number to itself a certain number of times [+ obj] If you multiply 5 by 2 you get 10. = If you multiply 5 and 2 (together) you get 10. = 5 multiplied by 2 equals 10. [no obj] The teacher taught the children how to add, subtract, multiply, and divide. — compare DIVIDE

mul-ti-pur-pose /,mʌlti'pəpəs/ adj : having more than one use or purpose • multipurpose furniture • a multipurpose room/tool mul-ti-ra-cial /,mʌlti'reɪʃəl/ adj : relating to or including more than one race of people • a multiracial society • His family is multiracial.

mul-ti-sto-ry (US) or Brit mul-ti-sto-rey /,mʌlti'stɔ:ri/ adj, of a building : having many stories • a multistory apartment building • (Brit) a multistorey car park [=a parking garage with more than one level] mul-ti-task-ing /'mʌlti,tæskɪŋ, Brit 'mʌlti,tɑ:skɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the ability to do several things at the same time • The job requires someone who is good at multitasking.

mul-ti-tude /'mʌltə,tu:d, Brit 'mʌltə,tju:d/ noun, pl -tudes [count]

1 : a great number of things or people • A vast multitude [=a great crowd of people] waited to hear the news. — often + of • A multitude of complaints reached the office. • a multitude of choices • Some new paint on an old house can cover/hide a multitude of sins [=can hide many problems or faults]

2 the multitude : ordinary or common people as a group • a candidate trying to appeal to the multitude — often plural • His films are not intended to appeal to the multitudes. [=masses]

mul-ti-tu-di-nous /,mʌltə'tu:dɪnəs, Brit ,mʌltə'tju:dənəs/ adj, formal : very many • multitudinous questions/concerns • Their lives have changed in multitudinous ways.

mul-ti-us-er /'mʌlti,ju:zə/ adj, always used before a noun, computers : able to be used by more than one person at a time • multiuser software • a multiuser computer system

mul-ti-vi-ta-min /,mʌlti'vaɪtəmən, Brit ,mʌlti'vɪtəmən/noun, pl -mins [count] : a pill that contains many vitamins

mul-ti-vol-ume /,malti'vɔ:l,ju:m/ adj, always used before a noun : published as two or more books : having more than one volume • a multivolume biography/encyclopedia

¹mum /'mʌm/ adj, informal : not talking about something • I'd like to know how much they paid, but they've been mum on that subject. • She told him to keep/stay mum about the project. [=she told him not to tell anyone about the project]

mum's the word informal — used to say that some information is being kept secret or should be kept secret • We want her birthday party to be a surprise, so mum's the word. [=don't tell her about the party]

²mum noun, pl mums [count] US : CHRYSANTHEMUM

³mum noun, pl mums [count] Brit, informal : MOTHER, MOM

¹mum-ble /'mʌmbəl/ verb mum-bles; mum-bled; mum-bling : to say (something) quietly in an unclear way that makes it difficult for people to know what you said [+ obj] He mumbled something and then left. • He mumbled "Good-bye" and then left. [no obj] I can't understand you when you mumble. • a mumbling response

— mum-bler /'mʌmbələ/ noun, pl -blers [count]

— mumbling noun, pl -blings [count, noncount] • There were mumbings [=rumblings] (of discontent) about the decision. [=people complained quietly to each other about the decision]

²mumble noun [singular] : a way of speaking that is not clear enough to be understood • He answered in his usual mumble. • She spoke in a mumble.

mum-bo jum-bo /,mʌmbou'dʒʌmbou/ noun [noncount] informal : confusing or meaningless words or activity : NON-SENSE • We were confused by all the legal mumbo jumbo. • His explanation was just a lot of mumbo jumbo.

mum-mi-fy /'mʌmi,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing

1 [+ obj] : to preserve (a dead body) by treating it with oils and wrapping it in strips of cloth • learning how ancient Egyptians mummified their dead

2 : to become very dry and wrinkled [no obj] a body that mummified in the desert heat [+ obj] a body that was mummified by the desert heat

— mummified adj • a mummified body

¹mum-my /'mʌmi/ noun, pl -mies [count] : a dead body of a person or animal prepared for burial in the manner of the ancient Egyptians by treating it with oils and wrapping it in strips of cloth

²mummy noun, pl -mies [count] Brit, informal : MOTHER, MOMMY — used especially by children • Where's my mummy?

mumps /'mʌmps/ noun [noncount] medical : a disease that causes fever and swelling in the lower part of the cheek • Mumps is usually a childhood illness. • She got (the) mumps.

munch /'mʌntʃ/ verb munch-es; munched; munch-ing : to chew or eat (something) especially in a noisy way [+ obj] We munched [=snacked on] popcorn during the movie. • cattle munching grass [no obj] — + on • We munched on popcorn during the movie.

munch-ies /'mʌntʃiz/ noun, informal

1 [plural] US : light foods that are eaten as a snack • Munchies are served at the bar.

2 the munchies : a feeling of hunger • I have a serious case of the munchies. [=I'm very hungry] • I always get/have the munchies when I'm watching TV. = Watching TV always gives me the munchies.

munch-kin /'mʌntʃ,kɪn/ noun, pl -kins [count] US, informal : a child or small person • "What's wrong, munchkin?" she asked the toddler. ♦ The original Munchkins were a race of small people in the book The Wonderful Wizard of Oz (1900) by L. Frank Baum. The 1939 movie The Wizard of Oz was based on this book.

mun-dane /,mʌn'deɪn/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : dull and ordinary • mundane chores, like washing dishes • They lead a pretty mundane life.

2 : relating to ordinary life on earth rather than to spiritual things • prayer and meditation helped her put her mundane worries aside

mung bean /'mʌŋ-/ noun, pl ~ beans [count] : a small, round bean often used to grow bean sprouts mu-nic-i-pal /mju'nɪsəpəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the government of a city or town • municipal government • a municipal building/library/election mu-nic-i-pal-i-ty /mju,nɪsə'pæləti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : a city or town that has its own government to deal with local problems • laws that have been enacted by many states and municipalities; also, chiefly Brit : the group of people who run such a government • locally elected municipalities mu-nif-i-cent /mju'nɪfəsənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very generous • a munificent gift/donation • a munificent benefactor

— mu-nif-i-cence /mju'nɪfəsəns/ noun [noncount] • the munificence of their donation mu-ni-tions /mju'nɪʃənz/ noun [plural] : military supplies and equipment; especially : military weapons • rockets and other munitions • unexploded munitions • a munitions factory mu-ral /'mjərəl/ noun, pl -rals [count] : a usually large painting that is done directly on the surface of a wall

¹mur-der /'mɜ:də/ noun, pl -ders

1 : the crime of deliberately killing a person [noncount] He was found guilty of (committing) murder. • She was accused/convicted of murder. • She was charged with murder. [=she was officially accused of the crime of murder] • the mass murder of civilians in wartime [count] a string of unsolved murders — often used before another noun • the murder weapon • a murder suspect/victim/case • murder mysteries [=mystery stories about murder]

2 [noncount] informal : something that is very difficult or unpleasant • That test was murder. [=it was very difficult] • Traffic is murder this time of day. ♦ To be murder on something is to cause pain or harm to it. • Carrying the luggage was murder on my back. • These shoes are murder on my feet.

get away with murder : to murder someone without being captured or punished • a vicious killer who nearly got away with murder — usually used figuratively to describe someone who does something very bad or wrong without being criticized or punished • The company had been getting away with murder for years before the scandal broke.

scream bloody/blue murder see 'SCREAM

²murder verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing [+ obj]

1 : to kill (a person) in a deliberate and unlawful way : to commit the murder of (someone) • He was arrested and accused of murdering his wife. • His wife was found murdered. • a dictator who is responsible for murdering thousands of innocent people — sometimes used figuratively • My father will murder me [=he will be very angry] when he finds out that I dented the car.

2 informal a : to spoil or ruin (something) • a writer who murders [=butchers] the English language : to perform (something) very badly • The band murdered that song. b : to defeat (an opponent) very badly • He got murdered [=slaughtered] in the opening round by last year's winner.

— mur-der-er /'mɜ:dərə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a convicted murderer • a mass murderer [=a person who has killed many people] — mur-der-ess /'mɜ:dərəs/ noun, pl -esses [count] old-fashioned • an infamous murderess [=a woman who commits murder]

mur-der-ous /'mɜ:dərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very violent or deadly • murderous machine-gun fire • a murderous dictator/attack • a murderous regime

2 a : very angry • a murderous glance b : very harsh or severe • I can't stand this murderous heat. • The lead runner set a murderous pace.

— mur-der-ous-ly adv • a murderously intolerant regime • murderously hot weather • a murderously angry glance murk /'mɜ:k/ noun [noncount] : darkness or fog that is hard to see through • A figure emerged from the murk. [=gloom]; also : dark or dirty water • We could not see the bottom of the lake through the murk.

murky /'mɜ:ki/ adj murk-i-er; -est

1 a : very dark or foggy • murky skies • She peered into one of the church's murky chapels. b of a liquid : not clear : CLOUDY • the lake's murky water

2 a : not clearly expressed or understood • He offered a murky [=vague] explanation. • Her employment history is somewhat murky. [=unclear] b : involving dishonest or illegal activities that are not clearly known • a politician with a murky past

— murk-i-ly /'mɜ:kəli/ adv — murk-i-ness /'mɜ:kinəs/ noun [noncount] • the murkiness of the water

¹mur-mur /'mɜ:mə/ noun, pl -murs

1 [count] a : a low sound made when many people are speaking • a murmur of voices • the murmur of the crowd b : a quiet expression of an opinion or feeling • The suggestion brought murmurs of disapproval. • a murmur of agreement/protest • murmurs of recognition • They accepted the decision without a murmur (of protest/complaint). [=they accepted the decision without protesting/complaining at all] c : speech or a way of speaking that is quiet and soft • He spoke in a murmur. • They spoke to each other in murmurs. 2 [singular] : a low, quiet, and continuous sound • a murmur of bees • the murmur of the waves along the shore 3 [count] medical : an unusual heart sound that may indicate a problem with the heart's function or structure — usually singular • Her doctor detected a (heart) murmur during a routine physical exam.

2 murmur verb -murs; -mured; -mur-ing

1 [+ obj] : to say (something) in a quiet and soft voice • He murmured something about having to get home. • "Thank you," she murmured as she left the room. 2 [no obj] : to make a low, continuous sound • The breeze murmured in the pines. • the murmuring breeze — murmuring noun, pl -ings [count, noncount] • We could hear the murmuring of the bees. • Murmurings (of disapproval) were heard [=people complained quietly] when the decision was announced.

Mur-phy bed /'mæfi-/ noun, pl ~ beds [count] US : a bed with a frame that can be folded into a space in a wall

Mur-phy's Law /'mæfiz-/ noun [noncount] — used to refer to the humorous statement that if it is possible for something to go wrong then it will go wrong — called also (Brit) Sod's Law

1 mus-cle /'masəl/ noun, pl mus-cles

1 : a body tissue that can contract and produce movement [count] the muscles of the arm • stomach muscles • flex a muscle • relax a muscle • an athlete with bulging/rippling muscles • He pulled/tore/strained a muscle playing tennis. • She has a strained muscle in her back. • Wait here and don't move a muscle. [=don't move at all] [noncount] She started lifting weights to build muscle. — often used before another noun • muscle fiber(s)/tissue • muscle spasms • an athlete practicing to develop muscle memory [=the ability to repeat a bodily movement exactly] • a muscle relaxant [=a drug that relaxes muscles]

2 [noncount] a : physical strength • She doesn't have the muscle to lift something so heavy. • To clean that floor you have to put some muscle into it. [=you have to make a forceful effort] b : power and influence • He lacks the political muscle [=clout] to get the policy changed.

flex your muscles see 1 FLEX

2 muscle verb muscles; mus-cled; mus-cling

1 [+ obj] : to move (something) by using physical strength and force • They muscled the heavy boxes onto the truck. • They muscled the furniture up the stairs. — often used figuratively • She was muscled [=forced] out of office by political opponents. • He helped muscle the bill through Congress. 2 : to move forward by using physical force [no obj] He muscled through the crowd. • They muscled into line behind us. [+ obj] He muscled his way through the crowd. [=he moved ahead by pushing and forcing people to move out of the way]

muscle in [phrasal verb] : to use force or influence in a way that is wrong or unwanted in order to become involved in something for selfish reasons — usually + on • His competitors have tried to muscle in on his business.

mus-cle-bound /'masəl,baund/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having large muscles that do not move and stretch easily • a muscle-bound athlete — sometimes used figuratively • a muscle-bound [=rigid, inflexible] organization muscle car noun, pl ~ cars [count] US, informal : an American-made two-door sports car with a powerful engine

mus-cled /'masəld/ adj : having large muscles or muscles of a specified kind • his muscled [=muscular] back • hard-muscled arms • a lightly muscled runner [=a runner with fairly small muscles]

mus-cle-man /'masəl,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,men/ [count] : a strong man with large muscles • musclemen and body-builders working out in the gym

Mus-co-vite /'maskə,vait/ noun, pl -vites [count] : a person who lives in or comes from Moscow — Muscovite adj

mus-cu-lar /'maskjələ/ adj

1 : of or relating to muscles • muscular strength/weakness • a muscular injury

2 [more ~; most ~] : having large and strong muscles • a muscular athlete • He has a muscular physique. • His legs are very muscular.

— mus-cu-lar-i-ty /,maskjə'lerəti/ noun [noncount] muscular dys-tro-phy /-'distrəfi/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease that causes increasing weakness of muscles

mus-cu-la-ture /'maskjələ,tʃuə/ noun [noncount] formal : the muscles of the body or of one of its parts • human musculature • facial musculature • an athlete with well-developed musculature

1 muse /'mju:z/ verb mus-es; mused; mus-ing

1 [no obj] : to think about something carefully or thoroughly — usually + about, on, over, or upon • She mused on the possibility of changing jobs. • mus-ing about/over what might have been

2 [+ obj] : to think or say (something) in a thoughtful way • I could sell the house, she mused, but then where would I go? — mus-ing noun, pl -ings [count] He recorded his musings [=thoughts] in his diary. [noncount] Her mus-ing was interrupted by the arrival of her friend. — mus-ing-ly /'mju:zɪŋli/ adv • "I could sell the house," she said mus-ing-ly, "but then where would I go?"

2 muse noun, pl muses [count]

1 : a person who causes someone else to have ideas about creating a work of art : a person who inspires an artist, writer, etc. • The writer lost his muse when his wife left him.

2 Muse : any one of the nine sister goddesses of song and poetry and the arts and sciences in Greek mythology mu-se-um /mju:'zi:jəm/ noun, pl -ums [count] : a building in which interesting and valuable things (such as paintings and sculptures or scientific or historical objects) are collected and shown to the public • an art museum • a history museum • a museum of natural history museum piece noun, pl ~ pieces [count]

1 : a valuable object that is in a museum or that is suitable for a museum

2 : something or someone that is very old or old-fashioned • That old computer will soon be a museum piece.

1 mush /'maʃ/ noun

1 : a soft and wet mass of material (such as food) [noncount] The rotting apples turned into/to mush. — sometimes used figuratively • I was so tired my brain turned into/to mush. [=I was too tired to think well] [singular] a mush of rotting apples

2 [noncount] US : a soft food made by boiling cornmeal in water or milk • a bowl of mush

3 /'muʃ/ [noncount] informal + disapproving : a story or part of a story in a book, movie, etc., that is too romantic or sentimental • a movie full of mush

2 mush interj — used as a command to tell dogs to start pulling a sled

1 mush-room /'maʃ,rʊ:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] : a fungus that is shaped like an umbrella • wild mush-rooms; especially : one that can be eaten • cut up some mushrooms for the salad — often used before another noun • mushroom soup • a mushroom cap [=the top part of a mushroom] — compare TOADSTOOL; see also BUTTON MUSHROOM

mushroom

2 mushroom verb -rooms; -roomed; -room-ing [no obj]

1 : to increase or develop very quickly • The population has mushroomed [=shot up] over the past 10 years. = The town has mushroomed in population over the past 10 years. • Interest in local history is suddenly mushrooming. • Her hobby mushroomed into a thriving business.

2 : to collect wild mushrooms • He goes mushrooming in the spring every year.

mushroom cloud noun, pl ~ clouds [count] : a large cloud that forms after an explosion; especially : a cloud that is caused by the explosion of a nuclear weapon

mushy /'maʃi/ adj mush-i-er; -est

1 : soft and wet • The rotting apples turned mushy. [=the rotting apples turned to mush]

2 informal + disapproving : too romantic or sentimental • a mushy movie/novel mu-sic /'mju:zɪk/ noun [noncount]

1 : sounds that are sung by voices or played on musical instruments • listening to live/recorded music • This is one of my favorite pieces of music. • performing music in front of an audience • dancing to the music of a big band • They are writing/composing music for a new album. • a song with music by George Gershwin and words/lyrics by Ira Gershwin •

classical/popular music • They like to make music [=play or sing music] with friends. • The play/poem was set to music. [=music was written to go with the words of the play/poem] • background music [=music played while something else is happening] — often used before another noun • the music industry • a music video [=a video recording of a performance of popular music] — see also CHAMBER MUSIC, COUNTRY MUSIC, FOLK MUSIC, SOUL MUSIC

2 : written or printed symbols showing how music should be played or sung • He is learning to read music. • a music stand [=a holder on which printed music is placed so that a musician can see it while playing or singing] — see also SHEET MUSIC

3 : the art or skill of creating or performing music • She studied music in college. • music theory

4 : a pleasant sound • the music of a brook • Her words were music to my ears. [=I was very happy to hear what she said] face the music see ²FACE

¹mu-si-cal /'mju:zɪkəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of or relating to music • the film's musical score • musical notes • a musical instrument [=a device (such as a violin, piano, or flute) used to make music]

2 [more ~; most ~] : having the pleasing qualities of music • She has a very musical voice.

3 [more ~; most ~] : enjoying music : having a talent for playing music • a musical family

4 always used before a noun : having music and songs as a main feature : telling a story with songs • a musical film/play

— mu-si-cal-i-ty /,mju:zɪ'kæləti/ noun [noncount] • the musicality [=musical quality] of the performance • a dancer who shows great musicality [=musical talent] — mu-si-cal-ly /'mju:zɪkli/ adv • a musically talented child • a musically complex symphony • expressing her feelings musical-ly [=through music]

²musical noun, pl -cals [count] : a movie or play that tells a story with songs and often dancing • a Broadway musical — called also musical comedy

musical box noun, pl ~ boxes [count] Brit : MUSIC BOX

musical chairs noun [noncount]

1 : a children's game in which players walk around a row of chairs while music plays and try to sit down when the music stops ♦ In musical chairs the number of chairs is always one less than the number of players, and the player who is not fast enough to find a chair when the music stops has to leave the game.

2 : a situation in which many changes happen in a way that is confusing or harmful • The changes in the administration amounted to a game of musical chairs.

musical comedy noun, pl ~ -dies [count] : ²MUSICAL music box noun, pl ~ boxes [count] : a box that contains a device which plays a tune when the box is open — called also (Brit) musical box

music hall noun, pl ~ halls [count] : a theater in which popular entertainers performed in the late 19th and early 20th centuries — often used before another noun • a music-hall performer • music-hall dancers/comedians; also [noncount] chiefly Brit : the type of entertainment that was performed in such a theater : VAUDEVILLE mu-si-cian /mju:'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] : a person who writes, sings, or plays music • She's a very talented musician. • a rock/jazz/classical musician mu-si-cian-ship /mju:'zɪʃənʃɪp/ noun [noncount] : the skill of performing or writing music • The critics praised her musicianship.

mu-si-col-o-gy /,mju:zɪ'kɑ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] : the study of music as an area of knowledge or as a field of research • a professor of musicology

— mu-si-col-o-gist /,mju:zɪ'kɑ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] musk /'mask/ noun [noncount] : a strong-smelling substance used in perfume

— musky /'maski/ adj musk-i-er; -est • a musky scent/odor • a musky perfume mus-ket /'maskət/ noun, pl -kets [count] : a type of long gun that was used by soldiers before the invention of the rifle mus-ke-teer /,maskə'tiə/ noun, pl -teers [count] : a soldier who has a musket musk-rat /'mask,ræt/ noun, pl muskrat or musk-rats [count] : a North American animal that lives in or near water — see picture at RODENT

Mus-lim /'mæzləm/ noun, pl Mus-lims [count] : a person whose religion is Islam : a follower of Islam

— Muslim adj • the Muslim faith

mus·lin /'mæzlən/ noun [noncount] : a thin and loosely woven cotton cloth • curtains of white muslin

muss /'mas/ verb muss-es; mussed; muss-ing [+ obj] US, informal : to make (something, such as clothing or hair) messy or untidy • His suit was/got mussed when he got out of the car. — often + up • The wind mussed up my hair.

mus·sel /'masəl/ noun, pl -sels [count] : a type of shellfish that has a long dark shell — see color picture on page C8

¹must /'mast/ verb [modal verb]

1 a somewhat formal in US English — used to say that something is required or necessary • You must stop. [=you have to stop; I command you to stop] • I told him what he must do. [=what he had to do] • One must eat to live. • You must follow the rules. • We must [=have to, need to] correct these problems soon or the project will fail. • I must remember to stop at the store. • “Must you go?” [=do you have to go?] “Yes, I’m afraid I really must.” • “Must you go?” “No, I don’t have to.” • If you must go, at least wait until the storm is over. • It must be noted, however, that the company was already in financial difficulties. • We must keep/bear in mind that she didn’t have any previous experience. = It must be borne in mind that she didn’t have any previous experience. ♦ Note the difference in meaning between must not and not have to. • You must not do it. [=it is necessary that you do not do it; I command you not to do it] • You don’t have to do it. [=it is not necessary for you to do it] b — used to say that something is required by a rule or law • All passengers must exit at the next stop. • Students must have completed Sociology 101 before they can take Sociology 102.

2 somewhat formal in US English — used to say that someone should do something • You must [=ought to, should, have to] read this book. It’s fantastic! • You must come visit us soon. [=we would like to have you come visit us soon] • You really must see the doctor about that cough. [=I urge you to see the doctor; I really think you need to see the doctor]

3 — used to say that something is very likely • It must be almost dinner time. • She must think I’m a fool. • It must have been the coffee that kept me awake. • He must have been the most gifted student at the school. [=I think he was the most gifted student] • He must have a lot of money to live the way he does. • The bus must be coming soon. • You haven’t eaten all day. You must be hungry. • You’re going to wear that? You must be joking! • You must have been very worried. • You must be thrilled about the new baby. • If he really was there, I must have seen him, but I don’t remember seeing him. • There must be some mistake.

4 — used in various phrases to emphasize a statement • I must say, I was surprised to hear from him. • She’s a talented actress, I must say. • She’s a talented actress, you must admit. • I must admit, I expected better results. • I must warn you, this will not be easy. • I must confess, I haven’t actually read the book yet.

5 somewhat formal in US English — used in questions that express annoyance or anger • Must you be so unreasonable? [=do you have to be so unreasonable?] • Why must it always rain on the weekend? [=why does it always have to rain on the weekend?]

if you must — used to say that you will allow someone to do something even though you do not approve of it • You can smoke if you must, but please do it outdoors.

if you must know see ¹KNOW

²must noun, pl musts [count] : something that is or seems to be required or necessary — usually singular • If you’re going to hike this trail, sturdy shoes are a must. • Regular exercise is a must [=is very important; is strongly recommended] as you grow older.

mus·tache (US) or chiefly Brit mous·tache /'mʌ,stæʃ, Brit mə'stɑ:ʃ/ noun, pl -tach-es [count] : hair growing on a man’s upper lip • He used a small pair of scissors to trim his mustache. • He decided to grow a mustache. • The actor was wearing a false/fake mustache. — see picture at BEARD

— mus·tached (US) or chiefly Brit mous·tached /'mʌ,stæʃt, Brit mə'stɑ:ʃt/ adj • a mustached man [=a man who has a mustache]

mus·ta·chio (US) or chiefly Brit mous·ta·chio /mə'stæʃi,ou, Brit mə'stɑ:ʃi,ou/ noun, pl -chios [count] old-fashioned : a large mustache

— mus·ta·chioed (US) or chiefly Brit mous·ta·chioed /mə'stæʃi,oud, Brit mə'stɑ:ʃi,oud/ adj • a mustachioed villain in a melodrama

M

mus-tang /'mʌstæŋ/ noun, pl -tangs [count] : a small and strong wild horse of western North America

mus-tard /'mʌstəd/ noun, pl -tards [count, noncount]

1 : a thick and spicy yellow or brownish-yellow sauce that is usually eaten with meat • Would you like some mustard on your hot dog?

2 : a plant with yellow flowers, leaves that can be used for food, and seeds that are used in making mustard cut the mustard informal : to be good enough to succeed or to do what is needed • She tried to join the soccer team, but she couldn't cut the mustard. • Now that we have computers, typewriters just don't cut the mustard anymore.

3 : a brownish-yellow color — see color picture on page C2 (as) keen as mustard see ¹KEEN

mustard gas noun [noncount] : a poison gas used as a weapon in a war

¹mus-ter /'mʌstə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing

1 [+ obj] : to work hard to find or get (courage, support, etc.) • They pushed the car with all the strength they could muster. • He finally mustered (up) the courage to ask her on a date. • The country's leaders have been trying to muster (up) support for the war. • They mustered (up) the 20 votes needed to pass the law.

2 : to gather together (a group of people, soldiers, etc.) especially for battle or war [+ obj] muster an army [no obj] The soldiers mustered [=gathered] in the center of town.

²muster noun, pl -ters [count] : a formal military gathering to examine or test soldiers • a muster of soldiers pass muster : to be judged as acceptable or good enough • These excuses will not pass muster. [=they are not acceptable] • His cooking could pass muster in an expensive French restaurant.

must-have /'mʌst,hæv/ noun, pl -haves [count] chiefly US, informal : something that is necessary to have or get • The newest version of the software is a must-have.

— must-have adj, always used before a noun • must-have software • a must-have accessory mustn't /'mʌstnt/ — used as a contraction of must not • We mustn't forget the lessons that history has taught us. • You mustn't say such things.

must-see /'mʌst'si/ noun, pl -sees [count] chiefly US, informal : something that must or should be seen • His latest movie is a must-see.

— must-see adj, always used before a noun • a must-see movie must've /'mʌstəv/ — used as a contraction of must have • He must've left already.

musty /'mʌsti/ adj must-i-er; -est : having a bad smell because of wetness, old age, or lack of fresh air • musty old books • a dark and musty basement

— must-i-ness /'mʌstinəs/ noun [noncount]

mu-ta-ble /'mju:təbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : able or likely to change often • mutable opinions • the government's mutable economic policies — opposite IMMUTABLE

— mu-ta-bil-i-ty /'mju:tə'biləti/ noun [noncount] • the mutability of the government's policies mu-tant /'mju:tnt/ noun, pl -tants [count] biology : a plant or animal that is different from other plants or animals of the same kind because of a change in the structure of its genes : something produced by genetic mutation

— mutant adj, always used before a noun • a mutant fish

mu-tate /'mju:,teɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing

1 biology a [+ obj] : to cause (a gene) to change and create an unusual characteristic in a plant or animal : to cause mutation in (a gene) • a disease that mutates genes in humans • a group of mutated genes b [no obj] : to change and cause an unusual characteristic to develop in a plant or animal • The cells mutated.

2 [no obj] : to change into something very different • Over time, her feelings mutated from hatred into love. • opera singers mutating into pop stars mu-ta-tion /mju:'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 biology : a change in the genes of a plant or animal that causes physical characteristics that are different from what is normal [noncount] The cat's short tail is the result of mutation. [count] The condition is caused by a genetic mutation. • The cat's short tail is the result of a mutation. • mutations in mice

2 [count] : a new form of something that has changed • The building is a mutation of the original design.

— mu-ta-tion-al /mju:'teɪʃən/ adj • a mutational change

¹mute /'mju:t/ adj

1 : not able or willing to speak • The defendant stood mute [=silent] during questioning. • She knew the answer, but she decided to remain mute. [=silent] • We just sat there, mute [=speechless], unable to explain what happened. • The scientists have been mute [=they have not said anything] about the results of the tests. • mute witnesses

2 : felt or expressed without the use of words • They hugged each other in mute sympathy. • I could see a mute plea for help in his eyes.

— mute-ly adv • They waited mutely [=silently, quietly] for an answer. • We stood staring mutely at the sky.

²mute noun, pl mutes [count]

1 sometimes offensive : a person who cannot speak

2 : a device on a musical instrument (such as a trumpet) that makes its sound much softer

³mute verb mutes; mut-ed; mut-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to make (a sound) softer or quieter • They covered their ears to mute [=muffle] the sound of the guns. • We mut-ed our voices. b : to make (something, such as a television) silent • He used the remote control to mute the TV.

2 : to make (something) softer or less harsh • The loud colors in this room need to be muted. • He muted his criticism of the president. [=he expressed his criticism less harshly]

mut-ed /'mju:təd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : soft in color : not bright • We painted our house a muted [=dull] blue. • The artist chose colors that are dark and mut-ed. • muted lighting

2 : soft or quiet in sound : quieter than usual • the muted sound of a distant trumpet • muted voices

3 : not done or expressed in a strong, forceful, or excited way • a muted political discussion • The government chose a more muted response to the threat. • Their proposal has drawn a muted reaction from most observers.

mu-ti-late /'mju:tə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause severe damage to (the body of a person or animal) • traps that mutilate animals — usually used as (be) mutilated • Her arm was mutilated in a car accident. • the mutilated body of a murder victim

2 : to ruin the beauty of (something) : to severely damage or spoil (something) • a painting mutilated by vandals • mutilated books

— mu-ti-la-tion /'mju:tə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] a victim of mutilation [count] facial mutilations

mu-ti-neer /'mju:tə'niə/ noun, pl -neers [count] : a person who is involved in a mutiny mu-ti-nous /'mju:tənəs/ adj

1 : involved in a mutiny • mutinous sailors

2 [more ~; most ~] : feeling or showing a desire not to do what someone has told or ordered you to do • Several muti-nous [=rebellious] party members threatened to defect to the opposition.

mu-ti-ny /'mju:təni/ noun, pl -nies [count] : a situation in which a group of people (such as sailors or soldiers) refuse to obey orders and try to take control away from the person who commands them • The mutiny was led by the ship's cook. • The sailors staged a mutiny and took control of the ship.

— mutiny verb -nies; -nied; -ny-ing [no obj] • The crew was threatening to mutiny.

mutt /'mʌt/ noun, pl mutts [count] informal : a dog with parents of different breeds : MONGREL — sometimes used in a disapproving way to refer to a dog of any kind • a mangy mutt

mut-ter /'mʌtə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing

1 : to speak quietly so that it is difficult for other people to hear what you say [+ obj] She angrily muttered something about her bad luck. • He muttered an apology. • a muttered comment [no obj] She sat practicing her speech, muttering to herself.

2 [no obj] : to complain in a quiet or indirect way • Some employees are muttering about the changes in the pension plan.

— mutter noun, pl -ters [count] • She answered with/in a mutter. — muttering noun, pl -ings [noncount] There has been some muttering among the employees. [count] We've been hearing mutterings from some employees about the changes in the pension plan.

mut-ton /'mʌtn/ noun [noncount] : the meat of an adult sheep used as food • a meal of mutton and potatoes • a leg/shoulder of mutton

mutton dressed as lamb Brit, informal + disapproving : a woman who tries to make herself look younger by wearing clothes designed for young people

mut-ton·chops /ˈmʌtn,tʃɑ:ps/ noun [plural] : hair that covers the sides of a man's face but not his chin — called also muttonchop whiskers, (US) muttonchop sideburns

mu-tu-al /ˈmju:tʃəwəl/ adj

1 : shared between two or more people or groups • Mutual love and respect was the key to their successful marriage. • The partnership was based on mutual admiration and understanding. • mutual trust • countries relying on mutual support during difficult times ♦ If a feeling is mutual, then two people or groups feel the same way about each other. • Her fans love her, and the feeling is mutual. [=and she loves her fans] • Their attraction was mutual. [=they were both attracted to each other] • “I’m pleased to meet you.” “The feeling is mutual!” [=I’m also pleased to meet you]

2 always used before a noun : shared by two or more people or groups • They met through a mutual friend. [=a person who was a friend of both of them] • our mutual hobby of car racing • The two countries have several mutual [=joint] interests. • It was a mutual effort. • We had a mutual agreement not to tell our secret.

— mu-tu-al-i-ty /ˌmju:tʃəˈwæləti/ noun [noncount] formal • mutuality of interest mutual fund noun, pl ~ funds [count] US : a type of investment in which the money of many people is used to buy stock from many different companies • She invested her money in a mutual fund. — called also (Brit) unit trust mu-tu-al-ly /ˈmju:tʃəwəli/ adv : in an equal way for each person or group involved • We hope that these changes will be mutually beneficial. • a mutually rewarding relationship • mutually dependent countries [=countries that are equally dependent on each other] • They loved and respected each other mutually.

mutually exclusive adj : related in such a way that each thing makes the other thing impossible : not able to be true at the same time or to exist together • War and peace are mutually exclusive. [=war and peace cannot exist at the same time] • mutually exclusive events — often used after not to describe things that can exist together or at the same time • In a marriage, love and conflict are not mutually exclusive. [=both love and conflict can exist in a marriage at the same time]

muu·muu /ˈmu:mu:/ noun, pl -muus [count] : a Hawaiian dress that is usually long, loose-fitting, and decorated with bright colors — see color picture on page C16

Mu-zak /ˈmju:zæk/ trademark — used for recorded music that is played in public buildings or rooms (such as stores or offices)

1 muz-zle /ˈmʌzəl/ noun, pl muz-zles [count]

1 : the usually long nose and mouth of an animal (such as a dog, horse, or pig) : SNOUT — see picture at HORSE

2 : a covering for the mouth of a dog that stops it from biting people

3 : the hole at the end of a gun where the bullet comes out — see picture at GUN

2 muzzle verb muz-zles; muz-zled; muz-zling [+ obj]

1 : to put a muzzle on (a dog) : to place a covering on (the mouth of a dog) to stop biting • a dangerous dog that should be muzzled

2 : to prevent (a person or group) from speaking or writing in a free or normal way • attempts by the government to muzzle the press • The company has tried to muzzle its employees by forbidding them to speak to the press.

muz-zy /ˈmʌzi/ adj muzz-i-er; -est Brit, informal

1 : confused or unclear in the mind especially after drinking alcohol • He stopped drinking when his head started getting muzzy. • The medicine made her feel muzzy [=dazed, groggy] and tired.

2 : not clear or exact • The story gets muzzy [= (US) fuzzy] in the middle of the book. • muzzy conclusions • muzzy [=fuzzy, blurry] photographs

— muz-zi-ly /ˈmʌzəli/ adv — muz-zi-ness /ˈmʌzinəs/ noun [noncount]

my /ˈmaɪ/ adj, possessive form of I

1 always used before a noun : relating to or belonging to me • Welcome to my home. • I enjoy my job very much. • My favorite TV show was on last night. • My name is John. • When I woke up this morning, my head ached and my throat was sore. • My wife and I both love to dance. : made or done by me • I always keep my promises. • It was my fault that we lost the game.

2 always used before a noun — used to express affection for someone you are talking to • How are you, my friend? •

Come with me, my love. • Sleep well, my child.

3 informal — used by itself and in phrases to express surprise, excitement, or fear • Oh my, what a wonderful gift! • Oh, my goodness. What happened to you? • Oh my lord, look at the time! • My God, you must be joking!

my-al-gic en-ceph-a-lo-my-eli-tis /maɪˈældʒɪkɪn,se-fəloʊ,majəˈlaɪtəs/ noun [noncount] Brit, medical : CHRONIC FATIGUE SYNDROME

my-nah or my-na /ˈmaɪnə/ noun, pl -nahs or -nas [count] : a black bird from Asia that is often kept as a pet and trained to copy the sounds of words — called also mynah bird

my-o-pia /maɪˈoʊpijə/ noun [noncount] medical : a condition of the eye that makes it difficult to see objects that are far away : NEARSIGHTEDNESS • She wears eyeglasses to correct her myopia. — often used figuratively • cultural myopia [=an inability to see what is good in other cultures] • religious and moral myopia

my-o-pic /maɪˈɑ:pɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 medical : not able to clearly see objects that are far away : affected with myopia : NEARSIGHTED • myopic vision

2 disapproving : only thinking or caring about things that are happening now or that relate to a particular group rather than things that are in the future or that relate to many people • myopic politicians • He has criticized the government's myopic [=shortsighted] diplomatic policies. • a myopic view of the world

1 myr-i-ad /ˈmɪrɪjəd/ noun, pl -ads [count] somewhat formal : a very large number of things • The car comes in a myriad of colors. [=in many colors] • There are a myriad of possibilities. — often plural • myriads of stars/insects

2 myriad adj, somewhat formal : very many • The old system's problems were myriad. — usually used before a noun • myriad problems • Today we remember the myriad ways she helped others in her lifetime.

myrrh /ˈmɜr/ noun [noncount] : a sticky brown substance that comes from trees, that has a sweet smell, and that is used in products that give the air or people's bodies a pleasing smell myr-tle /ˈmɜtl/ noun, pl myr-tles [count] : a type of small tree that has sweet-smelling white or pink flowers and black berries

my-self /maɪˈself/ pronoun

1 : the person who is speaking or writing: a — used as the object of a verb or preposition to refer to yourself after you have already been mentioned • I accidentally cut myself while cooking. • I'm going to get myself a new car. • I bought myself a new suit. • I consider myself to be a pretty good swimmer. • I had to ask myself if this was what I truly wanted. • I reminded myself that this is just a game. • I told a bad joke and made myself look foolish. • I am proud of myself for finishing college. • I could no longer keep the secret to myself. • I'm doing this for myself. [=for my own benefit] • I said to myself, “Here's a man who knows what he's doing.” • I had the house (all) to myself. [=I was alone in the house] • I wanted to see it for myself. [=to see it rather than have someone tell me about it, describe it to me, etc.] b — used for emphasis to refer again to yourself after you have already been mentioned • I told him so myself. • If you won't go, then I'll go myself. • I myself have never been to Italy. • I myself have experienced the same thing.

2 : my normal or healthy self • I was nervous and uncomfortable and just didn't feel (like) myself. • I'm not feeling (like) myself today. I think I may be coming down with a cold. • I'm not myself today. I just don't feel right. • I find it hard to be myself [=to relax and behave in my usual way] when I'm with people I don't know well.

by myself 1 : without any help from other people • I can't do it (all) by myself. • It's hard to believe that I started this company by myself 20 years ago. 2 : with nobody else : ALONE • I went to movies by myself. • I had to play in my room (all) by myself.

mys-te-ri-ous /mɪˈstɪrɪəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : strange, unknown, or difficult to understand • the mysterious ways of nature • We heard a mysterious noise outside our tent. • He died under mysterious circumstances. • A mysterious illness has been spreading through the city. • There's something mysterious about that old woman. • Her behavior was very mysterious. ♦ Mysterious people are often interesting because many things are not known about them. • A mysterious stranger came to our door. • the movie's handsome and mysterious main character be mysterious : to talk or behave in a way that makes other people feel that you must have a secret • What are you being so mysterious about?

– mys-te-ri-ous-ly adv • He died mysteriously at the age of 32. • She smiled mysteriously.

mys-tery /'mɪstəri/ noun, pl -ter-ies

1 [count] : something that is not known • Where they went is a mystery. [=no one knows where they went] • The girl's name remains a mystery. : something that is difficult to understand or explain • The mystery surrounding/of her disappearance has never been solved. • His success is something of a mystery. = His success is a bit of a mystery. • The cause of the disease remains a mystery to scientists. • I don't know how he did it. It's a mystery to me!

2 [noncount] : the quality of being difficult to understand or explain : the quality of being mysterious • The experiment is cloaked/shrouded/veiled in mystery. • There is an air of mystery surrounding her. = She is a woman of mystery. • There's no mystery (to/as to/about) why we're here. = It's no mystery why we're here. [=we know why we are here]

3 [count] : a religious event or idea that cannot be fully understood or explained • the mystery of creation

4 [count] : a book, play, or movie that describes a crime and the process of solving it • She has written many adventure novels and murder mysteries. — often used before another noun • mystery novels/stories • She's a mystery writer.

5 [count] : someone or something whose identity has been kept secret especially in order to create interest or excitement — usually used before another noun • We'll reveal the identity of today's mystery guest after these commercials. • You'll find a mystery prize in each box.

mystery play noun, pl ~ plays [count] : a religious play in the Middle Ages based on a story from the Bible (such as the creation of the world or the birth of Jesus Christ)

¹mys-tic /'mɪstɪk/ noun, pl -tics [count] : a person who tries to gain religious or spiritual knowledge through prayer and deep thought : someone who practices mysticism

²mystic adj [more ~; most ~] : MYSTICAL • She had a mystic vision while praying. • a mystic journey

mys-ti-cal /'mɪstɪkəl/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : having a spiritual meaning that is difficult to see or understand • He has a mystical [mystic] union/relationship with God. • She says that the symbol has mystical powers. • the deep, almost mystical quality of her poetry

2 : of or relating to mystics or mysticism : resulting from prayer or deep thought • a mystical experience • a mystical journey in search of God • mystical knowledge of the spirit world

– mys-ti-cal-ly /'mɪstɪkli/ adv • mystically united with God

mys-ti-cism /'mɪstə,sɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a religious practice based on the belief that knowledge of spiritual truth can be gained by praying or thinking deeply • Jewish, Christian, and Islamic mysticism • a student of Eastern mysticism

mys-ti-fy /'mɪstə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to confuse (someone) completely • The cause of the disease mystified doctors for many years. • Her strange behavior has mystified [=baffled] her friends and family. • I was thoroughly mystified by his reaction. [=I could not understand his reaction] • The magician has been mystifying his audiences for years with his amazing tricks.

– mys-ti-fi-ca-tion /,mɪstəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

– mystifying adj [more ~; most ~] • her mystifying behavior – mys-ti-fy-ing-ly adv

mys-tique /mɪ'sti:k/ noun [singular] : a special quality that makes a person or thing interesting or exciting • There's a certain mystique to/about people who fight fires. • No one has been able to copy the legendary singer's mystique. • the mystique of mountain climbing myth /'mɪθ/ noun, pl myths

1 : an idea or story that is believed by many people but that is not true [count] It's an enduring/persistent myth that money brings happiness. • The book dispels/refutes/debunks many myths about early American history. [=shows that many beliefs about early American history are wrong] • I don't believe the myths and legends about/surrounding this forest. [noncount] Contrary to popular myth, no monster lives in this lake.

2 a [count] : a story that was told in an ancient culture to explain a practice, belief, or natural occurrence • creation myths [=stories about how people and the world were first created] b [noncount] : such stories as a group • a student of Greek myth [=mythology]

myth-ic /'mɪθɪk/ adj

1 : of or relating to a myth • a mythic story : described in a myth • a mythic [(more commonly) mythical] hero

2 : suitable to a myth : very famous or important • He's reached the end of a mythic [=legendary] career. • She's one of the mythic figures in ice-skating. • His fame has grown to mythic proportions.

myth-i-cal /'mɪθɪkəl/ adj

1 : based on or described in a myth • Hercules was a mythical hero who was half man and half god. • gods fighting in a mythical battle in the sky • a mythical beast/creature

2 : existing only in the imagination : IMAGINARY • The sportswriters picked a mythical all-star team. • The benefits of the new policy proved to be mythical.

– myth-i-cal-ly /'mɪθɪkli/ adv • mythically heroic characters of the past

my-thol-o-gize also Brit my-thol-o-gise /mɪ'θɔ:lə,dʒaɪz/ verb -giz-es; -gized; -giz-ing [+ obj] : to talk about or describe (someone or something) as a subject that deserves to be told about in a myth or legend : to make (someone or something) seem great or heroic • a politician who has been mythologized by his supporters • mythologize the past

my-thol-o-gy /mɪ'θɔ:lədʒi/ noun, pl -gies

1 : the myths of a particular group or culture [noncount] We have been studying ancient Greek mythology. [count] We compared the two cultures' mythologies.

2 : ideas that are believed by many people but that are not true [noncount] Contrary to popular mythology [=myth], he did not actually discover the cause of the disease by himself. [singular] There is a popular mythology that he discovered the cause of the disease by himself.

– myth-o-log-i-cal /,mɪθə'lɔ:dʒɪkəl/ adj • mythological heroes • a mythological story

N

¹n or N /'en/ noun, pl n's or ns or N's or Ns /'enz/

1 : the 14th letter of the English alphabet [count] a word that starts with an n [noncount] a word that starts with n

2 [noncount] mathematics : a number that is part of an equation and that has a value that is not stated • What is the value of n in the equation $5n + 2 = 37$?

²n abbr noun

'n' also 'n' /ən, n/ conj : AND • rock 'n' roll

N abbr north, northern

NA abbr 1 North America 2 not applicable — often written as N/A 3 not available — often written as N/A

NAACP abbr National Association for the Advancement of Colored People ♦ The NAACP is an American organization that works to protect the rights of African-Americans.

naan also nan /'nɑ:n/ noun [count, noncount] : an Indian bread that is round, flat, and soft nab /'næb/ verb nabs; nabbed; nab-bing [+ obj] informal

1 : to catch and stop or arrest (someone) • The police nabbed [(more formally) apprehended] the two men in their hideout. • nabbing criminals • The boss nabbed [=caught] me at the coffee machine and asked me to stay late.

2 : to take or get (something) quickly and often in a way that is clever or rude • I was thinking about nabbing [=grabbing, snatching] that last piece of pizza. • We nabbed seats in the front row of the theater.

na-bob /'nei,bɑ:b/ noun, pl -bobs [count] informal : a very rich or important person • corporate nabobs na-chos /'nɑːtʃoʊz/ noun [plural] : tortilla chips that are covered with warm melted cheese and often with hot peppers, beans, salsa, etc.

na-da /'nɑːdə/ noun [noncount] informal : 'NOTHING 1 • It won't cost you anything—zero, nothing, nada.

na-dir /'neɪ,dɪə/ noun [singular] formal : the worst or lowest point of something • The relationship between the two countries reached a/its nadir in the 1920s. — opposite ZENITH naff /'næf/ adj naff-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] Brit slang : of low quality especially in a way that shows a lack of style or taste • The film was a bit naff.

¹nag /'næg/ verb nags; nagged; nag-ging

1 a : to annoy (someone) by often complaining about his or her behavior, appearance, etc. [+ obj] — + about • My wife nags me about my busy work schedule. • Mom's always nag-ging me about my hair. [no obj] All you ever do is nag. b : to annoy (someone) with repeated questions, requests, or orders [+ obj] My parents are always nagging me to clean my room. • He kept nagging her until she agreed to see the movie. [no obj] Quit nagging! I already said I'm not going.

2 : to cause (someone) to feel annoyed or worried for a long period of time [+ obj] She's still nagged [=bothered] by the thought that she could have done better. [no obj] — often + at • The problem has been nagging at me for weeks.

— nagging /'næɡɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] • A few nagging questions/problems remain. • I have this nagging doubt/feeling/fear/suspicion that our troubles aren't over yet. • a nagging headache/cough/pain • nagging injuries that just won't heal

²nag noun, pl nags [count] informal : a person who nags or complains too often • His wife's an awful nag. — compare

³NAG

³nag noun, pl nags [count] : a horse that is old and usually in bad condition — compare ²NAG

nah /'næ, 'næə, 'nɑː/ adv, informal : 'NO ♦ Nah is used in very informal spoken English. • "Do you want to come with us?" "Nah, I've got too much work to do."

¹nail /'neɪl/ noun, pl nails [count]

1 : a long, thin piece of metal that is sharp at one end and flat at the other end and that is used chiefly to attach things to wood • a hammer and some nails — see picture at CARPENTRY; compare ¹SCREW 1

2 : the hard covering at the end of a finger or toe : a finger-nail or toenail • I get my nails done at the beauty salon every other week. • a pair of nail clippers — see also HANGNAIL

a nail in the/someone's coffin : something that makes it more likely that someone or something will fail, be destroyed, etc. • Every mistake is one more nail in the coffin of his professional baseball career. • The lawyers put another nail in her coffin today.

(as) hard/tough as nails of a person : very tough • When she's negotiating a contract, she can be as tough as nails.

hit the nail on the head see ¹HIT

tooth and nail see TOOTH

²nail verb nails; nailed; nail-ing [+ obj]

1 always followed by an adverb, adjective, or preposition : to attach (something) with a nail • Nail the picture to the wall. • nailing [=hammering] the boards together • All the doors were nailed shut. • The desks and chairs had been nailed (down) to the floor.

2 informal a : to catch (someone) doing something illegal or wrong • He got nailed by his parents while trying to sneak out of the house. b : to arrest or punish (someone) for doing something that is illegal or wrong • He got nailed for not paying his taxes. • The FBI has nailed the hackers.

3 informal : to hit (someone or something) forcefully • Someone nailed [=whacked] him on the head with a rock.

4 US, informal : to make or do (something) in a perfect or impressive way • She nailed a three-point shot in the final seconds of the game. • You really nailed that song. It sounded great!

nail down [phrasal verb] nail (something) down or nail down (something) 1 : to make (something, such as a victory) certain to happen • They need to score another touchdown to nail down the victory. 2 : to find out or identify (something) exactly • Her doctors haven't yet been able to nail down a diagnosis. • They're trying to nail down the cause of our network problems. 3 : to make (something) definite or final • nail down a decision nail-bit-er /'neɪl,bɪtə/ noun [singular] : something (such as a game or movie) that causes people to feel nervous because the ending is not known until the final moment • This election's going to be a real nail-biter.

— nail-bit-ing /'neɪl,bɪtɪŋ/ adj • The election is heading for a nail-biting finish.

nail file noun, pl ~ files [count] : a small, flat piece of metal or cardboard that has a rough surface and that is used for shaping your fingernails — see picture at GROOMING

nail polish noun [noncount] : a liquid that is used to paint fingernails and toenails • red nail polish • nail polish remover — called also (Brit) nail varnish; see picture at GROOMING na-ive or na-ïve /nɑː'ɪv, nɑː'ɪːv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a lack of experience or knowledge : innocent or simple • a naive belief that all people are good • a naive view of the world • She asked a lot of naive questions. • He's politically naive. = He's naive about the nature of politics. • I was young and naive at the time, and I didn't think anything bad could happen to me. • The plan seems a little naive. • If you're naive enough to believe him, you'll believe anyone. • We're not naive to the fact [=we're not unaware of the fact] that there are problems with the system.

— na-ive-ly or na-ïve-ly adv • I naïvely believed that we could fix the problem. — na-ive-té also na-ïve-te or na-ive-té /nɑː'ɪv'teɪ, nɑː'ɪːv'teɪ/ noun [noncount] • political naïveté — na-ive-ty also na-ïve-ty /nɑː'ɪvəti, nɑː'ɪːvəti/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit • political naïvety

na-ked /'neɪkəd/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : not wearing any clothes : not covered by clothing • a naked [=nude] man • the naked human body • her naked [(more commonly) bare] shoulders • He was na-ked from the waist up. • The prisoners were stripped naked. [=all of their clothes were taken off] • She was half naked [=partly dressed] when the doorbell rang. • He's stark naked. [=he's completely naked]

2 : not having a usual covering • The trees are still naked [(more commonly) bare], but their leaves will return soon. • a naked [=uncovered] lightbulb

3 : not having any decorations • the room's naked [=bare, plain] walls

4 always used before a noun a : not hidden or changed in any way : stated in a very clear and direct way • These are the naked facts of the case. • Tell me everything. I want the naked truth. [=the complete truth, the whole story] b : completely obvious • an act of naked aggression

5 always used before a noun : without the use of a telescope, microscope, etc. • distant stars and planets that cannot be seen with the naked eye • Though extremely small, this insect is visible to the naked eye.

— na-ked-ly adv • She's the most nakedly ambitious person I know. — na-ked-ness noun [noncount] • The actor was uncomfortable with his nakedness. [=the fact that he was naked]

nam-by-pam-by /,næmbɪ'pæmbɪ/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal + disapproving : too weak or gentle : not strong or strict enough • namby-pamby politicians • namby-pamby treatment of criminals

¹name /'neɪm/ noun, pl names [count]

1 : a word or phrase that refers to or that can refer to a specific person • "What's his (first) name?" "His name is Jacob." • I took my husband's (last) name when we got married. • Please write/sign your name on this line. • State your name and occupation. • I refused to give/tell them my name. • She has one of the most famous names [=she is one of the most famous people] in show business. • Can you give me the name of a good dentist? [=do you know a good dentist that I could use?] • Mark Twain's real name was Samuel Clemens. • She registered at the hotel under/using a false/assumed name. • Samuel Clemens wrote under the name (of) Mark Twain. • My full name is Susan Elaine Smith. • Her name is Susan, but she goes by the name (of) Sue. [=people call her Sue] • Do you know a man by the name of [=do you know a man named] James Smith? • She now owns several restaurants that bear her name. [=that are named after her] • Can I put your name down for a donation? [=can I write down your name on the list of people who are giving a donation?; would you like to make a donation?] — see also CHRISTIAN NAME, FAMILY NAME, FIRST NAME, FORENAME, GIVEN NAME, LAST NAME, MAIDEN NAME, MARRIED NAME, MIDDLE NAME, NICKNAME, PEN NAME, PET NAME, STAGE NAME, SURNAME

2 a : a word or phrase that refers to a specific place or thing • We had to memorize the names of all the countries in Africa. • "What's your dog's name?" "His name is Sandy." • What was the name [=title] of that movie we saw last night? • This is his song "Loving You" from the album of the same name. • The ship's name was "Titanic." • The band takes/gets its name from [=it is named after] its hometown. • The company gives/lends its name to one of the biggest golf tournaments in the country. [=the golf tournament is named after the company] b : a word or phrase that refers to a type or group of things • Psychologists have a name for this kind of behavior. • Is there a name for the part of the leg behind the knee? • The cougar is also known by the names "puma" and "mountain lion." • The plant's botanical/scientific name is Chrysanthemum leucanthemum, but we know it by its common name "daisy." • True to their name, killer bees have been known to kill people. = As their name implies/suggests, killer bees really do kill. = Killer bees really live up to their name. = Killer bees are known to kill people, hence the name. — see also BRAND NAME, CODE NAME, PLACE NAME, PROPER NAME, TRADE NAME

N

3 : the general opinion that most people have about someone or something • A few dishonest players have given the sport a bad name. [=they have made people think badly about the sport] • I won't let you ruin our family's good name. [=good reputation] • He's still trying to clear his name. [=to prove that he is not guilty of a crime]

4 : a famous person or thing • He's one of the biggest names in music. • Our agency has represented some of the most famous names in the business. • The following year, she took the role that would make her a household name. [=a very well-known person] — see also BIG NAME, NAME-DROPPING, NO-NAME

5 : a word or phrase that is used to describe and insult someone • a bad/dirty name — usually plural • Sticks and stones may break my bones but names will never hurt me! • "You're such a stupid jerk!" "Hey, don't call me names!" • A bully at school was calling her names. — see also NAME-CALLING by name : using a name : by saying the name of someone or something • He never mentioned her by name [=he never said her name], but we all knew who he was talking about. • The victim was able to identify his attacker by name. [=he knew the name of the person who attacked him] • We've had people come in to the store and ask for it by name.

drag someone's name through the mud see ¹DRAG

in all/everything but name : not in an official way but in every other way • Military governors ruled the country in all but name for many years. • Their marriage was over in all but name five years ago.

in name only also in name — used to describe a person or thing that does not have the qualities that its name suggests • For many years, the Emperor was the ruler in name only. = The Emperor ruled in name but not in fact. • She's my boss in name only. We're really more like partners. • a friend in name only in someone's/something's name or in the name of someone/something 1 a — used to say that something officially or legally belongs to a specified person • We both own the house, but the car is in my name. • The business is registered in her husband's name for tax purposes. b — used to say that something has or uses the name of a specified person • Our reservation at the restaurant is in my name. 2 — used to say that something is done with the authority of a specified person or thing • The leader refused to allow such violent acts to be done in his name. • Stop in the name of the law! 3 — used to say that something is given as the official reason for doing something • These laws were passed in the name of national security. • They're tearing down historic buildings in the name of progress!

know (someone) by name 1 : to know a person well enough to know the person's name • She knows all of her customers by name. • I took her to a restaurant where the owner knows me by name. • The police know him by name. 2 : to know a person's name only • He said he only knew her by name and didn't know much more about her.

make your name or make a name for yourself : to become well-known or famous • She made her name in politics as a powerful public speaker. • He has made quite a name for himself as a golfer. • She is making a name for herself in the art world.

put a name to (someone or something) : to think of and say the name of (someone or something) • Can you put a name to the face in this photograph? • I couldn't put a name to the emotion I was feeling.

take someone's name in vain see VAIN

the name of the game informal : the basic goal or purpose of an activity • When all is said and done, in business, profit is the name of the game. • The name of the game was winning by any means necessary.

to your name : belonging to you • I haven't a dollar/dime/penny to my name. [=I have no money] • She has more than 20 novels to her name. [=she has written more than 20 novels] • a band with three hit songs to their name under someone's/something's name or under the name (of) someone/something 1 — used to say that something officially or legally belongs to a specified person • We both own the house, but the car is under my name. • The business is registered under her husband's name for tax purposes. 2 — used to say that something has or uses the name of a specified person • We have dinner reservations under the name of Jones.

with someone's name on it informal : intended for someone • There's a piece of cake over there with your name on it. [=you should go get that piece of cake] • He told me he had a bullet with my name on it. [=he was going to shoot me]

your name is mud see MUD

²name verb names; named; nam-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give a name to (someone or something) • "What are you going to name your new dog?" "I think I'll name him Sandy." • The aptly named HMS "Victorious" helped the British Royal Navy win an important victory. • A man named James Smith is on the phone. • We named our daughter "Mary" in honor of her grandmother. • Alzheimer's disease was named after Dr. Alois Alzheimer. = (US) It was named for Dr. Alois Alzheimer.

2 : to say the name of (someone or something) • Can you name the person who attacked you? • All of the authors named above were influenced by his work. • "How many of the 50 states of the U.S. can you name?" "Well, there's New York, Connecticut, and Massachusetts, to name (but/just/only) a few."

3 : to choose (someone) to be (something) • The company president named [=appointed] his son (as) his successor. • She was named to replace him as the company's vice president. • She has been named (as) the winner of the competition. • The magazine named him (as) the best artist of the year.

4 : to decide on or choose (something) • NASA has not yet named [=set] the date for the shuttle launch. • We've decided to get married, but we haven't named the day (of the wedding) yet.

name names : to say the names of people who were involved in something • He said he knew who did it, but he wouldn't name names.

name your price : to say how much you want to pay for something or how much you want to sell something for • Customers can name their price. • People selling homes on the beach can basically name their price. [=they can sell their homes for any amount of money they want] you name it informal : anything you could say or think of • You name it, we sell it! • I like all kinds of music: rock, blues, reggae, classical—you name it!

³name adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US : having a well-known name and good reputation • We got a couple of name [=big-name] bands for the show. • books by name authors • name players

name brand noun, pl ~ brands [count] : a product that is made by a well-known company • clothing stores that sell name brands at low prices — compare BRAND NAME, STORE BRAND

— name-brand adj, always used before a noun • name-brand clothing

name-calling /'neɪm,kɑ:lɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the act of using offensive names to insult someone • "That man is an arrogant, immoral fool!" "I understand your anger, but name-calling won't get you anywhere." • Don't resort to name-calling. Let's talk about the real issues.

name-drop-ping /'neɪm,dra:pɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the act of trying to impress someone by saying the names of well-known people that you know or have met • There's an excessive amount of name-dropping in his autobiography.

— name-drop /'neɪm,dra:p/ verb -drops; -dropped; -drop-ping [no obj] • He kept name-dropping [=dropping names] but no one was impressed. — name-drop-per /'neɪm,dra:pə/ noun, pl -pers [count]

name-less /'neɪmləs/ adj

1 : having a name that is not known or told • the nameless [=anonymous, unknown] author of the editorial • She left the hotel with a nameless man in a black jacket. • a nameless informant • The source for my story prefers to remain nameless. • A top government official, who shall remain nameless, has expressed concern about the decision.

2 : not having a name • a nameless [=unnamed] stream in the woods • a nameless baby

3 : not marked with a name • The men were buried there in nameless graves.

4 a : not able to be identified by name • There was a strange, nameless odor coming from the basement. • nameless fears and worries b : too bad to talk about • the nameless horrors of war

name-ly /'neimli/ adv — used when giving exact information about something you have already mentioned • They brought lunch, namely sandwiches, chips, and soda. • The disease can be prevented, namely by exercising, eating right, and not smoking. • I have a question; namely, should we sell the property or not? • She made a suggestion, namely that the student not be admitted.

name-plate /'neim,pleit/ noun, pl -plates [count] : a metal or plastic sign that is attached to a door or wall and that shows the name of the person, group, or company that lives or works there name-sake /'neim,seik/ noun, pl -sakes [count] : someone or something that has the same name as another person or thing • How much did President George Bush influence his son and namesake George W. Bush?

name tag noun, pl ~ tags [count] : a piece of paper, cloth, plastic, or metal that has a person's name written on it and that is attached to the person's clothing • She handed out name tags for people to wear at the conference. • I didn't notice the supervisor's name tag on his uniform.

1 nan /'næn/ noun, pl nans [count] Brit : NANA

2 nan variant spelling of NAAN

nana also Brit nan-na /'nænə/ noun, pl nan-as [count] : GRANDMOTHER — used especially by young children • Are we going to visit nana today?

nan-ny /'næni/ noun, pl -nies [count]

1 : a woman who is paid to care for a young child usually in the child's home • When I was growing up, I had a nanny.

2 Brit : GRANDMOTHER

nanny goat noun, pl ~ goats [count] : a female goat — compare BILLY GOAT

nano- combining form, technical : one billionth part of something • nanosecond

nano-sec-ond /'nænə,sekənd/ noun, pl -onds [count]

1 technical : one billionth of a second • It happens in less than a nanosecond.

2 : a very short time

nano-tech-nol-o-gy /,nænoutek'nɔ:lədʒi/ noun [non-count] technical : the science of working with atoms and molecules to build devices (such as robots) that are extremely small

1 nap /'næp/ noun, pl naps [count] : a short period of sleep especially during the day • She awoke from her nap rested and refreshed. • You look like you could use a nap. • He put the baby down for a nap. • Grandma takes a nap every afternoon. — compare ³NAP

2 nap verb naps; napped; nap-ping [no obj]

1 : to sleep for a short period of time especially during the day • He's napping [=dozing] on the couch.

2 : to be in a state in which you are not prepared to deal with something because you were not paying attention • The goalie had to be napping when that ball got by him. • When the problem appeared again, the government was caught napping. [=the government was not prepared to deal with it]

3 nap noun, pl naps [count] : a soft layer of threads on the surface of a piece of cloth, a carpet, etc. — compare ¹NAP

na-palm /'nei,pɑ:m/ noun [non-count] : a thick substance that contains gasoline and that is used in bombs that cause a destructive fire over a wide area

nape /'neip/ noun [singular] : the back of the neck • Her hair was tied back at the nape of her neck.

nap-kin /'næpkən/ noun, pl -kins [count] : a small piece of cloth or paper used during a meal to clean your lips and fingers and to protect your clothes — called also (Brit) serviette; see picture at PLACE SETTING; see also SANITARY NAPKIN

1 nap-py /'næpi/ adj nap-pi-er; -est US, informal, of hair : having many tight bends or curls • short nappy [=kinky] hair

2 nappy noun, pl -pies [count] Brit : ¹DIAPER

nappy rash noun [non-count] Brit : DIAPER RASH

narc also nark /'nɑ:k/ noun, pl narcs also narks [count] US, informal : a person (such as a government agent) who tries to catch criminals who buy and sell illegal drugs

nar-cis-sis-tic /,nɑ:sə'sistik/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapproving : loving and admiring yourself and especially your appearance too much • a narcissistic young actor

— nar-cis-sism /'nɑ:sə,sizəm/ noun [non-count] • the actor's narcissism

nar-cis-sus /nɑ:'sɪsəs/ noun, pl nar-cis-si /nɑ:'sɪ,sai/ or narcissus or nar-cis-sus-es [count] : DAFFODIL nar-co-lep-sy /'nɑ:kə,lepsi/ noun [non-count] medical : a medical condition in which someone suddenly falls into a deep sleep while talking, working, etc.

nar-cot-ic /nɑ:'kɑ:tik/ noun, pl -ics [count]

1 : a drug (such as cocaine, heroin, or marijuana) that affects the brain and that is usually dangerous and illegal • an addictive narcotic — often plural • He was arrested for selling narcotics. • narcotics agents/detectives • narcotics dealers/traffickers [=people who sell narcotics]

2 medical : a drug that is given to people in small amounts to make them sleep or feel less pain • a mild narcotic

— narcotic adj • narcotic addiction • narcotic drugs • The drug has a mild narcotic effect. [=the drug makes you feel slightly sleepy]

nar-rate /'neə,reit, Brit nə'reit/ verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to tell (a story) • The author narrates her story in great detail.

2 : to say the words that are heard as part of (a movie, television show, etc.) and that describe what is being seen : to do the narration for (something) • Who narrated that film? • a documentary narrated by a famous actor

— nar-ra-tor /'neə,reitə, Brit nə'reitə/ noun, pl -tors [count] •

The narrator of the story is a ten-year-old child.

nar-ra-tion /næ'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 somewhat formal : the act or process of telling a story or describing what happens [non-count] the narration of events • The novel uses first-person narration. [count] first-person narrations

2 : words that are heard as part of a movie, television show, etc., and that describe what is being seen [non-count] They got a famous actor to do the narration for the documentary. [count] an actor who does narrations for documentaries

1 nar-ra-tive /'nerətv/ noun, pl -tives [count] formal : a story that is told or written • He is writing a detailed narrative of his life on the island. • People have questioned the accuracy of his narrative. • fictional narratives

2 narrative adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to the process of telling a story • her narrative style/technique [=the way she tells a story]

2 : having the form of a story • a narrative poem

1 nar-row /'nerou/ adj nar-row-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : long and not wide : small from one side to the other side • a long, narrow table • narrow hallways/passageways • The city's ancient streets are too narrow for buses. • The sofa isn't narrow enough [=it is too wide] to fit through the door. • a narrow path • We crossed at the narrowest part of the river. • His shoulders are very narrow. — opposite BROAD, WIDE

2 : including or involving a small number of things or people : limited in range or amount • within the narrow limits allowed by law • They offer a narrow range/choice of flavors: chocolate, strawberry, and vanilla. • the study's narrow focus on 30-year-old men • The study was narrow in scope. • a narrow view/perspective of politics — opposite BROAD, WIDE

3 : almost not successful : very close to failure • a narrow escape/victory : almost not enough for success • They won by a narrow [=close, small] margin.

the straight and narrow see ³STRAIGHT

— nar-row-ness noun [non-count]

2 narrow verb -rows; -rowed; -row-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to make (something) less wide • She narrowed her eyes and stared at me. = She stared at me through narrowed [=partly closed] eyes. • The path was narrowed by overgrowth. b [no obj] : to become less wide • His eyes narrowed as he focused on the words in front of him. • The vase narrows at its top.

2 a [+ obj] : to make (something) smaller in amount or range • The field has been narrowed [=reduced] from eight to two candidates. • We've been able to narrow [=limit] the search to a three-mile area. • narrowing the range of options • You'll need to narrow the focus of your paper to one central idea. — often + down • The choices have been narrowed down to two. • To narrow down its pool of applicants, the school made its admission requirements stricter. b [no obj] : to become smaller in amount or range • The gap between their salaries was beginning to narrow.

— narrowing noun, pl -ings [count] — usually singular • a narrowing of the blood vessels nar·row·ly /'nerouli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : by a very small number, amount, or distance • The bullet narrowly missed his heart. [=the bullet did not hit his heart, but it almost did] • We narrowly [=barely] escaped with our lives. • The team narrowly won the last game of the season.

2 : in a way that does not include or involve many things or people • While the organization defines the term “family” very narrowly, many people have a rather liberal idea of what it means to be a family. • The study narrowly focuses on 30-year-old men.

nar·row·mind·ed /'nerou'maɪndəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

: not willing to accept opinions, beliefs, or behaviors that are unusual or different from your own • Her mother was narrow-minded about religion. • a narrow-minded view of racial issues

— nar·row·mind·ed·ness noun [noncount]

nar·rows /'nerouz/ noun [plural] : a narrow passage that connects two areas of water • He skillfully sailed the ship through the narrows.

nary /'neri/ adj : not one — used in the phrases nary a or nary an • They survived the accident with nary a scratch. [=without a single scratch] • Nary a word was spoken.

NASA /'næsə/ abbr National Aeronautics and Space Administration ♦ NASA is a U.S. government organization that is responsible for space travel and research.

na·sal /'neɪzəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of or relating to the nose • a bottle of nasal spray • medicine for nasal congestion • nasal passages

2 a always used before a noun : produced by pushing air out through the nose when you speak • the nasal consonants /m/ and /n/ • the nasal vowels in French • nasal sounds b : producing nasal sounds • Her voice is harsh and nasal.

— na·sal·ly adv • She sung/spoke nasally.

NASCAR /'næs,kɑː/ abbr, US National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing

na·scent /'næsn̩t/ adj, formal : beginning to exist : recently formed or developed • nascent democratic governments • a nascent technology • The actress is now focusing on her nascent singing career.

nas·tur·tium /nə'stɜːfəm/ noun, pl -tiums [count] : a plant with circular leaves and yellow, orange, or red flowers that are sometimes eaten nas·ty /'næsti, Brit 'nɑːsti/ adj nas·ti·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : very unpleasant to see, smell, taste, etc. • She has a nasty habit of biting her fingernails. • The food looks nasty. • The medicine left a nasty taste in my mouth. • a nasty-tasting medicine

2 : indecent and offensive • a violent movie with a lot of nasty [=bad, dirty] language

3 : unpleasant and unkind • That was a nasty [=cruel, mean] trick! • That nasty old man yelled at me just for stepping on his lawn! • He sent a nasty letter/e-mail to the company. • She's got quite a nasty temper/disposition. • He said lots of downright nasty things about her. • She called him a few nasty names and left.

4 : very bad or unpleasant • nasty weather/storms • It's rainy and nasty outside. • I've got a really nasty problem. • He's in for a nasty surprise when he gets home. • He just went through a nasty divorce. • a nasty legal battle • Their relationship got/turned nasty soon after they were married.

5 : very serious or severe • You've got a nasty cut on your head. • a nasty wound : causing much damage • She had a nasty fall on the ice. • He took a nasty spill while riding his bike.

— nas·ti·ly /'næstəli, Brit 'nɑːstəli/ adv • He spoke nastily about his ex-girlfriend. — nas·ti·ness /'næstinəs, Brit 'nɑːstinəs/ noun [noncount] natch /'nætʃ/ adv, informal : as you would expect : NATURALLY • He bought the most expensive car he could find, natch.

na·tion /'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a large area of land that is controlled by its own government : COUNTRY • It's one of the richest/poorest nations in the world. • the largest state/province in the nation • industrialized/developing nations • the United Nations • b the nation : the people who live in a nation • The President will speak to the nation tonight. • The entire nation is celebrating the victory.

2 Nation [count] : a tribe of Native Americans or a group of Native American tribes that share the same history, traditions, or language • the Cheyenne Indian Nation • the Navajo Nation

1 na·tion·al /'næʃənəl/ adj

1 : of or relating to an entire nation or country • local and national governments • national politics • the national economy • national security/defense • the country's national flag/symbol • She won the national championship/title last year. • His test scores were higher than the national average. • They were national heroes. • Doing well in the Olympics is a matter of national pride. • Baseball is called America's national pastime. • The game was shown on national television.

2 always used before a noun : owned and controlled or operated by a national government • Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C. • the National Museum of Art • a national bank/forest — na·tion·al·ly /'næʃənəli/ adv • a nationally televised game • The movie opens nationally [=in theaters throughout the nation] this weekend. • She ranks high nationally in her math and science scores. • The university is known nationally and internationally for its writing program.

2 national noun, pl -als

1 [count] formal : a person who is a citizen of a country • She's a Mexican national now working in the United States. • foreign nationals

2 nationals [plural] : competitions in which people or teams from all areas of a country compete • The U.S. Nationals will be held in New York City this year.

national anthem noun, pl ~ -thems [count] : a song that praises a particular country and that is officially accepted as the country's song ♦ National anthems are often played or sung at special events.

national debt noun, pl ~ debts [count] : the total amount of money that the government of a country owes to companies, countries, etc.

National Guard noun [singular] : a military group that is organized in each U.S. state but given money and supplies by the national government and that can be used by the state or the country

National Health Service noun

the National Health Service : the public system of medical care in Britain that is paid for by taxes

National Insurance noun [noncount] : a British insurance system that workers and their employers contribute to regularly and which gives money to people who are retired, ill, or unemployed

na·tion·al·ism /'næʃənə'lɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

1 : a feeling that people have of being loyal to and proud of their country often with the belief that it is better and more important than other countries • The war was caused by nationalism and greed. — compare PATRIOTISM

2 : a desire by a large group of people (such as people who share the same culture, history, language, etc.) to form a separate and independent nation of their own • Scottish nationalism

1 na·tion·al·ist /'næʃənəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

1 : a supporter of or believer in nationalism • German/American/Russian nationalists

2 or Nationalist : a member of a political group that wants to form a separate and independent nation • Irish Nationalists

2 nationalist adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to nationalism • nationalist beliefs/ideologies/sentiments

2 or Nationalist : of or relating to a political group that wants to form a separate and independent nation • The country's Nationalist Party won the election.

na·tion·al·is·tic /,næʃənə'lɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : relating to or showing a belief that your country is better and more important than other countries • the political party's nationalistic ideology • nationalistic election speeches

na·tion·al·i·ty /,næʃə'næləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] : a group of people who share the same history, traditions, and language, and who usually live together in a particular country • The country is home to five nationalities

and seven languages. • people of all races and nationalities
2 formal : the fact or status of being a member or citizen of a particular nation [noncount] She's American, but her parents are of Japanese nationality. • He has held French nationality for the past 20 years. [count] The university has students of over 50 nationalities.

na·tion·al·ize /'næʃənəlaɪz/ also Brit na·tion·al·ise verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to cause (something) to be under the control of a national government • The government nationalized the health-care system in the mid-1950s. • nationalizing the country's oil supply — opposite PRIVATIZE, (Brit) DENATIONALIZE

— na·tion·al·i·za·tion also Brit na·tion·al·i·sa·tion /,næʃənələ'zeɪʃən, Brit /,næʃənəlaɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the nationalization of health care

National League noun

the National League : one of the two major leagues in professional U.S. baseball — compare AMERICAN LEAGUE

national monument noun, pl ~ -ments [count] : a place (such as an old building or an area of land) that is owned and protected by a national government because of its natural beauty or its importance to history or science • the Statue of Liberty National Monument

national park noun, pl ~ parks [count] : an area of land that is owned and protected by a national government because of its natural beauty or its importance to history or science • Yellowstone National Park

na·tion·hood /'neɪʃən,hud/ noun [noncount] : the state of being an independent nation • the early days of U.S. nationhood • The colonists showed a strong desire for nationhood.

na·tion·state /'neɪʃən'steɪt/ noun, pl -states [count] : a form of political organization in which a group of people who share the same history, traditions, or language live in a particular area under one government na·tion·wide /,neɪʃən'waɪd/ adj : including or involving all parts of a nation or country • The murders attracted nationwide attention.

— nationwide adv • The company has opened several stores nationwide.

1 na·tive /'neɪtɪv/ adj

1 always used before a noun a : born in a particular place • I'm a native New Yorker. [=I was born in New York] • people who are native to France b — used to refer to the place where a person was born and raised • He's a hero in his native country. • After 30 years, I am finally returning to my native land.

2 a always used before a noun : belonging to a person since birth or childhood • She speaks English, but it's not her native [=first] language/tongue. — see also NATIVE SPEAKER b : existing naturally as an ability, quality, etc., that someone has • She has a native ability to learn quickly. • his native wit

3 a : produced, living, or existing naturally in a particular region • native [=indigenous] birds and animals • The island is home to several native species of trees. — often + to • birds that are native to the continent b — used to refer to the place or type of place where a plant or animal normally or naturally lives • Increasing pollution is endangering the plant's native habitat.

4 always used before a noun : of or relating to a group of people who were living in an area (such as North America or Africa) when a new group of usually European people arrived • native societies • native art/traditions • native inhabitants/peoples go native : to start to behave or live like the local people • After a few weeks, she was comfortable enough to go native and wear shorts to work.

2 native noun, pl -tives [count]

1 : a person who was born or raised in a particular place • She's a native of France who moved to the United States when she was 15. • I'm a California native. • He wishes he could speak Spanish like a native.

2 : a person from a group of people who were living in an area (such as South America or Africa) when Europeans first arrived ♦ This sense of native was commonly used in the past but is now often considered offensive.

3 : a kind of plant or animal that originally grew or lived in a particular place • The plant is a native of Central and South America.

Native American noun, pl ~ -cans [count] : a member of any of the first groups of people living in North America or South America; especially : a member of one of these groups from the U.S.

usage Native American is the term that is now most often used for people whose ancestors lived in North and South America before the arrival of Europeans in 1492. The term American Indian is also often used, but it is offensive to some people. The term Indian by itself is also still used but is now often considered offensive and should usually be avoided.

— Native American adj • Native American tribes • their Native American ancestors • She's part Native American.

native speaker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person who learned to speak the language of the place where they were born as a child rather than learning it as a foreign language • She's a native speaker of Swahili. • That kind of mistake is rarely made by native speakers.

Na·tiv·i·ty /nə'tɪvəti/ noun

the Nativity : the birth of Jesus • a painting of the Nativity — Nativity or nativity adj, always used before a noun • the nativity stories in the Bible • a Nativity scene [=a picture or a set of statues representing the birth of Jesus]

natl. or nat'l abbr national

NATO /'neɪtəʊ/ abbr North Atlantic Treaty Organization ♦

NATO is an organization of countries that have agreed to provide military support to each other. It includes many European countries as well as the U.S. and Canada.

nat·ter /'nætə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] chiefly Brit : to talk about unimportant things for a long time • If you ask about his grandchildren, he'll natter on about them for hours. • She nattered about herself through our entire meal.

— natter noun [singular] Brit • We had a nice natter [=chat] on the phone.

nat·ty /'næti/ adj nat·ti·er; -est informal : very neat and clean • a soldier in his natty blue uniform • He's quite a natty dresser.

— nat·ti·ly /'nætəli/ adv • a nattily dressed man

1 nat·u·ral /'nætʃərəl/ adj

1 a : existing in nature and not made or caused by people : coming from nature • natural silk • furniture made of natural materials • The river forms a natural boundary between the two countries. • That's not his natural hair color. [=he dyes his hair] • a natural lake [=a lake that is not man-made] • She prefers to use natural light [=light from the sun] when taking photographs. • a country rich in natural resources [=a country that has many valuable plants, animals, minerals, etc.] • learning more about the natural world [=animals, plants, etc.] b : not having any extra substances or chemicals added : not containing anything artificial • natural soap/yogurt • natural foods like whole grain bread and fresh vegetables • Our bakery uses all-natural ingredients. [=ingredients that are from nature and not artificial]

2 : usual or expected : NORMAL • Gray hair is one of the natural consequences of getting older. • a natural increase in the population • the natural course of the disease • It's perfectly/only natural to feel nervous before a test. • He died of natural causes. [=he died because he was ill or old and not by being killed in an accident, battle, etc.] — see also NATURAL CHILDBIRTH

3 always used before a noun — used to describe a quality, ability, etc., that a person or animal is born with and does not have to learn • The science class will encourage his natural curiosity. • She has a natural talent for art. • He has a natural ability to make people feel comfortable. • She's a natural athlete/leader. [=she has natural abilities that make her a good athlete/leader]

4 ♦ To be/act/look natural is to be normal and relaxed in the way you behave and look. • I'm going to take your picture but don't pose—look natural. • Try to be/act natural.

5 always used before a noun a : related by blood • his natural mother [=the woman who gave birth to him] • She was adopted immediately after she was born and never knew her natural [=more commonly birth] parents. b old-fashioned : born to parents who are not married to each other : ILLEGITIMATE • a natural son/daughter

6 of a choice, decision, etc. : logical and reasonable • We considered our options, and this car was the natural choice. [=the choice that made the most sense] • He is the natural choice to succeed his father as company president. • They made the natural decision to keep trying.

7 always used before a noun, formal : based on a sense of what is right and wrong • natural justice/law

8 music : neither a sharp nor flat • B natural • F natural

— nat·u·ral·ness /'nætʃərəlnəs/ noun [noncount] • his naturalness as an actor • the naturalness of his acting

²natural noun, pl -rals [count]

1 a : someone who is good at doing something from the first time it is done : someone who has a natural ability to do something — usually singular • She loved rock climbing from the start. She's a natural. — often + at • He's a natural at (playing) the piano. • a natural at golf b : someone or something that is suited for a particular job, purpose, etc. — usually singular; usually + for • He is a natural for the job. • The bread's texture makes it a natural for eating with stew.

2 a : a musical note that is neither sharp nor flat b : a written symbol that is placed before a musical note to show that it is neither sharp nor flat natural-born adj, always used before a noun : able to do something well immediately or from the very first time • She's a natural-born artist/leader. [=she has natural abilities that make her a good artist/leader]

natural childbirth noun [noncount] : a method of giving birth to a baby in which the mother chooses not to use drugs to reduce pain or to make the birth happen more quickly natural disaster noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a sudden and terrible event in nature (such as a hurricane, tornado, or flood) that usually results in serious damage and many deaths natural gas noun [noncount] : gas that is taken from under the ground and used as fuel • a house heated by natural gas natural history noun [noncount] : the study of plants, animals, and sometimes ancient human civilizations • the natural history of bees • We went to the Natural History Museum.

nat·u·ral·ism /'nætʃərəlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a style of art or literature that shows people and things as they actually are

¹nat·u·ral·ist /'nætʃərəlist/ noun, pl -lists [count] : a person who studies plants and animals as they live in nature • a world-renowned naturalist

²naturalist adj : NATURALISTIC 2 • a naturalist painting/painter

nat·u·ral·is·tic /,nætʃərə'lɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : looking like what appears in nature : not looking artificial or man-made • The zoo strives to create naturalistic settings for the animals.

2 : using naturalism in art or literature : showing people or things as they really are • naturalistic writing/paintings

nat·u·ral·ize also Brit nat·u·ral·ise /'nætʃərəlaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing

1 [+ obj] : to allow (someone who was born in a different country) to become a new citizen • The government refused to naturalize them without documentation. • naturalized citizens of the U.S.

2 : to cause (a plant or animal from another place) to begin to grow and live in a new area [+ obj] Several Asian fish have become naturalized in these lakes. • Before you naturalize bulbs in your lawn, fertilize well. [no obj] These daisies naturalize well in the Pacific Northwest.

— nat·u·ral·i·za·tion also Brit nat·u·ral·i·sa·tion /,nætʃərələ'zeɪʃən, Brit ,nætʃərə,lai'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • immigrants seeking naturalization • the naturalization of new plants in the river basin

nat·u·ral·ly /'nætʃərəli/ adv

1 — used to describe something that happens or exists by itself without being controlled or changed by someone • Her hair curls naturally. • a naturally sweet tea • A number of important vitamins are found naturally in dark green vegetables like spinach. • Pearls are produced naturally by oysters. • He is naturally blond. • Their friendship developed naturally over time.

2 — used to say that something is expected or normal • Naturally, some mistakes were made. • When he heard the comment, he was naturally [=of course] a little offended. • Naturally you'll want rooms for the night. • "Did you visit her while you were there?" "Naturally." [=of course; yes]

3 : because of a quality or skill that a person or animal is born with • She's naturally competitive. • He's naturally able to make people feel comfortable. • Cats are said to be naturally curious.

4 : in a way that is relaxed and normal • It's hard to speak/act naturally when you're nervous.

5 : in a way that makes sense : in a logical and reasonable way • Her conclusions follow naturally from the theory. • Questions about the journalist's sources arise naturally from such a controversial report. • When I saw that there were no lights on in the house, I naturally assumed you were asleep.

come naturally ♦ If something comes naturally to you, you are able to do or learn it easily. • Musical talent comes naturally to that family. • Memorizing important dates in history came naturally to him [=was easy for him] in school.

natural science noun, pl ~ -ences : a science (such as physics, chemistry, or biology) that studies the physical and natural world or the events that happen in nature [count] He is interested in the natural sciences. [noncount] a new approach to natural science natural selection noun [noncount] : the process by which plants and animals that can adapt to changes in their environment are able to survive and reproduce while those that cannot adapt do not survive natural wastage noun [noncount] Brit : ATTRITION 1

na·ture /'neɪtʃə/ noun, pl -tures

1 also Nature [noncount] a : the physical world and everything in it (such as plants, animals, mountains, oceans, stars, etc.) that is not made by people • the beauty of nature • She is a real nature lover. = She really loves nature. [=she loves to spend time outdoors] • He devoted himself to the study of nature. • That is a color not found in nature. • nature photography • nature conservation b : the natural forces that control what happens in the world • the forces of nature • Hunger is nature's way of telling you to eat. • Gravity is one of the basic laws of nature. — see also CALL OF NATURE, FREAK OF NATURE, MOTHER NATURE

2 : the way that a person or animal behaves : the character or personality of a person or animal [count] She has a competitive nature. [=she is competitive] • The differences in their natures was easy to see. • an animal with a gentle nature [=a gentle animal] [noncount] The children took advantage of the teacher's good nature. [=the teacher's kindness] • She's very competitive by nature. — see also GOOD-NATURED, HUMAN NATURE, ILL-NATURED, SECOND NATURE

3 : a basic quality that something has [count] — usually singular; often + of • the nature of steel • What is the true nature of democracy? • Because of the fragile nature of the manuscripts [=because the manuscripts are fragile], the museum keeps them behind glass. [noncount] Her writing is humorous in nature. [=her writing has humorous qualities]

4 [singular] : a particular kind of thing • What is the nature of your problem? [=what kind of problem do you have?] • papers of a confidential nature [=papers that are confidential] • His medical condition is not of a serious nature. [=is not serious] • You'll need to bring a toothbrush, soap, and things of that nature. [=other similar things] get/go back to nature also return to nature : to spend time living in a simple way without modern machines, electricity, etc. • They went on a camping trip to get back to nature.

let nature take its course : to allow something to happen without trying to control it • The injury should heal within a few weeks if you just let nature take its course.

nature reserve noun, pl ~ -serves [count] : an area where animals and plants are protected and that has few buildings or homes — called also (US) nature preserve

nature trail noun, pl ~ trails [count] : a path through a forest, field, mountain range, etc., that is used for hiking and seeing plants and animals

na·tur·ism /'neɪtʃə,rɪzəm/ noun [noncount] Brit : NUDISM

na·tur·ist /'neɪtʃərɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] Brit : NUDIST

na·tu·rop·a·thy /,neɪtʃə'rɑ:pəθi/ noun [noncount] : the treatment of illness by using diet, herbs, exercises, etc., without using standard drugs or surgery

— na·tu·ro·path /'neɪtʃərə,pæθ/ noun, pl -paths [count] • She has been trained as a naturopath. — na·tu·ro·path·ic /,neɪtʃərə'pæθɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a naturopathic treatment naught (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit nought /'na:t/ pronoun, old-fashioned : 'NOTHING • All our efforts came to naught. = (US) All our efforts went for naught. [=we did not succeed in doing what we were trying to do] • (chiefly US) It was all for naught. [=it was all for nothing]

naugh·ty /'na:ti/ adj naugh·ti·er; -est

1 : behaving badly — used especially to describe a child who does not behave properly or obey a parent, teacher, etc. • a naughty [=bad] boy/girl • Were you naughty today at school or did you obey the teacher? — sometimes used humorously to describe an adult who does something slightly wrong or improper • I was naughty and cheated on my diet.

2 informal : relating to or suggesting sex in usually a playful way • She gave him a naughty smile. • No naughty [=dirty]

jokes in front of the children, please! • a naughty outfit
– naugh-ti-ly /'nɑ:təli/ adv • She smiled naughtily.
– naugh-ti-ness /'nɑ:tɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • Oh, you'll be punished for your naughtiness!

nau-sea /'nɑ:ziə/ noun [noncount] : the feeling you have in your stomach when you think you are going to vomit • Some people experience nausea when flying. • A feeling/wave of nausea suddenly came over me.

nau-se-ate /'nɑ:zi,et/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj]
1 : to cause (someone) to feel like vomiting • The smell of gasoline nauseates me.
2 : to cause (someone) to feel disgusted • It nauseated him to see the way the animals were treated.
– nauseated adj • He was feeling weak and nauseated.

nauseating adj [more ~; most ~]
1 : causing you to feel like you are going to vomit • the nauseating smell of rotting garbage
2 : causing disgust • The way the animals were treated was nauseating. • It was nauseating to see the two of them act like lovesick teenagers.
– nau-se-at-ing-ly adv • His letter to her was nauseatingly sweet.

nau-seous /'nɑ:fəs, 'nɑ:ziəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]
1 : feeling like you are about to vomit • The smell of gasoline makes me nauseous. • I began to feel nauseous.
2 : causing you to feel like you are going to vomit • the nauseous [(more commonly) nauseating] smell of rotting garbage
3 : causing disgust • the nauseous [(more commonly) nauseating] spectacle of politicians blaming each other

nau-ti-cal /'nɑ:tɪkəl/ adj : relating to ships and sailing • a dictionary of nautical terms • nautical charts nautical mile noun, pl ~ miles [count] : a unit of distance equal to 1,852 meters or 1.15 miles that is used for sea and air travel

Na-va-jo /'nævə,hou/ noun, pl Navajo or Na-va-jos
1 [count] : a member of a Native American people originally from New Mexico and Arizona
2 [noncount] : the language of the Navajo people na-val /'nervəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to a country's navy • naval base/history/officer nave /'nerv/ noun, pl naves [count] : the long center part of a church where people sit na-vel /'nervəl/ noun, pl -vels [count] : the small, hollow or raised area in the middle of your stomach — called also belly button; see picture at HUMAN navel-gaz-ing /'nervəl'geɪzɪŋ/ noun [noncount] somewhat humorous : the activity of thinking too much or too deeply about yourself, your experiences, your feelings, etc. • I think she's a good writer, but her essays are full of navel-gazing.

navel orange noun, pl ~ -anges [count] : a kind of orange that does not have seeds

nav-i-ga-ble /'nævɪgəbəl/ adj : deep and wide enough for boats and ships to travel on or through : capable of being navigated • a navigable river • The marsh was navigable only by canoe. — sometimes used figuratively • This Web site is well-organized and easily navigable. [=it is easy to get from one Web page to another within that Web site] • The legal system is not easily navigable. [=it is difficult to understand the legal system]
– nav-i-ga-bil-i-ty /,nævɪgə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • We are unsure about the navigability of the river.

nav-i-gate /'nævə,geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing
1 : to find the way to get to a place when you are traveling in a ship, airplane, car, etc. [no obj] For thousands of years, sailors navigated by the stars. • How about if you drive and I navigate? [+ obj] I'd need a map to navigate the city. — often used figuratively • We have had to carefully navigate (our way) through a maze of rules and regulations.
2 a : to sail on, over, or through an area of water [+ obj] Only flat-bottomed boats can safely navigate the canal. [no obj] He has learned to navigate in rough waters. b : to travel on, over, or through (an area or place) [+ obj] The downtown area is easily navigated on foot. • She has trouble navigating the stairs with her crutches. [no obj] It took us 10 minutes to navigate through the parking lot to the exit.
3 [+ obj] : to control the direction of (something, such as a ship or airplane) : STEER • The captain navigated the ship. • He has had experience navigating airplanes through storms. — often used figuratively • She has carefully navigated the company through some difficult times.
4 computers : to go to different places on the Internet or on a particular Web site in order to find what you want [+ obj] You navigate this site by clicking on the pictures. • There are a number of browsers that can be used to navigate the Web/Internet. [no obj] A fast connection makes it easier to navigate on the Internet.

nav-i-ga-tion /,nævə'geɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act, activity, or process of finding the way to get to a place when you are traveling in a ship, airplane, car, etc. • If you're going to be a good sailor/pilot, you need to master navigation. • navigation by satellite • I don't mind driving if you're willing to do the navigation. • Our new car has an on-board navigation system.

2 : the act of moving in a boat or ship over an area of water • Navigation becomes more difficult further upriver.

3 computers : the act of going to different places on the Internet or on a particular Web site in order to find what you want • There are back and forward buttons for easier browser navigation.

– nav-i-ga-tion-al /,nævə'geɪʃənəl/ adj, always used before a noun • The car is equipped with a navigational system.

nav-i-ga-tor /'nævə,geɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who finds out how to get to a place : a person who navigates a ship, an airplane, etc. • The crew includes a copilot and a navigator. • Would you be willing to act as navigator while I drive?

2 : a device (such as a computer) that is used to plan or find the route to a place • The ship is equipped with a satellite navigator.

nav-vy /'nævi/ noun, pl -vies [count] Brit : a worker who does very hard physical labor

na-vy /'nervi/ noun, pl -vies

1 [count] : the part of a country's military forces that fights at sea using ships, submarines, airplanes, etc. • A similar submarine is used by several foreign navies. • a career in the navy — usually capitalized when a specific navy is being referred to • the Russian Navy • He plans to join the Navy.

2 [noncount] : NAVY BLUE • The shirt comes in black, white, and navy. • a navy sweater

navy bean noun, pl ~ beans [count] US : a type of white bean — called also (Brit) haricot bean

navy blue noun [noncount] : a very dark blue • I ordered the same jacket in navy blue. — called also navy; see color picture on page C2

– navy blue adj • a navy blue dress

1 nay /'nei/ adv

1 old-fashioned + literary — used to correct what you have said by replacing a word with one that is more accurate or appropriate • The letter made her happy—nay, ecstatic. [=it did not just make her happy, it made her ecstatic]

2 old-fashioned : 1 NO • Nay, I do not wish to go. • I dare not say him nay. [=I dare not say no to him]

2 nay noun, pl nays [count] formal : a no vote • We have 6 nays [=6 votes of “no”] and 12 yeas, so the measure passes. — compare 2 AYE, 2 YEA nay-say-er /'nei,seɪə/ noun, pl -ers [count] formal : a person who says something will not work or is not possible : a person who denies, refuses, or opposes something • There are always naysayers who say it can't be done.

Na-zi /'nɑ:tsi/ noun, pl -zis [count]

1 : a member of a German political party that controlled Germany from 1933 to 1945 under Adolf Hitler

2 disapproving : an evil person who wants to use power to control and harm other people especially because of their race, religion, etc. • a gang of racist Nazis — see also NEO-NAZI

– Nazi adj • Nazi ideology — Na-zism /'nɑ:t,sɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

NB also N.B. abbr please note — used in writing to tell the reader that something is important • NB: applications will not be accepted after May 5. ♠ The abbreviation NB comes from the Latin phrase “nota bene,” which means “mark well.”

NBA abbr, US National Basketball Association ♠ The NBA is the major professional basketball league in the U.S.

NBC abbr, US National Broadcasting Company ♠ NBC is one of the major television networks in the U.S.

NC abbr North Carolina

NCAA abbr, US National Collegiate Athletic Association ♠ The NCAA is an organization that organizes athletic activities for many U.S. colleges and universities.

NCO /,ɛn,si:'ou/ noun, pl NCOs [count] : NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICER

NC-17 /'en'siː,sevən'ti:n/ — used as a special mark to indicate that no one who is 17 years old or younger may see a particular movie in a movie theater • The movie is rated NC-17. — compare G, PG, PG-13, R, X

ND abbr North Dakota

-nd — used in writing after the number 2 for the word second • He's in 2nd [=second] grade. • She came in 42nd in the race.

NE abbr 1 Nebraska 2 New England 3 northeast

Ne-an-der-thal /ni'ændə,tɑ:l/ noun, pl -thals [count]

1 : a type of early human being that existed very long ago in Europe — called also Neanderthal man

2 informal + disapproving a : a man who is stupid and rude • I can't believe I was married to that Neanderthal for three years. b : a person who has very old-fashioned ideas and who does not like change • Some Neanderthals continue to resist the education reform bill.

Ne-a-pol-i-tan ice cream /niːjə'pɑ:lətən/ noun [non-count] : ice cream with three different flavors (such as strawberry, vanilla, and chocolate) that are arranged in layers

¹near /'niə/ adv near-er; -est

1 : close to someone or something in distance • I hope that dog doesn't come any nearer (to me). • Be sure to have a fire extinguisher near at hand. [=close enough to reach easily] — often used figuratively • We're getting nearer to the truth. • We came very near to canceling the trip. [=we almost canceled the trip] • Her new book is good, but it doesn't even come near to her first book. [=it is not nearly as good as her first book]

2 : not far away in time • The end of the long winter is near. [=it will happen soon] • He became more nervous as the day of the wedding drew near. [=approached; got closer]

3 : almost or nearly • The plant was near dead when I got it. • a near perfect score • The job is (damn/damned/darn) near impossible. — see also nowhere near at ¹NOWHERE

as near as damn it or as near as dammit Brit, informal — used to say that something is so close to being correct or true that it can be regarded as correct or true • The hotel room will cost 300 pounds, as near as damn it. • She's the best player in the world or as near as dammit.

(as) near as I can tell/figure US, informal : based on what I know • As near as I can tell, we'll arrive by six o'clock.

from far and near, from near and far see ¹FAR

²near prep : close to (something or someone) • I left the box near the door. • The cat won't go near fire. • She stood near me. • There are several beaches near here. • She came home near midnight. • We feared he was near death.

³near adj nearer; -est

1 : located a short distance away : CLOSE • The nearest grocery store is three blocks away. • The airport is quite near. [=nearby]

2 : not far away in time • Summer is getting nearer. • I hope to visit in the near future. [=I hope to visit soon]

3 always used before a noun a — used to refer to the side, end, etc., that is closer • There is a fishing camp on the far side of the lake, but nothing on the near side. b Brit, of a car : LEFT-HAND • The near side headlight is out. — compare OFF; see also NEARSIDE

4 always used before a noun : almost happening • The ceremony was a near disaster. [=was nearly a disaster] • After a near win [=after nearly winning] in the first competition, he is ready to try again. • (Brit) Our team won the match, but it was a very near thing. [=we almost lost the match] — see also NEAR MISS

5 always used before a noun a : close to being something • Her victory is a near certainty. [=it is nearly certain that she will win] • a near miracle • celebrities and near celebrities [=people who are almost celebrities] b nearest : most similar • The lake was the nearest thing to an ocean [=the thing most like an ocean] that she had ever seen.

6 : coming after someone or something : in the position or rank after someone or something • He finished the race ahead of his nearest rival by only a few feet.

7 always used before a noun : closely related • These two kinds of plants are near relatives. • Only near relations [=sisters, brothers, parents, etc.] were invited to the wedding.

near and dear : very close in relationship • friends who are near and dear • my nearest and dearest friend

too near for comfort see ¹COMFORT

to the nearest — used to indicate the number of pounds, dollars, etc., that is closest to a slightly higher or lower number or amount • What is the weight of your baggage to the nearest pound? • $13.75 rounded up to the nearest dollar is $14.

— near-ness noun [noncount] • He missed her nearness. [=closeness] • the nearness of the storm

⁴near verb near; neared; near-ing : to come closer in space or time to someone or something : APPROACH [no obj] As the date of the performance neared, we grew more and more anxious. • He always cheers up when baseball season *near*s. [+obj] The airplane began to descend as it neared the island. • He must be nearing 80 years of age. • The negotiators were nearing a decision. • The project is nearing completion. [=is almost finished] near-by /niə'baɪ/ adj : not far away : located at a short distance from someone or something • a nearby village/river • I spoke with a nearby policeman about the accident. • He works at the nearby university.

— nearby adv • They live nearby. • The children played nearby at the park.

near-death experience noun, pl ~ -ences [count] : an occurrence in which a person comes very close to dying and has memories of a spiritual experience (such as meeting dead friends and family members or seeing a white light) during the time when death was near

Near East noun

the Near East : MIDDLE EAST

near-ly /'niəli/ adv : not completely : almost but not quite •

I see her nearly every day. • We very nearly missed the plane. [=we came very close to missing the plane] • I nearly won. • I am nearly finished. • We lived there for nearly two years. • Nearly 100 people attended. • Nearly all of us got sick that weekend.

not nearly : much less than : not at all • There's not nearly enough flour for a cake here. • It's not nearly as late as I thought it was.

near miss noun, pl ~ miss-es [count]

1 : an attempt that is almost successful • After years of near misses, the team has finally won a championship.

2 : an accident that is just barely avoided • There have been two near misses [=close calls] at that airport recently.

3 : a bomb that misses its target but still causes damage near-side /'niəsaɪd/ adj, Brit : on the left side : LEFT-HAND

• The car's nearside headlight is out. • the nearside lane

the nearside : the left-hand side • The car was hit on the nearside. — compare OFFSIDE

near-sight-ed /'niəsartəd/ adj, chiefly US : unable to see things that are far away : able to see things that are close more clearly than things that are far away • He needs glasses because he's nearsighted. [= (chiefly Brit) shortsighted] — compare FARSIGHTED

— near-sight-ed-ness /'niəsartədɪnəs/ noun [noncount]

neat /'ni:t/ adj neat-er; -est

1 : not messy : clean and orderly • He keeps his apartment neat and clean. • neat handwriting • The store is always busy but they manage to keep the shelves stocked and neat. • a nice neat pile of magazines • Try to be a little neater [=try not to make such a mess] the next time you bake cookies. • Fold the paper to make a neat edge.

2 : liking to keep things very clean and orderly • His two roommates are both pretty neat people. [=they both like to have things cleaned up and put away] • a neat man who always wore a suit

3 a : simple and clever • a neat trick • He's got a neat way of memorizing information. • There is, unfortunately, no neat solution to the problem. b US, informal : pleasant, fun, or interesting • I think it's a neat idea [=a good idea] to invite the new neighbors to the cookout. • She's a neat person who has traveled a lot.

4 of alcoholic drinks : not mixed with anything : made without ice or water added • I like my bourbon/whiskey neat. [= (US) straight]

— neat-ly adv • The books were stacked neatly in the corner. • neatly arranged plates • The children were dressed neatly for the ceremony. — neat-ness noun [noncount] • I was amazed by the neatness of the room.

neat-en /'ni:tn/ verb -ens; -ened; -en-ing : to make (something) orderly or neat : to clean up (something) [+obj] I am trying to neaten my desk. — often + up • I didn't have a chance to neaten up the house before the guests arrived. [no obj] — + up • Neaten up before you leave.

neat freak noun, pl ~ freaks [count] US, informal : a person who always wants things to be very orderly and clean • My first college roommate was a real neat freak.

'neath /'ni:θ/ prep, literary : BENEATH • We slumbered 'neath the starry sky.

neb·u·la /'nɛbjələ/ noun, pl -lae /-li:/ also -las [count] astronomy

1 : a cloud of gas or dust in space that can sometimes be seen at night

2 : a group of stars that are very far away and look like a bright cloud at night

— neb·u·lar /'nɛbjələ/ adj • nebular gases

neb·u·lous /'nɛbjələs/ adj, formal : not clear : difficult to see, understand, describe, etc. • These philosophical concepts can be nebulous. • She gave a nebulous [=vague] answer to the question.

nec·es·sar·i·ly /,nɛsə'serəli/ adv, formal — used to say that something is necessary and cannot be changed or avoided • This endeavor necessarily involves some risk.

not necessarily : possibly but not certainly — used to say that something is not definitely true • Seats in the front row are not necessarily the best. • "We're going to lose this game." "Not necessarily." [=maybe not]

¹nec·es·sary /'nɛsə,seri, Brit 'nɛsəri/ adj

¹ [more ~; most ~] : so important that you must do it or have it : absolutely needed • Is it really/absolutely necessary for me to have surgery? • The threat of a thunderstorm made it necessary to cancel the picnic. • It's not necessary to wear a tie. • Food is necessary for life. • We had all the necessary ingredients. • Apply another coat of paint if necessary. [=if it is needed] • Take as much time as necessary. [=as much time as you need] • She took the medicine only when absolutely necessary. • a medically necessary procedure

² always used before a noun, formal : unable to be changed or avoided • Higher prices are a necessary consequence of the company's new services. • There is no necessary connection between what is legal and what is moral. [=what is legal does not always have to be moral and what is moral does not always have to be legal]

necessary evil see ²EVIL

²necessary noun, pl -sar·ies

1 necessaries [plural] : things (such as food, a place to live, and clothing) that you must have : necessary things • We need the necessaries [(more commonly) necessities] of life (to survive).

2 the necessary Brit, informal : whatever is needed for some purpose • I'll do the necessary [=do whatever is necessary] to get the job done.

ne·ces·si·tate /ni'sɛsə,teɪt/ verb -tates; -tat·ed; -tat·ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) necessary • New safety regulations necessitated adding a railing to the stairs.

ne·ces·si·ty /ni'sɛsəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] : something that you must have or do : something that is necessary • Sunscreen is an absolute necessity for the beach. • food, clothes, and other basic necessities • Getting plenty of rest is a necessity. • Without a car, living close to work is a necessity. • All we took with us on our hiking trip were the bare necessities. • Many families cannot even afford the basic/bare necessities of life. [=things that a person must have in order to survive]

2 [noncount] formal : the quality of being necessary — usually + of or for • She talked about the necessity of having the right training. [=she said that having the right training is necessary] • He questioned the necessity for the change. [=he questioned whether the change was necessary]

by necessity or out of necessity : because of conditions that cannot be changed • The process is by necessity a slow one. [=the process is necessarily slow; the slowness of the process cannot be avoided] • He works two jobs out of necessity. [=because it is necessary]

make a virtue (out) of necessity see VIRTUE necessity is the mother of invention see ¹MOTHER

of necessity formal — used to say that something must happen or must be the way it is • Further changes to the company will occur of necessity.

¹neck /'nek/ noun, pl necks [count]

¹ : the part of the body between the head and the shoulders • She craned/stretched her neck to see what was going on. • A giraffe is an animal with a very long neck. • He broke his neck in the accident. • Stop jumping on the bed. You're going to break your neck [=you're going to hurt yourself] — see picture at HUMAN

2 : the part of a piece of clothing that fits around your neck • He likes T-shirts with round necks. — see also CREW NECK, POLO NECK, SCOOP NECK, TURTLENECK, V-NECK

3 : a long and narrow part of something : a part that is shaped like a neck • He grabbed the neck of the bottle. • a neck of land [=a narrow stretch of land] • a guitar's neck • breathe down someone's neck see BREATHE

dead from the neck up see ¹DEAD

get it in the neck Brit, informal : to be severely punished or criticized • He really got it in the neck for not finishing the job on time.

neck and neck : extremely close together in a race or contest • The two candidates for president were neck and neck in the election. • The two horses were running neck and neck to the finish line.

neck of the woods informal : the place or area where someone lives • He's from my neck of the woods. [=he's from the area where I live] • How is the weather in your neck of the woods?

risk your neck : to do something that puts you in danger of serious injury or death • I would never risk my neck on a sport like skydiving. • News reporters often risk their necks by working in war zones.

save someone's neck see ¹SAVE

stick your neck out : to do or say something you think is important even though it may have bad results • He's not afraid to stick his neck out to help people he thinks are being mistreated. • I respect my boss because she will stick her neck out against unfair policies.

up to your neck in : deeply involved in or affected by (something) • She's up to her neck in work. [=she's very busy] • He's up to his neck in debt.

wring someone's neck see WRING

²neck verb necks; necked; neck·ing [no obj] old-fashioned + informal : to kiss for a long time in a sexual way • The young lovers necked on the park bench. • They were necking in the corner of the room.

neck-deep adj

1 : reaching as high as your neck • She stood in neck-deep water.

2 : standing in something that reaches to your neck — usually + in • She was neck-deep in water. — often used figuratively • We were neck-deep in work. [=we were very busy]

— neck-deep adv • She stood neck-deep in the water.

necked /'nekt/ adj : having a neck of a specified kind — used in combination with another adjective • a round-necked T-shirt • a long-necked bottle neck·er·chief /'nekə'tʃɪf/ noun, pl -chiefs also -chieves /-tʃɪfs/ [count] : a square piece of cloth that is worn folded around your neck

neck·lace /'nekləs/ noun, pl -lac·es [count] : a piece of jewelry that is worn around your neck • a gold/diamond/pearl necklace — see color picture on page C11

neck·line /'nek,laɪn/ noun, pl -lines [count] : the shape of the opening of a piece of woman's clothing around the neck • The dress has a square/round neckline. • a low/plunging neckline [=a neckline that leaves the top part of your chest uncovered]

neck·tie /'nek,taɪ/ noun, pl -ties [count] US : a long piece of cloth that is worn by men around the neck and under a collar and that is tied in front with a knot at the top — called also tie; see color picture on page C14; compare BOLO TIE, BOW TIE, CRAVAT

nec·ro·man·cy /'nekrə,mænsi/ noun [noncount] literary

1 : the practice of talking to the spirits of dead people

2 : the use of magic powers especially for evil purposes • The town accused her of witchcraft and necromancy.

— nec·ro·man·cer /'nekrə,mænsə/ noun, pl -cers [count] literary nec·ro·phil·ia /'nekrə'fɪliə/ noun [noncount] : sexual feelings or activities that involve dead bodies

— nec·ro·phil·i·ac /'nekrə'fɪli,æk/ noun, pl -acs [count]

ne·crop·o·lis /nə'kra:pələs/ noun, pl -lis·es [count] formal : a large cemetery especially of an ancient city • Archaeologists uncovered a necropolis of ancient Rome.

nec·tar /'nektə/ noun [noncount]

1 literary : the drink that the Greek and Roman gods drank

2 : a thick juice made from a particular fruit • apricot/mango nectar

3 : a sweet liquid produced by plants and used by bees in making honey nec·tar·ine /'nektə'ri:n, Brit 'nektə,ri:n/ noun, pl -ines [count] : a sweet fruit that is like a peach but that has smooth skin née or nee /'neɪ/ adj — used after a married woman's name to identify the family name that she had when she was born • Mrs. Jane Doe, née Smith

1 need /'ni:d/ verb needs; need-ed; need-ing

1 [+ obj] : to be in a condition or situation in which you must have (something) : to require (something) • Do you need help? • I need some advice. What do you think of this dress? • I just need a couple of minutes to get ready. • Most babies need at least 12 hours of sleep a day. • We badly need a vacation. • a badly needed vacation = a much-needed vacation • Further research is urgently needed if we are to find a cure. • Another delay is the last thing I need! • Men? Who needs them? I certainly don't. — often used of things • This plant needs lots of sunlight. • The soup needs some salt. [=this soup does not have enough salt] • They're buying a house that needs a lot of work. [=that is in poor condition] • This problem needs your attention. [=you should give your attention to this problem]

2 [+ obj] a — used to say that some action is necessary • I've got a lot of laundry that needs washing. — usually followed by to + verb • I've got a lot of laundry that needs to be washed. • We need to hurry or we'll miss the bus. • A lot of work needs to be done to the house. • You don't need to [=have to] answer that if you don't want to. • "Should we lock the car doors?" "No, I don't think we need to." b — used to say that it is important and necessary for someone to do something; followed by to + verb • I need you to tell me the truth. [=you have to tell me the truth] • We need you to be well-rested for the game tomorrow. • We need you to answer a few questions.

3 [modal verb] — used to say that something is necessary • All you need do is ask. [=all you need to do is ask] • You need only look at her [=it is only necessary for you to look at her] to understand why I fell in love. — usually used in negative statements and in questions for which the answer is assumed by the speaker to be "no" • You needn't leave if you don't want to. [=you don't have to leave if you don't want to] • You need not answer these questions. [=you don't have to answer these questions] • I told him he needn't worry. • Nothing bad happened. You need not have worried. • Need I point out that your father disagrees? ♦ The modal verb need is used especially in British English. In U.S. English, it is commonly used in phrases like need not apply and need I say more. • High school dropouts need not apply. [=they should not apply because they will not get the job] • The movie was a complete waste of time. Need I say more? [=that is all I need to say]

need no introduction see INTRODUCTION

2 need noun, pl needs

1 : a situation in which someone or something must do or have something [noncount] You can always call me at home if the need arises. • These new methods reduce the need to use harmful chemicals on crops. [singular] We find that there is still a need for further discussion. • There is a great/desperate/pressing need for change. — see also a crying need at CRYING

2 [count] : something that a person must have • Our experienced staff will go out of their way to meet/satisfy/fulfill your every need. : something that is needed in order to live or succeed or be happy — usually plural • She struggles to meet the daily needs of her children. • the basic needs of every human being • This ought to be enough money to cover/meet your immediate needs. • economic/financial needs • The house is large enough for the family's needs. — see also SPECIAL NEEDS

3 [count] : a strong feeling that you must have or do something • He has trouble expressing his emotional needs. • I felt a need to take control of the situation. • a need to be loved • She has an overwhelming need to be liked and respected. • I don't feel the need to defend my decision. • drivers who feel the need for speed [=who want to drive fast]

4 [noncount] : a situation in which people do not have things that they need • They helped us in our hour of need. [=when we most needed help] • We can always count on them to help us in times of need. [=when we need help] • a charity that raises money for women and children in need [=who are poor] — see also a friend in need is a friend indeed at FRIEND

if need be : if something becomes necessary • You can always call me at home if need be. • We'll leave without them if need be. [=if we have to]

in need of — used to say that someone or something needs to have something • The program is in desperate/dire/urgent need of financial support. • More important things were in need of her attention. • The trucks are in constant need of repair.

no need — used to say that something is not necessary • "I'll get someone to help you." "No need. I can do it myself." — often followed by to + verb • There's no need to get excited. • There's no need to apologize. • There's no need to shout. I can hear you. — often + for • There's no need for him to apologize. • There's no need for you to shout. = There's no need for shouting. • There's no need for that kind of behavior. • The doctor says that there's no need for surgery.

need-ful /'ni:dfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 formal + somewhat old-fashioned : needed or necessary • What's most needful now is patience.

2 chiefly US : in a state of needing something : NEEDY • needful children — sometimes + of • They are needful of protection. [=they need protection]

— need-ful-ness noun [noncount]

1 nee-dle /'ni:d/ noun, pl nee-dles [count]

1 a : a small, very thin object that is used in sewing and that has a sharp point at one end and a hole for thread • I need a needle and thread to sew the button on your shirt. — see picture at SEWING b : one of the two long, thin sticks that are used in knitting and that are pointed at one end c : a very thin, pointed steel tube that is pushed through the skin so that something (such as a drug) can be put into your body or so that blood or other fluids can be taken from it • a hypodermic needle d : a very thin tube used with a pump to put air into a ball (such as a basketball or football)

2 : a long, thin object that moves to point to something (such as a measurement or direction) • The needle on the scale points to 9 grams. • The compass needle points north.

3 : a leaf that is shaped like a very thin stick • pine needles — see color picture on page C6

4 : a very small piece of metal that touches a record and produces sound when the record is played • the needle of a record player

a needle in a haystack informal : someone or something that is very hard to find • Searching for your earring at the park will be like looking for a needle in a haystack. • Bumping into an old friend in New York City is like finding a needle in a haystack.

— see also PINS AND NEEDLES

— nee-dle-like /'ni:dl,laɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

2 needle verb needles; nee-dled; nee-dling [+ obj] informal : to criticize and laugh at (someone) in either a friendly or an unkind way : TEASE • His classmates needled him about his new haircut.

nee-dle-point /'ni:dl,point/ noun [noncount]

1 : designs made by covering a piece of cloth with small stitches • She sold her needlepoint at the arts and crafts fair.

2 : the activity or art of making needlepoint • Her hobbies include knitting and needlepoint.

— needlepoint adj, always used before a noun • needlepoint pillows/classes need-less /'ni:dləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not needed or necessary — used to describe something bad that did not have to happen • needless [=unnecessary] waste • needless human suffering • a needless death

needless to say — used to say that the statement you are making is obvious • The two candidates were equally popular. Needless to say [=of course, obviously], the election was very close.

— need-less-ly adv • needlessly [=unnecessarily] complicated instructions — need-less-ness noun [noncount] • the needlessness of his death

nee-dle-work /'ni:dl,wə:k/ noun [noncount]

1 : things that are made by hand with a needle and thread • She showed us a sample of her needlework.

2 : the activity or art of making needlework • She still enjoys doing needlework.

needn't /'ni:dnt/ — used as a contraction of need not • You needn't worry about me. I'll be fine.

needy /'ni:di/ adj need-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : not having enough money, food, etc., to live properly : POOR • needy families

2 : needing a lot of attention, affection, or emotional support • As a child, she was extremely needy and had no self-confidence. • emotionally needy adults the needy : poor people • Our church collected food for the needy.

— need-i-ness noun [noncount] • emotional neediness

ne'er /'neə/ adv, literary : NEVER ne'er-do-well /'neədu,wel/ noun, pl -wells [count] old-fashioned : a lazy and worthless person • a ne'er-do-well who hangs out at bars [=a person who goes to bars instead of working hard] — ne'er-do-well adj. She was abandoned by her ne'er-do-well [=good-for-nothing] father.

ne·far·i·ous /ni'ferijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : evil or immoral • nefarious criminal activities • a nefarious scheme to cheat people out of their money

neg. abbr negative

ne·gate /ni'geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to cause (something) to not be effective • Alcohol negates the effects of the medicine. [=alcohol prevents the medicine from working] • The fact that she lied about her work experience negated the contract.

2 grammar : to make (a word or phrase) negative • a verb that is negated by "not"

— ne·ga·tion /ni'geɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal [count] — usually singular • The jury's verdict was a negation of justice. [=the jury's verdict was unjust] [noncount] actions done in negation of the rules

¹neg·a·tive /'negətɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : harmful or bad : not wanted • Car exhaust has a negative effect/impact on the environment. • the negative effects of the drug • We had a very negative [=unpleasant] experience at the restaurant. — opposite POSITIVE

2 [more ~; most ~] : thinking about the bad qualities of someone or something : thinking that a bad result will happen : not hopeful or optimistic • She has a negative attitude about the new plan. [=she only thinks about the things that can go wrong with the new plan] • Why do you have such a negative outlook on the merger? [=why do you think the merger won't work?] • "I know we're going to lose." "Don't be so negative." [=pessimistic] — opposite POSITIVE

3 a : expressing dislike or disapproval • The reviews were mostly negative. [=unfavorable] • The feedback about the new product was all negative. • There are no negative feelings between us. [=we do not dislike each other] — opposite POSITIVE b : showing or talking about the bad qualities of someone or something • The senator is running a negative campaign. [=a campaign that criticizes the other candidate instead of saying what good things the senator wants to do] • negative advertising [=advertising that criticizes competitors]

4 [more ~; most ~] : expressing denial or refusal • a negative reply/answer [=a reply of "no"] • negative words like "no" and "not" • "I didn't hear anything" is a negative phrase/construction/statement. — opposite AFFIRMATIVE

5 a mathematics : less than zero • My checking account has a negative balance. • -2 is a negative number. — opposite POSITIVE b : less than the amount of money spent or invested • We got a negative return on the investment. [=we lost money on the investment] — opposite POSITIVE

6 technical a : containing or producing electricity that is charged by an electron • a negative charge/current — opposite POSITIVE b : having more electrons than protons • a negative particle — opposite POSITIVE

7 : not showing the presence of a particular germ, condition, or substance • a negative HIV test • Her pregnancy test was negative. [=her test showed that she was not pregnant] — opposite POSITIVE

— neg·a·tive·ly adv • a negatively charged particle • The patient reacted negatively to the new drug. [=the patient had harmful side effects from the drug] • Customers responded negatively to the new product. [=customers did not like the new product]

²negative noun, pl -tives [count]

1 : something that is harmful or bad • One of the negatives [=drawbacks] of the house is that it's on a busy street. • Since the positives outweigh the negatives, I'm going to take the job. [=there are more good things about the job than bad things] — opposite POSITIVE

2 : a word or statement that means "no" or that expresses a denial or refusal • "No" and "not" are negatives. — see also DOUBLE NEGATIVE

3 : an image on film that is used to make a printed photograph and that has light areas where the photograph will be dark and dark areas where the photograph will be light; also : the film that has such an image • Can I have the negatives to make copies of the photos? — compare POSITIVE

4 : the result from a test that shows that a particular germ, condition, or substance is not present • There is a high rate of false negatives for this test. [=this test often incorrectly indicates that something is not present when it really is] — opposite POSITIVE

in the negative formal : with a reply that means "no" • She answered (the question) in the negative. [=she answered "no"] — compare in the affirmative at ²AFFIRMATIVE negative equity noun [noncount] : a situation in which the amount of money that a person owes for something (such as a house or a car) is less than its worth neg·a·tiv·i·ty /,negə'tɪvəti/ noun [noncount] : an attitude in which someone considers only the bad qualities of someone or something • Her negativity about society began to depress me. • There is a lot of negativity about the new boss.

¹neg·lect /ni'glekt/ verb -glects; -glect-ed; -glect-ing [+ obj]

1 : to fail to take care of or to give attention to (someone or something) • The building has been neglected for years. • She neglects her child. • The city has neglected the teacher shortage for too long.

2 : to fail to do (something) • The prison guard neglected his duty. — often followed by to + verb • He neglected to mention that he was fired. • He neglected to sign the check.

²neglect noun [noncount]

1 : lack of attention or care that someone or something needs • The park was overgrown and littered from years of neglect. • The parents were charged with child neglect. — often + of • the city's neglect of the homeless • He was dismissed for neglect of duty. [=for not doing his duty]

2 : the condition of not being taken care of • The house is in a state of neglect.

neglected adj [more ~; most ~] : not given enough attention or care • neglected children • a sadly neglected garden • His wife felt neglected. [=she felt unhappy because she wanted him to pay more attention to her] neg·lect·ful /ni'glektfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not giving enough care or attention to someone or something • neglectful parents — often + of • She is neglectful of her appearance/responsibilities. • He is neglectful of what other people might think. [=he does not care about what other people might think]

neg·li·gee /,neglə'ʒeɪ/ noun, pl -li·gees [count] : a long piece of clothing made of a thin material (such as silk) that is worn in bed by women

neg·li·gence /'neglɪdʒəns/ noun [noncount] formal : failure to take the care that a responsible person usually takes : lack of normal care or attention • Medical negligence may be the cause of death. [=the patient's death may have happened because the doctor did not do something that should have been done] • The company was charged with negligence in the manufacturing of the defective tires.

neg·li·gent /'neglɪdʒənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : failing to take proper or normal care of something or someone • The fire was started by a negligent smoker. • negligent parents • He was negligent in not reporting the accident to the police. • She was negligent about sending a thank-you note. [=she neglected to send a thank-you note]

— neg·li·gent·ly adv • The defendant drove negligently and hit a pedestrian.

neg·li·gi·ble /'neglɪdʒəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very small or unimportant • A negligible amount of damage was done to the vehicle. • The price difference was negligible.

— neg·li·gi·bly /'neglɪdʒəbli/ adv • The difference between the prices was negligibly small.

ne·go·tia·ble /ni'gouʃijəbəl/ adj

1 : able to be discussed and changed before an agreement or decision is made • The terms of the contract are negotiable. • The price was not negotiable.

2 : able to be successfully traveled over • a rough but negotiable road

3 finance : able to be passed from one person to another in return for something of equal value • negotiable bonds/securities

ne·go·ti·ate /ni'gouʃi,eɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing

1 a : to discuss something formally in order to make an agreement [no obj] The customer wanted to negotiate over/about the price. • She has good negotiating skills. — often + with or for • The team is negotiating with the player's agent. • Teachers are negotiating for higher salaries. [+ obj] She is negotiating a higher salary. [=she is trying to get a higher salary by negotiating] b [+ obj] : to agree on (something) by formally discussing it • We negotiated a fair price/contract.

2 [+ obj] : to get over, through, or around (something) successfully • The driver carefully negotiated the winding road.

negotiating table noun

the negotiating table — used to say that people are having formal discussions in order to reach an agreement • The two sides in this dispute have returned to the negotiating table. [=they have begun to have discussions again] • They came to an agreement at the negotiating table. [=they came to an agreement after their discussions]

ne-go-ti-a-tion /ni'goufi'eɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : a formal discussion between people who are trying to reach an agreement : an act of negotiating [count] We need a negotiation between the townspeople and mayor over the site of the new library. — usually plural • The buyer and seller are continuing negotiations on the sale price and repairs to the house. • Negotiations between the two governments have failed to produce an agreement. • Negotiations with the protesters began today. [noncount] She is skilled at negotiation. • The college president was against any negotiation with the students. • The contract is under negotiation. [=the details of the contract are being discussed] • The price is open to negotiation. [=the price has not been finally decided and can be discussed] • The team is in negotiation with the player. [=the team is discussing the details of a contract with the player]

ne-go-ti-a-tor /ni'goufi'eɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person who is involved in formal financial or political discussions in order to try to reach an agreement • a skilled trade/labor negotiator

Ne-gro /'ni'grəʊ/ noun, pl -groes [count] old-fashioned + sometimes offensive : a person who has dark skin and who belongs to a race of people who are originally from Africa — Negro adj sometimes offensive

neigh /'neɪ/ verb neighs; neighed; neigh-ing [no obj] of a horse : to make a loud, long sound • We heard the horses neighing. — compare WHINNY

— neigh noun pl neighs [count] • We heard a neigh from the horse.

neigh·bor (US) or Brit neigh·bour /'neɪbər/ noun, pl -bors [count]

1 : a person who lives next to or near another person • We invited our friends and neighbors. • our next-door neighbors [=the people who live in the house next to us]

2 : a person or thing that is next to or near another • Please pass your paper to your neighbor. [=the person sitting next to you] • Canada is a neighbor of the U.S. • Venus is Earth's nearest neighbor.

neigh·bor·hood (US) or Brit neigh·bour·hood /'neɪbər'hood/ noun, pl -hoods

1 [count] : a section of a town or city • They bought a house in a beautiful/quiet neighborhood. — often used before another noun • the neighborhood school/park/children in the neighborhood : in the area that is close to something • Is there a grocery store in the neighborhood? [=is there a grocery store close by?] • We might as well pay them a visit while we're in the neighborhood.

2 [noncount] : the people who live near each other • The whole neighborhood heard about it.

in the neighborhood of 1 : close to (a place) • An earthquake was reported somewhere in the neighborhood of southern California. 2 : close to or around (an amount) : ABOUT • The album sold in the neighborhood of 1,000 copies. • A house like this costs somewhere in the neighborhood of $200,000.

neighborhood watch (US) or Brit neighbourhood watch noun [noncount] : an organization of neighbors who pay special attention to each other's houses in order to prevent crime — often used before another noun • a neighborhood watch group/program neigh·bor·ing (US) or Brit neigh·bour·ing /'neɪbərɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : near or next to something or someone • neighboring cities/countries • a neighboring building • people from (the) neighboring tribes neigh·bor·ly (US) or Brit neigh·bour·ly /'neɪbərli/ adj [more ~; most ~] : helpful and friendly • It was very neighborly [=kind] of you to help. • the importance of neighborly [=friendly] relations between countries • She was friendly in a neighborly way.

— neigh·bor·li·ness noun [noncount]

¹nei·ther /'ni:ðə, 'naɪðə/ adj : not one or the other of two people or things • Neither answer is correct. [=both answers are wrong] • "Which answer is correct?" "Neither one." • Neither sweater fits her.

²neither pronoun : not the one and not the other of two people or things • Neither (of the two answers) is correct. • "Which one do you want?" "Neither, thanks." • Neither of them dances well. • There are two flashlights, neither of which works.

usage According to the rules of grammar, the pronoun neither is singular and requires a singular verb. • Neither is correct. However, in informal writing and speech, a plural verb is common when neither is followed by of. • Neither of the answers is/are correct. • Neither of them know/knows my friend.

³neither conj

1 — used with nor to indicate two or more people, things, actions, etc., about which something is not true • Neither my wife nor I can attend the party. • Neither wood nor plastic conducts heat like metal does. • I neither know nor care. • I'm neither happy nor sad. • She eats neither meat nor cheese. [= (more commonly) she does not eat meat or cheese] ♦ When neither and nor are used to join two subjects, the verb should agree with the subject that is closer to it. • Neither my father nor I am going to the meeting.

2 : also not — used after a negative statement • "I don't believe his story." "Neither do I." [=I also do not believe his story] • They didn't believe his story, and neither did I. • I did not believe his story, but neither did I believe hers.

me neither see *EITHER neither here nor there see *HERE

nem·e·sis /'neməsəs/ noun, pl -ses /-,sɪz/ [count] : an opponent or enemy that is very difficult to defeat • He will be playing his old nemesis for the championship.

neo- prefix : a new and different form of something that existed in the past (such as a theory, style, language, or philosophy) • neo-Darwinism • neo-Gothic • neo-Latin • neoclassical neo·clas·si·cal /,ni:jou'klæsɪkəl/ also neo·clas·sic /,ni:jou'klæsɪk/ adj : relating to a style of art or architecture like the ones found in ancient Greece or Rome • a building designed in a neoclassical style • The museum will be exhibiting paintings from the neoclassical movement.

— neo·clas·si·cism /,ni:jou'klæsə'sɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • a painter who practiced neoclassicism in the late 18th century — neo·clas·si·cist /,ni:jou'klæsəsɪst/ noun, pl -cists [count]

Neo·lith·ic /,ni:jə'liθɪk/ adj : of or relating to the time during the Stone Age when people used stone tools and began to grow crops, raise animals, and live together in large groups but did not read or write • Neolithic man/tribes/cave painters • the Neolithic age/period — compare PALEOLITHIC

ne·ol·o·gism /ni'ɑ:lə'dʒɪzəm/ noun, pl -gisms [count] : a new word or expression or a new meaning of a word • scientific neologisms [=new scientific words]

¹ne-on /'ni:,ɑ:n/ noun [noncount] : a type of gas that is used in brightly colored electric signs and lights

²neon adj, always used before a noun

1 : using neon • flashing neon lights/signs

2 : extremely bright • neon yellow/green

neo·na·tal /,ni:jou'neɪtl/ adj, medical : of, relating to, or taking care of babies in the first month after their birth • a neonatal intensive care unit • neonatal diseases neo-Na·zi /,ni:jou'nɑ:tsɪ/ noun, pl -zɪs [count] : a person who belongs to a group that believes in the ideas and policies of Hitler's Nazis and that sometimes commits violent acts — neo-Nazi adj

neo·phyte /'ni:jə'faɪt/ noun, pl -phytes [count] formal

1 : a person who has just started learning or doing something : BEGINNER • a neophyte on computers • a political neophyte [=a person just starting in politics] — often used before another noun • a neophyte journalist

2 : a person who has recently joined a religious group

neph·ew /'neɪfju/ noun, pl -ews [count] : a son of your brother or sister — compare NIECE nep·o·tism /'nepə'tɪzəm/ noun [noncount] disapproving : the unfair practice by a powerful person of giving jobs and other favors to relatives • Nepotism has hurt the company.

Nep·tune /'nep,tu:n, Brit 'nep,tju:n/ noun [singular] : the planet that is eighth in order from the sun nerd /'nɜ:d/ noun, pl nerds [count] informal + usually disapproving

1 : a person who behaves awkwardly around other people and usually has unstylish clothes, hair, etc. • He dresses like a nerd.

2 : a person who is very interested in technical subjects, computers, etc. • My brother is a computer nerd. [=geek] • a grammar nerd

— nerd·i·ness /'nɜ:dɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • She was embarrassed by her sister's nerdiness. — nerd·ish /'nɜ:dɪʃ/ adj

[more ~; most ~] • a nerdy teenager • nerdy /ˈnɜːdi/ adj nerd-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] • She wears nerdy glasses. • He plays a nerdy scientist in the movie.

nerve /ˈnɜːv/ noun, pl nerves

1 [count] : one of the many thin parts that control movement and feeling by carrying messages between the brain and other parts of the body • The optic nerve in the eye allows you to see. • a condition affecting the nerves in her arm

2 [noncount] : courage that allows you to do something that is dangerous, difficult, or frightening • It takes a lot of nerve to start a new career. • He found/summoned the nerve to stand up to his boss. • I was going to ask her to the dance, but I lost my nerve.

3 [singular, noncount] : the rude attitude of someone who says or does things that make other people angry or upset • You have a lot of nerve to talk to me that way. • I can't believe she had the nerve to call me a liar. • "After making the mess, he didn't even offer to help clean it up." "What (a) nerve!"

4 nerves [plural] : feelings of being worried or nervous • The groom was overcome by nerves before his wedding. • The singer still suffers from nerves before a performance. • Her nerves were on edge [=she was nervous] before her exam. • I need a drink to steady/calm my nerves. [=relax]

a bag/bundle of nerves informal : an extremely nervous person • He was a bundle of nerves before his speech.

get on someone's nerves : to become extremely annoying to someone • That car alarm is getting on my nerves.

hit/strike/touch a nerve : to make someone feel angry, upset, embarrassed, etc. • Something she said to him must have hit/struck/touched a nerve. I've never seen him so angry. • His controversial column might have hit a (raw/sensitive) nerve with some readers.

nerves of steel : an impressive ability to remain calm in dangerous or difficult situations • It takes nerves of steel to work in such a high-pressure job.

war of nerves : a situation in which people do or say things to make other people feel afraid or nervous about what will happen • The company and the union are engaged in a war of nerves, with each side threatening the other.

nerve cell noun, pl ~ cells [count] : NEURON nerve center (US) or Brit nerve centre noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a place from which the activities of an organization, system, etc., are controlled • the economic nerve center of a nation nerve gas noun [noncount] : a poisonous gas that is used as a weapon in war nerve-rack-ing or nerve-wrack-ing /ˈnɜːv,rækɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : causing a person to feel very nervous • The job interview was a nerve-racking experience. • She endured a nerve-racking wait for her test scores.

ner-vous /ˈnɜːvəs/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] n : having or showing feelings of being worried and afraid about what might happen • She is/feels nervous about her job interview. • All this waiting is making me nervous. • He gave a nervous glance at the clock. • a nervous smile • Before the wedding the bride's father was a nervous wreck. [=he was extremely nervous] b : often or easily becoming worried and afraid about what might happen • His nervous mother is always worrying that something terrible will happen to him. • He has a nervous disposition. c : causing someone to feel worried and afraid : making someone nervous • It was a very nervous situation.

2 always used before a noun : of or relating to the nerves in your body • nervous tissue • She suffers from a nervous disorder/condition. : caused by or affected by nerves • He walked around with a nervous twitch. • He had a nervous habit of pulling at his hair. • The boy has a lot of nervous energy.

— ner-vous-ly adv • Dad paced nervously around the waiting room. — ner-vous-ness noun [noncount] • The student showed no sign of nervousness.

nervous breakdown noun, pl ~ -downs [count] : a sudden failure of mental health that makes someone unable to live normally • She had/suffered a nervous breakdown shortly after her sister's death. • He is on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

nervous Nell-ie or nervous Nelly /ˈnɜːli/ or Nervous Nellie or Nervous Nelly noun, pl ~ Nell-ies [count] US, informal : a very fearful or nervous person • My sister is a real nervous Nellie when it comes to flying.

nervous system noun, pl ~ -systems [count] : the system of nerves in your body that sends messages for controlling movement and feeling between the brain and the other parts of the body — see also CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM

nervy /ˈnɜːvi/ adj ner-v-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] in formal

1 US, approving : having or showing courage or confidence • a nervy performance in the play-offs • a nervy film director who's not afraid to take risks

2 US, disapproving — used to describe someone who says or does rude or shocking things that make other people angry or upset • She was nervy enough to criticize the food we served her. [=she had the nerve to criticize the food we served her]

3 Brit : feeling unpleasantly nervous or excited : not calm • The passengers were restless and nervy after the long flight. • Too much coffee makes me nervy.

— -ness /ˈnɜːs/ noun combining form : state : condition : quality • goodness • friendliness • sickness • freshness

nest /ˈnest/ noun, pl nests [count]

1 n : the place where a bird lays its eggs and takes care of its young • The bird built a nest out of small twigs. • If you look closely, you can see a nest in that tree. b : a place where an animal or insect lives and usually lays eggs or takes care of its young • a nest of hornets • a turtle/squirrel nest — see also HORNET'S NEST

2 : a home where people live • They lived in a cozy little nest in the suburbs. • Their children will soon be ready to leave/flee the nest. [=their children will soon be ready to move away from home] — see also LOVE NEST

3 : a group of objects that are made in different sizes that fit inside each other • a nest of boxes/tables feather your (own) nest see 'FEATHER nest verb nest-s; nest-ed; nest-ing [no obj]

1 : to build or live in a nest • Robins nested in the tree. • This area is a nesting ground/place/site for seagulls. [=this is a place where seagulls build nests and raise their young] • She studied the nesting habits of the turtle.

2 : to fit inside each other • The set of four chairs can nest into one stack. • The smaller bowl is designed to nest inside the larger one.

— nest-er /ˈnɛstə/ noun, pl -ters [count] • These birds are cliff nesters. — see also EMPTY NESTER nest egg noun, pl ~ eggs [count] : an amount of money that is saved over a usually long period of time to pay for something in the future • They built up a nest egg for their son's college education.

nest-le /ˈnɛsl/ verb, always followed by an adverb or prepositional phrase nest-les; nest-ling

1 [no obj] : to lie comfortably close to or against someone or something • The puppy nestled (up) against the sleeping boy.

2 [tr obj] : to place (something) close to, next to, or within something • He nestled his head against his mother's shoulder. • She carefully nestled the hamster into its cage — often used as (be) nestled • The vacation resort was nestled among the hills. • Campsites were nestled along the river. • His wife's head was nestled against his chest.

3 [no obj] : to land or settle softly into something • The fly ball nestled into the outfielder's glove.

nest-ling /ˈnɛstlɪŋ/ noun, pl -lings [count] : a young bird that is not yet able to fly away from the nest

net /ˈnet/ noun, pl nets

1 n [count] : a device that is used for catching or holding things or for keeping things out of a space and that is made of pieces of string, rope, wire, etc., woven together with spaces in between • He caught a fish in the net. • a butterfly net — often used figuratively • They were caught in a net [=web] of deception. — see picture at FISHING; see also MOSQUITO NET, NARLEY NET b [noncount] : the material used to make nets : NETTING • net curtains

2 [count] sports n : a net that is hung across the middle of a playing area in some games, such as tennis, badminton, or volleyball • The ball barely went over the net. b : a net that is attached to a frame and that is used as the goal in some games (such as soccer, hockey, or basketball) • He shot the puck into the net. • The ball swished through the net.

3 the Net : the Internet • She likes to surf the Net. [=the Web] • doing business on the Net cast/spread your net wide : to try many different things so that you will have the best chance of finding what you want • Companies are casting their nets wide in search of young, talented employees.

slip/fall through the net : to fail to be noticed or included with others • There are plenty of talented players who slip/fall through the net.

through the net and never get to play professionally.

— compare ⁵NET

2 net verb nets; net-ted; net-ting [+ obj]

1 : to catch (something) in a net • We netted nine fish during the trip. — often used figuratively • The escaped convict was netted by police.

2 sports a : to hit (a ball) into the net during a game (such as tennis) • She netted her first two serves. b : to score (a goal or point) by hitting, kicking, or shooting a ball or puck into a net • He netted two goals in his first game. • She netted 15 points in the first half.

— compare ⁴NET

3 net also Brit nett adj, always used before a noun

1 — used to describe the amount or value of something after all costs and expenses have been taken away • They determined the net value of the estate. • The company suffered a decline in net profit for the third quarter. • a billionaire's net worth — compare ¹GROSS

2 — used to describe the weight of something without its packaging or container • the net weight of the shipment

3 : after everything is completed • The net result/outcome/effort of the new bridge will be fewer traffic jams.

4 net verb nets; netted; netting [+ obj]

1 : to gain or receive (an amount) as a profit • We netted $50 on the sale. — compare ⁴GROSS

2 : to produce or get (something) as the result of an effort • The investigation netted no clues. • The running back netted 20 yards on his first run.

— compare ²NET

5 net noun, pl nets [count] : an amount that is left over after all costs and expenses have been taken away : a net amount • The net is significantly lower than we had anticipated. — compare ⁵GROSS — compare ¹NET

net-ball /'net,bɔ:l/ noun [noncount] : a sport played chiefly in Britain that is similar to basketball and has two teams of seven players each ♦ Netball is usually played by women and girls.

neth-er /'neðə/ adj, always used before a noun, literary or humorous : located toward the bottom or more distant part of something : LOWER • Snakes nested in the nether reaches of the cave. [=snakes nested deep in the cave] • His shorts fell down and exposed his nether parts/regions. [=his genitals and buttocks]

neth-er-world /'neðə,wɜ:ld/ noun, pl -worlds

1 the netherworld literary : the world of the dead : HELL

2 [count] : a place unknown to most people where secret and often illegal things are done — usually singular • The book describes the author's journey into the netherworld of drug dealers. • a criminal netherworld

net-i-quette /'netɪkət/ noun [noncount] informal : rules about the proper and polite way to communicate with other people when you are using the Internet • Writing an e-mail message in all capital letters is considered a breach/violation of netiquette because it looks like you are shouting. • the rules of netiquette

net-i-zen /'netəzən/ noun, pl -zens [count] : a person who actively uses the Internet especially in a proper and responsible way

net-mind-er /'net,məɪndə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : GOAL-KEEPER

nett Brit spelling of ³NET netting noun [noncount] : material consisting of pieces of string, rope, wire, etc., that are woven together with open spaces left in between : material that is used to make nets • He put up wire netting around the garden.

1 net-tle /'netl/ verb net-tles; net-tled; net-tling [+ obj] : to make (someone) angry • The mayor's recent actions have nettled some members of the community. • It nettles him that his younger coworker got a promotion before he did.

2 nettle noun, pl nettles [count] : a tall plant that has leaves with hairs that sting you if you touch them grasp the nettle Brit : to deal with an unpleasant situation without delay • He decided to grasp the nettle and try to solve the problem himself.

1 net-work /'net,wɜ:k/ noun, pl -works [count]

1 a : a system of lines, wires, etc., that are connected to each other • a telephone/rail network — often + of • a network of blood vessels b : a system of computers and other devices (such as printers) that are connected to each other • He hooked up his computer to the network.

2 : a group of people or organizations that are closely connected and that work with each other • a volunteer network

— often + of • a network of political allies

3 : a group of radio or television stations that usually broadcast the same programs • The show is getting good ratings for the network. • a network news program

2 network verb -works; -worked; -work-ing

1 [+ obj] : to connect (computers) in a way that allows information and equipment to be shared • The computers are networked to one main server.

2 [no obj] : to talk with people whose jobs are similar to yours especially for business opportunities or advice • She spent the day networking with other executives.

— networking noun [noncount] • He did some networking at the conference. • She attributes her success to networking.

neu·ral /'nɜ:rl, Brit 'nju:ərəl/ adj, medical : of, relating to, or involving a nerve or the nervous system • She suffers from a neural disorder. • neural activity/impulses • the brain's neural pathways

neu·ral-gia /nu'rældʒə, Brit nju'rældʒə/ noun [noncount] medical : a sharp pain that is felt along the length of a nerve

— neu·ral-gic /nu'rældʒɪk, Brit nju'rældʒɪk/ adj • neuralgic pain

neu·rol-o-gy /nu'rɔ:lədʒi, Brit nju'rɔ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] medical : the scientific study of the nervous system and the diseases that affect it

— neu·ro-log-i-cal /,nɜ:rə'lɔ:dʒɪkəl, Brit ,nju:rə'lɔ:dʒɪkəl/ or chiefly US neu·ro-log-ic /,nɜ:rə'lɔ:dʒɪk, Brit ,nju:rə'lɔ:dʒɪk/ adj • a neurological disorder — neu·rol-o-gist /nu'rɔ:lə-dʒɪst, Brit nju'rɔ:lə-dʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

neu·ro-mus-cu-lar /,nɜ:rəu'mʌskjələ, Brit ,nju:rəu'mʌskjələ/ adj, medical : relating to both nerves and muscles • a neuromuscular disease

neu·ron /'nɜ:ɹən 'nju:ərən/ also Brit neu·rone /'nɜ:ɹoun, Brit 'nju:ərən/ noun, pl -rons [count] medical : a cell that carries messages between the brain and other parts of the body and that is the basic unit of the nervous system : NERVE CELL

neu·ro-sci-ence /,nɜ:rəu'sajəns, Brit ,nju:ərəu'sajəns/ noun [noncount] : the scientific study of nerves and especially of how nerves affect learning and behavior

neu·ro-sis /nu'rəʊsəs, Brit nju'rəʊsəs/ noun, pl -ses /-,si:z/ [count, noncount] medical : an emotional illness in which a person experiences strong feelings of fear or worry • The patient is clearly suffering from (a) neurosis.

1 neu·rot-ic /nu'rɔ:tɪk, Brit nju'rɔ:tɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 medical : having or suggesting neurosis • The psychiatrist diagnosed the patient as neurotic. • neurotic symptoms

2 : often or always fearful or worried about something : tending to worry in a way that is not healthy or reasonable • My neurotic mother scolded me for staying out 10 minutes past curfew. • He is neurotic about his job. • a neurotic personality

— neu·rot-i-cal-ly /nu'rɔ:tɪkli, Brit nju'rɔ:tɪkli/ adv • He was neurotically obsessed with keeping his clothes neat.

2 neurotic noun, pl -ics [count]

1 medical : a person who has a neurosis • He was diagnosed as a neurotic.

2 : a person who is always fearful or worried about something • He is a neurotic about keeping his clothes neat.

neu·ro-trans-mit-ter /,nɜ:rəu'træns'mɪtə, Brit ,nju:ərəu'træns'mɪtə/ noun, pl -ters [count] medical : a substance in the body that carries a signal from one nerve cell to another

1 neu·ter /'nu:tə, Brit 'nju:tə/ adj, grammar, in some languages : of or belonging to the class of words (called a gender) that ordinarily includes most of the words referring to things that are neither masculine nor feminine • The pronoun "it" is neuter. • a neuter noun

2 neuter verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [+ obj]

1 : to remove the sex organs from (an animal) • She had her dog neutered by the veterinarian. ♦ Neuter usually refers to the action of removing the sex organs from a male animal, while spay usually refers to the action of removing the sex organs from a female animal.

2 disapproving : to make (something) much less powerful or effective • The bill was neutered by the changes made by the legislature.

1 neu·tral /'nu:trəl, Brit 'nju:trəl/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] a : not supporting either side of an argument, fight, war, etc. • neutral countries • He remained/stayed neutral while his brothers argued. b : not supporting one political view over another • She tries to be a fair and neutral journalist. • a neutral magazine

2 : not connected with either side involved in a war, contest,

etc. • The battle took place in neutral waters. • The duel will be held on neutral ground. • neutral territory

3 [more ~; most ~] : not expressing strong opinions or feelings • The report was written in neutral language. • “Why did you do that?” he asked in a neutral tone of voice.

4 : not bright or strong in color : able to go easily with other colors • They decorated the room in neutral tones/colors. • a neutral gray • neutral fabrics

5 technical : neither an acid nor a base • a neutral compound • a chemical with a neutral pH

6 technical : not having an electrical charge • a neutral molecule

— neu·tral·ly adv • The judge must try to view the dispute neutrally. • neutrally charged atoms

2 neutral noun, pl -trals

1 [count] : a color that is not bright or strong : a neutral color — usually plural • She painted the room in neutrals.

2 [noncount] : the position of the gears in a car, truck, etc., when they do not touch each other and power from the engine does not move the wheels • He put/left the car in neutral.

3 [count] : a person, country, etc., that does not support either side of an argument, fight, war, etc. • Their sister remained a neutral in the dispute. • The two countries were neutrals while their neighbors were at war.

neu·tral·i·ty /nu'træləti, Brit nju'træləti/ noun [noncount] : the quality or state of not supporting either side in an argument, fight, war, etc. : the quality or state of being neutral • The country adopted an official policy of neutrality. • The newspaper is known for its political neutrality.

neu·tral·ize also Brit neu·tral·ise /'nu:trəlaiz, Brit 'nju:trəlaiz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to stop (someone or something) from being effective or harmful • The soldiers tried to neutralize the attack by dividing the invading army.

2 technical : to cause (a chemical) to be neither an acid nor a base • This medicine neutralizes stomach acids.

3 : to make (something, such as a country or area) neutral during a war • The lands between the warring countries were neutralized.

— neu·tral·i·za·tion also Brit neu·tral·i·sa·tion /,nu:trələ'zeɪʃən, Brit ,nju:trəlaɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] neutral zone noun

the neutral zone : the middle part of an ice hockey rink that is between the two zones defended by the teams

neu·tri·no /nu'tri:nou, Brit nju'tri:nəu/ noun, pl -nos [count] physics : a particle that is smaller than an atom and that has no electrical charge

neu·tron /'nu:,trɔ:n, Brit 'nju:,trɒn/ noun, pl -trons [count] physics : a very small particle of matter that has no electrical charge and is part of the nucleus of all atoms except hydrogen atoms neutron bomb noun, pl ~ bombs [count] : a nuclear bomb that releases very large amounts of radiation

nev·er /'nevə/ adv

1 : not ever : not at any time • I will never shop at that store again. • I have never seen that happen before. • That man has never heard of you. • We will never forget what we saw. • You never know what you'll find at a flea market. • I never meant to hurt you. • She never really said that. • There is never enough time to finish our work. • Never in my whole life have I been so offended! • A resume without a cover letter will never do. [=will never be considered acceptable] • Never again will I buy a car from that dealer. = I will never again buy a car from that dealer. • I gave him my business for years and never for one moment did I suspect that he was a criminal. — opposite ALWAYS

2 chiefly Brit a — used to express surprise, doubt, or disbelief • “He’s won the lottery.” “Never!” • “They’re getting married.” “Well, I never!” [=I am very surprised or shocked to hear that they’re getting married] b — used to say that you did not do something • “You stole my CD.” “Me? Never.”

never ever see EVER

never fear — used to tell someone not to worry or be afraid • Never fear, I think I have a solution.

never mind, never you mind see ²MIND

never say die see ¹DIE

never say never — used to say that you should not say that you will never do something because you might change your mind later • “Would you ever go there again?” “Well, (I’ll) never say never, but I’m certainly not planning to go there anytime soon!”

never so much as — used to say that someone did not do something that was expected or should have been done • She never so much as thanked me [=she did not even thank me] for my help.

never the wiser see ¹WISE

never-ending adj : having or seeming to have no end : ENDLESS • Keeping the house clean is a never-ending chore. • the never-ending fight against poverty nev·er·more /,nevə'moə/ adv, literary : not happening again : never again • Nevermore shall I call you a friend. [=I shall never call you a friend again; I no longer consider you to be a friend of mine] nev·er·nev·er land /,nevə'nevə-/ noun, pl ~ lands [count] : an imaginary place without problems • He day-dreamed of a never-never land where people never had to go to work.

nev·er·the·less /,nevədə'les/ adv : in spite of what has just been said • I had lost a lot of money in the poker game; nevertheless [=however], I decided to continue playing. • Her date was a bit of a slob, but she had fun nevertheless. • It was a predictable, but nevertheless funny, story.

¹ new /'nu:, Brit 'nju:/ adj new·er; -est

1 a : not old : recently born, built, or created • They visited the new library. • She was looking for the new [=most recent] issue of the magazine. • I saw their new baby for the first time. • They planted new trees on the campus. • a new kind of music b : not used by anyone else previously • She couldn't afford a new car, so she bought a used one. • He bought the car new. • shiny new shoes • This watch is new. — see also BRAND-NEW

2 a : recently bought, rented, etc. • She is eager to see his new apartment/house/dog. b : having recently become someone's relative, friend, employee, etc. • This is my new stepsister. • the young man and his new wife • Come meet our newest [=most recently hired] employee. • I made a new friend today. c : recently added to an existing group, organization, etc. • There was a new kid in school today. • The union voted in 10 new members. • The company created a new department to run its Web site. — often + to • She is new to this school. • Don't worry about it. You are still new to the job.

3 : replacing someone or something that came before • The team has a new coach. • Have you met his new girlfriend? • He starts his new job on Monday. • I like your new haircut. • The tree is growing new leaves. • Waiter, could I please have a new fork? This one is dirty.

4 : recently discovered or learned about : not known or experienced before • Scientists discovered a new comet. • a new species of fish • The promotion gave her a new sense of optimism. • This drug gives new hope to patients. • This is a new experience for me. — often + to • This kind of work is still new to me. [=I have been doing this kind of work for only a short time]

5 — used to describe a time, period, etc., that is beginning again and that is different from what came before • A new day has begun. • We are looking forward to the new year. • A new semester starts in the fall. • After college, he moved to the city to begin a new life. [=a time in a person's life that is different in some important way from what came before]

6 : healthier or more energetic • I felt like a new man/woman after my vacation.

(as) good as new or like new : in very good condition : like something that has recently been made • He painted the bicycle, and now it's as good as new. • Once the jewelry has been cleaned, it'll be like new.

new arrival see ARRIVAL

new kid on the block see ¹KID pastures new see ¹PASTURE

the new : new things • The band played a good mix of the old and the new.

turn over a new leaf see ¹LEAF

what else is new? see ²ELSE

what's new? US, informal — used as a friendly greeting • Hey man, what's new?

— new·ness noun [noncount] • The couple admired the shiny newness of their remodeled kitchen.

² new adv : newly or recently — usually used in combination • new-laid cement

New Age noun [noncount]

1 : of or relating to ways of thinking and living that are similar to those of older cultures and that have been accepted in recent times by a group of people in place of the usual beliefs and methods of modern society • the New Age movement • a New Age bookstore • New Age spirituality

N

2 — used to describe a type of instrumental music that is usually soft and relaxing • He likes to listen to New Age music. • a New Age composer

— New Age noun [noncount] • He likes to listen to New Age. • the beginning of the New Age [=the New Age movement]

— New Ager /-ˈeɪdʒə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] • She's a New Ager who writes spiritual self-help books. — New Agey /-ˈeɪdʒi/ adj [more ~; most ~] • His apartment has a New Agey atmosphere.

newbie /ˈnuːbi, Brit ˈnjuːbi/ noun, pl -bies [count] chiefly US, informal : a person who has recently started a particular activity • She is a newbie on the Internet. = She's an Internet newbie. • He is a newbie to local politics. • a newbie [=beginner] chess player

1 new-born /ˈnuːbɔːn, Brit ˈnjuːbɔːn/ adj, always used before a noun : recently born • a newborn baby/calf

2 newborn noun, pl newborn or new-borns [count] : a person or animal that has recently been born : a newborn person or animal • a mother goat and all of her newborn

New-burg or New-burgh /ˈnuːbæg, Brit ˈnjuːbæg/ adj, used after a noun : served with a sauce that is made of cream, butter, sherry, and egg yolks • lobster/shrimp Newburg

new-com-er /ˈnuːkəmər, Brit ˈnjuːkəmər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who has recently arrived somewhere or who has recently started a new activity — often + to • She is a newcomer to the city. • My father is a relative newcomer to the world of computers.

2 : something new that has recently been added or created — often + to • The word “chat room” is a relative newcomer to the English language. • Our company is a newcomer to this market.

new-fan-gled /ˈnuːfæŋɡəld, Brit ˈnjuːfæŋɡəld/ adj, always used before a noun : recently invented or developed and hard to understand • His grandson owns all of the latest newfangled electronics. • newfangled gadgets • the newfangled speech used by teenagers

new-found /ˈnuːfaʊnd, Brit ˈnjuːfaʊnd/ adj, always used before a noun : recently discovered, acquired, or achieved : newly found or gotten • He is enjoying his newfound freedom. • a newfound friend • newfound fame

new-ly /ˈnuːli, Brit ˈnjuːli/ adv : a short time ago : RECENTLY • They are a newly married couple. • That is a newly acquired habit. • Here is where we keep the newly arrived merchandise. • a newly discovered galaxy • The room is newly painted.

new-ly-wed /ˈnuːliwed ˈnjuːliwed/ noun, pl -weds [count] : a person who has recently married • They took pictures of the happy newlyweds. • a newlywed hotel suite [=a hotel suite for couples on their honeymoon]

new moon noun, pl ~ moons [count] : the moon when it is completely dark — compare FULL MOON, HALF-MOON

news /ˈnuːz, Brit ˈnjuːz/ noun

1 [noncount] : new information or a report about something that has happened recently • Do you have any news to report? • I have some good news, and I have some bad news. • Have you heard the good news? She's going to have a baby! • What's the big/latest news? • It was late summer when news of his death arrived. [=when we learned that he had died] • We tried to break the news [=tell the bad news] to her gently. • “The concert has been canceled.” “Well, that is news to me.” [=I didn't know that; no one told me that] • Lower ticket prices are good news for [=make things easier for] sports fans. • We haven't heard from his teacher lately, but no news is good news. [=if he was doing badly, his teacher would have told us]

2 [noncount] a : information that is reported in a newspaper, magazine, television news program, etc. • local/international news • The company has been in the news recently. • and now this late-breaking news [=the most recent news of the day] • front-page news [=important news that could be reported on the front page of a newspaper] — often used before another noun • TV news reporters • news stories/reports • the news media • a slow news day [=a day with little news to report] b informal : someone or something that is exciting and in the news • She's big news here in the city. • That band is old news. = The band is yesterday's news. [=that band isn't new or exciting anymore]

3 the news : a television news program • We saw it on the evening/nightly news. • The local news is on at 5:30.

have news for someone — used when you are making a definite and forceful statement that someone does not expect, know about, or agree with • “You think you're going to win? Well, I've got news for you: you're not.” • People tell me that my business will never succeed. Well, I have news for them. I'm going to make a profit by the end of the year.

— see also BAD NEWS

news agency noun, pl ~ -cies [count] : an organization that collects and gives news to newspapers, magazines, television news programs, and radio stations — called also press agency

news-agent /ˈnuːz,eɪdʒənt, Brit ˈnjuːz,eɪdʒənt/ noun, pl -agents [count] chiefly Brit : a person or shop that sells newspapers, magazines, and often paperback books

news-boy /ˈnuːz,bɔɪ ˈnjuːz,bɔɪ/ noun, pl -boys [count] chiefly US, old-fashioned : a boy who sells or delivers newspapers news-cast /ˈnuːz,kæst, Brit ˈnjuːz,kæst/ noun, pl -casts [count] chiefly US : a radio or television program that reports the news • the nightly TV newscast

news-cast-er /ˈnuːz,kæstər, Brit ˈnjuːz,kæstər/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US : a person who reports and sometimes discusses the news on a radio or television show — called also (Brit) newsreader news conference noun, pl ~ -ences [count] : PRESS CONFERENCE • The President will hold a news conference later today.

news flash noun, pl ~ flash-es [count] : a report on an important piece of news that is given in the middle of another television or radio show — often used ironically when you are saying something that is not new or surprising • News flash! Your brother's late again!

news-group /ˈnuːz,gruːp, Brit ˈnjuːz,gruːp/ noun, pl -groups [count] : a place on the Internet where people can talk about a particular subject by reading and leaving messages • I posted a message to a gardening newsgroup.

news-let-ter /ˈnuːz,letər, Brit ˈnjuːz,letər/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a short written report that tells about the recent activities of an organization and that is sent to members of the organization • the club's monthly newsletter

news-man /ˈnuːzmən, Brit ˈnjuːzmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a person (usually a man) who gathers, reports, or comments on the news

news-pa-per /ˈnuːz,peɪpər, Brit ˈnjuːz,peɪpər/ noun, pl -pers

1 [count] : a set of large sheets of paper that have news stories, information about local events, advertisements, etc., and that are folded together and sold every day or every week • He likes to stay home and read the Sunday newspaper. [=paper] • a daily/weekly newspaper — often used before another noun • newspaper headlines/articles/columns/clippings • a newspaper reporter/editor/columnist

2 [noncount] : the paper on which a newspaper is printed • He used some newspaper to get the fire started.

3 [count] : a company that publishes a newspaper • She worked for the newspaper for 20 years.

news-pa-per-man /ˈnuːz,peɪpər,mæn, Brit ˈnjuːz,peɪpər,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a person (usually a man) who works as a reporter for a newspaper

news-pa-per-wom-an /ˈnuːz,peɪpər,wʊmən, Brit ˈnjuːz,peɪpər,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who works as a reporter for a newspaper

new-speak or New-speak /ˈnuːspiːk, Brit ˈnjuːspiːk/ noun [noncount] disapproving : speech or writing that uses words in a way that changes their meaning especially to persuade people to think a certain way • political newspeak

news-per-son /ˈnuːz,pəːsn, Brit ˈnjuːz,pəːsn/ noun, pl -peo-ple [count] : a person who gathers, reports, or comments on the news : REPORTER news-print /ˈnuːz,prɪnt, Brit ˈnjuːz,prɪnt/ noun [noncount] : the thin paper that is used for newspapers news-read-er /ˈnuːz,rɪːdər, Brit ˈnjuːz,rɪːdər/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : NEWSCASTER

news-reel /ˈnuːz,rɪːl, Brit ˈnjuːz,rɪːl/ noun, pl -reels [count] : a short film that reported the news and that was shown in theaters in the past • old newsreels from World War II

news-room /ˈnuːz,ruːm, Brit ˈnjuːz,ruːm/ noun, pl -rooms [count] : an office where the news is prepared for a newspaper or a television or radio program

news-stand /ˈnuːz,stænd, Brit ˈnjuːz,stænd/ noun, pl -stands [count] : a place (such as a small outdoor store) where newspapers and magazines are sold

news-wom-an /ˈnuːz,wʊmən, Brit ˈnjuːz,wʊmən/ noun, pl

-wom-en /-,wimən/ [count] : a woman who gathers, reports, or comments on the news

news-wor-thy /'nu:z,wəði, Brit 'nju:z,wəði/ adj [more ~; most ~] : interesting or important enough to report as news • a newsworthy story newsy /'nu:zi, Brit 'nju:zi/ adj news-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : containing or full of a lot of news • I got a long newsy letter from her. • a newsy magazine

newt /'nu:t, Brit 'nju:t/ noun, pl newts [count] : a small animal that lives mostly in water and that has four short legs, a long, low body and tail, and soft, wet skin • a bright orange newt

New Testament noun

the New Testament : the second part of the Christian Bible that describes the life of Jesus Christ and the lessons that he taught — compare OLD TESTAMENT

new wave noun, pl ~ waves

1 [count] : a movement in which a group of people introduce new styles or ideas in art, music, politics, etc. — usually singular; often + of • a new wave of feminism

2 New Wave [noncount] : a style of rock music that was popular especially in the 1970s and 1980s, has a strong beat, and uses many electronic instruments (such as keyboards) • people who listened to punk, New Wave, or disco

3 [noncount] : a modern style of art, film, or fashion that tries to be very different or unusual often in a shocking way — often used before another noun • new wave design/films

New World noun

the New World : North, Central, and South America, especially in the past • Columbus reached the New World in 1492. — compare OLD WORLD

New Year noun

1 or chiefly US New Year's [noncount] : the first day of the year celebrated as a holiday; especially : NEW YEAR'S DAY • Happy New Year! • (chiefly US) a New Year's party = (Brit) a New Year party • (US) the week between Christmas and New Year's = (Brit) the week between Christmas and New Year

2 or new year [singular] : the year that is about to start or that has just started — usually used with the • They will welcome/greet the New Year with festivities. • It's sure to be the best film of the new year. • We stayed up past midnight on New Year's Eve to see the new year in. [=to see the beginning of the new year] • the Chinese New Year [=the new year according to the Chinese calendar] • the Jewish New Year [=Rosh Hashanah]

New Year's Day noun, pl ~ Days [count, noncount] : January 1 celebrated as a holiday : the first day of the year

New Year's Eve noun, pl ~ Eves [count, noncount] : December 31 : the last day of the year; especially : the evening of December 31

New York minute noun [singular] US, informal : a very short amount of time • He was down the stairs in a New York minute. [=in an instant; in a flash]

¹next /'nekst/ adj

1 : coming after this one : coming after the one that just came, happened, etc. • the next day [=the day that comes after this day] • Please turn to the next [=following] page. • I'll see you next Monday. • Are you coming this Thursday or next Thursday? [=are you coming on Thursday of this week or Thursday of next week?] • Next year's party will be even better. • For the next two years [=two years after this point], she did nothing but eat, sleep, and study. • the very next thing that happened • Can I help the next person in line? Who's next? • We could hear people talking in the next room. • At the next set of lights, turn left. • Next stop, Los Angeles. • I need the next size up. • The next time we will see each other will be on our wedding day. • Next time, please remember to bring your books to class. • in the next life [=in the afterlife; in the life that we may have after death] • I slipped, and the next thing I knew [=right after that happened], I was lying face up on the ground.

2 : any other • He said he's as willing to do it as the next man. [=he's as willing as anyone else would be] • She knew the answer as well as the next person.

next to : almost but not quite • It's next to [=nearly, practically] impossible to drive in this snow. • You ate next to nothing at dinner. Aren't you hungry? • We were next to last in line. [=there was one person or group behind us] • He finished next to last in the race. • the next to last day of our vacation [=the day immediately before the last day of our vacation]

²next adv

1 : in the time or place that follows or comes directly after someone or something : after this • Open this present next. • There's a small grocery store in town. The next closest store is 20 miles away. [=not including the store in town, the closest store is 20 miles away] • What happens next? • Next, I need to ask you a few questions about your family. • You're up next. [=it's your turn]

2 : at the first time after this • when we next see each other = when we see each other next = (formal) when next we see each other

next best see ¹BEST

next to 1 : at the side of (someone or something) • I stood right next to [=beside] her. • The house next to ours is for sale. • He sat next to his grandmother. 2 : following or coming immediately after (someone or something) • Next to [=after, besides] math, science was my worst subject in school. • It's the most important news story next to the war.

3 : in comparison with (someone or something) • Next to you, I'm wealthy.

³next pronoun [noncount] : a person or thing that immediately follows another person or thing : someone or something that is next • Her first novel was good, but I hope her next will be even better. • We'll meet the week after next. [=we will meet on a day that is in the week after next week; we'll meet in about two weeks] — usually used with the • We went from one store to the next looking for the new CD. • She finished one project and began working on the next. • Who will be the next to leave the company? • All she does from one day to the next is complain. [=she complains all the time] • I was the next to last person [=not the last person, but the person before the last person] in line.

next of kin : the person or people most closely related to you : your closest living relative or relatives (such as your husband, wife, child, parent, sister, or brother) • We notified his next of kin of his death.

next door adv

1 a : in the next house, apartment, room, etc. • The people (who live) next door own a very large dog. • We've lived next door to [=next to] each other for the past 30 years. • He/She seemed like the boy/girl next door. [=like a wholesome young man/woman from a middle-class family] b : next to your or someone else's house, apartment, room, etc. • He bought the house next door. • I'll be staying in the room next door. • Go next door [=to the house/apartment next door] and ask for a cup of sugar, please.

2 : in a place that is very close to something else • Canada is right next door to the U.S.

next-door /'nekst'doə/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : living in the next house, apartment, room, etc. • We've been next-door neighbors for the past 30 years.

2 : next to your or someone else's house, apartment, room, etc. • the next-door house nex-us /'neksəs/ noun [singular] formal : a relationship or connection between people or things — often + between or of • the nexus between teachers and students • the nexus between drugs, guns, and crime • a nexus of money and politics

NFC abbr, US National Football Conference ♦ The NFC and the AFC make up the NFL.

NFL abbr, US National Football League ♦ The NFL is the major professional (American) football league in the U.S.

NGO abbr nongovernmental organization

NH abbr New Hampshire

NHL abbr, US National Hockey League ♦ The NHL is the major professional league for ice hockey in the U.S. and Canada.

ni-a-cin /'najəsən/ noun [noncount] technical : a type of natural substance (called a vitamin) that is found in certain foods and that helps your body to be healthy nib /'nɪb/ noun, pl nibs [count] : the pointed metal tip of a pen

¹nib-ble /'nɪbəl/ verb nib-bles; nib-bled; nib-bling

1 : to eat slowly or with small bites [+ obj] We nibbled cheese and crackers. [no obj] We nibbled on some cheese and crackers before dinner. — often + at • She felt a fish nibble at the end of her fishing line. • Insects nibbled at the tree's leaves. — sometimes used figuratively • He nibbled at the idea of changing careers [=he thought briefly about changing careers], but decided against it in the end.

2 [+ obj] : to bite (something) very gently • He nibbled her ear.

nibble (away) at [phrasal verb] nibble (away) at (something)

: to make (something) disappear or go away very slowly • Police have been nibbling (away) at crime in the city for years. [=police have been very slowly reducing the amount of crime in the city]

²nibble noun, pl nibbles

1 [count] : a small bite • He felt a nibble on his fishing line. — often + of • May I have a nibble of your sandwich?

2 [count] : an expression of interest in something • We've gotten a couple of nibbles on our house [=a couple of people have said that they were thinking about buying our house], but nobody has made a serious offer for it yet.

3 nibbles [plural] informal : small things to eat before a meal or at a party : snacks or appetizers • They served some delicious nibbles before dinner.

ni-cad or Ni-Cad /'naɪkæd/ noun, pl -cads [count] technical : a battery that contains the metals nickel and cadmium and that you can refill with electricity and use again

nice /'naɪs/ adj nic·er; -est

1 : giving pleasure or joy : good and enjoyable • I hope you all had a nice time. • What a nice [=pleasant] surprise! • It's so nice to see you again. • It's nice to be back home. • It's nice to know that you're all right. • It would be nice to try something different. • We had a very nice dinner. • It's supposed to be a nice day tomorrow. = The weather should be nice tomorrow. • (US) Thank you. Have a nice day! [=goodbye] • "Hello, my name is Sara." "It's nice to meet you, Sara." • It's nice to see you, Luis. How have you been? — often used with another adjective for emphasis • a nice clear sky [=a sky that is nice because it is clear] • nice green grass • The hotel has nice big rooms. • a nice fresh salad • some nice hot soup • The soup is nice and hot. • Make sure your room's nice and clean. • The library is always nice and quiet.

2 : attractive or of good quality • nice restaurants • a nice car/house • She wears the niciest clothes. • She looks nice. [=she is attractive] • He looks nice in his new suit. • It's a nice idea [=the idea is a good one], but I don't think it'll work.

3 : kind, polite, and friendly • She is a really nice person. • He's such a nice young man. • He said some very nice things about you. • It's nice of you to call. • Try to be nice to each other, okay? • That wasn't a very nice thing to do. • How nice of you to remember my birthday! • As they say, "Nice guys finish last." [=you must act in a selfish way if you want to win a competition] — see also MR. NICE GUY

4 : acting in a way that is correct according to social or moral rules : proper and well-behaved • What's a nice girl like you doing in a place like this? • They have such nice children.

5 : done very well • That was a nice [=great, outstanding] shot! • Nice work! • They've done a nice job fixing up the house. — sometimes used in an ironic way to say that something was not good or not done well • What a nice mess we've made of things! • Nice try, but you're not going to trick me this time. • You crashed her car? Oh, nice going. [=that was a stupid thing to do]

6 formal : involving a small difference : difficult to notice or recognize • There is a nice distinction between those two words.

make nice US, informal : to behave in a polite or friendly way toward other people even though you do not have kind or polite feelings towards them • It's time to forget about the past and make nice.

nice and easy informal : in a way that is slow, careful, gentle, or easy • The pilot brought the plane down nice and easy. • She hit the ball nice and easy. [=without a lot of force] • They broke him in nice and easy. [=gently]

— nice-ness noun [noncount]

nice-looking adj : pleasant to look at : ATTRACTIVE • She's a nice-looking young lady.

nice-ly /'naɪsli/ adv [more ~; most ~] : in a pleasant or correct way : WELL • a nice-ly dressed older man • a very nice-ly written essay • Good work. Nice-ly done. • The project seems to be moving along nice-ly. • I think her idea will fit nice-ly into/with our original plans. • "I only have this screwdriver." "Thanks. It will do nice-ly." [=it is suitable for what I want to do] • Her new book is doing nice-ly in the bookstores. [=is selling well; is a success] • He lives in New York City and is doing nice-ly for himself. [=is earning a lot of money]

nice-ty /'naɪsəti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : a small detail and especially one that is a part of polite or proper behavior — usually plural • Our grandmother taught us the niceties of table manners. • social/legal niceties • the niceties of English grammar niche /'niʃ, 'niːʃ/ noun, pl niches [count]

1 : a job, activity, etc., that is very suitable for someone • I found a niche for myself after high school. • She finally found her niche as a teacher.

2 : the situation in which a business's products or services can succeed by being sold to a particular kind or group of people — usually singular • They're still trying to find their niche in the market/industry. • This product fills a niche in the market. = This product fills a market niche. [=provides something that certain kinds of people want to buy] — often used before another noun • Teenage girls are our niche market. [=are the people we can sell our products to] • niche products/publications [=products/publications that appeal to a particular kind or group of people]

3 technical : an environment that has all the things that a particular plant or animal needs in order to live • the species that fill an environmental/ecological niche

4 : a curved space in a wall that is designed to hold a statue, vase, etc.

¹nick /'nɪk/ noun, pl nicks

1 [count] a : a small broken area that appears on something after something else hits or cuts it • There is a nick [=chip] in the cup. • There are a couple of nicks on the painting. b : a small cut on your skin • His face was covered with nicks and cuts after shaving.

2 the nick Brit slang : a prison or police station • She spent a night in the nick.

3 [noncount] Brit, informal : the condition that someone or something is in • I watched the team practice, and all the players looked in good nick. [=in good shape] • an economy in bad nick in the nick of time informal : just before the last moment when something can be changed or something bad will happen • He decided to go just in the nick of time. • The ambulance arrived in the nick of time.

²nick verb nicks; nicked; nick-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to cut or damage a small part of the surface of (something) : to put a nick in (something) • Something nicked [=chipped] the painting. b : to make a small cut on (someone) • He nicked himself shaving. • He was nicked on the shoulder by a bullet.

2 Brit slang a : to catch and arrest (someone) • She was nicked for the theft. b : to steal (something) • I nicked a couple of cars when I was younger.

nick-el /'nɪkəl/ noun, pl -els

1 [noncount] : a hard silver-white metal

2 [count] : a U.S. or Canadian coin that is worth five cents

¹nick-el-and-dime /'nɪkələn'daɪm/ adj, always used before a noun, US, informal

1 : involving, making, or spending a small amount of money • nickel-and-dime charges/fees • nickel-and-dime tax increases • nickel-and-dime customers/tourists

2 : not very important • nickel-and-dime [=small-time] businesses • nickel-and-dime candidates

²nickel-and-dime verb nick-els-and-dimes or nick-el-and-dimes; nick-eled-and-dimed or nick-el-and-dimed; nickel-ing-and-dim-ing or nick-el-and-dim-ing [+ obj] US, informal + disapproving : to make (someone) pay many small amounts of money over a long period of time • Customers are being nickeled-and-dimed by the cell phone company. [=customers are being charged extra small fees by the cell phone company that will add up to a lot of money over time] • You should buy a new car before this one nickle-and-dimes you to death. [=before you need to pay for a lot of repairs on this one]

¹nick-name /'nɪk,neɪm/ noun, pl -names [count] : a name (such as "Moose" or "Lady Bird") that is different from your real name but is what your family, friends, etc., call you when they are talking to you or about you • His mother gave him the nickname "Winky" when he was a baby. • Earvin "Magic" Johnson got his nickname from the way he handled a basketball.

²nickname verb -names; -named; -nam-ing [+ obj] : to give (someone) a name that is not that person's real name : to give a nickname to (someone) • She nicknamed him "Winky."

nic-o-tine /'nɪkə,tiːn/ noun [noncount] : a poisonous substance in tobacco that makes it difficult for people to stop smoking cigarettes niche

niece /'ni:s/ noun, pl niec-es [count] : a daughter of your brother or sister • If he's my uncle, then I'm his niece. — compare NEPHEW nif-ty /'nifti/ adj nif-ti-er; -est informal + somewhat old-fashioned : very good, useful, or attractive • a nifty pair of shoes • This nifty little machine can do just about anything.

nig-gard-ly /'nigədli/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapproving

1 : hating to spend money • The story is about a niggardly [=stingy, miserly] old man who learns to share what he has with others.

2 : very small in amount • a niggardly allowance/wage nig-ger /'nigə/ noun, pl -gers [count] offensive : a black person ✧ This is one of the most offensive words in English. Do not use this word.

1nig-gle /'nigəl/ verb nig-gles; nig-gled; nig-gling Brit

1 : to worry or annoy (someone) [+ obj] She had been niggled by worry her entire life. • It really niggles [=bothers, bugs] me that she didn't call. [no obj] — often + at • One question continued to niggle [=nag] at him.

2 [no obj] : to argue or make criticisms about something that is not important • He's always niggling over small details.

2niggle noun, pl nig-gles [count] chiefly Brit

1 : a slight feeling of something (such as doubt) • a niggle of doubt

2 : a slight pain • I've had a knee niggle for the past few days. • He has a bit of a niggle in his back.

3 : a small criticism or complaint • I have a few minor niggles about the performance.

nig-gling /'nigəliŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : causing you to feel a slight pain or to be worried or annoyed for a long time • niggling [=nagging] injuries that just won't heal • a niggling doubt nigh /'nai/ adv, old-fashioned + literary

1 : close in time or place : NEAR • The snow is melting. Spring is nigh. • Morning was drawing nigh. [=it was almost morning] • The end is nigh.

2 : almost or nearly • It would be nigh impossible to fix it. • a nigh perfect evening — often + on, onto, or unto • We've lived here for nigh on 40 years. [=almost 40 years] • nigh onto a century — see also WELL-NIGH

1night /'nait/ noun, pl nights

1 : the time of darkness between one day and the next : the part of the day when no light from the sun can be seen and most people and animals sleep [noncount] Who are you calling at this time of night? • It's eleven o'clock at night. • She and her husband both work at night and sleep during the day. • The store's open all night. • They were up all night long playing video games. • People keep coming back night after night. [=every night for a period of time] [count] Let's stop for the night and get a hotel. • a cold, rainy night in the city • Where were you (on) the night of June 20th? • The room costs $100 a/per night. = The room costs $100 for one night. • I stayed up late five nights in a row. • We were woken up in the middle of the night by a loud crash. = (less commonly) We were woken up in the dead of night by a loud crash. • Did you have a good night's sleep? [=did you sleep well during the night?] • Last night, I had the strangest dream. • I had a late night [=I stayed up very late] last night. • Let's call it an early night. = Let's make an early night of it. [=let's go home or go to bed early tonight] • Let's call it a night. [=let's go home or go to bed now] • She'll have to spend/stay the night in the hospital. [=she will have to sleep overnight in the hospital] • He spent many sleepless nights worrying about his children. [=he lay awake at night worrying about his children] • Spend six nights and seven days on a tropical island in the Caribbean! • He spent the night with [=had sex with and slept with] her. • They decided to spend the night together. [=they decided to have sex and sleep together]

2 [noncount] : the darkness that occurs during the nighttime • They walked out into the night. • Her eyes were as black/dark as (the) night. • animals that hunt by night [=in darkness] • When night fell [=when the sky became dark for the night; at nightfall], we walked back to our car.

3 [count] : the final part of the day that is usually after work, school, etc., and before you go to bed : the early part of the night : EVENING • They go bowling every Tuesday night. • Friday nights, we play cards with the neighbors. • What did you have for dinner last night? • He planned a night of dinner and dancing. • We've planned a night out. [=an evening that you spend outside of your home doing something fun]

4 [count] a : an evening or night that has a special event •

Poetry night [=the night when people read poetry aloud] at the café is every Saturday at eight o'clock. • Wednesday night is our family night. [=the night that our family does things together] • Tuesday night is ladies' night at the ballpark/bar. [=on Tuesday evening, women get a special benefit at the ballpark/bar, such as paying only half price for something] • Tomorrow is the play's opening night. [=the play will be performed in front of an audience for the first time tomorrow night] b : the part of a special day that occurs during the nighttime • Christmas night • They spent their wedding night in a hotel. — compare EVE 2

day and night or night and day see DAY night night or nighty night — used by a child or when speaking to a child as a way of saying "good night" • "Night night, dear." "Nighty night, Mommy."

the still of the night see ⁴STILL

— see also ALL-NIGHT, FLY-BY-NIGHT, GOOD NIGHT, ONE-NIGHT STAND

2night adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to the night • the night sky • the cool night air • during the night hours

2 : for use at night • a night lamp • an animal with excellent night vision [=ability to see in the dark]

3 a : happening at night • He is taking a night flight. • a night game/class [=a game/class in the evening] b : active, working, or operating at night • a night manager at the supermarket • This is the last night bus/train. • I am a night person. [=a person who likes the night; a person who has the most energy at night]

night-cap /'nait,kæp/ noun, pl -caps [count]

1 : a drink that you have just before you go to bed at night and that usually has alcohol in it

2 : a cloth cap that people used to wear in bed in the past night-clothes /'nait,kloʊðz, 'nait,kloʊz/ noun [plural] old-fashioned : clothes that people wear in bed night-club /'nait,klab/ noun, pl -clubs [count] : a place that is open at night, has music, dancing, or a show, and usually serves alcoholic drinks and food • He's performed his comedy show in nightclubs [=clubs] across the country.

night crawler noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : EARTHWORM night depository noun, pl ~ -to-ries [count] US : a special box built into the side of a bank that allows a customer to put money, valuable things, etc., in a safe place when the bank is closed — called also (Brit) night safe

night-dress /'nait,dres/ noun, pl -dress-es [count] Brit : NIGHTGOWN night-fall /'nait,fɑ:l/ noun [noncount] : the time of day when the sky gets dark : the time when night begins • When night-fall came, we were still waiting for the electricity to come back on. • We should be back by/before nightfall. [=dark] night-gown /'nait,gaʊn/ noun, pl -gowns [count] : a loose dress that is worn in bed especially by women and girls — see color picture on page C12 night-ie /'naiti/ noun, pl -ies [count] informal : NIGHTGOWN; especially, US : a sexy and often short nightgown that is worn by women night-in-gale /'naitɪŋgeɪl/ noun, pl -gales [count] : a small brown European bird that sings a beautiful song especially at night night-life /'nait,laɪf/ noun [noncount] : social activities and forms of entertainment that are available at night in bars, nightclubs, etc. • The city is famous for its nightlife.

night-light /'nait,laɪt/ noun, pl -lights [count] : a small light that is on during the night • We keep a nightlight on in the baby's room.

1night-ly /'naitli/ adj : happening or done every night • There were nightly attacks on the city. • a nightly event • the nightly news • These clubs provide nightly entertainment. • She asked me about it on a nightly basis. [=every night]

2nightly adv : every night • She performs at the club nightly. • The restaurant serves dinner nightly.

night-mare /'nait,meə/ noun, pl -mares [count]

1 : a dream that frightens a sleeping person : a very bad dream • Mommy, I had a really scary nightmare. • She had a recurring nightmare [=she had the same bad dream many times] about losing her job.

2 : a very bad or frightening experience or situation • The party was a complete nightmare. • a nightmare situation/scenario • Losing a child is every parent's worst nightmare. [=the thing every parent fears most]

— night-mar-ish /'nait,merɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a nightmarish experience night owl noun, pl ~ owls [count] informal : a person who enjoys staying up late at night nights /'naɪts/ adv, chiefly US : at night : during the nighttime • He works nights and weekends. • Nights, we usually watch TV. — compare DAYS

night safe noun, pl ~ safes [count] Brit : NIGHT DEPOSITORY night school noun [noncount] : high school or college classes that are taught at night for people who work during the day • You could go to night school and earn a degree.

night shift noun, pl ~ shifts [count]

1 : a period of time during the night (such as from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.) in which a person is scheduled to work — usually singular • He works the night shift [= (US) graveyard shift] and sleeps during the day.

2 : a group of people who work during the night shift — usually singular • The night shift is starting to arrive.

night-shirt /'naɪtʃɪt/ noun, pl -shirts [count] : a long, loose shirt that you wear in bed night-spot /'naɪtspɔ:t/ noun, pl -spots [count] : NIGHT-CLUB night-stand /'naɪtstænd/ noun, pl -stands [count] US : a small table that is next to a bed — called also night table

night-stick /'naɪtstɪk/ noun, pl -sticks [count] US : a heavy stick that is carried by police officers and is used as a weapon — called also baton, (US) billy club, (Brit) truncheon

night-time /'naɪttaɪm/ noun [noncount] : the time of darkness between one day and the next : the time of day when no light from the sun can be seen • It's not safe to go out at nighttime. [= (more commonly) night] • The animal hunts in the nighttime. — often used before another noun • nighttime temperatures • a nighttime attack night watchman noun, pl ~ -men [count] : a person whose job is to watch and guard property at night

NIH abbr National Institutes of Health ♦ In the U.S., the National Institutes of Health is a branch of government that pays doctors and scientists to do medical research.

ni-hil-ism /'naɪə,lɪzəm/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the belief that traditional morals, ideas, beliefs, etc., have no worth or value

2 : the belief that a society's political and social institutions are so bad that they should be destroyed

— ni-hil-ist /'naɪəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] — ni-hil-is-tic /'naɪəlɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a nihilistic vision of the world • nihilistic people

-nik /-,nɪk/ noun suffix, informal + often disapproving : a person connected to an activity, an organization, a movement, etc. • a peacenik [= a person who is opposed to war] • (US) a neatnik [= a very neat person]

nil /'nɪl/ noun [noncount]

1 : none at all : ZERO • The chances of that happening are practically/almost nil. [= nothing]

2 Brit : a score of zero • They took a 2 to nil lead in the second half of the game.

nim-ble /'nɪmbəl/ adj nim-bler; nim-blest [or more ~; most ~]

1 : able to move quickly, easily, and lightly • a nimble [= agile] dancer • the pianist's nimble fingers

2 : able to learn and understand things quickly and easily • a nimble [= quick, clever] mind

— nim-bly /'nɪmbli/ adv • She ran nimbly up the stairs.

nim-bus /'nɪmbəs/ noun, pl -bus-es [count] formal + literary : a circle of light : HALO

NIMBY /'nɪmbi/ adj, always used before a noun — used to describe the attitude and actions of people who try to prevent something (such as a prison or a shelter for homeless people) from being built near the place where they live ♦ NIMBY comes from the phrase “not in my back yard.” • News about toxic leaks from old landfills has resulted in the NIMBY syndrome. [= nobody wants a new landfill built nearby, because landfills in other places have poisoned people] • NIMBY issues/pressures

NIMH abbr National Institute of Mental Health ♦ In the U.S., the National Institute of Mental Health supplies money for research about mental illness.

nim-rod /'nɪm,rɔ:d/ noun, pl -rods [count] US slang

1 : a foolish or stupid person • Don't be such a nimrod.

2 : a person who hunts wild animals : HUNTER

nin-com-poop /'nɪnkəm,pu:p/ noun, pl -poops [count] informal : a foolish or stupid person • The people running that company are a bunch of nincompoops!

nine /'naɪn/ noun, pl nines

1 [count] : the number 9

2 [count] : the ninth in a set or series • The next card was the nine of diamonds. • She wears a size nine.

3 [noncount] : nine o'clock • “What time is it?” “It's nine.” • He woke up at nine this morning. • a nine-to-five job [= a job that you work during regular business hours usually in an office]

4 [count] : the first or last nine holes of an 18-hole golf course — usually singular • She didn't play well on the front nine [= on holes 1 through 9], but she was one under par on the back nine. [= on holes 10 through 18]

on cloud nine see ¹CLOUD

the whole nine yards see ²YARD

to the nines : in a very fancy or impressive way • He was dressed to the nines.

— nine adj • It took us nine hours to get there. — nine pronoun • I would like nine (of them), please. • Nine out of 10 [= 90 percent of] doctors agree that this treatment works.

nine days' wonder or nine day wonder noun [singular] chiefly Brit, somewhat old-fashioned : something (such as a news story) that people talk about a lot but only for a short time • She left her husband and ran away with a younger man. It was a nine days' wonder.

nine-teen /'naɪn'ti:n/ noun, pl -teens [count] : the number 19

— nineteen adj • nineteen hours — nineteen pronoun • She bought nineteen (of them). — nine-teenth /'naɪn'ti:nθ/

noun, pl -teenths [count] • The book is due back on the nineteenth (of the month). • one nineteenth of the total cost

— nineteenth adj • He was the country's nineteenth president. • I was the nineteenth person to cross the finish line. • (humorous) the nineteenth hole [= the bar at a golf course where players drink after playing a round of 18 holes of golf] — nineteenth adv • She finished nineteenth in the race. • the country's nineteenth largest state

nine-ty /'naɪnti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] : the number 90

2 nine-ties [plural] a : the numbers ranging from 90 to 99 • temperatures in the nineties • It was priced in the low nineties. [= its price was about $91,000–$93,000] b : a set of years ending in digits ranging from 90 to 99 • I studied there in the nineties. [= between 1990–1999] • During the nineties, he was going to college and working part-time. • He lived into his nineties. [= he was over ninety years old when he died]

— nine-ti-eth /'naɪntɪjəθ/ noun, pl -eths [count] • one ninetieth of the total cost — ninetieth adj • her ninetieth birthday — ninety adj • ninety dollars — ninety pronoun • We spent thirty dollars and had ninety left.

nin-ja /'nɪndʒə/ noun, pl ninja also nin-jas [count] : a fighter who is trained in the Japanese martial arts

nin-ny /'nɪni/ noun, pl -nies [count] informal + somewhat old-fashioned : a foolish or stupid person

¹ninth /'naɪnθ/ noun, pl ninths

1 [singular] : the number nine in a series • We'll be leaving on the ninth. [= the ninth day of the month] • He hit a home run in the ninth. [= the ninth inning of a baseball game]

2 [count] : one of nine equal parts of something • She owned one ninth of the company.

²ninth adj : occupying the number nine position in a series • on the ninth day • the book's ninth edition • She's in (the) ninth grade at school.

— ninth adv • He finished ninth in the race. • the country's ninth largest city

¹nip /'nɪp/ verb nips; nipped; nip-ping

1 : to bite or pinch (someone or something) lightly [+ obj] The dog nipped my ankles. [no obj] — + at • The dog nipped at my ankles.

2 [+ obj] US, sports : to defeat (someone or something) by a small amount • The New York Mets nipped the Atlanta Braves 1–0.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] chiefly Brit, informal : to go to a place quickly or for a short period of time • I had to nip back to my place. • He nipped in ahead of me in line. • He nipped into the store to buy milk.

4 : to harm or hurt (something) with cold [+ obj] An early frost nipped the crops. • The cold wind was nipping my nose. [no obj] — + at • The cold wind nipped at my nose.

nip off [phrasal verb] nip off (something) or nip (something) off : to remove (something) by squeezing it tightly between your fingers or the parts of a tool • He nipped off the bud with his fingers. • She nipped the dead branches off with her clippers.

nip (something) in the bud informal : to stop (something) immediately so that it does not become a worse problem • Inflation will only get worse if the government doesn't do something right now to nip it in the bud.

²nip noun, pl nips

1 [singular] : a feeling of cold • I could feel the nip [=coldness] in the air.

2 [count] : a light bite or pinch • The dog gave me a nip on the leg.

— compare ³NIP

³nip noun, pl nips [count]

1 informal : a small amount of liquor • a nip of whiskey • He takes a nip now and then.

2 : a very small bottle of liquor

— compare ²NIP

nip and tuck adj, US, of a race or other competition : so close that the lead changes quickly and very often from one person or team to another • The race was nip and tuck for a while.

— nip and tuck adv • The candidates were running nip and tuck early in the campaign.

nip·per /'nɪpə/ noun, pl -pers

1 nippers [plural] : a device or tool that is used for cutting something • She used the nippers to prune the bush.

2 [count] chiefly Brit, informal : a small child • when I was just a nipper

nip·ple /'nɪpəl/ noun, pl nip·ples [count]

1 : either one of the two small, round parts on a person's chest that are darker in color than the area around them — see picture at HUMAN

2 US : a rubber or plastic device that is attached to a bottle and that has a small opening from which a baby can suck milk — called also (Brit) teat nip·py /'nɪpi/ adj nip·pi·er; -est informal

1 : somewhat cold : CHILLY • a nippy morning

2 Brit : able to move quickly : FAST • a nippy car

nir·va·na /niə'vɑ:nə, nə'vɑ:nə/ noun, pl -nas

1 [noncount] : the state of perfect happiness and peace in Buddhism where there is release from all forms of suffering

2 : a state or place of great happiness and peace [count] — usually singular • The island is a nirvana for divers. [noncount] Spending the afternoon at the museum was her idea of nirvana. [=paradise, heaven]

nit /'nɪt/ noun, pl nits [count] Brit, informal : a stupid or silly person : NITWIT nit·pick·ing /'nɪt,pɪkɪŋ/ noun [noncount] informal + disapproving : the act of arguing about details that are not important or criticizing small mistakes that are not important • She was tired of all the nitpicking and wanted to get on with the project.

— nit·pick·er /'nɪt,pɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • Nitpickers might question his choice of words, but his point was worth making.

ni·trate /'naɪ,treɪt/ noun, pl -trates [count, noncount] : a chemical compound that contains oxygen and nitrogen and that is used in fertilizer ni·tric acid /'naɪtrɪk-/ noun [noncount] : a strong acid that contains nitrogen and that is used in making fertilizers, explosives, etc.

ni·tro·gen /'naɪtrədʒən/ noun [noncount] : a chemical that has no color or smell and that makes up a large part of the atmosphere ni·tro·glyc·er·in or ni·tro·glyc·er·ine /,naɪtrə'glɪsərən/ noun [noncount] : a liquid that is used in making explosives and in medicine ni·trous oxide /'naɪtrəs-/ noun [noncount] : a gas that is used by dentists to keep patients from feeling pain — called also laughing gas

nit·ty·grit·ty /'nɪti,grɪti/ noun

the nitty-gritty informal : the most important and basic facts or details about something • He deals with the nitty-gritty of running the department. • We finally got down to the nitty-gritty of the problem. • Let's get down to the nitty-gritty and find out what happened.

nit·wit /'nɪt,wɪt/ noun, pl -wits [count] informal : a stupid or silly person • Don't be such a nitwit.

¹nix /'nɪks/ verb nix·es; nixed; nix·ing [+ obj] US, informal : to refuse to accept or allow (something) : to say no to (something, such as a suggestion or plan) • We quickly nixed [=rejected] his idea.

²nix adv, US, informal + somewhat old-fashioned : ¹NO — used to show that you disagree with or will not allow something; often + on • They put a nix on our plan. [=they rejected our plan]

NJ abbr New Jersey

NM abbr New Mexico

NNE abbr north-northeast

NNW abbr north-northwest

¹no /'nou/ adv

1 a — used to give a negative answer or reply to a question, request, or offer • “Are you going?” “No, I am not going.” • “No, you can't have any more candy.” • “Did you hear something?” “No.” • “Do you need a ride?” “No, thank you. My wife is picking me up.” • He wanted to stay longer but I had to say no. • I told him that I couldn't come to the party, but he wouldn't take no for an answer. [=he insisted that I come to the party] b : in a way that shows a negative response • She shook her head no.

2 — used to introduce a statement that corrects an earlier statement • No, that's not the way it happened. • I saw him yesterday—no, the day before. • It's big, no, it's gigantic. • She has the right, no, the duty, to continue her studies.

3 : in no degree or amount : not at all — used in comparisons • The hotel was no better than I expected it to be. • You are no worse off now than you were before. • He works no more than 30 hours per week. • Your experience was no different from mine.

4 — used before an adjective to indicate a meaning that is the opposite of the adjective's meaning • He made it clear in no uncertain terms [=he made it very clear] that he did not approve of the decision. • It is a matter of no small importance. [=it is a matter of much importance]

5 — used to show surprise, doubt, or disbelief • Oh, no. Not again. • No—you don't say? • No, that's impossible. • No, you couldn't have been the one responsible.

6 — used to express agreement with a negative statement • “She shouldn't work so hard.” “No, she really shouldn't.”

7 — used to tell someone not to do something • No, don't touch that switch.

²no adj, always used before a noun

1 : not any • She said she had no money. • I wanted no part of the plan. • They showed no concern for my feelings. • people with little or no experience with computers • There is no parking [=parking is not allowed] on this street. • The sign says “No smoking.” [=smoking is not allowed] • There's no disputing [=it is not possible to dispute] the decision.

2 — used to say that someone or something is not the kind of person or thing being described • He's no expert [=he's not an expert] in American history. • She's no fool. • This is no simple matter. [=this is not a simple matter]

³no noun, pl noes or nos

1 [count] : a negative answer : an answer of no — usually singular • I asked for the day off and received a no in reply.

2 a [count] : a vote of no • There were 110 ayes and only 16 noes. b [plural] : people who are voting no • The noes raised their hands.

No. or no. abbr 1 number • He lives at No. 35 Main Street.

2 north, northern

no-account adj, always used before a noun, US, informal + disapproving : having no worth or value : WORTHLESS • I don't trust her or her lazy, no-account husband.

— no-account noun, pl -counts [count] • Her husband is a lazy no-account.

nob /'nɑ:b/ noun, pl nobs [count] chiefly Brit, informal + old-fashioned : a person who is wealthy or belongs to the upper class • She threw a party and invited all the local nobs.

nob·ble /'nɑ:bəl/ verb nob·bles; nob·bled; nob·bling [+ obj] Brit, informal

1 : to give a drug to (a horse) to keep it from winning a race • We found out later that the horse had been nobbled, which explained its poor performance.

2 : to cause or force (someone) to do something that you want by offering money, making threats, etc. • She was trying to nobble the jury. • nobble a witness

3 : to succeed in getting or catching (something or someone) • I was about to leave when I was nobbled [=nabbed] by a man asking for directions.

No·bel Prize /nou'bel-/ noun, pl ~ Prizes [count] : one of six annual prizes that are awarded to people for important work in the fields of literature, physics, chemistry, medicine, and economics and for helping to bring about peace in the world • He won the Nobel Prize for economics. • the Nobel Peace Prize — called also Nobel

no·bil·i·ty /nou'biləti/ noun

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being noble in character or quality • the nobility of his character • I admire her nobility. • They have shown great courage and nobility of purpose.

2 the nobility : the group of people who are members of the highest social class in some countries • a member of the nobility [=aristocracy]

¹no·ble /'noubəl/ adj no·bler; no·blest [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having, showing, or coming from personal qualities that people admire (such as honesty, generosity, courage, etc.) • He was a man of noble character. • It was noble of her to come forward with this information. • a noble ideal/ambition/cause/purpose

2 always used before a noun : of, relating to, or belonging to the highest social class : of, relating to, or belonging to the nobility • She married a man of noble [=aristocratic] birth/rank. • his noble ancestry • the noble class

3 : impressive in size or appearance • a noble cathedral

4 technical : not chemically affected by other substances (such as oxygen) • Platinum is a noble metal. • Helium is a noble gas.

— no·bly /'noubli/ adv • He worked nobly in support of their efforts.

²noble noun, pl no·bles [count] : a person who is a member of the nobility no·ble·man /'noublmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a man who is a member of the nobility no·blesse oblige /nou,blesə'bli:ʒ/ noun [noncount] formal : the idea that people who have high social rank or wealth should be helpful and generous to people of lower rank or to people who are poor • He was raised to have a strong sense of noblesse oblige.

no·ble·wom·an /'noubəl,wumən/ noun, pl -wom·en /-wimən/ [count] : a woman who is a member of the nobility

¹no·body /'noubədi/ pronoun : no person : NO ONE • There's nobody here. • Nobody could answer my question. • I guess I'll have to volunteer because it's clear nobody else will.

nobody's business see BUSINESS

nobody's fool see ¹FOOL

²nobody noun, pl -bod·ies [count] : someone who is not important or has no influence • He was a nobody in high school.

no·brain·er /'nou'breinər/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal : a decision or choice that is very easy to make and requires very little thought • The offer of a full scholarship made his choice of colleges a no-brainer.

noctur·nal /nak'tənəl/ adj

1 : active mainly during the night • nocturnal animals — opposite DIURNAL

2 formal : happening at night • a nocturnal journey

noctur·ne /'nɑ:k,tən/ noun, pl -turnes [count] : a piece of music especially for the piano that has a soft and somewhat sad melody

¹nod /'nɑ:d/ verb nods; nod·ded; nod·ding

1 a : to move your head up and down as a way of answering "yes" or of showing agreement, understanding, or approval [no obj] She nodded when I asked her if she was ready. • He nodded in agreement. [+ obj] He nodded agreement/approval. • I asked her if she could hear me, and she nodded her head. b : to move your head up and down as a signal to someone or as a way of saying hello or goodbye to someone [no obj] — often + to • The guard nodded to us as we walked in. • He nodded to his assistant to start the slide show. — often + at • She nodded at us as she walked past. [+ obj] She nodded hello.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to slightly move your head in a specified direction • "The bathroom is around the corner," he said, nodding to the left. • She nodded toward the dirty dishes and said she would get to them later.

3 [no obj] : to move up and down • The tulips nodded [=bobbed, swayed] in the breeze.

nod off [phrasal verb] informal : to fall asleep • I nodded off during his speech.

²nod noun, pl nods

1 [count] : a movement of your head up and down especially as a way of answering "yes" or of showing agreement, understanding, or approval : an act of nodding • He gave me a nod [=he nodded at me] as he walked by.

2 [singular] somewhat informal : something done to show that someone or something has been chosen, approved, etc. • He received/got the party's nod as candidate for governor. [=the party chose him as candidate for governor] • She deserves at least a nod [=she deserves at least some recognition] for her management of the project. • We're waiting to get the nod [=to get approval] from the city to start the project. • She finally gave us the nod on the plans. [=she finally approved our plans] on the nod Brit, informal : by general agreement and without discussion • The proposal went through on the nod.

nodding adj, always used before a noun : bending downward or forward • a plant with nodding [=drooping] flowers

a nodding acquaintance : a small amount of knowledge about someone or something • We only have a nodding acquaintance with each other. [=we only know each other slightly] • I only have a nodding acquaintance with Greek history. [=I know only a little about Greek history]

node /'nɒd/ noun, pl nodes [count] technical

1 : a small lump or mass of tissue in your body; especially : LYMPH NODE

2 : the small round part on the stem of a plant where a leaf grows

3 : a place where lines in a network cross or meet • a network node

— nod·al /'nɒdl/ adj, always used before a noun • nodal tissue • a nodal point nod·ule /'nɒ:ɔ:ɡul, Brit 'nɒdʒul/ noun, pl nod·ules [count] technical : a small lump on a part of the body or on the root of a plant • The examination revealed a nodule on his lung. • root nodules

No·el /nou'el/ noun [noncount] : Christmas or the Christmas season ♦ Noel is especially used in Christmas greetings and Christmas songs.

noes plural of ³NO

no-fault adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US

1 — used to describe a type of insurance in which someone involved in a car accident is paid a certain amount of money for damages without the need to decide who caused the accident • no-fault insurance • a no-fault policy/claim

2 law — used to describe a type of divorce in which neither the husband nor the wife is blamed for the end of the marriage • a no-fault divorce

no-fly zone noun, pl ~ zones [count] technical : an area where military airplanes are not allowed to fly during a conflict or war

no-frills adj, always used before a noun : offering or providing only the most important or basic things : not fancy or luxurious • We flew with a no-frills airline. • The restaurant offers no-frills dining.

nog·gin /'nɑ:gən/ noun, pl -gins [count] informal : a person's head • He fell and got a bump on his noggin. • Use your noggin. [=think; use your head]

no-go area noun, pl ~ areas [count] chiefly Brit : an area that is dangerous or where people are not allowed to go • He reported from one of the city's no-go areas. — often used figuratively • Religion is a no-go area when you talk with her.

¹no-good adj, always used before a noun, informal : having no worth, use, or chance of success • Look at what that no-good idiot has done. • I don't trust that lying no-good brother of hers.

²no-good noun, pl -goods [count] US, informal : a bad or useless person • Stay away from those no-goods.

no-hit adj, always used before a noun, baseball — used to describe a game or inning in which a pitcher does not allow the batters from the other team to get a base hit • He pitched a no-hit game today. • After seven no-hit innings, he gave up a home run in the eighth.

no-hit·ter /,nou'hɪtər/ noun, pl -ters [count] baseball : a game in which a pitcher does not allow the batters from the other team to get a base hit • He pitched a no-hitter.

no-holds-barred /,nou,houldz'baəd/ adj : free from the usual limits or rules • a no-holds-barred interview with the senator • a no-holds-barred contest

no-hop·er /'nou'həʊpər/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly Brit, informal : someone or something that has no chance of success • a team of no-hopers

noise /'noɪz/ noun, pl nois·es

1 a [noncount] : a loud or unpleasant sound • I couldn't hear him over all the noise. • That's not music. To me it's a bunch of noise. • The furnace makes a lot of noise when it comes on. • We closed the windows to block out the traffic noise. •

The landlord has been getting complaints from the tenants about noise. b : a sound that someone or something makes [count] There were noises coming from the basement. • The sink was making a gurgling noise. • Do you hear that rattling/buzzing/banging noise? [noncount] The machine hardly makes any noise. — see also BACKGROUND NOISE, WHITE NOISE

2 [noncount] a technical : unwanted electronic signals that harm the quality of something (such as a radio or television broadcast or a digital photograph) b : information that is not useful or important and that makes it more difficult to find the information that you want or need • The initial data included a lot of noise that had to be weeded out.

make noise 1 : to talk about something — often used to suggest that the things being said are not sincere or effective • Congress has been making (a lot of) noise about lowering taxes, but no one expects it to happen. 2 : to complain about something • People have been making (a lot of) noise about the price increases.

make noises 1 : to talk about something in usually an indirect way — usually + about • She started making noises about running for office. [=she started saying things that showed she was thinking about running for office] • Her parents are making noises about wanting a grandchild. • The government has been making some encouraging noises about the possibility of a tax cut. 2 : to make statements of a specified kind • The company has been making soothing/reassuring noises to calm the fears of investors. — often used to suggest that the things being said are not sincere or effective • Politicians are making (all) the right noises about improving the schools, but they don't want to spend any money to do it.

— see also BIG NOISE

— noise-less /'noɪzləs/ adj • The machine is almost noiseless. • noiseless footsteps — noise-less-ly adv • He slipped into the room noiselessly.

noise-maker /'noɪz,meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a device (such as a horn) that is used to make noise at parties • All the guests had noisemakers and party hats.

noise pollution noun [noncount] : loud or unpleasant noise that is caused by automobiles, airplanes, etc., and that is harmful or annoying to the people who can hear it • The airport has made changes to decrease noise pollution.

noisome /'noɪsəm/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : very unpleasant or disgusting • a noisome [=sickening] odor noisy /'noɪzi/ adj nois-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : making a lot of loud or unpleasant noise • The playground was filled with noisy children. • His lawnmower is very noisy. • a noisy crowd

2 : full of loud or unpleasant noise • a noisy street/restaurant/office

— nois-i-ly /'noɪzəli/ adv • The dog barked noisily.

no-mad /'nou,mæd/ noun, pl -mads [count] : a member of a group of people who move from place to place instead of living in one place all the time • a tribe of nomads • He lived like a nomad for a few years after college, never holding a job in one place for very long.

— no-mad-ic /'nou'mædɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • nomadic tribes • He has a very nomadic lifestyle. [=he is always moving to different places]

no-man's-land /'nou,mænz,lænd/ noun [singular] : an area of land between two countries or armies that is not controlled by anyone — often used figuratively • His music lies in the no-man's-land between jazz and rock. • The downtown area was a no-man's-land of abandoned buildings and decay.

nom de plume /,nɑːmdr'pluːm/ noun, pl noms de plume /,nɑːmzdr'pluːm/ [count] formal : a name used by a writer instead of the writer's real name : PEN NAME • He wrote under a nom de plume.

no-men-cla-ture /'noumən,kleɪtʃə, Brit nɑː'menkləʃə/ noun, pl -tures formal : a system of names for things especially in science [noncount] botanical nomenclature [count] the nomenclatures of zoology and chemistry nom-i-nal /'nɑːmənəl/ adj, formal

1 : existing as something in name only : not actual or real • He was the nominal head of the party. [=he was called the head of the party but he did not actually run the party] • Her title of vice president had been nominal only.

2 : very small in amount • a nominal price/charge • They charge a nominal fee for the service. • His involvement was nominal.

— nom-i-nal-ly adv • He was nominally in charge of the project.

nom-i-nate /'nɑːməneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+obj]

1 a : to formally choose (someone) as a candidate for a job, position, office, etc. • We expect the party to nominate him for president. • The President nominated her for Attorney General. — often used as (be) nominated • She was nominated for a second term. b : to choose (someone) for a job, position, office, etc. • The chairman can nominate [=name, appoint] three members to the committee. • Someone has to tell her the truth—I nominate you. — often used as (be) nominated • He was nominated to the Supreme Court. • She was nominated by the chairman.

2 : to choose (someone or something) as a candidate for receiving an honor or award • We nominated her for player of the year. — often used as (be) nominated • He was nominated for an Academy Award for his role in the film. • She was nominated as Best Actress three times in her career.

nom-i-na-tion /,nɑːmə'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a [count] : the act of formally choosing someone as a candidate for a job, position, office, etc. • We expect him to get the Democratic nomination. b : the act of choosing someone for a job, position, office, etc. [count] The Senate has to approve his nomination. [=choice] [noncount] Membership is by nomination only.

2 [count] a : the act of choosing someone or something as a candidate for receiving an honor or award • The novel earned a nomination for the National Book Award. • The film received five Academy Award nominations. b : someone or something that has been chosen as a candidate for receiving an honor or award • The nominations for the Academy Awards have been announced.

nom-i-na-tive /'nɑːməneɪtɪv/ noun [noncount] grammar : the form of a noun, pronoun, or adjective when it is the subject of a verb • "He" in "He sees her" is in the nominative.

— compare ACCUSATIVE

— nominative adj • the nominative case

nom-i-nee /,nɑːmə'niː/ noun, pl -nees [count] : someone or something that has been chosen as a candidate for a job, position, office, honor, award, etc. : someone or something that has been nominated • He is expected to be the Democratic nominee. • There's been a lot of controversy about the nominee to the Supreme Court. — often + for • She is one of the nominees for Best Actress. • the President's nominee for Attorney General

non- /nɑːn/ prefix : not • nonfatal • nonfiction • nonprofit • non-native English speakers • a nonreligious holiday

no-na-ge-nar-i-an /,nəʊnədʒə'nerɪjən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a person who is between 90 and 99 years old non-ag-gres-sion /,nɑːnə'ɡreʃən/ noun [noncount] : a situation in which countries promise that they will not attack each other • a policy of nonaggression • The countries have signed a nonaggression treaty/pact. [=a formal agreement between countries to not attack each other] non-al-co-hol-ic /,nɑːn,ælkə'hɑːlɪk/ adj — used to describe a drink that does not contain any alcohol • nonalcoholic drinks/beer

non-aligned /,nɑːnə'lænd/ adj : not having made an official agreement to receive support from and give support to one extremely powerful country (such as the U.S. or the U.S.S.R.) rather than another • nonaligned countries

— non-align-ment /,nɑːnə'ləɪnmənt/ noun [noncount] • a policy of nonalignment [=neutrality]

no-name /'nou,neɪm/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US

1 : having a name that most people do not know : not well-known • She often buys cheap, no-name products.

2 : having players, members, etc., whose names are not by most people • a no-name baseball team

— no-name noun, pl -names [count] • He was surprised that a team full of no-names won the championship.

non-ap-pear-ance /,nɑːnə'pɪərəns/ noun, pl -anc-es [count, noncount] somewhat formal : failure to be at a place where you are expected to be • His fans were disappointed by his nonappearance at the concert.

non-at-ten-dance /,nɑːnə'tendəns/ noun [noncount] : failure to be at a place or event where you are expected to be • The school district worked on ways to lower the rate of non-attendance among its students.

non-be-liev-er /,nɑːnbə'liːvə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who does not believe in something (such as a religious belief or a scientific idea about how something happens or could happen) • a memorial service that is suitable for both believers and nonbelievers • They're trying to convince the nonbelievers.

non-bind-ing /nən'baɪndɪŋ/ adj, law : not officially requiring that you do something : not able to be enforced by law • We entered/signed a nonbinding agreement to buy our competitor. [=we agreed to buy our competitor, but we did not make a legal and official promise to buy it]

non-bi-o-log-i-cal /nən,bajə'la:dʒɪkəl/ adj

1 : not coming from or related to things that are alive • rocks, minerals, and other nonbiological things

2 : related through adoption rather than birth • nonbiological parents and siblings

¹nonce /'nɑːns/ noun

for the nonce somewhat formal : for now : for the moment • The team is called "the Lions," at least for the nonce.

²nonce adj, always used before a noun : used or made only once or for a special occasion • a nonce word/term non-cha-lant /,nɑːnʃə'laːnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : relaxed and calm in a way that shows that you do not care or are not worried about anything • He was surprisingly nonchalant about winning the award. • She faced the crowd with the nonchalant ease of an experienced speaker. • The team may have been somewhat nonchalant at the beginning of the season, but they now know that they need to work hard.

— non-cha-lance /,nɑːnʃə'laːns/ noun [noncount] • She faced the crowd with the nonchalance of an experienced speaker. • His nonchalance about winning the award is a little surprising. — non-cha-lant-ly adv

non-cit-i-zen /nən'sɪtəzən/ noun, pl -zens [count] chiefly US : a person who lives in a country and is not a legal citizen of it • Voting rights do not apply to noncitizens. [=aliens]

non-com /'nɑːn,kɑːm/ noun, pl -coms [count] US : NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICER

non-com-ba-tant /,nɑːnkəm'bætənt/ noun, pl -tants [count]

1 : a person (such as a military chaplain or doctor) who is in the army, navy, etc., but does not fight

2 : a person who is not in the army, navy, etc. : CIVILIAN

non-com-mer-cial /,nɑːnkə'mɜːʃəl/ adj

1 a : not used for earning money • noncommercial properties • The worksheets are free for anyone to use for noncommercial purposes. b : not made or operated for the purpose of earning money • a noncommercial theater • noncommercial art

2 : without advertisements : not paid for by advertisers • noncommercial radio/television

non-com-mis-sioned officer /,nɑːnkə'mɪʃənd-/ noun, pl ~ -cers [count] : an officer (such as a sergeant or corporal) who has a low rank in the army, air force, or marine corps — called also NCO, noncom

non-com-mit-tal /,nɑːnkə'mɪtəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not telling or showing what you think about something • She would only give noncommittal answers about her plans. • The president remained noncommittal, saying only that all options would be considered. — often + about • He was noncommittal about how the money would be spent.

— non-com-mit-tal-ly adv • "We'll have to wait and see," she replied noncommittally.

non-com-mu-nist /nən'kɑːmjənɪst/ adj : not having or supporting communism as a political and economic system • noncommunist nations/parties

non-com-pet-i-tive /,nɑːnkəm'petətɪv/ adj, chiefly US

1 a : not very interested in winning or being more successful than other people • He's a pretty noncompetitive guy, especially compared to his brothers. b : not involved in official competitions, contests, etc. • Once a week, he plays hockey in a noncompetitive league.

2 : not good enough to compete with others • The school was unable to hire good teachers because it was paying noncompetitive wages/salaries.

3 : not having or allowing competition • The report describes dozens of noncompetitive contracts [=contracts that were unfairly given to a company without seeing if another company would do the job for less money] that the state has illegally given out in the past five years.

— non-com-pet-i-tive-ly adv — non-com-pet-i-tive-ness noun [noncount]

non-com-pli-ance /,nɑːnkəm'plajəns/ noun [noncount] chiefly US, formal : the condition of not having or doing something that is officially required • The town has increased the fine for noncompliance (with the law) to $100. • When the law goes into effect next month, every school found to be in noncompliance will be fined $1,000 per day.

— non-com-pli-ant /,nɑːnkəm'plajənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a noncompliant prisoner/patient • noncompliant software • Schools that are noncompliant will be fined.

non-con-form-ist /,nɑːnkən'fɔːrmɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who does not behave the way most people behave : someone who does not conform • He was a nonconformist in college but now wears a three-piece suit to work every day. • They were stubborn nonconformists who chose to be arrested instead of obeying the laws. — opposite CONFORMIST

— nonconformist adj • nonconformist behavior • nonconformist [=unorthodox] views non-con-for-mi-ty /,nɑːnkən'fɔːməti/ noun [noncount] : failure or refusal to behave the way most people behave : failure or refusal to conform • As a teenager, he was embarrassed by his parents' nonconformity.

non-con-fron-ta-tion-al /nən,kɑːnfrən'teɪʃənəl/ adj : not likely to make people angry or upset • She wanted to talk to them about their behavior in a nonconfrontational way. : tending to avoid arguments and conflict with other people • He has a mild, nonconfrontational nature.

non-con-sen-su-al /,nɑːnkən'sɛnsəwəl/ adj : not agreed to by one or more of the people involved • nonconsensual sex non-con-trib-u-to-ry /,nɑːnkən'trɪbjə'tɔːri, Brit ,nɒnkən'trɪbjətri/ adj : paid for completely by an employer : not requiring payments from the workers • The company offered both a contributory and a noncontributory plan for workers' pensions.

non-con-tro-ver-sial /nən,kɑːntrə'vɜːʃəl/ adj : not causing a lot of discussion, disagreement, or argument : not likely to cause controversy • a relatively noncontroversial issue non-co-op-er-a-tion /,nɑːnkou,ə'pɜːreɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : failure or refusal to do what someone has told or asked you to do : lack of cooperation • They adopted a strategy of noncooperation until they were treated fairly.

non-count noun /'nɑːn'kaʊnt-/ noun, pl ~ nouns [count] grammar : a noun (such as "sand" or "butter") that refers to something that cannot be counted ♦ Noncount nouns do not have a plural form and are not used with the indefinite articles a and an. — called also mass noun; compare COUNT NOUN

non-cred-it /'nɑːn'krɛdɪt/ adj, always used before a noun, US : not able to be counted as one of the courses that you must take to get a degree from a college or university : not taken for credit (sense 7b) • a noncredit course/class

non-cus-to-di-al /,nɑːnkə'stɒdɪjəl/ adj, always used before a noun, law

1 : not living with your child or having the responsibility of caring for your child after a divorce, legal separation, etc. : not having custody • a noncustodial parent

2 non-custodial Brit : involving punishment that does not require a criminal to spend time in prison • The judge favors non-custodial sentences/punishments for most first offenses.

non-dairy /nən'dɛəri/ adj : not containing or made with milk • nondairy whipped topping • nondairy creamer non-de-nom-i-na-tion-al /,nɑːndɪ,nɑːmə'neɪʃənəl/ adj : made for or used by people who belong to different religious groups : not restricted to a single denomination • a nondenominational church/congregation/service non-de-script /,nɑːndɪ'skrɪpt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not easily described : having no special or interesting qualities, parts, etc. : typical and uninteresting • I work in one of the nondescript office buildings downtown. • Their performance was disappointingly nondescript.

¹none /'nʌn/ pronoun : not any of a group of people or things : no amount or part of something • None of this was necessary. • Why are all the guests standing in the kitchen and none sitting in the living room? • Half a piece is better than none. • The frozen yogurt tastes like ice cream but has none of the fat (that ice cream has). • Though the languages are related they share almost/virtually none of the same vocabulary. • None of it is finished yet. • "Can I have some soup?" "I'm afraid there's none left." [=there is no more soup; no soup remains] • None of the birds was/were singing. • Of all the competitions, none is/are more important than this one. = Of all the competitions, there is/are none as important as this one. • To cut back on cholesterol my doctor said I should eat less meat or none at all. • "You have no doubts?" "None whatsoever." • This is none of your affair/business. [=you should not interfere in this situation; it is not proper for you to say, do, or ask anything about this]

have none of : to refuse to accept, allow, or be influenced by (a particular behavior) : to not allow someone to do (something) • I will have none of that kind of talk in my house. • The group petitioned to have the votes counted again, but the government would have none of that. • They begged their mother to take them out for ice cream, but she was having none of it.

none but somewhat formal : no person or kind of person except : ONLY • a sport for none but the most brave • It was a request that none but the most coldhearted (person) could refuse.

none other than — used to show that you are surprised or impressed by the person or thing you are about to mention • It turns out I was sitting next to none other than the founder of the magazine. • None other than my favorite actor was cast in the lead role.

none the less : NONETHELESS

second to none : better than all others of the same kind • His cakes are second to none. [=the cakes he makes are better than all other cakes] • The city's public transportation system is second to none.

²none adv

none the — used in phrases with adjectives like worse, better, etc., to say that someone or something is not any worse, better, etc., than before; often + for • We had to change our plans, but we were none the worse for it in the end. • She's been traveling constantly for the past several weeks, but she seems to be none the worse for wear. • The restaurant replaced the lobster with crab and the customers were none the wiser. [=customers who ate the crab did not know that it was not lobster; customers thought they were eating lobster]

none too : not at all • He was none too happy [=not happy at all] about the situation. • She was none too pleased. • The firefighters reached the burning house none too soon. [=they reached it just in time to prevent something bad from happening]

non-en-ti-ty /nənˈentəti/ noun, pl -ties [count] : a person who is not famous or important • She quickly went from being a nonentity [=nobody] to being one of the most famous women in the country.

¹non-es-sen-tial /nɑːnɪˈsɛnʃəl/ adj : not completely necessary : not essential • All nonessential personnel had to be laid off. • Please avoid all nonessential uses of water.

²nonessential noun, pl -tials [count] : something that is not completely necessary : something that is not essential — usually plural • She puts aside money in her monthly budget for nonessentials like haircuts and vacations.

none-the-less /nənðəˈles/ adv, somewhat formal : in spite of what has just been said : NEVERTHELESS • There's no doubt the city is changing for the better. Nonetheless [=however], no one has been too surprised by the recent violence. • The hike was difficult, but fun nonetheless. [=the hike was fun even though it was difficult] non-event /ˈnɑːnɪˈvɛnt/ noun, pl -events [count] informal : an event that is much less interesting or important than it was expected to be — usually singular • To their surprise, her resignation was a nonevent. • The town expected protests, but the smoking ban actually turned out to be a nonevent.

non-ex-ec-u-tive (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit non-ex-ec-u-tive /nɑːnɪɡˈzɛkjətɪv/ adj, always used before a noun, business : allowed to give advice but not allowed to make important decisions • She will remain with the company as nonexecutive chairman after she retires. • nonexecutive director non-ex-is-tent /nɑːnɪɡˈzɪstənt/ adj : not present or real : not existing • Programs to protect endangered animals are virtually/practically/almost/essentially nonexistent in that country. • These days the disease is rare or nonexistent in most places. • You are living in fear of a nonexistent threat.

— non-ex-is-tence /nɑːnɪɡˈzɪstəns/ noun [noncount] • a debate over the existence or nonexistence of God non-fat /ˈnɑːnˈfæt/ adj : having no fat : with the fat removed • nonfat milk non-fa-tal /ˈnɑːnˈfɜːtl/ adj : not causing death : not fatal • There has been an increase in the number of nonfatal shootings in the city.

non-fic-tion /ˈnɑːnˈfɪkʃən/ noun [noncount] : writing that is about facts or real events : all writing that is not fiction • He reads a lot of nonfiction. — often used before another noun • nonfiction books/works • History books are in the library's nonfiction section.

non-fi-nite /ˈnɑːnˈfaɪnaɪt/ adj, grammar : not showing differences in tense, grammatical person, or number : not finite • “Be” in “I’m going to be a teacher when I grow up” is a nonfinite verb. • “Standing” is one of the verb's nonfinite forms.

non-flam-ma-ble /ˈnɑːnˈflæməbəl/ adj : not burning or not burning easily : not easily set on fire • nonflammable fabric non-gov-ern-men-tal /nənˈɡʌvənˈmentl/ also non-gov-ern-ment /nənˈɡʌvənˈmɛnt/ adj, always used before a noun : not belonging to or controlled by a government • Many nongovernmental charities are run by religious groups. • We turned to an environmentalist nongovernmental organization [=NGO] for advice on responsible waste disposal.

non-hu-man /nənˈhjuːmən/ adj : not a man, woman, or child : not a human being • nonhuman primates/animals — compare INHUMAN, SUBHUMAN non-in-ter-ven-tion /ˌnɑːnɪntəˈvɛnʃən/ noun [noncount] : refusal to become involved in another country's business, problems, etc. • The country has adopted a policy of nonintervention.

— non-in-ter-ven-tion-ist /ˌnɑːnɪntəˈvɛnʃənɪst/ adj • a strict noninterventionist policy non-in-va-sive /ˌnɑːnɪnˈveɪsɪv/ adj, medical : done without cutting the body or putting something into the body • noninvasive techniques of measuring brain activity non-is-sue /ˈnɑːnɪʃu/ noun, pl -is-sues [count] : an issue that is not important : something that people are not concerned about — usually singular • She's very good at her job. Her disability is a nonissue. • The fact that one of the candidates is an immigrant is a nonissue. [=people do not care that the candidate is an immigrant] non-judg-men-tal or chiefly Brit non-judge-men-tal /ˌnɑːnɪdʒdʒˈmentl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : tending not to judge other people harshly or unfairly : not too critical of other people • A good friend is nonjudgmental. • nonjudgmental people non-mem-ber /ˈnɑːnˈmɛmbə/ noun, pl -bers [count] : someone who is not a member of a particular organization • Entry to the museum costs $10 for nonmembers.

non-na-tive /nənˈneɪtɪv/ adj : not native: such as a of an animal or plant : living or growing in a place that is not the region where it naturally lives and grows • Irrigation allows non-native plants to grow in the desert. • Non-native species of insects are having devastating effects on local crops. b : not born or raised in the place where a particular language is spoken • The college has English classes for non-native speakers. [=people who are not native speakers of English]

— non-native noun, pl -tives [count] • I was surprised at how well people in that country treated me, a non-native. • classes for non-natives

non-ne-go-tia-ble /ˌnɑːnɪˈɡoʊfɪjəbəl/ adj

1 : not allowed to be discussed and possibly changed • The school must meet several non-negotiable requirements to be eligible for the funding. • a non-negotiable contract • Her parents simply said, “You must finish high school. It's non-negotiable.”

2 finance, of a check : able to be exchanged for money only by the person whose name is on it

no-no /ˈnoʊnoʊ/ noun, pl no-no's or no-nos [count] informal

1 : something that people are not supposed to do because it is not proper, safe, fashionable, etc. • Forgetting to introduce your guests to one another is a big no-no when hosting a party. • Sharing prescription medication with other people is a definite no-no. • fashion no-no's

2 baseball : NO-HITTER

no-nonsense adj [more ~; most ~] : very serious about doing things in a direct and efficient way without any foolishness or nonsense • I want to wear something that will make me look like a no-nonsense professional. • a doctor who is very no-nonsense • a no-nonsense attitude

¹non-pa-reil /ˌnɑːnpəˈreɪl/ adj, formal : better than any other : having no equal • That bakery's cakes are nonpareil. [=incomparable, unparalleled] • He was the teacher nonpareil [=the best teacher] at his school.

²nonpareil noun, pl -reils

1 [singular] formal : someone or something that is better than any other • Elvis was the nonpareil of early American rock and roll.

2 [count] US : a candy that is a small, flat, round piece of chocolate covered with tiny balls made of sugar non-par-ti-san /ˈnɑːnˈpɑːtəzən/ adj : not supporting one political party or group over another : not partisan • It's a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization dedicated to preserving our national parks.

non-pay-ment /'nɑ:n'peɪmənt/ noun [noncount] formal : failure to pay money that you owe for rent, taxes, etc. — often + of • Their electricity was turned off for nonpayment of bills. [=because they did not pay their electricity bills]

non-per-ish-able /nɑn'pɛrɪʃəbəl/ adj : able to be stored for a long time before being eaten or used • nonperishable food items

— nonperishable noun, pl -ables [count] — usually plural • The students collected nonperishables to give to the poor.

non-plussed also US non-plused /,nɑ:n'plʌst/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] formal : so surprised or confused by something that you do not know what to say, think, or do : PERPLEXED • He was nonplussed by his daughter's confession that she had stolen the CD. • She looked slightly nonplussed at first but composed herself quickly.

non-po-lit-i-cal /,nɑ:n'pɒ'lɪtɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not political : not influenced by or interested in political issues • The organization is nonpolitical. [=apolitical] • a nonpolitical speech/magazine • nonpolitical motives/issues

non-prac-tic-ing /,nɑ:n'præktɪsɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : not regularly doing the things that are associated with your religion, the profession you were trained in, etc. • a nonpracticing Catholic/lawyer

non-pre-scrip-tion /,nɑ:n'prɪ'skrɪpʃən/ adj, always used before a noun : possible to buy without an official written order from a doctor : possible to buy without a prescription • a nonprescription [=over-the-counter] pain reliever non-prof-it /'nɑ:n'prɒ:fət/ adj : not existing or done for the purpose of making a profit • a nonprofit group/agency that provides care to recovering drug addicts • Schools don't pay sales tax on supplies because they have nonprofit status. ♦ A nonprofit organization uses whatever money it earns or raises to run the organization and to do the work of the organization. Nonprofit organizations usually do work that helps people or supports something valued by many people in a society (such as art or education).

— nonprofit noun, pl -its [count] • She works for a local nonprofit that provides care to recovering drug addicts.

non-profit-making adj, Brit : NONPROFIT • a non-profit-making organization non-pro-lif-er-a-tion /,nɑ:n'prɒ,lɪfə'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act of stopping the production of nuclear and chemical weapons or of limiting the number of nuclear and chemical weapons in the world • a conference to discuss nuclear nonproliferation • a nonproliferation treaty

non-re-fund-able /,nɑ:n'rɪ'fʌndəbəl/ adj

1 of something you buy : not allowed to be returned in exchange for the money you paid • The tickets are nonrefundable unless the show is canceled.

2 of a payment : not to be returned • A nonrefundable deposit [=a deposit of money that will not be returned to you] is required when you place an order.

non-re-new-able /,nɑ:n'rɪ'nu:wəbəl/ adj

1 : not able to grow again or be made again : not able to be replaced by nature • Scientists are looking for new sources of fuel to replace our dependence on nonrenewable resources such as oil.

2 : not continued or repeated after a period of time has ended • a nonrenewable contract/lease • a nonrenewable college scholarship

non-res-i-dent /'nɑ:n'rezədənt/ noun, pl -dents [count]

1 : a person who does not live in a particular town, city, state, or country : a person who is not a resident • Nonresidents need to fill out special paperwork to get a library card. • This parking lot is closed to nonresidents.

2 non-resident Brit : a person who is not staying in a particular hotel • The hotel dining room is open to non-residents for dinner.

— nonresident adj • For her U.S. income taxes, she is considered a nonresident alien. [=a person who is born in another country and is not considered a permanent resident of the U.S.]

non-res-i-den-tial /nɑn'rezə'denʃəl/ adj

1 : not made for people to live in • The company installs security systems in nonresidential buildings. • The bottom floor of the building is for nonresidential use and the top two floors have apartments.

2 non-residential Brit, of an activity, class, etc. : not including or providing a place for people to live • a non-residential course • non-residential summer school

non-re-strict-ive /,nɑ:n'rɪ'strɪktɪv/ adj

1 : not limiting or controlling something • It's a nonrestrictive diet that stresses eating smaller portions rather than not eating certain foods. • You'll be moving around a lot, so wear nonrestrictive clothing. [=clothes that do not make it difficult to move freely]

2 grammar, of a word or group of words : describing or giving more information about a person or thing but not needed to understand which person or thing is meant • In the sentence "My brother, who works at a restaurant, just got his first car," "who works at a restaurant" is a nonrestrictive clause.

— compare RESTRICTIVE

non-re-turn-able /,nɑ:n'rɪ'tənəbəl/ adj

1 : not allowed to be returned to a store for money or something of similar value • Clothing bought during the sale is nonreturnable. [=you cannot bring it back to the store in exchange for the money you paid for it] • nonreturnable bottles/cans

2 : not to be returned • a nonreturnable [=nonrefundable] deposit non-sci-en-tif-ic /nɑn,sajən'tɪfɪk/ adj

1 : not based on scientific methods or principles • a nonscientific [=unscientific] survey/poll/study

2 : not trained in science • A nonscientific reader may be unfamiliar with some of the terms in the article.

non-sense /'nɑ:n'sens/ noun [noncount]

1 : words or ideas that are foolish or untrue • I don't know why you believe that nonsense about certain numbers being unlucky. • The stories she told about him are sheer/utter/complete/absolute nonsense. [=the stories are completely false] • He says he was attacked by a frog? Nonsense. [=I do not believe that he was attacked by a frog] • She thinks that astrology is nonsense. • The rumors are a lot of nonsense. [=they are not true] • Don't listen to him. He's talking nonsense.

2 : behavior that is silly, annoying, or unkind • He was not in the mood to put up with any nonsense from his little brother. • If they start pushing each other or some such nonsense, send them to their rooms. • She doesn't take any nonsense from anyone. — see also NO-ONSENSE

3 : language that has no meaning • Many of the words in the poem are nonsense. • I understood so few of the words they were using that the conversation sounded like nonsense to me. — often used before another noun • When he didn't know the words, he sang along using nonsense syllables. • Her stories are full of nonsense words that kids have fun trying to say. • nonsense verse/poems/rhyme [=silly poetry that often uses words that are not real words]

make (a) nonsense of Brit : to cause (something) to no longer be effective : to take away the value or usefulness of (something) • The lack of guards makes a nonsense of the security checkpoint.

non-sen-si-cal /,nɑ:n'sensɪkəl/ adj : very foolish or silly • a nonsensical argument • It would be nonsensical to accept the lower paying job.

non se-qui-tur /'nɑ:n'sekwətər/ noun, pl ~ -turs [count] : a statement that is not connected in a logical or clear way to anything said before it • We were talking about the new restaurant when she threw in some non sequitur about her dog. ♦ Non sequitur is a Latin phrase that literally means "it does not follow."

non-sex-ist /nɑn'seksɪst/ adj : not sexist : treating men and women equally and fairly • nonsexist language non-skid /'nɑ:n'skɪd/ adj : made to prevent slipping or skidding : not allowing something to slide • shoes with non-skid soles • a non-skid surface non-slip /'nɑ:n'slɪp/ adj : made to prevent slipping : not allowing something to slide • shoes with non-slip soles • a non-slip handle non-smok-er /,nɑ:n'smoukər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who does not smoke

non-smok-ing /nɑn'smoukɪŋ/ adj

1 — used to describe a place where people are not allowed to smoke • Let's sit in the restaurant's non-smoking section. • The bar is non-smoking. [=people are not allowed to smoke in the bar]

2 always used before a noun, of a person : not having the habit of smoking • I'm looking for a non-smoking roommate. [=a roommate who does not smoke]

non-spe-cif-ic /,nɑ:n'sprɪ'sɪfɪk/ adj

1 medical : not clearly having one specific cause • nonspecific

ic pain/inflammation • a patient complaining of nonspecific symptoms

2 : not clearly understood or described : lacking specific details • a nonspecific [=general] threat • What little information we have is nonspecific.

non-standard /ˌnɑːnˈstændəd/ adj

1 : not accepted or used by most of the educated speakers and writers of a language • nonstandard dialects • a nonstandard word

2 : not the usual size or kind • He works nonstandard hours so that he can pick his kids up from school. • a nonstandard-sized bottle/card • nonstandard fuels — opposite STANDARD; compare SUBSTANDARD

non-start-er /ˌnɑːnˈstɑːtə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 informal : someone or something that will not be effective or successful — usually singular • Tax reform appears to be a nonstarter this year. • As a candidate, he's a nonstarter. [=he has no chance to succeed as a candidate] • She acknowledges that the proposal may be a political nonstarter.

2 US, sports : a player who is not chosen to play at the beginning of games : a player who is not one of the starters on a team • She's the leading scorer among the team's nonstarters.

non-stick /ˌnɑːnˈstriːk/ adj : allowing easy removal of cooked food • There is a nonstick coating on the pan. • a nonstick skillet/spray

non-stop /ˌnɑːnˈstɑːp/ adj

1 : done or made without stopping • a nonstop [=direct] flight • The airline has nonstop service between Boston and Seattle. [=it has planes that regularly fly between Boston and Seattle without stopping]

2 : not stopping • The festival is five days of nonstop [=continuous] music. • The action in the movie is nonstop. [=very exciting things happen throughout the movie]

— nonstop adv • The plane is capable of flying nonstop between New York and Beijing. • They danced nonstop until the club closed. • The baby cried nonstop [=continuously] for hours. • She drove 15 hours nonstop.

non-tax-able /ˌnɑːnˈtæksəbəl/ adj : not taxed • nontaxable income non-threat-en-ing /ˌnɑːnˈθreɪnɪŋ/ adj : not likely to cause someone to be afraid or worried : not threatening • It's best to approach the dog in a calm, nonthreatening way.

non-tox-ic /ˌnɑːnˈtɒksɪk/ adj : not poisonous • The school uses only nontoxic paint. • The chemicals are relatively non-toxic but should be kept away from children and animals.

non-tra-di-tion-al /ˌnɑːnˈtrædɪʃənəl/ adj : different from what is typical or usual • He has a very nontraditional approach to teaching. • The college encourages nontraditional students [=students who are older than the typical age of college students] to apply. • children growing up in nontraditional families [=families that are not made up of one mother, one father, and a child or children] non-trans-fer-able /ˌnɑːnˈtrænsˈfərəbəl/ adj : not able to be given to or used by another person • The plane tickets are nonrefundable and non-transferable.

non-union /ˌnɑːnˈjuːnjən/ adj

1 : not belonging to a labor union • nonunion employees/workers • They are cutting costs by using nonunion labor.

2 : not accepting labor unions • nonunion employers : not having employees who are members of a labor union • It's a nonunion construction firm.

non-union-ized also Brit non-union-ised /ˌnɑːnˈjuːnjəˌnaɪzd/ adj : NONUNION • non-unionized employees • a non-unionized company

non-ver-bal /ˌnɑːnˈvəbəl/ adj

1 : not involving or using words • Facial expressions are very important for nonverbal communication.

2 : not able to speak • a nonverbal child

— non-ver-bal-ly adv • People communicate a lot of information nonverbally.

non-vi-o-lence /ˌnɑːnˈvajələns/ noun [noncount] : the practice of refusing to respond to anything (such as unfair or violent acts by a government) with violence • The group promotes nonviolence. • Demonstration organizers are urging nonviolence.

non-vi-o-lent /ˌnɑːnˈvajələnt/ adj : not using or involving violence • He argued that nonviolent drug offenders should receive shorter sentences. • a nonviolent [=peaceful] protest against the war

— non-vi-o-lent-ly adv • The group marched nonviolently to the courthouse to protest the decision.

non-West-ern /ˌnɑːnˈwestən/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the part of the world that does not include the countries of western Europe and North America • non-Western countries • the non-Western world • non-Western art/culture non-white /ˌnɑːnˈwaɪt/ noun, pl -whites [count] : a person who is not a member of the white race : a person who does not have the light-colored skin of people whose ancestors were European • The program is even less popular among nonwhites.

— nonwhite adj • The city just elected its first nonwhite mayor. • About half the students are nonwhite.

1 noo-dle /ˈnuːdl/ noun, pl noo-dles [count] : a thin strip of dough that is made from flour, water, and eggs and that is cooked in boiling liquid • Chinese/egg noodles • chicken noodle soup [=soup made with chicken and noodles]

2 noodle verb noodles; noo-dled; noo-dling [no obj] US, informal

1 : to play a musical instrument in an informal way without playing a particular piece of music • He was just noodling around on the guitar.

2 : to think about something in a way that is not very serious • It's a thought I've been noodling around with for some time.

noog-le /ˈnuːɡl/ noun, pl -les [count] US, informal : the act of rubbing your knuckles on a person's head to cause annoyance or slight pain • The boys gave each other noogies.

nook /ˈnuːk/ noun, pl nooks [count]

1 : a small space or corner that is inside something • an old house full of nooks and crannies

2 : a part of a room (such as a corner) that is used for a specific purpose • a breakfast nook • a cozy nook perfect for reading

3 literary : a quiet place that is sheltered by a tree, rock, etc. • We found a shady nook under an old oak tree.

every nook and cranny : every part or place • We searched every nook and cranny. [=we searched everywhere] • He knows every nook and cranny of that engine.

nooky or nook-le /ˈnuːki/ noun [noncount] slang : the act of having sex • guys looking for a little nookie

noon /ˈnuːn/ noun [noncount] : the middle of the day : 12 o'clock in the daytime • Meet me at/around noon. • half past noon • The party will take place from noon to 4 p.m. • He showed up at precisely 12 noon. — often used before another noun • the noon meal/hour • the hot noon sun — see also HIGH NOON

morning, noon, and night see MORNING

noon-day /ˈnuːnˌdeɪ/ noun [noncount] literary : the middle of the day : MIDDAY — usually used before another noun • the heat of the noonday sun

no one pronoun : no person : NOBODY • We called, but no one answered. • No one has ever done this before. • There's no one else here. • No one knows her better than I do. • The news came as a surprise to no one. [=nobody was surprised by the news]

noon-time /ˈnuːnˌtaɪm/ noun [noncount] : NOON • The traffic gets heavy around/at noontime. — often used before another noun • the noontime meal/sun noose /ˈnuːs/ noun, pl nooses [count] : a large loop at the end of a rope that gets smaller when you pull the rope and that is used to hang people, to capture animals, etc. • the hangman's noose tighten the noose : to make a situation more difficult for someone • The new tougher penalties will tighten the noose on traffic offenders. • They tightened the noose around the enemy by cutting the supply lines.

nope /ˈnoup/ adv, informal : NO • “Have you finished the book yet?” “Nope.” — compare YEP

nor /ˈnɔː/ conj

1 — used after neither to show something is also not true, possible, allowed, etc. • It's neither good nor bad. • I neither know nor care what they think. • Neither you nor I nor anyone else will tell him. • His problems are neither my business nor yours. ♦ When neither and nor are used to join two subjects, the verb should agree with the subject that is closer to it. • Neither my mother nor I am going there today. — see also neither here nor there at HERE

2 — used after a negative statement to introduce a related negative word or statement • She's not the best student in her class, (but) nor is she the worst. • He didn't quit his job, nor was he fired. • He is not going to the meeting (and) nor am I. • (formal) “I don't know her.” “Nor do I.” [=neither do I; I don't know her either]

Nor·dic /'noʊdɪk/ adj : of or relating to Sweden, Norway, Denmark, and sometimes Finland and Iceland, or to the people who live there • the Nordic countries • Nordic languages • She looks very Nordic. [=she has the skin, hair, and eye color of a person who lives in Scandinavia]

nor'easter variant spelling of NORTHEASTER 2

norm /'noʊm/ noun, pl norms

1 norms [plural] : standards of proper or acceptable behavior • social/cultural norms

2 the norm : an average level of development or achievement • She scored well above/below the norm in math.

3 the norm : something (such as a behavior or way of doing something) that is usual or expected • Smaller families have become the norm. • Women used to stay at home to take care of the children, but that's no longer the norm.

¹nor·mal /'noʊməl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : usual or ordinary : not strange • a normal day • He had a normal childhood. • These little setbacks are a normal part of life. • Our normal [=regular] business hours are from nine to five. • a potato twice as big as normal size • Despite her illness, she was able to lead a normal life. • Under/in normal circumstances [=normally, usually], this wouldn't be a problem.

2 : mentally and physically healthy • They had a normal, healthy baby. • Normal people don't react that way. • It's (perfectly) normal to feel that way. • After being very ill, he is finally back to his normal self [=he is feeling better]

— nor·mal·ly adv • The drug is normally used for depression. • Rainfall amounts are higher than would normally be expected. • Normally, I would say no, but this time I'll make an exception. • The dog is not behaving normally.

²normal noun [noncount] : the usual or expected state, level, amount, etc. • Your blood pressure is higher than normal. • Let's hope everything returns to normal soon. • I'm glad that things are back to normal. • Oil prices are above/below normal.

nor·mal·cy /'noʊməlsi/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : a normal condition or situation : NORMALITY • Let's hope for an end to the war and a return to normalcy.

nor·mal·i·ty /noʊ'mæli/ noun [noncount] : a condition or situation in which things happen in the normal or expected way • I'm trying to maintain a sense/semblance of normality.

nor·mal·ize also Brit nor·mal·ise /'noʊməlaɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -iz·ing formal : to bring (someone or something) back to a usual or expected state or condition [+ obj] The drug normalizes heart/liver function. • The talks are aimed at normalizing relations between the countries. [no obj] It took years for the political situation in the country to normalize.

— nor·mal·i·za·tion also Brit nor·mal·i·sa·tion /,noʊmələ'zeɪʃən, Brit /noʊ'mælaɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

Nor·man /'noʊmən/ noun, pl -mans [count]

1 : one of the people from northern Europe and France who conquered England in 1066

2 : a person born, raised, or living in Normandy

— Norman adj, always used before a noun • the Norman conquest [=the time when Normans conquered England in 1066] • Norman architecture

nor·ma·tive /'noʊmətɪv/ adj, formal : based on what is considered to be the usual or correct way of doing something • normative rules of ethics • normative tests/grammar

Norse /'noʊs/ noun

1 [noncount] : the language of ancient Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Iceland

2 the Norse : the people of ancient Norway, Sweden, Denmark, or Iceland • The Norse arrived in the ninth century.

— Norse adj, always used before a noun • Norse mythology • the Norse sagas

¹north /'noʊθ/ noun

1 [noncount] : the direction that is to your left when you are facing the rising sun : the direction that is the opposite of south • The nearest town is 20 miles to the north (of here). • The wind is coming from the north. • Which way is north? — see also MAGNETIC NORTH, TRUE NORTH

2 the north or the North : regions or countries north of a certain point • The birds migrate from the North.; especially : the northern part of the U.S. • Parts of the North were hit hard by the storm. • I grew up in the North. • The American Civil War was between the North and the South.

²north adj

1 : located in or toward the north • the north entrance/coast • North America

2 : coming from the north • a north wind

³north adv : to or toward the north • Turn north onto Elm Street. • It's a few miles north of here. • The bird is found as far north as Canada.

up north informal : in or to the northern part of a country or region • She spent a few years up north. • We'll be heading up north for the summer. — compare down south at ³*SOUTH*

north·bound /'noʊθ,baʊnd/ adj : going or heading north • a northbound train • The northbound lanes are closed.

¹north·east /noʊθ'i:st/ noun

1 [noncount] : the direction between north and east

2 the northeast or the Northeast : the northeastern part of a country or region • A mountain range is in the northeast of the country.; especially : the northeastern part of the U.S. • Parts of the Northeast were hit hard by the storm. • I grew up in the Northeast.

²northeast adj

1 : located in or toward the northeast • northeast India • My office is in the northeast corner of the building.

2 : coming from the northeast • a northeast wind

³northeast adv : to or toward the northeast • It's a few miles northeast of here. • We left the city and headed northeast.

north·east·er /noʊθ'i:stə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a strong wind that blows from the northeast

2 or nor'·east·er /noʊ'i:stə/ : a storm with winds that blow from the northeast

north·east·er·ly /noʊθ'i:stəli/ adj

1 : located in or moving toward the northeast • They sailed in a northeasterly direction.

2 : blowing from the northeast • northeasterly winds north·east·ern /noʊθ'i:stən/ adj

1 : located in or toward the northeast • the northeastern corner of the state

2 : of or relating to the northeast • a northeastern bird north·east·ern·er or North·east·ern·er /noʊθ'i:stənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person born, raised, or living in the northeast; especially : a person born, raised, or living in the northeastern U.S.

north·east·ward /noʊθ'i:stwəd/ also chiefly Brit north·east·wards /noʊ'i:stwədz/ adv : toward the northeast • The storm is moving northeastward.

— northeastward adj • The storm will follow a northeastward course.

north·er·ly /'noʊðəli/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : located in or moving toward the north • the more northerly latitudes • We sailed in a northerly direction.

2 : blowing from the north • northerly winds

— northerly adv • The storm is headed northerly. • We sailed northerly around the island.

north·ern /'noʊðən/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : located in or toward the north • northern Europe • the northern part of the state

2 : of or relating to the north • a northern species • northern winters/cities

north·ern·er or Northerner /'noʊðənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person born, raised, or living in the north; especially : a person born, raised, or living in the northern U.S. — compare SOUTHERNER

Northern Lights noun

the Northern Lights : large areas of green, red, blue, or yellow light that sometimes appear in the night sky in far northern regions — called also aurora borealis

north·ern·most /'noʊðən,məʊst/ adj : furthest to the north • the northernmost tip of the island

North Pole noun

the North Pole : the most northern point on the surface of the earth

North Star noun

the North Star : a bright star that can be seen in the sky in northern parts of the world when you look directly toward the north — called also the Pole Star north·ward /'noʊθwəd/ also chiefly Brit north·wards /'noʊθwədz/ adv : toward the north • The storm is moving northward.

— northward adj • a northward advance/retreat

¹north·west /noʊθ'west/ noun

1 [noncount] : the direction between north and west

2 the northwest or the Northwest : the northwestern part of a country or region • A mountain range is in the northwest of the country.; especially : the northwestern part of the U.S. • We traveled throughout the Northwest. • the Pacific North- west [=the northwestern part of the U.S. near the Pacific coast]

²northwest adj

1 : located in the northwest • northwest China • the northwest corner of the building

2 : blowing from the northwest • a northwest wind

³northwest adv : to or toward the northwest • It's about 80 miles northwest of here. • I headed northwest on Route 1.

north-west-er-ly /noʊθ'westəli/ adj

1 : located in or moving toward the northwest • The storm is headed in a northwesterly direction.

2 : blowing from the northwest • northwesterly winds

— northwesterly adv • We sailed northwesterly.

north-west-ern /noʊθ'westən/ adj

1 : in, toward, or from the northwest • the northwestern corner of the state

2 : of or relating to the northwest • a northwestern bird north-west-ern-er or North-west-ern-er /noʊθ'westənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person born, raised, or living in the northwest; especially : a person born, raised, or living in the northwestern U.S.

north-west-ward /noʊθ'westwəd/ also chiefly Brit north-west-wards /noʊθ'westwədz/ adv : toward the northwest • The storm is moving northwestward.

— northwestward adj • The storm will follow a northwestward course.

Nor-we-gian /noʊ'wi:dʒən/ noun, pl -gians

1 [count] : a person born, raised, or living in Norway

2 [noncount] : the language of Norway

— Norwegian adj • the Norwegian government • She lives in the U.S., but she's Norwegian.

nos plural of ³NO

nos. abbr numbers

¹nose /'nouz/ noun, pl nos-es

1 [count] : the part of the face or head through which a person or animal smells and breathes • The ball hit me right on/in the nose. • You need to wipe/blow your nose. • Stop picking your nose. • I have a runny/stuffy nose. • the long nose of the anteater • He got some water up his nose. • She wrinkled her nose in disgust. — see picture at FACE

2 [singular] : the ability to smell things : the sense of smell • That dog has a good nose. — often used figuratively • He is a good reporter with a nose for news. [=he's a reporter who is good at finding news] • a baseball scout with a nose for talent [=a scout who is good at finding new talent]

3 : the front end or part of something [count] — usually singular • the nose of an airplane [noncount] The whale measures 40 feet from nose to tail. • (Brit) The cars were nose to tail [= (US) bumper-to-bumper] on the highway today. — see picture at AIRPLANE

4 [singular] of wine : a particular smell • The wine has a lovely nose. [=bouquet]

as plain as the nose on your face informal : very clear or obvious • The solution is as plain as the nose on your face.

by a nose ♦ If an animal wins a race by a nose, it wins by a very short distance. • Secretariat won the race by a nose!

cut off your nose to spite your face : to do something that is meant to harm someone else but that also harms you • You can refuse to talk to her if you like, but you're just cutting off your nose to spite your face.

follow your nose see FOLLOW

get up someone's nose Brit, informal : to annoy or irritate (someone) • His jokes are really beginning to get up my nose. [= (US) get on my nerves] have your nose in ♦ If you have your nose in a book, magazine, newspaper, etc., you are reading it. • It seems like she always has her nose in a book [=she's always reading a book] whenever I see her.

hold your nose : to hold your nostrils together so that you cannot smell something • The smell was so bad that we had to hold our noses.

keep your nose clean : to stay out of trouble by behaving well • He is a former criminal who has kept his nose clean since he got out of prison.

keep your nose out of : to avoid becoming involved in (someone else's situation, problem, etc.) • It's not your problem, so keep your nose out of it.

lead someone (around) by the nose informal : to completely control a person • I'm amazed that he lets them lead him around by the nose like that.

look down your nose at see ¹LOOK nose in the air ♦ If you have your nose in the air, you behave in a way that shows you think you are better than other people. • She walks around with her nose in the air like she's some big shot.

nose to the grindstone see GRINDSTONE

no skin off my nose see ¹SKIN

on the nose informal : very accurate : done very accurately • You hit it on the nose. [=you are exactly right] • Her prediction was right on the nose.

pay through the nose informal : to pay a very high price • I found the perfect dress, but I paid through the nose for it.

powder your nose see ²POWDER

rub someone's nose in see ¹RUB stick/poke your nose in/into : to get involved in or want information about (something that does not concern you) • He's always poking his nose into other people's business.

thumb your nose at see ²THUMB

turn up your nose or turn your nose up : to refuse to take or accept something because it is not good enough • I offered the cat some food, but it turned up its nose and walked away. — usually + at • They turned up their nose at our offer. [=they rejected our offer]

under your nose — used to describe something that you fail to see or notice even though you should • I don't know why you couldn't find it—it's right here under your nose. • They were embezzling funds right under his nose. • The answer was right under our noses [=the answer was very obvious] the whole time.

²nose verb noses; nosed; nos-ing

1 [+ obj] : to push or move (something) with the nose • The horse nosed my hand. • Some animal must have nosed the lid off the garbage can. • The dog nosed the door open.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] of an animal : to search for or find something by smelling • The dogs were nosing around in the garbage.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to move forward slowly or carefully [no obj] The boat nosed around the bend. [+ obj] I nosed my car into the parking space. • The car nosed its way into the street.

nose around also Brit nose about [phrasal verb] nose around/about or nose around/about (something) : to search for something (such as private or hidden information) in usually a quiet or secret way • She caught him nosing around in her papers/office. • The police nosed around the property for a while, but they didn't find anything.

nose out [phrasal verb] nose (someone or something) out or nose out (someone or something) 1 : to defeat (someone or something) by a small amount in a race or other competition • My horse was/got nosed out at the finish line. • The home team barely nosed out the visitors. 2 : to find (information) by careful searching • The detective nosed out some interesting information on the suspect.

nose bag noun, pl ~ bags [count] Brit : FEEDBAG

¹nose-bleed /'nouz,blid/ noun, pl -bleeds [count] : a condition in which you are bleeding from your nose • I had/got a nosebleed. • She often suffers from nosebleeds.

²nosebleed adj, always used before a noun, US, informal : very high • We had seats in the nosebleed section of the stadium.

nose cone noun, pl ~ cones [count] : the pointed front end of an aircraft, rocket, missile, etc.

nosed /'nouzd/ adj : having a nose of a specified kind — used in combination with another adjective • a long-nosed rodent • a snub-nosed little girl — see also HARD-NOSED nose-dive /'nouz,darv/ noun, pl -dives [count]

1 : a sudden sharp drop made by an airplane with its front end pointing toward the ground • The plane went into a nosedive.

2 : a sudden sharp drop in price, value, condition, etc. • The stock market took a nosedive.

nose-dive /'nouz,darv/ verb -dives; -dived; -div-ing [no obj]

1 somewhat informal : to drop suddenly or sharply • As demand fell, prices nosedived.

2 of an aircraft : to drop suddenly with the front end pointing toward the ground nose-gay /'nouz,geɪ/ noun, pl -gays [count] old-fashioned : a small bouquet of flowers nose-guard /'nouz,gæd/ noun, pl -guards [count] American football : a defensive player who plays in a position that is directly opposite the offensive center — called also nose tackle nose job noun, pl ~ jobs [count] informal : a medical operation on your nose to improve its appearance • an actor who has had a nose job

nose ring noun, pl ~ rings [count]

1 : a piece of jewelry worn in your nose • She had a nose ring.

2 : a ring put through an animal's nose to control it nose tackle noun, pl ~ tackles [count] American football

: NOSEGUARD

nosey variant spelling of NOSY

¹nosh /'nɑːʃ/ verb nosh-es; noshed; nosh-ing [no obj] informal : to eat food — usually + on • We noshed on chips.

²nosh noun, pl nosh-es informal

1 [count] US : a light meal : SNACK • I'll just have a quick nosh before we go.

2 Brit a [noncount] : FOOD • have some nosh b [count] : a serving of food : MEAL • have a nosh

no-show /'nəʊ,ʃəʊ/ noun, pl -shows [count] : someone who is expected to be somewhere but does not arrive or appear • There were a lot of no-shows at the game. • My sister made it to the party, but my brother was a no-show.

nosh-up /'nɑːʃ,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] Brit, informal : a very large meal no-smoking adj — used to describe a place where people are not allowed to smoke • This is a no-smoking [(more commonly) nonsmoking] section.

nos-tal-gia /nɑː'stæl.dʒi.ə/ noun [noncount] : pleasure and sadness that is caused by remembering something from the past and wishing that you could experience it again • A wave of nostalgia swept over me when I saw my childhood home. • He was filled with nostalgia for his college days.

— nos-tal-gic /nɑː'stæl.dʒɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • nostalgic memories • Seeing pictures of my old friends made me feel very nostalgic. • They remained nostalgic about the good old days. — nos-tal-gi-cal-ly /nɑː'stæl.dʒɪkli/ adv • She spoke nostalgically about her childhood on the farm.

nos-tril /'nɑːstrəl/ noun, pl -trils [count] : one of the two openings of the nose • My left nostril is stuffed up. • She left in a rage, her nostrils flaring. — see picture at FACE

nos-trum /'nɑːstrəm/ noun, pl -trums [count]

1 formal : a suggested solution for a problem that will probably not succeed • politicians repeating all the usual nos-trums about the economy

2 old-fashioned : something that is used for treating illness, pain, etc., but that is not an accepted and effective medicine • using garlic as a nostrum to prevent disease nosy also nos-ey /'nəʊzi/ adj nos-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal + disapproving : wanting to know about other people's lives, problems, etc. • nosy reporters/neighbors • Don't be so nosy!

nosy par-ker /-'pær.kə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] chiefly Brit, informal + disapproving : a person who is too interested in what other people are doing : a nosy person

not /'nɑːt/ adv

1 a — used to form the negative of modal verbs (such as “should” and “could”) and auxiliary verbs (such as “do” and “have”) • He would/could not stay. • We have not spoken with them. • It may not be fast, but it's reliable. • That kind of behavior should not be allowed. • He did not seem to care. b

— used before a verb or clause to make it negative or give it an opposite meaning • They gave us the option of not attending. • She told me not to do it. • You are not to go there without permission. • He seemed not to care. • It's odd, but that's not to say [=that does not mean] that it's bad. — see also not to mention at ¹MENTION

2 a — used with a word or phrase to make it negative or give it an opposite meaning • The books are not here. • No, that's not what I said. • That's not funny! • That is not necessarily true. • You're not always right. • You are not the only one who is worried. • She is not (at all/very) pleased/happy. • I'm not happy or sad, just bored. • It is not as easy as it seems. • Things are not going well. • He is not guilty. • He lives not far from here. • “Are we there yet?” “Not quite.” • “Is there any left?” “Not much.” • It is not just/only/merely [=more than just] a novel; it is a literary classic. • Not many [=few] people showed up. — see also not a few at ¹FEW b — used with a negative word to make a positive statement • Their request is not unreasonable. [=their request is reasonable] • His experience is not unusual. [=others have had similar experiences] • “What do you think of the food?” “It's not bad.” [=it's pretty good] c informal + humorous — used humorously at the end of a positive statement to show that you really meant the opposite • That's very interesting—not! [=that's not interesting]

3 : less or fewer than • He was standing not six feet away from me. • The bullet passed not five inches from my head! • Not all of us agree. [=some of us do not agree] • Not everybody finds her work interesting. [=some people find her work boring]

4 — used to refer to a possible situation, condition, etc., that is different from or opposite to another situation, condition, etc. • The planet is sometimes hard to see and sometimes not. [=and sometimes easy to see] • It works in theory if not in practice. [=even if it doesn't work in practice] — often used in the phrase or not • Believe it or not [=whether you believe me or don't believe me], we were there just last week. • Ready or not, here I come! • Like it or not, you'll do as he says. [=you'll do as he says whether you like or don't like it]

5 — used to give a negative answer to a question • “Do you think they forgot?” “I hope not.” • “Should we go?” “I'd rather not.” • “Do you think it's true?” “Probably/Certainly not.” • “Do you mind?” “Not at all.”

as like as not or like as not see ⁶LIKE

more often than not : happening more than half the time • He wins more often than not. [=he wins more than he loses] • More often than not, I stay home instead of going out.

not a/one : no thing or person • There was not one available taxi to be found. [=no taxis were available] • Not a/one single person showed up. [=no one showed up] • Not a word came out of her mouth.

not that — used to say that something said before is not important • I tried to help, not that it mattered. [=but it did not matter] • I saw him with some other woman, not that I care. [=but I don't care]

¹no-ta-ble /'nəʊtəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : unusual and worth noticing : REMARKABLE • a notable example/improvement • There are a few notable exceptions.

2 : very successful or respected • a notable author

²notable noun, pl no-ta-bles [count] : a famous or important person • The guest list included such notables as the President and First Lady. • They introduced her to all the local notables.

no-ta-bly /'nəʊtəbli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : in a way that attracts or deserves attention • Several senior executives were notably absent from the proceedings. • The film's plot was notably lacking.

2 : especially or particularly • Some patients, (most) notably the elderly and the very young, have greater risks.

no-ta-rize also Brit no-ta-rise /'nəʊtə,raɪz/ verb -riz-es; -rized; -riz-ing [+ obj] law : to sign (a document) as a notary public

no-ta-ry public /'nəʊtəri'pʌblɪk/ noun, pl no-ta-ries public or notary pub-lics [count] law : a person who has the authority to act as an official witness when legal documents are signed — called also notary

no-ta-tion /nəʊ'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions technical : a system of marks, signs, figures, or characters that is used to represent information [noncount] musical/scientific notation [count] a mathematical notation for computer programming

¹notch /'nɑːtʃ/ noun, pl notch-es [count]

1 : a small cut that is shaped like a V and that is made on an edge or a surface • Cut small notches at the corners of the fabric. • The tool has a notch for prying out nails.

2 US : a narrow passage between mountains • The town is on the other side of the notch.

3 : a slightly higher or lower level in a series of levels that measure something • Turn the radio up/down a notch. [=up/down slightly] • They turned the volume up several notches. • This product is a notch [=step] above its competitors in quality and price. — see also TOP-NOTCH

²notch verb notches; notched; notch-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make a small cut in (something, such as wood) : to make a notch in (something) • Notch the ends so that they fit together.

2 informal : to achieve or get (something) • He notched his fifth victory this year. — often + up • The team notched up another win in yesterday's game.

— notched /'nɑːtʃt/ adj • a jacket with a notched collar [=a collar that has a notch in it] • a notched edge [=an edge with many notches in it]

¹note /'nəʊt/ noun, pl notes

1 a [count] : a short piece of writing that is used to help someone remember something • She wrote a note to remind herself about the appointment. • I left you a note on the kitchen table. • making/writing notes in the margins of a book • She jotted down a few notes during the interview. • I'll make a mental note [=I'll try to remember] to reschedule the meeting. b notes [plural] : an informal written record of things that are said and done • After class, I usually study my notes and read the next chapter. • I can't come to class today. Would you mind taking notes for me? • His secretary took notes during our meeting.

2 [count] a : a short piece of writing that gives you information : a brief comment or explanation • Please include a brief note about where the picture was taken. • He writes in the program notes that the play was inspired by his own childhood. • The dictionary includes many usage notes. [=short explanations about how a word or phrase is used] • One final note: tickets will be available at the door the night of the concert. — see also LINER NOTES b : a comment or added piece of information that is separate from the main writing of a book • For further details, see the notes to Chapter 3. — see also FOOTNOTE

3 [count] : a short and usually informal letter • Remember to send a thank-you note to the host of the party. • This is just a brief note to say how much I enjoyed your party. • Drop me a note while you're away. • I have a handwritten note here from the governor. • If you are out sick for more than one week, you will need a note from your doctor. • The girl's kidnappers left a ransom note. — see also MASH NOTE

4 [count] music a : a specific musical tone • musical notes • That note's a B not a C. • Despite a few wrong notes, the pianist gave a generally good performance. b : a written symbol that is used to show what note should be played and how long it should last — see also EIGHTH NOTE, HALF NOTE, QUARTER NOTE, SIXTEENTH NOTE, WHOLE NOTE

5 [singular] : a characteristic or quality that expresses a mood or feeling • I detected a note of sadness in his voice. — often used after on • Let's try to end our conversation on a lighter/happier note. • If I may end on a personal note, I'd like to wish my father a happy 85th birthday! • The party ended on a high note. [=the party ended pleasantly or well] • Their relationship ended on a sour note. [=ended unpleasantly] — often used with hit, strike or sound • The movie hits just the right note with young audiences. • Her judgment rarely strikes a wrong note. • In her chapter about rising oil prices, she sounds a cautionary note. • Most reviewers loved the show, but one critic struck a discordant note, finding it "cliché" and "predictable."

6 [count] Brit : BILL • a ten-pound note

compare notes see ¹COMPARE

of note : important and deserving to be noticed or remembered • American writers of note include Herman Melville, Mark Twain, and Emily Dickinson. • historical events of note take note : to notice or give special attention to someone or something • She has been extremely successful in her own country, and now the rest of the world is beginning to take note. • She took note of the exact time.

²note verb notes; not-ed; not-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to notice or pay attention to (something) • You may have noted my late arrival. • The thing to note here is that people are suffering. • It's interesting to note how quickly things have changed. • Their objections were duly noted. — often + that • Please note that the office will close today at noon. • Note that I have enclosed full payment with this letter.

2 : to say or write (something) • As one official noted, the situation has begun to get out of control. • As noted above/earlier/previously, most people survive the disease. • "They've asked us to leave," he noted with amusement. — often + that • She said she was unaware of the problem and noted that everything was fine when she went home that night. • It should be noted, however, that no one was injured in the accident. • It's worth noting that he gave no reason for his decision.

note down [phrasal verb] note (something) down or note down (something) : to write down (a piece of information that you want to remember) • Let me note down your telephone number. • The police officer noted down the names of all the people present during the incident.

note-book /'nout,buk/ noun, pl -books [count]

1 : a book with blank pages that is used for writing notes • Take out your notebook and write down some of your ideas. • She kept a notebook for her poetry.

2 : a small computer that is designed to be easily carried — called also notebook computer not-ed /'noutəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : famous or well-known • She is a noted scholar specializing in Latin-American literature. — often + for • The city is noted for its many restaurants and nightclubs. • a judge noted for her fairness and intelligence note-pad /'nout,pæd/ noun, pl -pads [count] : sheets of paper that are attached at one end and used for writing notes : PAD • I wrote down her number on my notepad. — see picture at OFFICE

note-pa-per /'nout,peɪpə/ noun [noncount] : paper that is suitable for writing notes and letters note-wor-thy /'nout,wəði/ adj [more ~; most ~] : important or interesting enough to be noticed : deserving attention : NOTABLE • He gave several noteworthy performances during his short career. • Nothing noteworthy happened that evening. • Her art is noteworthy for its great quality and beauty. • a noteworthy feat/achievement

— note-wor-thi-ness /'nout,wəðinə/ noun [noncount] not-for-profit adj, chiefly US : not existing or done for the purpose of making a profit : NONPROFIT • a not-for-profit organization

noth-er or 'noth-er /'nʌðə/ adj whole nother US, informal : completely different • That's a whole nother story/issue. [=that's a whole other story/issue; that's a story/issue that is completely different from the one we have been talking about] • He has taken his performance to a whole nother level. [=to a completely different and much higher level]

¹noth-ing /'nʌθɪŋ/ pronoun

1 : not anything : not a thing • There's nothing in my hands. • She knows nothing of/about our plans. • You have nothing to worry about. • "What are you doing?" "Nothing (much)." • There's nothing fun to do around here. • I have nothing against them. [=I do not dislike or resent them] • We'll accept nothing less than a full refund. [=we will only accept a full refund] • It costs nothing for the first month. [=you do not have to pay anything for the first month] • The phone call was nothing more than a sales pitch. [=it was just a sales pitch and not anything else] • They live on practically nothing. [=no money] • This has nothing to do with you. [=it does not involve you in any way] • There's nothing else [=no more] to say. • If nothing else, you should send him a card. [=you should at least send him a card] • I've had next to nothing to eat. [=I have had very little to eat] • He could make nothing of the coded message. [=he could not understand the coded message at all] • We discussed plans for a new project, but nothing came of them. [=we did not do anything about what we discussed] • He left nothing to chance. [=he planned for every possibility] • The food leaves nothing to be desired. [=the food is excellent] • Their children lack/want for nothing. [=their children have everything they need] • Why should they help? There's nothing in it for them. [=they will not gain anything for themselves by helping] • It looks like nothing so much as a big stick. [=it looks very much like a big stick] • Those kids are nothing but trouble. [=they are always causing trouble] • He is nothing if not persistent. [=he is extremely persistent] • "I'm quitting school." "You'll do nothing of the sort!" [=you will not do that; I will not allow you to do that] • She'll stop at nothing [=she will do anything] to get what she wants. • She finished up in nothing flat. [=in no time at all; very quickly] — see also GOOD-FOR-NOTHING

2 : someone or something that has no interest, value, or importance • Money is nothing to them. [=they do not care at all about money] • You think that's bad? It's nothing compared to what I went through. • Don't get all upset over nothing. • "Thanks for your help." "It was nothing." [=it was no trouble] • Your opinion means nothing to me. • "Are you hurt?" "Don't worry. It's nothing." • All our work came to nothing. = All our work resulted in nothing. • He's nothing to me now. [=I don't care about him at all now]

double or nothing see ³DOUBLE

have nothing on see HAVE

here goes nothing see ¹HERE

nothing daunted see DAUNT

nothing doing informal — used as a forceful way of saying "no" to a question or suggestion • He asked her to lend him the money, but she said nothing doing. [=she said that she would definitely not lend him the money] • "Why don't you try it?" "Nothing doing." [=no way; definitely not]

nothing else for it or Brit nothing for it old-fashioned — used to say that something must be done because there is no other choice • By the time we discovered the mistake, there was nothing else for it but to start over. • We don't want to sell the house, but there is nothing else for it (but to sell).

nothing in/to ✧ If you say that there is nothing in/to something, you mean that it is not true at all. • There's nothing to the story/claim. • There is nothing in the rumor.

nothing like 1 — used to say that something is very enjoyable or satisfying • There's nothing like a cool swim on a hot day. 2 Brit, informal : not nearly • The report is nothing like thorough enough.

nothing to it — used to say that something is very easy to do • There's really nothing to it once you know how.

on a hiding to nothing see ²HIDING

to say nothing of see ¹SAY

²nothing adv : not at all : in no way • She is nothing like her sister. • It's nothing close to finished.

nothing less than 1 — used to give emphasis to a description • The idea is nothing less than revolutionary. [=the idea is revolutionary] 2 — used to say that something is the least that a situation, person, etc., requires or will accept • He demands nothing less than the best service. [=he demands the best service] • I want nothing less than a full refund! • This job requires nothing less than our best effort.

nothing short of — used to give emphasis to a description • His recovery was nothing short of miraculous. [=his recovery was miraculous] • That treatment is nothing short of torture!

³nothing noun, pl -things

1 [noncount] : empty space • It appeared out of nothing. • The UFO hovered for a while, then vanished into nothing.

2 [noncount] : the number 0 : ZERO • (chiefly US) The score is two (to) nothing. • (Brit) She is five foot nothing [=she is exactly five feet tall] without her shoes on.

3 : someone or something that has little or no worth, importance, or influence [count] I knew her back when she was a nothing. [=nobody] [noncount] My children are important to me—I'm nothing without them. • Today was a nothing day. [=nothing interesting or important happened today] for nothing 1 : without reason • It's not for nothing that they put her in charge. • We did all that work for nothing. [=we did all that work when we did not need to] 2 : at no charge : for free • He gave it to me for nothing. • You can't get something for nothing.

sweet nothings : loving and romantic words • He whispered sweet nothings in her ear.

noth-ing-ness /'nʌθɪŋnəs/ noun [noncount]

1 : empty space • He was staring into nothingness.

2 : the state of being no longer seen, heard, or felt : NONEXISTENCE • The sound faded into nothingness. • philosophers who feel that when we die, we pass into nothingness [=we no longer exist]

¹no-tice /'nəʊtɪs/ noun, pl -tic-es

1 [noncount] a : information that tells you or warns you about something that is going to happen • Please give us enough notice to prepare for your arrival. • They gave no advance notice that they were moving. [=they did not tell anyone that they were moving before they did it] • Terms of the agreement are subject to change without notice. [=terms of the agreement may be changed without telling you before they are changed] • The beach is closed until further notice. [=until there is an announcement saying that it is open] • I received written notice that my bank account will be credited. [=I received a letter telling me that my bank account will be credited] • The senator served notice [=made it known] that he will be opposing the new regulations. • With the success of her first film, she served notice [=showed] that she is a serious and talented director. b : a statement telling someone that an agreement, job, etc., will end soon • She gave her landlord notice (that she is moving next month). • I gave (my employer) two weeks' notice. [=I told my employer that I would be quitting my job in two weeks] • My boss gave me two weeks' notice. [=my boss told me that I would be losing my job in two weeks]

2 [noncount] : attention that people give to someone or something • Her red dress attracted notice. [=her red dress made people look at her; people noticed her red dress] • The band first came to public notice in 1991. [=the public first heard about the band in 1991] • The error escaped my notice. [=I did not notice the error] • Take no notice of them. [=ignore them] • No one took much notice of her [=no one paid much attention to her] at the party. • The team has been playing better recently, and people are starting to (sit up and) take notice. [=are starting to notice and give attention to the team's improved play] • He brought the problem to my notice. [=he brought the problem to my attention; he told me about the problem]

3 [count] : a written or printed statement that gives information • Notices were sent to parents about the school trip. • The notice [=sign] said, "BEACH CLOSED." • Did you see the notice about the meeting? • Newspapers print notices of marriages and deaths.

4 [count] : a short piece of writing that gives an opinion about a play, book, etc. • The play received good notices. [=reviews]

at a moment's/minute's notice or US on a moment's/minute's notice or at short notice or US on short notice : immediately after you have been told about something • They're prepared to help us at/on a moment's notice. [=as soon as we tell them that we need their help] • They can be ready to go at/on a moment's notice. • She had to leave on a business trip at/on (very) short notice.

on notice formal : warned or told about something • The police are on notice to have more security at the concert. [=the police have been warned to have more security at the concert] • She put us on notice [=she told us in a very definite and forceful way] that she would not be available for interviews until after the trial.

²notice verb -tices; -ticed; -tic-ing [+ obj] : to become aware of (something or someone) by seeing, hearing, etc. • He noticed his friend sitting at the next table. = He noticed that his friend was sitting at the next table. • She noticed a smell of gas. • You didn't notice that I got my hair cut. • She noticed me leaving the meeting early. • The police noticed [=observed] a connection between the murders. • I noticed an error in the book. • The problem was first noticed several days ago. • I couldn't help noticing the spot on his tie. = I couldn't help but notice the spot on his tie. [=I saw the spot even though I wasn't trying to look for it]

get noticed : to get attention that you want from other people • You'll get noticed in that new sports car. = That new sports car will get you noticed. • a young actor who's trying to get noticed • The band got noticed by a record producer. [=a record producer showed interest in the band]

no-tice-able /'nəʊtɪsəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be easily seen or noticed • The spot on your shirt is very noticeable. • There has been a noticeable improvement in her behavior. • a noticeable change/difference in the weather • It was noticeable that they were not prepared to give the presentation.

— no-tice-ably /'nəʊtɪsəbli/ adv • The sound got noticeably louder. • Test scores were noticeably higher the next year.

no-tice-board /'nəʊtɪsboəd/ noun, pl -boards [count] Brit : BULLETIN BOARD 1

no-ti-fi-able /,nəʊtɪ'fajəbəl/ adj, formal : required by law to be reported to the government or to the proper officials • a notifiable disease

no-ti-fi-ca-tion /,nəʊtɪfə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : something that gives official information to someone : the act of notifying someone [noncount] I was given no notification that you received my payment. [count] You will be sent a written notification.

no-ti-fy /'nəʊtɪ'faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] : to tell (someone) officially about something • She notified [=informed] the police about the accident. • Customers were notified of the changes in the company. • I was notified that I did not get the job.

no-tion /'nəʊʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : an idea or opinion • He has some pretty strange notions. • I only have a (slight) notion of the poem's meaning. • She had a vague notion about what happened. • They have different notions [=conceptions] of right and wrong. • The study disproves any notion that dolphins are not intelligent.

2 [count] : an idea about doing something : a sudden wish or desire • She had a notion to try skydiving.

3 notions [plural] US : small useful things (such as pins, thread, buttons) that are used for sewing • a sewing shop that sells fabrics, books, tools, and notions

no-tion-al /'nəʊʃənəl/ adj : existing as an idea rather than as something real • The notional earnings of the company were close to the actual ones.

— no-tion-al-ly adv

no-to-ri-ety /,nəʊtə'raɪəti/ noun : the condition of being famous or well-known especially for something bad : the state of being notorious [noncount] He achieved instant fame and notoriety with the release of his film. • She gained notoriety when nude photographs of her appeared in a magazine. [singular] His comment about the President has given him a notoriety that he enjoys very much.

no-to-ri-ous /nou'tɔrɪjəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : well-known or famous especially for something bad • The coach is notorious for his violent outbursts. • notorious [=infamous] cases of animal cruelty

— no-to-ri-ous-ly adv • The weather is notoriously difficult to predict.

¹not-with-stand-ing /,nɒ:twɪθ'stændɪŋ/ prep, formal : without being prevented by (something) : DESPITE — used to say that something happens or is true even though there is something that might prevent it from happening or being true • Notwithstanding their youth and inexperience, the team won the championship. — often used after its object • The law was passed, our objections notwithstanding. [=the law was passed despite our objections]

²notwithstanding adv, formal : in spite of what has just been said : NEVERTHELESS • Although there are some who oppose the plan, we will go through with it notwithstanding.

nou-gat /'nu:gət, Brit 'nu:,gɑ:/ noun [noncount] : a sweet candy that usually contains nuts or pieces of fruit

¹nought /'nɔ:t/ noun, pl noughts [count, noncount] Brit : the number 0 : ZERO • One million is a 1 with six noughts after it.

²nought chiefly Brit spelling of NAUGHT

noughts and crosses noun [noncount] Brit : TIC-TAC-TOE

noun /'naʊn/ noun, pl nouns [count] : a word that is the name of something (such as a person, animal, place, thing, quality, idea, or action) and is typically used in a sentence as subject or object of a verb or as object of a preposition — see also COMMON NOUN, COUNT NOUN, NONCOUNT NOUN, PROPER NOUN noun phrase noun, pl ~ phrases [count] : a group of words that acts like a noun in a sentence • In the sentence "I found the owner of the dog," "the owner of the dog" is a noun phrase.

nour-ish /'nɔ:ɪʃ/ verb -ish-es; -ished; -ish-ing [+ obj]

1 : to provide (someone or something) with food and other things that are needed to live, be healthy, etc. • Plants are nourished [=fed] by rain and soil. • Vitamins are added to the shampoo to nourish the hair. • a well-nourished baby

2 : to cause (something) to develop or grow stronger • a friendship nourished by trust • Her parents nourished [=supported] her musical talent.

nour-ish-ing /'nɔ:ɪʃɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : providing the things that are needed for health, growth, etc. : giving nourishment • This cereal is more nourishing [=nutritious] than that one. — often used figuratively • The sermon was spiritually nourishing. [=enriching]

nour-ish-ment /'nɔ:ɪʃmənt/ noun [noncount] : food and other things that are needed for health, growth, etc. • These children are suffering because they lack proper/adequate nourishment. • Soil provides nourishment to plants. — often used figuratively • intellectual nourishment • emotional/spiritual nourishment

nous /'naʊs/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal : the intelligence and ability to make good judgments and decisions • At least he had the foresight and nous [=common sense] to sell his stocks when he did.

nou-veau riche /,nu:vou'ri:f/ noun, pl nou-veaux riches /,nu:vou'ri:f/ [count] disapproving : a person who has recently become rich and who likes to spend a lot of money

— nouveau riche adj • Our nouveau riche neighbors just bought some expensive but tacky furniture.

nou-velle cuisine /nu'vel-/ noun [noncount] : a modern style of cooking in which light, healthy food is prepared and served in an attractive way

Nov. abbr November

no-va /'nouvə/ noun, pl no-vas or no-vae /'nouvi/ [count] astronomy : a star that suddenly increases greatly in brightness and then within a few months or years becomes less bright again — see also SUPERNOVA

¹nov-el /'nɒ:vəl/ noun, pl -els [count] : a long written story usually about imaginary characters and events • write/pub-lish/read a novel • a detective/romance/science-fiction novel

²novel adj [more ~; most ~] : new and different from what has been known before • a novel idea • She has suggested a novel approach to the problem. • Handheld computers are novel devices.

nov-el-ist /'nɒ:vəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who writes novels no-vel-la /nou'velə/ noun, pl -las [count] : a short novel : a story that is longer than a short story but shorter than a novel

nov-el-ty /'nɒ:vəlti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being new, different, and interesting • The toy's novelty soon wore off. [=the toy became uninteresting in a short time] • the novelty of space exploration

2 [count] a : something that is new or unusual : something novel • Electric-powered cars are still novelties. • Eating shark meat is a novelty to many people. b : something unusual and entertaining that is popular for a short period of time — usually used before another noun • novelty songs • The band was a novelty act that had two hits and then disappeared.

3 [count] : a small and unusual decoration or toy • Novelties filled the shelves. — often used before another noun • a novelty shop/item

No-vem-ber /nou'vembə/ noun, pl -bers : the 11th month of the year [noncount] in (early/middle/mid-/late) November • early/late in November • We arrived on November the fourth. = (US) We arrived on November fourth. = We arrived on the fourth of November. [count] Sales are up (for) this November in comparison with the previous two Novembers. • It happens every November. — abbr. Nov.

nov-ice /'nɒ:vəs/ noun, pl nov-ic-es [count]

1 : a person who has just started learning or doing something • He's a novice in cooking. • a novice [=beginner] at skiing • a book for the novice chess player

2 : a new member of a religious group who is preparing to become a nun or a monk

no-vi-tiate /nou'vɪjət/ noun, pl -tiates [count] : the time when a person is a religious novice no-vo-caine /'nouvə,keɪn/ noun [noncount] medicine : a drug that causes part of your body to feel no pain and that is used especially by dentists

¹now /'naʊ/ adv

1 : at the present time • We were having trouble before, but everything's okay now. • I'm feeling much better now, thank you. • I love you now and I'll love you forever. • Now's the time for action. • "And now," he said, "all we have to do is wait." • "Can we talk?" "Not now. I'm really busy." • The room is now used as a home office. = They now use the room as a home office. • He knows now that he was wrong. • Police have now identified the man who they believe stole the car. • Scientists now believe that the bones belong to a different species of reptile. • the now famous photograph of an American sailor kissing his young wife • I wish I knew then what I know now. • This is the only chance you'll ever get. It's now or never. — often used to show that you are annoyed about something • Now you tell me?! I needed to know that yesterday! • You tracked dirt everywhere! Now I have to spend all day cleaning again! • "I know you've explained a lot—but can I ask just one more question?" "What now?" = "What is it now?" = "Now what?" • OK: I'll do it your way. Are you happy now?

2 : in the next moment : very soon • I have to leave now. [=right now, right away, immediately] • It's time to go home now. • If I don't do it now, I'll forget to do it later. • They'll be back any minute now! • Any day now, he'll be walking through that door. • Now which way do we go? • What do I do now? • What now? = Now what? [=what next?]

3 : in the present situation • He'll never believe me now! • If you can't stand the heat now, you certainly won't be able to stand it in the summer.

4 : at the time referred to in the past • Her parents arrived home the next day. Now the trouble really began. • I next met her again a few years later. She was now 30 years old and working for a law firm.

5 : for an amount of time until the present time • It's been several years now since I last saw her. [=I haven't seen her for several years] — often used with for • We've lived here for a long time now. = We've lived here for some time now. • She has been teaching for 20 years now. = She has been teaching now for 20 years.

6 — used to make a command or request or to express criticism or disapproval • Hurry up, now, class started three minutes ago. • Now, Billy, that's no way to talk to your mother! • Now you be sure to write, you hear? • Well, now, what is this I hear about you going back to school? • Come now. You know that's not true. = (chiefly US) Come on, now. You know that's not true. • Now, which one of you kids broke the window? • Now, you listen to me. • Now see here!

7 — used to introduce an important idea or to show a change in subject • Now, I'd like to call your attention to the statue in the middle of the room. • "What's the meaning of life?" "Now that's what I call a really important question!" • Now that was a great song! • Now where was I? Oh yes, I was telling you about my Uncle Harry. • Now you've done it! • Now don't get too excited. • Now who could that be? • Now then, what shall we do next? ♦ The phrase now for is often used to introduce a different idea or activity. • That was an easy question. Now for something a bit more challenging. • Now for today's top news stories.

8 literary : at one moment : SOMETIMES • now one and now another • She was now laughing, now crying.

even now see ²EVEN

(every) now and then also (every) now and again : not often but sometimes • We still see each other (every) now and then. • Now and then she would come in to check on me. • The silence in the house was broken now and again by the ringing of the telephone.

just now see ²JUST

now, now 1 — used to tell someone not to be worried or unhappy • Now, now, don't cry. Everything will be all right. You'll see! 2 — used to express criticism or disapproval • Now, now. There's no need to use that kind of language.

now you're talking see ¹TALK

right now see ²RIGHT

²now conj : since something is true : because of the fact that something happened • Now you mention it, I am kind of hungry. — usually + that • Now that you mention it, I am kind of hungry. • Now that we're all here, let's start the meeting. = Let's start the meeting now that everyone's here.

³now noun [singular] : the present time or moment • A lot of things can happen between now and then. • By now, you must have heard the news. = You must have heard the news by now. • The kids are supposed to be in bed by now. • That's enough for now, but we may need some more later. • Things are fine for now. • Fifty years from now you'll be telling your grandchildren about this day. • She's due back a week from now. • We'll be here from now until November. • I promise, from now on [=from this moment and forever into the future], I'll always tell you the truth. • From now on, no one can use my car without my permission. • Until now, doctors had no idea what caused the disease. = Up to now, they didn't know what caused it. — see also here and now at ¹HERE

now-a-days /'nawə,deɪz/ adv : at the present time • People don't wear hats much nowadays. • Nowadays [=these days], many people need two jobs in order to make ends meet.

¹no-where /'nou,weə/ adv : not in or at any place • I have nowhere to go/sit/live. • These facts are nowhere stated (in the book). • Nowhere is there more of a population problem than in this city. • The book is nowhere to be found. = The book is nowhere to be seen. = The book is nowhere in sight get nowhere 1 or go nowhere : to have no success at all in doing something : to make no progress • I have gotten nowhere with my research. [=my research has been completely unsuccessful] • The research is going nowhere. • We're getting/going nowhere fast 2 get (someone) nowhere : to not help (someone) at all : to not make a situation any better for (someone) • Arguing will get us nowhere. [=arguing will not help our situation] nowhere near informal : not at all : not nearly • Their house is nowhere near as nice as yours. • That is nowhere near enough water. • The house is nowhere near finished.

²nowhere noun [noncount] : no place — used figuratively • They live miles from nowhere. [=they live in a place that is very far from other people] • We got lost in the middle of nowhere. [=in a place far away from other people, houses, etc.] from nowhere or out of nowhere — used to say that someone or something comes, appears, happens, etc., in a sudden and unexpected way • The car came out of nowhere! • Suddenly, out of nowhere, she offered me the job. • Starting from nowhere [=with nothing], he built a very successful business. • The horse came from nowhere to win the race. • She rose to fame out of nowhere. • From out of nowhere he asked her if she was having an affair.

no-win /'nou'wɪn/ adj, always used before a noun — used to describe something (such as a situation) that cannot have a good result no matter what you do • We're in a no-win situation. • a no-win war • She's stuck in a no-win job.

nowt /'naut/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal : NOTHING • There's nowt like it. • He said nowt. ♦ Nowt is used in northern England.

nox-ious /'nɔ:kʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : harmful to living things : TOXIC • noxious fumes/waste

noz-zle /'nɔ:zəl/ noun, pl noz-zles [count] : a short tube that is put on the end of a hose or pipe to control the way a liquid or gas flows out

nr abbr, Brit near

NRA abbr National Rifle Association ♦ The NRA is an organization that is active in supporting the rights of U.S. citizens to own guns.

NS abbr Nova Scotia

NSW abbr New South Wales

NT abbr 1 New Testament 2 Northern Territory 3 Northwest Territories

nth /'enθ/ adj — used to refer to an unknown number in a series of numbers • I told him for the nth time that I would not support him. [=I told him again that I would not support him, as I have told him many times before] to the nth degree : extremely : as much as possible • He is dedicated to the nth degree. [=he is extremely dedicated] nu-ance /'nu:,ɑ:ns, Brit 'nju:,ɑ:ns/ noun, pl -anc-es : a very small difference in color, tone, meaning, etc. [count] nuances [=shades] of color/meaning • He listened to the subtle nuances in the song. [noncount] a poem of little depth and nuance

— nu-anced /'nu:,ɑ:nst, Brit 'nju:,ɑ:nst/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a complex and nuanced poem/story/painting nub /'nʌb/ noun, pl nubs [count] : a small piece or end • The dog chewed his bone down to a nub. : a small part that sticks out • The shoes have little nubs on the bottom that prevent you from slipping.

the nub : the main part or point of something • the nub of the story/problem/matter/argument

nu-bile /'nu:,bajəl, Brit 'nju:,bajəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : sexually attractive — used of a young woman • a nubile young starlet

nu-cle-ar /'nu:kliə, Brit 'nju:kliə/ adj, always used before a noun 1 a : of, relating to, producing, or using energy that is created when the nuclei of atoms are split apart or joined together • nuclear [=atomic] weapons/bombs • a nuclear (power) plant • nuclear fuel • nuclear waste [=waste materials that are created when nuclear energy is produced] b : having or involving nuclear weapons • the nuclear [=atomic] age • a nuclear war/attack • nuclear powers [=countries that have nuclear weapons]

2 : of or relating to the nucleus of an atom • nuclear [=atomic] physics/fission/fusion nuclear energy noun [noncount] physics : energy that is created by splitting apart the nuclei of atoms — called also atomic energy, nuclear power

nuclear family noun, pl ~-lies [count] : the part of a family that includes only the father, mother, and children — compare EXTENDED FAMILY

nuclear fission noun [noncount] : FISSION 1

nuclear-free adj : not having or allowing nuclear energy, weapons, or materials • a nuclear-free zone/area nuclear fusion noun [noncount] : FUSION 2

nuclear power noun [noncount] physics : NUCLEAR ENERGY nuclear reaction noun, pl ~-tions [count] physics : REACTION 5b

nuclear reactor noun, pl ~-tors [count] physics : REACTOR

nu-cle-ic acid /nu'kli:jɪk-/ noun, pl ~ acids [count] technical : any of various acids (such as DNA or RNA) that are found in living cells nu-cle-us /'nu:kliəs/ noun, pl nu-clei /'nu:kli,ai/ also nu-cle-us-es [count]

1 biology : the central part of most cells that contains genetic material and is enclosed in a membrane

2 physics : the central part of an atom that is made up of protons and neutrons

3 : a central or most important part of something — usually + of • players who are the nucleus [=core] of the team

¹nude /'nu:d, Brit 'nju:d/ adj

1 : having no clothes on : NAKED • The artists sketched the nude model.

2 : of or involving people who have no clothes on • a nude movie scene • a nude beach [=a beach where people wear no clothes] • He took nude photos of her. [=he took photos of her when she was not wearing clothes]

3 : having the color of a white person's skin • nude pantyhose

— nude adv • She posed nude for the magazine.

2 nude noun, pl nudes [count] : a painting, sculpture, etc., that shows a nude person • the nudes of Greek sculpture in the nude : without any clothes on • He stood there in the nude.

nudge /'nʌdʒ/ verb nudg-es; nudged; nudg-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to touch or push (someone or something) gently • I nudged the plate closer to him. • The guard nudged the prisoner forward. • The dog nudged the ball with his nose. • We nudged our way (through the crowd) to the exit. b : to push (someone) gently with your elbow in order to get that person's attention • He nudged me and pointed to the deer.

2 [+ obj] : to encourage (someone) to do something • He was nudged (by his parents) towards a career in law. • The salesman nudged her into testing out the car.

3 a [+ obj] : to come close to (a particular level or amount) • Album sales are nudging the one million mark. b always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to move slightly to a different level or amount • The price of gold has nudged a little higher.

— nudge noun, pl nudges [count] • He gave me a nudge in the ribs.

nud-ism /'nuːdɪzəm, Brit 'njuːdɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the practice of not wearing any clothes especially in private places (such as camps or beaches) that are separated from public areas — called also (Brit) naturism

nud-ist /'nuːdɪst, Brit 'njuːdɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who practices nudism — called also (Brit) naturist
— nudist adj • a nudist colony/resort

nu-di-ty /'nuːdəti, Brit 'njuːdəti/ noun [noncount] : the state of having no clothes on : the condition of being nude • The movie has scenes of nudity.

nug-get /'nʌɡət/ noun, pl -gets [count]

1 : a solid lump of a valuable metal (such as gold) • gold nuggets

2 : a small, usually round piece of food • chicken nuggets

3 : a piece of valuable information • nuggets of wisdom/advice/information

nuis-ance /'nuːsəns, Brit 'njuːsəns/ noun, pl -sanc-es [count] : a person, thing, or situation that is annoying or that causes trouble or problems — usually singular • The sticky clay was a nuisance to work with. [=was difficult to work with] • My allergies are a nuisance in the springtime. • Filling out all the paperwork was a nuisance. • I'm sorry to be such a nuisance [=I'm sorry to bother you], but I need your help again. • He made a nuisance of himself. [=he behaved in an annoying way] • (law) The landfill was declared a public nuisance.

1 nuke /'nuːk, Brit 'njuːk/ noun, pl nukes [count] informal : a nuclear weapon

2 nuke verb nukes; nuked; nuk-ing [+ obj] informal

1 : to attack or destroy (something) with a nuclear weapon

2 : to heat or cook (food) in a microwave oven : MICRO-WAVE • nuke a pizza null /'nʌl/ adj, law : having no legal power • The contract was declared null. [=invalid] — often used in the phrase null and void • The law was declared null and void.

null-i-fy /'nʌləˌfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) legally null • The law has been nullified by the U.S. Supreme Court.

2 : to cause (something) to lose its value or to have no effect • The penalty nullified the goal. • Drinking coffee does not nullify [=negate] the effects of alcohol.

num. abbr numeral

1 numb /'nʌm/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : unable to feel anything in a particular part of your body because of cold, injury, etc. • The side of my face was still numb an hour after the surgery. • I had a numb feeling in my toes. • It was so cold that my fingers went numb. • A stroke can cause one side of your body to go numb.

2 : unable to think, feel, or react normally because of something that shocks or upsets you • Her son had died and she just felt numb. • He stood there numb with fear/rage.

— numb-ly adv • They moved numbly through their routine.

— numb-ness noun [noncount] A stroke can cause numbness in one side of your body. [singular] The patient was complaining of a numbness in her fingers.

2 numb verb numbs; numbed; numb-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (a part of the body) to be unable to feel anything • The injection will numb the area to be operated on. • The cold wind numbed my face.

2 : to make (someone) unable to think, feel, or react normally • She was numbed by the news of her son's death.

— numbing adj [more ~; most ~] • the numbing cold • We had to sit through a numbing [=very boring] lecture. — see also MIND-NUMBING — numb-ing-ly adv • a numbingly cold wind • These tasks are numbingly repetitive.

1 num-ber /'nʌmbə/ noun, pl -bers

1 [count] : a word or symbol (such as "five" or "16") that represents a specific amount or quantity • the number seven • He wrote down two numbers [=numerals]: 3 and 9. • the numbers and letters on a license plate • a three-digit number like 429 • Think of a number between one and one hundred. • The number 7¾ is greater than the number 7.25. • 2, 4, 6, and 8 are even numbers; 1, 3, 5, and 7 are odd numbers. • Let's say I have $100 to spend—that's a nice, round number. [=a number that is easily multiplied, divided, etc., and especially a number that ends in zero] — see also CARDINAL NUMBER, ORDINAL NUMBER, PRIME NUMBER, WHOLE NUMBER

2 [count] a : a number or a set of numbers and other symbols that is used to identify a person or thing • a student's ID/identification number • Never give out your credit card number to anyone over the phone. • What's the account number on your electricity bill? • The page numbers are on the top corner of each page. • Today's winning lottery numbers are 17, 8, and 46. • I'm waiting for the number 3 bus. • Flight number 101 from Los Angeles to London is now boarding at Gate number 36. • What's the answer to question number 6? • My daughter's the pitcher, number 21. — abbr. No. or no.;

see also REGISTRATION NUMBER, SERIAL NUMBER, SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER b : a person who is identified by a number and not treated in a personal or friendly way • We get to know each of our customers and make sure that they don't feel like they're just a number. • a large university where the students are just numbers c : PHONE NUMBER • What's your work/office/daytime number? • My home number is (413) 555-2917. • Call our toll-free number. • Did you get her number? = Did she give you her number? • Well, you've got my number. Give me a call sometime. • "May I speak with Sara, please?" "I'm sorry. You must have the wrong number." — see also 800 NUMBER

3 a : the total amount of people or things [count] Fish were once plentiful in this river, but they have since declined in numbers. [=there are now fewer fish than there once were] • New houses are being built in record numbers. [=more new houses are being built now than ever before] — often + of • Were you surprised by the number of people who came to the party? • More should be done to decrease the number of violent crimes in the city. • Large numbers of people have left. [=many people have left] • Serious side effects were observed in a small number of patients. [=a few patients had serious side effects] • A good number of college students [=many college students] have entered the competition. • There are a number of [=several] different options to choose from. • Some students have already been absent on a number of occasions. • The dish can be prepared in any number of ways. [=many different ways] • Residents have left the city for any number of reasons. [noncount] They have declined in number. [=there are not as many of them as there were before] • The protesters were few in number, but they were very loud. b numbers [plural] : a large group of people or things • There's safety/strength in numbers. [=people are safer/stronger when they are together in a group] • They won the battle through sheer weight of numbers. [=they won because there were so many of them]

4 [count] a — used to indicate the position of someone or something in a numbered list or series • You're number 7 on the waiting list. • Now serving number 28. — abbr. No. or no.

b : the version of a magazine, newspaper, etc., that is published at a particular time • The article is in volume 36, number 2 of this journal. • (Brit) the June number [=US issue] of the magazine — abbr. No. or no.

5 [singular] formal : a group of people • One of their number [=one of them] went missing.

6 [count] : a song or dance that is usually performed as part of a concert or performance • For his final number he sang "Heartbreak Hotel." • The actors broke into a song and dance number.

7 [count] informal : someone or something that is attractive or desirable • She wore a cute little black number [=a small attractive black dress] to the dance. • I just bought a new car: a fast, blue number. • I'm going to ask that hot number [=attractive girl or woman] over there if she'll dance with me.

8 numbers [plural] : numbers that show amounts of money that are spent, earned, or needed • We won't be able to stay in business with numbers like these! • I'm afraid the numbers just don't make your idea a profitable option. • I don't know if we can afford it. I have to look at the numbers. • I ran the numbers [=determined the amount of money to be spent, earned, etc.], and I just don't think we can afford it. • When we sat down to crunch the numbers [=to calculate exactly how much money is available, needed, etc.] we realized that we couldn't afford a new car.

9 numbers [plural] chiefly US a : numbers that show how many people are listening to or watching a particular radio or television program • The network looked at the show's numbers and decided to cancel it. b : numbers that show how a person (such as an athlete) has performed in the past • Her numbers [=statistics, stats] make her the team's most valuable player. • I don't remember all of his numbers, but I know he made 63 home runs last year.

10 numbers [plural] US : a gambling game in which people bet on which numbers will be chosen each day • playing the numbers — often used before another noun • an illegal numbers game • the numbers racket

11 [noncount] grammar : the quality of a word form that shows whether the word is singular or plural • A verb and its subject must agree in number. [=if the subject is the singular, the verb must be singular; if the subject is plural, the verb must be plural] bad/good (etc.) with numbers : bad, good, etc., at using numbers (such as for adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing) • What's 43 times 12? Oh, I don't know—I'm bad/lousy with numbers. [=I am bad at mathematics] • Ask her to do the books, she's good with numbers.

beyond number formal + literary : too many to count • a paradise inhabited by animal species beyond number • The stars are beyond number.

by numbers or US by the numbers : in a way that follows the rules or instructions but that is not interesting or original • Dancing by the numbers isn't good enough. You have to really feel the music.

do a number on informal : to have a very bad effect on (someone or something) : to hurt or damage (someone or something) • This heavy backpack is doing a number on my back. • The scandal really did a number on his career.

have someone's number informal : to be able to deal with or defeat someone easily especially because you know or understand that person so well • She thinks she's got my number, but I'm going to prove her wrong.

without number formal : too many to count • This area has been inhabited for years without number. [=for very many years]

your number is up ♦ If your number is up, you are about to suffer or die. • You never know when your number is up. [=when you will die]

2 number verb -bers; -bered; -ber-ing

1 [+ obj] : to give a number to (someone or something in a series) : to label or identify (people or things in a series) with a number • She numbers and arranges the photographs according to when they were taken. • For the quiz, take out a sheet of paper and number it from one to ten. [=write the numbers one through ten down the side of the paper] • Each print is signed and numbered by the artist. • The team's coach bought all the players numbered jerseys.

2 — used to indicate a total amount [linking verb] The population now numbers about 400,000. [=the population is now about 400,000] • In that year, European settlers in the area numbered nearly 15,000. • Though his years number only 45 [=though he is only 45 years old], he looks like an old man. [no obj] The animal, which once numbered in the millions, is now extinct.

3 somewhat formal : to include (someone or something) as part of a larger group — + among or with [+ obj] She numbers among her friends three Nobel Prize winners. = She numbers three Nobel Prize winners among her friends. [=three of her friends are Nobel Prize winners] • He numbers her with the other great poets of the time. — usually used as (be) numbered • John Keats is numbered [=ranked] among the greatest English poets. • I am proud to be numbered among those who have served our country. [no obj] She numbers among the best. [=she is one of the best] days are numbered — used to say that someone or something will die, fail, or end soon. • The doctors have told me that my days are numbered. [=I will die soon]. • He knew that his days as the team's coach were numbered. [=that he was going to be fired from his job as the team's coach soon] • The days of large gas-guzzling cars are numbered. [=people will not be making/buying large gas-guzzling cars for much longer]

number cruncher /-'krʌntʃə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person who collects and studies information in the form of numbers • The number crunchers in Washington are expecting a budget surplus by the fall. • the company's number crunchers

— number crunching noun [noncount] • doing some number crunching

num·ber·less /'nʌmbələs/ adj, literary : too many to count • the numberless [=countless] stars in the sky

1 number one or No. 1 noun [noncount]

1 a : a person, thing, or position that is highest in rank : the most important person or thing in a group of people or things • Who's number one in this office? • Getting the car fixed is number one on my list of priorities. • I'll tell you why we can't go on a vacation: number one, we can't afford it, and number two, we'll miss my sister's party. • Two of their songs have gone to number one [=the highest rank] on the pop charts. b : the most successful person or thing in a group of people or things • Her movie is currently number one at the box office. • When the goal was scored, the fans started to chant, "We're number one, we're number one."

2 : your own happiness, health, or success : YOURSELF • I've been taking care of other people for too long. It's time for me to take care of number one. • If you don't look out for number one [=if you don't take care of yourself], who will?

3 informal : liquid waste from the body : URINE — used mainly by children or when speaking to children; compare NUMBER TWO

2 number one or No. 1 adj : highest in rank or importance • Heart disease is the country's number one [=leading] killer of women. • My number one [=main] concern is getting my car fixed. • The book is the company's number one seller. • Rule number one is don't get caught! • He's public enemy number one the nation's most wanted criminal.

number plate noun, pl ~ plates [count] chiefly Brit : LICENSE PLATE number sign noun, pl ~ signs [count] US : ³POUND

Number Ten or Number 10 noun [singular] Brit

1 : the place in London where the British Prime Minister lives

2 : the British government

number two noun [noncount] informal : solid waste from the body — used mainly by children or when speaking to children; compare NUMBER ONE 3 numb·skull also num·skull /'nʌm,skʌl/ noun, pl -skulls [count] informal : a stupid or foolish person • Why did you do that? How can you be such a numbskull?

nu·mer·al /'nu:mərəl, Brit 'nju:mərəl/ noun, pl -als [count] : a symbol (such as 1, 2, or 3) that represents a number — see also ARABIC NUMERAL, ROMAN NUMERAL nu·mer·a·tor /'nu:mə'reɪtə, Brit 'nju:mə'reɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] mathematics : the number in a fraction that is above the line and that is divided by the number below the line • The numerator in the fraction $\frac{3}{5}$ is 3. — compare DENOMINATOR

nu·mer·ic /nu'merɪk, Brit nju'merɪk/ adj : of or relating to numbers • a numeric code/system • a numeric keypad nu·mer·i·cal /nu'merɪkəl, Brit nju'merɪkəl/ adj : of or relating to numbers or a system of numbers • The files are organized according to a numerical system. • a numerical code • The files are in numerical order.

— nu·mer·i·cal·ly /nu'merɪkli, Brit nju'merɪkli/ adv • The files are organized numerically.

nu·me·ro uno /'nu:mərou'u:nou/ noun [noncount] US, informal : ¹NUMBER ONE 1 • The company is numero uno in computer technology.

nu·mer·ous /'nu:mərəs, Brit 'nju:mərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : existing in large numbers • They had numerous [=many] friends. • She decided to leave for numerous reasons. • The birds are becoming more numerous in this area. • The people I'd like to thank are too numerous to mention/list [=there are so many of them that I can't mention all their names] nu·mi·nous /'nu:mənəs, Brit 'nju:mənəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : having a mysterious, holy, or spiritual quality • Her poetry is filled with a numinous beauty.

nu·mis·mat·ics /,nu:məz'mætɪks, Brit ,nju:məz'mætɪks/noun [noncount] : the study or act of collecting of coins, paper money, and medals

— nu-mis-mat-ic /ˌnu:məz'mætɪk, Brit ˌnju:məz'mætɪk/ adj • a numismatic error — nu-mis-ma-tist /nu'mɪzmætɪst, Brit nju'mɪzmætɪst/ noun, pl -tists [count]

numskull variant spelling of NUMBSKULL

nun /ˈnʌn/ noun, pl nuns [count] : a woman who is a member of a religious community and who usually promises to remain poor, unmarried, and separate from the rest of society in order to serve God — compare MONK

nun-cio /ˈnʌnsɪjʊ/ noun, pl -ci-os [count] : a person who is the Pope's representative in a foreign country

nun-ery /ˈnʌnəri/ noun, pl -er-ies [count] literary + old-fashioned : a place where nuns live : CONVENT

nup-tial /ˈnʌpʃəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : of or relating to marriage or a wedding ceremony • nuptial vows

nup-tials /ˈnʌpʃəlz/ noun [plural] formal : a wedding or wedding ceremony • He was to attend the nuptials of his sister. • The nuptials will take place in the nearby church.

¹nurse /ˈnɜ:s/ noun, pl nurs-es [count]

1 : a person who is trained to care for sick or injured people and who usually works in a hospital or doctor's office • The nurse will take your blood pressure before the doctor sees you. • Nurse, may I have some water? — see also CHARGE NURSE, LICENSED PRACTICAL NURSE, REGISTERED NURSE

2 old-fashioned : a woman who is paid to take care of a young child usually in the child's home — see also WET NURSE

²nurse verb nurses; nursed; nurs-ing

1 [+ obj] : to take care of or help (someone who is sick or injured) • The staff nursed me back to health. [=the staff took care of me until I was healthy again] • She is nursing her son through his illness.

2 [+ obj] : to give special care or attention to (something) : to try to keep (something) from failing • The couple nursed the business through hard times. • He nursed the farm back to productivity. • The team nursed a 1–0 lead until the last inning. • The player is still out nursing an ankle injury. = The player is still out nursing her ankle. [=the player is caring for her injured ankle so that it will not get worse]

3 a [+ obj] : to feed (a baby or young animal) with milk from the mother's body • She nursed [=breast-fed, suckled] her baby for several months. • The dog nursed her puppies. b [no obj] of a baby or young animal : to take milk from the mother's body • The baby nursed for several months. • The puppies nursed for eight weeks.

4 [+ obj] : to hold (something, such as an idea or a strong feeling) in your mind for a long time • He is not one to nurse a grievance/grudge. • She nursed a secret desire to move to the city.

5 [+ obj] : to drink (something) very slowly over a long period of time • He nursed his glass of wine.

nurse-maid /ˈnɜ:smeɪd/ noun, pl -maids [count] old-fashioned : a girl or woman whose job is to take care of children nurse-mid-wife /ˈnɜ:s'mɪd,wʌɪf/ noun, pl -wives [count] : a nurse who is also a midwife and who delivers babies and cares for the mother and baby before and after the baby's birth nurse prac-ti-tion-er /ˈnɜ:spræk'tɪʃənər/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a nurse who is trained to do some of the things a doctor does (such as give physical exams or order certain medical tests)

nurs-ery /ˈnɜ:səri/ noun, pl -er-ies

1 [count] a US : the room where a baby sleeps • She still needs to decorate the nursery before the baby comes. b : the room in a hospital where new babies are kept and cared for by nurses c old-fashioned : a room where children sleep, play, and are sometimes taught

2 [count] a : a place where plants (such as trees or shrubs) are grown and sold • We get our flowers from a local nursery. b : a place where some young animals (such as fish) are grown • salmon nurseries

3 Brit a [count] : a place where children are cared for during the day while their parents are working • She dropped her daughter off at the (day) nursery. [= (US) day care center]

b [count, noncount] : NURSERY SCHOOL

nurs-ery-man /ˈnɜ:sərɪmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a person who owns or works in a place where plants are grown and sold nursery rhyme noun, pl ~ rhymes [count] : a short poem or song for children nursery school noun, pl ~ schools [count, noncount] : a school for very young children : PRESCHOOL nursery slope noun, pl ~ slopes [count] Brit : BUNNY SLOPE

nurse's aide noun, pl ~ aides [count] US : a person whose job is to help nurses to take care of patients nursing noun [noncount] : the job of taking care of people who are sick, injured, or old • She has been employed in nursing for several years now. • Nursing is difficult work. • He went to nursing school. [=a school that trains people to be nurses] nursing home noun, pl ~ homes [count] : a place where people who are old or who are unable to take care of themselves can live and be taken care of nur-tur-ance /ˈnɜ:tʃərəns/ noun [noncount] formal : the love, care, and attention that you give to someone or something • maternal nurturance

¹nur-ture /ˈnɜ:tʃər/ verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing [+ obj]

1 : to help (something or someone) to grow, develop, or succeed • Teachers should nurture their students' creativity. • a professor who nurtures any student who shows true interest in history

2 : to take care of (someone or something that is growing or developing) by providing food, protection, a place to live, etc. • The study looks at the ways parents nurture their children. • You have to carefully nurture the vines if you want them to produce good grapes.

3 : to hold (something, such as an idea or a strong feeling) in your mind for a long time • She nurtured a secret ambition to be a singer. • nurture a dream/grudge

— nur-tur-er /ˈnɜ:tʃərə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • a nurturer of the weak • She tends to be the nurturer in the family.

²nurture noun [noncount] formal : the care and attention given to someone or something that is growing or developing • Members of the family helped in the nurture of the baby. • Is our character affected more by nature or by nurture? [=by the way we are treated and taught to behave when we are young]

nut /ˈnʌt/ noun, pl nuts

1 [count] a : a small dry fruit with a hard shell that grows on trees, bushes, etc. • The squirrel cracked/opened the nut and ate the meat inside. • walnuts, almonds, peanuts, and other nuts — see picture on next page b : the inside part of a nut that is used as food • The squirrel sat and ate the nut. • Are you allergic to nuts? • a bowl of nuts and raisins

2 [count] : a piece of metal that has a hole through it so that it can be screwed onto a bolt or screw — see picture at CARPENTRY; see also LUG NUT, WING NUT

3 [count] informal a : a crazy or strange person • That guy is a real nut. b : a person who is very interested in or enthusiastic about something • She's a real baseball/car/health/movie/travel nut.

4 nuts [plural] informal + impolite : a man's testicles • He got kicked in the nuts.

a hard/tough nut (to crack) : a person or thing that is difficult to deal with, understand, or influence • The team's defense is a tough nut to crack. • The problem is a hard nut to crack. • He's a tough nut, but I think I can get him to agree to the contract.

nuts and bolts : the basic parts or details of an activity, job, etc. • She's still learning the nuts and bolts of the business. • Tell me what the nuts and bolts of the plan involve.

soup to nuts see SOUP

— nut-like /ˈnʌt,lʌɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • The cake had a nutlike [=nutty] taste. n nut-brown /ˈnʌtˈbraʊn/ adj : medium brown or dark brown in color • nut-brown hair nut-case /ˈnʌt,keɪs/ noun, pl -cas-es [count] informal : a crazy or very strange person • He's a total/complete nutcase.

nut-crack-er /ˈnʌt,kɹækər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a tool or device that is used to open the shells of nuts

nut-hatch /ˈnʌt,hætʃ/ noun, pl -hatch-es [count] : a small bird with a narrow beak and short tail nut-house /ˈnʌt,haʊs/ noun, pl -hous-es [count] US, informal + old-fashioned : a hospital for people who are mentally ill — usually used figuratively • This office is a nuthouse. [=a place where there is a lot of confusion, disorganization, etc.]

nut-meg /ˈnʌt,meg/ noun [noncount] : a spice made from the hard seed of a tropical tree and used in cooking and baking nu-tra-ceu-ti-cal /ˌnu:trəˈsu:tɪkəl, Brit ˌnju:trəˈsju:tɪkəl/ noun, pl -cals [count] technical : a specially treated food, vi-

nuts

pistachios

hazelnuts, filberts (chiefly US)

almonds

cashews, cashew nuts

Brazil nuts, Brazils (Brit)

pecans

walnuts

chestnuts

tamin, mineral, herb, etc., that you eat or drink in order to improve your health nu·tri·ent /'nu:trijənt, Brit 'nju:trijənt/ noun, pl -ents [count] technical : a substance that plants, animals, and people need to live and grow • Fruits and vegetables have important nutrients. • The soil is low in nutrients. • You need more nutrients in your diet.

– nutrient adj, always used before a noun • the nutrient composition of different foods • The disease is caused by nutrient deficiencies.

nu·tri·tion /nu'triʃən, Brit nju'triʃən/ noun [noncount] : the process of eating the right kind of food so you can grow properly and be healthy • The speaker discussed diet and nutrition with the class. • good nutrition and proper exercise

– nu·tri·tion·al /nu'triʃənəl, Brit nju'triʃənəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a nutritional supplement [=a vitamin, herb, etc., that you take in order to help your body be healthy] • the nutritional value of fruits and vegetables – nu·tri·tion·al·ly adv • a nutritionally complete meal

nu·tri·tion·ist /nu'triʃənɪst, Brit nju'triʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person whose job is to give advice on how food affects your health nu·tri·tious /nu'triʃəs, Brit nju'triʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having substances that a person or animal needs to be healthy and grow properly : promoting good health and growth • highly nutritious salad greens • The food was both nutritious and delicious.

nu·tri·tive /'nu:trətv, Brit 'nju:trətv/ adj, always used before a noun, technical : of or relating to nutrition • the nutritive value of certain grains

¹nuts /'nʌts/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] informal

1 : CRAZY • They looked at me like I was nuts. • She's going to drive me nuts [=make me crazy; make me go insane] with her jealousy.

2 a : very enthusiastic about or interested in something — often + about • He was nuts [=crazy] about baseball. b : feeling affection or love for someone or something — often + for or about • She is nuts for children and animals. [=she loves children and animals] • He's nuts about her. [=he's deeply in love with her]

go nuts 1 : to become mentally ill : to become insane • She went nuts [=went crazy] and started to believe that everyone was trying to kill her. 2 : to act in a way that is wild or out of control because of strong emotion • The crowd went nuts when the team won the championship. • When Dad sees you broke the window, he's going to go nuts.

²nuts interj, US, informal + old-fashioned — used to express anger, disappointment, etc. • Aw nuts! I broke my glasses!

nut·shell /'nʌtʃəl/ noun, pl -shells [count] : the hard outer shell of a nut in a nutshell : very briefly • And that, in a nutshell, is what happened. • To put it in a nutshell, the party was a disaster.

nut·ter /'nʌtə/ noun, pl -ters [count] Brit, informal : a crazy or strange person : NUT • He's a complete nutter.

nut·ty /'nʌti/ adj nut·ti·er; -est

1 a : tasting or smelling like nuts • candy with a nutty taste • a nutty coffee b : containing nuts • a nutty candy bar

2 informal a : silly, strange, or foolish • What a nutty idea. • He's got some nutty [=weird] friends. b : mentally ill • Her aunt's a little nutty. [=crazy]

– nut·ti·ness noun [noncount] • I noticed some nuttness in the coffee's taste. • the sheer nuttness of the idea

nuz·zle /'nʌzəl/ verb nuz·zles; nuz·zled; nuz·zling : to gently push or rub your nose or face against (someone or something) to show affection [+ obj] She nuzzled his neck. • The dog nuzzled my leg. [no obj] The dog nuzzled (up) against my leg. • He nuzzled into her neck.

NV abbr Nevada

NW abbr northwest, northwestern

NWT abbr Northwest Territories

NY abbr New York

NYC abbr New York City

ny·lon /'naɪ,lɔ:n/ noun, pl -lons

1 [noncount] : a strong material that is made from a chemical process and that is used for making clothes, ropes, and other products • The rope is made of nylon. — often used before another noun • a nylon rope

2 nylons [plural] : clothing for women made of nylon that fits closely over the feet and legs and goes up to the waist • a pair of nylons [=pantyhose, stockings]

nymph /'nɪmf/ noun, pl nymphs [count]

1 in stories : a spirit in the shape of a young woman who lives in mountains, forests, meadows, and water

2 technical : a young insect that has almost the same form as the adult nym·phet /nɪm'fet/ noun, pl -phets [count] : a sexually attractive girl

nym·pho /'nɪmfəu/ noun, pl -phos [count] informal : NYMPHOMANIAC

nym·pho·ma·ni·ac /,nɪmfə'meɪni,æk/ noun, pl -acs [count] : a woman who has an unusually strong desire to have sex very often

– nym·pho·ma·ni·a /,nɪmfə'meɪnijə/ noun [noncount] somewhat technical • a patient affected with nymphomania

NZ abbr New Zealand

O

O or O /'ou/ noun, pl O's or os or O's or Os /'ouz/

1 : the 15th letter of the English alphabet [count] a word that starts with an o [noncount] a word that starts with o

2 [count] : the number zero — used in speech when referring to numbers • I live in apartment number three o two. [=302]

3 [count] — used as a mark at the end of a letter, an e-mail, etc., to represent a hug • XO, Mom

O' also o /'ou/ prep : 'OF — used in some words and informally in some phrases • jack-o-lantern • a cup o' tea

O variant spelling of 'OH

oaf /'ouf/ noun, pl oafs [count] : a stupid or awkward person — usually used for a man • Get out of the way, you big oaf!

— oaf-ish /'oufɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • an oafish bore

— oaf-ish-ly adv — oaf-ish-ness noun [noncount]

oak /'ouk/ noun, pl oaks or oak

1 [count] : a type of tree that grows in northern parts of the world and that produces acorns • Tall oaks line the street. — called also oak tree; see also POISON OAK

2 [noncount] : the wood of an oak tree • The table is solid oak. • oak floors/chairs • The cabinets are made of oak.

— oak-en /'oukən/ adj, always used before a noun • oaken [= (more commonly) oak] floors/chairs

OAP /,ou,eɪ'pi:/ noun, pl OAPs [count] Brit, old-fashioned : a person who is old enough to receive a government pension • reduced prices for OAPs [=senior citizens] ♦ OAP is an abbreviation for “old-age pensioner.”

oar /'oə/ noun, pl oars [count] : a long pole that is flat and wide at one end and that is used for rowing and steering a boat ♦ Oars are usually used in pairs with one oar on each side of the boat. • She gripped the oars and began rowing the boat to shore. — see picture at BOAT; compare PADDLE get/put/stick your oar in Brit, informal : to give people your opinion when they do not want it

oar-lock /'oə,lɔ:k/ noun, pl -locks [count] : a part that holds an oar in place on either side of a boat — called also (Brit) rowlock

oars-man /'oəzmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a person who rows a boat especially as a member of a racing team — called also rower

oars-wom-an /'oəz,wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-,wɪmən/ [count] : a woman who rows a boat especially as a member of a racing team — called also rower

oa-sis /ou'eɪsɪs/ noun, pl oa-ses /ou'eɪ,sɪz/ [count]

1 : an area in a desert where there is water and plants • a desert oasis

2 a : a pleasant place that is surrounded by something unpleasant • The small park is a welcome oasis amid the city's many factories. • an oasis of quiet b : a time or experience that is pleasant and restful • Our brief trip to the beach was a much-needed oasis in a summer of hard work.

oat /'out/ noun, pl oats

1 [noncount] : a kind of grain that is widely grown — often used before another noun • oat bran/flour

2 oats [plural] : the seeds of the oat plant used as feed for farm animals and in foods (such as bread and oatmeal) for people feel your oats US, informal : to feel new confidence and energy • He's really been feeling his oats since he was given that promotion.

sow your (wild) oats see 'sow oath /'ouθ/ noun, pl oaths /'ouðz/ [count]

1 : a formal and serious promise to tell the truth or to do something • They were required to take/swear an oath of loyalty. [=promise formally to remain loyal] • an oath to defend the nation • an oath of office [=an official promise by a person who has been elected to a public office to fulfill the duties of the office according to the law]

2 old-fashioned : an offensive or rude word that is used to express anger, frustration, surprise, etc. • He uttered an oath and walked away.

under oath also on oath law : having made a formal promise to tell the truth in a court of law • In a U.S. court of law, a witness must swear under oath to tell “the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.” • He said in testimony given under oath that he was not there the night of the crime.

oat-meal /'out,mi:l/ noun [noncount]

1 : oats that have been ground into flour or flattened into flakes • grinding oats into oatmeal — often used before another noun • oatmeal cookies

2 US : a hot breakfast food that is made from oats • a bowl of oatmeal — called also (Brit) porridge ob-du-rate /'ɑ:bdərət, Brit 'ɒbdjərət/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : refusing to do what other people want : not willing to change your opinion or the way you do something : STUBBORN • He is known for his obdurate determination. • Officials at the hospital were obdurate. [=adamant] The patient could have no visitors.

— ob-du-ra-cy /'ɑ:bdərəsi, Brit 'ɒbdjərəsi/ noun [noncount]

• Her obduracy angered them. — ob-du-rate-ly adv

obe-di-ent /ou'bi:dijənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : willing to do what someone tells you to do or to follow a law, rule, etc. : willing to obey • obedient to the law • an obedient child/dog — opposite DISOBEDIENT

— obe-di-ence /ou'bi:dijəns/ noun [noncount] • blind/unquestioning obedience • Students are expected to act in obedience to the rules of the school. [=are expected to obey the rules of the school] • He's been taking his dog to obedience classes/school/training. — obe-di-ent-ly adv • The children stood obediently in line.

obei-sance /ou'bi:səns/ noun, pl -sanc-es formal

1 [count] : a movement of your body (such as bowing) that shows respect for someone or something • making obeisances to the king [=bowing to the king]

2 [noncount] : respect for someone or something • They paid obeisance to him. [=they showed or expressed great respect for him]

obe-lisk /'ɑ:bəlɪsk/ noun, pl -lisks [count]

: a tall, four-sided stone column that becomes narrower toward the top and that ends in a point

obese /ou'bi:s/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very fat : fat in a way that is unhealthy • providing medical treatment for obese patients

— obe-si-ty /ou'bi:səti/ noun [noncount] • the problem of obesity in children obey /ou'bei/ verb obeys; obeyed;

obey-ing : to do what someone tells you to do or what a rule, law, etc., says you must do [+ obj] His dog has learned to obey several commands. • He always obeys his parents. • obey the law • The children must obey the rules. • Falling objects obey the laws of physics. [=falling objects move in a way that agrees with the laws of physics] [no obj] The children must learn to obey. • This dog does not obey. [=does not do what it is told to do] — opposite DISOBEY

ob-fus-cate /'ɑ:bfə'skeɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing formal : to make (something) more difficult to understand [+ obj] Politicians keep obfuscating the issues. [no obj] Their explanations only serve to obfuscate and confuse.

— ob-fus-ca-tion /,ɑ:bfə'skeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

ob-gyn /,ou,bɪ,dʒi:waɪ'en/ noun, pl ob-gyns [count] US, medical : a doctor who deals with the birth of children and with diseases that affect the reproductive system of women • She has an appointment with her ob-gyn tomorrow. • an ob-gyn practice/specialist ♦ Ob-gyn comes from shortened forms of the words “obstetrician” and “gynecologist.”

OB-GYN abbr obstetrics-gynecology

obit /ou'bit, Brit 'ɒbit/ noun, pl obits [count] informal : OBITUARY

obit-u-ary /ou'bitʃə,weri, Brit ə'bitʃuəri/ noun, pl -ar-ies [count] : an article in a newspaper about the life of someone who has died recently • I read/saw her obituary in the newspaper. • an obituary writer/notice — sometimes used figuratively • The company is not doing well, but it's too soon to write an/its obituary. [=too soon to think that the company will fail]

obj abbr object

obelisk

¹ob·ject /ˈɑːbdʒɪkt/ noun, pl -jects

1 [count] : a thing that you can see and touch and that is not alive • There were three objects in the box: a comb, a pen, and a button. • an inanimate object [=a thing that is not alive, such as a rock, a chair, a book, etc.]

2 [count] a : someone or something that makes you feel a specified emotion — + of • The book's lead character is both an object of desire and an object of pity. [=the lead character is both desired and pitied by other characters in the book] • She is the object of his affection. b : someone or something that your attention or interest is directed toward — often + of • The object of study in her research is the human brain. — see also SEX OBJECT

3 [singular] : the goal or aim of a plan or action : the reason or purpose for an activity • His object is to determine how much the business will cost to operate. — usually + of • The object of the game is to score the most points.

4 [count] grammar : a noun, noun phrase, or pronoun that receives the action of a verb or completes the meaning of a preposition — compare SUBJECT; see also DIRECT OBJECT, INDIRECT OBJECT

no object — used to say that something is not important or worth worrying about • When they take a vacation, money is no object. [=they don't worry about how much something costs] They always stay at the most expensive places. • If cost was/were no object [=if cost did not matter; if we had enough money] we'd buy a new car instead of fixing the old one.

²ob·ject /əbˈdʒekt/ verb -jects; -ject-ed; -ject-ing

1 [no obj] : to disagree with something or oppose something • No one objected when the paintings were removed. • (law) “Your honor, I object. That question is misleading.” — often + to • A number of people objected to the proposed changes. • Many people object to [=do not like] the amount of violence on television.

2 [+ obj] : to say (something that explains why you oppose something or disagree) • “We can't buy the chair,” he objected. “It won't fit in the car.” — often + that • He objected that the chair was too big to fit in the car.

— ob·jec·tor /əbˈdʒektər/ noun, pl -tors [count] — see also CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR ob·jec·ti·fy /əbˈdʒektɪfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj] disapproving : to treat (someone) as an object rather than as a person • She says beauty pageants objectify women.

— ob·jec·ti·fi·ca·tion /əbˈdʒektɪfəˈkeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the objectification of women

ob·jec·tion /əbˈdʒekʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : a reason for disagreeing with or opposing something : a reason for objecting [count] My main objection is that some people will have to pay more than others. — often + to • His main objection to buying the car is that it's too expensive. • People have raised/voiced a number of objections to the proposed changes. [noncount] She doesn't have any objection to going. = She's made no objection to going. • He said he had no objection to the plan.

2 law a [count] : an act of formally objecting to something during a trial. • The prosecutor's objection was sustained. [=the judge agreed that the prosecutor was right to object]

b — used as an interjection by lawyers during trials when they think something is not fair or proper • Objection! That question is misleading.

ob·jec·tion·able /əbˈdʒekʃənəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not good or right • Some people find the taste of the water objectionable [=unpleasant], but I think it's fine. : causing people to be offended • He won't allow his children to watch television shows with objectionable [=offensive] language.

— ob·jec·tion·ably /əbˈdʒekʃənəbli/ adv • behaving objectionably

¹ob·jec·tive /əbˈdʒektɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : based on facts rather than feelings or opinions • We need someone outside the company to give us an objective analysis. • Scientists must be objective. : not influenced by feelings • It's hard to be objective [=fair, unbiased] about my own family. — opposite SUBJECTIVE

2 philosophy : existing outside of the mind : existing in the real world • objective reality

3 grammar : relating to nouns, noun phrases, or pronouns that are the objects of verbs or prepositions • The pronoun “her” is in the objective [=accusative] case in the sentence “I saw her.” — compare SUBJECTIVE

— ob·jec·tive·ly adv • Scientists must look at facts objectively. • It's hard to think objectively about your own family.

— ob·jec·tiv·i·ty /ˌɑːbˈdʒektɪvəti/ noun [noncount] • The passionate tone of the article made me question the author's objectivity.

²objective noun, pl -tives

1 [count] : something you are trying to do or achieve : a goal or purpose • The main/primary objective of the class is to teach basic typing skills. • She's expanding the business with the objective of improving efficiency. • We've set specific objectives for each day.

2 [count] : OBJECTIVE LENS

3 [noncount] grammar : ACCUSATIVE

objective lens noun, pl ~ lenses [count] technical : a lens or system of lenses in a microscope, telescope, etc., that forms an image of an object — called also objective object lesson noun, pl ~ -sons [count] : an example from real life that teaches a lesson or explains something • His life story is an object lesson in how not to run a business.

ob·jet d'art /ˌɑːbˈʒetˈdɑːr/ noun, pl ob·jets d'art /ˌɑːbˈʒetˈdɑːr/ [count] : a small object that is valued because it is beautiful or interesting : an object that has artistic value • The house is decorated with objets d'art from around the world. — called also objet ob·li·gate /ˈɑːbləˌgeɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [+ obj] : to make (a person or organization) do something because the law requires it or because it is the right thing to do • The contract obligates the firm to complete the work in six weeks. — usually used as (be) obligated • You are legally obligated to repay the loan. = You are obligated by law to repay the loan. • I feel obligated to return his call.

ob·li·ga·tion /ˌɑːbləˌgeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : something that you must do because of a law, rule, promise, etc. [count] The firm must fulfill its obligations under the contract. = The firm must fulfill its contractual obligations. • legal/financial/constitutional obligations • Both landlord and tenant should know their rights and obligations. [=responsibilities] [noncount] You can try the machine for free without obligation. [=without being required to buy it or to do anything else] • You are not under any obligation to stay. [=you are not required to stay] • You're under no (legal) obligation to return the money. [=there is no law that requires you to return the money; you do not have to return the money]

2 : something that you must do because it is morally right [count] family/social obligations • She believes that all people have a moral obligation to defend human rights. • He argues that people in a community have certain obligations to each other. • She failed to fulfill her obligations as a parent. [noncount] We visited them out of a sense of obligation. [=a feeling that it was the right thing to do]

oblig·a·to·ry /əˈblɪɡəˌtɔːri, Brit əˈblɪɡətəri/ adj

1 formal : required by a law or rule • obligatory [=mandatory] military service • The training is obligatory for all personnel.

2 always used before a noun, humorous : always or often included as a familiar and expected part of something • This action movie includes the obligatory chase scenes.

oblige /əˈblaɪdʒ/ verb oblig-es; obliged; oblig-ing

1 [+ obj] : to force or require (someone or something) to do something because of a law or rule or because it is necessary • The law *oblige*s the government to release certain documents to the public. • Her job *oblige*s her to work overtime and on weekends. — usually used as (be) obliged • The government is obliged [=required, obligated] by law to release certain documents to the public.

2 : to do something that someone has asked you to do : to do a favor for (someone) [+ obj] She's always ready to oblige her friends. [no obj] “Thank you for your help.” “I'm happy/glad to oblige.” • They asked for food and he obliged with soup and sandwiches.

— see also NOBLESSE OBLIGE obliged adj, not used before a noun, old-fashioned : very grateful : THANKFUL • I'd be much obliged if you'd hold the door for me. • We felt obliged [=indebted] to them for all their help. • You've been so helpful. We are much obliged. [=we are very grateful; we thank you very much] obliging adj [more ~; most ~] : willing to help : helpful in a friendly way • An obliging passerby helped her with her packages.

— oblig·ing·ly adv • A passerby obligingly helped her with her packages.

¹oblique /ouˈblik/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not direct : not stated directly • She made only oblique

[=indirect] references to the scandal in her speech.

2 of a line : having a slanting direction or position : neither perpendicular nor parallel • The short lines of the letter "k" are oblique lines.

– oblique-ly adv • She referred to the scandal obliquely in her speech. – oblique-ness noun [noncount] • The poem's obliqueness is what interests me.

2 oblique noun, pl obliques [count] Brit : ²SLASH 4

oblique angle noun, pl ~ angles [count] mathematics : an angle that is not 90 degrees : an acute or obtuse angle • The dancer held his leg at an oblique angle to his body.

oblit-er-ate /ə'blɪtə,ret/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] : to destroy (something) completely so that nothing is left • The tide eventually obliterated [=wiped out] all evidence of our sand castles. — often used as (be) obliterated • The garden was obliterated in the hurricane.

– oblit-er-a-tion /ə,blɪtə'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

obliv-i-on /ə'blɪvɪjən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the state of something that is not remembered, used, or thought about any more • The technology is destined/headed for oblivion. • The names of the people who lived here long ago have faded/drifted into oblivion. • His theories have faded into scientific oblivion. • Her work was rescued from oblivion when it was rediscovered in the early 1900s.

2 : the state of being unconscious or unaware : the state of not knowing what is going on around you • After being awake for three days straight, he longed for the oblivion of sleep. • She drank herself into oblivion.

3 : the state of being destroyed • The little village was bulldozed into oblivion to make way for the airport.

obliv-i-ous /ə'blɪvɪjəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not conscious or aware of someone or something • We called out to them, but they remained oblivious. [=they did not notice us] — usually + of or to • He was completely oblivious of [=unaware of] the fact that he'd offended them. • She kept dancing, oblivious to everyone around her.

– obliv-i-ous-ly adv – obliv-i-ous-ness noun [noncount]

ob-long /'ɑː,blɑːŋ/ adj

1 US : longer in one direction than in the other direction • an oblong [=oval] loop • the plant's oblong leaves

2 chiefly Brit : having four straight sides that meet at right angles and having two opposite sides that are short and two opposite sides that are long • an oblong [=rectangular] block of wood – oblong noun, pl -longs [count] • Draw an oblong.

ob-lo-quy /'ɑː,bləkwi/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : harsh or critical statements about someone • a victim of hatred and obloquy

2 : the condition of someone who lost the respect of other people • For years they endured the obloquy [=shame] that follows scandal.

ob-nox-i-ous /əb'nɑːkʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : unpleasant in a way that makes people feel offended, annoyed, or disgusted • He said some really obnoxious things about his ex-girlfriend at the party. • Some teenagers were being loud and obnoxious. • an obnoxious smell

– ob-nox-i-ous-ly adv • obnoxiously loud music – ob-nox-i-ous-ness noun [noncount]

oboe /'əʊboʊ/ noun, pl oboes [count] : a musical instrument that is shaped like a tube and that is played by blowing into a small, thin piece at the top of the tube — see picture at WOODWIND

– obo-ist /'əʊboʊɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • He's an oboist in the city's orchestra.

ob-scene /əb'siːn/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : relating to sex in an indecent or offensive way • The book is filled with obscene [=informal] dirty pictures. • He was accused of making obscene phone calls. b : very offensive in usually a shocking way • obscene lyrics/language • He made an obscene gesture at the driver who cut him off.

2 : so large an amount or size as to be very shocking or unfair • The company's executives earn obscene salaries. • He spends an obscene amount of money on clothes.

3 : morally disturbing or upsetting • What an obscene [=disgusting] waste of money!

– ob-scene-ly adv • obscenely wealthy/rich

ob-scen-i-ty /əb'senəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being obscene • He was arrested for obscenity. = He was arrested on obscenity charges.

2 [noncount] : obscene words or actions • The author uses obscenity to make a point about the culture.

3 [count] : an offensive word : SWEARWORD — usually plural • People were shouting/screaming/yelling obscenities at one another. • The song's lyrics are full of obscenities.

ob-scu-ran-tism /əb'skjərən,tɪzəm/ noun [noncount] formal : the practice of keeping knowledge or understanding about something from people : the policy of not letting people know something • secrecy and political obscurantism

– ob-scu-rant-ist /əb'skjərəntɪst/ adj • obscurantist art

1 ob-scure /əb'skjə/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not well-known : not known to most people • obscure books/titles • a little antique shop in an obscure [=out-of-the-way] corner of the city

2 a : difficult to understand : likely to be understood by only a few people • The movie is full of obscure references that only pop culture enthusiasts will understand. b : difficult or impossible to know completely and with certainty • The origins of the language are obscure.

– ob-scure-ly adv • an obscurely titled book

synonyms OBSCURE, VAGUE, and AMBIGUOUS mean not clearly understandable. OBSCURE often suggests a meaning that cannot be easily understood because it has not been clearly expressed or because special knowledge is needed. • an obscure poem VAGUE suggests something that cannot be described clearly. • She felt a vague sense of obligation. It can also describe something that is difficult to understand because it is not specific. • vague instructions AMBIGUOUS describes language that can be understood in more than one way. • an ambiguous statement

2 obscure verb -sures; -scured; -scur-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) difficult to understand or know : to make (something) obscure • The true history has been obscured by legends about what happened. • They accused the company of trying to obscure the fact that the product poses a health risk.

2 : to hide or cover (something) : to be in front of (something) so that it cannot be seen • Low clouds obscured the mountains. = The mountains were obscured by low clouds. • Her view of the game was obscured [=blocked] by a post.

ob-scu-ri-ty /əb'skjərəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the state of being unknown or forgotten • In recent years, the tradition has emerged from obscurity. • He has been living in relative obscurity in a small town in the mountains. • After a promising first novel, she faded/sank into obscurity.

2 a [count] : something that is difficult to understand — usually plural • The essay is full of obscurities. b [noncount] : the quality of being difficult to understand • A good writer avoids obscurity of language. [=does not use words people are not likely to understand]

ob-se-qui-es /'ɑːbsəkwiːz/ noun [plural] formal : the acts that make up a funeral ceremony • solemn obsequies ob-se-qui-ous /əb'siːkwɪjəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : too eager to help or obey someone important • She's constantly followed by obsequious assistants who will do anything she tells them to.

– ob-se-qui-ous-ly adv • smiling obsequiously [=smiling in a way that shows that you are obsequious] – ob-se-qui-ous-ness noun [noncount]

ob-serv-able /əb'zəvəbəl/ adj : possible to see or notice : able to be observed • The trend is observable [=noticeable, perceptible] all over the country. • the size of the observable universe

– ob-serv-ably /əb'zəvəbli/ adv • observably different

ob-ser-vance /əb'zəvəns/ noun, pl -vanc-es

1 [noncount] : the practice of following a custom, rule, law, etc. • Sabbath observance — often + of • strict observance of the law/ban/rule • The office will be closed in observance of the holiday.

2 [count] : an act that is part of a ceremony or ritual • a special holiday observance — usually plural • religious/ritual observances

ob-ser-vant /əb'zəvənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : good at watching and listening : good at noticing what is going on around you • A particularly observant child, he noticed even the slightest changes in the classroom. • Good reporters are keenly observant of everything around them.

2 : careful to follow religious teachings or customs • an observant Jew/Muslim = a Jew/Muslim who is observant of Jewish/Islamic law • The family is strictly observant.

1 ob-ser-va-tion /,ɑːbsə'veɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a statement about something you have noticed : a comment or remark • I'm not criticizing that kind of clothing. I'm just making an observation about the style. • Her constant observations about the weather bored me. synonyms see ¹REMARK

2 a [noncount] : the act of careful watching and listening : the activity of paying close attention to someone or something in order to get information • These facts are based on close observation of the birds in the wild. • Children learn by observation. • The author's excellent powers of observation [=ability to notice and pay close attention to things] are evident in the book's detailed descriptions. • The plants seem to have recovered from the disease, but they are still under observation [=someone is watching them carefully] • He has been under government observation [=the government has been watching him carefully] for six months. • They're keeping him at the hospital for observation [=so that doctors can watch him carefully] for another few days. b [count] : something you notice by watching and listening • Observations made using the telescope have led to new theories. • Some interesting observations came from the study. • scientific observations c [count] : a written or spoken report or description of something that you have noticed or studied • He recorded his observations in a notebook.

3 [noncount] : the act of doing what is required by a custom, rule, law, etc. : OBSERVANCE — usually + of • observation of the law

— ob-ser-va-tion-al /,ɑ:bsə'veɪʃən/ adj • observational data/skills

2 observation adj, always used before a noun : designed to be used while watching people or things • observation airplanes/helicopters • an observation deck/platform/post/tower ob-ser-va-to-ry /əb'zəvə,tori, Brit əb'zəvətri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a special building for studying stars, planets, weather, etc. : a building from which scientists study and watch the sky • the McDonald Observatory

ob-serve /əb'zəv/ verb -serves; -served; -serv-ing

1 : to watch and sometimes also listen to (someone or something) carefully [+ obj] The class will be observing the movements of fish. • The patient must be observed constantly. • Children learn by observing their parents and others. • The story is a closely/well observed [=very realistic] portrait of the city. [no obj] The new teacher will give the lesson today and the principal will observe.

2 [+ obj] : to see and notice (someone or something) • We observed a large flock of birds heading north. • He observed two children playing with marbles on the street corner. • She observed that every man in the room had removed his hat. • Few cases of the disease have been observed in humans.

3 [+ obj] : to make a comment about something you notice • "The paint," she observed [=remarked, said], "is already starting to peel." • Looking around at the shuttered houses, he observed [=commented] that the island was entirely different in the winter.

4 [+ obj] : to do what a custom, rule, law, etc., says you should do • The game will continue only when both teams agree to observe [=follow] the rules. • observing [=keeping] the Sabbath

5 [+ obj] : to celebrate (a holiday) or honor (a person or event) • We'll observe Independence Day at home this year. • They observed a moment of silence to remember their loved ones.

ob-serv-er /əb'zəvə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who sees and notices someone or something • According to one observer, the event was poorly organized. • The star is not visible to an observer without a telescope. • Even a casual observer [=even someone who is not looking carefully] can tell that the building is in need of repair.

2 : a person who pays close attention to something and is considered to be an expert on that thing • According to one military observer, this change comes after years of planning. • Observers say the economy is improving.

3 : a person who is present at something (such as a meeting) in order to watch and listen to what happens • The class has an observer today, so please be on your best behavior.

4 — used in the names of newspapers and magazines • the Raleigh News and Observer • the London Observer

ob-sess /əb'ses/ verb -sess-es; -sessed; -sess-ing

1 [+ obj] : to be the only person or thing that someone thinks or talks about • The war obsesses him—he talks about nothing else. — usually used as (be) obsessed • He is obsessed by the war. • She was obsessed with her weight. [=she thought about her weight all the time] • She became more and more obsessed with the project.

2 [no obj] informal : to think and talk about someone or something too much • You need to stop obsessing and just deal with the problem. — usually + about or over • I'm trying to obsess less about my weight. • He's always obsessing over money.

ob-ses-sion /əb'seɪʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 : a state in which someone thinks about someone or something constantly or frequently especially in a way that is not normal [count] He was fascinated by the actress and tracking her every move had become an obsession. • She has an obsession about cleanliness. • the object of her obsession [=the thing that she is obsessed about] • The restaurant's menu is evidence of the chef's lifelong obsession with international cuisines. [=the chef's lifelong interest in international cuisines] [noncount] Her concern about cleanliness approaches the level of obsession. • He's concerned about money to the point of obsession [=he is very/too concerned about money]

2 [count] a : someone or something that a person thinks about constantly or frequently • Cleanliness is her obsession. = Cleanliness is an obsession with her. • Money has become an obsession for him. b : an activity that someone is very interested in or spends a lot of time doing • Stamp collecting has become an obsession with/for me. [=I have become obsessed with collecting stamps]

— ob-ses-sion-al /əb'seɪʃən/ adj [more ~; most ~] • obsessional [(more commonly) obsessive] thinking

1 ob-ses-sive /əb'sesiv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : thinking about something or someone too much or in a way that is not normal : having an obsession • Many dancers are obsessive about their weight. • He is an obsessive workaholic who never stops thinking about his job. : showing or relating to an obsession • an obsessive interest in space travel • The new therapy is supposed to help people control their obsessive thoughts. • obsessive attention to detail

— ob-ses-sive-ly adv • She works obsessively, often for weeks at a time. • talking obsessively about food — ob-ses-sive-ness noun [noncount]

2 obsessive noun, pl -sives [count] psychology : a person who thinks about something too much or in a way that is not normal : someone who is obsessed obsessive-compulsive adj, psychology : relating to or having a mental illness that involves repeating actions or thinking about certain things too much • obsessive-compulsive behavior • a patient with obsessive-compulsive disorder • an obsessive-compulsive person/patient = a person/patient who is obsessive-compulsive

— obsessive-compulsive noun, pl -sives [count] • treatment for obsessive-compulsives [=people who have obsessive-compulsive disorder]

ob-sid-i-an /əb'sɪdijən/ noun [noncount] : a dark natural glass that forms when lava cools

ob-so-les-cence /,ɑ:bsə'lesns/ noun [noncount] : the condition of no longer being used or useful : the condition of being obsolete • the obsolescence of the old technology • Once a useful tool, slide rules have fallen into obsolescence. • built-in/planned obsolescence [=the practice of making or designing something (such as a car) in such a way that it will only be usable for a short time so that people will have to buy another one]

ob-so-les-cent /,ɑ:bsə'lesnt/ adj : no longer useful : becoming obsolete • obsolescent machinery/computers

ob-so-lete /,ɑ:bsə'li:t/ adj

1 : no longer used because something newer exists • obsolete [=outdated] computers • The system was made/rendered obsolete by their invention. : replaced by something newer • obsolete mills and factories

2 : no longer used by anyone • an obsolete word

ob-sta-ble /'ɑ:bstɪkəl/ noun, pl -sta-les [count]

1 : something that makes it difficult to do something • He overcame the obstacles of poverty and neglect. • They must overcome a number of obstacles before the restaurant can be opened. • Lack of experience is a major obstacle for her opponent. • an obstacle to learning/progress

2 : an object that you have to go around or over : something that blocks your path • She swerved to avoid an obstacle in the road.

obstacle course noun, pl ~ courses [count]

1 : a series of objects that people or animals in a race have to jump or climb over, go around, go under, etc.

2 : a training area for soldiers that is filled with objects (such as hurdles, ditches, walls, etc.) that the soldiers have to jump or climb over, go around, go under, etc. — called also (Brit) assault course

3 : a series of problems, events, or requirements that make it difficult to do something • We finally made it through the bureaucratic obstacle course and got our visas.

obstacle race noun, pl ~ races [count] chiefly Brit : a race through an obstacle course

ob·ste·tri·cian /ˌɑːbstəˈtrɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] medical : a doctor who specializes in obstetrics — compare OB-GYN

ob·stet·rics /əbˈstetɪks/ noun [noncount] medical : a branch of medicine that deals with the birth of children and with the care of women before, during, and after they give birth to children — compare GYNECOLOGY

— ob·stet·ric /əbˈstetɪk/ or US ob·stet·ri·cal /əbˈstetɪkəl/ adj • obstetric patients/treatment • obstetrical care

ob·sti·nate /ˈɑːbstənət/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : refusing to change your behavior or your ideas : STUBBORN • his obstinate refusal to obey • an obstinate little boy • her obstinate behavior • My parents remain as obstinate as ever.

2 : difficult to deal with, remove, etc. : STUBBORN • an obstinate stain • a very obstinate problem

— ob·sti·na·cy /ˈɑːbstənəsi/ noun [noncount] — ob·sti·nate·ly adv • people who cling obstinately to the past • He obstinately refused to obey.

ob·strep·er·ous /əbˈstreperəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : difficult to control and often noisy • a room full of obstreperous children • obstreperous [=unruly] teenagers ob·struct /əbˈstrʌkt/ verb -structs; -struct·ed; -struct·ing [+ obj] somewhat formal

1 : to block (something, such as a pipe or street) so that things cannot move through easily • A large tree obstructed the road. • A piece of food obstructed his airway and caused him to stop breathing.

2 : to slow or block the movement, progress, or action of (something or someone) • Several issues have obstructed [=hindered, impeded] efforts to bring peace to the region. • She was charged with obstructing police/investigators. • She was charged with obstructing justice by lying to investigators.

3 : to be in front of (something) : to make (something) difficult to see • His neighbors built a wall that obstructed [=blocked] his view of the ocean.

ob·struc·tion /əbˈstrʌkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : something that blocks something else and makes it difficult for things to move through • They are removing trees and other obstructions from the path. • There were obstructions [=blockages] in his blood vessels.

2 : the condition of being blocked so that things cannot move through easily [noncount] cases of intestinal obstruction in children [count] She died from an obstruction of the airway.

3 [noncount] : the act of making it difficult for something to happen or move forward • He is on trial for the obstruction of a criminal investigation. ♦ Obstruction of justice is the crime of trying to stop police from learning the truth about something. • He is being charged with obstruction of justice for lying to investigators.

ob·struc·tion·ism /əbˈstrʌkʃənɪzəm/ noun [noncount] formal : things that are done to stop or delay the progress of a legal or political process • They accused the other political party of obstructionism.

— ob·struc·tion·ist /əbˈstrʌkʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • stubborn obstructionists — obstructionist adj • obstructionist practices

ob·struc·tive /əbˈstrʌktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : trying to cause problems in order to stop or delay something • obstructive public officials • deliberately obstructive tactics ob·tain /əbˈteɪn/ verb -tains; -tained; -tain·ing

1 [+ obj] somewhat formal : to gain or get (something) usually by effort • The information may be difficult to obtain. • We obtained a copy of the original letter. • They've obtained [=acquired] the necessary permission to enter.

2 not used in progressive tenses [no obj] formal : to continue to be accepted or in use • These ideas no longer obtain for our generation.

— ob·tain·able /əbˈteɪnəbəl/ adj, formal • The drug is legally obtainable in this country.

ob·trude /əbˈtruːd/ verb -trudes; -trud·ed; -trud·ing for- mal : to become involved with something or to become noticeable in an unpleasant or annoying way [no obj] She didn't want to obtrude [=intrude] on/upon their conversation. • The historical details in the movie do not obtrude—they enhance the story by making it more realistic. [+ obj] He was confident at first, but then doubts began to obtrude themselves. [=he began to have doubts]

ob·tru·sive /əbˈtruːsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : tending to bother people by appearing where you are not welcome or invited • The waiter was attentive without being obtrusive.

2 : noticeable in an unpleasant or annoying way • We used less obtrusive colors in the bedrooms. • obtrusive advertising — ob·tru·sive·ly adv • an obtrusively large building ob·tuse /əbˈtuːs, Brit əbˈtjuːs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 formal : stupid or unintelligent : not able to think clearly or to understand what is obvious or simple • He is too obtuse to take a hint. • an incredibly obtuse person

2 mathematics : not ending in a sharp point : measuring between 90 degrees and 180 degrees • an obtuse angle — compare ACUTE 6

— ob·tuse·ness noun [noncount] • We laughed at her obtuseness.

ob·verse /əbˈvɜːs/ noun [singular] formal : something that is the opposite of something else : OPPOSITE • joy and its obverse, sadness • We thought they would be pleased with our decision. We have learned, however, that the obverse is true.

ob·vi·ate /ˈɑːbviˌeɪt/ verb -ates; -at·ed; -at·ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) no longer necessary • The new medical treatment obviates the need for surgery. : to prevent or avoid (something) • The new treatment obviates many of the risks associated with surgery.

ob·vi·ous /ˈɑːbvɪjəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : easy to see or notice • Her doctor immediately noticed the obvious signs of the disease. • She saw only the most obvious differences.

2 : easy for the mind to understand or recognize • It was obvious that things weren't working out. • Her reasons for leaving were obvious. = It's obvious why she left. • The answer seems obvious enough to me. • The problem was immediately obvious to everyone in the room. • He was the obvious candidate/choice for president. • The obvious question is: how did he become so successful? • For obvious reasons, I would not like to reveal my name.

the obvious : something that is obvious • You are stating the obvious. Tell me something I don't already know. • Try to look beyond the obvious.

— ob·vi·ous·ness noun [noncount] • the obviousness of his answer

ob·vi·ous·ly /ˈɑːbvɪjəsli/ adv

1 [more ~; most ~] : in a way that is easy to see, understand, or recognize • She obviously enjoys her work. • Their answer was obviously wrong. • That's obviously not her real name.

2 — used to emphasize that you are talking about something that is easy to see, understand, or recognize • Obviously, something is wrong. • Obviously, that's not her real name.

oc·ca·sion /əˈkeɪʒən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [count] : a special event or time • birthdays, anniversaries, and other special occasions • They marked/celebrated the occasion with their families. • She wrote a song especially for the occasion. • Roses are the perfect flower for any occasion. • formal occasions • a memorable/historic occasion • On the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary, they took a vacation to Paris.

2 [count] somewhat formal : a particular time when something happens • This would mark the first occasion [=time] that the club accepted new members. — often used after on • We usually meet at noon, but on this particular occasion, we met at two o'clock. • I heard him speak on more than one occasion. = I heard him speak on several occasions.

3 somewhat formal : a chance or opportunity : a situation that allows something to happen — usually followed by to + verb [noncount] We had occasion to watch her perform last summer. • The boys never had occasion to meet each other. [singular] She never found an occasion to suggest her ideas. • He took/used the occasion to make an announcement.

4 [singular] somewhat formal : a reason to do something — often + for • The team's win was an occasion for celebration. on occasion : sometimes but not often : from time to time • On occasion [=occasionally], we'll drive out to the beach and watch the sunset. • I have on occasion tried to help him with his homework. • These machines are still used on occasion today.

rise to the occasion see ¹RISE

²occasion verb -sions; -sioned; -sion-ing [+ obj] formal : to cause (something) • The program has occasioned [=brought about] much discussion about violence on television. — often used as (be) occasioned • Her trip back home was occasioned by her mother's recent death.

oc-ca-sion-al /ə'keɪʒənəl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : happening or done sometimes but not often : not happening or done in a regular or frequent way • She receives occasional phone calls from her mother. • There will be occasional showers during the morning. • She makes occasional appearances on television. = She appears on the occasional television show. • Most mornings, we'll see deer or the occasional bear walking past our house. • He tells an occasional joke to keep his students interested. • I need to take occasional breaks from work. • Sure, I drink an occasional glass of wine from time to time.

2 : sometimes doing a particular job or activity • She's an occasional lecturer at the university. • an occasional actor • occasional smokers [=people who smoke occasionally] oc-ca-sion-al-ly /ə'keɪʒənəli/ adv : sometimes but not often • Occasionally, we see deer in the field. = We occasionally see deer in the field. • Occasionally, things don't go as planned. • Cook on medium heat, stirring occasionally, for about 10 minutes. • Very occasionally [=rarely], she will have a glass of wine.

Oc-ci-dent /'ɑ:ksədənt/ noun

the Occident formal + literary : the western areas of the world; especially : Europe and America • The crew set sail for the Occident. — compare ORIENT occult /ə'kʌlt/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to supernatural powers or practices • occult practices such as magic and fortune-telling • the occult sciences/arts • He began to believe he had occult powers.

the occult : supernatural powers or practices and the things (such as gods, ghosts, and magic) that are connected with them • He's a student of the occult. • religion, mythology, and the occult

oc-cult-ism /ə'kʌltɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the belief in or study of supernatural powers

— oc-cult-ist /ə'kʌltɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

oc-cu-pan-cy /'ɑ:kjəpənsi/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of living or staying in a particular place • This building is unsafe for human occupancy. [=people cannot live here]

2 : the number of people who are in a particular building or room at one time • The sign above the auditorium door says, "Maximum occupancy: 500 persons." • hotel rates for double occupancy [=two people staying in a room]

oc-cu-pant /'ɑ:kjəpənt/ noun, pl -pants [count]

1 : a person who is using or living in a particular building, apartment, or room • The apartment's previous occupant was a painter. • the building's occupants

2 : a person who is in a room, vehicle, etc., at a particular time • Both of the car's occupants were injured.

oc-cu-pa-tion /'ɑ:kjə'peɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : the work that a person does : a person's job or profession • He is thinking about changing occupations and becoming a police officer. • "What's your occupation?" "I'm a stay-at-home mom." • She listed her occupation as "writer" on the form. [=she wrote "writer" on the part of the form that asked what she did for work]

2 [count] : an activity that a person spends time doing • His favorite occupation [=pastime] is playing chess. • Swimming was their main occupation at summer camp.

3 [noncount] : the activity of living in or using a particular place • Some evidence of human occupation was found in these caves. • The offices are ready for occupation.

4 [noncount] : a situation in which the military of a foreign government goes into an area or country and takes control of it • occupation of a foreign country • people living under occupation • The novel tells about life during the occupation.

oc-cu-pa-tion-al /'ɑ:kjə'peɪʃənəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to a person's job or occupation • The program offered free occupational training to the poor. • occupational safety and health • Hand injuries are an occupational hazard for typists. [=typists are likely to have hand injuries because of the work they do]

— oc-cu-pa-tion-al-ly adv • He was occupationally exposed to radiation.

occupational therapy noun [noncount] medical : treatment that helps people who have physical or mental problems learn to do the activities of daily life

— occupational therapist noun, pl ~ -pists [count]

occupied adj

1 not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : busy doing something • The governor is occupied at the moment. May I take a message? • She keeps herself occupied with volunteer work.

2 somewhat formal : being used by someone • This chair is occupied [=less formally] taken, but I believe those chairs are free/available. • His free time is occupied with his wife and children.

3 : controlled by foreign soldiers or a foreign government • We live in an occupied country. = Our country is occupied by a foreign government. • an occupied territory oc-cu-pi-er /'ɑ:kjə'paɪə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a soldier in an army that has taken control of a foreign place — usually plural • The foreign occupiers were beginning to lose control of the area.

2 Brit : a person who is using or living in a particular building, apartment, room, etc. : OCCUPANT • the current occupiers of the flat oc-cu-py /'ɑ:kjə'paɪ/ verb -pies; -pied; -py-ing [+ obj]

1 somewhat formal : to live in (a house, apartment, etc.) • They have occupied the apartment for three years. • She occupies the house that her grandfather built 50 years ago. • They own another house that they occupy only three months out of the year. • They occupy the room next to ours.

2 a : to fill or be in (a place or space) • Someone was occupying [=sitting in] my place at the table. • This region was once almost completely occupied by forests. • Their house occupies a beautiful spot next to the ocean. — sometimes used figuratively • That family trip occupies [=has] a special place in my memory. b : to fill or use (an amount of time) • Studying occupies nearly all of my time on the weekends. [=I spend nearly all of my time studying] • Much of our time is occupied by answering questions from our customers.

3 : to make (someone, someone's mind, etc.) busy • During the long train ride, they occupied [=busied] themselves with card games. • These questions have continued to occupy her mind. • Reading occupied me for most of the summer. = I occupied myself with reading for most of the summer.

4 : to take and keep control of (a town, foreign country, etc.) by using military power • Enemy troops occupied the town. • The army is occupying half of the country.

5 somewhat formal : to have (a job or position) • She now occupies the highest position in the country's government. • occupying a position of power

oc-cur /ə'kʌ/ verb -curs; -curred; -cur-ring [no obj]

1 somewhat formal : to happen • The event is scheduled to occur at noon tomorrow. • No one was ready for what was about to occur. • There's a chance that a similar event will occur in the future. • The disease tends to occur in children under the age of five.

2 formal : to appear or exist : to be found • The plant occurs naturally throughout South America. • a naturally occurring compound/chemical/substance occur to [phrasal verb] occur to (someone) : to be thought of by (someone) • An idea just occurred to me. [=I just had an idea] • It suddenly occurred to me that there was a simpler way to deal with the problem. • Did it ever occur to you [=did you ever think] that maybe you were wrong? • It never occurred to me to ask. [=I never thought of asking]

oc-cur-rence /ə'kʌrəns/ noun, pl -renc-es

1 [count] : something that happens • Getting headaches has become a common/frequent/everyday occurrence for her. • a rare/unusual occurrence • the recent occurrences of the disease • Lightning is a natural occurrence.

2 [noncount] : the fact of happening or occurring — usually + of • We were trying to prevent the occurrence of further problems. [=trying to prevent further problems from occurring] • The occurrence of theft in the locker room has stopped. • The occurrence of the disease is low. [=the disease does not occur commonly]

OCD abbr obsessive-compulsive disorder

ocean /'ouʃən/ noun, pl oceans

1 [noncount] : the salt water that covers much of the Earth's surface • We've sailed across hundreds of miles of ocean. — often used with the • They lived near the ocean. [=the sea] • He had never seen the ocean before. • There's a storm moving in from the ocean. • The ship quickly sank to the bottom of the ocean. • the deepest parts of the ocean — often used before another noun • the ocean floor/bottom/surface • the salty ocean air • ocean fish • an ocean voyage/liner — see color picture on page C8

2 or Ocean [count] : one of the five large areas of salt water that cover much of the Earth's surface • the Atlantic Ocean • the Pacific and Indian oceans • the Arctic/Antarctic Ocean

3 [count] informal : a very large number or amount of something • an ocean of sadness — often plural • oceans of time [=lots of time]

a drop in the ocean see 1 DROP

— oce-an-ic /,ouʃi'ænik/ adj, technical • oceanic birds/islands/waters ocean-front /'ouʃən,frʌnt/ noun, pl -fronts [count] chiefly US : the land that is next to the ocean • They built a house on the oceanfront. — often used before another noun • an oceanfront home/hotel/restaurant ocean-go-ing /'ouʃən,gowɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : made for traveling on or across the ocean • oceangoing ships ocean-og-ra-phy /,ouʃə'nɑ:grəfi/ noun [noncount] : a science that studies the ocean • a professor of oceanography

— ocean-og-ra-pher /,ouʃə'nɑ:grəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count] — ocean-o-graph-ic /,ouʃənə'græfɪk/ adj • an oceanographic research

oce-lot /'ɑ:sə,lɔ:t/ noun, pl -lots [count] : a wildcat that lives mainly in Central and South America and that has light brown fur with black spots and stripes

ochre or US ocher /'oukə/ noun [noncount]

1 : a type of red or yellow dirt that is used to make colored paints

2 : the color of ochre and especially of yellow ochre o'clock /ə'klɔ:k/ adv : according to the clock — used when the time is a specific hour • It's three o'clock in the afternoon. [=it's three p.m.] • She was 10 minutes late for her 8 o'clock appointment. • Be here at nine o'clock, not at nine fifteen.

Oct. abbr October

oc-ta-gon /'ɑ:ktə,gɑ:n/ noun, pl -gons [count] mathematics : a flat shape that has eight sides and eight angles — see picture at GEOMETRY

— oc-tag-o-nal /ək'tægənəl/ adj • a large octagonal table

oc-tane /'ɑ:k,tem/ noun [noncount] : a chemical in petroleum that is used to rate the quality of different kinds of gasoline • an octane rating of 90 — see also HIGH-OCTANE oc-tave /'ɑ:ktɪv/ noun, pl -taves [count] music : the difference in sound between the first and eighth note on a musical scale • He sang the song an octave lower. • The two tones are (spaced) an octave apart.

oc-tet /ək'tet/ noun, pl -tets [count]

1 : a song or piece of music performed by eight singers or musicians

2 : a group of eight singers or musicians who perform an octet

Oc-to-ber /ək'toubə/ noun, pl -bers : the 10th month of the year [noncount] She started her job in early/mid-/late October. • He started early/late in October. • They were married on October the eighteenth. = They were married on the eighteenth of October. = (US) They were married on October eighteenth. [count] This will be our last October in New England. • Sales are up for this October. • The event happens every October. — abbr. Oct.

oc-to-ge-nar-i-an /,ɑ:ktədʒə'nerɪjən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a person who is between 80 and 89 years old oc-to-pus /'ɑ:ktə,pʊs/ noun, pl -pus-es or -pi /-,paɪ/

1 [count] : a sea animal that has a soft body and eight long arms

2 [noncount] : the flesh of an octopus used as food oc-u-lar /'ɑ:kjələ/ adj, technical : of or relating to the eye • ocular muscles/surgery

OD /,ou'di:/ verb OD's; OD'd or ODed; OD'ing [no obj] informal

1 : to become sick or die from taking too much of a drug : OVERDOSE — often + on • She OD'd on heroin and died.

2 : to have or experience too much of something — often + on • I OD'd on video games during my vacation.

odd /'ɑ:d/ adj

octopus

1 odd-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : strange or unusual : different from what is normal or expected • He has some odd [=peculiar, weird] habits. • She had an odd look on her face. • People would call at odd hours during the night. • She's got a really odd sense of humor. • Some rather odd people used to live in this house. • There was something odd about his story. • It's odd that nobody told me about this before. • That's odd. He was here a minute ago. • That is one of the oddest creatures I have ever seen. • What an odd-looking animal. • They made quite an odd couple. [=they were very different from each other] • He's an odd duck. = (Brit) He's an odd fish. [=he's a very strange person]

2 always used before a noun : happening in a way that is not planned or regular • She kept a stack of magazines that she would read at odd moments. • During the summer, he would do odd jobs for his neighbors to earn extra money.

3 always used before a noun : of different kinds or types • I stopped by the grocery store to pick up a few odd [=miscellaneous] things. • They were selling an odd assortment of candy and jewelry. • a few odd [=random] bits of information

4 always used before a noun : not matched or paired with another thing or person • I folded all the laundry and had one odd sock left. • an odd shoe • The students got into groups of two, and the odd student worked with the teacher.

5 a : not able to be divided into two equal whole numbers • The numbers 1, 3, 5, and 7 are odd, while 2, 4, 6, and 8 are even. • odd and even numbers • There's an odd number of chairs. b : marked by an odd number • There's a picture on every odd page of the book. • Please do the odd-numbered problems on page 20 of your textbook. • The odd-numbered houses are on the left side of the street.

6 informal : a little more than a particular number — used in combination with a number • The book's only 100-odd pages long. [=only slightly more than 100 pages long] • I'd guess that he's 40 odd years old. • 30-odd years ago the odd man/one out : the person or thing that is different from the other members of a group • It looks like he's the odd one out on this particular issue. [=he has a different opinion than everyone else] • All my college friends have gotten married. I'm the odd man out.

— odd-ness noun [noncount] • the oddness [=oddity, strangeness] of the situation odd-ball /'ɑ:d,bɔ:l/ noun, pl -balls [count] informal : a person who behaves in strange or unusual ways • He used to be a real oddball back in high school.

— oddball adj, always used before a noun • The film's oddball characters are hilarious. • oddball behavior

odd-i-ty /'ɑ:dəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] : a strange or unusual person or thing • Her shyness makes her a bit of an oddity in the business world. • The zoo has such oddities as anteaters and platypuses.

2 [noncount] : the quality or state of being strange or unusual • the oddity [=oddness, strangeness] of the situation

odd-ly /'ɑ:dli/ adv

1 [more ~; most ~] : in a strange or unusual way • the house's oddly shaped roof • She had never been there before, but the place seemed oddly [=strangely] familiar to her. • Their lives had been oddly similar.

2 — used to say that something is strange, odd, or surprising • He felt, oddly, that he had been happier before becoming famous. • It was cold and rainy, but oddly enough, everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves.

odd-ments /'ɑ:dmənts/ noun [plural] : different kinds of things that are usually small and unimportant : ODDS AND ENDS • The car has plenty of room for storing oddments.

odds /'ɑ:dz/ noun [plural]

1 : the possibility that something will happen : the chance that one thing will happen instead of a different thing • She wanted to improve her odds [=chances] of winning. • They believe that surgery may increase his odds of survival. [=may make it more likely that he will survive] • There's a chance it could rain, but odds are that it'll be sunny tomorrow. [=it is more likely to be sunny than rainy tomorrow] • The team has made some major improvements, but they still face long odds. [=they still are not likely to win] — often used with the • The odds are good that he'll survive. [=he is likely to survive] • What are the odds of winning? • What are the odds that they'll be there on time? • Smoking increases the odds of getting lung cancer. • The odds are in our favor. [=it is likely that we will succeed] • She knew that the odds were against her. [=she knew that she was not likely to succeed] • It could rain tomorrow, but the odds are against it. [=it probably will not rain] • The odds are in favor of a major storm this weekend. [=a major storm is likely this weekend]

2 : conditions that make it difficult for something to happen

• They fought against great/heavy/impossible/overwhelming odds and won. • He was able to do it, against all odds. [=even though it was very difficult and unlikely] — often used with the • They defied/overcame the odds. • Despite/against the odds, she has survived breast cancer. • I tried to beat the odds. [=to succeed even though I was not likely to succeed]

3 : two numbers that show how much a person can win by betting a certain amount of money • I bet $1,000 at 4–1 odds. If the horse I bet on wins, I will walk away with $4,000. • winning at odds of 6–1 at odds : not agreeing with each other : in a state of disagreement • The parents and teachers are still at odds (about/over what to teach the students). — often + with • The two groups have long been at odds with each other. • He was completely at odds [=he completely disagreed] with the way the problem was being handled. • The results of the study are at odds with our previous findings.

make no odds Brit, informal — used to say that a choice is not important • It makes no odds [=makes no difference] to me when we leave.

odds are in favor see ¹FAVOR

over the odds Brit, informal : more than the usual or expected amount • We had to pay over the odds to get good seats for the concert.

what's the odds? Brit, informal — used to say that something is not likely to have an effect or make a difference • He'll do it anyway, so what's the odds [=what's the use] of telling him not to?

odds and ends noun [plural] informal : different kinds of things that are usually small and unimportant • There are still a few odds and ends that need to be done before the party tomorrow. • The box is full of odds and ends. — called also (Brit, informal) odds and sods odds-on /'ɑ:dz'ɑ:n/ adj : having a very good chance to win : believed to be likely to win • They're the odds-on favorite to win the championship. = They are odds-on to win the championship.

ode /'oud/ noun, pl odes [count] : a poem in which a person expresses a strong feeling of love or respect for someone or something • This poem is titled, "An Ode to My Mother."

odi-ous /'oudijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : causing hatred or strong dislike • It was one of the most odious crimes of recent history. • an odious criminal odom-e-ter /ou'dɑ:mətə/ noun, pl -ters [count] chiefly US : a device in a car, truck, etc., that measures the distance that the vehicle has traveled — called also (Brit) mileometer; see picture at CAR; compare SPEEDOMETER, TACHOMETER odor (US) or Brit odour /'oudə/ noun, pl odors : a particular smell [count] The cheese has a strong odor. • a fishy odor [noncount] This deodorant prevents bad odor from occurring. — see also BODY ODOR — odor-less (US) or Brit odour-less /'oudələs/ adj • a colorless and odorless gas odor-ous /'oudərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] technical + formal : having a strong smell • an odorous gas • Odorous cheeses need to be tightly wrapped.

od-ys-sey /'ɑ:dəsi/ noun, pl -seys [count]

1 literary : a long journey full of adventures

2 : a series of experiences that give knowledge or understanding to someone • The story is about the emotional odyssey experienced by a teenage girl. • the spiritual odyssey of the deeply religious oe-di-pal or Oe-di-pal /'edəpəl, Brit 'i:dəpəl/ adj, psychology : of, relating to, or resulting from an Oedipus complex • oedipal fantasies/myths • an oedipal relationship

Oe-di-pus complex /'edəpəs-, Brit 'i:dəpəs-/ noun [singular] psychology : a sexual desire that a child feels toward the parent of the opposite sex along with jealous feelings toward the parent of the same sex

¹ o'er /'oə/ adv, literary : ¹OVER • when the night is o'er

² o'er /'oə/ prep, literary : ²OVER • o'er hill and dale

oesophagus Brit spelling of ESOPHAGUS

oestrogen Brit spelling of ESTROGEN

oeu-vre /'u:vɹə, Brit 'ə:vɹə/ noun, pl -vres [count] formal : all the works that a writer, an artist, or a composer has created — usually singular • Her oeuvre consists mostly of landscapes.

of /'ʌv, əv, Brit 'ɒv, əv, ə/ prep

1 : belonging to, relating to, or connected with (someone or something) • He is a coworker of mine. • I threw out that old shirt of yours. • She's a friend of my mother's. • He had the support of his family to help him. • the plays of William Shakespeare • What is the name of the band? • We admired the courage of the young woman. • the President of the United States • the Queen of England • What is the total cost of the repairs? • The value of the antique is high. • the responsibility/duty of parents • the work of the artist • the behavior of the child • the actions of the President • the results of the experiment • The score of the game is tied. • The product of 2 times 2 is 4. • I can't stand the sight of it. [=I can't stand seeing it] • the color of the dress • the social issues of the time • the greatest invention of the 20th century • She was voted (Most Outstanding) Woman of the Year. • the top of the mountain • The leg of the table is loose. • a masterpiece of modern fiction • the fourth of July [=the fourth day in the month of July] • We are having a party on the day of graduation. • Where were you at the time of the murder? • She told a story of [=about] her travels in Italy. • The news/announcement of our victory was greeted with delight. • He dreams of becoming rich and famous. • He was neglectful of his duties.

2 — used to indicate that someone or something belongs to a group of people or things • He is one of my friends. • This is page one of two (pages). • Many/Most of the students will be going on the field trip. • The four of us enjoyed ourselves at the party. • members of the team • Of (all) my friends, you are the only one I really trust. • She is the older/younger of my two sisters. • He has written two novels, of which the first is the best. = He has written two novels, the first of which is the best.

3 : living or occurring in (a specified country, city, town, etc.) • the people of Puerto Rico • a fish of the western Atlantic • a plant of the tropics

4 : showing (someone or something) • a painting of a mother holding her child • a picture of my house

5 — used to indicate the thing that is being referred to • the country of Ireland • the city of Rome • the month of August • the crime of murder • a good piece of advice • 1758 is the year of Noah Webster's birth. • a difference of $5 • The savings account has an interest rate of 5 percent. • The arrangement includes several kinds of flowers. = The arrangement includes flowers of several kinds.

6 : involving or dealing with (something) • a test of basic skills • the Department of Agriculture

7 — used to indicate what something is made from or includes • a throne of gold = a throne made (out) of gold • a bar of chocolate • a flock of sheep • a herd of cattle • a small group of people

8 — used to indicate what an amount, number, etc., refers to • We got a large amount of rain. • A small number of people were at the concert. • a pound of sliced cheese • two acres of land • two lumps of sugar • a big piece of cake • a pair of scissors • a hot cup of coffee = a cup of hot coffee • hundreds of dollars • eight hours of sleep • He is 40 years of age. [=he is 40 years old]

9 — used to indicate a quality or characteristic that someone or something has • a man of noble birth • He is of Polish descent. • a boy of 12 (years of age) • a woman of [=with] great wealth • She is the girl of his dreams. [=she has all the qualities that he is attracted to] • She recently lost her husband of 30 years. [=her husband who she was married to for 30 years before he died] • a matter of no importance • The house is of his own design. • The trash smells of fish.

10 — used to indicate the location of something • The cabins are north of the lake. • The arrow went wide of the target. [=the arrow missed the target] • The dart landed to the left/right of the bull's-eye. • The shark passed within five feet of me.

11 a — used to indicate the subject of an action • the arrival of guests • the departure of the ship • the landing of the airplane b — used to indicate the object of an action • the evaluation of students • the destruction of property • The police conducted an investigation of the crime. • She asked a favor of [=from] me. • Can you think of his name? • I thought of calling you. c — used to indicate the cause of a specified feeling or opinion • He has a love of [=for] nature. • He has a fear of spiders. • I'm so proud of you. = I'm so proud of what you have done. • She is fond of chocolate. d — used to indicate the reason for something • He died of [=from] pneumonia. • They left of their own free will.

12 — used to indicate what has been taken away, removed, or given away • She was robbed of her fortune. • The con man cheated him (out) of his money. • He was stripped of all his titles. • The cats helped rid the barn of rats. • He gave generously of his time. [=he gave his time generously]

13 — used to indicate that someone has behaved in a specified way • It was very kind/nice of you to say that. [=you were very kind/nice to say that]

14 US — used to indicate that there is a specified amount of time left before the next hour begins • It's a quarter of [=to, before] ten. [=9:45] • 10 (minutes) of 10 [=9:50]

15 old-fashioned — used to indicate the time when something happens or happened • You can often see him walking in the park of an afternoon. • He died of [=on] a Monday.

as of see ²AS

of a US, informal — used to indicate that someone or something is a particular type of person or thing • her idiot of a husband [=her idiot/idiotic husband] • Some fool of a policeman had arrested the wrong man! • It is not that much of a problem. [=it is not a big problem] • It wasn't that difficult of a shot. [=it was not a difficult shot] • It wasn't that big of a deal. • How big of a piece do you want?

of all (the) see ¹ALL

of course see ¹COURSE

OF abbr outfield

¹off /'ɑ:f/ adv

T a : away from a place • The dog ran off. • The car sped off. • She put on her jacket and off she went. • We get off at the next bus stop. [=we exit the bus at the next stop] • b : away from a main road, path, etc. • The car turned off onto a side street.

2 : at a distance in time or space • Football season is not far off. [=football season will start soon] • The completion of the new office building is still a long way off. [=it will be a long time before the new office building is finished]

3 — used to describe something that moves or is moved so that it is no longer on something or attached to something • She set the ball on the table and it rolled off. • His hat fell off. • He twisted off the cap. • The handle on the pan broke off. • She took off her coat.

4 : into sleep • I dozed off in the chair. • He closed his eyes and drifted off (to sleep).

5 a — used to describe stopping something • Shut off the water. • Shut off the engine. • Turn the TV off. • b — used to describe getting something into a desired condition especially by removing something • I need to smooth off the corners of the bookshelf. • I dusted off the shelves. • She wiped the counter off. • c — used to describe finishing something • We paid off all our debts. • Can you finish off the pizza? There are only two slices left.

6 : away from regular work • I took the day off (from work). • At noon, workers take time off for lunch. • I have weekends off. [=I do not go to work on the weekends]

off and on or on and off : starting, stopping, and starting again : not constant or steady over a period of time • It rained off and on all day. • The fighting continued off and on throughout the years. • She worked here on and off for several years. • They've had an on-and-off relationship.

²off prep

T — used to indicate separation, distance, or removal from someone or something • She cut a slice off the loaf. • The ball bounced off the wall. • She stepped off the train and looked around. • There are many paths off the main trail around the mountain. • There is a bathroom off the kitchen. • The shop is just off the main street. • He had his wallet stolen off him. • Keep off the grass. • Get your feet off the table. • The boat was two miles off the coast. • The discussion got/moved off the original subject. • My favorite dish has been taken off the menu. • I'll take your name off the list. • She wore the gown off the shoulder.

2 : on money, food, energy, etc., supplied by (someone or something) • She is still living off her parents. • The family lives off welfare. • They live off the land. • They make their living off tourism. • The machine runs off [=on] diesel fuel.

3 — used to indicate something that someone is no longer doing or using • She has recently gone off smoking. • He is off his diet. • The officers were off duty. • I took a day off work. • He has been off liquor for three years.

4 — used to indicate the object of an action • I borrowed a dollar off [=from] him. • I bought a CD off him. [=he sold a CD to me]

5 — used to indicate the source or cause of something • He spent all the money he made off [=from] gambling.

6 : below the usual standard or level of (something) • (chiefly US) He is off his game. [=he is not playing as well as he usually does] • The DVDs are being offered at 15 percent off the regular price. • I asked him to knock $100 off the price.

off of chiefly US, informal : OFF • She fell off of the swing. • farmers who live off of the land • He is off of his diet. • We ate off of paper plates. • 15 percent off of the regular price

³off adj

1 not used before a noun : not attached to or covering something : not on • The lid is off.

2 a not used before a noun : not operating, functioning, or flowing • The radio is off. • The electricity/water is off. • b : in a position that stops the flow of electricity, water, etc. • The switch is off. • The lever is in the off position.

3 : away from home or work • He is off playing golf. • She is off on a trip/vacation. • He's off today. • They enjoy hiking and biking on their off days. [=the days when they are not working] • She is off [=out] sick today.

4 not used before a noun : not happening • The deal/game that was on is now off. [=has been canceled] • In case of a tie, all bets are off.

5 not used before a noun, chiefly US : not correct : WRONG • I must be off in my calculations. • These numbers are off. • Your guess is way off.

6 always used before a noun : very small in degree : SLIGHT • There is an off chance that you will win.

7 always used before a noun : not as busy or active as other periods of time • an off time of year • We vacation during the off season.

8 not used before a noun : not completely sane • The poor fellow is a little off (in the head).

9 not used before a noun — used to ask about or describe someone's situation or condition • Are you better or worse off financially than you were a year ago? • The other accident victims are much worse off than she is. [=her injuries are not as bad as theirs] • (chiefly Brit) We're comfortably off. • (chiefly Brit) How are you off for money? [=how are you for money?; do you need money?] — see also BETTER OFF, WELL-OFF

10 not used before a noun, chiefly US : below the usual price or value • Stocks are off [=down] today. • The DVDs are 15 percent off.

11 chiefly US : not as good as usual • My golf game is off today. [=I am not playing golf as well as I usually do] • I am having an off day.

12 not used before a noun, Brit : not being served : no longer on the menu • Sorry, love, the steak-and-kidney pie is off.

13 not used before a noun, chiefly Brit : no longer fresh : SPOILED • The milk has gone off. = The milk is off.

14 not used before a noun, Brit, informal : not polite or friendly • His manners were a bit off, don't you think? • She felt he was being off with her.

be off : to leave : to start going, running, etc. • I must be off [=I must leave now] if I want to make the next bus. • And the runners are off. [=the runners have started running] • They're off and running!

⁴off verb offs; offed; off-ing [+ obj] US slang : to kill or murder (someone) • The movie is about a gangster who gets power by offing his rivals.

⁵off noun

the off Brit 1 : the beginning of a race 2 : the very beginning • Right from the off [= (US) from the get-go], I knew she was against me.

off-air adj, always used before a noun : occurring when a radio or television program is not being recorded • an off-air conversation off-fal /'ɑ:fəl/ noun [noncount] : the organs (such as the liver or kidney) of an animal that are used for food • beef offal

off-beat /'ɑ:f,bi:t/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : different from the ordinary, usual, or expected • She has an offbeat sense of humor. • He often plays offbeat characters in his films. • an offbeat approach to teaching • The performance was refreshingly offbeat.

off-brand /'ɑ:f,brænd/ adj : not sold or made under a particular brand name • off-brand sneakers/soda/cereal/cigarettes off-Broadway or Off-Broadway adj : relating to theater in New York City that involves productions that are smaller and often less conventional than typical Broadway productions • an off-Broadway production/show/play — off-Broadway or Off-Broadway adv • The play opened off-Broadway. • He performed off-Broadway for years.

off-center (US) or Brit off-centre adj [more ~; most ~]

1 not used before a noun : not exactly in the center of something • The mirror over the sink is a little bit off-center. • The title is slightly off-center on the page.

2 : different or unusual • He has an off-center sense of humor.

— off-center (US) or Brit off-centre adv • He hung the picture off-center.

off-col-or (US) or Brit off-col-our /'ɑ:f'kælə/ or US off-colored or Brit off-coloured /'ɑ:f'kæləd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 not used before a noun : feeling somewhat ill : not quite well • He has been off-color for a few days.

2 chiefly US : not socially acceptable : indecent or improper • We were shocked by his off-color [=rude, offensive] remarks. • an off-color joke off-cut /'ɑ:f,kʌt/ noun, pl -cuts [count] chiefly Brit : a piece of wood, cloth, etc., that remains after a larger piece is removed off-duty adj : free from the responsibilities of your job : not working at a particular time • an off-duty cop

of-fend /ə'fend/ verb -fends; -fend-ed; -fend-ing

1 : to cause (a person or group) to feel hurt, angry, or upset by something said or done [+ obj] His comments about minority groups offended many of us. • She had carefully worded her comments so as not to offend anyone. • It offends me that you would make such a remark. • Don't worry. I wasn't offended. • I felt a little offended by their lack of respect. • Some people are offended by the song's lyrics. • I'm sorry, I didn't mean to offend you. [no obj] I'm sorry, I didn't mean to offend.

2 [+ obj] : to be unpleasant to (someone or something) • The billboard offends the eye. [=the billboard is not attractive]

3 [no obj] formal : to do wrong : to be against what people believe is acceptable or proper — often + against • Her actions offended against our sensibilities.

4 [no obj] formal : to commit a crime • Is he likely to offend again after his release from prison?

of-fend-er /ə'fendə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who commits a crime • a repeat offender [=someone who has committed a crime more than once] • She recently prosecuted a sex/sexual offender. [=someone who commits sex crimes] — see also FIRST OFFENDER

2 : someone or something that does something harmful or wrong • The factory is one of the worst offenders in terms of air and water pollution.

offending adj, always used before a noun

1 often humorous : causing difficulty, discomfort, or harm • He took off his shoe and removed the offending pebble. [=the pebble that was making it uncomfortable to walk]

2 [more ~; most ~] : causing disapproval • We agreed to omit the offending word from the passage.

3 : guilty of doing something wrong • The offending driver was given a ticket for speeding.

of-fense (US) or Brit of-fence /ə'fens/ noun, pl -fens-es

1 a [noncount] : something that causes a person to be hurt, angry, or upset • She didn't mean to give/cause offense. [=to offend anyone] • I mean no offense [=I do not want to offend anyone], but isn't there someone more qualified for the job? • No offense [=I do not want to offend you when I say this], but I think you are mistaken. b [count] : something that is wrong or improper — often + to • His actions are an offense to public morals. — often + against • Such language is an offense against common decency.

2 [count] : a criminal act • He was found guilty and fined $250 for each offense. • Penalties for a first offense range from fines to jail time. • a capital/federal/criminal offense • serious/minor offenses

3 /'ɑ:f'ens/ US, sports a : the group of players on a team who try to score points or goals against an opponent [count] Our team has the best offense in the league. • a talented offense • The quarterback directs the offense. [noncount] She began the season on offense [=playing on the part of the team that tries to score points or goals], but her coach later put her on defense. b [noncount] : the way that players on a team try to score points or goals against an opponent • The team needs some work on its offense. • The team plays good offense. — compare DEFENSE 6 take offense : to become angry or upset by something that another person has said or done : to be offended by something • He took offense when I suggested exchanging the gift. — often + at • She takes offense at any criticism.

1 of-fen-sive /ə'fensiv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : causing someone to feel hurt, angry, or upset : rude or insulting • He made some offensive remarks. • offensive words/terms — often + to • The song lyrics are offensive to women. [=women are offended by the song lyrics] • His behavior is offensive to many people. — opposite INOFFENSIVE

2 [more ~; most ~] : very unpleasant • An offensive odor was coming from the basement.

3 always used before a noun, sports : of or relating to the way that players try to score against an opponent in a game or contest • an offensive position/strategy • an offensive lineman/player — compare 1 DEFENSIVE 3

4 always used before a noun : relating to or designed for attacking an enemy • The troops will take offensive action against the enemy. • We studied their offensive maneuvers and anticipated the attack. • offensive weapons — compare 1 DEFENSIVE 1

— of-fen-sive-ly adv • Offensively, the team is strong. — of-fen-sive-ness noun [noncount] • the offensiveness of his remarks

2 offensive noun, pl -sives [count] : a large military attack — usually singular • They plan to launch an air offensive before sending in ground troops. • a ground offensive — often used figuratively • Union leaders have mounted an offensive against the company's proposal to limit health benefits. — see also COUNTEROFFENSIVE

on the offensive : in or into a situation or position in which you attack or fight against someone or something • The soldiers are on the offensive. • She went on the offensive to fight the charges against her. • The team was on the defensive in the early part of the game but they went on the offensive in the second half.

take the offensive : to begin to attack or fight against someone or something • Opponents of the development project took the offensive and defeated the land sale.

1 of-fer /'ɑ:fə/ verb -fers; -fered; -fer-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to give someone the opportunity to accept or take (something) • We'd like to offer the job to you. = We'd like to offer you the job. • I was offered a position at a bank, but I turned it down. • She offered [=she said that she would pay] $250,000 for the house. • The victims were offered money as compensation for their injuries. • I offered her my hand/arm [=I held out my hand/arm for her to grasp], and she took it. • I offered my assistance. • If I may, I'd like to offer you a bit of advice. b : to say that you are willing to do something [+ obj] One of his neighbors offered to mow his lawn. • A woman stopped and offered to help us. [no obj] We don't need any help, but thank you for offering.

2 [+ obj] : to make (something) available : to provide or supply (something) • They offer [=sell] a wide range of products/services at reasonable prices. • A few of my teachers offer [=give] extra help after class. • They offer their customers a choice between soup or salad. • The car offers [=has] a wide range of safety features. • Living in a large city offers a number of advantages. • They serve the best food this town has to offer. [=the best food in the town] • This city has so much to offer. [=there are many good and interesting things to do and see in this city] • She has a great deal to offer. [=she has many talents, abilities, good qualities, etc.] — often + up • The restaurant offers up a completely new menu every season.

3 [+ obj] : to say or express (something) as an idea to be thought about or considered • I'd like to offer a couple of comments/remarks/observations on the points you've raised. • I really don't know enough about it to offer an opinion. • She offers [=proposes, suggests] another possible explanation in her book. • The film offers a unique perspective on the issue. — often + up • Would anyone else like to offer up a suggestion?

4 [+ obj] : to say or give (something, such as a prayer or a sacrifice) as a form of religious worship • Let us bow our heads and offer a prayer of thanks. • offer a sacrifice — often + up • offering up prayers to the saints offer resistance : to try to resist or fight • The people offered no resistance when the enemy entered the town.

2 offer noun, pl -fers [count]

1 : the act of giving someone the opportunity to accept something : the act of offering something • I don't really need any help, but I appreciate the offer. [=thanks for offering to help] • After considering several job offers, she accepted a position with a local bank. • He turned down an offer to run the company. • Take advantage of our 30-day trial offer. [=try our product free for 30 days] • She received an offer of marriage. [=someone proposed marriage to her]

2 : an amount of money that someone is willing to pay for something • I'll pay $500. That's my final/best offer. [=I won't pay more] • We accepted/rejected their offer. • We decided to hold out for a better offer. • They made an offer on our house. [=they said that they would pay a specified amount of money for our house] • "How much do you want for the bike?" "I don't know. Make me an offer." — see also TENDER OFFER on offer chiefly Brit : available to be bought especially at low prices : on sale • The store has a wide range of cameras on offer at reasonable prices. • Eggs are on offer [= (chiefly US) on special] this week.

3 : an opportunity to buy something at a price that is lower than the usual price • This special offer is good only while supplies last.

of·fer·ing /'ɑ:fəriŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 a : something that is given to God or a god as a part of religious worship • ceremonial/sacrificial offerings b : an act of giving a religious offering • Each household must make daily offerings to the gods. — see also PEACE OFFERING

2 : something that is available for sale or use • The company is trying to generate interest in its new offerings. • the café's tasty dessert offerings — see also INITIAL PUBLIC OFFERING of·fer·to·ry /'ɑ:fə'tori, Brit 'ɒfətri/ noun, pl -ries [count]

1 or Offertory a : the offering of bread and wine to God as part of the Communion ceremony during a Christian church service b : a verse from a psalm that is said or sung at the beginning of the Offertory

2 a : the part of a Christian church service during which offerings of money are collected b : the music played or sung during an offertory

1 off·hand /'ɑ:f'hænd/ adv : without previous thought or preparation • I couldn't give them the figures offhand. • Do you happen to know, offhand, when he'll be back?

2 offhand also off·hand·ed /'ɑ:f'hændəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : done or made without previous thought or preparation • It was just an offhand remark. • offhand excuses

2 : casual or informal • She spoke in an offhand manner.

— off·hand·ed·ly adv • I offhandedly asked where he worked.

of·fice /'ɑ:fəs/ noun, pl -fic-es

1 [count] a : a building or room in which people work at desks doing business or professional activities • She works at/in our Chicago office. • Are you going to the office today? • The company's main/home office [=the company's most important office] is in San Francisco. — often used before another noun • A new office building [=a building with offices] is being built on Main Street. • office equipment/supplies • Our company is having an office party [=a party for the people who work at the office] next week. • The company is renting office space downtown. • office workers/staff — see picture on the next page b : a room with a desk where a particular person works • The supervisor held an informal meeting in his office. • Her office is on the top floor near the elevator. • He misbehaved in class and was sent to the principal's office. • We use the extra bedroom in our house as an office. c chiefly US : a building or room where a doctor, lawyer, etc., works and meets with patients or clients • We stopped by the lawyer's office to pick up some documents. • the doctor's office [= (Brit) surgery] — see also BOX OFFICE, OVAL OFFICE, TICKET OFFICE

2 : the job or position of someone who has authority especially in the government [noncount] He has been in office for a decade. • He was voted out of office. • He won the election and will take office at the beginning of the year. • She has decided to leave office after two successful terms. • She plans to run for office [=campaign to be elected to an office] again. • U.S. senators are elected to a term of office of six years. [count] She has held several public offices.

3 [count] : a department of a company, organization, government, or school. • She went to the unemployment office. • Where is the registrar's office on campus? • the U.S. Patent Office — see also FOREIGN OFFICE, HOME OFFICE, POST OFFICE, REGISTER OFFICE, REGISTRY OFFICE good offices formal : help from someone who has power or authority • I got the interview through the good offices of a former classmate.

office boy noun, pl ~ boys [count] old-fashioned : a boy or man employed to do simple jobs in an office office girl noun, pl ~ girls [count] old-fashioned : a girl or woman employed to do simple jobs in an office of·fice·hold·er /'ɑ:fəs,houldə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who has an official job or position especially in the government • the city's/state's officeholders

office hours noun [plural]

1 : the time during the day when people work in an office • Our office hours are 8:30 to 4:00 Monday through Friday.

2 US : the time during the day when a teacher is available to meet with students in his or her office • She has office hours Monday and Wednesday mornings from 9:00 to 11:00.

3 US : a time during the day when people can see a doctor or dentist — called also (Brit) surgery

of·fi·cer /'ɑ:fəsə/ noun, pl -cers [count]

1 : a member of a police force : POLICE OFFICER — often used as a title • Officer Ruiz responded to the call. — see also PROBATION OFFICER

2 : a person who has an important position in a company, organization, or government • The bank's officers [=executives] will meet next week. — see also CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, RETURNING OFFICER

3 : a person who has a position of authority or command in the military • an officer in the navy = a naval officer — see also COMMANDING OFFICER, PETTY OFFICER, STAFF OFFICER

1 of·fi·cial /ə'fɪʃəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of or relating to the job or work of someone in a position of authority • official responsibilities • She was accused of destroying official documents. • Her illness did not prevent her from performing her official duties. • The Vice President is on an official trip/visit.

2 a — used to describe something that is said in a public way by someone in a position of authority • We're still waiting for an official announcement of his resignation. • It's official. His resignation has been accepted. • The official explanation is that he hurt himself accidentally, but many people suspect that he was injured in a fight. b — used to describe something that is done in a public and often formal way • The museum's official opening will be next month. • an official ceremony

3 always used before a noun : proper for or used by someone who has a position of authority • We extended an official greeting to the ambassador. • the mayor's official residence

4 always used before a noun : having authority • Official sources have confirmed the rumor. : having authority to perform a service or duty • He attended the funeral as the president's official representative. • the official government of the 13 colonies

5 : permitted, accepted, or approved by the government or by a person or organization that has authority • What is your country's official language? • an official major-league baseball • The change in the policy should soon be official.

— of·fi·cial·ly adv • The museum officially opens next month. • The company's name was officially changed in 1982. • She officially entered the race for mayor.

2 official noun, pl -cials [count]

1 : a person who has a position of authority in a company, organization, or government : a person who holds an office • She interviewed a senior official from the previous administration. • public/government/city officials • A company official responded to our request.

2 : a person (such as a referee or umpire) who makes sure that players are following the rules of a game • a football official of·fi·cial·dom /ə'fɪʃəldəm/ noun [noncount] formal + often disapproving : the people in an organization or government who are in positions of authority • church officialdom of·fi·cial·ese /ə'fɪʃə'li:z/ noun [noncount] usually disapproving + formal : the language used in official documents that is difficult for most people to understand • The documents were full of confusing officialese.

of·fi·ci·ate /ə'fɪʃi,eɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing

1 formal : to perform the official duties of a ceremony [no obj] — usually + at • Our parish priest officiated at our wedding. • The mayor officiated at the opening of the new public library. [+ obj] The bishop officiated the memorial Mass.

2 sports : to be a referee, umpire, or judge at a game, tournament, etc. [no obj] — usually + at • She officiated at the tennis match. [+ obj] Two referees officiated the hockey game.

of·fi·cious /ə'fɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving — used to describe an annoying person who tries to tell other people what to do in a way that is not wanted or needed • After the boss told his workers what to do, his officious assistant stepped in to supervise.

– of-fi-cious-ly adv • He officially shouted orders at the workers.

off-ing /'ɑ:fɪŋ/ noun

in the offing : likely to happen soon • A promotion might be in the offing for him. • Some big changes are in the offing.

off-key /'ɑ:f'ki:/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not in tune : above or below the proper pitch • Some of the notes were slightly off-key.

– off-key adv • He sang off-key.

off-kil-ter /'ɑ:f'kɪltə/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not perfectly balanced or even • The stairs are a little off-kilter.

2 : different from the ordinary, usual, or expected • Her novels are full of off-kilter characters in odd situations.

off-licence noun, pl -cences [count] Brit : a store that sells alcoholic drinks off-lim-its /'ɑ:f'limɪts/ adj, not used before a noun

1 — used to say that people are not allowed to enter a place or use something • The basement and garage will be off-limits during the renovations. • The historical documents have been placed off-limits. — often + to • Certain areas in the museum are currently off-limits to visitors.

2 — used to say that people are not allowed to talk about something • The subject of sex was off-limits in her family.

off-line /'ɑ:f'laɪn/ adj

1 : not connected to a computer, a computer network, or the Internet • The system will be off-line for about an hour this afternoon. • The printer is off-line.

2 : not done on a computer network or the Internet • off-line activities/storage – off-line adv • I'm working off-line today because the network has been slow. — opposite ONLINE

off-load /'ɑ:f'load/ verb -loads; -load-ed; -load-ing [+ obj]

1 : to remove (something) from a truck, ship, etc. • Workers off-loaded [(more commonly) unloaded] the equipment from the trailer. • I'll off-load the truck at the warehouse.

2 : to give away or sell (something unwanted) to someone : to get rid of (something) • He off-loaded part of his baseball card collection. • She tried to off-load some of her stock before prices fell.

off-peak /'ɑ:f'pi:k/ adj : less busy or active than other times

: not peak • What are the telephone rates during off-peak hours? • They always vacation during off-peak periods.

off-put-ting /'ɑ:f,putɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not pleasing or likable : causing you to feel dislike of someone or something • He has an off-putting [=unfriendly] manner. • The restaurant's décor was strangely off-putting. • The wording of the memo was very off-putting.

— off-put-ting-ly adv • His manner is off-puttingly formal.

off-ramp /'ɑ:f,ræmp/ noun, pl -ramps [count] US : a short road that is used to gradually slow down after leaving a highway — called also (Brit) slip road; compare ON-RAMP off-road /'ɑ:f'rəʊd/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : designed to be used on trails or dirt roads • Off-road vehicles are prohibited on the beach.

2 : involving or used by off-road vehicles • off-road racing/trails

off-screen /'ɑ:f'skri:n/ adv

1 : not happening or present in the scene that is being shown on a television or movie screen • In one scene you could see the shadow of someone offscreen. • Strange sounds were heard offscreen.

2 of an actor : in private life • Offscreen, she is nothing like the character she plays on TV.

— off-screen adj • The characters had an offscreen argument. • There were rumors of an offscreen romance between her and the leading man.

off-sea-son /'ɑ:f,si:zən/ noun, pl -sons [count]

1 : a period of time when travel to a particular place is less popular and prices are usually lower • They always travel during the off-season to take advantage of low prices. • off-season rates/travel

2 sports : a period of time when official games, tournaments, etc., are not being played • During the off-season, he had surgery on his shoulder. • He was brought to the team in an off-season trade.

— off-season adv • They like to travel off-season.

off-set /'ɑ:f,seɪt/ verb -sets; -set; -set-ting [+ obj] : to cancel or reduce the effect of (something) : to create an equal balance between two things • Gains in one area offset losses in another. • The limited storage space in the house is offset by the large garage.

off-shoot /'ɑ:f,ʃu:t/ noun, pl -shoots [count]

1 : something (such as a business) that develops from something larger • The business started as an offshoot of an established fashion design company.

2 : a branch that grows on one of the main stems of a plant off-shore /'ɑ:f'ʃɔ:ə/ adj

1 : moving away from the shore toward the water • an off-shore breeze

2 : located in the ocean away from the shore • We sailed to an offshore island. • He works on an offshore oil rig.

3 : located in a foreign country • They opened an offshore bank account. • He traced the money to an offshore investment company.

— offshore adv • An oil company is drilling offshore. • The ships are anchored about a mile offshore. • A light breeze was blowing offshore.

off-side /'ɑ:f'saɪd/ adj

1 sports : in a position in a game (such as football or hockey) on the opponent's part of the field where you are not allowed to be : not onside • The play was stopped because the center was offside.

2 Brit : on the right side : RIGHT-HAND • the car's offside mirror/headlight — compare NEARSIDE the offside Brit : the right-hand side • The car was damaged on the offside.

— offside adv

off-site /'ɑ:f'saɪt/ adv : away from the place of a business or activity • Printing of our dictionary is done off-site. — opposite ON-SITE — off-site adj • Off-site parking is available at the airport.

off-speed /'ɑ:f'spi:d/ adj, baseball, of a pitch : slower than usual or expected • He has trouble hitting off-speed pitches.

off-spring /'ɑ:f'sprɪŋ/ noun, pl offspring [count]

1 : a person's child • The disease can be transmitted from parent to offspring. • The show is about two couples and the adventures of their rebellious offspring.

2 : the young of an animal or plant • The colt is the offspring of two racing champions.

off-stage /'ɑ:f'steɪdʒ/ adv

1 : on the part of the stage that the audience cannot see : behind or to the side of the stage • She waited offstage for her

cue. • We heard a loud crash offstage. — compare BACK-STAGE, ONSTAGE

2 of a performer : in private life • Offstage, the actress is very down-to-earth.

3 : in a place that is away from public view : behind the scenes • Much of the important work of the conference was done offstage.

— offstage adj • Their offstage relationship ended soon after the play closed.

off-street adj, always used before a noun : not on a public road • Off-street parking is available for residents.

off-the-cuff adj : not prepared in advance : done without planning or preparation • He made some off-the-cuff remarks during his presentation which drew laughter. — see also off the cuff at ¹CUFF

off-the-peg adj, chiefly Brit : OFF-THE-RACK

off-the-rack adj, US — used to describe clothes that you can buy in a store in different sizes that are not made to fit a particular person • an off-the-rack suit — see also off the rack at ¹RACK off-the-record adj — used to describe statements that are made to a reporter but that are not supposed to be included in a story, newspaper report, etc. • The reporter used off-the-record comments in the story that should not have been made public. — see also off the record at ¹RECORD off-the-shelf adj : available for sale from a store's supply of goods : not specially designed or custom-made • They used mostly off-the-shelf stereo components for the media room. • off-the-shelf software off-the-wall adj [more ~; most ~] informal : very unusual or strange • She has an off-the-wall sense of humor. • Some of his ideas are really off-the-wall.

off-white /'ɑ:f'waɪt/ noun [noncount] : a yellowish or grayish white • They painted the walls in off-white.

— off-white adj • an off-white shirt off year noun, pl ~ years [count]

1 : a year in which activity or production is lower than usual • It has been an off year for auto sales.

2 US, politics : a year in which no major elections are held oft /'ɑ:ft/ adv, literary : OFTEN — often used in combination with a past participle • an oft-repeated story • an oft-quoted statement of-ten /'ɑ:fən/ adv of-ten-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

: many times : on many occasions : FREQUENTLY • They go out to dinner fairly often. • How often do you call your mother? • The condition often returns even after treatment with antibiotics. • I often take a walk during my lunch break. • He travels more often than I do. • The disease is diagnosed most often in children. • They seem to be getting into arguments more and more often. • Often, she works late. • It's not often that I get to enjoy a day off. • Water the plants often enough to keep the soil moist. • We hear from her every so often. [=occasionally, once in a while] • More often than not [=typically, usually], he forgets his hat. • She arrived home from work late, as often as not. [=very often] • We see this problem all too often. [=too commonly] of-ten-times /'ɑ:fən,taimz/ adv, US : OFTEN • Oftentimes, he is the only man in the aerobics class.

ogle /'oʊgəl/ verb ogles; ogled; ogling [+ obj]

1 usually disapproving : to look at (someone) in a way that shows sexual attraction • He sat at the bar, ogling several women.

2 : to look at (something) in a way that suggests strong interest or desire • He ogled the new cars on the lot. • I was ogling the dessert menu before my meal even arrived.

ogre /'oʊgə/ noun, pl ogres [count]

1 : an ugly giant in children's stories that eats people

2 : someone or something that is very frightening, cruel, or difficult to deal with • The book portrays their father as an ogre who mistreated them. • the ogre of inflation

¹oh /'ou/ interj

— used to express surprise, happiness, disappointment, or sadness • Oh, it's so windy out here! • Oh, I'm so sorry to hear that. • Oh no! I forgot my purse.

2 — used in response to a physical sensation (such as pain) • Oh, that hurt. • Oh, that does taste good.

3 also O — used to address someone directly • Oh sir, you forgot your change. • Oh, waiter! We'd like the bill, please • Bless us, O Lord.

4 — used for emphasis when responding to a question or statement or when making a statement • "Have you ever been to Venice?" "Oh, yes. It's one of my favorite cities."

"He's planning to change jobs." "Oh? Really?" • Oh all right. If you insist. • Oh for some time to relax and read a book! [=I wish I had some time to relax and read a book]

5 — used to show that something is understood. "I'm going to the dentist now." "Oh, okay. I'll see you later." • "But I won't be available on Monday." "Oh, I see. My mistake."

6 — used during a pause in speaking. Their house is about, oh, I'd say four miles from here.

²oh /'ou/ noun, pl ohs [count] US — used to show the way the number 0 is often pronounced. The number is three, oh, nine. [=309]

OH abbr Ohio

ohm /'oum/ noun, pl ohms [count] technical : a unit for measuring electrical resistance oi /'oi/ interj, Brit, informal — used to get the attention of someone or to express disapproval. Oi, what are you doing with my car! • Oi!—get away from there!

oik /'oik/ noun, pl oiks [count] Brit slang : a person who is very rude or stupid

¹oil /'ojəl/ noun, pl oils

1 [noncount] a : a thick, black liquid that comes from the ground and that is used in making various products (such as gasoline). The price of crude oil is expected to rise. • drilling for oil — often used before another noun. oil prices/companies/wells/refineries • the oil industry • The world's oil supplies/reserves are diminishing. b : a type of oil that is used as a fuel to produce heat or light. We heat our house with oil. • heating oil • an oil lamp c : a type of oil that makes the different parts in an engine, machine, etc., run smoothly. I asked the mechanic to check the oil. [=to make sure that there was enough oil to make the car engine run smoothly] • A little bit of oil will help lubricate the chain.

2 [count, noncount] : a liquid substance that comes from a plant or animal, that contains fat, and that is used in cooking. Add a little oil to the pan and stir-fry the onions. • The dressing is made with oil, vinegar, and a pinch of herbs. — see also CASTOR OIL, COCONUT OIL, COD-LIVER OIL, CORN OIL, ESSENTIAL OIL, LINSEED OIL, OLIVE OIL, PALM OIL

3 [count, noncount] : a smooth substance that is used on the skin, hair, or body to make it soft or healthy. scented bath oils

4 a oils [plural] : oil paints. He works mostly in oils [=he mostly uses oil paints] b [count] : an oil painting. The exhibit includes oils and watercolors. • an oil on canvas

a/the squeaky wheel gets the oil see ¹WHEEL

burn the midnight oil see ¹BURN

²oil verb oils; oiled; oil-ing [+ obj] : to put oil in or on (something). He oiled the bearings of the machine.

oil-can /'ojəl,kæn/ noun, pl -cans [count] : a can for holding oil; especially : a can with a long thin part through which oil comes out slowly oil-cloth /'ojəl,kla:θ/ noun [noncount] : cloth that is treated with oil so that it does not let water in and that is used especially to cover tables and shelves oiled /'ojəld/ adj : treated or covered with oil. Place the vegetables in the oiled pan. • oiled paper — see also WELL-OILED oil field noun, pl ~ fields [count] : an area where there is a lot of oil and where special equipment has been set up to remove it from the ground oil-man /'ojəlmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a person (usually a man) who owns or works for an oil company oil paint noun, pl ~ paints [count, noncount] : paint that contains oil oil painting noun, pl ~ -ings

1 [noncount] : the art of painting with oil paints. He studied oil painting in college.

2 [count] : a picture that is painted with oil paints. A large oil painting hangs above the mantel.

no oil painting Brit, informal : not physically attractive. His new girlfriend is no oil painting.

oil pan noun, pl ~ pans [count] chiefly US : the lower part of an engine that holds the oil — called also (Brit) sump oil rig noun, pl ~ rigs [count] : a structure above an oil well on land or in the sea that has special equipment attached to it for drilling and removing oil from the ground — called also oil platform

oil-seed rape /'ojəl,sɪ:d-/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit : ³RAPE oil-skin /'ojəl,skɪn/ noun, pl -skins

1 [noncount] : cloth that is treated with oil so that it does not let water in and that is used to make clothing

2 [count] : a raincoat that is made of oilskin

3 oilskins [plural] : a coat and pants that are made of oilskin and that are worn to keep dry. fishermen dressed in oilskins oil slick noun, pl ~ slicks [count] : a thin layer of oil that is floating on the surface of the ocean, a lake, etc.

oil tanker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a large ship that carries oil oil well noun, pl ~ wells [count] : a hole that has been drilled into the ground through which oil can be removed oily /'oili/ adj oil-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having the smooth or greasy quality of oil. The liquid has an oily feel.

2 a : covered or soaked with oil. a pile of oily rags b : containing or producing a large amount of oil. Her skin/hair is oily. • an oily fish • The salad dressing was very oily.

— oil-i-ness noun [noncount] • The skin cleanser helps reduce oiliness.

oink /'oɪŋk/ noun, pl oinks [count] : the sound made by a hog or pig

— oink verb oinks; oinked; oink-ing [no obj] • an oinking pig ointment /'oɪntmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count, noncount] : a smooth substance that is rubbed on the skin to help heal a wound or to reduce pain or discomfort. You should put some ointment on that cut.

fly in the ointment see ³FLY

OJ abbr, US orange juice

¹OK or okay /ou'keɪ/ adv, informal

1 Ta — used to ask for or express agreement, approval, or understanding. "I'm going to stay here, OK?" "Yes, that's fine." • "Let's eat out tonight." "OK. Where do you want to go?" • "Can we rent a video tonight?" "OK." • "I'll be there in a minute, okay?" b — used for emphasis at the beginning of a statement. Okay everybody, it's time to go now. • "Hurry up!" "Okay, okay, I'm almost ready." • OK, so I was wrong. I'm sorry.

2 : fairly well : well enough. "How did you do at the interview?" "I think I did okay." • He's doing OK in math.

²OK or okay adj, informal

1 T : fairly good : not very good or very bad. She's an OK [=fair] player. • He's okay [=he is not bad] at math, but he really likes history. • The movie was just OK.

2 : acceptable or agreeable. Is it OK if I take tomorrow off? • Is she OK with the schedule change? • It's okay by me if you want to stay longer. • Is my dress OK? • It may be OK to do that sort of thing at home, but it isn't OK here.

3 not used before a noun a : not ill, hurt, unhappy, etc. • "Are you feeling OK? [=well]" "Yes, I'm fine." b : not marked by problems, danger, etc. • Don't worry. Everything will be OK. [=all right] • "I'm so sorry that I'm late." "It's/That's OK. We still have plenty of time." • "Are you OK for money?" "Yes, I have enough."

4 : likable, good, or honest. He seems like an okay [=decent] guy.

³OK or okay verb OK's or okay's; OK'd or okayed; OK'-ing or okay-ing [+ obj] informal : to approve (something) : to say or decide that (something) will be allowed. The boss needs to OK this before we place the order. • Who OK'd your request?

⁴OK or okay noun [singular] informal : approval or permission. We need her OK on this before we place the order. • The boss gave his okay.

⁵OK abbr Oklahoma

okey-dokey /,ouki'douki/ or okey-do-key /,ouki'douki/ adv, informal

1 — used to express agreement or approval. "I'll be there in a minute." "Okeydokey."

2 — used for emphasis at the beginning of a statement. "Okeydokey kids, it's time to clean up now."

okra /'oukrə/ noun [noncount] : a tall plant whose pods are eaten as a vegetable and are used in soups and stews; also : the pods of this plant

¹old /'ould/ adj old-er; -est

1 Ta : having lived for many years : not young. He's an old man now. • a little old lady. She was helping an old [(more politely) elderly] woman cross the street. b — used to talk about or okra

ask about a person's age • He looks old for his age. [=he looks older than he really is] • She's older than she looks. [=she has a young appearance] • He's dating an older woman. [=a woman who is older than he is] • I wasn't old enough [=I was too young] to vote in the last election. • "How old is your daughter?" "She's almost six." • Their oldest [=eldest] child is 18 years old. • My sister's three years older than me. • She lived to the ripe old age of 85. • He joked that he was as old as the hills. [=very old] c : having a specified age • He's 30 years old. • a nine-month-old baby

2 a : having existed or been in use for a long time : not new • We rented an old black-and-white movie. • old newspapers/magazines • a beautiful old house • There's an old saying that good fences make good neighbors. • an old family tradition • a new approach to an old problem • She wore a T-shirt and an old pair of jeans. • I wish you would stop wearing that dirty old hat! • The hotel was old and dingy. • the oldest known civilization in the region b : having existed for a specified amount of time • The house we live in is 50 years old. • a 400-year-old castle

3 always used before a noun a : belonging to, used by, or known by someone in the past • We went back to visit our old neighborhood. • I met one of my old [=former] professors at the library. • one of his old cars • I made a lot less money at my old job. • That's their old number. The new number is 555-4397. • She is now just a shadow of her old self. [=she is not the person she was in the past] b — used to say that someone or something has been your friend, enemy, etc., for a long time • I had lunch with an old friend of mine. [=a friend I have known for a very long time] • They're old enemies. • Spaghetti is an old favorite in our home.

4 always used before a noun : done or experienced many times • Do we have to go through that old routine again? • Grandpa tells the same old stories over and over again. • When she brought up the same old argument, I just stopped listening.

5 informal — used for emphasis after adjectives like big, good, etc. • We had a big old party in her honor. • You poor old thing. You must be exhausted! • Good old Joe. He's always helping people in need.

any old informal — used to describe someone or something that is not special or specific • I don't care where I sleep. Any old couch will do. • She won't drink any old tea; it has to be her favorite kind. • You'll have to park any old way [=any way] you can. • Give me beer over champagne any old day (of the week).

chip off the old block see ¹CHIP

for old times' sake see ¹SAKE old boy/chap/man/etc. Brit, old-fashioned — used to address a man • Don't worry, old chap, it'll be all right. — see also OLD BOY

— see also GOOD OLD BOY

synonyms OLD, ANCIENT, ANTIQUE, and ARCHAIC describe things that existed or were used in the past. OLD is the most common and general of these words and can refer to either the recent past or to the distant past. • This is one of my old sweaters. • The neighborhood has many old houses that were built more than 200 years ago. ANCIENT refers to things that happened or existed in the very distant past and that may or may not exist today. • an ancient custom • the ancient pyramids of Egypt ANTIQUE refers to things, such as toys, machines, and pieces of furniture, that have been kept from the past and that are often valuable. • She collects antique furniture. ARCHAIC refers to things, such as words or ways of behaving, that belong to a much earlier time and that are no longer used. • The play used archaic language to convey a sense of the past. • an archaic tradition

²old noun, pl olds

1 [count] : a person who has a specified age — used in combination • The game is suitable for six-year-olds. [=for children who are six years old] • Their 11-month-old has just learned how to walk. • 30-year-olds

2 old [plural] : old people • Young and old alike will enjoy the movie. — often used with the • The old [(more commonly) the elderly] and the sick were helped first.

of old formal + literary : in the past : in a time that was long ago • in (the) days of old • (Brit) She's a friend who knows me of old. [=has known me for a long time]

old age noun [noncount] : the fact of being old • She died of old age. : the time of life when a person is old • He's getting sweeter in his old age.

— old-age adj, always used before a noun • an old-age home • (Brit) He is eligible to receive an old-age pension.

old boy noun, pl ~ boys [count]

1 or Old Boy chiefly Brit : a person who went to a respected or well-known private school for boys • an Old Boys' reunion — compare OLD GIRL

2 chiefly Brit, informal : an old man • The old boy had some trouble getting up the stairs.

old boy network also old boys' network usually disapproving : an informal system in which wealthy men with the same social and educational background help each other • He got his job through the old boy network.

— see also GOOD OLD BOY

old country noun

the old country : the country where a person was born or lived before moving to a new country • They left the old country more than 30 years ago. • This music reminds me of the old country.

olde /'ould/ — used as a variant spelling of "old" in the names of places, in advertisements, etc. • Ye Olde Pub • merry olde England old-en /'ouldən/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to a time in the distant past • What was life like in the old-en days? • stories of olden times

Old English noun [noncount] : the English language before 1100 • Old English is very different from modern English. — called also Anglo-Saxon; compare MIDDLE ENGLISH

old-fashion /'ould'fæʃənd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of or relating to the past: such as a : no longer used or accepted : replaced by something more recent • an old-fashioned word • His views on the role of women in society are terribly old-fashioned. • Her clothes are so plain and old-fashioned. b : typical of the past in a pleasing or desirable way • old-fashioned courtesy and good manners • an old-fashioned love story • I feel like listening to some good old-fashioned rock 'n' roll. • She worked hard and became successful the old-fashioned way.

2 of a person : using or preferring traditions or ideas from the past • She was an old-fashioned girl from a small town. • I'm rather old-fashioned when it comes to dating. — opposite MODERN old girl noun, pl ~ girls [count] chiefly Brit

1 or Old Girl : a woman who went to a respected or well-known private school for girls • an Old Girls' reunion — compare OLD BOY

2 informal : an old woman • The old girl had some trouble getting up the stairs.

Old Glory noun [noncount] : the flag of the United States old-growth adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to forests that have been growing for a long time • old-growth forests • old-growth trees • old-growth timber

old guard noun

the old guard : the usually older members of an organization (such as a political party) who do not want or like change • She's not popular with the old guard. • (US) The old guard is stronger than ever. = (Brit) The old guard are stronger than ever.

old hand noun, pl ~ hands [count] : a person who has a lot of experience doing something • He's an old hand at working on cars.

old hat adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : seen or done many times and no longer interesting • I suppose my favorite joke's a bit old hat by now. • Making hit movies is old hat for/to him.

old-ie /'ouldi/ noun, pl -ies [count] informal : someone or something that is not new • This recipe's an oldie and a favorite in my family. • an oldie but goodie • (Brit) He's one of the oldies [(US) old-timers] on the soccer team. — see also GOLDEN OLDIE old lady noun, pl ~ -dies [count] informal

1 : someone's wife or girlfriend • He cheated on his old lady.

2 : someone's mother • My old lady says I have to be home by eight.

old-line /'ould'lain/ adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] US

1 a : having a good reputation because of the high quality of a service, product, etc., that has been provided for many years • We made sure he used an old-line law firm. • old-line wine producers b : powerful and important in a society for a long time • old-line Virginia families

2 : supporting traditional policies or practices : not encouraging or liking change within an organization • His more old-

line colleagues expressed their concern with the changes. • an old-line Democrat old maid noun, pl ~ maids [count] old-fashioned + disapproving: a woman who has never been married and who is no longer young • In my generation, you were considered an old maid at 25.

old man noun, pl ~ men [count] informal

1: someone's husband or boyfriend • I've been with my old man for 12 years now.

2: someone's father • I used to work with your old man.

old master or Old Master noun, pl ~ -ters [count]

1: a famous and highly skilled artist; especially: a famous painter of the 16th, 17th, or early 18th century • He is now recognized as one of the Old Masters of the Dutch school.

2: a work of art created by an Old Master • their collection of old masters old money noun [noncount]: people whose families have been rich for a long time • He comes from old money.

— old money adj • an old money family/neighborhood

Old Nick /'ould'nɪk/ noun, chiefly Brit, old-fashioned — used as a name of the devil old salt noun, pl ~ salts [count] informal: someone who has sailed for many years • An old salt told me tales about life in the navy.

old-school adj [more ~; most ~] informal

1: typical of an earlier style or form • I mostly listen to old-school rap and hip-hop. • old-school comedians: based on a way of doing things that was common in the past • old-school [=traditional] values • old-school medicine

2: using or supporting traditional practices • We had an old-school coach who made us run two miles every day.

old school noun

the old school: the people who support traditional policies and practices • a politician of the old school

oldster /'ouldstə/ noun, pl -sters [count] informal: an old person • active and lively oldsters

old-style adj, always used before a noun: typical of the past often in a pleasing way • I love the old-style elegance of those black-and-white movies. • old-style entertainment • old-style politicians

Old Testament noun

the Old Testament: the first part of the Christian Bible that tells about the Jews, their history, and God's words to them in the time before Jesus Christ was born — compare NEW TESTAMENT

old-time /'ould'taɪm/ adj, always used before a noun

1: of a kind or style that was typical of the past • old-time songs • an old-time movie star • old-time religion • old-time liberalism

2 US: having been something specified for a long time: LONGTIME • They're old-time residents of the neighborhood. • an old-time rivalry old-tim-er /'ould'taɪmə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1: a person who has a lot of experience: someone who has been a member of a company or organization for a long time • I've asked some of the old-timers to help train new workers.

2 US: an old person • It's good for old-timers like me to have young people around. • Only a few old-timers still speak the language. • How are you feeling today, old-timer?

old-timey /'ould'taɪmi/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal: of a kind or style that was popular in the past • There's an old-timey feel to their music. • old-timey folk music old wives' tale noun, pl ~ tales [count] disapproving: a common belief about something that is not based on facts and that is usually false • Frogs won't give you warts. That's just an old wives' tale. • the old wives' tale about the full moon causing people to act crazy — compare SUPERSTITION

Old World noun

the Old World: Africa, Asia, and especially Europe • The animal is found throughout the Old World. — compare NEW WORLD

old-world /'ould'wɜːld/ adj, always used before a noun: old-fashioned or traditional in a way that pleasantly reminds you of the past • I like the restaurant's old-world elegance/charm.

ole /'oul/ — used to represent a very informal way of saying "old" • a big ole tractor • We had a fine ole time.

ole-an-der /'ouli,ændə/ noun, pl -ders [count, noncount]: a bush with long, narrow leaves and white, pink, or yellow flowers

O level noun, pl O levels [count] Brit: a basic test in a particular subject taken by students in England, Wales, and

Northern Ireland usually at the age of 18 — called also Ordinary level; compare A LEVEL, S LEVEL

ol-fac-to-ry /əl'fæktəri/ adj, technical: of, relating to, or connected with the sense of smell • an olfactory stimulus ol-i-garch /'ɑ:lə,gærk/ noun, pl -garchs [count] somewhat formal: a person who belongs to a small group of people who govern or control a country, business, etc.

oli-gar-chy /'ɑ:lə,gæki/ noun, pl -chies

1 [count] a: a country, business, etc., that is controlled by a small group of people • Their nation is an oligarchy. b: the people that control a country, business, etc. • An oligarchy rules their nation.

2 [noncount]: government or control by a small group of people • The corporation is ruled by oligarchy.

ol-ive /'ɑ:lɪv/ noun, pl -ives

1 [count] a: a small, egg-shaped black or green fruit that is used as food or for making oil • a sauce made with chopped olives b: a tree on which olives grow — called also olive tree

2 [noncount]: a yellowish-green color • Does the suit come in olive? — called also olive green; see color picture on page C2

— olive adj • She has olive skin. [=her skin has a yellowish-green tone to it] • He has an olive complexion.

olive branch noun, pl ~ branch-es [count]: something that is said or done to make peace or to show that you want peace: a symbol of peace • The winner extended/offered an olive branch to his opponent by calling him a great player.

olive drab noun [noncount] chiefly US: a grayish-green color • a shirt in olive drab; also: clothing of this color • The soldiers were dressed in olive drab.

olive green noun [noncount]: OLIVE 2

olive oil noun, pl ~ oils [count, noncount]: a yellow to yellowish-green oil that is made from olives and used in cooking • a teaspoon of olive oil

olive tree noun, pl ~ trees [count]: OLIVE 1b

Olym-pi-ad /ə'lɪmpɪ,æd/ noun, pl -ads [count]: an occasion when the modern Olympics are held • the games of the 24th Olympiad

¹ Olym-pi-an /ə'lɪmpɪjən/ noun, pl -ans [count]: an athlete who competes in the Olympics • modern Olympians

² Olympian adj, always used before a noun, formal: like that of a god: very impressive, powerful, etc. • the Olympian heights of his disdain • an Olympian effort

Olym-pic /ə'lɪmpɪk/ adj, always used before a noun: of or relating to the Olympics • the U.S. Olympic team • She won an Olympic medal in diving. • an Olympic athlete

Olym-pics /ə'lɪmpɪks/ noun

the Olympics: a series of international athletic contests held in a different country once every four years — called also (formal) the Olympic Games

om-buds-man /'ɑ:m,budzmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count]: a person (such as a government official or an employee) who investigates complaints and tries to deal with problems fairly • The insurance company's ombudsman was able to resolve the problem. • The town's ombudsman said he would look into charges of corruption.

ome-ga /ou'meɪgə, Brit 'əʊmɪgə/ noun, pl -gas [count]: the 24th and last letter of the Greek alphabet — Ω or ω; see also ALPHA AND OMEGA omega-3 /ou'meɪgə'θri:, Brit 'əʊmɪgə'θri:/ noun, pl omega-3s [count, noncount]: a type of fat that is good for your heart and is found in fish, green leafy vegetables, and some nuts — called also omega-3 fatty acid

om-e-let or om-e-lette /'ɑ:mlət/ noun, pl -lets or -lettes [count]: a dish made from eggs that are mixed together, cooked without stirring, and served folded in half often with a filling of cheese, vegetables, or meat omen /'oumən/ noun, pl omens [count]: something that is believed to be a sign or warning of something that will happen in the future • a bad omen • They regarded the win as a good omen for the team. • omens of things to come om-i-nous /'ɑ:mənəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]: suggesting that something bad is going to happen in the future • ominous clouds • an ominous threat of war • He spoke in ominous tones.

— om-i-nous-ly adv • A threat of war loomed ominously. • The sky was ominously dark.

omis-sion /ou'mɪʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [count]: something that has not been included or done

: something that has been omitted • There are a few omissions in the list/book.

2 [noncount] a : the act of not including or doing something — often + of • I believe that the omission of my name was intentional. b : the state of being not included in something — often + from • I am surprised by her omission from the team.

omit /ou'mɪt/ verb omits; omit-ted; omit-ting [+ obj]

1 : to leave out (someone or something) : to not include (someone or something) • Please don't omit any details. — often + from • They omitted your name from the list. • You can omit the salt from the recipe. • He has been omitted from the pool of candidates.

2 formal : to fail to do (something) — followed by to + verb • I omitted [(more commonly) neglected] to mention that it was my fault. • They omitted to tell us the directions.

omni- combining form : all : in all ways, places, etc. : without limits • omnipotent • omnipresent

1 om-ni-bus /'ɑ:mni'bəs/ noun, pl -bus-es [count] old-fashioned : ¹BUS

2 omnibus adj, always used before a noun, US : of, relating to, or including many things • an omnibus edition of his more popular stories • an omnibus legislative bill om-nip-o-tent /am'nɪpətənt/ adj, formal : having complete or unlimited power : ALL-POWERFUL • omnipotent gods • an omnipotent ruler/state

— om-nip-o-tence /am'nɪpətəns/ noun [noncount] • divine omnipotence • the omnipotence of God om-ni-pres-ent /,ɑ:mni'preznt/ adj, formal : present in all places at all times • The problem is omnipresent and unavoidable.

— om-ni-pres-ence /,ɑ:mni'preznəs/ noun [noncount] • the omnipresence of poverty

om-ni-scient /am'nɪsfənt/ adj, formal : knowing everything : having unlimited understanding or knowledge • an omniscient deity • The novel has an omniscient narrator. [=a narrator who knows what all the characters are doing and thinking]

— om-ni-science /am'nɪfəns/ noun [noncount] • the belief in divine omniscience

om-ni-vore /'ɑ:mni,vɔə/ noun, pl -vores [count] technical : an animal that eats both plants and other animals — sometimes used to refer to people • I'm an omnivore—I'll eat anything.

om-niv-o-rous /am'nɪvərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : eating both plants and animals • omnivorous animals

2 : eager to learn about many different things • She is an omnivorous reader. • a child with omnivorous curiosity

1 on /'ɑ:n/ prep

T a : touching and being supported by the top surface of (something) • The book is (lying) on the table. • There is a lot of frosting on the cake. b : to a position that is supported by (something) • You can get on [=onto] the horse as soon as we've put the saddle on it. • I climbed out on [=onto] the roof. c — used to indicate the part or object by which someone or something is supported • How long can you stand on one foot? • He stood on the stool. • He was on his hands and knees looking for her earring.

2 — used to say that something is attached to something • He hung the painting on the wall. • Apples hung on the branches.

3 — used to indicate where someone or something is hit or touched • I bumped my head on a low branch. • He slapped me on the hand. • She kissed him on the cheek.

4 a — used to indicate the surface or part where something is seen or located • There are marks on the wall. • I have a cut on my finger. b — used to say that something (such as jewelry) is being worn by someone • the ring on her finger

5 : near or close to (something or someone) • a village on [=by] the sea

6 — used to indicate the location or position of something or someone • Our house is on the left. • There is a garden on the side of the house. • We saw cows and chickens on the farm. • He lives on Main Street. • on page 102 in/of the book • Which side is it on?

7 — used to indicate the time when something happened or will happen • We met on July 24th. • On my way home [=while I was going home], I saw a car accident. • (formal) On the morning of July 24th, the suspect left his house at 8:15 a.m. • I would like the report on or before July 24th. • The TV station gives news every hour on the hour, [=at 6:00, 7:00, 8:00, etc.] • The project was finished on schedule/time.

[=when it was supposed to be finished]

8 : immediately after (something) • What was your first reaction on hearing the news? [=when you heard the news] • You'll be required to pay on delivery of the package. [=when the package is delivered]

9 — used to indicate the subject of something • a book on [=about] North American birds • a discussion on current events • Let's reflect on [=upon] the poem for a moment. • a test on parts of speech

10 a — used to indicate the device or instrument that is used to do something • He played a couple songs on the piano. • He cut his foot on a piece of broken glass. b — used to say that someone is using a telephone, computer, etc. • They talked on the phone for hours. • She was on the phone when I went to her office. • He has been on the computer all night. c — used to describe the device, system, etc., that is used for seeing something, hearing something, etc. • It's the best show on television. • I heard that song on the radio. • the display on the computer screen • a Web site on the Internet • I have the movie on DVD.

11 — used to indicate a source of something (such as money, food, information, or energy) • She lives on a small salary. • The family lives on welfare. • They make their living on [=off] tourism. • They profited on [=from] the sale of the house. • The animal feeds on insects. • I lived on cereal [=I ate a lot of cereal regularly] in my college years. • The machine runs on diesel fuel. • The story is based on fact.

12 — used to indicate the vehicle or animal by which someone or something is moved from one place to another • I sometimes go to work on a bus. [=I sometimes take a bus to get to work] • Have you ever ridden on a horse?

13 — used to say that you have something in your possession at a particular time • I only have $10 on me. • He had a knife on him.

14 — used to indicate the state of something • The house is on fire! • House sales are on the rise, [=are rising] • All shoes are on sale.

15 — used to indicate an activity that someone did or is now doing • She did well on the exam/test. • The band is currently on tour. • He is off/away on a trip/vacation. • She is on a diet. • The officers are on duty.

16 — used to indicate something (such as a medicine or drug) that a person or animal is using • He used to be on drugs, but he's off them now. • (informal) What (drugs) is she on? • They put the dog on antibiotics.

17 — used to indicate the person or thing that is responsible for something • The drinks are on me. [=I will pay for the drinks] • They blamed it on me. [=they said it was my fault]

18 a — used to indicate the person or thing that something is directed toward • The deadline was creeping up on us. [=the deadline was getting closer] • an attack on religion • He is working on [=at] his skiing. • They are still working on the problem. • They made a down payment on the house. • He pulled a gun on me. • He turned his back on her and walked away. • a ban on smoking • Her eyes were on the road. [=she was watching the road] b — used to say that someone has been affected by something • The crops died on them. • Her husband walked out on her.

19 — used after an adjective to indicate the thing that a statement relates to • I am short on cash. [=I don't have much cash] • Opinions are divided on this issue. • (Brit) Sales are up on last year's but down on those of previous years.

20 : as stated or shown by (someone or something) • I have it on good authority [=a trustworthy person has told me] that the company will be relocating. • (Brit) On [=according to] these estimates, we'll be out of debt soon.

21 — used to indicate that someone or something is included as part of a team, list, etc. • She served on the jury/committee/board. • He is on the team. • That dish is no longer on the menu. • His name was on the list.

22 — used to say that someone or something has an advantage • She has three inches in height on me. [=she is three inches taller than I am] • The team has a 3-game lead on last year's champions. • She is very talented but has nothing on [=has no advantage over] her brother who is an even better singer.

23 chiefly US — used to say that someone is playing or performing well • He is on his game. [=he is playing very well] on about Brit, informal + disapproving : talking about • I haven't a clue what you're on about! • She is always on about the importance of exercise.

on at Brit, informal 1 : asking (someone) for something repeatedly and in a way that is annoying • She is always on at him for money. 2 : asking or telling (someone) to do something repeatedly and in a way that is annoying • Mummy's always on at me about cleaning up my room!

on it : actively dealing with a problem, job, etc. • "We need to get this paperwork done." "Don't worry; I'm on it." [=I am taking care of it]

²on adv

1 a — used to indicate that something is attached to, covering, or supported by something else • Put the lid on. • I'll steady the horse while you get on. • She put on her glasses to read the letter. • Keep the tablecloth on. b — used to describe something that is being worn by someone • He put on his coat and went outside. • You can keep your shoes on. • What did he have on? [=what was he wearing?] • He had on a black shirt and jeans.

2 — used to indicate movement forward • The car stopped and then drove on. • We traveled on to the next town. • The boys went on home.

3 a — used to indicate that an activity, event, or condition continues • The argument went on for weeks. • He worked on without a break. • Please read on for information about our products. • The teams played on in the snow. • She rambled on (and on) about her lazy husband. • From now on [=from this point in time forward], be sure to double-check your answers. • From here on (out), things should get easier. = From this point on, things should get easier. b : in an advanced state • We're far/well on with/in our project. c : at a more advanced time : at a later time • I'll come by to help you later on.

4 : from one person or thing to another • Pass the word/note on. • The tradition has been passed/handed on [=down] through the years. • Let's move/go on to the next point.

5 a — used to indicate that something is operating, flowing, etc. • He switched the light on to read. • The lights came on. • Turn the water/TV on. b — used to indicate that something is being heated, prepared, etc. • I'll put the kettle/tea/coffee on (to boil). [=I will put the kettle/tea/coffee on the stove to make it warmer] • I've got coffee on, if you're interested.

6 : in or into a train, bus, etc. • She got on at the last station. on and off see ¹OFF

³on adj

1 not used before a noun : attached to or covering something • The lid is on tight.

2 not used before a noun : performing or speaking in public • The band will be on in 10 minutes. • Mr. President, you are on in two minutes. [=you will be giving your speech in two minutes]

3 not used before a noun : working at a job • He is on tomorrow from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

4 a not used before a noun : operating or flowing • The radio/water/electricity is on. b : in a position that starts the flow of electricity, water, etc. • The switch is on. • The lever is in the on position.

5 not used before a noun a : taking place or happening • The deal/game is on. • (Brit) We do not have anything on [=planned] this weekend. b : doing something as planned • Are we still on for dinner tomorrow? [=are we still having dinner tomorrow, as we planned to do?]

6 not used before a noun : being broadcast on television or radio • The show is on at 8 p.m. • The game is on tonight. • My favorite show is on.

7 not used before a noun, chiefly US — used to say that you are able to do something well at a particular time • My golf game was off yesterday, but it/I was on today. [=I played well today] not on Brit, informal 1 : not acceptable or proper • Cheating old ladies out of their savings just isn't on. [=is not acceptable] 2 : not possible • I'm afraid that scheme's just not on.

you're on informal — used to say that you accept a bet or challenge • "I bet I can run faster than you can." "OK, you're on."

on-again, off-again adj, chiefly US : happening or existing at some times and not at other times • on-again, off-again fads • She has been his on-again, off-again girlfriend for the past several years. [=she has been his girlfriend at certain times and not been his girlfriend at other times during the past several years]

on-air adj : appearing, used, or done on a radio or television broadcast • an on-air telephone call • our live, on-air fundraiser on-board /'ɑ:n'boəd/ adj, always used before a noun : carried or happening on a vehicle • The car comes with an on-board computer. • onboard electronics/systems

¹once /'wʌns/ adv

1 : one time only • I will repeat the question once. • We try to get together (at least) once every month. • The play was performed only once. • He had ridden a horse only once (before). • We go to the movies once or twice a month. [=we go to the movies a few times a month] • I've only seen her once or twice. [=I have only seen her a few times]

2 : at any one time : EVER • She didn't once thank me. • He didn't look at me once.

3 : at some time in the past • It was once done that way. • A river once flowed through this canyon. • It was once a booming mining town. • Their music was once very popular. — sometimes used in combination • a once-successful actor • a once-popular restaurant

once again/more : for another time : one more time : AGAIN • Let me explain the problem once again. • Once again, you've ignored my instructions. • Could I hear the question once more?

once and for all : now and for the last time • Let's settle this problem once and for all. • Winning its fourth straight championship game, the team proved once and for all that they are the best. • I'm asking you once and for all. • Please, once and for all, stop worrying.

once bitten, twice shy see ¹BITE

once in a blue moon see BLUE MOON

once in a while : sometimes but not often : OCCASIONALLY • We spend most of our time at home and go out once in a while. • Every once in a while, we have wine with dinner.

once upon a time : at some time in the past • He was a famous actor once upon a time. ♦ Once upon a time is the traditional way to begin a fairy tale. • Once upon a time, there was a beautiful princess named Snow White.

²once noun [noncount] : one single time • I have tried Indian food more than once. • Please be on time just this once. • For once you seem to know what I'm talking about.

at once 1 : at the same time • two people talking at once • The book is at once [=both] funny and sad. • She had several projects going on all at once. 2 : right away : without delay : IMMEDIATELY • We need to leave at once. • You can call the office and get advice at once.

³once conj : at the moment when : as soon as • Things got better once he found a job. = Once he found a job, things got better. • Once she spoke, I recognized her.

once-over /wʌns'əʊvə/ noun [singular] : a quick look or examination • The paper got a once-over before he turned it in. • I saw him giving me a/the once-over. [=I saw him looking at me] on-col-o-gy /an'kɑ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] medical : the study and treatment of cancer and tumors — on-col-o-gist /an'kɑ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] • He is studying to be an oncologist.

on-com-ing /'ɑ:n,kʌmɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun : coming closer to you : coming toward you • an oncoming car • the oncoming traffic on-demand adj, always used before a noun : available when needed or wanted • My cable company offers on-demand service/movies. — see also on demand at ¹DEMAND

¹one /'wʌn/ noun, pl ones

1 [count] : the number 1 • one, two, three, four, ...

2 [count] US : a one-dollar bill • I don't have any ones. Can you break a five?

3 [noncount] : one o'clock • I'll be there at one.

4 [count] : the first in a set or series • On day one of his diet, he cut out sweets. • She wears a size one.

as one formal 1 : at the same time : all together • They rose as one and cheered her. 2 : in agreement with each other • We are as one on this issue.

at one with 1 : in a peaceful state as a part of something else • I feel at one with nature. [=I feel very closely connected to nature] 2 formal : in a state of agreement with another person • I am at one with you on this issue.

for one : as an example • I, for one, disagree. [=I disagree] • There were many spelling mistakes in the essay. "There" for "their," for one.

in one : combined in a single thing • a dictionary and thesaurus (all) in one • a DVD and VCR player in one

the odd one out see ¹ODD

²one pronoun

1 : that person or thing • "I'll have an iced tea, please." "I'll have one, too." • Their dog died, but they plan to get another one. • "You should wear the blue one." "The one with the stripes?" "No, the other one." • I'd like to see the ring next to that one. • Which one did you like better? • He is the one who called the police. • Have you heard the one about [=the joke about] the priest and the rabbi? • That's one possible answer—but not the only one. • He had one too many at the bar last night. [=he had too many alcoholic drinks at the bar] ✧ This sense of one can be used in the plural form ones. • The ones on the team who are most successful practice every day. • Those batteries are the ones that still work.

2 : someone or something that is a part of a particular group — + of • I met one of your friends at the party. • She is one of the best players on the team. • One of the puppies has a brown patch around its eye. • He'll come back one of these days. [=someday] • Don't worry—he's one of us. [=he is part of our group and can be trusted]

3 a somewhat formal : people in general : any person • One never knows [=more commonly] you never know] what the weather will be. • It is now possible to buy just about anything from the privacy of one's [=more commonly] your] own home. b Brit, old-fashioned : I or we • I would like to read more, but one doesn't have the time.

one after another see ²ANOTHER

one and all old-fashioned : EVERYONE • Merry Christmas to one and all.

one by one : separately in a series • The performers took the stage one by one.

one in a million see MILLION

there's one born every minute see BORN

— see also NO ONE

³one adj

1 always used before a noun : having the value of 1 • There is one minute left in the game. • I have a few one-dollar bills in my purse. • She is one year old.

2 always used before a noun — used to refer to a single person or thing • There is one cookie left. • Let's take it one day at a time. [=let's not think or plan too far ahead] • My one [=only, sole] concern is for your safety. • We need to keep all the tools in one [=the same] place. • He was the one (and only) person she wanted to marry. • He caught the ball one-handed. • a one-parent [=single-parent] family • There is only/just one more thing to do. • I could not solve one or two [=a few] problems on the test. • Not one person knew the answer. [=no one knew the answer]

3 a — used before a noun to indicate that someone or something is part of a group of similar people or things • She is one singer who I would like to see in concert. • early one morning • The Grand Canyon is one place I'd like to visit. • That's one possible solution. • I don't like being around him. For one thing, he smokes. • The one thing I hate most is being lied to. • It's one thing to understand the problem, but another thing to actually fix it. b chiefly US, informal — used to emphasize a description • She is one tough lady. [=she's a tough lady] • That is one ugly dog. • That was one great party.

4 always used before a noun : not known exactly : SOME • I'll see you again one day soon. • He'll come back one day. • At one time or another/other, the building was a school.

5 — used to indicate that two or more people or things are actually the same person or are the same kind of thing • The writer and her main character are one. • "Puma" and "cougar" are different names for one animal. • The writer and her main character are one and the same.

6 formal — used before a name to indicate that you do not know the person specified • One Ms. Jones called this morning. [=a woman named Ms. Jones called this morning]

7 not used before a noun : in agreement with each other • You and I are one on this issue.

the one and only — used before the name of a famous person to say that there is no one else like that person • the one and only Elvis Presley

one another pronoun : each of two or more people, animals, etc., who are doing something together or in relationship to the other or others in the group • We shared our thoughts with one another. [=each other]

one-armed bandit /ˈwʌnˈɑːmd-/ noun, pl ~ -dits [count] informal : SLOT MACHINE

one-dimensional adj, disapproving : simple and uninteresting • The novel's characters were one-dimensional.

one-handed /ˈwʌnˈhændəd/ adj : done using only one hand • a one-handed catch

— one-handed adv • She caught the ball one-handed.

one-hit wonder noun, pl ~ -ders [count] : a performer, group, etc., that is popular or successful only once for a brief time • She was a one-hit wonder. [=she had only one hit song, movie, etc.]

one-horse /ˈwʌnˈhɔːs/ adj, always used before a noun

1 informal : small and dull • He grew up in a little one-horse town.

2 : pulled by one horse • a one-horse wagon/buggy one-lin-er /ˌwʌnˈlaɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a very short joke or funny remark

one-man adj, always used before a noun

1 : done, performed, or controlled by one person • a one-man job/show/play/business • This is strictly a one-man operation.

2 : designed for one person • a one-man kayak/tent

one-man band noun, pl ~ bands [count]

1 : a musician who plays several instruments at the same time

2 : a person who is responsible for or does several tasks alone • Our receptionist is a one-man band.

one-ness /ˈwʌnnəs/ noun [singular] : the state of being completely united with or a part of someone or something — usually + with • I felt a sense of oneness with nature. • a feeling of spiritual oneness with others

one-night stand noun, pl ~ stands [count]

1 : a situation in which you have sex with someone once and you do not continue in a relationship afterwards • I really hope this wasn't just a one-night stand; also : one of the people involved in this situation • She was a one-night stand. I haven't seen her since.

2 : a performance of a play, concert, etc., that is given only once in a particular place one-note /ˈwʌnˈnoʊt/ adj, always used before a noun : boring because it does not change • Critics disliked his one-note performance as the movie's villain.

one-off /ˌwʌnˈɔːf/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly Brit : done or happening only once • one-off gigs/events • a one-off cost/payment

— one-off noun, pl -offs [count] • The event is a one-off.

one-on-one /ˌwʌnənˈwʌn/ adj : involving two people who are dealing with or competing against each other directly • a one-on-one meeting/discussion • a one-on-one defense/competition • one-on-one tutoring

— one-on-one adv • I'd like to talk with you one-on-one. • They will compete one-on-one for the championship.

one-piece adj, always used before a noun : consisting of a single piece • a one-piece bathing suit

— one-piece noun, pl -pieces [count] • She prefers one-pieces to bikinis.

onerous /ˈɑːnərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : difficult and unpleasant to do or deal with • an onerous chore/duty/task • The government imposed onerous taxes on imports.

one-self /ˌwʌnˈself/ pronoun, formal

1 — used as the object of a verb or preposition when one is the stated subject or is understood to be the subject • One can easily teach oneself how to sew. • It is not wrong to congratulate oneself. • when one discovers how different others are from oneself • One usually associates with people of the same age as oneself. • It is important to have good feelings about oneself.

2 — used for emphasis to refer again to the subject when one is the subject • If one does not have the information one-self, one can ask others.

one-shot /ˈwʌnˌʃɑːt/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US, informal : done or happening only once • a one-shot tax cut • a one-shot offer/deal

— one-shot noun, pl -shots [count] • These tax cuts are strictly one-shots.

one-sid-ed /ˈwʌnˈsaɪdəd/ adj

1 disapproving : showing only one opinion or point of view • Their interpretation of the study's results seems one-sided. • His book presents a somewhat one-sided [=biased] view of the issue.

2 : led or controlled by one of the two people or groups involved • Our conversation was very one-sided: Mom talked, and I listened. • The game has been one-sided so far with the home team winning six to nothing.

— one-sid-ed-ness noun [noncount] • The one-sidedness of the game made it very boring.

one-stop /ˈwʌnˈstɒp/ adj, always used before a noun : providing or offering many different types of goods or services at one location • a one-stop shop for office furniture and supplies • one-stop shopping

one-time /'wʌn'taɪm/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : having been someone or something specified in the past

: FORMER • a onetime actor now turned singer

2 : done or happening only once • a onetime offer/deal

one-to-one /,wʌntə'wʌn/ adj

1 : involving two people who are dealing with each other directly • We had a one-to-one meeting.

2 formal : perfectly matching one thing in a group to another thing in another group • There was a one-to-one correspondence between the number of times the bell rang and the number of times the dog barked.

— one-to-one adv • a mentor who advises one-to-one and in groups

one-track adj, always used before a noun : continuously thinking about only one particular subject • You've got a one-track mind

one-trick pony noun, pl ~ ponies [count] chiefly US, informal

1 : someone or something that is skilled in only one area • As a knitter, I'm a one-trick pony: I can only knit scarves.

2 : someone or something that has success only once • a musician who was a one-trick pony and then faded away

one-two /'wʌn'tu:/ noun [singular] : a combination of two quick punches in boxing • He knocked him out with the old one-two (punch/combo). — often used figuratively to describe two bad things that happen very close together or at the same time • Yesterday's earthquakes dealt the city a one-two punch one up adj, not used before a noun, informal : having an advantage over someone : in a position that is better than someone else's position — usually + on • He's a good artist, which puts him one up on most of his classmates. • You're one up on me.

one-up /,wʌn'ʌp/ verb -ups; -upped; -up-ping [+ obj] US, informal : to get an advantage over (someone) • They're always trying to one-up each other by buying the latest gadgets.

one-up-man-ship /,wʌn'ʌpmənʃɪp/ noun [noncount] : behavior in which someone tries to get an advantage by doing, saying, or having better things than someone else • a round of verbal one-upmanship

one-way adj

1 a : moving in or allowing movement in only one direction

• one-way traffic • a one-way street/valve • This street is just one-way. — compare TWO-WAY, THREE-WAY b US : allowing travel to a place but not back from the place • a one-way [= (Brit) single] ticket/fare/trip — compare ROUND TRIP

2 : able to receive signals but not to send signals • a one-way radio — compare TWO-WAY

3 : controlled by one of the two people who are involved • a one-way [= one-sided] conversation • a one-way relationship — compare TWO-WAY, THREE-WAY

one-way mirror noun, pl ~ -rors [count] : a piece of glass that is a mirror on one side but that you can see through like a window from the other side — called also two-way mirror

one-woman adj, always used before a noun : done, performed, or controlled by one woman • a one-woman job/show/play/business on-going /'ɒːnˌɡoʊɪŋ/ adj : continuing to exist, happen, or progress : continuing without reaching an end • The investigation is ongoing. • the ongoing events at the school • ongoing efforts/research to find a cure for the disease • an ongoing problem • There is an ongoing debate over the issue.

on-ion /'ʌnjən/ noun, pl -ions : a round vegetable that is usually white, yellow, or red and has a strong smell and taste [count] The recipe calls for chopped onions. • He is growing onions in the garden this year. [noncount] The recipe calls for chopped onion. — see color picture on page C4; see also GREEN ONION onion ring noun, pl ~ rings [count] : a ring of sliced onion that is covered with batter or bread crumbs and fried

on-line /'ɒːnˌlaɪn/ adj

1 : connected to a computer, a computer network, or the Internet • an online printer • The city libraries are all online.

2 : done over the Internet • He likes to engage in online chats/discussions. • online shopping/banking • the company's online sales — opposite OFF-LINE — online adv • people who shop/chat online • I went online to do a search for information about new cars. • She spends a lot of her free time online.

on-look-er /'ɒːnˌlʊkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who watches an activity or event without being involved in it •

Curious onlookers watched the ceremony. • An onlooker noticed the disturbance. • A crowd of onlookers gathered at the fire.

on-ly /'əʊnli/ adj, always used before a noun : alone in a class or category : existing with no other or others of the same kind — usually used with the or a possessive (such as my, her, its, their, John's, etc.) • He's the only [= one] man I've ever loved. • They were the only people to survive the crash. • You're not the only one who's worried about the future. [= other people are also worried about the future] • You're the only person I trust. • my only true friend • He was her only brother. • What a shame, your party is on the only day I can't come! • Mondays are Kim's only days off from work. • This is the only cleaning product you'll ever need! • Keeping you safe is our only [= sole] concern. • That was the only reason I didn't take the job. • The only way out is through that window. • It's the only possible answer. = It's the only answer possible. • The only thing left for us to do is wait. [= there is nothing else we can do but wait] • (informally) I can probably come Friday. The only thing [= the one problem] is that my car is in the shop. • It's the first and only drug of its kind. — see also ONLY CHILD, the one and only at ³ONE

one of the only : one of very few : one in a small class or category • That was one of the only times I ever saw my father cry. • This is one of the only places in the world where the plant is found.

the only — used to emphasize that a particular person or thing should be the one chosen; usually + for • This is the only book for serious collectors. • She's the only person for the job.

only adv

1 a : no more than • They lost only [= just, merely] one game this season. • I've met him only once. = I've only met him once. • She had been there only twice in her life. • We have only five minutes to get there. = We only have five minutes to get there. • There are only two more weeks until summer vacation. • It's only a matter of time before someone gets hurt. • Do you really have to leave? It's only eight o'clock. • He was only a baby when his father died. • Leave her alone. She's only a kid. • The building is only about 10 years old. • She plays several instruments including the guitar, violin, and piano, to name only [= but] a few. • It was quiet in the room, but only for a moment. • She is only partly/partially to blame. b : nothing other than — used to indicate that a single thing was done, is needed, is possible, etc. • I asked him a question, but he only smiled in response. • I'm happy to help. You only have/need to ask. = (more formally) You have only to ask. = (more formally) You need only ask. [= I will gladly help you if you ask me to] • We can only guess/imagine/wonder [= we cannot know] what they will do next. • One can only hope for the best. [= there is nothing to do but hope for the best] c — used for emphasis • I only wish [= I wish very much] you'd told me sooner. • I only hope that the mistake will be corrected soon. • It's only natural [= it's normal/reasonable] (that) you would feel that way. — sometimes used in the phrase only just • We only just missed the bus. [= we missed it by a very small amount of time; we almost caught the bus] • Our trip had only just begun.

2 : excluding all others • The club is for women only. • The sign on the door says "Employees Only." • Only employees can use that door. : nobody or nothing except • I love only you and no one else. • She said only that she knew him. [= she said nothing other than that she knew him] • The storm destroyed the house leaving only a pile of rubble. • That sound can mean only one thing. = That sound can only mean one thing. • Only the strongest will survive. • Only the best fabric will do. [= I want nothing except the best fabric] • The restaurant serves only vegetarian cuisine. • For reasons known only to her/herself, she sold her house and left town.

3 a : in no time, place, or situation except the one specified • Violence should be used only as a last resort. = Violence should only be used as a last resort. • It should be used only when (it's) absolutely necessary. • Only then did I realize that I had made a mistake. • The animal is found only on the continent of Australia. • Only in America can such things happen! [= such things cannot happen anywhere but in America] • The drug is available only by prescription. = The drug is available by prescription only. • I'll go only if he goes with me. = (more strongly) I'll go if and only if he goes with me. • We made the change only after careful consideration of the consequences. b : for no other reason than • I came here only because she asked me to. • only for the sake of argument

4 : nothing more important or serious than • It was only [=just, merely] a minor accident. No one got hurt. • I'm fine. It's only a scratch. • "Who was that on the phone?" "Oh, it was only a salesperson." • I didn't hit him. I only touched him! • She didn't mean to insult you. She was only joking! • They were only following orders.

5 — used to emphasize that something happened recently • It happened only [=just] last week. • I saw her here only a moment ago. • Only in the last few years have we come to understand the condition. • It seems like only yesterday that you were a baby.

6 a — used to say that something has or will have a particular and usually bad result • You shouldn't eat that. It will only make you sick. • The large number of people who came to help only added to the confusion. b — used to indicate something bad or surprising that happens after something else; followed by to + verb • They won the battle, only to lose the war. [=they won the battle but lost the war] • I ran to the station only to find (that) I had missed the train.

for your eyes only see ¹EYE

if only see ¹IF

in name only see ¹NAME

not only — used to say that both of two related statements are true • Not only did they win, they won by a landslide. • The killing of these animals is not only illegal, it's also immoral. • The game is not only lots of fun, it's educational too! • Photographs are not only permitted, they are encouraged. • I'm concerned not only for myself, but for my children (as well). • She had the nerve to accuse me of lying. And not only that, but she refused to apologize! • The festivals take place not only in the city but also in the surrounding rural areas.

only have eyes for see ¹EYE

only too : very or completely • He knew only too well [=he knew very well] what it meant to go to war. • They were only too ready to give up and go home.

second only to see ¹SECOND

³*only* conj, informal : BUT, HOWEVER • I'd love to sing along, only I don't know the words. • They did have a radio, only it was broken. • We wanted to buy that painting, only it was far too expensive.

only child noun, pl ~ children [count] : a person who never had a brother or sister • I was an only child. • As an only child, it was her duty to take care of her aging parents.

on-off adj, always used before a noun

1 : used to turn something on and off • an on-off switch

2 : relating to something that is sometimes on and sometimes off • an on-off pattern on-o-mato-poe-ia /ˌɑːnəˌmætəˈpiːjə, ˌɑːnəˌmætəˈpiːjə/ noun [noncount] technical : the creation of words that imitate natural sounds • Buzz and hiss are examples of onomatopoeia.

— on-o-mato-poe-ic /ˌɑːnəˌmætəˈpiːjɪk, ˌɑːnəˌmætəˈpiːjɪk/ or on-o-mato-po-et-ic /ˌɑːnəˌmætəˈpouˈetɪk, ˌɑːnəˌmætəˈpouˈetɪk/ adj • onomatopoeic words on-ramp /ˌɑːnˌræmp/ noun, pl -ramps [count] US : a short road that is used for driving onto a highway — called also (Brit) slip road; compare OFF-RAMP

on-rush /ˌɑːnˌrʌʃ/ noun [singular]

1 : a strong, fast movement forward — usually + of • an on-rush of water/traffic

2 : a sudden development or appearance of something — usually + of • the onrush of new technologies • an onrush of tears/memories

— on-rush-ing /ˌɑːnˌrʌʃɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun • an onrushing train/tide • onrushing events

on-screen /ˌɑːnˌskriːn/ adv

1 : in a movie or television program • They play newlyweds on-screen, but in real life they've been married 10 years.

2 : on a computer, television, or movie screen • The images appear on-screen. • Edit the text on-screen. • She's only on-screen for a few seconds in this movie.

— on-screen adj • the on-screen action (of the movie) • the actor's on-screen family • an on-screen display on-set /ˌɑːnˌset/ noun [singular] : the beginning of something • the disease's sudden onset — usually + of • the onset of winter • the onset of the disease/war

on-shore /ˌɑːnˌʃɔː/ adj

1 : moving from an ocean, lake, etc., toward land • onshore winds

2 : on land • an onshore oil field

— on-shore /ˌɑːnˌʃɔː/ adv • The winds are blowing onshore.

on-side /ˌɑːnˌsaɪd/ adv, sports : in a position in which you are allowed to play or receive the ball or puck : not offside • He stepped back onside.

— onside adj • He was onside. • (American football) an on-side kick [=a kick that goes only a short distance so that the team making the kick can try to get the ball instead of having it go to the other team] on-site /ˌɑːnˌsaɪt/ adv : at the place where a business or activity happens • Production is all done on-site.

— on-site adj, always used before a noun • on-site parking on-slaught /ˌɑːnˌslɔːt/ noun, pl -slaughts [count] : a violent attack • an onslaught by the enemy — often used figuratively • The article recommends several things you can do to prevent the onslaught of the disease. • Employers are expecting an onslaught of recent college graduates [=a very large number of recent college graduates] looking for jobs.

on-stage /ˌɑːnˌsteɪdʒ/ adv : on or onto a stage and in front of an audience • She walked onstage. • go onstage

— onstage adj • a great onstage performance on-the-job adj, always used before a noun : received, learned, or done while working at a job • on-the-job training/experience/accidents

on-to /ˌɑːntu/ prep

1 : to a position that is on (something, such as a surface, area, or object) • We climbed onto the building's roof. • The book fell onto the floor. • The water spilled onto the floor. • The cowboy leaped onto his horse. • Transfer the data onto a disk. • Turn left onto Third Street at the traffic light. — often used figuratively • Don't try to shift the blame onto me. [=don't try to blame me instead of the person who should be blamed]

2 : in a direction that allows you to get to or see (something) • The door opens onto a balcony. [=when you go through the door you are on a balcony] • The dining hall opens onto a courtyard. [=you can enter the courtyard from the dining hall] • The bedroom window looks (out) onto the bay.

3 a — used to say that someone knows about what someone is doing or has done • The police are onto them. [=the police know what they did or are doing] b — used to say that someone is becoming aware of or is finding something • Scientists believe they are onto something big. [=scientists believe they are close to making an important discovery] • When the crowd responded to the show so positively, we realized we were onto something. [=we had done/discovered something important, special, etc.]

4 chiefly Brit : in the process of talking to (someone) usually to tell or ask something • My parents are onto me again about getting a job.

onus /ˈoʊnəs/ noun [singular] formal : the responsibility for something — usually used with the • The onus is on parents to teach their children not to use drugs.

¹*on-ward* (chiefly US) /ˌɑːnwəd/ or chiefly Brit on-wards /ˌɑːnwədz/ adv : to or toward what is ahead in space or time • The troops kept moving onward. [=forward] • They have lived in that house from 1983 onward.

onward and upward or onwards and upwards : toward a better condition or higher level • Technology has been steadily moving onward and upward. • He is moving onward and upward in his business career.

²*onward* adj, always used before a noun : moving toward the future or toward a more advanced state or condition • the onward [=forward] march of time on-yx /ˌɑːnɪks/ noun [noncount] : a kind of stone that has straight lines of usually white and black or white and brown and that is used especially in jewelry — see color picture on page C11 oo-dles /ˈuːdlz/ noun [plural] informal : a large amount of something • She has oodles of money.

¹*ooh* /ˈuː/ interj — used to express pleasure, surprise, or both pleasure and surprise • Ooh, that feels good. • Ooh, those flowers are beautiful!

²*ooh* verb oohs; oohed; ooh-ing [no obj] informal : to express pleasure, surprise, or both pleasure and surprise — used in the phrase ooh and aah • Everyone in the crowd was oohing and aahing at/over the fireworks.

— ooh noun, pl oohs [count] • Oohs and aahs could be heard from the crowd.

oomph /ˈʊmf/ noun [noncount] informal

1 : a quality that makes something attractive or appealing • This sauce needs more oomph. [=kick] • The plot of the story lacks oomph.

2 : power or energy • His argument lacks oomph. • The truck doesn't have the oomph to haul the boat.

oops /'ups/ interj — used to express surprise or distress or to say in a mild way that you are sorry about having done or said something wrong • Oops [=whoops, woops], I spilled a little milk. • Oops, I didn't mean to do that.

¹ooze /'u:z/ verb ooz-es; oozed; ooz-ing

1 a [no obj] : to flow out slowly • Sap oozed from the tree. • Juice oozed out of the plum. • The cut on her finger was oozing with blood. b [+ obj] : to have (something) flow out slowly • The tree was oozing sap. • The cut on her finger was oozing blood.

2 : to show (a quality, emotion, etc.) very clearly or strongly [+ obj] She oozes confidence. [=she has a lot of confidence] [no obj] — usually + with • His letter oozed with sympathy.

²ooze noun [singular] : a slow flow of something (such as blood) • A bandage will stop the ooze from that cut. — compare ³OOZE

³ooze noun [noncount] : soft mud or slime (such as on the bottom of a lake) • The turtle buried itself in the ooze. — compare ²OOZE

¹op /'ɑ:p/ noun, pl ops [count]

1 Brit, informal : a medical operation • I have my op tomorrow. — see also POST-OP, PRE-OP

2 chiefly US : a set of planned actions for a particular purpose — usually plural • military ops [=operations]

²op abbr 1 operation; operative; operator 2 opportunity 3 opus

opac-i-ty /ou'pæsəti/ noun [noncount]

1 : the quality of a material that does not allow light to pass through it : the quality of being opaque • the opacity of the glass

2 formal : the quality of being difficult to understand or explain • Critics have noted the opacity of her writing style.

opal /'oupəl/ noun, pl opals [count, noncount] : a white or clear stone that reflects changing colors and that is used in jewelry — see color picture on page C11 opaque /ou'peik/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not letting light through : not transparent • opaque glass • the opaque water of the muddy river

2 : difficult to understand or explain • opaque writing/theories op-art /'ɑ:p'ɑ:t/ noun [noncount] : paintings, drawings, etc., made up of lines and shapes that are repeated and often placed in such a way that they look as though they are moving

OPEC /'ou,pek/ abbr Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries

op-ed /'ɑ:p'ed/ noun, pl -eds [count] US : an essay in a newspaper or magazine that gives the opinion of the writer and that is written by someone who is not employed by the newspaper or magazine • She wrote an op-ed for the Wall Street Journal. — usually used before another noun • an op-ed article/piece/writer

¹open /'oupən/ adj open-er; open-est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : not closed: such as a : not covering an opening • an open gate/window • The door suddenly swung/flew open. • You left the blinds wide open. b : having an opening that is not covered • an open doorway • an open box/container • The meat was roasted over an open fire. • I was so tired that I couldn't keep my eyes open. • Don't chew with your mouth open. • open cuts/wounds [=cuts/wounds not covered by skin] • staring with her eyes/mouth wide open

2 : not sealed or locked • open bottles of wine • There's already an open jar of pickles in the refrigerator. • an open envelope • Go on in. The house/door is open. [=it is not locked]

3 : allowing movement or travel : not blocked • They kept the road open throughout the winter. • an open passageway

4 : able to be entered and used by customers, visitors, etc. • The new store is now open for business! • The store is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturdays. • The library will not be open on Labor Day. • The diner is open daily [=it is open every day] for breakfast. • It's hard to find an open restaurant this time of night. • We fought to keep the school open—but it closed anyway.

5 : having parts that are spread apart instead of folded together or attached • an open umbrella • Several of the pink roses are open this morning. • The book was left open at/to page 42. • Your zipper is open. • His shirt was open [=was not buttoned] at the neck/collar. • your open hands • She ran toward me with her arms wide open. [=with her arms held away from her body so that she could embrace me] • They'll welcome you with open arms. [=in a very kind and friendly way]

6 a : not containing or surrounded by walls, fences, buildings, etc. • the wide open spaces of the American West • fish caught in the open ocean [=an area of ocean that is far from land] • He hung his clothes out to dry in the open air. [=outside] • traveling on the open road [=on roads that are away from cities and towns] • Miles and miles of open country [=land with few buildings] lie beyond the town. b of a building or room : having few walls • The house has an open floor plan. • a bright, open kitchen

7 a : including or allowing a particular group of people — usually + to • The contest is open to children between the ages of 8 and 13. • The beach is open to residents only. • The university library is also open to the public. • The after-school program is open to anyone who needs extra academic help. b : including or allowing all people • a meeting that allowed for open debate on the issue • The town soccer program will hold open registration [=a time when people can register to participate] from now until September 21. • an open golf tournament [=a golf tournament for both amateur and professional players]

8 a : available to be used • I haven't decided to take the job yet. I'm keeping my options open. • He gave us an open invitation to come and visit. [=he said we could visit any time we wanted] • Leaving your car running with the keys inside is an open invitation to thieves. — often + to • It's the only course open to us. • Few career paths were open to women then. b of a job, position, etc. : not yet taken : available for someone to take or fill • The job/position is still open. [=vacant] • She's running for one of two open seats on the committee.

9 : happening or done in public so that people can participate or know what is being said or done • The committee is holding open hearings on the issue. • open sessions/meetings • He testified in open court. [=in a court that anyone is allowed to attend]

10 : not hidden or secret • He is now facing open [=undisguised, overt] hostility from members of his own political party. • They're in open disagreement about what should be done next. • She speaks of the government with open disdain. • his open affection for his wife • open warfare

11 : expressing thoughts and feelings in a direct and honest way • Be open [=candid, frank] with each other about your feelings. • She encourages open communication between family members. • an open discussion about religion

12 : willing to listen to or accept different ideas or opinions • a free and open society • We have one of the best systems in the country, but we're always open to suggestions. • I know it's different, but try to keep an open mind. • She spoke to them with an open mind and an open heart.

13 a : not having ended : not yet finished or decided • The case remains open to this day. [=it has not been solved] • We can't talk about the case. It's still an open investigation. [=the police are still investigating the case] • The mayoral race is still wide open. [=any of the candidates could still win]

b : allowing further comments or discussion • It's still an open question whether or not you may go. • The question is still open. • "Should we set a date for the next meeting?" "No, let's leave it open for now." • The issue is not open for discussion. [=we will not discuss the issue] — see also open to debate at ¹DEBATE

14 : able to be criticized, harmed, doubted, etc. — usually + to • He lays/makes himself open [=subject, liable] to criticism with his foolish remarks. • She argues that the current law is open to abuse [=the law can be abused] and should be changed. • It's open to doubt whether she will run for governor. • The author's exact meaning is open to question. [=no one knows exactly what the author means]

15 sports : not blocked or guarded by players from the other team • She threw the ball to an open teammate. • I'm open! Pass me the ball!

16 computers — used to describe a file, document, etc., that is being used • You should close any open programs/documents before you reboot your computer.

17 — used to describe a microphone that is turned on • He didn't realize that the microphone was open. • Her comments were heard over an open microphone.

18 of fabric : having large openings or spaces between threads • an open mesh/texture fabric • an open weave wool sweater

keep your eyes open see ¹EYE

with your/both eyes open see ¹EYE

²open verb opens; opened; open-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to move (a door, window, etc.) so that an opening is no longer covered • This door is hard to open. • “Open the door!” shouted the police officer. • Would you mind if I opened a window? • Let’s open (up) the curtains and let in some sunlight. b [no obj] : to move and no longer cover an opening • The car door opened and a beautiful woman stepped out. • The door opened and closed so quietly that I didn’t notice he had come in the room. • This drawer is stuck. It just won’t open! ♦ The opposite of open is close in every sense except sense 10.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to no longer be covered, sealed, or blocked • It’s time to open (up) your birthday presents! • open a can/box/jar • She comes home, turns on the TV, and starts opening her mail. • The janitor opens the building [=unlocks the doors of the building] at 7 o’clock. • The city only opened (up) this street to cars five years ago.

3 : to separate the parts or edges of something [+ obj] Open (up) your books to page 27. • She opened her eyes and smiled at me. • I opened my umbrella and stepped out into the rain. • “Open your mouth wide for me,” said the dentist. • You haven’t opened your mouth [=you have not said anything] since you’ve been here. [no obj] “Open wide,” said the dentist. • His eyes opened slowly. • I can’t get this suitcase to open. • The roses are starting to open (up).

4 : to make a hole or opening in (something) [+ obj] The surgery requires opening (up) the patient’s chest. [no obj] The heavens opened [=it began to rain] and the rain poured down. = The heavens opened up and the rain poured down.

5 : to allow (a park, road, etc.) to be used [+ obj] The town opened the road again 10 days after the flood. • They’ve finally opened the bridge (up) to traffic again. [=allowed cars to use the bridge again] [no obj] The park opens every morning at dawn.

6 a : to begin the regular services or activities of (a business, school, etc.) [+ obj] We’ll be opening (up) the café an hour early tomorrow morning. [no obj] The café will be opening (up) an hour early tomorrow morning. • What time does the library open? • The store opens at 9 a.m. on Saturdays. b : to begin the activities or services of (a business, school, etc.) for the first time [+ obj] I’ve always dreamed of opening (up) a restaurant. • a newly opened elementary school [no obj] They’re building a drugstore, which is scheduled to open in May. • We opened for business in 1955. • The play opens [=begins being performed] next week. • The film/movie opens [=begins being shown in movie theaters] nationwide later this month.

7 : to begin (something) [+ obj] The police have opened an inquiry/investigation into the matter. = The police have opened (up) an inquiry/investigation into the matter. • We plan to open negotiations with the other side. • a way of opening debate/discussion on the issue • Let’s open the bidding for this beautiful painting at $2,000. • Her most famous poem opens the new collection. [=it is the first poem in the new collection] • He always opens his speeches with a joke. • It’s traditional to open baseball games with the national anthem. • She opened the meeting by thanking everyone for coming. [no obj] The song opens with a single voice singing a haunting melody. • The novel opens (up) with a description of a small apartment. • He always opens with a joke.

8 [+ obj] : to begin keeping money in (an account at a bank) • I opened (up) a new savings account at a different bank.

9 [+ obj] computers : to begin to use (a file, document, or program) on a computer • opening (up) a new document/file • Open the program by double-clicking on the icon.

10 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to allow movement or passage through a doorway or other opening • The hallway opens (up) into a large family room. • A porch opens off the kitchen. = The kitchen opens onto a porch. — often + out • Their bedroom opens out onto the backyard.

11 [no obj] : to have a specified price or be at a specified level at the beginning of the day • The stock opened at $19 a share and closed at $22. • Stocks opened weak but closed strong.

open doors for : to give special opportunities to (someone) • Being the daughter of the famous actor opened doors for her in Hollywood.

open fire : to begin shooting • A man opened fire in a crowded mall. • The soldiers opened fire on [=began shooting at] enemy troops.

open for [phrasal verb] open for (someone or something) : to perform before (the main performer at a concert, show, etc.) • One of my favorite comedians is opening for the band on their current tour.

open out [phrasal verb] Brit : to become less shy and speak more freely • He began to open out [=open up] about an hour into our date. — see also ²OPEN 10 (above) open someone’s eyes see ¹EYE

open the door or open the way : to make (something) easier or more likely to happen — often + for or to • Her success opened the door for thousands of young women who wanted to play sports. • The court ruling opened the way for similar cases. • His experiences in the army opened the door to a career in politics. • It has opened the way to real progress.

open to [phrasal verb] 1 open (something) to (someone or something) : to allow (a particular group of people) to enter, use, or participate in (something) • He opens his home to anyone who needs a place to stay. • This year, we’ve opened the contest to all children under the age of 16. • They decided to open the meeting to the general public. 2 open (someone or something) to (something) : to cause or allow (someone or something) to be affected by (something bad, such as criticism) • Their actions have opened the government to charges of corruption. • By being secretive about her past, she opens herself (up) to political attacks. [=she makes herself open to political attacks]

open up [phrasal verb] 1 : to become less shy and speak more freely • She tried to get the patient to open up to her about his problems. • He finally began opening up to her. 2 : to begin shooting • The ships opened up with heavy gunfire. • The enemy opened up [=opened fire] on us with automatic rifles. 3 — used to demand that someone who is inside a room, building, etc., let you in • This is the police! Open up! 4 open up or open up (something) or open (something) up a : to become or cause (something) to become available or possible • It seemed that the whole world was opening up for me. [=it seemed that anything was possible] • Once he had his degree, many new opportunities opened up for him. • This discovery opens up the possibility of new research. • The government opened up the land for settlement. • People opened up their homes to those affected by the tragedy. [=they invited those affected by the tragedy to stay in their homes] b : to become or cause (something) to become wider or less crowded • At the bottom of the hill, the forest/landscape opens up to reveal a beautiful valley. • It looks like the road/traffic opens up ahead. • a drug that opens up the blood vessels c : to develop or cause (something) to develop • A wide gap in the polls has opened up between the two candidates. • The team won after opening up a 20-point lead in the game. • This opens up an important question: why did it happen?

open your bowels see BOWEL

open your doors see DOOR

open your heart : to behave in a kind and generous way • We were asked to open our hearts and our wallets. [=we were asked to be generous and give money] — often + to • Please, open your hearts to these poor people. They desperately need your help.

open your mind : to become able to understand different ideas or ways of thinking • She encourages her students to open their minds and try to see things from new perspectives. — often + to • Traveling in Africa opened my mind to a completely different way of life. • Open your mind to the possibility that you both may be right.

— open-able /ˈoʊpənəbəl/ adj • an openable window

³open noun, pl opens

1 [count] : a competition (such as a major golf tournament or tennis tournament) that allows both professionals and amateurs to participate — usually used in names • She lost at Wimbledon but won the French Open. • a golfer who has played in several U.S. Opens

2 the open a : an area or place without walls, barriers, etc. : an area or place that is not covered or enclosed — used in the phrase (out) in/into the open • We slept out in the open with nothing above us but the stars. • We would look for deer feeding in the open [=away from the forest] at dusk. • food left out in the open [=uncovered and not put away] b : a situation in which something (such as a feeling) is no longer hidden or kept secret — used in the phrase (out) in/into the open • Her true feelings were finally in the open. • He rarely fought his political battles in the open. [=he usually fought them in a secretive way] • Let’s get everything out in the open. You’ve been lying to me, haven’t you?

open admission noun [noncount] US : OPEN ENROLLMENT

open adoption noun, pl ~ -tions [count] chiefly US : an adoption in which the people who become the legal parents of a child meet the child's biological parents

open-air adj : located outside rather than inside a building
• We visited an open-air [=outdoor] market in the center of the city. • open-air restaurants open-and-shut adj : able to be settled or decided very quickly and easily • Her first assignment as a lawyer was an open-and-shut case involving a drunk driver.

open bar noun, pl ~ bars [count] US : a counter at a party or other gathering where alcoholic drinks are served for free
• They had a buffet and an open bar at the reception.

open-cast /'oupən,kæst, Brit 'əupən,kɑ:st/ adj, Brit : involving the removal of the surface of a large area of land to get at coal or other material that is near to the surface • an opencast mine

open day noun, pl ~ days [count] Brit : OPEN HOUSE 1

open-door adj

1 : allowing all people to enter or participate • open-door meetings • an open-door immigration policy

2 : allowing people to talk directly with the people who control a business, organization, etc. • an open-door environment • The school has an open-door policy with parents.

open-ended /,oupən'endəd/ adj

1 : able to change : not ending in a certain way or on a certain date • "Our military presence in the region," he said, "should not be open-ended." • open-ended plans

2 : allowing people to talk in a way that is not planned or controlled • an open-ended conversation/discussion • You have to ask open-ended questions if you don't want people to answer simply "yes" or "no."

open enrollment noun [noncount] chiefly US

1 : a policy or process by which parents may send their children to a different public school than the one in their own community • Many voters support open enrollment. • the city's open enrollment policy — called also open admission

2 : a period of time during which you can join something as a member or participant : a period of time during which you can enroll in something • Employees can sign up for new benefits during open enrollment. • an open enrollment period

open-er /'oupənə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a tool, device, or machine that is used to open something • a bottle opener • a garage door opener — see also CAN OPENER, EYE-OPENER, LETTER OPENER

2 : the first game, performance, etc., in a series • This game will be the season opener [=the first game of the season] for both teams. • The album's opener is a slow love song. • the meal's delicious opener [=starter] for openers informal : as the first thing to be thought about or said : to begin with • She began by asking what we'd done with her money. And that was just for openers! • (chiefly US) "What didn't you like about my poem?" "Well, for openers [=for starters], I hated the title."

open-eyed /,oupən'aɪd/ adj : having eyes that are open or wide open • They stared at her with open-eyed wonder. — sometimes used figuratively to describe dealing with, showing, or understanding something in a clear and honest way • The film is an open-eyed look at the costs of war.

— open-eyed adv • lying open-eyed in the dark open-faced sandwich also open-face sandwich noun, pl ~ -es [count] US : a piece of bread that is covered with meat, cheese, etc. : a sandwich made with no bread on top — called also (Brit) open sandwich

open-handed /,oupən'hændəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing the quality of being very generous • openhanded hospitality • Of all our contributors, she was the most openhanded. [=generous]

2 : done with the hand held open • an openhanded slap open-heart adj, always used before a noun, medical : done by stopping the heart from beating for a period of time, opening the heart, and repairing damage • open-heart surgery • open-heart procedures/operations

open-hearted adj [more ~; most ~] : kind and generous • an open-hearted young woman

open house noun, pl ~ houses

1 [count] US : an event in which an organization (such as a school or company) invites the public to visit in order to see the things that happen there • Westside High School will host an open house from 3 to 7 p.m. today, and all parents are invited to attend. • colleges holding open houses for prospective students — called also (Brit) open day

2 [count] US : an event in which anyone who is interested in buying a particular house, apartment, etc., is invited to go inside and look at it • We held an open house last week in the hopes that someone would offer to buy our house.

3 chiefly Brit : a home or other place in which guests or visitors are welcome [noncount] They kept open house, and in the evenings neighbors would stop by to talk or play music. [singular] They always kept an open house for visitors.

open-ing /'oupənɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [count] : a hole or empty space that you can go through • the opening of a cave • They squeezed through a narrow opening between the fence and an oak tree. • The enemy's troops poured through an opening in our defenses.

2 [count] : the first part of something : BEGINNING — usually singular • We missed the opening of her speech. • He injured himself two weeks after the opening of the season. • the opening of the school year • The story has a clever opening.

3 [count] : the first time that something happens • We attended the opening [=the first performance] of the play. • We went to the play's opening.

4 [count] : an event that is held in order to announce that something (such as a new store or public building) is ready to accept customers or visitors • Come help us celebrate the official opening of the library. • the opening of a new art exhibit — see also GRAND OPENING

5 [count] : a job or position that is available • We do have an opening for someone with your qualifications and experience. • We don't currently have any openings. • a job opening

6 [count] : a chance or opportunity to do or say something • She was waiting for an opening to tell her story. • I saw an opening and went for it.

7 [noncount] : the act of causing something to open or of becoming open • It has been 10 years since the opening of the café. • the opening of a bank account • the opening of the area for mining • the opening of diplomatic relations between the two countries • the opening (up) of the land to settlers

opening adj, always used before a noun

1 : first or beginning • It's the opening day of the fishing season. • the opening lines of the poem • the opening ceremonies of the Olympic Games • In her opening statement, she told the jury that her client was not guilty.

2 — used to describe the time when something is performed or shown for the first time • The movie made 10 million dollars in its opening weekend. • the play's opening night

opening hours noun [plural] chiefly Brit : the time during which a business or organization is open for customers or visitors • The store's opening hours [=business hours] are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

open letter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a letter that is published in a newspaper but that is addressed to a well-known person or to an organization • In an open letter to the company, a citizens' group implored company executives to reconsider their decision to close the factory.

open-ly /'oupənli/ adv [more ~; most ~] : in a direct and honest way : without hiding feelings or opinions • He openly acknowledged/admitted his mistake. • She spoke openly about her failed marriage. • Please feel free to express your opinions openly. • The governor has been openly critical of the President. • an openly gay politician [=a politician who does not hide the fact that he or she is gay]

open market noun [singular] : an economic market in which prices are based on competition among private businesses and not controlled by a government : FREE MARKET • How much is it worth on the open market? • bought/sold/traded on the open market

open marriage noun, pl ~ -riages [count] : a marriage in which both people agree to allow each other to have sex with other people

open mike noun, pl ~ mikes [count] : an event in which anyone may use a microphone to sing, read poetry, tell jokes, etc., for an audience • There's an open mike tonight at my favorite café. • an open mike night

open-minded /,oupən'maɪndəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : willing to consider different ideas or opinions • Try to be open-minded about the changes. • He's one of the most open-minded people I've ever met. — opposite CLOSED-MINDED — open-minded-ness noun [noncount]

open-mouthed /,oupən'maʊðd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having your mouth open usually because you are shocked or surprised • I stood there openmouthed, unable to believe what I was seeing.

open-necked adj, of a shirt : having the top button unfastened • wearing jeans and an open-necked shirt

open-ness /'oupənəs/ noun [noncount]

1 : the fact of not hiding your opinions, feelings, etc. • She has been criticized for her lack of openness with the public.

2 : the quality of being willing to consider different ideas or opinions • An openness to new ideas is essential in our work. • openness of mind

3 : the state of not being surrounded or covered • the openness of the desert/plains

open-pit adj, US : involving the removal of the surface of a large area of land to get at a mineral or other material that is near to the surface • an open-pit mine • open-pit mining open-plan adj, chiefly Brit : having or consisting of a large room that is not divided into smaller rooms or areas • an open-plan office

open prison noun, pl ~ -sons [count] Brit : a prison in which prisoners are allowed more freedom than in other prisons : a minimum security prison

open sandwich noun, pl ~ -es [count] Brit : OPEN-FACED SANDWICH

open season noun [noncount]

1 : a time of year when it is legal to kill certain fish or animals • open season for deer/bear

2 : a time when someone or something is being attacked or criticized by many people — often + on • It's always open season on politicians!

open secret noun, pl ~ -crets [count] : something that many people know about but that is supposed to be a secret • It's an open secret that he's been cheating on his wife.

open sesame noun [singular] : something that allows a person or thing to do or enter something successfully and easily • Perfect test scores are an open sesame to the best schools. ♦ Open sesame comes from the story Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, in which Ali Baba uses the magical command "open sesame" to open the door of the thieves' cave.

open-toed adj, of a shoe : not covering the toes or the tips of the toes • open-toed shoes/sandals open verdict noun, pl ~ -dicts [count] Brit, law : an official statement or decision saying that a crime has been committed but not naming a criminal or saying that there has been a death but not naming the cause of death open-work /'oupən,wæk/ noun [noncount] : decoration that consists of designs made with openings or holes • a potter who decorates her vases with openwork

— openwork adj, always used before a noun • openwork carvings/patterns • openwork fabrics such as lace opera /'ɑ:pərə/ noun, pl -eras

1 [noncount] : a kind of performance in which actors sing all or most of the words of a play with music performed by an orchestra • He is studying opera. • French opera — often used before another noun • an opera singer • opera fans — see also GRAND OPERA

2 : a show in which opera is performed [count] I am going to an opera tonight. • my favorite operas [noncount] I enjoy going to the opera. [=going to opera performances]

3 [count] : a group of actors who perform operas together — often used in names • the New York City Opera

— see also SOAP OPERA

— op-er-at-ic /,ɑ:pə'reɪtɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • an operatic singer/voice opera plural of OPUSop-er-a-ble /'ɑ:pərəbəl/ adj

1 formal : able to be used : capable of operating or of being operated • The subway system will be fully operable [=functional, operational] by next month. • The radio is operable without the car running. — opposite INOPERABLE 2

2 medical : able to be corrected or removed by surgery • an operable cancer — opposite INOPERABLE 1

opera glasses noun [plural] : small binoculars that are designed to be used in a theater op-er-a-go-er /'ɑ:pərəgowə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who frequently goes to operas opera house noun, pl ~ houses [count] : a theater where operas are performed op-er-ate /'ɑ:pə'reɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing

1 [no obj] : to function or behave in a proper or particular way • They hope to have the windmill operating again tomorrow. • The camera also operates underwater. • The machine can operate at high speeds. • We need someone who operates [=performs] well under pressure. • The drug operates [=more commonly] works quickly.

2 [+ obj] : to use and control (something) • instructions for operating the new microwave oven • a license to operate a motor vehicle • operate machinery — sometimes used in combination • a coin-operated washing machine [=a washing machine that you must put coins into in order to use] • voice-operated computer systems

3 a [+ obj] : to have control of (something, such as a business, department, program, etc.) • operating [=managing, running] a business • The café is owned and operated by a young couple. • The organization operates a recycling program. b [no obj] : to function as a business, group, etc. • It's the only casino operating in the state. • The mill has been operating [=more commonly] in operation for 100 years. • The company operates from Chicago. • soldiers operating overseas • a militant group operating against the government

4 [no obj] medical : to perform surgery • The doctors needed to operate immediately. — often + on • operate on a tumor/patient

operating adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the operation of something: such as a : relating to the way a machine, vehicle, device, etc., functions or is used and controlled • operating speed/conditions/controls. b : relating to the way a business, department, program, etc., functions or is controlled • operating costs/expenses operating room noun, pl ~ rooms [count] US : a room in a hospital where operations are done — called also (Brit) operating theatre

operating system noun, pl ~ -tems [count] computers : the main program in a computer that controls the way the computer works and makes it possible for other programs to function operating table noun, pl ~ tables [count] : a special table in an operating room that a person lies on while having an operation operating theatre noun, pl ~ -atres [count] Brit : OPERATING ROOM

op-er-a-tion /,ɑ:pə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a process in which a doctor cuts into someone's body in order to repair or remove a damaged or diseased part • She is recovering from a major heart operation. [=she is recovering from major heart surgery] • a minor/routine operation • organ transplant operations

2 [count] a : a usually small business or organization • The family runs a small farming operation. • The company is a billion-dollar operation. b : an activity of a business or organization — usually plural • a company's banking operations • An independent company has been hired to review the hospital's operations.

3 [noncount] : the state of functioning or being used — used with in or into • The system is now in operation. • The mill has been in operation for over 100 years. • Safety goggles must be worn while the machine is in operation. [=in use] • The dam will go into operation next month.

4 [noncount] : the way something functions or is used • The camera's design allows for easy operation. • the quiet operation of the printer

5 [count] : a set of planned actions for a particular purpose • The city has launched an operation to clean up the neighborhood. • Ten arrests were made in an undercover operation. • a rescue operation • The military operation gave them control of the city. • peacekeeping operations

6 [count] : a single action performed by a computer • The computer can perform millions of operations per second.

7 [noncount] : the act of using and controlling something • He was arrested for unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle.

8 [count] mathematics : a mathematical process (such as addition or multiplication) that is used for getting one number or set of numbers from others according to a rule

op-er-a-tion-al /,ɑ:pə'reɪʃənəl/ adj

1 : ready for use : able to be used • The new airport should be fully operational by next year. • The computer network is now operational.

2 always used before a noun : of or relating to the operation of a business or machine • operational costs/performance

op-er-a-tive /'ɑ:pə'reɪtɪv/ adj

1 : ready for use : capable of being used • The factory must pass inspection before it becomes operative. • The telephone system is now fully operative. — opposite INOPERATIVE

2 : most important • If I go, I will bring a salad. "If," however, is the operative word, since I am not sure that I can go.

operative noun, pl -tives [count]

1 chiefly US : a person who does secret work for a government or political organization • political operatives [=spies] • CIA/FBI operatives [=agents]

2 : a person who does work that involves using tools, operating machinery, etc. • factory operatives • a skilled operative

op-er-a-tor /'ɑ:pə'reitə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : a person who uses and controls something (such as a machine, device, or business) : someone who operates something • a computer/crane operator • the operator of an automobile • the operator of a nuclear power plant

2 : a person whose job is to help to connect telephone calls : a person who is in charge of a telephone switchboard • Call the operator for the phone number. • Operator, please connect me with extension 123.

3 : a person who is able to easily achieve things especially by persuading people or by being dishonest • She's quite an operator—no one else could have gotten them all to agree to the project. • a smooth operator op-er-et-ta /'ɑ:pə'retə/ noun, pl -tas [count] : a usually short and funny opera that includes dancing oph-thal-mic /əf'θælmɪk/ adj, medical : of or relating to the eye • ophthalmic surgery/surgeons ophthalmic optician noun, pl ~ -cian [count] Brit : OPTOMETRIST

oph-thal-mol-o-gist /'ɑ:fθəl'mɑ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] medical : a doctor who studies and treats problems and diseases of the eye — compare OPTICIAN, OPTOMETRIST

oph-thal-mol-o-gy /'ɑ:fθəl'mɑ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] medical : the study of the structure, functions, and diseases of the eye

opi-ate /'oupijət/ noun, pl -ates [count]

1 : a drug (such as morphine or codeine) that is made from opium and that is used to reduce pain or cause sleep

2 disapproving : something that causes people to ignore problems and to relax instead of doing things that need to be done • Many see television as an opiate of/for the masses.

opine /ou'pain/ verb opines; opined; opin-ing formal : to express an opinion about something [+ obj] Many people opine that the content of Web pages should be better regulated. [no obj] You can opine about/on any subject you like.

opin-ion /ə'pinjən/ noun, pl -ions

1 : a belief, judgment, or way of thinking about something : what someone thinks about a particular thing [count] Why ask (for) my opinion if you have already decided? • I value your opinion. [=I respect the way you think about things] • We asked for their opinions about/on the new stadium. • In my opinion, it's the best car on the market. • Most of the people surveyed have a high/low opinion of the organization. [=most of the people surveyed think that the organization is good/bad] • She has enough knowledge of the system to offer an informed opinion [=an opinion based on information] of why it isn't working. • The meeting will give residents a chance to listen to some expert opinions. [=opinions of experts] [noncount] The owner of the store is often there to offer customers expert opinion. [=an expert's opinion] • Which one is better is a matter of opinion. [=people have different opinions about which one is better] • I'm glad that we can have a difference of opinion [=we can disagree] and still be friends. • The general opinion is that the players are paid too much. [=most people think that the players are paid too much] • The company has been unsuccessful in its efforts to sway/change public opinion. [=to change what most people think] • Contrary to popular opinion [=despite what many people think], fame does not always bring happiness.

2 [count] : advice from someone with special knowledge : advice from an expert • We're still seeking medical opinions [=advice from doctors] on the cause of the pain. • My doctor says I need surgery, but I'm going to get a second opinion. [=advice from a second doctor to make sure advice from the first doctor is correct]

3 [count] technical : a formal statement by a judge, court, etc., explaining the reasons a decision was made according to laws or rules • The article discusses two recent Supreme Court opinions.

be of the opinion : to have a specified opinion or belief • They are of the opinion [=they think/believe] that the accident was caused by faulty wiring.

the court of public/world opinion see ¹COURT

opin-ion-at-ed /ə'pinjənɪtəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] often disapproving : expressing strong beliefs or judgments about something : having or showing strong opinions • an articulate and opinionated critic • People don't expect such opin- ionated commentary in what is supposed to a news article.

opinion maker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person whose opinion influences the opinions of many other people — usually plural • bloggers, journalists, and other opinion makers opinion poll noun, pl ~ polls [count] : an activity in which many people are asked the same questions in order to find out what most people think about something • An opinion poll showed that he was favored to win the election.

opi-um /'oupijəm/ noun [noncount] : a powerful illegal drug that is made from a type of poppy opos-sum /ə'pɑ:səm/ noun, pl -sums also -sum [count] : a somewhat small white or gray animal that is usually active at night and that lives in North and South America and in Australia — called also possum

opossum

opp or opp. abbr opposite

op-po-nent /ə'pəʊnənt/ noun, pl -nents [count]

1 : a person, team, group, etc., that is competing against another in a contest • She is a formidable opponent in the race for senator. • The team's opponents have not lost a game this season. • He knocked out his opponent in the third round.

2 : a person, group, etc., that is against something (such as an action, law, or system) : someone or something that does not want something to exist, be done, etc. — often + of • opponents of the war • opponents of building a new baseball stadium • opponents of abortion/slavery/communism — opposite PROPONENT op-por-tune /'ɑ:pə'tu:n, Brit 'ɒpətju:n/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : suitable or right for a particular situation • She was waiting for an opportune [=appropriate] moment to ask for money. • There isn't a more opportune time to invest in the stock market. — opposite INOPPORTUNE

2 : done or happening at the right time • The book's publication is opportune. [=timely] — opposite INOPPORTUNE

op-por-tun-ist /'ɑ:pə'tu:nɪst, Brit 'ɒpətju:nɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] disapproving : someone who tries to get an advantage or something valuable from a situation without thinking about what is fair or right • Most burglars are opportunists. • a political opportunist who changed his health-care plan to win the election

— op-por-tun-ism /'ɑ:pə'tu:nɪzəm, Brit 'ɒpətju:nɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • The release of the movie so soon after the scandal is shameless opportunism. — op-por-tu-nis-tic /'ɑ:pə'tu:nɪstɪk, Brit 'ɒpətju'nɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • an opportunistic merger/investment/politician op-por-tu-ni-ty /'ɑ:pə'tu:nəti, Brit 'ɒpətju:nəti/ noun, pl -ties : an amount of time or a situation in which something can be done : CHANCE [count] You'll have an/the opportunity to ask questions after the presentation. • There were many missed opportunities (to score) throughout the game. • When the opportunity came for her to prove that she could do the job, she was ready. • I had the rare/unique opportunity of speaking to the president. • Studying abroad provides a great opportunity to learn a foreign language. • This sort of opportunity comes along once in a lifetime. = This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. • There are fewer job/employment opportunities this year for graduates. • This is a golden opportunity. [=an excellent chance to do or get something] • I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped me with this book. • He was given every opportunity to prove that he was trustworthy. • The dog ran away at every opportunity. [=whenever it was able to] • Please call us at your earliest opportunity. [=please call us as soon as you can] • We will correct the error at the first opportunity. [=as soon as we are able to] [noncount] There is plenty of opportunity for advancement within the company. • The contract provides us with a two-year window of opportunity. [=two years to do something that we want to do] • the land of opportunity [=a place where there are many opportunities; a place where people have many chances to succeed, achieve things, etc.] • You need to be ready when opportunity knocks. [=when you get the chance to do something you want to do] equal opportunity employer (US) or Brit equal opportuni- ties employer : an employer who does not discriminate against people because of their race, religion, etc.

op-pos-able /ə'pouzəbəl/ adj, technical : able to be placed against one or more of the other fingers or toes on the same hand or foot • Humans have an opposable thumb.

op-pose /ə'pouz/ verb -pos-es; -posed; -pos-ing [+ obj]

1 : to disagree with or disapprove of (something or someone) • The governor opposes the death penalty. • The change is opposed by many of the town's business leaders. • The group opposes the mayor and is trying to find a candidate to run against her. • You've opposed every suggestion I've made.

2 a : to compete against (someone) : to be an opponent of (someone) • He met the man who will oppose him in the next election. • These two teams opposed each other in last year's playoffs. b : to try to stop or defeat (something) • We're hoping we can get more senators to oppose the legislation.

opposed /ə'pouz/ adj, not used before a noun

1 [more ~; most ~] : not agreeing with or approving of something or someone • Many voters approve of the plan, but some are opposed. [=some are against it] — usually + to • He is opposed to the new law. [=he opposes the new law] • She is often opposed to the governor on budget issues.

2 : completely different • Their political philosophies are diametrically opposed (to each other).

as opposed to — used to refer to something that is different from what has just been mentioned • The car gets 30 miles per gallon, as opposed to [=unlike] last year's model, which got only 25. • They use fresh fish, as opposed to [=instead of] fish that has been frozen. • I'd say she is a good player, as opposed to [=rather than] a great one. • Try to see it as an opportunity to learn something, as opposed to a setback.

opposing adj, always used before a noun

1 : fighting or competing against another person or group • The crowd booed the opposing team. • members of the opposing political party : fighting or competing against each other • opposing teams/armies

2 : completely different • opposing viewpoints • He and his wife have opposing opinions on the issue.

3 : opposite in direction or position • The trains were moving in opposing directions. [=the trains were moving away from each other] • The boxers sat in opposing corners of the ring.

1 op-po-site /'ɑ:pəzət/ adj

1 : located at the other end, side, or corner of something : located across from something • The two boys lived on opposite sides of the street. • the opposite bank of the river • Fold the bottom right corner of the paper over to the opposite corner. • She switched her ring to the opposite hand. [=she took her ring off the finger of one hand and put it on a finger of the other hand] • The text refers to an illustration on the opposite page. [=on the page that faces it]

2 : completely different • The two scientists had the same information but reached opposite conclusions. • They represent opposite sides of the issue. • They ran in opposite directions. • Some herbs help you sleep while others have the opposite effect. [=other herbs keep you awake] • Her music is at the opposite end of the spectrum/continuum from the music her mother made. • Once serving only small portions at high prices, the restaurant has gone to the opposite extreme under the new owners. [=the restaurant now serves large amounts of food for low prices]

the opposite side of the coin see ¹COIN

2 opposite adv : on the other side of someone or something

: across from someone or something • I sat down and he sat opposite. — usually + to • He lives opposite to me. • Put one leg forward, and then lift the arm that is opposite to the forward leg. [=lift your right arm if your left leg is forward; lift your left arm if your right leg is forward]

3 opposite noun, pl -sites [count]

1 : someone or something that is completely different from someone or something else • We thought the job might be difficult, but it was quite the opposite. [=it was easy] • He said that the disease is becoming more common, but really the opposite is true. [=the disease is not becoming more common; it is becoming less common] • My two sisters are polar/complete/exact opposites (of each other)—one is very friendly while the other is very shy.

2 : a word with a meaning that is completely different from the meaning of another word : ANTONYM • "Wet" is the opposite of "dry." • The terms "black" and "white" are opposites.

opposites attract — used to say that people who are very different from each other are often attracted to each other

4 opposite prep

1 : on the other side of (something or someone) : across from (something or someone) • He sat opposite me. • She lives in the house opposite ours. • The school is opposite a park. • I played opposite the best player in the league.

2 of an actor : in a play, movie, etc., with (another actor) • She stars/plays opposite Clint Eastwood in her latest movie.

opposite number noun, pl ~ -bers [count] : someone who has the same job or position as you but in a different company, organization, etc. : COUNTERPART

opposite sex noun

the opposite sex : the people who are not the same sex as you : the other sex • people of the opposite sex — used by men to refer to women or by women to refer to men • He's never been comfortable around (members of) the opposite sex. [=never been comfortable around women]

op-po-si-tion /,ɑ:pə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : actions or opinions that show that you disagree with or disapprove of someone or something • They're going ahead with the plans despite strong/fierce opposition from residents. • The nominee faces strong opposition in the Senate. • The proposed change has met with opposition from the town's business leaders. — often + to • He expressed his opposition to the new law.

2 [noncount] : action that is done to stop or defeat someone or something • Rebels have so far offered little opposition to advancing troops.

3 the opposition a : a person or group that you are trying to defeat or succeed against : a person or group that you are competing with • Each candidate is focused on raising more money than the opposition. • The coach advised her team not to underestimate the opposition. b or the Opposition : a political party that is trying to replace the political party in power • The opposition is likely to win (in) the upcoming elections. • The leader of the Opposition criticized the prime minister for his comments. — often used before another noun • He's a member of the country's opposition party.

4 [noncount] formal : the state or relationship of two things that are completely different from each other • Her article looks at the opposition between science and religion.

in opposition to 1 : in a way that is against someone or something • He spoke in opposition to the new law. • Her theories stand in opposition to traditional beliefs. 2 : in a way that shows how two things are different or disagree • two words that can be defined in opposition to each other

— op-po-si-tion-al /,ɑ:pə'zɪʃən/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal • oppositional groups/behavior

op-press /ə'pres/ verb -press-es; -pressed; -press-ing [+ obj]

1 : to treat (a person or group of people) in a cruel or unfair way • The country has long been oppressed by a ruthless dictator. • They condemned attempts by the government to oppress its citizens. • people who have traditionally been oppressed by society • oppressed minorities/people

2 : to make (someone) feel sad or worried for a long period of time — usually used as (be) oppressed • He was oppressed by a sense of failure. • The family was oppressed by grief.

the oppressed : people who are oppressed • freedom for the oppressed

— op-pres-sion /ə'preʃən/ noun [noncount] • the oppression of women in the workplace • the fight against political oppression in the world — op-pres-sor /ə'presə/ noun, pl -sors [count] • They remain at the mercy of their oppressors.

op-pres-sive /ə'presɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very cruel or unfair • The country is ruled by an oppressive regime. • I think these laws are oppressive.

2 : very unpleasant or uncomfortable • This region suffers from oppressive heat in the summer months. • The situation was extremely tense; no one said a word, and the silence was oppressive. • an oppressive work environment

— op-pres-sive-ly adv • It was an oppressively humid day. • an oppressively dull office op-pro-bri-um /ə'prɒbriəm/ noun [noncount] formal

: very strong disapproval or criticism of a person or thing especially by a large number of people • They're going ahead with the plan despite public opprobrium. • a group of critics who use "romanticism" as a term of opprobrium [=a word that is used to show disapproval] opt /'ɑ:pt/ verb opts; opt-ed; opt-ing [no obj] : to choose one thing instead of another — often + for • He usually orders strawberry ice cream but opted for chocolate this time. — often followed by to + verb • She was offered a job but opted to go to college instead. • We opted not to buy the extra insurance.

opt in [phrasal verb] : to choose to do or be involved in something • The company offered a new health insurance plan so that more workers would opt in.

opt out [phrasal verb] : to choose not to do or be involved in something • Most employees participated in the pension plan, but a few opted out. — often + of • A few employees opted out of the pension plan. — see also OPT-OUT op-tic /'ɑ:ptɪk/ adj, always used before a noun, technical : of or relating to the eyes • the optic nerve • optic surgery op-ti-cal /'ɑ:ptɪkəl/ adj, technical

1 : used to help a person see • The company manufactures microscopes, telescopes, and other optical instruments.

2 : relating to or using light • an optical laser

3 : involving the use of devices that get information for a computer by identifying patterns of light • an optical scanner • optical character recognition — op-ti-cal-ly /'ɑ:ptɪkli/ adv • The page was optically scanned.

optical disk noun, pl ~ disks [count] : a computer disk on which information is recorded in a way that can be read by a laser optical fiber (US) or Brit optical fibre noun, pl ~ -bers [count] technical : a long, thin, glass or plastic thread that carries information in the form of light : a fiber-optic thread optical illusion noun, pl ~ -sions [count] : something that looks different from what it is : something that you seem to see but that is not really there • The closer building looks larger than the farther one, but it's just an optical illusion. The two buildings are actually the same size.

op-ti-cian /ap'tɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] : a person whose job is to sell eyeglasses and contact lenses, to make sure that they fit correctly, and sometimes to make eyeglasses — compare OPHTHALMOLOGIST, OPTOMETRIST op-tics /'ɑ:ptɪks/ noun [noncount] : the science that studies light and the way it affects and is affected by other things — see also FIBER OPTICS op-ti-mal /'ɑ:ptəməl/ adj, formal : best or most effective : OPTIMUM • He keeps his engine tuned for optimal performance. • Under optimal conditions, these plants grow quite tall. • optimal health — see also SUBOPTIMAL

— op-ti-mal-ly adv • Her plants were optimally placed to receive the greatest amount of light.

op-ti-mism /'ɑ:ptəmɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a feeling or belief that good things will happen in the future : a feeling or belief that what you hope for will happen • Both of them expressed optimism about the future of the town. • The early sales reports are cause/reason/grounds for optimism. • Most of us reacted to the news with cautious/guarded optimism. [=a feeling that something good may happen but will not definitely happen] • There is growing optimism that the problem can be corrected. • He maintains a sense of optimism, despite all that has happened. — opposite PESSIMISM op-ti-mist /'ɑ:ptəmɪst/ noun, pl -mists [count] : a person who usually expects good things to happen • You have to be a bit of an optimist to start a business. • Somehow he remained an optimist despite all that had happened to him. — opposite PESSIMIST

op-ti-mis-tic /,ɑ:ptə'mɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing hope for the future : expecting good things to happen : HOPEFUL • Both of them were optimistic about the future of the town. • He has an optimistic view of the company's future. • People are increasingly optimistic that the problem can be corrected. • Somehow he remained optimistic despite all that had happened to him. — opposite PESSIMISTIC — op-ti-mis-ti-cal-ly /,ɑ:ptə'mɪstɪkli/ adv • Both of them spoke optimistically about the future of the town.

op-ti-mize also Brit op-ti-mise /'ɑ:ptəmaɪz/ verb -miz-es; -mized; -miz-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) as good or as effective as possible • The new system will optimize the efficiency with which water is used. • efforts to optimize service/performance — often used as (be) optimized • The car's design is optimized for speed. [=the car has been specially made to go as fast as possible]

¹op-ti-mum /'ɑ:ptəməm/ noun, pl -ma /-mə/ also -mums [count] formal : the amount or degree of something that is best or most effective • The substances were mixed in various proportions until an optimum was reached.

²optimum adj, always used before a noun, formal : best or most effective : OPTIMAL • They made optimum use of limited funds. • We were not working under optimum conditions. • For optimum results, allow the paint to dry overnight.

op-tion /'ɑ:pʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : the opportunity or ability to choose something or to choose between two or more things • You have the option of staying home or coming with us. • He has the option to cancel the deal. • Given the option [=choice], I'd rather stay home tonight. • I'll probably take the job, but I'm leaving/keeping my options open [=waiting to decide; not making a final decision yet] for now.

2 : something that can be chosen : a choice or possibility • For us, quitting is not an option. [=we cannot quit] • You must accept the contract. There are no other options. [=alternatives] • We have a wide range of options available to us. • Menu options at the café include soups, salads, and sandwiches. • Select an option from the drop-down menu. • Filing taxes online is an option for people with Internet access. • I had no option but to start over. • A good/better option is to do the work yourself. • The scandal left him no option but to resign. [=forced him to resign]

3 : a right to buy or sell something for a specified price during a specified period of time • Employees will each be granted/given options to buy 1,000 shares of company stock. • The option must be exercised within five years. • The company has taken an option on some land nearby. [=it has obtained the right to buy the land at a particular price] • The ad is for a condo to rent with an option to buy. [=a condo that you can choose to eventually buy for a specified price] — see also STOCK OPTION

4 : an extra part or feature that you can pay to have in addition to the regular features that come with something you are buying • A sunroof was one of the options that you could get with the car.

5 Brit : a class that is not required in a particular course of study : ELECTIVE • I took an option in history last year.

op-tion-al /'ɑ:pʃənəl/ adj : available as a choice but not required • Jackets are required at the restaurant, but ties are optional. • Many optional features are available on this car. • Registration is optional, not mandatory.

op-tom-e-trist /ap'tɑ:mətrɪst/ noun, pl -trists [count] : a person whose job is to examine people's eyes to find out if they need eyeglasses or medical treatment — called also (Brit) ophthalmic optician; compare OPHTHALMOLOGIST, OPTICIAN op-tom-e-try /ap'tɑ:mətri/ noun [noncount] : the profession of examining people's eyes to find out if they need eyeglasses or medical treatment opt-out noun, pl -outs [count] : an opportunity to choose not to do or take part in something • The school will offer an opt-out for students whose parents object to the program. • There is an opt-out clause in the contract. — see also opt out at OPT op-u-lent /'ɑ:pjələnt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very comfortable and expensive : LUXURIOUS • opulent new homes • opulent furnishings • the opulent [=affluent] lifestyle of wealthy people

2 : very wealthy • an opulent widow

— op-u-lence /'ɑ:pjələns/ noun [noncount]

opus /'oʊpəs/ noun, pl op-era /'oʊpərə/ also opus-es /'oʊpəsəz/ [count]

1 : a piece of music written by a major composer — usually singular; usually followed by a number (called an opus number) that indicates when a piece of music was written in the list of works written by the same composer • The concert began with Beethoven's Opus 27.

2 formal : an important work done by a writer, painter, etc. — usually singular • the author's latest opus — see also MAGNUM OPUS

or /'ɔə, ə/ conj

1 — used to introduce another choice or possibility • You can have coffee or tea. • Would you like beer, wine, or something else? • He must be her brother—or is he? [=maybe he is not her brother] • I'll call (either) today or tomorrow. • (somewhat informal) I didn't mean to annoy you or anything. • (somewhat informal) Can I get you a cup of coffee or something?

2 — used in negative statements to introduce something else that is also true • We couldn't stop or even slow down the whole time. [=we could not stop and we could not slow down] • They have no food or water. [=they do not have food and they do not have water]

3 — used to say what will happen if a specified thing is not done • Finish your dinner or you won't get any dessert. [=if you do not finish your dinner, then you will not get any dessert] • Be at the station by 5 o'clock or you will miss the bus.
4 — used to introduce another number or amount that is possibly the correct one • It's been two or three years since I've seen her. • The package should arrive in five or six days. • We waited for an hour or more.

5 — used to introduce the reason why something said previously is true • He must be hiding something or he wouldn't be lying. [=he would not lie if he were not hiding something; the fact that he is lying means that he must be hiding something]

6 a — used to introduce a word or phrase that defines or explains what another word or phrase means • Botany, or the science of plants, is a fascinating subject. = The science of plants, or botany, is a fascinating subject. • This pan is used for sautéing, or frying, the vegetables. b — used to introduce a word or phrase that corrects or states more precisely something you have just said • We got here quickly—or more quickly than last time, anyway. = We got here quickly—or at least more quickly than last time. • The building is 500, or to be precise, 502 years old. • She breeds rabbits, or rather hares.

or else see ¹ELSE

or so see ²SO

OR abbr 1 Oregon 2 operating room

-or /ə/ noun suffix : a person or thing that does a specified action • elevator • translator or-a-cle /'orəkəl/ noun, pl -a-cles [count]

1 in ancient Greece • a : a person (such as a priestess) through whom a god was believed to speak • consulting an oracle b : the place (such as a shrine) where people went to ask questions of an oracle c : an answer or message given by an oracle

2 : a person who has a lot of knowledge about something and whose opinions and advice are highly valued • I met her long before she had become the oracle of pop culture.

— orac-u-lar /o'rækjələ/ adj, formal • The students admired the old professor's oracular wisdom. • an oracular pronouncement

¹oral /'orəl/ adj

1 : of or relating to the mouth • She practices good oral hygiene by brushing her teeth at least twice a day. • oral cancer/surgery • an oral surgeon

2 — used to describe a medicine that you eat or swallow • They gave him oral doses of the antibiotic. • an oral contraceptive

3 : spoken rather than written • As part of her oral examination, she had to recite the names of all the presidents. • oral [=verbal] communication skills

— oral-ly adv • The vaccine was given to the patient orally. • The information was communicated orally.

²oral noun, pl orals [count] : a test in which you answer questions by speaking rather than by writing : an oral examination — usually plural • He's preparing for his orals.

oral history noun, pl ~-ries

1 [noncount] : recorded information about the past that you get from talking to people about their experiences, families, etc.

2 [count] : a book, article, etc., that is based on oral history • I'm reading an oral history of the Great Depression.

— oral historian noun, pl ~-ans [count]

oral sex noun [noncount] : sexual activity that involves stimulating someone's genitals with the tongue or mouth or-ange /'arɪndʒ, 'orɪndʒ/ noun, pl -ang-es [count, non-count]

1 : a citrus fruit that is round and that has an orange skin • He peeled the orange. • a slice of orange — often used before another noun • an orange tree/grove/peel • I drink a glass of orange juice [=juice from an orange] every morning. — see color picture on page C5; see also BLOOD ORANGE

2 : a color between red and yellow that is like the color of fire and carrots — see color picture on page C1

compare apples and/to/with oranges see ¹COMPARE

— orange adj • an orange flame • He was wearing an orange shirt. — or-ang-ish /'arɪndʒɪʃ, 'orɪndʒɪʃ/ adj • the cat's orangish fur orang-u-tan /ə'ræŋə,tæn/ noun, pl -tans [count] : a large ape that has very long arms and reddish-brown hair — see picture at APE ora-tion /ə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a formal speech • She made/gave/delivered an oration on the value of art in society. • funeral orations

or-a-tor /'orətə/ noun, pl -tors [count] formal : a person who makes speeches and is very good at making them or-a-tor-i-cal /,orə'torɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : of or relating to the skill or activity of giving speeches : of or relating to oratory • oratorical skills/techniques or-a-to-rio /,orə'torɪjə/ noun, pl -ri-os [count] : a large piece of music for a group of singers and musicians that is usually about a religious subject

¹or-a-to-ry /'orə'tori, Brit 'brətri/ noun [noncount] formal : the art or skill of speaking to groups of people in a way that is effective • She is a master of oratory. • The President's inauguration speech was a fine demonstration of political oratory. — compare ²ORATORY

²oratory noun, pl -ries [count] : a room or building where people can pray privately — compare ¹ORATORY

orb /'ɒb/ noun, pl orbs [count]

1 literary : something (such as a planet, the sun, or the moon) that is shaped like a ball • The moon was a silvery orb.

2 : a gold ball with a cross on top that is carried by a king or queen on formal occasions as a symbol of power and justice — compare SCEPTER

¹or-bit /'ɒbət/ noun, pl -bits

1 a : the curved path that something (such as a moon or satellite) follows as it goes around something else (such as a planet) [count] the orbit of the Moon around the Earth • the orbit of the Earth around the Sun • an electron's orbit around the nucleus of an atom [noncount] The satellite was put/launched into orbit. • The satellite remains in orbit. b [count] : one complete movement along this path • The space shuttle has completed its second orbit.

2 [singular] : the area over which or throughout which someone or something has power • These territories remained within the orbit of the empire for hundreds of years.

²orbit verb -bits; -bit-ed; -bit-ing : to travel around (something, such as a planet or moon) in a curved path : to make an orbit around (something) [+ obj] The Moon orbits the Earth. [no obj] The satellites orbit at different heights/altitudes. • The Moon orbits around the Earth.

¹or-bit-al /'ɒbətəl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : relating to an orbit • the planet's orbital motion

2 Brit, of a road : built around a city • Take the orbital road/route/motorway around London.

²orbital noun, pl -als [count] Brit : a highway that goes around a city : BELTWAY or-bit-er /'ɒbətə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a vehicle or device that travels around a planet or moon in space • a lunar orbiter

or-ca /'ɒkə/ noun, pl -cas [count] : KILLER WHALE or-chard /'ɒtʃəd/ noun, pl -chards [count] : a place where people grow fruit trees • an apple orchard

or-ches-tra /'ɒkəstrə/ noun, pl -tras

1 [count] : a group of musicians who play usually classical music together and who are led by a conductor • He plays violin in the school orchestra. — compare BAND; see also CHAMBER ORCHESTRA, SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

2 the orchestra US : a group of seats in a theater that are close to the stage • Our seats were in the orchestra (section). [= (Brit) the stalls]

— or-ches-tral /'ɒkəstrəl/ adj • orchestral players/music or-ches-trate /'ɒkəstreɪt/ verb -trates; -trat-ed; -trat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to write or change (a piece of music) so that it can be orchestra

played by an orchestra • He recently orchestrated a musical.
2 : to organize or plan (something that is complicated) • She orchestrated the entire event. • It's still unclear who was responsible for orchestrating the attack. • A strike was orchestrated by union members. • a carefully orchestrated campaign/plot

— or-ches-tra-tion /ˌɒkə'streɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • the orchestration of the music/attack

or-chid /'ɒkəd/ noun, pl -chids

1 [count] : a plant with flowers that are brightly colored and that have unusual shapes — see color picture on page C6

2 [noncount] : a light purple color or-dain /ɒə'deɪn/ verb -dains; -dained; -dain-ing [+ obj]

1 : to officially make (someone) a minister, priest, rabbi, etc.

• He was ordained (as) a priest. • She is an ordained minister.

2 formal : to officially establish or order (something) • We the people ... do ordain and establish this constitution ... — U.S. Constitution (1787) • The process was ordained by law. — sometimes used figuratively • It's futile to try to avoid what destiny has ordained.

or-deal /ɒə'di:l/ noun, pl -deals [count] : an experience that is very unpleasant or difficult — usually singular • Being trapped in the elevator was a harrowing ordeal for the shoppers. • the ordeal of cancer treatment • I need to find a way to make traveling less of an ordeal.

¹or-der /'ɒədər/ noun, pl -ders

1 : a statement made by a person with authority that tells someone to do something : an instruction or direction that must be obeyed [count] The captain was barking out orders [=commands] to the crew. • That's an order, not a request! • Failing to comply with an order will result in the loss of your job. • She received an order to appear in court. • They can't close down the school without an order from the governor's office. • The mayor gave/issued an order to evacuate the city. • It's not his fault. He was only following/obeying orders. • I'm not taking orders from you! You're not my boss. • She left the hospital against her doctor's orders. [=her doctor told her not to leave, but she left anyway] • The soldiers were under (strict) orders to shoot anything that moved. [noncount] The city was evacuated by order of the mayor. — see also CEASE AND DESIST ORDER, COURT ORDER, EXECUTIVE ORDER, GAG ORDER, MARCHING ORDERS, MONEY ORDER, RESTRAINING ORDER, STANDING ORDER, TALL ORDER

2 a : a specific request asking a company to supply goods or products to a customer [count] The store received an order for 200 roses this morning. • They had trouble filling large customer orders. • I placed a book order [=an order for a book] yesterday. • I'd like to cancel my order. • We offer free shipping on orders over 50 dollars. [noncount] We don't have that CD in the store right now, but we do have it on order. [=we have ordered it but it has not yet been delivered] • The book is on (special) order from the publisher. • Dresses in larger sizes are available by special order. — see also BACK ORDER, MAIL ORDER, PURCHASE ORDER b [count] : a product or a group of products that someone has requested from a company • We shipped your order last Thursday.

3 [count] a : a request for food or drinks made at a restaurant • The waiter still hasn't come to take our order. • May I take your order? • Please wait in this line to place your order. b : the food and drinks that someone has requested at a restaurant • Your order will be ready any minute now. • Is this order for here or to go? [=do you want to eat in this restaurant or take the food somewhere else?] c : an amount of food that is served at a restaurant • I'd like a large order of French fries, please. • I'd like a hamburger with a side order of fries. [=I'd like an order of fries with my hamburger]

4 : the particular way that things or events are organized in a list or series [singular] Roll the dice to determine the order of play. [=to decide who will play first, second, third, etc.] • The names were listed in no particular order. • He remembers things happening in a different order. • The actors' names are listed in the order of their appearance. = They are listed in the order in which they appear. • Do these steps in the correct/proper/right order. [noncount] a series of jobs listed in order of difficulty/importance/size • The top three contestants were named in random order. • Her CDs are arranged in alphabetical order according to the artists' names. • a series of events given in chronological/historical order • They rank the wines in ascending/descending order according to their quality. • The movie tells the story of her life in reverse order. [=from the end to the beginning] • The books on those shelves are out of order. They need to be put in order. — see also PECKING ORDER

5 [noncount] a : an organized and proper state or condition • Two weeks after the disaster, he has managed to bring order out of (the) chaos. • Hundreds of families are struggling to get/put their lives back in order after the earthquake. • Get your passport in order before you leave for your trip. • All her documents were in order. • She makes sure the organization's finances are in good order. • Drivers must keep their trucks clean and in (good) working order. [=working properly] — opposite DISORDER b : the state in which people behave properly, follow rules or laws, and respect authority • Our leaders must restore order to the city. • the loss of public order • Some teachers have trouble maintaining order in the classroom. • a lack of order and discipline • "Order, order in the court!" the judge shouted at the unruly men.

6 [singular] : a social or political system : the way that a society is organized or controlled • These young activists dared to challenge the established social order. • calling for the end of the old order • a new world order • They seem to have accepted poverty as part of the natural order of things.

7 [singular] : a level of quality or excellence • a teacher of the first/highest order [=an excellent teacher] • Their customer service is of a higher order than that of their competitors.

8 [count] chiefly Brit : a social class — usually plural • servants and other members of the lower orders

9 [count] biology : a group of related plants or animals that is larger than a family • humans, apes, and other members of the order Primates

10 [count] : a large organization of people who have similar jobs or interests and who give help to other members • the Masonic Order • the Fraternal Order of Police

11 [count] : a religious organization whose members usually live together and promise to follow special rules and traditions • joining a religious/monastic order • an order of Catholic missionaries — see also HOLY ORDERS

12 [count] : a group of people who have been given an honor or reward by a country's ruler • The Queen made him a Member of the Order of the British Empire.

call (something) to order : to say that (something, such as a meeting or court session) should begin • She called the meeting to order at 8:15. • His lawyer arrived 10 minutes before court was called to order.

house in order see ¹HOUSE

in apple-pie order see APPLE PIE

in order : appropriate or desirable • After finishing that three-year project, I decided that a vacation was in order. • An apology is in order, I believe. — see also ¹ORDER 4 (above), ¹ORDER 5a (above) in order for : to make it possible for someone or something to be or to do something • In order for companies to be successful, they have to sell their products at competitive prices. • We all have to work together in order for us to win. = We can win, but in order for that to happen, we all have to work together. • They were told that in order for them to keep their jobs, they would have to accept a cut in pay.

in order that formal — used to say the reason for something • These soldiers gave their lives in order that [=so that] we may live in a safer and more peaceful world.

in order to : to make it possible for something to happen • In order to succeed, companies have to sell their products at competitive prices. • People come here in order to give their children a better life. • She has to work two jobs in order to [=so that she can] support her family. • I checked my bags twice in order to make sure that I had everything.

in short order see ¹SHORT

law and order see LAW

on the order of (chiefly US) or Brit in/of the order of : around or about (a specified number) • The government has spent on the order of [=approximately] ten million dollars on the project. • He receives something on the order of 100 e-mails a day.

out of order 1 : not working properly : not able to be used • The elevator's out of order [=broken] again. We'll have to take the stairs. • The sign on the coffee machine says "out of order." 2 : not following the formal rules of a meeting, court session, etc. • At the last town council meeting, her proposal was ruled out of order by the mayor. • The mayor ruled her out of order. 3 Brit, informal : beyond what is reasonable or allowable : not right or appropriate • Your behavior was completely out of order. [=out of line] • His comments were out of order. — see also ¹ORDER 4 (above)

to order : in response to a specific order or request • Everything in this restaurant is cooked to order. — see also MADE-TO-ORDER

– or-der-less /'oʊdələs/ adj • a lawless and orderless society

²order verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing

¹ [+ obj] a : to use your authority to tell someone to do something : to give an order to someone • They ordered everyone out of the house. • The soldiers were ordered back to the base. • “Stop! Drop your weapon!” ordered the officer. — usually followed by to + verb • The police officer ordered him to stop and drop his weapon. • The soldiers were ordered to return to the base. • Everyone on the ship was ordered to put on their life jackets. • I order you to leave this instant! b : to say that (something) must be done • The court threw out the conviction and ordered a new trial. • The judge ordered that the charges be dismissed. • He was accused of ordering the murder of his wife.

2 : to place an order for (something): such as a : to request (something) from a company [+ obj] I ordered the books from the company’s Web site. • The shirt you ordered should arrive in the mail in a couple of days. [no obj] To order, call the number at the bottom of your screen. • Order now and receive a free gift! b : to request (food or drinks) from a restaurant [+ obj] I’d like to order a large cheese pizza. • She sat down at the bar and ordered a drink. • Would you like me to order you a drink? = Would you like me to order a drink for you? • I had the fish and he ordered the steak. • Do you know what you’re going to order? [no obj] “Are you ready to order?” the waiter asked. • We’ve already ordered.

3 [+ obj] : to organize (things) in a particular list or series : to put things in a particular order or position • The books are ordered [=arranged] alphabetically by author. — see also RE-ORDER order around or chiefly Brit order about [phrasal verb] order (someone) around/about : to give orders to (someone) : to tell (someone) what to do • He was tired of being ordered [=bossed] around by his parents and teachers. • You can’t just come in here and start ordering people around.

just what the doctor ordered see ¹DOCTOR

– or-der-able /'oʊdərəbəl/ adj • an orderable book – or-der-er /'oʊdərə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

order book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a book that shows the number of orders that a company has received from its customers — often used figuratively • The company is starting the year with a full order book. [=it has many orders for its products] or-dered /'oʊdəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : carefully organized or controlled • an ordered sequence of events • He leads an ordered [=well-ordered, orderly] life in the suburbs. — opposite DISORDERED order form noun, pl ~ forms [count] : a form that customers can use to order products from a company

¹or-der-ly /'oʊdəli/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : arranged or organized in a logical or regular way • Try to keep your desk neat and orderly. [=tidy] • an orderly arrangement of pictures • She sorted the information into orderly categories.

2 : peaceful or well-behaved • Outside the theater, an orderly line of people waited to buy tickets. • an orderly crowd of protesters • Please exit the building in an orderly fashion. — opposite DISORDERLY

– or-der-li-ness /'oʊdəlinəs/ noun [noncount]

²orderly noun, pl -lies [count]

1 : a person who works in a hospital and does various jobs (such as moving patients or cleaning)

2 : a soldier who performs various services (such as carrying messages) for a superior officer order of business noun [singular] : a job that must be done or an issue that must be discussed • The first order of business at the committee meeting was the budget.

order of magnitude noun, pl orders of magnitude [count] : a range of numbers or sizes that goes from a particular number or size to 10 times larger or 10 times smaller • These molecules are several orders of magnitude smaller than a grain of sand. • Donations to the organization increased by an order of magnitude [=they became 10 times greater] after the earthquake. — often used figuratively • two problems of the same order of magnitude [=two problems that are equally important]

order of the day noun

the order of the day : a characteristic or activity that is common during a particular period of time or in a particular situation • Change was very much the order of the day in that time in our country’s history. • Wasteful government spending seems to be the order of the day. • At the resort’s outdoor café, bathing suits and sandals are the order of the day. [=they are popular and appropriate]

order paper noun, pl ~ -pers [count] Brit : a list of the subjects that will be discussed in Parliament on a particular day • The issue did not appear on the order paper as expected. • parliamentary order papers or-di-nal number /'oʊdənəl-/ noun, pl ~ -bers [count] : a number (such as first, fifth, or 22nd) that is used to show the position of someone or something in a series — compare CARDINAL NUMBER or-di-nance /'oʊdənəns/ noun, pl -nanc-es US : a law or regulation made by a city or town government [count] The town has passed a zoning ordinance limiting construction. [noncount] (formal) Gambling is prohibited by local ordinance. synonyms see LAW or-di-nar-i-ly /,oʊdə'nerəli, Brit 'ɔːdənrəli/ adv — used to describe the way things are normally or usually done • Ordinarily, we don’t accept this as a valid form of identification, but we’ll accept it this time. • It ordinarily [=usually] takes two people to operate the machine. • She’s not ordinarily in on Wednesdays, but she’s here today.

¹or-di-nary /'oʊdə'neri, Brit 'ɔːdənrɪ/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 always used before a noun : normal or usual : not unusual, different, or special • Today was just another ordinary [=routine] day at work. • They’ve had the ordinary problems associated with starting a new business. • the ordinary [=regular] language/speech we use every day • My wife thought our guide was strange, but he seemed perfectly ordinary to me. • ordinary people [=people who are not famous, rich, etc.] • It was no ordinary day. [=it was a special or unusual day]

2 disapproving : neither very good nor very bad : not very impressive • The quality of her work has been pretty ordinary. [=average] • The meal was ordinary and uninspired.

in the ordinary way Brit : in the normal or usual way : as something is always done • They had their morning coffee in the ordinary way, reading the paper and not speaking until they were finished.

– or-di-nar-i-ness /'oʊdə'nerinəs/ noun [noncount] • the ordinariness of daily life

²ordinary noun

out of the ordinary : unusual, different, or strange : not what is considered to be normal • What happened is nothing out of the ordinary. • They didn’t do anything that was out of the ordinary. • Her taste is a bit out of the ordinary.

Ordinary level noun, pl ~ -els [count] Brit : O LEVEL or-di-na-tion /,oʊdə'neɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : the official act or process of making someone a priest, minister, etc. [noncount] He is a candidate for ordination. [count] After his ordination, he will be assigned to a local parish.

ord-nance /'oʊdnəns/ noun [noncount] technical

1 : military supplies including weapons, ammunition, armor, vehicles, etc. • The field was full of unexploded ord-nance. [=bombs that had not exploded] • an ord-nance facility

2 : large, heavy guns on wheels : ARTILLERY • The company was outfitted with 50-millimeter ord-nance. • a military ord-nance company or-dure /'oʊdʒə/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit, formal : solid waste matter that is released from the body : EXCREMENT ore /'oʊ/ noun, pl ores : rocks, earth, etc., from which a valuable metal can be taken [noncount] The mine is an important producer of iron ore. [count] The company extracts metals from ores.

oreg-a-no /ə'regənəʊ/ noun [noncount] : an herb that has green leaves with a sweet smell which are used in cooking • The recipe calls for a tablespoon of chopped oregano. — see color picture on page C6

or-gan /'oʊgən/ noun, pl -gans [count]

1 a : a part of the body (such as the heart or liver) that has a particular function • internal organs • vital organs • an organ transplant/donor — see also SENSE ORGAN b — used as a polite way of saying penis • the male organ

2 a : a musical instrument that has a keyboard and pipes of different lengths and that makes sound by pushing air through the pipes — called also pipe organ; see picture at KEYBOARD b : an electronic musical instrument that has a keyboard and makes sounds like those of an organ — see also BARREL ORGAN, MOUTH ORGAN

3 formal : a group or organization that has a special function within a larger organization • the legislative organ of our government

4 formal : a newspaper, magazine, etc., that is published by a particular group and that gives the news and opinions of that group • The magazine functions as the official organ of the tobacco industry. • a house organ [=a publication that expresses the opinions of a business or group] or-gan-grind-er /'oʊgən,graɪndə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a musician who plays a barrel organ in a public place for money

or-gan-ic /oʊ'gænik/ adj

1 a of food : grown or made without the use of artificial chemicals • organic vegetables • Is this broccoli certified organic? [=has the government said that it was grown without the use of artificial chemicals?] b : not using artificial chemicals • organic farming/methods • She's an organic gardener.

2 : of, relating to, or obtained from living things • organic materials/matter/substances • organic fertilizers — opposite INORGANIC

3 [more ~; most ~] a : having different parts that work together well • He thinks of the city not as a collection of different neighborhoods but as an organic whole. b : forming an important part of something • This neighborhood is an organic part of the city.

4 [more ~; most ~] : happening or developing in a slow and natural way • The company has gone through a period of steady organic growth in recent years.

5 [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : having a curving form similar to the shapes found in nature • I like the organic lines of his architecture. • His architecture is very organic.

6 medical : of or relating to the organs of the body • an organic disease • organic illness — or-gan-i-cal-ly /oʊ'gænikli/ adv • This farm specializes in organically grown food. • Her opinions grew organically from her observations.

organic chemistry noun [noncount] : a branch of chemistry that is concerned with carbon and especially carbon compounds which are found in living things — compare INORGANIC CHEMISTRY or-gan-ism /'oʊgə,nɪzəm/ noun, pl -isms [count]

1 : an individual living thing • a microscopic organism • A human being is a complex organism. — see also MICROORGANISM

2 : a system with many parts that depend on each other and work together — usually singular • He thinks of the city as a complex social/political/economic organism.

or-gan-ist /'oʊgənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] music : a person who plays an organ • a church organist

or-ga-ni-za-tion also Brit or-ga-ni-sa-tion /,oʊgənə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,ɔ:gə,nai'zeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a company, business, club, etc., that is formed for a particular purpose • She is the leader of an international organization devoted to the protection of natural resources. • religious organizations • a charitable organization

2 [noncount] a : the act or process of putting the different parts of something in a certain order so that they can be found or used easily • He has been working on the organization of his notes into an outline. b : the act or process of planning and arranging the different parts of an event or activity • She is responsible for the organization of the party.

3 [noncount] : the way in which the different parts of something (such as a company) are arranged • The new president plans to make changes to the company's organization.

4 [noncount] : the quality of being arranged in a way that is sensible and useful • You have a lot of good ideas in this paper, but there's no organization to your thoughts.

— or-ga-ni-za-tion-al also Brit or-ga-ni-sa-tion-al /,oʊgənə'zeɪʃənəl, Brit ,ɔ:gə,nai'zeɪʃənəl/ adj • She has strong organizational skills. [=she is very skillful at arranging things in a sensible and useful way] • an organizational chart [=a chart that shows how all of the jobs in a large company relate to each other]

or-ga-nize also Brit or-ga-nise /'oʊgə,naɪz/ verb -niz-es; -nized; -niz-ing

1 [+ obj] : to arrange and plan (an event or activity) • They hired a professional to help organize their wedding. • We are organizing a fund-raiser.

2 : to arrange or order things so that they can be found or used easily and quickly : to put things into a particular arrangement or order [+ obj] His office is a mess. He needs someone to help him organize his work/papers. • She took a moment to organize [=collect] her thoughts before she responded. • The book is organized around a central theme. [=the action, plot, characters, etc., of the book are guided by a central theme] • I spent some time organizing my closet last weekend. [no obj] You need to learn to organize better.

3 a : to gather (people) into a group that will work on something together [+ obj] She organized people to work for social justice. • The players were organized into separate teams. [no obj] He encouraged them to organize for social justice.

b : to form a labor union [no obj] The company has tried to prevent the workers from organizing. [+ obj] He tried to organize [=unionize] the workers in the factory.

— or-ga-niz-er also Brit or-ga-nis-er /'oʊgə,naɪzə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • an events organizer • She's a skillful organizer. • a labor/union/political organizer

organized also Brit organised adj

1 a : arranged into a formal group with leaders and with rules for doing or planning things • organized baseball [=the sport of baseball and its teams, members, leaders, and rules] • organized religion [=religion that has large numbers of followers and a set of rules that must be followed] • organized crime [=a large group of professional criminals who work as part of a powerful and secret organization] b : arranged into or belonging to a labor union • organized mine workers • organized labor [=labor unions as a group]

2 [more ~; most ~] : arranged or planned in a particular way • They ran a well-organized political campaign. • a poorly organized meeting

3 [more ~; most ~] a : having things arranged in a neat and effective way • an organized office • His office is a mess. He needs to get organized. [=he needs to organize his office] b : able to keep things arranged in a neat or effective way • She's a very organized person. — opposite DISORGANIZED or-gasm /'oʊgæzəm/ noun, pl -gasms : the point during sexual activity when sexual pleasure is strongest [noncount] achieve/experience/reach orgasm [count] have an orgasm

or-gas-mic /oʊ'gæzmɪk/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of or relating to an orgasm • orgasmic dysfunction

2 : very exciting or enjoyable • White-water rafting was an orgasmic experience.

or-gy /'oʊdʒi/ noun, pl -gies [count]

1 : a wild party and especially one in which many people have sex together • a drunken orgy

2 : something that is done too much and in a wild way • an eating orgy — often + of • The troops took part in an orgy of destruction. • an orgy of violence and crime

ori-ent /'ori,ent/ verb -ents; -ent-ed; -ent-ing [+ obj]

1 : to change or create (something, such as a book or a film) so that it appeals to a particular group of people or is suitable for a particular group of people — often + to or toward • They are planning to orient the movie toward teenagers. [=to make the movie interesting to teenagers] • The authors oriented the text to/toward high-school students. = The text is oriented toward high-school students.

2 : to direct (someone) toward a goal • The program is intended to orient students toward a career in medicine.

3 : to place (something) in a particular position or direction • Orient the map so that north is at the top. • The house is oriented so that it faces west.

4 : to help (someone) become familiar with a new situation, place, etc. • The guide is intended to orient travelers (to their surroundings). • The hikers stopped to orient themselves [=to find out where they were] by looking at their map. • She needs time to orient herself to her new job. [=to become familiar with her new job] — compare DISORIENT

Ori-ent /'ori,jənt/ noun

the Orient old-fashioned : the countries of eastern Asia • a plant that grows in the Orient • We're planning a trip to the Orient. — compare OCCIDENT ori-en-tal or Ori-en-tal /,ori'entl/ adj, old-fashioned : of, relating to, or from Asia and especially eastern Asia • I like oriental food. • oriental art ♦ The adjective Oriental is now often considered offensive when it is used to describe a person. The adjective Asian should be used instead.

Oriental noun, pl -tals [count] old-fashioned + offensive : a person from eastern Asia

ori-en-tal-ist /,ori'entəlist/ noun, pl -lists [count] somewhat old-fashioned : a person who studies Asian countries, languages, etc.

Oriental rug noun, pl ~ rugs [count] : a rug or carpet that is made in central or southern Asia and that usually has very fancy designs on it

ori-en-tate /'ori,jən,teɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing [+ obj] chiefly Brit : ORIENT • a program that helps to orientate

new students • She needs to orientate herself to her new job.

orientated adj, chiefly Brit : ORIENTED

ori-en-ta-tion /ˌɔrɪənˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count, noncount] a : a person's feelings, interests, and beliefs • his political/religious/spiritual orientation b : SEXUAL ORIENTATION • patients identifying themselves as homosexual or bisexual in orientation • He makes no secret of his orientation.

2 : a main interest, quality, or goal [count] The organization has a decidedly conservative orientation. [noncount] Her later works were more introspective in orientation.

3 : the process of giving people training and information about a new job, situation, etc. [noncount] These materials are used for the orientation of new employees. • an orientation meeting/session • The weekend before the semester begins is the freshman orientation period. [=the time when new students start to become familiar with a college] [count] New students need to go through a short orientation before they begin classes.

4 [count] : the position or direction of something • They had to adjust the antenna's orientation in order to receive a clear signal. • The valley has a north-south orientation. [=the valley runs from north to south]

oriented adj

1 : interested in a particular thing, activity, etc. • politically oriented journalists [=journalists who are interested in politics] • The audience was academically oriented.

2 : designed to appeal to a certain kind of people • We went to a family-oriented amusement park. [=an amusement park designed to appeal to families]

ori-en-teer-ing /ˌɔrɪənˈtɪrɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : a sport in which people use a map and a compass to travel along a route they do not know as quickly as possible or-i-fice /ˈɔrəfəs/ noun, pl -fices [count] formal : a hole or opening and especially one in your body (such as your mouth, ear, nostril, etc.) • a bodily orifice ori-ga-mi /ˌɔrəˈɡɑːmi/ noun [noncount] : the Japanese art of folding paper into shapes that look like birds, animals, etc.

or-i-gin /ˈɔrədʒən/ noun, pl -gins

1 : the point or place where something begins or is created : the source or cause of something [count] The origin of this custom/tradition is not known. = The origins of this custom/tradition are not known. [=no one knows how this custom/tradition started] • What is the origin [=etymology] of that word? • The school had its origin [=the school was created] with a large gift from a donor. • The story had its origin [=originated] in the 19th century. [noncount] The English word "rendezvous" is French in origin. [=the English word comes from French] • The infection was bacterial in origin. [=the infection was caused by bacteria] • The wine is named for its place of origin. [=the place where it was made/created] • The game is of recent origin. [=the game was created recently] • a disease of unknown origin [=a disease whose origin is not known]

2 : the place, social situation, or type of family that a person comes from [noncount] She is of French origin. [=ancestry] • What is his country of origin? [=what country does he come from?] [count] Her ethnic origins are French. • He comes from humble origins. [=he comes from a family that did not have high social status or much money]

1 orig-i-nal /əˈrɪdʒənəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : happening or existing first or at the beginning • Their original idea was to fix their old car, but they decided to buy a new one instead. • The word's original meaning was very different from its current meaning. • That piece of furniture is still in its original condition. [=the furniture is in the same condition it was in when we first bought it] • We were the original [=first] owners of that van.

2 always used before a noun : made or produced first : not a copy, translation, etc. • I gave her a copy and kept the original document myself. • The book has been translated into English from the original Spanish.

3 [more ~; most ~] a : not like others : new, different, and appealing • The concept is very original. • The car has a highly original design. b : able to think of or make new and creative things • She has a very original and creative mind. • He is admired as an original American composer.

2 original noun, pl -nals

1 [count] : a document, film, painting, etc., which is created by someone and from which a copy or translation is made • I gave her a copy of the report and kept the original. • This isn't a reprint, it's an original.

2 [singular] : a person who is different from other people in an appealing or interesting way • Compared to other actresses of her generation, she is a true original.

in the original : in the language used by the original writer •

We read Homer in the original, not in translation. [=we read the original words that Homer wrote in ancient Greek]

orig-i-nal-i-ty /əˈrɪdʒəˈnæləti/ noun [noncount] : the quality of being new and different in a good and appealing way • Critics have praised the movie's startling originality. • I was amazed by the originality of her ideas. • an artist of great originality [=creativity]

orig-i-nal-ly /əˈrɪdʒənli/ adv

1 : in the beginning : when something first happened or began • That van originally belonged to us. • The building was originally a school. • They originally planned to fix their old car, but they decided to buy a new one instead. • Originally, the word had a very different meaning from its current meaning. • a New Yorker who is originally from Mexico

2 [more ~; most ~] : in a new, fresh, or original way • She has shown an ability to think originally about ways to improve the company.

original sin noun [noncount] : the belief taught in Christianity that people will naturally do bad or evil things

orig-i-nate /əˈrɪdʒəˌneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing

1 [no obj] : to begin to exist : to be produced or created • No one knows when or where the idea (first) originated. • These stories originated during earlier times. • The book originated as/from a series of lectures. • The sound seemed to originate from outside the room. • The custom is believed to have originated in the western U.S. • That idea did not originate with him. [=he was not the first person to have that idea]

2 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to exist : to produce or create (something) • He did not originate the idea. • The policy was originated by the previous administration.

— orig-i-na-tor /əˈrɪdʒəˌneɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

ori-ole /ˈɔriˌoʊl/ noun, pl -oles [count]

1 : a colorful North American bird that has an orange or yellow body with black wings

2 : a European bird ♠ The male European oriole has a bright yellow body and black wings.

Ori-on /əˈraɪən/ noun [noncount] : a group of stars in the sky that looks like a hunter with a line of three bright stars for a belt ♠ This group of stars is named for a famous hunter in stories from Greek mythology.

1 or-na-ment /ˈɔənmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [count] : a small, fancy object that is put on something else to make it more attractive • She wore a hair ornament. • (US) the hood ornament on a car [=a small metal figure on the front edge of a car's hood] • Christmas ornaments [=small balls, figures, etc., that are hung on a Christmas tree for decoration]

2 [noncount] formal : a way to make something look more attractive and less plain • A satin bow was used for ornament. [=decoration] • The columns are there purely as ornament—they have no structural function.

2 ornament verb -ments; -ment-ed; -ment-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) more attractive by adding small objects to it : DECORATE • flower patterns used to ornament boxes — usually used as (be) ornamented • a dress ornamented with pearls • elaborately/highly ornamented ceilings

1 or-na-men-tal /ˌɔənməˈmentl/ adj : used to make something more attractive : used for decoration • ornamental vases • The garden has many ornamental shrubs. • The columns are purely ornamental. [=decorative]

— or-na-men-tal-ly adv

2 ornamental noun, pl -tals [count] chiefly US : a plant that is grown for its beauty rather than for its fruit, wood, etc. : an ornamental plant • The garden has many beautiful ornamentals.

or-na-men-ta-tion /ˌɔənmənˈteɪʃən/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal : something that is added to make something else more attractive • A bright ribbon was used for ornamentation. • a ballroom with elaborate ornamentation or-nate /əˈneɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : covered with decorations : covered with fancy patterns and shapes • ornate silver candlesticks • She doesn't like ornate jewelry. — opposite PLAIN

2 : using many fancy words • an ornate writing style • ornate prose — or-nate-ly adv • ornately carved staircases — or-nate-ness noun [noncount]

or-nery /'oʊnəri/ adj or-neri-er; -est [or more ~; most ~] US, informal + often humorous

1 : easily annoyed or angered • I'm getting more and more ornery in my old age.

2 : difficult to deal with or control • an ornery mule

– or-neri-ness noun [noncount] • She has a reputation for orneriness. [=people know that she gets annoyed easily]

or-ni-thol-o-gy /,oʊnə'thɔ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] : a branch of science that deals with the study of birds

– or-ni-tho-log-i-cal /,oʊnə'thɔ:lɔ:dʒɪkəl/ adj – or-ni-thol-o-gist /,oʊnə'thɔ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

¹or-phan /'oʊfən/ noun, pl -phans [count] : a child whose parents are dead • He was left an orphan [=he became an orphan] when his parents died in a car accident. — sometimes used of animals • The baby raccoon were orphans.

– orphan adj, always used before a noun • an orphan boy/girl

²orphan verb -phans; -phaned; -phan-ing [+ obj] : to cause (a child) to become an orphan — usually used as (be) orphaned • He was orphaned as a young boy when his parents died in a car accident. • Thousands of children were orphaned by the war. — sometimes used of animals • orphaned puppies — sometimes used figuratively • The second volume of the two-volume set was orphaned when we lost the first volume.

or-phan-age /'oʊfənɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages [count] : a place where children whose parents have died can live and be cared for : a home for orphans • After the death of his parents, he was raised in an orphanage.

or-tho-don-tia /,oʊθə'dɑ:nʃijə/ noun [noncount] US, technical : treatment and devices used on teeth to make them grow straight • We took out a loan to pay for our son's orthodontia.

or-tho-don-tics /,oʊθə'dɑ:ntɪks/ noun [noncount] : a branch of dentistry that deals with helping teeth to grow straight – or-tho-don-tic /,oʊθə'dɑ:ntɪk/ adj • He underwent orthodontic treatment. • an orthodontic device – or-tho-don-tist /,oʊθə'dɑ:ntɪst/ noun, pl -tists [count] • The orthodontist put braces on my teeth.

or-tho-dox /'oʊθə'dɑ:ks/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : accepted as true or correct by most people : supporting or believing what most people think is true : CONVENTIONAL • He took an orthodox approach to the problem. • orthodox thinking • orthodox political views • She believes in the benefits of both orthodox medicine and alternative medicine. — opposite UNORTHODOX

2 a or Orthodox : accepting and closely following the traditional beliefs and customs of a religion • Orthodox Jews • He is a very orthodox Muslim. b Orthodox : of or relating to the Orthodox Church • I attend an Eastern Orthodox church. • My grandmother is Russian Orthodox.

Orthodox Church noun

the Orthodox Church : a branch of the Christian church that has members mainly in the area from eastern Europe to eastern Africa • the Eastern Orthodox Church • the Russian/Greek/Ethiopian Orthodox Church or-tho-dox-y /'oʊθə'dɑ:ksi/ noun, pl -dox-ies formal

1 : a belief or a way of thinking that is accepted as true or correct [noncount] I was surprised by the orthodoxy of her political views. [count] He rejected the orthodoxies of the scientific establishment.

2 Orthodoxy [noncount] : the beliefs, practices, and institution of the Orthodox Church or-thog-ra-phy /oʊ'thɔ:grəfi/ noun [noncount] technical : the way in which the words of a language are spelled • the rules of English orthography [=spelling]

– or-tho-graph-ic /,oʊθə'græfɪk/ adj, always used before a noun • orthographic reforms or-tho-pe-dic (chiefly US) also chiefly Brit or-tho-pae-dic /,oʊθə'pi:dɪk/ adj, medical

1 : used in the treatment of illnesses and injuries that affect bones and muscles • orthopedic medicine • an orthopedic surgeon • She was wearing orthopedic shoes.

2 : affecting bones or muscles • orthopedic injuries or-tho-pe-dics (chiefly US) also chiefly Brit or-tho-pae-dics /,oʊθə'pi:dɪks/ noun [noncount] medical : a branch of medicine that tries to prevent and correct problems that affect bones and muscles

– or-tho-pe-dist (chiefly US) also chiefly Brit or-tho-pae-dist /,oʊθə'pi:dɪst/ noun, pl -dists [count]

¹-ory noun suffix : a place for • observatory • reformatory

²-ory adj suffix : of, relating to, or doing • regulatory [=regulating] • explanatory [=explaining]

OS abbr, computers operating system

Os-car /'ɑ:skə/ trademark — used for a small statue that is awarded by part of the American film industry to the best actors, movies, directors, etc., of the year

os-cil-late /'ɑ:sə,lert/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [no obj]

1 : to move in one direction and then back again many times • The fan was oscillating. [=was turning to the right, then to the left, then to the right, etc.] • Stock prices have continued to oscillate. [=to go up and down] • an oscillating fan

2 formal : to keep changing from one belief, feeling, condition, etc., to an opposite one — usually + between • The mood of voters has oscillated between optimism and pessimism. • The weather oscillated between brutal cold and searing heat.

3 technical : to change in strength or direction regularly • an oscillating electric current • oscillating radio waves • stars that oscillate in brightness [=that get brighter, then fainter, then brighter, etc.]

os-cil-la-tion /,ɑ:sə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the act of regularly moving from one position to another and back to the original position [noncount] the continued oscillation of the fan [count] the fan's oscillations

2 somewhat formal : a frequent change from one state, position, or amount to another [noncount] the continual oscillation [= (more commonly) fluctuation] of stock prices [count] price/temperature oscillations

3 somewhat formal : the act of changing from one belief, feeling, etc., to an opposite one — usually + between [noncount] There has been oscillation between optimism and pessimism among voters. [count] His friends were alarmed by his oscillations [= (less formally) swings] between hope and despair.

4 [count] technical : a single movement from one position or state to another • Each oscillation of the pendulum represents one second.

os-mo-sis /ɑz'mousəs/ noun [noncount]

1 biology : the process that causes a liquid (especially water) to pass through the wall of a living cell

2 : an ability to learn and understand things gradually without much effort • She seems to learn foreign languages by/through osmosis.

os-prey /'ɑ:spri, 'ɑ:,spreɪ/ noun, pl -preys [count] : a large bird that eats fish os-si-fy /'ɑ:sə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing

1 formal + disapproving : to become or to cause something to become unable to change [no obj] Her opinions have ossified. [+ obj] an ossified social hierarchy • ossified ideologies

2 technical : to become or to cause something to become hard like bone [no obj] The cartilage will ossify, becoming bone. [+ obj] a disease that ossifies the joints

– os-si-fi-ca-tion /,ɑ:səfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • intellectual ossification • ossification of the cartilage

os-ten-si-ble /ɑ'stensəbəl/ adj, always used before a noun

: seeming or said to be true or real but very possibly not true or real • The ostensible reason for his visit was to see an old friend. [=he said the reason was to see an old friend, but the real reason may have been something different] • The ostensible [=apparent] purpose of the article is to encourage young adults to vote.

– os-ten-si-bly /ɑ'stensəbli/ adv • The story is ostensibly fiction, but some of the events are based on real life. • Ostensibly, the reason for his visit was to see an old friend.

os-ten-ta-tion /,ɑ:stən'teɪʃən/ noun [noncount] disapproving

: an unnecessary display of wealth, knowledge, etc., that is done to attract attention, admiration, or envy • The actress avoids ostentation. She owns a small house and drives an inexpensive car. • She dressed stylishly without ostentation. [=she dressed in a way that was simple yet attractive] • He writes simply and clearly and without ostentation.

os-ten-ta-tious /,ɑ:stən'teɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving

: displaying wealth, knowledge, etc., in a way that is meant to attract attention, admiration, or envy • the ostentatious [=very large and expensive] summer homes of the rich • the ostentatious [=pretentious] use of foreign phrases in conversation • an ostentatious display of knowledge

– os-ten-ta-tious-ly adv • He dresses ostentatiously. • Her ring had an ostentatiously large diamond.

os-teo-ar-thri-tis /,ɑ:stijowə'thɪrɪtəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a disease that causes the joints to become very painful and stiff os·te·op·a·thy /ˌɑːstiˈɑːpəθi/ noun [noncount] medical : a method of treating people who are sick or in pain by pushing and moving bones and muscles

— os·teo·path /ˈɑːstijəˌpæθ/ noun, pl -paths [count] • He is a trained osteopath. — os·teo·path·ic /ˌɑːstijəˈpæθɪk/ adj • osteopathic treatment — os·teo·path·i·cal·ly /ˌɑːstijəˈpæθɪkli/ adv

os·te·o·po·ro·sis /ˌɑːstijouˌpəˈrouəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a condition in which the bones become weak and break easily os·tra·cize also Brit os·tra·cise /ˈɑːstrəˌsaɪz/ verb -ciz·es; -cized; -ciz·ing [+ obj] : to not allow (someone) to be included in a group : to exclude (someone) from a group • She was ostracized from/by the scientific community for many years because of her radical political beliefs. • The other girls ostracized her because of the way she dressed.

— os·tra·cism /ˈɑːstrəˌsɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • She suffered years of ostracism from the scientific community.

os·trich /ˈɑːstriːʃ/ noun, pl -trich·es [count] : a very large African bird that runs very fast but cannot fly

OT abbr 1 occupational therapist; occupational therapy 2 O.T. Old Testament 3 O.T. US overtime • He scored a goal in O.T. to win the game.

OTC abbr over-the-counter

1oth·er /ˈlʌðər/ adj, always used before a noun 1 — used to refer to the one person or thing that remains or that has not been mentioned • What's in your other hand? • "Is this the ear that hurts?" "No, it's my other ear." • My other son is a doctor. • Their other car is a lot smaller than this one. • I didn't like this novel as much as the other one. • Do you want the other half of my bagel? — see also OTHER HALF

2 — used to refer to all the members of a group except the person or thing that has already been mentioned • "Is this the last copy?" "Yes, all the other copies have been sold." • She was taller than the other girls in her class. [=she was taller than the rest of the girls in her class] • One of her daughters lives in Texas and her two other daughters live in California. • This car got better gas mileage than the other ones we tested.

3 : in addition to the person or thing that has already been mentioned • Does anyone have any other [=additional, more] ideas? • These and other issues will be discussed at the next meeting. • The driver's wife and two other passengers were injured in the accident. • Leaders from China, Russia, and 14 other countries attended the conference. • The study found, among other things [=in addition to things that are not specifically mentioned], that men and women are equally at risk for the disease. • There's one other [=one more] person I'd like you to meet.

4 : different or separate from the person or thing that has already been mentioned • Some people believe it while other people don't. • "Parents should teach their children to respect other people's property," she said. • Gas prices are even higher in other parts of the country. • We are asking people to donate money or to help in other ways. • The main road is closed, so you'll need to find some other [=another] way to get there. • I'm afraid we'll have to finish this meeting some other time. • Any other day but tomorrow would be okay. • There weren't any other children for us to play with. • It was horrible. There's really no other way to describe it. • It's a problem that's affecting this town and every other one [=all the towns] in the state.

5 — used to refer to the place that is furthest away from the speaker or to the direction that is opposite to an original direction • We live near the school, but his house is on the other [=opposite] side of town. • I was sitting at the other end of the room. • She turned around and started walking in the other direction. • We should have gone the other way.

6 : opposite or completely different • Some days he doesn't eat anything, while other days he goes to the other extreme and eats everything in the refrigerator. • We ate dinner and then watched the movie, but we should have done it the other way around [=we should have watched the movie first] every other — used to indicate how often a repeated activity happens or is done • I run every other day. [=I run one day, then the next day I do not run, then the day after that I run, etc.] • The contest is held every other year. [=every two years]

ostrich

in other words see 1WORD

look the other way see 1LOOK

none other than see 1NONE

on the other hand see 1HAND

other than 1 : not including (something or someone) •

We're open every day other than [=except, except for] Sunday. • I saw a movie, but other than that, I didn't do much last weekend. 2 a : different from (something) • Could we have something other than cereal [=something that is not cereal] for breakfast? • We never saw him drink anything other than beer. [=we only saw him drink beer] • Do you have this sweater in any color other than red? • She said nothing about the case other than that her client would not be found guilty. b : in a different way from a specified way • She's never spoken other than kindly of him. [=she has only spoken about him in a kind way] 3 : EXCEPT — used to introduce a statement that indicates the only person or thing that is not included in or referred to by a previous statement • Take no orders other than from me. • No one may enter other than by special permission. • You can't get there other than by boat.

the other day/night/evening (etc.) : on a day/night/evening (etc.) in the recent past • I talked to him just the other day. [=a few days ago] • The other morning, I saw a deer on our lawn.

2other pronoun

1 a : a different or additional person or thing • This car is like no other. [=this is a very special car] • The storms came one right after the other. [=they happened very close together] • I love you and no other. [=no one else] — see also EACH OTHER, SIGNIFICANT OTHER b others : different or additional people or things • These issues and others will be discussed at the next meeting. • She and two others were injured in the accident. • Some medicines work better than others. • Some (people) believe it while others don't. • Be kind to others. • One student stood out above all others.

2 a the other : the person or thing that remains or that has not been shown or mentioned yet • She ate one half of the bagel and gave me the other. • I held on with one hand and waved with the other. • Each of them looked at the other. = They each looked at the other. [=they looked at each other] • You can have (either) one or the other—but not both. b the others : all the members of a group except the person or thing that has already been mentioned • He got a drink of water while the others continued playing. • This is the last copy. All the others have been sold. • This car got better gas mileage than the others we tested.

3 the other : an opposite place or thing • We moved from one side of town to the other. • She sat at one end of the table while I sat at the other. • The weather can go from one extreme to the other. [=the weather can change very suddenly]

4 — used in phrases like something or other or somehow or other when the specific details about something are not important or have been forgotten • He said he had to go buy something or other at the grocery store. • Somehow or other, we managed to get all of the boxes into the car. • For some reason or other, they wouldn't let her in the building. • Everyone has felt that way at some time or other in their lives.

in one ear and out the other see 1EAR

other half noun [singular]

1 : a group of people who are not like you because they are either very rich or very poor — used in the phrase how the other half lives • They won a million dollars and, for a few years, got to see how the other half lives. [=how rich people live]

2 chiefly Brit, old-fashioned + humorous : a person's wife or husband : BETTER HALF • I don't believe we have anything planned for that night, but let me check with my other half.

oth·er·ness /ˈlʌðəˌnəs/ noun [noncount] literary : the quality of being different or unusual • As an American growing up in Africa, I always felt a sense of otherness. • the otherness of their small religious community

1otherwise /ˈlʌðərˌwaɪz/ adv

1 : in a different way or manner • All of the books had been burned or otherwise destroyed. • The women talked in the living room while the men were otherwise occupied. • Art allows us to express things that we would not be able to express otherwise. • All shows begin at 7:00 unless otherwise noted. [=unless there is a note indicating that a show begins at a different time] • employees who are sick or otherwise unavailable [=unavailable for some other reason] • France's King Louis XIV, otherwise known as [=also known as] the Sun King, died in 1715 at the age of 77.

2 : if something did not happen, was not true, etc. • Thank you for reminding me; I might have missed the meeting otherwise. [=if you did not remind me] • Something must be wrong; otherwise, he would have called. • The new computer program allows us to do in seconds what would otherwise [=without the computer program] take us days to accomplish. • The test helps identify problems that might otherwise go unnoticed/undetected.

3 : in all ways except the one mentioned • One of the boys has a freckle on his cheek. Otherwise, the twins are nearly identical. • I didn't like the ending, but otherwise it was a very good book. • It rained in the morning; otherwise, it was a beautiful day. = It rained in the morning, but it was a beautiful day otherwise.

4 : if not : or else • Finish your dinner. Otherwise [=if you don't finish your dinner], you won't get any dessert. • I hope we haven't missed the last train; otherwise [=if we have missed the train], we'll have to get a taxi.

5 — used to indicate that something different from the thing mentioned is suggested, shown, done, etc. • He claims to be innocent, but the evidence suggests otherwise. [=the evidence suggests that he is not innocent] • While some people think it is true, our research proves otherwise. [=our research proves it is false] • Although her political rivals would have us believe otherwise, she would be an excellent President. • You know what happened, so don't try to pretend otherwise. [=that you don't know what happened] and/or otherwise — used to refer to something that is different from something already mentioned • The company has been having problems, financial and otherwise [=the company has been having financial problems and other kinds of problems], for several years. • They couldn't afford a house, small or otherwise. [=or any other kind of house] • Intentionally or otherwise, they never told her about the party.

2 otherwise adj : not the same : DIFFERENT • If conditions were otherwise, I wouldn't be so worried.

other woman noun

the other woman : a woman who is having a sexual relationship with a man who is married to someone else • She was the other woman who broke up their marriage.

oth·er·world·ly /ˌɒðəˈwɜːldli/ adj [more ~; most ~] : suggesting a world that is different from the world we know : seeming to belong to or come from another world • other-worldly creatures from the deep sea • the otherworldly [=ethereal] beauty of the landscape • otherworldly music

— oth·er·world·li·ness noun [noncount] • the otherworldliness of the landscape

OTT /ˌouːtiˈtiː/ adj [more ~; most ~] Brit, informal : beyond what is expected, usual, normal, or appropriate • an OTT performance • His reaction was a bit OTT. ♦ OTT is an abbreviation of the phrase "over the top."

ot·ter /ˈɑːtə/ noun, pl otter

or ot·ters [count] : an animal that has dark brown fur and webbed feet with claws and that eats fish

ot·to·man /ˈɑːtəˌmən/ noun, pl -mans [count]

1 US : a low piece of furniture that has a soft top and that you can put your feet on when you are sitting : a soft footstool — called also (Brit) pouf

2 : a long seat with no back that has a soft top and that typically has space inside where things can be stored ouch /ˈaʊtʃ/ interj — used to express sudden pain • Ouch! That hurt!

ought /ˈɔːt/ verb [modal verb] ♦ Ought is almost always followed by to and the infinitive form of a verb. The phrase ought to has the same meaning as should and is used in the same ways, but it is less common and somewhat more formal. The negative forms ought not and oughtn't are often used without a following to.

1 — used to indicate what is expected • They ought to be here by now. • You ought to be able to read this book. • There ought to be a gas station on the way. • He ought to have known better. • If my math is correct, the result ought to be zero. • He ought to have enough money for the trip. • She ought to be ashamed of herself. • It ought not (to) make any difference. [= (more commonly) it shouldn't make any difference]

2 — used to say or suggest what should be done • You ought to get some rest. • That leak ought to be fixed. • You ought to do your homework. • We ought to go now. • We ought to get together some time soon. • You ought to apologize. • Children ought not [=should not] run near the pool.

oughtn't /ˈɔːtnt/ — used as a contraction of ought not • It oughtn't (to) make any difference.

Oui·ja /ˈwiːdʒə/ trademark — used for a board that has the alphabet and other signs on it and that some people believe can be used to communicate with the spirits of dead people ounce /ˈaʊns/ noun, pl ounces

1 [count] : a unit of weight equal to 1/16 pound (about 28 grams)

2 [count] : FLUID OUNCE

3 [singular] informal : a very small amount of something • If you had an ounce of common sense, you wouldn't try it. • He doesn't have an ounce of decency. • She doesn't have an ounce of fat on her body. [=she is very thin] • That story doesn't have an ounce of truth in it. [=that story is completely untrue]

our /ˈawə, ə/ adj, always used before a noun, possessive form of WE : relating to or belonging to us • our house/dog/country • We bumped our heads. • We are defending our rights. • our family/parents/relatives • Rare wines are our specialty. [=we specialize in rare wines] : made or done by us • We were criticized for our actions/misbehavior. • We kept our promise. • He was angry because of our being late. [=he was angry because we were late]

Our Father noun, pl ~ -thers

1 the Our Father : LORD'S PRAYER

2 [count] : an act of saying the Lord's Prayer • She knelt down and said an Our Father.

ours /ˈawəz, əz/ pronoun : that which belongs to or is connected with us : our one : our ones • That house is ours. [=that is our house] • Those books are ours. [=those are our books] • Ours is the house on the left. [=our house is the one on the left] • Their house is brown and ours is gray. • He is a friend of ours. [=he is our friend]

our·selves /ˌawəˈselvz, əˈselvz/ pronoun

1 : those same ones that we are: a — used as the object of a verb or preposition to refer to a group that includes you after that group has already been mentioned • We consider ourselves lucky. • We can see ourselves being parents someday. • We kept the money for ourselves. • We made fools (out) of ourselves. [=we made ourselves look foolish] • We have the house to ourselves this weekend. [=we are the only ones staying in the house this weekend] • We want to see it for ourselves. [=we wanted to see it rather than have someone tell us about it, describe it to us, etc.] b — used for emphasis to refer again to a group that includes you after that group has already been mentioned • We ourselves do not agree. • We did it ourselves. • We told them ourselves that we would help. • We were young once ourselves. [=we are old now but were once young]

2 : our normal or healthy selves • We are tired and just not ourselves. • We were sick, but we are back to ourselves today.

by ourselves 1 : without any help from other people • We did it (all) by ourselves. 2 : with nobody else except us • We went to the movies by ourselves. • We both live by ourselves. [=alone]

— OUS /əs/ adj suffix : full of : having a large amount of • dangerous [=full of danger] • poisonous [=having or containing poison] • mountainous [=having many mountains] : having the quality of • courageous [=having courage] • glamorous [=having glamour]

oust /ˈaʊst/ verb ousts; oust-ed; oust-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause or force (someone or something) to leave a position of power, a competition, etc. • The rebels ousted the dictator from power. — often used as (be) ousted • He was ousted as chairman. • The team was ousted from the tournament in the first round of the play-offs.

2 : to take the place of (someone or something) • Large national banks are ousting local banks in many communities.

oust·er /ˈaʊstə/ noun [singular] US : the act of removing someone or something from a position of power or authority • The news reported the ouster of the dictator. • the dictator's ouster by the rebels

1 out /ˈaʊt/ adv

1 : in a direction away from the inside or center of some-otter

thing • He went out to the garden. • He looked out at the snow. • She poured the tea out. • The girl stuck her tongue out. • His shirttail was hanging out. • He pulled out the cork (from the bottle). • I heard a noise in the bushes and out jumped a cat!

2 : in or to a place outside of something (such as a building, room, etc.) • He waited out in the hall. • I cleaned my car inside and out. • A car pulled up and two men got out. • She is out [=outside] playing with her friends. • She took the dog out [=outdoors] for a walk. • He grabbed his coat and out he went. • It is raining/sunny out today.

3 a : away from home or work • They went out on a date. • We dine out once a week. • We went out for/to lunch. • Are you going to ask her out? [=ask her to go on a date with you]

b : away from a place • They flew out yesterday. • Did you ship out the packages yet? • The house is out in the country. • I was just on my way out [=I was just leaving] when the phone rang. c : away from the shore • The ship sailed out to sea. • The tide is going out. • They rowed out to the ship. • She swam about 100 yards out.

4 — used to indicate that something is not in the usual or proper place • You left out a comma here. • She threw out her shoulder. • He knocked a tooth out.

5 : from among a group of things • She picked out a shirt to wear.

6 : in or into the control or possession of another person • She is always willing to lend out money to friends. • The library book I want is still out. [=someone else has borrowed the library book] • Please don't let my secret out. [=don't tell anyone my secret] • They passed out free samples.

7 a : to a state in which something has been used or removed completely • Their food supply ran out. • I couldn't get the stain out. [=I could not remove the stain] b : to a state in which something is completed • Please fill out this form. • She worked out the math problem by herself.

8 : in the position of someone who is not involved or participating in something • Count me out. [=do not include me in your plans] • "Do you want to dance?" "Sorry, but I think I'd better sit this one out." • "Do you want to go shopping?" "No, I'm out." [=I don't want to go]

9 : in the position of someone who is no longer in a political office or job • They voted him out by an overwhelming margin. • Some people want the President out.

10 : to the full or a great extent • He was all decked out in a new suit. • She stretched out on the couch. • The horse was tired out.

11 : in a way that can be clearly heard or understood • He spoke out against the proposed tax. • She read out [=aloud] the names on the list. • He cried out in pain.

12 baseball : no longer batting or on a base because of a play made by the other team • He threw/tagged the runner out. • She flied/grounded out. • It's the bottom of the ninth inning with two men out. • The runner/batter was (called) out.

13 : no longer operating, burning, etc. • The electricity/fire is out. • He landed the plane with one engine out. • The wind blew the candle out.

14 : at an end • We should be finished before the day is out. [=done]

15 : no longer in fashion • That style of dress is definitely out.

16 : trying to achieve or do something • He was out to [=determined to] get revenge. = He was out for revenge. • She was out for a good time. [=she wanted to have a good time] — see also out for blood at BLOOD

17 : available to the public • The band's new CD is not out yet.

18 : not possible : not to be considered • That choice was out as far as we were concerned.

19 : able to be seen • The sun is out. • There is a full moon out tonight. • The roses are not out [=blooming] yet.

20 : in or into a state of being asleep or unconscious • He was out as soon as his head hit the pillow. • She was out cold — see also out for the count at ²COUNT

21 : not correct • She was out [=off] in her calculations by $25.

22 : having less than an earlier amount • He went gambling and was $100 out at the end of the night. = He was out $100 at the end of the night.

23 : no longer in jail or prison • He will be out (of prison) in two months.

24 : known publicly as a homosexual • He's been out for a long time now.

25 sports : not in the area in which a game is played : OUT-

OF-BOUNDS • Her last serve was out.

26 — used to indicate that a radio message is complete and no reply is expected • Message received, Mission Control. Over and out.

odd man/one out see ODD out and about : going to different places • She is always out and about, doing one thing or another.

out back see ¹BACK

out front see ¹FRONT

out loud see LOUD

out of 1 — used to show the direction or movement of a person or thing from the inside to the outside of something • She walked out of the room. • Take your hands out of your pockets. • We've decided to move out of the country/state/city. • Don't get out of your chair/seat. • It's time to get out of bed. • They're flying out of Washington [=they're leaving Washington] this afternoon. 2 — used to say that a person or thing is not or no longer at a particular place • She's out of [=away from] the office at the moment. • He just got out of the hospital. • He just got out of prison/jail yesterday. • She's fresh out of college. [=she has recently graduated from college] • She's been out of town for two days. • Let's get out of here. [=let's leave] • Move! Get out of the way! • His case was settled out of court [=settled without a trial or a decision by a judge] • an out-of-court settlement — see also out of here at ¹HERE 3 — used to say that a person or thing is not or no longer in a particular state or situation • They woke him up out of a deep sleep. • Try to stay out of trouble at school, okay? • Our favorite store's going out of business. • We're not out of danger yet. [=we're still not safe] • He came out of retirement to play one more season. • He got kicked out of the game for playing too rough. • Disco dancing went out of fashion in the early 1980s. • out of style • All of the pictures are out of focus. • I think your guitar is out of tune. • She's out of her league. [=she can't compete well in this situation] • Has anything out of the ordinary [=anything unusual] happened? • a book that is out of print = an out-of-print book [=a book that is no longer being printed] 4 — used to say that a person or thing is beyond the range or limits of something • Try to stay out of the sun. • We went inside to get out of the rain. • Keep all medicines out of (the) reach of children. [=keep medicines in a place where children cannot reach them] • The train was soon out of sight. [=it was too far away for people to see it] • You know the old saying, "out of sight, out of mind." If you don't see it, you won't think about it. • It's out of our hands now. We can't control what happens anymore. • The situation has gotten completely out of hand. = Things are out of control. 5 — used to say that a person or thing is not in the usual or expected condition • If you're out of shape [=if you're not in shape], start exercising slowly. • I hadn't skated in five years, and I was really out of practice. • That big table seems out of place in their tiny kitchen. 6 a — used to say what something is made from • She wore a necklace made out of gold and diamonds. • a boat built out of small trees and rope • Let's try to make the best out of a bad situation. b — used to say where a person or thing comes from • I got the idea out of [=from] the book. • He had to pay for it out of his own pocket. • That meeting was a complete waste of time. I got nothing out of it. 7 — used to say where an activity takes place • He runs his business out of [=from] his home. 8 — used to say what causes something • Most people watched the show out of curiosity. [=because they were curious] • Out of concern for her children, she decided to move to a safer neighborhood. • They became soldiers out of a sense of duty and honor. 9 — used to say that a person or thing no longer has something • "Are we out of milk?" "Yes, I finished it this morning." • The store's out of bread. • The car's almost out of gas. • I'm out of breath. • I ran out of time and didn't get to finish the test. • She's been out of [=without] a job for two months now. 10 — used to compare a small number to a larger number in order to say how many people or things are selected; do something, etc. • Only one out of four of our tomato plants survived. • Nine out of 10 dentists prefer this toothpaste. • The disease occurs in one out of a thousand people. • Out of a group of 20 students, only 10 passed the test. • She scored 49 out of a possible 50 points. out of it informal 1 : in a state in which you are not thinking clearly • I had just woken up and was still pretty much out of it. 2 : not part of an activity, group, or fashion • I felt completely out of it at the club. out of nowhere see NOWHERE out on your ear see ¹EAR

out there see ¹THERE

out to lunch see ¹LUNCH

out with it informal — used to tell someone to say something that they do not want to say or that they are having difficulty saying • OK, out with it. Tell us what she said.

²out prep, chiefly US

1 — used to indicate that a person or animal is looking at something that is outside of a building, room, etc. • She looked out [=out of] the window.

2 — used to indicate that a person or animal is moving from the inside of a building, room, etc., to the outside • He ran out [=out of] the door.

³out verb outs; out-ed; out-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to tell people that (someone) is a homosexual • a gay actor who was outed in a magazine article b : to tell people that (someone) is or does a particular thing • He is threatening to out other players who have used steroids.

2 [no obj] : to become publicly known • The truth will out. • Murder will out.

⁴out noun, pl outs

1 [count] baseball : the act of causing a player to be out or the situation that exists when a player has been put out • The play resulted in an out. • With two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning, he hit a home run to win the game.

2 [singular] : a way of avoiding an embarrassing or difficult situation • I think she was just using her mother's illness as an out. [=excuse] • He changed the wording of the contract to give/leave himself an out.

on the outs US, informal : in an unfriendly or bad relationship : no longer friendly or together • There's a rumor that she and her husband are on the outs. — often + with • She is on the outs with her husband.

— see also INS AND OUTS out- /ˈaʊt/ prefix : in a manner that is greater, better, or more than something else • outnumber • outgrow • outrun • outmaneuver • outplay

out-age /ˈaʊtɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages [count] US : a period of time when there is no electricity in a building or area • The power outage left us in the dark for five hours. [=we did not have electrical power for five hours] — called also (Brit) power cut out-and-out /ˌaʊtənˈaʊt/ adj, always used before a noun — used to emphasize a description • He's an out-and-out liar. • He told an out-and-out lie.

out-back /ˈaʊtˈbæk/ noun

the outback : the part of Australia that is far from cities and where few people live out-bid /ˈaʊtˈbɪd/ verb -bids; -bid; -bid-ding [+ obj] : to offer to pay a higher price than (someone) for something especially at an auction : to make a higher bid than (someone) • He outbid me for the painting I wanted. • She tried to buy the antique vase but was outbid.

out-board /ˈaʊtˌbɔːrd/ adj, technical : located on or toward the outside of a vehicle (such as an airplane or ship) • an out-board engine — compare INBOARD

— outboard adv

outboard motor noun, pl ~ -tors [count] : a small engine that is attached to the back of a small boat — see picture at BOAT out-bound /ˈaʊtˌbaʊnd/ adj : traveling away from a place : outward bound • The airline has canceled all outbound flights. • The bridge is closed to outbound traffic. [=the bridge is closed to traffic going away from a city or town] — opposite INBOUND out-box /ˈaʊtˌbɔːks/ noun, pl -box-es [count]

1 US : a box or other container on a desk in which letters, notes, etc., that are being sent from the desk are placed — called also (Brit) out tray; see picture at OFFICE; compare INBOX

2 computers : a computer folder that holds e-mail messages you have not yet sent out-break /ˈaʊtˌbreɪk/ noun, pl -breaks [count] : a sudden start or increase of fighting or disease • a cholera outbreak — often + of • an outbreak of violence/war • They are preparing for an outbreak of the virus.

out-build-ing /ˈaʊtˌbɪldɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] : a small building that is separated from a main building out-burst /ˈaʊtˌbɜːst/ noun, pl -bursts [count]

1 : a sudden expression of strong feeling • an outburst of anger/kindness • He later apologized for his outburst (of anger). • an angry outburst

2 : a sudden increase in activity • an outburst of violence/creativity/rumors out-cast /ˈaʊtˌkæst, Brit ˈaʊtˌkɑːst/ noun, pl -casts [count] : someone who is not accepted by other people • She felt like a social outcast.

out-class /ˈaʊtˌklæs, Brit ˈaʊtˌklaːs/ verb -class-es; -classed; -class-ing [+ obj] : to be or do much better than (someone or something) • The new model outclasses all past models. • She outclassed everyone else in the dance competition. — often used as (be) outclassed • She was outclassed in the tennis tournament. [=other people played better than she did] out-come /ˈaʊtˌkʌm/ noun, pl -comes [count] : something that happens as a result of an activity or process : RESULT • the outcome of the election/game • We are still awaiting the final outcome of the trial. • There are two possible outcomes.

out-cry /ˈaʊtˌkraɪ/ noun, pl -cries : an expression of strong anger or disapproval by many people : a reaction showing that people are angry or unhappy about something [count] There was a public outcry over his comments. [=many people objected publicly to his comments] • They were surprised by the outcry against the casino proposal. [noncount] There was a lot of public outcry over his racial comments.

out-dat-ed /ˈaʊtˌdeɪtəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : no longer useful or acceptable : not modern or current • outdated [=out-of-date] computers/technology • outdated laws/information • outdated fashions out-dis-tance /ˈaʊtˌdɪstəns/ verb -tanc-es; -tanced; -tanc-ing [+ obj] : to go far ahead of or beyond (someone or something) • She easily outdistanced the other runners. • This television outdistances all others in the number of sales.

out-do /ˈaʊtˌduː/ verb -does /-ˈdʌz/; -did /-ˈdɪd/; -done /-ˈdʌn/; -do-ing /-ˈduːwɪŋ/ [+ obj] : to do better than (someone or something) : to be more successful than (someone or something) • Smaller companies often outdo larger ones in customer service. • My sister always tried to outdo me in school. • She's a great cook, but she really outdid herself this time. The meal was wonderful. [=it was the best meal she ever made] • She scored 20 points in the first game. Not to be outdone, I scored 30 points myself in the second game.

out-door /ˈaʊtˌdɔːr/ adj, always used before a noun : done, used, or located outside a building • outdoor sports/activities • outdoor clothing • an outdoor concert/theater/track — compare INDOOR

¹out-doors /ˈaʊtˌdɔːrz/ adv : outside a building : not inside a building • The game is meant to be played outdoors. • He worked outdoors all afternoon. • I went outdoors for some fresh air. — compare INDOORS

²outdoors noun

the outdoors : the natural world : the places outside where you can enjoy nature • We went for a walk to enjoy the outdoors. • They love the outdoors. • Every summer they go camping to enjoy the great outdoors.

out-doors-man /ˈaʊtˌdɔːzmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a man who likes outdoor activities out-doors-wom-an /ˈaʊtˌdɔːzˌwʊmən/ noun, pl -women /-ˌwɪmən/ [count] : a woman who likes outdoor activities out-doorsy /ˈaʊtˌdɔːzi/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : enjoying outdoor activities • an outdoorsy couple out-er /ˈaʊtər/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : located on or toward the outside of something : not on or at the inside or center of something • the city's outer limits • the planet's outer ring • the outer edges of the roof • The package's outer covering was damaged. • I removed the outer skin of the onion. — opposite INNER

2 : of or relating to a person's body or physical appearance rather than to a person's mind or spirit • Her inner turmoil was masked by an outer calm.

outer ear noun, pl ~ ears [count] biology : the part of the ear that can be seen on the outside of your head — compare INNER EAR out-er-most /ˈaʊtərˌmoʊst/ adj, always used before a noun : farthest from the center of something • The arrow hit the outermost ring on the target. • the outermost planet in our solar system — opposite INNERMOST outer space noun [noncount] : the region beyond the Earth's atmosphere in which there are stars and planets • a satellite in outer space • Is there life in outer space?

out-er-wear /ˈaʊtərˌweər/ noun [noncount] : clothes (such as sweaters, coats, or jackets) that you wear over other clothing especially for warmth when you are outside out-field /'aʊt,fi:ld/ noun, pl -fields [count]

1 a : the part of a baseball field that includes the area beyond the infield and between the foul lines • He threw the ball to home plate from the outfield. b : the part of a cricket field that is away from the wickets

2 : the players who are positioned in the outfield • The team has one of the best outfields in the league. — compare IN-FIELD

— out-field-er /'aʊt,fi:ldə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US • a young outfielder [=a baseball player who plays in the outfield]

1 out-fit /'aʊt,fit/ noun, pl -fits [count]

1 : a set of clothes that are worn together • She bought a new outfit for the party. • a cowboy/ski outfit

2 : a group of people working together in the same activity • He works for a publishing outfit. [=organization] • My outfit [=military unit] was stationed in Iraq during the war.

2 outfit verb -fits; -fit-ted; -fit-ting [+ obj] : to provide (someone or something) with equipment or clothes especially for a special purpose • The company outfitted us with food and supplies. — often used as (be) outfitted • The car was outfitted [=equipped] with a new stereo system.

out-fit-ter /'aʊt,fitə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 US : a business that provides equipment, supplies, and often trained guides for activities such as hunting, hiking, etc. • Hunters say it's the best outfitter in the state; also : a guide who works for such a business • Our outfitter showed us where the deer feed.

2 Brit, old-fashioned : a person or business that sells men's clothing out-flank /'aʊt'flæŋk/ verb -flanks; -flanked; -flank-ing [+ obj]

1 : to move around the side of (something, such as an opposing force) to attack from behind • The army outflanked the enemy.

2 : to gain an advantage over (someone or something) • trying to outflank the competition out-flow /'aʊt,fləʊ/ noun, pl -flows : an outward flow or movement of something [count] The campaign has seen a massive outflow [=the campaign has spent a lot] of funds/money/cash in recent months. • We joined the outflow of fans from the stadium after the game. [noncount] The vents provide improved outflow of air/water. — opposite INFLOW out-fox /'aʊt'fɔ:ks/ verb -fox-es; -foxed; -fox-ing [+ obj] : to defeat or trick (someone) by being more intelligent or clever • He outfoxed [=outsmarted, outwitted] the police and escaped.

out-go-ing /'aʊt,gəʊɪŋ/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] — used to describe someone who is friendly and likes being with and talking to other people • His outgoing personality made him very popular in school. • an outgoing [=extroverted] person

2 : going away : leaving a place • outgoing [=departing] ships • Outgoing mail goes in this box. • outgoing messages/calls/letters/e-mails — opposite INCOMING

3 : leaving a particular position • the outgoing president — opposite INCOMING out-go-ings /'aʊt,gəʊɪŋz/ noun [plural] Brit : the money that is spent on something • monthly outgoings [=costs, expenses]

out-grow /'aʊt'grəʊ/ verb -grows; -grew /-'gru:/; -grown /-'grəʊn/; -grow-ing [+ obj]

1 : to grow too large for (someone or something) • Kids out-grow their clothes so quickly. • The plant has outgrown my garden. • Our business is outgrowing its small office building.

2 : to stop doing (something) because you are older and more mature • Her bad behavior is just a phase. I'm sure she'll outgrow it. [=grow out of it]

3 : to stop being interested in or involved with (something or someone) because you have changed as you have grown older • She's outgrown most of her toys. • I realized that I had outgrown my old high school friends.

4 : to grow faster than (something) • populations outgrowing their food supplies

out-growth /'aʊt,groʊθ/ noun, pl -growths [count]

1 : something that develops or results from something else — often + of • Traffic jams are often an outgrowth [=consequence, product] of poor urban planning. • a natural outgrowth of our research

2 technical : something that grows out of something else • an outgrowth of bone out-gun /'aʊt'gʌn/ verb -guns; -gunned; -gun-ning [+ obj] : to have more military weapons and power than (someone or something) — often used as (be) outgunned • We were outgunned (by the enemy). — often used figuratively • The defending champions were outgunned last night 36–10.

out-house /'aʊt,haʊs/ noun, pl -houses [count]

1 US : a small outdoor building that is used as a toilet

2 Brit : a small building (such as a shed) that is separated from a main building out-ing /'aʊtɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : a brief trip that people take for fun usually as a group • We went on a backpacking outing. • a family/school outing — often + to • She took the children on an outing to the zoo.

2 : a time when an athlete (such as a baseball pitcher) competes in a game or contest • The pitcher has struggled in his last three outings. [=the last three times he has pitched in a game] • He had a good/bad outing. [=he played well/poorly]

3 a : an act of telling the public that a person is homosexual when that person does not want the public to know • the outing of a famous actor by gay activists b : an act of telling people that a person has a certain job, identity, etc., that was supposed to be kept secret • the outing of a secret agent out-land-ish /'aʊt'lændɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very strange or unusual : extremely different from what is normal or expected • She fills her books with outlandish characters. • The actress wore an outlandish dress to the awards ceremony. • an outlandish story

— out-land-ish-ly adv • He was outlandishly dressed.

out-last /'aʊt'læst, Brit 'aʊt'lɑ:st/ verb -lasts; -last-ed; -last-ing [+ obj] : to last longer than (someone or something) : to continue to exist, be active, etc., longer than (someone or something) • We watched him outlast his opponent in one of the greatest boxing matches of all time. • The policies he has established will outlast his presidency.

1 out-law /'aʊt,lɔ:/ noun, pl -laws [count] : a person who has broken the law and who is hiding or running away to avoid punishment • Billy the Kid was one of the most famous out-laws of America's early history. • a gang of outlaws out-lay /'aʊt,leɪ/ noun, pl -lays formal : an amount of money that is spent [count] The initial outlay for the program will be 2.4 million dollars. • an outlay of $2,000 • large cash outlays [noncount] Maintaining a horse requires considerable outlay.

2 outlaw verb -laws; -lawed; -law-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) illegal • That type of gun was outlawed last year. • The government passed a bill outlawing the hiring of children under the age of 12.

out-let /'aʊt,let/ noun, pl -lets [count]

1 : something that people use to express their emotions or talents • emotional/artistic outlets — often + for • She used poetry as an outlet for her sadness. • They needed a healthy outlet for their anger. • an outlet for his talents

2 : a store that sells products made usually by one company and often at reduced prices • designer clothing outlets • a discount furniture outlet • retail outlets • outlet stores

3 : a television, radio, or publishing company • media/news outlets • a cable TV outlet

4 US : a device in a wall into which an electric cord can be plugged in order to provide electricity for a lamp, television, etc. • electrical outlets • a wall outlet — called also socket, (Brit) point, (Brit) power point

5 : a place or opening through which something can go out • an outlet for the air to escape • the river's outlet to the sea

1 out-line /'aʊt,lain/ noun, pl -lines

1 a [count] : a drawing or picture that shows only the shape of an object — often + of • An outline of his face showed his high forehead, long nose, and small chin. • Outlines of animals were carved into the cave's walls. b [noncount] : a style of drawing in which only the outer edges of an object are shown • The pictures were drawn in outline and then filled in with color.

2 [count] : a line that is drawn around the edges of something • The leaves etched into the vase have a gold outline.

3 : a written list or description of only the most important parts of an essay, speech, plan, etc. [count] Organize your essay by writing an outline in which you state your main idea followed by your supporting points. • a plot outline • a brief outline of American history [noncount] Her speech was written in outline on note cards.

2 outline verb -lines; -lined; -lin-ing [+ obj]

1 : to draw a line around the edges of (something) — usually used as (be) outlined • The leaves on the vase are outlined in gold. • the outlined areas on the map — sometimes used figuratively • The mountain was outlined against the setting sun.

2 : to list or describe only the most important parts of (an essay, speech, plan, etc.) : to give an outline of (something) • The President outlined his agenda for the next term. • The book outlines the major events of the country's history. • All players must follow the rules outlined above.

out-live /ˌaʊtˈlɪv/ verb -lives; -lived; -liv-ing [+ obj]

1 : to live longer than (someone) • No mother wants to out-live her children. • He outlived his wife by 10 years.

2 : to continue to exist longer than (something) : to outlast (something) • The law has outlived its usefulness. [=the law still exists, but it is no longer useful]

out-look /ˌaʊtˈlʊk/ noun, pl -looks

1 : the way that a person thinks about things [count] The students all seemed to have the same outlook. • the outlook of the 1990s [=the general attitude of people living in the 1990s] • her political outlook — often + on • The book totally changed my outlook on politics. • They had very different outlooks on the world. • a positive/optimistic outlook on life [noncount] Despite our differences in outlook, we got along together very well.

2 [count] : a set of conditions that will probably exist in the future : the future of someone or something — usually singular • the country's economic outlook — often + for • The outlook for the company is hopeful. • The outlook for tomorrow is scattered showers and temperatures in the 70s.

3 [count] : a place where you can look out over a wide area • scenic outlooks along the highway; also : a view from such a place • a beautiful outlook

out-ly-ing /ˌaʊtˈlaɪn/ adj, always used before a noun : far away from the center of a place • the outlying areas of the city • the country's outlying islands out-ma-neu-ver (US) or Brit out-ma-noeu-vre /ˌaʊtməˈnu:və/ verb -vers; -vered; -ver-ing [+ obj] : to use cleverness or skill to gain an advantage over (someone) • She outmaneuvered her political opponents. • He outmaneuvered the cars in front of him and won the race.

out-mod-ed /ˌaʊtˈmoʊdəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : no longer useful or acceptable : not modern or current • The army was using outmoded [=old-fashioned, antiquated] weapons from the 1950s. • outmoded technology • outmoded beliefs out-num-ber /ˌaʊtˈnʌmbə/ verb -bers; -bered; -ber-ing [+ obj] : to be more than (someone or something) in number • With 20 girls and 10 boys in the class, girls outnumber boys by 2 to 1. • Their wins outnumber their losses. [=they have more wins than losses] • The few men in the audience were greatly outnumbered by the women. [=there were many more women than men in the audience]

out-of-body experience noun, pl ~ -ences [count] : an experience in which you have a feeling of being separated from your body and in which you can look at yourself and other people from the outside

out-of-bounds /ˌaʊtəvˈbaʊndz/ adj : outside the area in which a game is played • The catch was out-of-bounds. — see also out of bounds at ⁶BOUND

out-of-date /ˌaʊtəvˈdeɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : no longer useful or acceptable : not modern or current • out-of-date [=outdated] ideas • an out-of-date history book out of doors adv : outside rather than inside a building • The play was performed out of doors. [=outdoors, outside]

out-of-pock-et /ˌaʊtəvˈpɔ:kət/ adj : paid for with your own money rather than with money from another source (such as the company you work for or an insurance company) • out-of-pocket medical expenses • You can be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses when you are on a business trip. — out of pocket adv • She paid out of pocket for the prescription. — see also out of pocket at ²POCKET out-of-the-way /ˌaʊtəðəˈweɪ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : located far from other places that are well-known • We had dinner at this little out-of-the-way place. • out-of-the-way restaurants out-of-town adj, always used before a noun

1 : coming from or going to another town or city • out-of-town mail • out-of-town visitors

2 : happening in another town or city • The band has an out-of-town show tomorrow night.

3 Brit : located away from the center of a town • out-of-town shopping centers out-of-town-er /ˌaʊtəvˈtaʊnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who is from another town or city • The convention attracts a lot of out-of-towners to the city.

out-of-work adj : not having a job • out-of-work [=unemployed] actors and actresses out-pace /ˌaʊtˈpeɪs/ verb -pac-es; -paced; -pac-ing [+ obj] : to go or grow faster than (something) • Population growth has continued to outpace [=surpass] job growth for the last several decades. • The demand for the product has outpaced [=exceeded] the company's ability to produce it.

out-pa-tient /ˌaʊtˈpeɪʃənt/ noun, pl -tients [count] : a person who goes to a doctor's office or hospital for treatment but who does not spend the night there — often used before another noun • outpatient surgery [=surgery that does not require patients to stay in the hospital] • outpatient care/treatment — compare INPATIENT out-per-form /ˌaʊtpəˈfɔ:m/ verb -forms; -formed; -form-ing [+ obj] : to do or perform better than (someone or something) • The car consistently outperforms all other vehicles in its class. • outperforming the competition

out-place-ment /ˌaʊtˈpleɪsmənt/ noun [noncount] : the activity or process of helping workers find new jobs when they are no longer wanted or needed — usually used before another noun • outplacement services • an outplacement program/firm out-play /ˌaʊtˈpleɪ/ verb -plays; -played; -play-ing [+ obj] : to play better than (a person or team) • They outplayed the visiting team in the last half of the game.

out-point /ˌaʊtˈpɔɪnt/ verb -points; -point-ed; -point-ing [+ obj] : to win more points than (an opponent) in a boxing match

out-post /ˌaʊtˈpəʊst/ noun, pl -posts [count]

1 : a large military camp that is in another country or that is far from a country's center of activity • an American outpost in Africa • The city was established as a military outpost in the 1800s.

2 : a small town in a place that is far away from other towns or cities • a remote outpost of the old British Empire out-pour-ing /ˌaʊtˈpɔ:rn/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : an act of expressing an emotion or feeling in a very powerful way — often + of • There was an outpouring of support for the president. [=many people expressed strong support for the president] • an outpouring of love and affection • outpourings of emotion

2 : a large amount of something that is given or received in a short period of time — often + of • They received an outpouring of money for their charity.

¹out-put /ˌaʊtˈput/ noun, pl -puts

1 : the amount of something that is produced by a person or thing [noncount] The country's yearly agricultural output [=production] has increased in recent years. • the daily output of each worker [=the amount that each worker produces in a day] • the author's literary output [count] stars with large energy outputs

2 technical a : something (such as power, energy, or information) that is produced by a machine or system [noncount] The computer's output is shown on this screen. [count] outputs of up to 400 watts b [count] : the place at which information, power, etc., comes out of a machine or system • the television's video and audio outputs — compare INPUT

²output verb -puts; -put-ted or -put; -put-ting [+ obj] : to produce and send out (something, such as information) • Computers output data very quickly. — compare INPUT

¹out-rage /ˌaʊtˈreɪdʒ/ noun, pl -rag-es

1 [noncount] : extreme anger : a strong feeling of unhappiness because of something bad, hurtful, or morally wrong • Many people expressed outrage at the court's decision. • Public outrage over the scandal was great. • moral outrage

2 [count] : something that hurts people or is morally wrong • The rule is an outrage against women. • This is an outrage! I won't allow this kind of behavior to continue.

²outrage verb -rages; -raged; -rag-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) very angry • His comments outraged nearly everyone in the room. — often used as (be) outraged • Many people were outraged at the court's decision. • Parents were outraged by the teacher's actions.

out-ra-geous /ˌaʊtˈreɪdʒəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very bad or wrong in a way that causes anger : too bad to be accepted or allowed • They will be punished for their outrageous behavior/conduct. • This is outrageous! I will not put up with such treatment. • outrageous prices

2 : very strange or unusual : surprising or shocking • She's known for her wild hairdos and outrageous costumes. • At first it seemed like an outrageous idea, but then we realized that it wasn't so crazy after all. • The article makes some outrageous claims about her personal life.

— out-ra-geous-ly adv • a pair of outrageously expensive earrings — out-ra-geous-ness noun [noncount]

out-rank /ˌaʊtˈræŋk/ verb -ranks; -ranked; -rank-ing [+ obj]

1 : to have a higher rank or position than (someone) • A general outranks a colonel.

2 : to be more important than (someone or something) • The only topic to outrank the economy this week was the war.

ou-tré /uˈtreɪ, Brit ˈuːtreɪ/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very strange, unusual, or shocking : BIZARRE • His art is a bit too outré for most people to enjoy.

out-reach /ˌaʊtˈriːtʃ/ noun [noncount] : the activity or process of bringing information or services to people • He is responsible for the campaign's outreach to college students. • She was hired to do community outreach [=to do helpful things in the community] for the company. — often used before another noun • They set up an outreach center for children in the inner city. • community outreach programs/workers out-rid-er /ˌaʊtˈraɪdər/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person (such as a police officer) who rides a horse or motorcycle next to or in front of a vehicle that is carrying an important person as a form of protection

out-rig-ger /ˌaʊtˈrɪɡər/ noun, pl -gers [count]

1 : a structure that is attached to the side of a boat or canoe to keep it from turning over in the water

2 : a boat or canoe that has an outrigger

¹out-right /ˌaʊtˈraɪt/ adv.

1 : in a full and complete way • They rejected the idea outright. [=altogether, completely] • She won the competition outright. • The painting is now owned outright by the museum.

2 : quickly and completely : not gradually • Those who were not killed outright [=immediately] later died of hunger. • Their house was destroyed outright by the fire.

3 : in one payment of money • I bought the car outright.

4 : in a direct and open way that does not hide anything • Some people laughed outright when he told us his idea.

²out-right /ˌaʊtˈraɪt/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : complete and total — used to make a statement more forceful • Your room is an outright mess! • That's an outright lie!

2 : not limited in any way : done, made, or given in a complete way • They passed an outright ban on guns. [=all guns were completely banned] • an outright gift • I was surprised by their outright rejection of the idea.

out-run /ˌaʊtˈrʌn/ verb -runs; -ran /-ˈræn/; -run; -run-ning [+ obj]

1 : to run or move faster than (someone or something) • The rabbit had no chance of outrunning the dogs. • His motorcycle could outrun any car on the road.

2 : to be or become more or greater than (something) • The demand for the product has quickly outrun [=exceeded, outpaced] the company's ability to produce it.

out-sell /ˌaʊtˈsel/ verb -sells; -sold /-ˈsoʊld/; -sell-ing [+ obj]

1 : to be sold more than (something) • Diet sodas are now beginning to outsell regular sodas in the supermarkets.

2 : to sell more than (another person, store, etc.) • We've been outselling our competitors for the past five years.

out-set /ˌaʊtˈset/ noun [singular] : the start or beginning of something • There have been problems with the project from the outset. • From its very outset, the company has produced the highest quality products. • He made it clear at the outset that he is not going to quit his job. • She set high goals for herself at the outset of her career.

out-shine /ˌaʊtˈʃaɪn/ verb -shines; -shone /-ˈʃoʊn, Brit -ˈʃɒn/ or -shined; -shin-ing [+ obj] : to do better than (someone or something) : to earn more respect or attention than (someone or something) • They're determined to outshine [=outdo, outperform] their competition. • She outshines all the other actors in the film.

¹out-side /ˌaʊtˈsaɪd, ˈaʊtˈsaɪd/ noun, pl -sides

1 the outside : an area around or near something (such as a building) • The house looks nice from the outside.

2 [count] : an outer side, edge, or surface of something — usually singular • The door can be locked from the inside or outside. — often + of • The outside of the building needs painting.

at the outside : at the most : at the greatest amount or limit

• The crowd numbered 10,000 at the outside. • It took him an hour at the outside to finish. • It costs, at the outside, $20.

on the outside 1 : on the outer side, edge, or surface of something • The number 22 car tried to pass the leader on the outside (of the track). 2 baseball : on the side of home plate farthest from the batter • The next pitch was a fast-ball on the outside. 3 — used to describe someone's appearance • I might seem calm on the outside, but I'm actually really nervous. 4 : not in prison • He looked forward to life on the outside again.

²outside adj

1 : located on or near an outer side, edge, or surface of something • an outside wall/corner/door • the outside edge of the foot • (baseball) He struck out on an outside pitch.

2 always used before a noun a : located in or near the area around a building and not inside it • She turned on the outside light to see what was making the noise. b : involving people who are not in the same building, group, or organization as you • The phone will not let you make outside calls. • an outside (telephone) line [=a telephone that allows you to talk to people who are not in the same building as you] • The company hired an outside consultant. — see also outside world at ¹WORLD

3 always used before a noun : not involving your regular job or duties • a businessman with few outside interests besides golf • There were outside influences that affected his decision to retire early.

4 always used before a noun : barely possible : very unlikely • We still have an outside [=small, slight] chance of winning.

³outside adv

1 a : in or to a place that is near but separate from another place • He waited outside [=out] in the hall. b : in or to a place that is in the area around or near a building and not inside it : OUTDOORS • The children love playing outside. • It's raining outside. • It's nice outside, with not a cloud in the sky. • She took the dog outside. [=out] • He ran outside to see what the noise was about. • He looked outside at the snow.

2 : on the outer side, edge, or surface of something • The candy was hard outside but chewy inside. • The car seemed in good condition outside.

⁴outside prep

1 : in a place that is near but separate from (something) • We waited outside the store. • He kept his hands outside his pockets. • There was a dog barking outside the house.

2 : beyond the limits or borders of (something) • activities outside the law [=unlawful activities] • She finished the race five seconds outside the record. • We live outside the city. • I have never traveled outside the U.S. before.

3 : not belonging to (a group or organization) • No one outside the group knew of their plans. • He hired consultants (from) outside the company.

4 : apart from (someone or something) : EXCEPT, BESIDES • Nobody knew outside [(more commonly) outside of] a few close friends.

outside of chiefly US : OUTSIDE • We waited outside of the store. • We live outside of the city. • people outside of the group • Nobody knew outside of a few close friends.

think outside the box see ¹BOX out-sid-er /ˌaʊtˈsaɪdər, ˈaʊtˈsaɪdər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who does not belong to or is not accepted as part of a particular group or organization • To outsiders, the ritual may seem strange. • She felt like an outsider in her new school. — opposite INSIDER

2 chiefly Brit : a person or animal that is not expected to win a race or competition • An outsider defeated the champion! • She was a rank/complete outsider who managed to win.

out-size /ˌaʊtˈsaɪz/ also out-sized /ˌaʊtˈsaɪzd/ adj : very large in size • outsize boots • outsized cars and trucks out-skirts /ˌaʊtˈskɜːts/ noun [plural] : the parts of a city or town that are far from the center • We live on the outskirts of town.

out-smart /ˌaʊtˈsmɑːt/ verb -smarts; -smart-ed; -smart-ing [+ obj] : to defeat or trick (someone) by being more intelligent or clever • He outsmarted [=outwitted] his attackers and escaped unharmed. • The government must gather large amounts of information in order to outsmart its enemies.

out-source /ˌaʊtˈsoʊs/ verb -sourc-es; -sourced; -sourc-ing [+ obj] : to send away (some of a company's work) to be done by people outside the company • The company outsources many of its jobs to less developed countries. • The work was outsourced to a factory in China.

— outsourcing noun [noncount]

out-spend /ˌaʊtˈspend/ verb -spends; -spent; -spending [+ obj] : to spend more money than (someone or something) • He has outspent the other candidates in the election by millions of dollars.

out-spo-ken /ˌaʊtˈspoukən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : talking in a free and honest way about your opinions • She has been an outspoken advocate/supporter of women's rights throughout her life. • an outspoken and controversial radio host • My father was an outspoken critic of the war. = He was outspoken in his criticism of the war. • She's very outspoken about political issues.

— out-spo-ken-ly adv • She is outspokenly liberal/conservative in her views. — out-spo-ken-ness /aʊtˈspoukənəs/ noun [noncount]

out-spread /ˌaʊtˈspred/ adj : spread out completely : stretched out from the sides • a bird gliding through the air on outspread [=outstretched] wings

out-standing /aʊtˈstændɪŋ/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : extremely good or excellent • Tonight we will honor the school's most outstanding students/teachers/athletes/performers. • You did an outstanding job on the project. • the outstanding quality of your work • a wine that is outstanding in quality • As a president, he was outstanding in many ways. • Her novels are outstanding for their complex characters and interesting plots. • The painting is an outstanding example of the artist's style.

2 [more ~; most ~] : easy to notice especially because of being important or very good • There are some outstanding [=conspicuous] exceptions to this rule. • Outstanding among the menu items were the tomato soup and the swordfish.

3 : not yet paid • outstanding [=unpaid] bills • She had several outstanding parking tickets in her car. • He left a balance of 50 dollars outstanding on his account.

4 : continuing to exist • It remains one of the long outstanding [=unresolved] problems in mathematics. • There are several outstanding issues between the two countries.

— out-standing-ly adv [more ~; most ~] • an outstandingly fine example of his work • He played outstandingly.

out-stay /ˌaʊtˈsteɪ/ verb -stays; -stayed; -stay-ing

outstay your welcome see ⁴WELCOME out-stretched /ˌaʊtˈstreɪt/ adj : stretched out or extended from the sides • She ran toward him with outstretched [=open, outspread] arms.

out-strip /ˌaʊtˈstriːp/ verb -strips; -stripped; -strip-ping [+ obj]

1 : to be or become better, greater, or larger than (someone or something) • Their achievements far outstrip [=excel, surpass] our own. • The new hotel outstrips all other hotels in the area in size and luxury. • Demand continues to outstrip [=exceed] supply.

2 : to do better than (someone or something) • She outstripped [=outdid] all of her competitors.

3 : to go faster than (someone or something) • The fullback outstripped the defenders and scored a touchdown.

out-ta /ˌaʊtə/ — used in writing to represent the sound of the phrase out of when it is spoken quickly • Get outta my way! • I'm outta here in half an hour. [=I'm leaving in half an hour] ♦ The pronunciation represented by outta is common in informal speech. The written form should be avoided except when trying to represent or record such speech.

out-take /ˌaʊtˈteɪk/ noun, pl -takes [count]

1 : a scene that is not used in the final version of a movie or television show

2 : a song that is not used for a music album • a collection of the band's old outtakes out-there /ˌaʊtˈðeə/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : very strange or unusual : out of the ordinary • out-there hairstyles • Most of his ideas were really out-there.

out-tray noun, pl ~ trays [count] Brit : OUT-BOX out-vote /ˌaʊtˈvout/ verb -votes; -vot-ed; -vot-ing [+ obj] : to defeat (a person or idea) by winning a larger number of votes • I didn't like the idea, but I was outvoted by the rest of the group.

¹out-ward /ˌaʊtwəd/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to the way that someone or something looks or seems on the outside • Despite her outward [=apparent] calm, she was extremely nervous about the interview. • They showed no outward signs of fear, but they must have been afraid. • She was waiting for some outward expression of his love. • To/By/From all outward appearances, their marriage was quite normal.

2 : able to be seen • He has great outward [=physical] beauty, but is he beautiful on the inside? [=is he a good person?] • There was no outward [=visible] evidence that the parents abused the child. • outward symptoms of the disease

3 : moving or directed away from something • The outward migration of people from the city has hurt the city's economy greatly. • He made a slight outward movement with his right hand. — opposite INWARD

²outward (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit out-wards /ˌaʊtwədz/ adv

1 : toward the outside of something : away from a center • The window faces outward toward the street. • Stand with your heels together, toes pointing outward. • air flowing outwards from the lungs — opposite INWARD

2 : away from yourself • She turns her students' attention outward [=away from their own lives] by making them aware of different cultures. • The country has become more outward looking [=thinking about other people or places] in its economic policies.

out-ward-ly /ˌaʊtwədli/ adv : on the outside • The two brothers may be outwardly similar, but their personalities couldn't be more different. : in a way that can be seen • Though extremely nervous, she was able to remain outwardly calm during the interview. • an outwardly friendly person • Outwardly, their marriage seemed quite normal. — opposite INWARDLY out-weigh /ˌaʊtˈweɪ/ verb -weighs; -weighed; -weigh-ing [+ obj] : to be greater than (someone or something) in weight, value, or importance • She outweighs her sister by 10 pounds. • The advantages far outweigh [=exceed] the disadvantages. • This issue outweighs all others in importance.

out-wit /ˌaʊtˈwɪt/ verb -wits; -wit-ted; -wit-ting [+ obj] : to defeat or trick (someone) by being more intelligent or clever : OUTSMART • The fox managed to outwit the hunter by hiding in a tree. • They thought they had outwitted the new teacher.

out-work-er /ˌaʊtˈwɜːkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : a person who does work for a business, company, etc., at home

out-worn /ˌaʊtˈwɔːn/ adj : no longer useful or acceptable : not modern or current : OUTDATED • an outworn set of beliefs

ouzo /ˈuːzou/ noun [noncount] : a strong, clear liquor from Greece

ova plural of OVUM

¹oval /ˈoʊvəl/ adj : having the shape of an egg : shaped like a circle that is longer than it is wide • an oval mirror • oval leaves

²oval noun, pl ovals [count] : something that has the shape of an egg • The racetrack is an oval.

Oval Office noun

the Oval Office : the office of the U.S. President in the White House

ovar-i-an /ouˈverɪjən/ adj : of or relating to an ovary • ovarian cancer

ova-ry /ˈoʊvəri/ noun, pl -ries [count]

1 : one of usually two organs in women and female animals that produce eggs and female hormones

2 : the part of a flower where seeds are formed — see picture at FLOWER

ova-tion /ouˈveɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : an occurrence in which a group of people at a play, speech, sporting event, etc., show enthusiastic approval or appreciation by clapping their hands together over and over • They gave her a long ovation. [=they applauded her for a long time] • He was welcomed by/with a warm ovation when he came out onto the stage. — see also STANDING OVATION

ov-en /ˈʌvən/ noun, pl -ens [count] : a piece of cooking equipment that is used for baking or roasting food • Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. • Please take the pizza out of the oven. • brick ovens • oven roasted potatoes — see picture at KITCHEN; see also CONVECTION OVEN, DUTCH OVEN, MICROWAVE OVEN, TOASTER OVEN

have a bun in the oven see BUN

like an oven informal : very hot • Open the window. It's like an oven in here.

oven mitt noun, pl ~ mitts [count] chiefly US : a mitten that is made out of a thick material and used for taking hot dishes out of an oven — called also (Brit) oven glove

oven-proof /ˈʌvənˌpruːf/ adj : able to be used in an oven • ovenproof dishes oven-ready adj, always used before a noun : able to be cooked in an oven with no additional preparation • an oven-ready chicken

¹over /'ouvə/ adv

1 : in an upward and forward direction across something • The wall's too high for us to climb over. • We came to a stream and jumped over. • Throw the ball over.

2 a : downward from an upright position • She leaned over and kissed him. • I hurt my back bending over [=down] to pick up my child. b : downward to a flat or horizontal position • She knocked over the lamp. • He tripped and fell over. [=down] • A couple of trees fell over during the storm.

3 : so that the bottom or opposite side is on top • The baby rolled over onto his stomach. • Turn/Flip your cards over.

4 a : from one place to another place • We sent over a card and a basket of fruit. • The teacher called the three girls over. • Come over here. I need to talk to you. • I'm flying over to London this afternoon. • He ran over to his neighbor's house to see what was going on. • Let's head over to the cafeteria. • I'll be right over. • Could you move over a little, please? I need some more space. • Do you want to come over to my place? b : to your home • I invited some friends over for dinner. • They're nice. Why don't you ask them over some time? c : in a particular place • Their house is two streets over (from here). • They're building a new library over by the high school. • Who's that man over by the door? • It's summer now over in Australia. • I grew up in the next town over. [=the town that is next to this town]

5 : from one person or group to another • And now over to our foreign correspondent for the news from abroad. • It's mine! Hand it over! • They turned over the stolen money to the police. — often used figuratively • After years of supporting the Democrats, she suddenly went over to the Republican side. • He's gone over to the opposition.

6 : more than an expected or stated amount or number • The show ran a minute over. = The show ran over by a minute. • The condition is most common in women 65 and over. • Children eight and over [=children who are eight years old and older] may participate in the contest. • At this restaurant, parties of six or over will have a 20 percent gratuity added to their bill.

7 : remaining and not used • We ate the turkey that was left over from Thanksgiving Day dinner. • Most of the money would be spent on fixing the house with some left over for emergencies.

8 : during or throughout a period of time : until a later time (such as the next day) • Do you have enough money to tide you over? • Feel free to stay over [=overnight] if you don't want to drive home tonight. • Mom, can I sleep over [=can I spend the night] at Carrie's house?

9 : so as to cover the entire surface of something • The sky had clouded over [=it had become covered with clouds], and it was beginning to rain. • The empty house's windows had been boarded over several years ago. • He's become famous the world over. [=throughout the world]

10 a : in a complete and thorough way • I'll have to talk the matter over with my wife. • She's still thinking it over. b : from the beginning to the end • Read it over [=through] and let me know what you think.

11 a chiefly US : one more time : AGAIN • You've done it wrong. Do it over. • Let's start over (again) from the beginning. • He lost the computer file and had to do his assignment over. b — used to say how many times something is done or repeated • I had to read the poem twice over [=two times] before I understood its meaning. c — used to say that something is done or happens repeatedly • She became a millionaire many times over. [=she earned many millions of dollars] • I remind him over and over (again) not to leave the door open. • Say the lines over and over until you have memorized them.

12 — used when talking on a radio to show that a message is complete • "We are ready for takeoff instructions. Over."

all over see ²ALL

over (and done) with : finished or completed • Don't worry. The operation will be over with before you know it. • I'd like to get this over with as soon as possible. • No one wants to be here, so let's just get this meeting over with. • I'm just glad to have the test over and done with. • The past is over and done with.

²over prep

1 : from, to, or at a place that is higher than (someone or something) : ABOVE • The sun's coming up over the mountain. • She looked at him over the top of her glasses. • He stood over me [=he stood near me while I was sitting, kneeling, etc.] and asked what I was doing. • Their balcony looks out over the city. • He looked over the fence. • A plane was flying low over the trees. • The meat was cooked over an open fire.

2 : on top of (something) • Someone hit him over [=on] the head with a rock. • She slung the bag over her shoulder. • They served grilled chicken breast over [=on] a bed of rice. : so as to cover (something) • His hat was pulled low over his eyes.

3 : beyond and down from (something) • Throw the rocks over the side of the boat. • He fell over the cliff's edge. • She knocked the glass over the edge of the table.

4 a : from one side to the other side of (something or someone) • We've just crossed over the border into Canada. • walking over [=across] a bridge • Excuse me, I need to reach over you to get the salt. • Tomato vines grew up and over the fence. b : upward and across (something) • We both jumped over the stream. • They couldn't climb over the wall, so they dug a hole under/underneath it. c : on the other side of (something) • Our house is just over that hill.

5 : in the direction of (something) • Hey, look over there! • We're over here! • those trees over yonder

6 : more than (a specified number or amount) • I've been waiting for over an hour. • We haven't seen each other in over a year. • The condition is most common in women over 65. • It was really hot yesterday. It must have been over 100 degrees. • They had over 300 people at their wedding. • That car costs well over [=much more than] $50,000.

7 — used to say that a person or thing is better than (someone or something else) • The new model has several advantages over the old one. • This is a big improvement over our last apartment. • I would choose you over any other woman in the world. • She now has a two-minute lead over [=she is two minutes ahead of] the other runners. • When it comes to creative thinking, humans have it over [=are better than] computers. = When it comes to creative thinking, humans have the advantage over computers.

8 : in a position of power and authority that allows a person or thing to control (someone or something) • We must respect those over us. • The vice president presides over every meeting. • She should be given more authority over her staff. • We have no control over the situation. • countries that hold power over their neighbors • In this case, federal law takes precedence over state law.

9 a : so as to cover the surface of (something) • A strange expression came over his face. • People were boarding over their windows in preparation for the storm. b : in every part of (a place) • These trees once flourished over [=throughout] much of North America.

10 : throughout or during (a particular amount of time) • I'll think about it over the weekend and give you my answer on Monday. • He has accomplished many remarkable things over the course of his career. • The festival is spread (out) over three days. • happening/occurring/developing over a period of 20 years • Over the past 25 years, she has been a valuable asset to our company. • I've come to understand him better over the years. • Over time, the paper begins to turn yellow and brittle.

11 : by using (a radio, television, computer, etc.) • I heard it over [=on] the radio. • We spoke over the phone just yesterday. • sending messages over the Internet • The game was broadcast over the air/airwaves. [=on television or the radio]

12 : because of (someone or something) • Don't get angry over [=about] something so silly. • He got into trouble over a comment about his wife's mother. • She was crying over her old boyfriend. • Afterwards, we laughed over the incident.

13 : concerning or regarding (something) • There is still some controversy over [=about] the use of the drug. • a dispute over the land • the debate over assisted suicide

14 — used to describe something that is done while some activity (such as a meal) is taking place • I plan to meet with my advisers over lunch. [=while we eat lunch together] • We sat over our wine [=drinking our wine] and talked.

15 : finished with (something) : past or beyond (something) • I think we're over the worst of it. Things should get better from now on. • After she got over the initial surprise of being tricked, she started getting angry. • He's upset now, but he'll get over it [=he will stop being upset about it] soon.

16 : without being stopped or prevented by (something) : DESPITE • She spoke to the police over the objections of her lawyer. • Over the protests of several members, the committee passed the bill.

17 : without including or considering (someone or something) • You can skip over that paragraph. • I agree with what you've said, but you passed over an important point.

18 : more loudly and clearly than (another sound) • The players couldn't hear their coach over [=above] the roar of the crowd. • talking/shouting over the noise of the engines

all over see ²ALL

over against — used to describe things that are being compared or that are somehow opposed to each other • comparing the results of one method over against another over and above : in addition to (something) : along with (something) • Over and above the fact that I don't like cats, I am allergic to them. • We each received a bonus over and above our regular paychecks.

³over adj, not used before a noun : having reached the end : FINISHED • When is this class over? • And before we knew it, the storm was over. • Those days are over. • When it's over, it's over. You don't get a second chance. • It's over between them. [=their relationship has ended] over easy not used before a noun, US, of eggs : fried on one side then turned and fried for a short time on the other side • He ordered two eggs over easy.

over- /ˈoʊvə/ prefix

1 a : too much or too great • overconfident • overcrowded • overqualified • override b : so as to be better or beyond • overachieve • overtake

2 : very or extremely • overjoyed

3 : above • overcoat • overhang

4 : forward and often downward • overbite • overboard

over-abun-dance /ˈoʊvərəˈbʌndəns/ noun, pl -danc-es [count] chiefly US : an amount that is too much — often + of • There is an overabundance of lead in the water.

over-achiev-er /ˈoʊvərəˈtʃi:və/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who has much more success than is normal or expected especially at a young age • She is an overachiever who plans to attend a top college. — opposite UNDERACHIEVER

— over-achieve /ˈoʊvərəˈtʃi:v/ verb -achieves; -achieved; -achiev-ing [no obj] • The team overachieved last year and won the title. • an overachieving student over-act /ˈoʊvəˈækt/ verb -acts; -act-ed; -act-ing [no obj] disapproving : to show too much emotion when you are acting in a play, movie, etc. • His tendency to overact made his performance less realistic.

over-ac-tive /ˈoʊvəˈæktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : too active especially in a way that produces a bad result • She has an overactive bladder. • His crazy ideas are products of an overactive imagination.

— over-ac-tiv-i-ty /ˈoʊvərəˈæktɪvəti/ noun [noncount] • This condition is caused by overactivity of the thyroid gland.

¹over-age /ˈoʊvəˈeɪdʒ/ adj : of an age that is greater than what is normal or allowed • The college has many overage students. • The players were banned from the league for being overage. — opposite UNDERAGE ²over-age /ˈoʊvəˈeɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ag-es [count] : an amount by which something (such as a payment) is too much • They paid me back the overage. • She kept track of the cost overages.

¹over-all /ˈoʊvəˈɑ:l/ adv

1 : with everyone or everything included • He scored highest overall. • She figured out what it would cost overall. [=altogether]

2 : as a whole : in general • He made a few mistakes but did well overall. • Overall, the project was successful.

²over-all /ˈoʊvəˈɑ:l/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : including everyone or everything • your overall score after two rounds • What is the overall [=total] cost?

2 : viewed as a whole or in general • His mistake didn't change my overall impression of him. • Your overall health is sound. • She likes the overall quality of the product. • The scratch didn't affect the car's overall appearance.

³over-all /ˈoʊvəˈɑ:l/ noun, pl -alls

1 overalls [plural] US : a pair of pants with an extra piece attached that covers the chest and has straps that go over the shoulders • wearing (a pair of) overalls — called also (Brit) dungarees; see color picture on page C14

2 [count] Brit : a loose coat that is worn over clothes so that they do not get dirty : SMOCK

3 overalls [plural] Brit : a piece of clothing that is worn over other clothes to protect them • The mechanic was dressed in (a pair of) overalls. [= (US) coveralls] over-arch-ing /ˈoʊvəˈɑ:tʃɪŋ/ adj, formal : including or influencing every part of something • the book's overarching theme • Computer downtime is an overarching problem in all departments.

over-arm /ˈoʊvəˈɑ:m/ adj, Brit : OVERHAND • He made an overarm throw.

— overarm adv, Brit • He threw the ball overarm.

over-awe /ˈoʊvəˈɑ:/ verb -awes; -awed; -aw-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) unable to think, speak, or behave normally because of a strong feeling of respect and fear — usually used as (be) overawed • She has competed in the finals before, so she won't be overawed by the experience.

over-balance /ˈoʊvəˈbæləns/ verb -anc-es; -anced; -anc-ing Brit : to lose your balance [no obj] He overbalanced and fell off the stool. [+ obj] She tried to reach the vase but overbalanced herself and fell off the stool.

over-bear-ing /ˈoʊvəˈberɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : often trying to control the behavior of other people in an annoying or unwanted way • He had to deal with his overbearing mother. • Her husband's overbearing manner made her miserable.

over-bite /ˈoʊvəˈbaɪt/ noun, pl -bites [count] : a condition in which your upper teeth are too far in front of your lower teeth • He has a severe overbite.

over-blown /ˈoʊvəˈbloun/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : made to seem very important, intelligent, or great especially in order to impress people • overblown [=pretentious] claims/rhetoric • The problem is overblown. [=it has been exaggerated; it is not as bad as people say it is] over-board /ˈoʊvəˈboəd/ adv : over the side of a ship into the water • He threw/tossed the fish overboard. • The boy fell overboard and almost drowned. • One of the sailors fell into the water, and someone shouted “Man overboard!” — sometimes used figuratively • The managers had to throw the plan overboard [=had to abandon the plan] because it was too expensive.

go overboard informal : to do something in a way that is excessive or extreme : to do too much of something • Don't go overboard on/with the spices. [=do not add too many spices] • She went overboard with the decorations.

over-book /ˈoʊvəˈbuk/ verb -books; -booked; -book-ing : to allow too many people to buy tickets or to reserve seats, tables, rooms, etc. [no obj] The hotel/restaurant overbooked. [+ obj] The flight was overbooked, and I got bumped off. • The airline overbooked the flight. • The doctor's office called and said that they overbooked the appointments for today. — compare DOUBLE-BOOK over-bur-den /ˈoʊvəˈbɜ:dən/ verb -dens; -dened; -den-ing [+ obj] : to give (someone or something) too much work, worry, etc. : to burden (someone or something) too much • She overburdened me with work/guilt. • Why overburden yourself when people are offering to help? — often used as (be) overburdened • He was overburdened by work. • The Web site was overburdened with a high amount of traffic.

over-ca-pac-i-ty /ˈoʊvəkəˈpæsəti/ noun, technical : a situation in which an industry, company, etc., has or produces more of something than it is able to sell or use [noncount] problems with overcapacity [singular] The airlines are lowering their prices because of an overcapacity of seats.

over-cast /ˈoʊvəˈkæst, Brit ˈəʊvəˈkæst/ adj [more ~; most ~] : covered with clouds • The sky was overcast. : darkened by clouds • It was an overcast morning. • They worked in overcast conditions.

over-charge /ˈoʊvəˈtʃɑ:dʒ/ verb -charg-es; -charged; -charg-ing

1 : to charge too much for something : to make someone pay too much money for something [no obj] He overcharges for car repairs. [+ obj] He overcharges his customers for car repairs. • The store overcharged me for my skirt. • The customer was overcharged (by) $10. — opposite UNDERCHARGE

2 [+ obj] : to give too much of an electric charge to (a battery) • I overcharged the battery.

over-coat /ˈoʊvəˈkoʊt/ noun, pl -coats [count] : a long coat that is worn to keep a person warm during cold weather — see color picture on page C15 over-come /ˈoʊvəˈkʌm/ verb -comes; -came /-ˈkeɪm/; -come; -com-ing [+ obj]

1 : to defeat (someone or something) • After a tough battle, they overcame the enemy.

2 : to successfully deal with or gain control of (something difficult) • a story about overcoming adversity • She overcame a leg injury and is back running again. • He overcame [=conquered] his fear of heights and climbed the ladder.

3 : to affect (someone) very strongly or severely — usually used as (be) overcome • The people trapped in the burning building were overcome by the heat and smoke. • The family was overcome [=overwhelmed] by grief.

over-com-pen-sate /ˌoʊvəˈkɑːmpənˌseɪt/ verb -sates; -sat-ed; -sat-ing [no obj] : to try to make up for something that is lacking or bad by doing too much of something else • He overcompensated for his lateness by showing up two hours early the next day. • She overcompensated for her bad skin by wearing too much makeup.

over-com-pli-cate /ˌoʊvəˈkɑːmpləˌkeɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) too difficult to understand • Don't overcomplicate the recipe.
— overcomplicated adj • These instructions are overcomplicated. [=are too complicated] over-con-fi-dent /ˌoʊvəˈkɑːnfədənt/ adj : having too much confidence about something • He was overconfident about passing the test and didn't study for it.

over-cook /ˌoʊvəˈkʊk/ verb -cooks; -cooked; -cook-ing [+ obj] : to cook (food) for too long • She always overcooks steak. — usually used as (be) overcooked • My hamburger was overcooked. [=overdone] • overcooked chicken — opposite UNDERCOOK over-crowd-ed /ˌoʊvəˈkraʊdəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : filled with too many people or things • The prison is very overcrowded. • They are forced to live in overcrowded conditions. • This train feels a bit overcrowded. • overcrowded schools and hospitals over-crowd-ing /ˌoʊvəˈkraʊdɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : a situation in which there are too many people or things in one place • They need to reduce overcrowding in the prison.

over-do /ˌoʊvəˈduː/ verb -does /-ˈdʌz/; -did /-ˈdɪd/; -done /-ˈdʌn/; -do-ing [+ obj]

1 : to do too much of (something) : to do (something) in an excessive or extreme way • You should exercise every day, but don't overdo it. • The acting in that play was badly overdone.

2 : to use too much of (something) • Don't overdo the salt in this recipe. • I think you might have overdone it with the decorations. [=used too many decorations] • Love is a theme that is overdone [=used too often] in the movies.

3 : to cook (food) for too long • The cook overdid the hamburgers. • My steak was slightly overdone. [=overcooked] • an overdone steak

1 over-dose /ˌoʊvəˈdoʊs/ noun, pl -dos-es [count]

1 : an amount of a drug or medicine that is too much and usually dangerous • She died from a cocaine overdose. — often + of • He took/had an overdose of pills.

2 : an amount of something that is too much • a sugar overdose — often + of • An overdose of horror movies gave him nightmares.

2 over-dose /ˌoʊvəˈdoʊs/ verb -dos-es; -dosed; -dos-ing [no obj] : to take too much of a drug or medicine : to take an overdose of a drug or medicine — usually + on • She overdosed on tranquilizers and fell into a coma. — sometimes used figuratively • She overdosed on romance novels over the summer.

over-draft /ˌoʊvəˈdraɪt, Brit ˈəʊvəˈdraːft/ noun, pl -drafts [count] : an amount of money that is spent by someone using a bank account that is more than the amount available in the account : an amount that is overdrawn from an account over-draw /ˌoʊvəˈdraː/ verb -draws; -drew /-ˈdruː/; -drawn /-ˈdraːn/; -draw-ing [+ obj] : to withdraw more money from (an account) than is available • She overdrew her account by $100.

— overdrawn adj • Your account is overdrawn. • an overdrawn account • Customers must pay a fee for being overdrawn on their accounts.

over-dress /ˌoʊvəˈdres/ verb -dress-es; -dressed; -dress-ing [no obj] : to dress in clothes that are too fancy, formal, or warm for an occasion • He overdressed for such a casual party. — opposite UNDERDRESS

— overdressed adj [more ~; most ~] • He was overdressed for the party. • I was overdressed for the weather.

over-drive /ˌoʊvəˈdraɪv/ noun [noncount]

1 : a gear in an automobile that allows it to be driven at higher speeds • He put/shifted the car into overdrive.

2 : a state of great activity especially in order to achieve something • His acting career is in overdrive. • The reporters went into overdrive to finish their stories on time.

over-due /ˌoʊvəˈduː, Brit ˌəʊvəˈdjuː/ adj

1 : not paid at an expected or required time • She reminded him that the rent was overdue. • He has many overdue bills.

2 : not appearing or presented by a stated, expected, or required time • The train is 10 minutes overdue. • Her baby is overdue by one week. [=her baby has not been born yet and it is a week since its birth was expected] • an overdue library book

3 — used to say that something should have happened or been done before now • His promotion is long overdue. = He is long overdue for a promotion. [=he should have been given a promotion by now] • Repairs on that building are long overdue.

over-ea-ger /ˌoʊvəˈiːgə/ adj, chiefly US : too eager • He seemed overeager to pin the blame on someone. • an overeager opponent over-eat /ˌoʊvəˈiːt/ verb -eats; -ate /-ˈeɪt/; -eat-en /-ˈiːtən/; -eat-ing [no obj] : to eat more than is needed or more than is healthy : to eat too much • When I'm tired or stressed, I tend to overeate.

— overeating noun [noncount] • Overeating is unhealthy.

over-em-pha-size also Brit over-em-pha-sise /ˌoʊvəˈɛmfəˌsaɪz/ verb -siz-es; -sized; -siz-ing [+ obj] : to treat (something) with more importance than is needed or proper : to emphasize (something) too strongly • The teacher tends to overemphasize the value of tests. • The importance of a healthy diet cannot be overemphasized. [=a healthy diet is extremely important]

— over-em-pha-sis /ˌoʊvəˈɛmfəsəs/ noun [singular] The article has/puts an overemphasis on the role of the news media in politics. [noncount] There has been some overemphasis on testing.

over-es-ti-mate /ˌoʊvəˈɛstəˌmeɪt/ verb -mates; -mat-ed; -mat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to estimate (something) as being greater than the actual size, quantity, or number • I overestimated the number of chairs we would need for the party. [=I thought we would need more chairs than we actually did] • We overestimated the value of the coins.

2 : to think of (someone or something) as being greater in ability, influence, or value than that person or thing actually is • She overestimated his ability to do the job. • The importance of a good education cannot be overestimated. [=a good education is very important] — opposite UNDERESTIMATE

— over-es-ti-mate /ˌoʊvəˈɛstəˌmeɪt/ noun, pl -mates [count] • Cost overestimates in the budget left us with extra money in the end. — over-es-ti-ma-tion /ˌoʊvəˈɛstəˌˈmeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

over-ex-cited /ˌoʊvəˈɪkˌsaɪtəd/ adj : too excited • The children got overexcited and couldn't get to sleep.

over-ex-pose /ˌoʊvəˈɪkˌspəʊz/ verb -pos-es; -posed; -pos-ing [+ obj]

1 : to leave (something) without covering or protection for too long • It is harmful to overexpose your skin to the sun's rays.

2 : to let too much light fall on (film in a camera) when you are taking a photograph • He overexposed the picture/film. • a badly overexposed picture/image

3 : to give too much public attention or notice to (someone or something) • He has been overexposed by/in the media. • an overexposed celebrity

— over-ex-po-sure /ˌoʊvəˈɪkˌspəʊʒə/ noun [noncount] • overexposure of the skin • The photograph was ruined by overexposure. • a celebrity whose career has been harmed by overexposure

over-ex-tend /ˌoʊvəˈɪkˌstend/ verb -tends; -tend-ed; -tend-ing [+ obj] : to extend or stretch (something) too far • He overextended a muscle in his arm. • She overextended her back.

overextend yourself 1 : to try to do too much • Don't overextend yourself or else you'll burn out. 2 : to spend more money than you can afford to spend • Young people with credit cards often overextend themselves.

— overextended adj • people who are financially overextended over-feed /ˌoʊvəˈfiːd/ verb -feeds; -fed /-ˈfed/; -feed-ing [+ obj] : to give too much food to (someone or something) • Don't overfeed the animals.

over-fill /ˌoʊvəˈfɪl/ verb -fills; -filled; -fill-ing [+ obj] : to fill a container with too much of something • He overfilled the pail and the water spilled out. • an overfilled trash can over-fish /ˌoʊvəˈfɪʃ/ verb -fish-es; -fished; -fish-ing [+ obj] : to catch too many fish so that there are not enough remaining — often used as (be) overfished • The lake has been overfished by both commercial and sport fishermen.

— overfishing noun [noncount] • Several species were nearly wiped out by overfishing.

1 overflow /ˈoʊvəˈflaʊ/ verb -flows; -flowed; -flow-ing

1 : to flow over the edge or top of (something) [+ obj] The river overflowed its banks. [no obj] The creek overflows every spring. • The water in the tub overflowed. — often used figuratively • The large crowd filled the room and overflowed into the lobby.

2 [+ obj] : to fill or cover (something) completely • Books and papers overflowed his desk. • The paragraph overflowed the page.

3 [no obj] : to be completely filled with something : to be so filled that there is not enough room for anything or anyone more • overflowing trash cans — often + with • His desk was overflowing with papers. • The hotels are all filled/full to overflowing with tourists. — often used figuratively • Her heart was overflowing with joy.

2 overflow /ˈoʊvəˈflaʊ/ noun, pl -flows [count]

1 : an act of flowing over the edge or top of something — usually singular; often + of • The rescuers put up sandbags to stop the overflow of the river.

2 a : the amount of something that flows over the edge or top of something else — usually singular • The overflow from the river flooded the field. b : the number of people or things that goes over a limit — usually singular; often + of • The police tried to control the overflow of traffic. • The company hired more people to handle the overflow of phone calls. — sometimes used before another noun • The band played to an overflow crowd. [=a crowd larger than a place is meant to hold]

3 : a pipe or container for liquid that overflows from something else over-fly /ˈoʊvəˈflaɪ/ verb -flies; -flew /-ˈfluː/; -flown /-ˈflaʊn/; -fly-ing [+ obj] : to fly over (a place) • The jets overflew the stadium.

over-ground /ˈoʊvəˈgraʊnd/ adv, Brit : on or above the ground • These trains all run overground.

— overground adj, always used before a noun • an overground train [= (US) an aboveground train] over-grow /ˈoʊvəˈɡroʊ/ verb -grows; -grew /-ˈɡruː/; -grown /-ˈɡroʊn/; -grow-ing [+ obj] : to grow in an uncontrolled way and completely cover or fill (something) • The weeds have overgrown the garden.

— overgrowth /ˈoʊvəˈɡroʊθ/ noun [noncount] • He cut down the overgrowth. • Prune the branches to prevent overgrowth.

overgrown adj

1 : covered with plants that have grown in an uncontrolled way • The garden is overgrown with weeds. • an overgrown path

2 : grown to a size that is unusually or too large • an overgrown plant • an overgrown ego • He acts like an overgrown child.

over-hand /ˈoʊvəˈhænd/ adj, US : made with the hand brought forward and down from above the shoulder • an overhand [= (Brit) overarm] pitch/throw • an overhand tennis stroke — compare UNDERHAND

— overhand adv • I can pitch overhand or underhand.

1 over-hang /ˈoʊvəˈhæŋ/ verb -hangs; -hung /-ˈhæŋ/; -hang-ing [+ obj] : to stick out beyond or hang over (something) • A cliff overhangs the trail. • The patio was overhung by a canopy. • The path was overhung with willow trees.

— overhanging adj • an overhanging cliff • The path was shaded by overhanging branches.

2 overhang noun, pl -hangs [count]

1 : a part that sticks out or hangs over something • The overhang of the roof cast a shadow on the ground.

2 : the amount by which something hangs over something else • a five-foot overhang

over-haul /ˈoʊvəˈhaʊl/ verb -hauls; -hailed; -haul-ing [+ obj]

1 : to look at every part of (something) and repair or replace the parts that do not work • The mechanic overhauled the car's engine.

2 : to change (something) completely in order to improve it • They had to overhaul their original plans. • Lawmakers are overhauling the welfare program.

— over-haul /ˈoʊvəˈhaʊl/ noun, pl -hauls [count] • The engine underwent a complete overhaul. • Lawmakers are attempting a major overhaul of the welfare program.

1 over-head /ˈoʊvəˈhed/ adv : above someone's head : in the sky or space above someone • Geese were flying overhead. • A chandelier hung directly overhead. • People were making noise in the balcony overhead.

— over-head /ˈoʊvəˈhed/ adj • overhead branches. • overhead lights/wires

2 over-head /ˈoʊvəˈhed/ noun [noncount] US : costs for rent, heat, electricity, etc., that a business must pay and that are not related to what the business sells • Her company has very little overhead. • overhead costs — called also (Brit) overheads overhead projector noun, pl ~

-tors [count] : a device that shows information or pictures on a wall or screen by shining a light through a sheet with the information or pictures on it over-hear /ˈoʊvəˈhiə/ verb -hears; -heard /-ˈhæd/; -hear-ing : to hear (something that was said to another person) by accident [+ obj] She overheard what her boss said to his secretary. • I overheard a rumor about you. • We overheard their discussion of the project. = We overheard them discussing the project. • They were overheard discussing the project. [no obj] I couldn't help but overhear. = I couldn't help overhearing. [=I couldn't avoid hearing what was said]

overhead projector

over-heat /ˈoʊvəˈhi:t/ verb -heats; -heat-ed; -heat-ing

1 [no obj] : to become too hot • The car's engine overheated.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to become too hot • I overheated the food in the microwave. • Be careful not to overheat the engine.

over-heat-ed /ˈoʊvəˈhi:təd/ adj

1 : too hot • She worked in a stuffy, overheated office.

2 : too excited or emotional • an overheated imagination/argument • The discussion was getting overheated.

3 of a market or economy : having too much activity, growth, etc. • The market for new houses is overheated. • an overheated economy over-joyed /ˈoʊvəˈdʒɔɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : filled with great joy : very happy • She was overjoyed to see her sister again. • They weren't overjoyed at the idea of working together. • I'm overjoyed that you can come to my party.

over-kill /ˈoʊvəˈkɪl/ noun [noncount] disapproving : something that is much larger, greater, etc., than what is needed for a particular purpose • Yes, we need a new car, but this huge truck seems like overkill. • The incident got blown out of proportion because of media overkill. [=the media gave it much more attention than it deserved] over-land /ˈoʊvəˈlænd/ adv : on or across land instead of over water • We traveled overland by horse to the mountains.

— overland adj • They made an overland journey. • an overland trade route over-lap /ˈoʊvəˈlæp/ verb -laps; -lapped; -lap-ping

1 : to lie over the edge of (something) : to cover part of the edge of (something) [+ obj] The roof shingles overlap each other. [no obj] The roof shingles overlap. • The petals of the flower overlap. = The flower has overlapping petals.

2 : to happen at the same time as something else [no obj] — often + with • Baseball season overlaps with football season in September. [+ obj] Baseball season overlaps football season in September.

3 : to have parts that are the same as parts of something else [no obj] Some of their duties overlap. = They have/share overlapping duties. — often + with • Some of the material in the course overlaps with what I was taught in another course. [+ obj] Some of your duties overlap his.

— over-lap /ˈoʊvəˈlæp/ noun, pl -laps [count] The map shows an overlap in the regions controlled by the two tribes. [noncount] There is some overlap between the two courses. [=the courses cover some of the same material]

1 over-lay /ˈoʊvəˈleɪ/ verb -lays; -laid /-ˈleɪd/; -lay-ing [+ obj] : to cover (something) with a layer of another material — often + with • She overlaid the photograph with a piece of glass. • The tabletop is overlaid with marble. — often used figuratively • Her song was overlaid with sad lyrics and melodic vocals.

2 over-lay /ˈoʊvəˈleɪ/ noun, pl -lays

1 : material that covers the complete surface or part of the surface of something and that changes its appearance [noncount] a silver ring with gold overlay [count] The wooden table has a marble overlay. — often used figuratively • Her voice had an overlay of sadness. [=there was a sad quality in her voice]

2 [count] : a transparent sheet with information or pictures on it that is placed on top of another sheet to change what is being shown over·leaf /'ouvə'li:f/ adv, chiefly Brit : on the other side of the page • You can find the answers overleaf.

over·lie /'ouvə'laɪ/ verb -lies; -lay /-leɪ/; -lain /-'leɪn/; -lying [+ obj] formal : to lie over or on (something) • Sand overlies the clay.

— overlying adj • the overlying layers of rock over·load /'ouvə'ləʊd/ verb -loads; -load·ed; -load·ing [+ obj]

1 : to put too great a load on or in (something) • Don't overload the washing machine. — often + with • The truck was overloaded with wood. — often used figuratively • He overloaded his essay with facts and figures.

2 : to give too much work to (someone) — often + with • My boss is overloading me with extra work.

3 : to cause (something, such as an electrical circuit) to be used for too many things at the same time • That outlet is overloaded and could start a fire. • an overloaded circuit

— over·load /'ouvə'ləʊd/ noun, pl -loads [count] The barge had an overload of cargo. • Fires can start from circuit overloads. [noncount] I'm suffering from advertising overload. [=I have been seeing too many advertisements; I am sick of advertisements] • information overload

over·long /'ouvə'lɔ:ŋ/ adj : longer than usual or necessary : too long • an overlong essay • The movie/meeting was overlong.

over·look /'ouvə'lʊk/ verb -looks; -looked; -look·ing [+ obj]

1 a : to fail to see or notice (something) • The detective overlooked an important clue. b : to pay no attention to (something) • She learned to overlook [=ignore] her boyfriend's minor faults. • Such a crime should not be overlooked.

2 : to not consider (someone) for a job, position, promotion, etc. • The quarterback was overlooked by other teams. — often + for • I was overlooked for a promotion.

3 a : to rise above (something) • the mountains that overlook the village b : to have a view looking down at (something) • We rented a suite that overlooks the lake.

over·lord /'ouvə'lɔəd/ noun, pl -lords [count] : a person who has power over a large number of people • He is the overlord of the underground gambling industry. • a colonial overlord over·ly /'ouvə'li/ adv : to an excessive degree : too • These directions are overly complex. • She's overly sensitive to criticism. • They didn't seem overly concerned about the problem.

over·matched /'ouvə'mætʃt/ adj : fighting or competing against a much stronger opponent • The boxer was badly overmatched. • They wiped out the overmatched rebel army.

over·much /'ouvə'mʌʃ/ adv : too much or very much — usually used in negative statements • Her comments didn't bother me overmuch.

1 over·night /'ouvə'nart/ adv

1 : for or during the entire night • He stayed overnight and went home the next day. • Let the paint dry overnight.

2 : very quickly or suddenly • The novel made her famous overnight.

2 overnight adj

1 : happening, traveling, or staying during the night • They went on an overnight bus trip. • an overnight train • Overnight guests are not allowed in the dormitory.

2 : happening very quickly or suddenly • The show was an overnight success.

overnight bag noun, pl ~ bags [count] : a bag for carrying the clothes and other things that you take for an overnight trip over·night·er /'ouvə'nartə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 a : an overnight trip • He is on an overnighter. b : OVERNIGHT BAG • You should pack an overnighter.

2 : a person who stays somewhere overnight • Overnighters will appreciate the area's fine hotels.

over·op·ti·mis·tic /'ouvə'ɔ:ptə'mɪstɪk/ adj, disapproving : expecting something to be much better in the future : too optimistic • He is overoptimistic about his future success.

over·pass /'ouvə'pæs, Brit 'əʊvə'pɑ:s/ noun, pl -pass·es [count] US : a bridge that allows a road or railroad to cross over another • Boys stood beneath the highway overpass. •

Traffic was stalled on the overpass. — called also (Brit) fly-over; compare UNDERPASS over·pay /'ouvə'peɪ/ verb -pays; -paid /-'peɪd/; -pay·ing

1 : to pay too much for something [no obj] He overpaid for his car. [+ obj] I accidentally overpaid the plumber.

2 [+ obj] disapproving : to pay (someone) more money for a job than is deserved • She is overpaid for the work she does. • The company tends to overpay upper management. • overpaid baseball players — opposite UNDERPAY — over·pay·ment /'ouvə'peɪmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count, noncount]

over·play /'ouvə'pleɪ/ verb -plays; -played; -play·ing [+ obj]

1 : to give too much attention to (something) : to make (something) seem more important than it really is • The network news overplayed the story just to get good ratings. — opposite UNDERPLAY

2 disapproving : to show too much emotion when acting in a play, movie, etc. • He overplayed the death scene.

overplay your hand also overplay your cards : to make a mistake because you believe that your position is stronger or better than it really is • The union overplayed its hand by demanding too much, causing the company to withdraw what would have been its best offer.

over·pop·u·la·tion /'ouvə'pɑ:pjə'leɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : a situation in which too many people or animals live in a certain area • He is studying the problem of deer overpopulation. • world overpopulation

— over·pop·u·lat·ed /'ouvə'pɑ:pjə'leɪtəd/ adj • the shortage of housing in overpopulated cities over·pow·er /'ouvə'pawə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er·ing [+ obj]

1 : to defeat or gain control of (someone or something) by using force • She was able to overpower her attacker. • The police overpowered the man and handcuffed him. • The troops were overpowered by the stronger enemy forces.

2 : to affect (someone) very strongly or severely • The smell overpowered [=overwhelmed] us. • We were overpowered [=overcome] by hunger/grief.

3 : to have more strength, force, or effect than (someone or something) • His personality overpowers everyone else's. • The delicate taste of the wine was overpowered by the spiciness of the food.

overpowering adj [more ~; most ~] : very strong or powerful • an overpowering smell • an overpowering fastball • He has an overpowering personality. • I felt an overpowering urge to tell him what I really thought of him.

over·price /'ouvə'praɪs/ verb -pric·es; -priced; -pric·ing [+ obj] : to give a price that is too high to (something) : to price (something) too high • The store was guilty of overpricing its goods. • Everything in the store is grossly overpriced. • overpriced jewelry over·print /'ouvə'prɪnt/ verb -prints; -print·ed; -print·ing [+ obj] : to add something to (a picture, document, etc.) by printing — usually + with • They overprinted the photo with red lettering. • The money is overprinted with pictures of the queen.

over·pro·duc·tion /'ouvə'prɔ'dʌkʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act of producing more of something than is needed or wanted • The overproduction of oil caused the fuel companies to lower their prices. • Heartburn can be caused by the overproduction of stomach acid.

over·pro·tec·tive /'ouvə'prɔ'tektɪv/ adj : trying too hard to protect someone (such as a child) from danger • His overprotective mother won't let him go out after dark. • He is overprotective of his little sister.

over·qual·i·fied /'ouvə'kwɑ:lə'faɪd/ adj : having more experience, knowledge, or training than is needed • They didn't hire her because she was overqualified for the job.

over·rate /'ouvə'reɪt/ verb -rates; -rat·ed; -rat·ing [+ obj] : to rate, value, or praise (someone or something) too highly • The coach tends to overrate the players on his own team.

— overrated adj [more ~; most ~] • (disapproving) That movie was disappointing and highly/very overrated.

over·reach /'ouvə'ri:tʃ/ verb -reach·es; -reached; -reach·ing : to try to do something that is beyond your ability to do [no obj] She overreaches in her latest book, and her argument is not convincing. [+ obj] The company overreached itself and ran out of money after one year.

over·re·act /'ouvə'ri:ækt/ verb -acts; -act·ed; -act·ing [no obj] : to respond to something with an emotion that is too strong or an action that is unnecessary : to react to something too strongly • My mother overreacted when she learned that I had been in an accident. • The news media always overreacts to any kind of scandal. • He overreacted to his bad grades by quitting school.

– over-re-ac-tion /ˌoʊvəriˈækʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • His angry response was an overreaction.

over-ride /ˌoʊvəˈraɪd/ verb -rides; -rode /-ˈroʊd/; -rid-den /-ˈrɪdn/; -rid-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) no longer valid • Congress overrode the President's veto. • These new rules override the old ones.

2 : to have more importance or influence than (something) • Don't let anger override common sense.

3 : to stop an action that is done automatically by using a special command • You must enter a code to override the alarm. • She overrode the default settings on her computer.

overriding adj, always used before a noun : more important than anything else • We have one overriding concern. • The weather is the overriding factor in deciding whether to cancel the picnic.

over-ripe /oʊvəˈraɪp/ adj

1 : grown or aged past the point of ripeness and beginning to decay : too ripe • overripe fruit/cheese

2 a : not new or young • an overripe [=aging] rock star b : not fresh or original • overripe [=trite] prose over-rule /oʊvəˈruːl/ verb -rules; -ruled; -rul-ing [+ obj] : to decide that (something or someone) is wrong : to rule against (something or someone) • The judge overruled the objection/attorney. • His conviction was overruled by the supreme court. — sometimes used figuratively • We sometimes let our hearts overrule our sense of reason.

over-run /ˌoʊvəˈrʌn/ verb -runs; -ran /-ˈræn/; -run; -run-ning [+ obj]

1 : to enter and be present in (a place) in large numbers • The tank divisions overran the countryside. • The city was being overrun by enemy troops. • Rats overran the ship. • In the summer, the town is overrun with/by tourists. [=is filled with tourists]

2 : to run or go beyond or past (something) • The runner overran [=ran past] third base. • The plane overran the runway. • The stream has overrun [=overflowed] its banks. • His speech overran the time allowed.

3 : to spread over or throughout (something) • Weeds overran the garden. = The garden was overrun with/by weeds. • Crime overran the neighborhood.

over-run /ˌoʊvəˈrʌn/ noun, pl -runs [count] : an amount of money that is spent and that is more than the expected or planned amount • cost/budget overruns over-seas /ˌoʊvəˈsiːz/ adv : in or to a foreign country that is across a sea or ocean • I lived overseas [=abroad] for a time. • The troops were sent overseas.

– over-seas /ˌoʊvəˈsiːz/ adj • overseas flights/markets over-see /ˌoʊvəˈsiː/ verb -sees; -saw /-ˈsɑː/; -seen /-ˈsiːn/; -see-ing [+ obj] : to watch and direct (an activity, a group of workers, etc.) in order to be sure that a job is done correctly : SUPERVISE • He was hired to oversee design and construction of the new facility.

over-seer /ˌoʊvəˈsiːə/ noun, pl -seers [count] : a person who watches and directs the work of other people in order to be sure that a job is done correctly • She was named overseer [=supervisor] of new product development. • government/industry overseers • (US) a plantation/slave overseer [=the person who was in charge of the slaves on a plantation]

over-sell /ˌoʊvəˈsel/ verb -sells; -sold /-ˈsoʊld/; -sell-ing [+ obj]

1 : to accept payment or reservations for more rooms, seats, tickets, etc., than you have available • Hotels routinely oversell their rooms, expecting a small percentage of no-shows. • The concert was oversold. [=more tickets were sold than there were seats] • an oversold [=overbooked] flight

2 : to praise (something or someone) too much • Don't oversell yourself in the job interview. • The salesman oversold the features on the new model.

over-sen-si-tive /ˌoʊvəˈsensətɪv/ adj : too sensitive: such as a : too easily upset or offended • Oversensitive readers might be unhappy with some parts of the book. • students who are oversensitive to criticism b : acting or reacting too quickly • a car with oversensitive brakes over-sexed /ˌoʊvəˈseks/ adj : having more interest in sex than is usual • a movie about oversexed college students over-shad-ow /ˌoʊvəˈʃædɒw/ verb -ows; -owed; -ow-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something or someone) to seem less important or impressive when compared to something or someone else • The pitcher's outstanding performance should not overshadow the achievements of the rest of the team. — often used as (be) overshadowed • She felt overshadowed by the success of her brother.

2 : to make (something) less enjoyable because of sadness, fear, or worry — often used as (be) overshadowed • Their lives are overshadowed by the constant threat of earthquakes. • Recent peace efforts have been overshadowed by violence.

3 : to cast a shadow over (something) • a house overshadowed by tall trees [=a house with tall trees next to it]

over-shoe /ˌoʊvəˈʃuː/ noun, pl -shoes [count] : a rubber shoe worn over another shoe in bad weather over-shoot /ˌoʊvəˈʃuːt/ verb -shoots; -shot /-ˈʃɔːt/; -shoot-ing [+ obj] : to go over or beyond (something) • The plane overshot the runway. • He overshot the target. • We're afraid that costs may overshoot [=exceed] projections. • Sometimes we overshoot our time limits.

over-sight /ˌoʊvəˈsaɪt/ noun, pl -sights

1 [count] : a mistake made because someone forgets or fails to notice something • The fact that you didn't get an invitation is surely just an oversight. • The error was a simple oversight.

2 [noncount] : the act or job of directing work that is being done • The new manager was given oversight of the project. • a congressional oversight committee [=a congressional committee that oversees something] over-sim-ple-ify /ˌoʊvəˈsɪmpleɪfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing : to describe (something) in a way that does not include all the facts and details and that causes misunderstanding [+ obj] The article oversimplifies the problem. • She tends to oversimplify things. [no obj] We must resist the temptation to oversimplify.

– over-sim-ple-fi-ca-tion /ˌoʊvəˈsɪmpleɪfəˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

over-size /ˌoʊvəˈsaɪz/ or over-sized /ˌoʊvəˈsaɪzd/ adj : larger than the normal size : very large • an oversize package over-sleep /ˌoʊvəˈsliːp/ verb -sleeps; -slept /-ˈslept/; -sleep-ing [no obj] : to sleep past the time when you planned to get up • Be sure to set your alarm clock so that you don't oversleep.

over-spend /ˌoʊvəˈspend/ verb -spends; -spent /-ˈspent/; -spend-ing : to spend more than the planned or proper amount of money [no obj] The studio clearly overspent on marketing, and the movie was still a flop. [+ obj] We try not to overspend our budget. [=to spend more than our budget allows] – overspend noun, pl -spends [count] Brit • The government overspend on administrative costs hit record levels.

over-spill /ˌoʊvəˈspɪl/ noun, Brit : the movement of people from crowded cities to less crowded areas [singular] an overflow into nearby towns [noncount] a new town built to absorb London's overflow over-staffed /ˌoʊvəˈstæft, Brit ˌoʊvəˈstɑːft/ adj : having more workers than is necessary • The store is overstaffed and will probably begin to lay off some workers.

over-state /ˌoʊvəˈsteɪt/ verb -states; -stat-ed; -stat-ing [+ obj] : to say that (something) is larger or greater than it really is • The company overstated revenue [=the company reported more revenue than it actually earned] for the past year. • It would be overstating the case to say that it was a matter of life or death. • It would be difficult to overstate the damage done by the storm. [=the storm did a great amount of damage] • The importance of tomorrow's test cannot be overstated. [=tomorrow's test is very important]

– over-state-ment /ˌoʊvəˈsteɪtmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] an overstatement of profits • It's not an overstatement to say that he'll eat anything. [noncount] He is often given to overstatement.

over-stay /ˌoʊvəˈsteɪ/ verb -stays; -stayed; -stay-ing [+ obj] : to stay longer than you are expected or allowed to stay • She was guilty of overstaying a student visa. • Don't overstay your welcome. [=do not stay longer than you should] over-step /ˌoʊvəˈstep/ verb -steps; -stepped; -step-ping [+ obj] : to go beyond what is proper or allowed by (something) • The judges overstepped their authority. [=the judges did something that they are not allowed to do] • He overstepped the bounds/limits of good taste. [=he did something that was not proper] • She warned us not to overstep the mark/line. [=do something that is not proper or allowed]

over-stim-u-late /ˌoʊvəˈstimjəˌleɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone or something) to become too active or excited : to stimulate (someone or something) too much • antibodies that overstimulate the thyroid • an overstimulated child

— over-stim-u-la-tion /ˌoʊvəˈstimjəˌleɪʃən/ noun [non-count]

over-stock /ˌoʊvəˈstɔːk/ verb -stocks; -stocked; -stock-ing [+ obj] : to cause (something) to have a larger amount of something than is needed or wanted — often used as (be) overstocked • The stores are overstocked with toys around Christmas. • The pond is overstocked with fish. • an overstocked refrigerator/warehouse

— over-stock /ˌoʊvəˈstɔːk/ noun [noncount] • At the end of the season, the overstock is sold off at a discount.

over-stretch /ˌoʊvəˈstreɪʃ/ verb -stretch-es; -stretched; -stretch-ing [+ obj]

1 : to stretch (something) too far or too much • Take care not to overstretch his sweater. • overstretch a muscle

2 chiefly Brit : to try to do too much with (something) • Don't overstretch your resources. : to try to make (someone) do too much • an overstretched serving staff • Home buyers should not financially overstretch themselves. [=not spend more money than they can afford to spend]

over-stuffed /ˌoʊvəˈstʌft/ adj

1 : completely full or too full • overstuffed plastic bags • pockets overstuffed with cash

2 of furniture : having a large amount of soft padding : very soft and comfortable • an overstuffed armchair over-sub-scribed /ˌoʊvəsəbˈskraɪbd/ adj — used to describe a situation in which something is wanted by many people but there are not enough copies, rooms, etc., for everyone • an oversubscribed stock issue • an oversubscribed course/school over-sup-ply /ˌoʊvəsəˈplaɪ/ noun, pl -plies [count] : an amount of something that is more than is needed or wanted • An oversupply of office space drove down rent prices. • There is a global oversupply of sugar.

overt /oʊˈvɛt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : easily seen : not secret or hidden : OBVIOUS • overt hostility — opposite COVERT

— overt-ly adv • an overtly religious reference

over-take /ˌoʊvəˈteɪk/ verb -takes; -took /-ˈtʊk/; -tak-en /-ˈteɪkən/; -tak-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to move up to and past (someone or something that is in front of you) by moving faster • The car overtook [=passed] the leader of the race on the turn. • She overtook the other runners and went on to win the race. — often used figuratively • All of the other candidates hope to overtake the front-runner by election day. • Obesity may soon overtake smoking as the leading cause of preventable deaths. • Frank has overtaken his father in height. [=Frank is now taller than his father] b [no obj] Brit : to go past another vehicle that is moving more slowly in the same direction • Never overtake [= (US) pass] on a curve. • The sign says “No Overtaking.”

2 [+ obj] : to happen to or affect (someone) in a sudden and unexpected way • The pain overtook him. • Seasickness can overtake passengers when the ship encounters a storm. • Sleep had overtaken them. • I could feel the impulse to buy it overtaking [=seizing] me.

overtaken by events : forced to be changed because of something that has suddenly and unexpectedly happened • The original date for the meeting was overtaken by events and had to be changed.

over-tax /ˌoʊvəˈtæks/ verb -tax-es; -taxed; -tax-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (someone or something) do more than that person or thing is able to do or should do : to make heavy demands on (someone or something) • New housing development in the town will overtax sewer and drinking water systems. • We are afraid the trip might overtax his health/strength. • The children overtaxed her patience. • The hospital's overtaxed emergency room needs more doctors.

2 : to make (people) pay too much in taxes • He claims that the city has been overtaxing its residents for years.

over-the-counter adj, always used before a noun

1 : available for purchase without a special note (called a prescription) from a doctor • an over-the-counter medication • over-the-counter drugs — abbr. OTC; see also over the counter at ¹COUNTER

2 US, business : not traded on an organized stock exchange • an over-the-counter stock over-the-top adj [more ~; most ~] informal : going beyond what is expected, usual, normal, or appropriate : excessive or exaggerated • an over-the-top performance — see also over the top at ¹TOP over-throw /ˌoʊvəˈθrou/ verb -throws; -threw /-ˈθruː/; -thrown /-ˈθroun/; -throw-ing [+ obj]

1 : to remove (someone or something) from power especially by force • overthrow a government • The dictator was overthrown.

2 US, sports : to throw a ball over or past (someone) • He overthrew the first baseman. = He overthrew first base. • The quarterback overthrew his receiver.

— over-throw /ˌoʊvəˈθrou/ noun, pl -throws [count, non-count]

over-time /ˌoʊvəˈtaɪm/ noun [noncount]

1 a : time spent working at your job that is in addition to your normal working hours • I worked two hours of overtime last week. • He was doing a lot of overtime to save for his vacation. b : the money paid for work that is done in addition to your normal working hours • How much did you earn last month in overtime? • overtime pay

2 : extra time added to a game when the score is tied at the end of the normal playing time • The game went into overtime. • They lost the game in overtime. — often used before another noun • an overtime win/period/game — overtime adv • He has been working overtime. — often used figuratively • Her imagination was working overtime. [=her imagination was extremely active] • He's been working overtime [=working very hard] around the house to please his wife.

over-tired /ˌoʊvəˈtaɪəd/ adj : extremely tired • I've been feeling overtired and stressed out.

over-tone /ˌoʊvəˈtoʊn/ noun, pl -tones [count]

1 : an idea or quality that is suggested without being said directly • Their words carried an overtone [=hint, suggestion] of menace. • racist/political overtones

2 : a very small amount of something • The wine has overtones of fruitiness. [=hints of the taste of fruit]

3 music : a higher tone that is part of the sound of a musical note over-ture /ˌoʊvəˈtʃər/ noun, pl -tures [count]

1 : a piece of music played at the start of an opera, a musical play, etc.

2 : something that is offered or suggested with the hope that it will start a relationship, lead to an agreement, etc. • The government has made a significant peace overture by opening the door to negotiation. • He was making (romantic/sexual) overtures to her during dinner. • The company's board rejected overtures [=offers] for a merger.

3 : the first part of an event : the beginning of something • Experts feared that the tremor was an overture [=prelude] to a major earthquake.

over-turn /ˌoʊvəˈtɜːn/ verb -turns; -turned; -turn-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to turn (something) over • The dog overturned the bowl. b [no obj] : to turn over • The truck went off the road and overturned several times.

2 [+ obj] : to decide that (a ruling, decision, etc.) is wrong and change it : REVERSE • The court overturned his conviction.

¹over-use /ˌoʊvəˈjuːz/ verb -us-es; -used; -us-ing [+ obj] : to use (something) too much or too often • Try not to over-use the medication. • an overused phrase

²over-use /ˌoʊvəˈjuːs/ noun [noncount] : too much use • the overuse of antibiotics • The couch sagged from overuse.

over-val-ue /ˌoʊvəˈvælju/ verb -val-ues; -val-ued; -val-u-ing [+ obj]

1 : to place too high a value on (something) • Is property in this part of town overvalued? [=priced too high]

2 : to give too much importance to (something) • He overvalues the opinions of his friends.

over-view /ˌoʊvəˈvjuː/ noun, pl -views [count] : a general explanation or description of something : SUMMARY • I was asked to give an overview of the company's sales figures. • This book provides a broad/general overview of American history.

over-ween-ing /ˌoʊvəˈwiːnɪŋ/ adj, formal + disapproving

1 : too confident or proud • speeches by overweening politicians

2 : too great : excessive and unpleasant • overweening ambition/pride over-weight /ˌoʊvəˈweɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : weighing more than the normal or expected amount : too heavy • He's only slightly overweight. • He looked to be at least 20 pounds overweight. • an overweight package overwhelm /ˌoʊvəˈwɛlm/ verb -whelms; -whelmed; -whelm-ing [+ obj]

1 : to affect (someone) very strongly • Grief overwhelmed her. = She was overwhelmed by grief. [=she felt grief so strongly that she was unable to think or act in a normal way] • Her neighbor's kindness overwhelmed her. [=moved her deeply]

2 : to cause (someone) to have too many things to deal with • The many requests for assistance overwhelmed them. = They were overwhelmed by the many requests for assistance. [=they could not respond to the many requests for assistance because there were too many] • Don't overwhelm him with facts. • They were overwhelmed with work.

3 : to defeat (someone or something) completely • The city was overwhelmed by the invading army. • She was overwhelmed at the polls. [=she was badly defeated in the election]

4 : to cover over (something) completely with water • The boat was overwhelmed [=engulfed] by a huge wave.

overwhelm-ing /ˌoʊvəˈwɛlmɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very great in number, effect, or force • The response was overwhelming. • overwhelming [=very strong] evidence/support • an overwhelming majority/success

2 — used to describe something that is so confusing, difficult, etc., that you feel unable to do it • She found the job overwhelming at first.

— overwhelm-ing-ly adv • The town voted overwhelmingly for the new library. • an overwhelmingly difficult task overwin-ter /ˌoʊvəˈwɪntər/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] : to spend or survive the winter • The geese will overwinter in a warmer climate.

overwork /ˌoʊvəˈwɜːk/ verb -works; -worked; -work-ing

1 : to work too hard [no obj] The whole crew seemed exhausted, probably from overworking. [+ obj] The captain routinely overworked the crew.

2 [+ obj] : to use (something) too much or too often • He overworks the melody in the song. • overwork a phrase

3 [+ obj] : to work on (something) too much • She overworked the painting. • If you overwork the dough, the bread will be tough.

— overwork noun [noncount] • They were exhausted from overwork. — overworked adj • He says that he's overworked and underpaid. • She always looks tired and overworked. • an overworked phrase/expression

overwrite /ˌoʊvəˈraɪt/ verb -writes; -wrote /-ˈroʊt/; -writ-ten /-ˈrɪtɪn/; -writ-ing

1 [+ obj] : to replace information in (a computer file) with new information • overwrite the existing file

2 : to write in a way that is too detailed or complicated [no obj] The author has a tendency to overwrite. [+ obj] — usually used as (be) overwritten • The novel was overwritten and dull.

overwrought /ˌoʊvəˈraɪt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very excited or upset • The witness became overwrought as she described the crime. • an overwrought performance overzealous /ˌoʊvəˈzeləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : too eager or enthusiastic : too zealous • overzealous fans • overzealous enforcement of the rules

— overzealous-ly adv — overzealous-ness noun [noncount] oviduct /ˈoʊvɪdʌkt/ noun, pl -ducts [count] biology : a tube through which eggs pass from the ovary of a female animal ovoid /ˈoʊvɔɪd/ adj, formal : shaped like an egg • an ovoid leaf ovulate /ˈoʊvjəˈleɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [no obj] biology, of a woman or a female animal : to produce eggs within the body

— ovu-la-tion /ˈoʊvjəˈleɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

ovum /ˈoʊvəm/ noun, pl ova /ˈoʊvə/ [count] biology : ¹EGG ³ ow /ˈaʊ/ interj — used to express sudden pain • Ow! That hurts!

owe /ˈoʊ/ verb owes; owed; ow-ing

1 : to need to pay or repay money to a person, bank, business, etc. [+ obj] I still owe money on the car. [=I have not yet paid back all the money I borrowed to buy the car] • We owe no income tax. • He owes me $5. • Don't I owe money to you? = Don't I owe you money? • I owe the bank a lot of money. • Additional payments are owed on the mortgage. • How much is owed? = What is the amount owed? • How much do I owe (you) for this? [no obj] I still owe on the car. 2 [+ obj] a : to need to do or give something to someone who has done something for you or given something to you • I owe you a drink/favor. • I owe you my thanks. • (informal) What do you mean you won't help? You owe me! • She still owes me for all the times I've helped her out. • Thanks for your help. I owe you one. [=I will give you help when you need it] b — used to say that something should be done for or given to someone • You owe me an explanation. • I owe you an apology. • The senator is owed a degree of respect. [=the senator deserves some respect] • We owe it to the veterans to build a memorial. [=we should build a memorial to honor and thank the veterans] • You owe it to yourself to have fun. [=you deserve to let yourself have fun] • He owes it to himself to travel while he still can.

3 [+ obj] — used to indicate the person or thing that made something possible • She owes her family for her success. [=her family enabled her to become successful] — often + to • I owe my success to my teachers. [=my teachers deserve credit for my success] • She owes her success to hard work. [=she has succeeded because of hard work] • He owes his wealth to his father. • He owes his fame to several movies. [=he is famous because he was in several movies] • His success owes more to luck than skill. [=is more because of luck than skill] • I owe my life to the surgeon's skill. [=the surgeon's skill saved my life] • We owe our understanding of gravity to Newton.

owe a debt of gratitude/thanks to someone see DEBT owing adj, not used before a noun, Brit : due to be paid • Do you have any bills owing? [=any bills that you have not yet paid] owing to prep : because of (something) • The ambassador was absent owing to [=due to] illness. • She walks with a limp owing to a childhood injury.

owl /ˈaʊl/ noun, pl owls [count] : a bird that usually hunts at night and that has a large head and eyes, a powerful hooked beak, and strong claws — see color picture on page C9; see also BARN OWL, NIGHT OWL, SCREECH OWL

owl-et /ˈaʊlɪt/ noun, pl -ets [count] : a young or small owl owl-ish /ˈaʊlɪʃ/ adj : resembling or suggesting an owl • an owl-ish face • owl-ish eyes/glasses — often used to describe a person who wears round glasses and seems serious and intelligent

¹own /ˈoʊn/ adj, always used before a noun

1 — used to say that something belongs or relates to a particular person or thing and to no other; always used after a possessive (such as “my,” “your,” or “their”) • We each had our own book. • The star of the show needs his own private dressing room. • Each of the houses is beautiful in its own way. • His novel is based on his own personal experiences. • “In my own experience,” she said, “I have found that women are better workers than men.” • My father built this boat with his own (two) hands. • I've got my own problems; I don't have time to listen to yours. • She had her own reasons for not wanting to go. • Mind your own business! This has nothing to do with you! • I don't like punishing you, but it's for your own good. • It's your own fault that you failed the test. You should have studied more. • He's too old for her. Why doesn't she date someone her own age? [=someone who is the same age as her] • I now have my very own office!

2 — used to stress the fact that a person does or makes something without the help of other people; always used after a possessive • She's always dreamed of starting her own business. • They built their own home. • I'm going out tonight, so you'll have to cook your own dinner. • He acted as his own lawyer during the trial.

²own pronoun : something or someone that belongs or relates to a particular person or thing and to no other — always used after a possessive (such as “my,” “your,” “their,” or “Joe's”) • The teacher gave out books so that each of us had our own. • Do you want to share a bag of popcorn, or should we each get our own? • He loves children and would like one of his own someday. • We've got problems of our own. • I have a few ideas of my own. • The Senator's views are entirely his own and do not represent those of his party. • The band has a style all its own. [=no other band has the same style] • I don't need much—just a little place to call my own. [=just a little place that belongs only to me] • The apartment isn't much, but she's made it her own. [=she has changed it to suit her; she has personalized it] • Through no fault of their own.

these children are forced to live in poverty. • When you're a little older, you can have a bike of your very own

come into your own see ¹COME get your own back see get back at GET

hold your own see ¹HOLD

on your own ¹ : without being helped by anyone or anything • He's still too weak to stand on his own. • No one had to tell me; I found out on my own. • The rash went away on its own after a few days. • Keys don't just disappear on their own. You must have left them somewhere. • I came up with the idea all on my own ^{2 a} : without anyone or anything else : ALONE • She lived on her own for a few years before getting married. ^b : in a state or condition in which there is nobody to help you • If you mess up, you're on your own. • They can't survive on their own in the wilderness.

to each his own or each to his own see ²EACH

³own verb owns; owned; own-ing

¹ not used in progressive tenses [+ obj] : to have (something) as property : to legally possess (something) • We hope to someday own our own home. • She drives a red truck that was originally owned by her grandfather. • He owns the rights to the band's music. • a publicly/privately owned company • The couple owns and operates the business. • (disapproving) He walks/struts around here like he owns the place [=like someone who has the right to tell other people what to do]

² old-fashioned : to admit that something is true [+ obj] After everyone else denied any responsibility, he owned that he was at fault. [no obj] — usually + to • He would not own to the mistake. [=he would not admit the mistake] own up [phrasal verb] : to admit that you have done a usually bad thing : to confess to something • I know he broke the window, but so far, he hasn't owned up. — usually + to • I'm waiting for him to own up to it.

own-brand adj, Brit : STORE-BRAND

owner /'əʊnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or group that owns something • Who's the owner of that car? [=who owns that car?; whose car is that?] • The restaurant's previous owner was unable to make a profit. • Congratulations! You are now the proud owner of a brand-new car! • The stolen jewelry was found and returned to its rightful owner. — often used in combination • dog-owners and cat-owners — see also HOMEOWNER, LANDOWNER

— owner-less adj • ownerless pets owner-occupied adj : lived in by the owner • owner-occupied apartments

— owner-occupier noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly Brit • renters and owner-occupiers own-er-ship /'əʊnə,ʃɪp/ noun [noncount] : the state or fact of owning something • Home ownership is on the rise in this country. [=an increasing number of people own their own homes in this country] • The restaurant is now under new ownership. [=different people now own the restaurant] • The company is under private ownership.

own goal noun, pl ~ goals [count]

¹ chiefly Brit : a goal in soccer, hockey, etc., that a player accidentally scores against his or her own team • We lost the game when one of our players scored an own goal for the other team.

² Brit : something that you do because you think it will help you but that actually hurts you • The workers scored an own goal by demanding such high wages that no one could afford to employ them.

own-label adj, Brit : STORE-BRAND

ox /'ɑːks/ noun, pl ox-en /'ɑːksən/ also ox [count]

¹ : a bull that has had its sex organs removed

² : a cow or bull

ox-bow /'ɑːks,bəʊ/ noun, pl -bows [count] US : a place where a river curves in the shape of a U

Ox-bridge /'ɑːks,bɪdʒ/ adj, always used before a noun, Brit

: of or relating to Oxford and Cambridge Universities • Ox-bridge graduates — compare REDBRICK

— Oxbridge noun [noncount] • graduates of Oxbridge

ox-cart /'ɑːks,kɑːt/ noun, pl -carts [count] : a cart pulled by oxen

ox-ford /'ɑːksfəd/ noun, pl -fords

¹ [count] chiefly US : a low shoe usually made of leather and fastened with laces • a pair of oxfords

^{2 a} [noncount] : soft, strong cotton usually used for making shirts ^b [count] US : a shirt made of oxford • a button-down oxford • a blue oxford shirt

ox-ide /'ɑːk,said/ noun, pl -ides [count, noncount] chemistry : a compound of oxygen and another substance • iron oxide ox-i-dize /'ɑːksə,daɪz/ also Brit ox-i-dise verb -diz-es; -dized; -diz-ing [no obj] : to become combined with oxygen • The paint oxidizes and discolors rapidly.

— ox-i-da-tion /'ɑːksə'deɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

ox-y-gen /'ɑːksɪdʒən/ noun [noncount] : a chemical that is found in the air, that has no color, taste, or smell, and that is necessary for life • breathing pure oxygen — often used before another noun • an oxygen tank • The doctors monitored oxygen levels in her blood.

ox-y-gen-ate /'ɑːksɪdʒə,neɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] technical : to add oxygen to (something) • oxygenate the blood

— ox-y-gen-a-tion /'ɑːksɪdʒə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

oxygen mask noun, pl ~ masks [count] : a mask worn over your nose and mouth so that you can breathe oxygen from a storage tank oxygen tent noun, pl ~ tents [count] : a piece of medical equipment that surrounds the body or head of a patient like a small, clear tent and that is filled with flowing oxygen ox-y-mo-ron /'ɑːksɪ'moʊ,ɑːn/ noun, pl -rons [count] : a combination of words that have opposite or very different meanings • The phrase "cruel kindness" is an oxymoron.

— ox-y-mo-ron-ic /'ɑːksɪmə'rɑːnɪk/ adj • an oxymoronic statement/concept oys-ter /'ɔɪstə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a type of shellfish that has a rough shell with two parts and that is eaten both cooked and raw — see color picture on page C8

the world is your oyster informal ✧ If the world is your oyster, your life is good and you have the ability to do whatever you want to do. • We were young and happy, and the world was our oyster.

oyster bed noun, pl ~ beds [count] : a place in the ocean where oysters grow oyster cracker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : a small salted cracker that is usually round oysters Rockefeller /-'rɑːki,felə/ noun [plural] US : cooked oysters that are covered with various toppings (such as spinach) and a buttery sauce and served on their shells

oz. abbr, US ounce; ounces

Oz /'ɑːz/ noun [noncount] Brit, informal — used as a name for Australia

ozone /'əʊ,zəʊn/ noun [noncount]

¹ : a form of oxygen that is found in a layer high in the earth's atmosphere • Scientists are concerned about ozone depletion. • an ozone-friendly product [=a product that will not reduce the ozone in the upper atmosphere]

² chiefly Brit, informal : fresh healthy air especially near the sea • A light breeze filled the rooms of our seaside cottage with ozone.

ozone hole noun, pl ~ holes [count] : an area of the ozone layer where there is very little ozone ozone layer noun [noncount] : a layer of ozone in the upper atmosphere that prevents dangerous radiation from the Sun from reaching the surface of the Earth

P

¹p or P /'pi:/ noun, pl p's or ps or P's or Ps /'pi:z/ : the 16th letter of the English alphabet [count] a word that starts with a p [noncount] a word that starts with p

mind your p's and q's also US watch your p's and q's : to be careful about behaving in a polite or proper way • We knew to mind our p's and q's around our aunt.

²p abbr 1 or p. page • p. 46 ♦ The abbreviation for "pages" is pp. • pp. 46–48 2 per • mph [=miles per hour] 3 Brit pence; penny • That costs 40*p.*

pa /'pa:/ noun, pl pas [count] informal + old-fashioned : a person's father • my ma and pa • Pa, can I go out?

p.a. abbr, chiefly Brit per annum

¹PA abbr Pennsylvania

²PA /,pi:'ei/ noun, pl PAs [count]

1 : a machine with a microphone and speakers used for making announcements in a public place — usually used with the • The name of the raffle winner was announced over the PA. — called also PA system, public address system

2 US : PHYSICIAN'S ASSISTANT

PAC /'pæk/ noun, pl PACs [count] US : POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE

¹pace /'peis/ noun, pl pac-es

1 [singular] a : the speed at which someone or something moves • He can run at a decent pace. [=he can run fairly fast] • We walked at a leisurely pace along the shore. • I told the kids to pick/step up the pace. [=go faster] • He rode his bike up the hill at a snail's pace. [=very slowly] • We encourage you to hike the trail at your own pace. [=at a speed that suits you and lets you be comfortable] b : the speed at which something happens • The pace of the story was slow. • His new album is selling at a blistering/breakneck/dizzying pace. • Despite quickly advancing medical technology, the pace [= (more commonly) rate] of change in her field remained slow and steady. • She liked the fast pace of life in the city. [=she liked the fast way things happened in the city] — see also CHANGE OF PACE

2 [count] : a single step or the length of a single step — usually plural • The tree is about 30 paces from the front door. • The dog walked a few paces behind us.

go through your paces : to do something in order to show others how well you do it • The athletes went through their paces as the coaches looked on. • a show horse going through its paces for the judges keep pace with : to go or make progress at the same speed as (someone or something else) • Our production can't keep pace with [=keep up with] the orders coming in. • The law has not kept pace with technology. [=the law has not changed fast enough to reflect changes in technology] • She struggles to keep pace with her classmates.

off the pace US : behind in a race, competition, etc. • The winner finished in 4 minutes, 30 seconds, and the next runner was three seconds off the pace. [=finished three seconds later] • The other runners were way off the pace.

put someone or something through his/her/its paces : to test what someone or something can do • We brought home three different computers and put them through their paces.

set the pace : to be the one that is at the front in a race and that controls how fast the other racers have to go • As our fastest runner, he usually sets the pace for the rest of the team. — often used figuratively • The company's advanced equipment sets the pace for the recording industry. — see also PACESETTER

²pace verb paces; paced; pac-ing

1 : to walk back and forth across the same space again and again especially because you are nervous [+ obj] He paced the floor/room. [no obj] When she gets nervous she paces back and forth. • He was pac-ing and muttering to himself.

2 [+ obj] : to control or set the speed of (someone or something) • She paced the other runners for the first half of the race. • Advertisements are paced so that they are shown more often during peak sales seasons. — see also OUTPACE pace off [phrasal verb] pace (something) off or pace off (something) : to measure (something) by walking and counting the number of steps you take • The new garden is 25 feet long. I paced it off. • Pace off 20 feet.

pace yourself : to do something at a speed that is steady and that allows you to continue without becoming too tired • If you don't pace yourself, you'll wear yourself out. • He quickly learned he would need to pace himself so he could get all of his work done.

— paced adj • a moderately paced stroll • a frenetically paced comedy • a well-paced meal • fast-paced music — pacing noun [noncount] • Her continuous pacing was making me anxious. • The pacing of the movie was all wrong. [=the events in the movie happened too quickly or slowly]

pace-maker /'peis,meikə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 medical : a small electrical machine put inside a person to make the heart beat evenly

2 Brit : PACESETTER

pace-set-ter /'peis,setə/ noun, pl -ters [count] US : a person who runs ahead of the other runners in a race in order to set a pace — often used figuratively • The company has continued to be the industry's pacesetter.

pachy-derm /'pæki,dərm/ noun, pl -derms [count] : a type of animal that has hooves and thick skin; especially : ELEPHANT

pa-cif-ic /pə'sɪfɪk/ adj

1 Pacific : of, relating to, bordering on, or near the Pacific Ocean • a Pacific nation • fishing in Pacific waters

2 [more ~; most ~] literary a : calm and peaceful • a pacifistic setting b : loving peace : not wanting war or conflict • a pacifistic people

Pacific Rim noun

the Pacific Rim : a group of countries that are in or next to the Pacific Ocean — used especially of Asian countries on the Pacific Ocean • His family immigrated from the Pacific Rim.

pac-i-fi-er /'pæsə,fajə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a rubber object shaped like a nipple for babies to suck or bite on — called also (Brit) dummy

pac-i-fism /'pæsə,fɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the belief that it is wrong to use war or violence to settle disputes pac-i-fist /'pæsəfɪst/ noun, pl -fists [count] : someone who believes that war and violence are wrong and who refuses to participate in or support a war • A group of pacifists were protesting the war.

— pacifist adj, always used before a noun • He did not enter the army because of his pacifist beliefs/ideals.

pac-i-fy /'pæsə,fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone who is angry or upset) to become calm or quiet • pacify [=soothe] a crying child • She resigned from her position to pacify her accusers.

2 : to cause or force (a country, a violent group of people, etc.) to become peaceful • Their efforts to pacify the nation by force failed. • trying to pacify a mob of protesters — pac-i-fi-ca-tion /,pæsəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Many died in the years before pacification.

¹pack /'pæk/ noun, pl packs [count]

1 : a bag or bundle of objects that is carried on a person's or animal's back • He took a map and a bottle of water out of his pack. • hikers carrying heavy packs up a mountain • They loaded the packs onto the horses. — see also BACKPACK, FANNY PACK

2 chiefly US a : a small paper or cardboard package in which small things are sold • a pack [= (Brit) packet] of gum/cigarettes/needles • The entire pack of crayons spilled on the floor. • Cigarettes typically come in packs of 20. b : the amount contained in one pack • He smokes two packs (of cigarettes) a day. — see also SIX-PACK

3 Brit : PACKET 2b • You'll receive your informational pack upon arrival.

4 : a complete set of playing cards : DECK • Take a card from the top and put it in the middle of the pack.

5 : a group of similar people or things • A pack of reporters were following them wherever they went. • packs of teenagers/lawyers/thieves • The information he gave us was just a pack of lies. [=all lies] • One writer stands out from the pack. [=one writer is different from the others] • She's not content to simply follow the pack. [=to do what everyone else does]

6 : a large number of people who are grouped together during a race or competition — usually singular • In the last few seconds, she broke/drew/pulled away from the pack and won the race. • The company is trying to stay ahead of the pack. [=ahead of their competitors]

7 : a group of usually wild animals that hunt together • a wolf pack • a pack of wild dogs • animals that hunt in packs

8 a : an organized group of Cub Scouts • Cub Scout Pack No. 5398 b chiefly Brit : an organized group of Brownies • a Brownie pack [= (US) troop]

9 : a thick, wet substance that is put on the skin as a beauty treatment • an herbal face pack • mud packs

10 : a folded cloth that is pressed against a part of the body to reduce pain or stop bleeding from an injury • a cold pack [=compress] — see also ICE PACK

²pack verb packs; packed; pack-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to put (something) into a bag, suitcase, etc., so that you can take it with you • Don't forget to pack your toothbrush. • Be sure to pack your bathing suit and a towel. • I've packed a picnic lunch for us. • Pack your things/gear. We're leaving tonight. b : to put things into (a bag, box, etc.) [+ obj] We packed our bags the night before our trip. • Have you packed your suitcase yet? • My bags are packed, and I'm ready to go. • packing and unpacking boxes [no obj] I spent the evening packing for my trip. • She packed [=packed up] and left. • We had only one week to pack and move out of our apartment. — see also PACKED 4

2 [+ obj] : to put (something) into a box or other container so that it can be moved, stored, or protected • We've packed [=boxed] (up) all our books. [=we've put all our books into boxes] — often + in or into • They pack the meat in dry ice before shipping it. • They packed the statue into a crate.

3 a [+ obj] : to fill (a place) with as many people as possible • Over 25,000 people will pack the stadium for tonight's concert. • a famous comedian who packs clubs in every city : to fill a place completely with (people) — often + into • Concert organizers pack hundreds of people into tiny nightclubs. b always followed by a preposition [no obj] : to gather close together as a group • Her fans pack into theaters to hear her sing. • We all packed into the car. • The entire family packs around a small table for dinner.

4 [+ obj] : to put a large amount of something into (something) • directors who pack their movies full of violence — often + with • They pack their magazine with lots of helpful decorating ideas. • The van had been packed with explosives. — see also PACKED 2

5 [+ obj] : to make (dirt, snow, etc.) more firm or solid by pressing down on it • Pack the soil firmly around the roots of the plant. • Other skiers had already packed the snow down. — see also PACKED 1

6 [+ obj] US : to unfairly control the kinds of people or things that are in (a group, list, etc.) in order to get the result you want • They packed the meeting with their supporters. • packing juries with people of a particular race

7 [+ obj] somewhat informal : to have or be able to produce (something powerful) • The storm is packing hurricane-force winds. • an engine that packs a lot of power [=an engine that is very powerful]

8 US, informal : to wear or carry (a weapon) [+ obj] They might be packing guns/pistols/weapons. • She's packing heat. [=she's carrying a gun] [no obj] We don't know if he's packing or not.

pack a punch/wallop informal : to be very forceful or effective • Careful—these hot peppers really pack a punch. [=they are very hot and spicy] • Unlike her last album, her new release packs a wallop. [=it is forceful and energetic] pack away [phrasal verb] pack (something) away or pack away (something) : to put (something) in a safe place to be used at a later time • It's time to pack away your winter clothes and get ready for summer. • Her grandmother's dolls had been packed away in the attic for many years.

pack in [phrasal verb] 1 Brit, informal : to stop or quit • I have no intention of packing in just yet. 2 a pack in (someone or something) or pack (someone or something) in : to cause (someone or something) to fit into a small space • My suitcase was full, but I managed to pack in one more sweater. • There must have been a hundred people in that room. They packed us in like sardines! — see also ²*PACK* 2 (above) b pack in (people) or pack (people) in : to cause (large groups of people) to come to a show or performance • His show still packs in (the) crowds/audiences. [=large crowds/audiences still go to his show] • packing in fans of all ages • The movie has been packing them in at theaters across the country. 3 pack in (something) a

US, informal : to stop using (something) forever • She isn't packing in her skis [=she is not giving up skiing] just yet. • I decided to pack in my paintbrushes and go to business school. b Brit, informal : to give up doing (something) • He packed in [=quit] his job and became a farmer. • They might pack in [=stop, give up] the project altogether. 4 pack it in informal : to stop doing a job or an activity : QUIT • Do you think we should pack it in or keep going? • They were ready to pack it in for the day.

pack in/into [phrasal verb] pack (something) in/into (something) : to put (a large amount of something) into (something) • She packs a lot of information in her short essays.

pack off [phrasal verb] pack (someone) off : to send (someone) away to a different place — usually + to • Despite his protests, his mom packed him off to bed. [=sent him to bed] • parents packing their kids off to college pack on the pounds or pack on five/ten/fifteen (etc.) pounds chiefly US, informal : to gain weight or a certain amount of weight • Americans are continuing to pack on the pounds. • He hopes to pack on 20 pounds of muscle before the competition.

pack out [phrasal verb] pack out (a place) Brit : to cause (a place) to be filled with people • The band still packs out stadiums throughout the world. : to fill (a place) • Over 600 people packed out the theatre.

pack up [phrasal verb] 1 pack up or pack up (something) or pack (something) up a : to gather things together so that you can take them with you • He packed up and left town. • You may take a few minutes to pack up your things, but then you must leave. • You should pack up your tools at the end of the day. b Brit, informal : to stop or quit : to give up doing (something) • She packs up when things become difficult. • She packed up her teaching job after five years.

2 Brit, informal : to stop working properly • The lift has packed up, so you'll have to take the stairs to her flat.

pack your bags : to leave a place • I told him to shape up or he could pack his bags. • He said goodbye and packed his bags for Denmark.

send (someone or something) packing see SEND

— pack-able /'pækəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • packable clothing

¹pack-age /'pækɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ag-es [count]

1 chiefly US : a box or large envelope that is sent or delivered usually through the mail or by another delivery service • The mail carrier left the package [=parcel] on the front steps. — see picture at MAIL

2 US a : a wrapper or container that covers or holds something • All ingredients are listed right on the package. b : something that comes in a container • You'll need a 12-ounce package [= (Brit) packet] of chocolate chips for the cookies. • She ate the whole package of crackers for lunch.

3 a : a group of related things that are sold together for a single price • The hotel, airfare, and museum fees were all part of our vacation package. • a software package [=a group of computer programs that are sold together] b : a group of related things that go together • My new job offers a great benefits package. [=my new job offers great benefits] • The financial aid packages we'll be awarding this year are smaller than we had hoped they would be. • (informal) If you let her move in with you, living with her cat is all part of the package. [=it is part of the situation that you will have to accept] good things come in small packages — used to say that people or things do not have to be large to be good

²package verb -ages; -aged; -ag-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (something) in a package in order to sell it or send it somewhere • Package the books carefully. — often used as (be) packaged • The china needs to be packaged properly.

2 : to show or present (something or someone) in a particular way — often used as (be) packaged • If the issue is not packaged correctly, it will not get voters to come to the polls.

— packaged adj • individually packaged food • packaged goods [=things that are sold in packages]

package deal noun, pl ~ deals [count]

1 : PACKAGE TOUR

2 : a group of people or things which must be accepted together • They presented their proposals to the committee as a package deal.

package store noun, pl ~ stores [count] US : a store that sells alcoholic beverages : a liquor store package tour noun, pl ~ tours [count] : a group of services related to travel or vacations that are sold together for one price • They got the bus tour, hotel room, and plane ticket as a package tour. — called also package deal, (Brit) package holiday

packaging noun [noncount]

1 a : material used to enclose or contain something • The frozen spinach can be heated up right in its original packaging. • The colorful packaging of many candy bars attracts the eyes of children. b : the act or process of putting something in a package or container • packaging and shipping services

2 : the way something or someone is presented in order to be more attractive or appealing • the packaging of a political candidate pack animal noun, pl ~ -mals [count] : an animal (such as a horse or donkey) that is used for carrying packs packed /'pækt/ adj

1 : pressed together so there is very little space between the parts or pieces • packed snow/dirt/earth • Add one cup of firmly packed brown sugar. • $\frac{1}{2}$ cup loosely packed fresh parsley — see also VACUUM-PACKED

2 : filled with a large amount of something • Oranges are packed full of vitamin C. — usually + with • The magazine is packed with lots of ideas for decorating your home. • a novel packed with romance and suspense • The garage is packed with junk. • a room packed to the brim/ceiling/rafters/roof with books — see also ACTION-PACKED, JAM-PACKED

3 a : full of people : filled with as many people as possible • a packed auditorium • The stadium was packed (full) with sports fans. = It was packed to capacity/bursting/overflowing. • The theater is always packed when he performs there.

b of a crowd of people : large enough to fill a space or place • bands playing to packed audiences/crowds

4 — used to say that you have finished putting things into bags, boxes, etc. • We're (all) packed and ready to go. [=we have packed everything we need and are ready to go] packed out Brit, informal : filled with as many people as possible • The theatre is always packed out (with fans) when he performs there.

packed lunch noun, pl ~ lunch-es [count] chiefly Brit : BAG LUNCH pack-er /'pækə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or company that prepares and packages products and sends them to people or stores • She worked as a packer for a candy company. • meat packers

pack-et /'pækət/ noun, pl -ets

1 [count] a US : a small, thin package • I got two packets of broccoli seeds to plant this summer. • He puts two packets of sugar in his coffee. • Could you get me another packet of ketchup? — called also (Brit) sachet b Brit : a package in which something is sold and bought • a packet [= (US) box] of crackers • a packet [= (US) pack] of cigarettes

2 [count] a US : a group of things that have been gathered together for a particular purpose and usually put into a container (such as a folder or a large envelope) • Your information packet includes a map and a schedule of all the events at the conference. • The senator's comments are included in his press packet [=papers that give reporters official statements from public figures] b chiefly Brit : a small, thin package sent through the mail or delivered to a person • I received the packet of legal papers today.

3 [count] computers : an amount of information that is sent as a single unit from one computer to another over a network or the Internet

4 [singular] Brit, informal : a large amount of money • The furniture wasn't expensive but we spent a packet on shipping charges.

pack-horse /'pæk,hɔəs/ noun, pl -hors-es [count] : a horse used for carrying things pack ice noun [noncount] : a very large sheet of ice floating in the sea that is made from smaller pieces that have frozen together

pack-ing /'pækiŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act or process of putting things into bags or boxes • We finished all our packing yesterday.

2 : material that is used to hold or protect things so that they can be moved or sent somewhere • I used some old newspapers for packing. • (Brit) For mail-order purchases, add £2.50 to the price to cover postage and packing

packing adj, always used before a noun

1 : used to hold or protect things so that they can be moved or sent somewhere • packing materials • a packing case/box/crate

2 : doing the job of preparing and wrapping products and sending them to people or stores • a packing plant/factory/house pack rat noun, pl ~ rats [count] US, informal : a person who collects or keeps things that are not needed • I'm a terrible pack rat. I never throw anything away.

pact /'pækt/ noun, pl pacts [count] : a formal agreement between two countries, people, or groups especially to help each other or to stop fighting • We supported a peace/free-trade/nonaggression pact between the two countries. • They made a pact to go to the gym together three times a week.

— see also SUICIDE PACT

pacy /'peisi/ adj pac-i-er; -est Brit, informal : moving quickly : having a fast pace • He's a small but pacy player. • The movie is a pacy thriller.

pad /'pæd/ noun, pl pads [count]

1 a : an object that is thin, flat, and usually soft • He sits with a foam pad behind him to help support his lower back. • The doctor put a gauze pad over the wound. • She lay in bed with a heating pad [=an electric mat that heats up and is held against the body to reduce pain] • a mattress pad [=a covering that goes under a sheet on a bed to protect the mattress] • She had trouble finding a suit jacket without shoulder pads [=small pads used to shape the shoulders of a shirt, dress, or jacket] • You need to replace your car's brake pads [=the part of the brakes that are pressed on the wheel when you stop or slow down the car] — see also INK PAD b sports : a covering for a specific part of the body that is worn to protect that part from injury — usually plural • The football players wore their helmets and shoulder and hip pads to practice today. • She wears elbow and knee pads when she goes skating. c : SANITARY NAPKIN d : a usually rough piece of material used in cleaning • a scouring pad

2 : a set of paper sheets for writing or drawing that are glued or fastened at one edge • They keep a pad and pencil by the phone. • a sketch pad [=a notebook or pad of blank paper for drawing] — see also NOTEPAD, SCRATCH PAD

3 : the soft part on the bottom of the foot of a dog, cat, etc.

4 informal + old-fashioned or humorous : the place where someone lives — usually singular • She lent me the keys to her pad while she was away. • He held many wild parties in his bachelor pad

5 : a flat area on the ground where helicopters can take off or land • The town has no airport but there is a landing pad near the hospital. — see also LAUNCHPAD

6 : LILY PAD

— see also KEYPAD

pad verb pads; pad-ded; pad-ding [+ obj]

1 : to cover or fill (something) with soft material especially to protect it or make it more comfortable • He padded the inside of the box with cloth and crumpled newspaper. • She used a cushion to pad the bench.

2 : to make (something) larger, longer, or more attractive by adding things that are unnecessary, unimportant, or false • She padded (out) her speech with quotes from local citizens. • He hoped that by padding his résumé his lack of experience would be overlooked.

3 US : to dishonestly add more charges to (a bill) in order to collect more money than is owed • He padded the bill he sent to the company for his consulting work.

— compare ³PAD

pad verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition pads; pad-ded; pad-ding [no obj] : to move with quiet steps • She padded around/about (the house) all day in her pajamas.

• The dog padded into the bedroom. — compare ²PAD padded adj : filled or covered with soft material • a padded envelope • The boxers are wearing thickly/heavily padded gloves. • a padded bra • The chairs have padded seats.

padded cell noun, pl ~ cells [count] : a room in a mental hospital that has soft walls so that patients cannot hurt themselves

padding noun [noncount]

1 : soft material used to cover a hard surface in order to make it more comfortable • the padding on the seat of the chairs • These shoes have extra padding in the heel.

2 : unnecessary words used to make a speech or a piece of writing longer • If you remove the padding from his speech you can see that he offers no new ideas.

pad-dle /'pædl/ noun, pl pad-dles [count]

1 : a long, usually wooden pole that has a wide, flat part at the end and is used to move and steer a small boat (such as a canoe) — see picture at BOAT; compare OAR

2 US : an object with a short handle and a wide, flat part that is used to hit the ball in various games (such as table tennis) 3 : any one of various tools or devices that are wide, flat, and thin • Use the mixer's paddle attachment to mix the dough. • The potter used a paddle to shape the clay.

up the creek without a paddle see CREEK

²pad·dle verb paddles; pad·dled; pad·dling

1 : to move a boat forward through water with a paddle [no obj] We paddled across the lake in our canoe this morning. [+ obj] We paddled our canoe across the lake this morning. • Get in the boat and I'll paddle you to shore.

2 [no obj] : to swim by moving your hands and feet in short quick motions • The dog paddled across the lake. — see also DOG-PADDLE

3 [+ obj] US : to beat or hit (someone or something) with a flat piece of wood • In those days many people believed it was okay to paddle children. • (informal) If you don't get in here, I'm going to paddle your behind.

— compare ³PADDLE

³paddle verb paddles; paddled; paddling [no obj] Brit : to walk or play in shallow water for pleasure • They took off their sandals and paddled [= (US) waded] at the edge of the pond. — compare ²PADDLE — paddle noun [singular] • The children went for a paddle before lunch.

pad·dle·boat /'pædl,bout/ noun, pl -boats [count]

1 US : a small boat with paddle wheels that you turn by moving pedals with your feet like someone riding a bicycle — called also pedal boat, (Brit) pedalo

2 : a large, old-fashioned boat that moves along the water using a large paddle wheel usually turned by steam power paddle wheel noun, pl ~ wheels [count] : a wheel that moves through water as it turns and has a series of paddles around its outer edge paddling pool noun, pl ~ pools [count] Brit : WADING POOL pad·dock /'pædək/ noun, pl -docks [count]

1 : a small field where animals (such as horses) are kept

2 : an enclosed area at a race track where horses, dogs, etc., are kept before a race pad·dy /'pædi/ noun, pl -dies [count] : a wet field where rice is grown • rice paddies

paddy wagon noun, pl ~ -ons [count] US, informal : PATROL WAGON pad·lock /'pædlɔ:k/ noun, pl

-locks [count] : a strong lock with a curved bar that connects to the main part of the lock and holds together two parts of something (such as a chain or a gate)

— padlock verb -locks; -locked; -lock·ing [+ obj] • She padlocked the garage door. • The front gate was padlocked.

padlock

pa·dre /'pɑ:dreɪ/ noun, pl -dres [count] informal

1 : a Christian priest

2 : a Christian clergyman who works in the military pad thai or pad Thai /'pɑ:d'tai/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : a Thai dish of rice noodles that are stir-fried with other ingredients (such as seafood, chicken, egg, or bean sprouts)

pae·an /'pi:jən/ noun, pl -ans [count] literary : a song of joy, praise, or victory

paediatric, paediatrician, paediatrics chiefly Brit spellings of PEDIATRIC, PEDIATRICIAN, PEDIATRICS

paedophile Brit spelling of PEDOPHILE

pa·el·la /'pɑ'ejə/ noun [noncount] : a Spanish dish of rice, meat, seafood, vegetables, and spices pa·gan also Pagan /'peɪgən/ noun, pl -gans [count]

1 : a person who worships many gods or goddesses or the earth or nature : a person whose religion is paganism

2 old-fashioned + often offensive : a person who is not religious or whose religion is not Christianity, Judaism, or Islam

— pagan adj • pagan religions

pa·gan·ism /'peɪgə,nɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

1 : the state of being pagan • the paganism of early Rome

2 also Paganism : a religion that has many gods or goddesses, considers the earth holy, and does not have a central authority • He is a practitioner of Paganism.

¹page /'peɪdʒ/ noun, pl pag·es [count]

1 a : one side of a sheet of paper especially in a book, magazine, etc. • The book is 237 pages long. • The article continues on page 12. • a three-page article • See the chart on the following/facing/opposite/next page. • They ran the story on the front page of the newspaper. • a blank page [=a sheet of paper that does not have anything written on it] • It was thrilling to finally see her poetry on the printed page. [=in a book, magazine, etc.] • The computer will automatically put a page number at the bottom of each page. — abbr. p; see also FRONT-PAGE, TITLE PAGE b : the material printed or written on a page • Read the second page out loud. • The event described in these pages is nothing like what I remember. • the sports/financial/business pages [=the part of the newspaper that has sports, financial information, business news, etc.] c : a sheet of paper in a book, magazine, etc. • He ripped a page out of the phone book. — see also WHITE PAGES, YELLOW PAGES

2 : one section of a Web site that is found at a single address • You'll find that information on the "Contact Us" page. — see also HOME PAGE, WEB PAGE

3 literary : an important event or period in history • His accomplishments hold a special place in the pages of history.

borrow/take a page from someone or borrow/take a page from someone's book US : to do the same thing that someone else has done • You may want to borrow/take a page from his book and study harder for your finals.

jump/leap off the page of writing, a picture, etc. : to be very noticeable, interesting, exciting, etc. • The characters are so real that they leap off the page.

on the same page chiefly US, informal : agreeing about something (such as how things should be done) • Try to get employees and clients on the same page. • Make sure everyone is on the same page before you give your final answer.

— compare ⁴PAGE

²page verb pages; paged; pag·ing

page through [phrasal verb] page through (something) : to turn the pages of (a book, magazine, etc.) especially in a quick, steady manner • He paged through the magazine looking for the article.

— compare ³PAGE

³page verb pages; paged; pag·ing [+ obj]

1 : to call the name of (someone) in a public place usually over a speaker in order to find that person, deliver a message, etc. • You can page the manager if you need help.

2 : to send a message to (someone) by using a special device (called a pager or beeper) • Page the doctor in case of an emergency. • I'm going to switch to a new paging service.

— compare ²PAGE

⁴page noun, pl pages [count]

1 US : a student who works as an assistant for a member of Congress

2 a : a young man or boy in the Middle Ages who trained to be a knight by serving a knight b : a young man or boy who worked as a servant for an important person in the Middle Ages

3 Brit : BELLHOP

— compare ¹PAGE

pag·eant /'pædʒənt/ noun, pl -eants [count]

1 US : BEAUTY CONTEST • She entered a (beauty) pageant. • They disagreed with the pageant judges.

2 : a play or performance made of scenes from a historical event or a legend • Their church puts on an annual Christmas pageant. — sometimes used figuratively • The museum celebrates the rich pageant of the town's history. [=celebrates all the interesting things that have happened in the town's history]

pag·eant·ry /'pædʒəntri/ noun [noncount] : the use of special clothing, traditions, and ceremonies as part of a special event or celebration • I like the tradition and pageantry that come with graduations.

page·boy /'peɪdʒ,bɔɪ/ noun, pl -boys [count]

1 : a woman's haircut in which straight shoulder-length hair is curled under at the ends

2 page boy Brit : a boy who follows or stands with the bride in a wedding

3 Brit : BELLHOP

pag·er /'peɪdʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a small electronic device that beeps or vibrates and shows a telephone number for the person carrying the device to call — called also (chiefly US) beeper, (Brit) bleeper page·turn·er /'peɪdʒ,tʌnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a book, story, etc., that is difficult to stop reading because it is so interesting • His last novel was a real page-turner.

pag-i-na-tion /ˌpædʒəˈneɪʃən/ noun [noncount] technical

1 : the act or process of putting numbers on the pages of a book, document, etc. • computerized pagination

2 : the page numbers on a book, document, etc. • Is the pagination correct?

– pag-i-nate /ˌpædʒəˈneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+ obj] • The program automatically paginated the document.

pa-go-da /pəˈɡoudə/ noun, pl -das

[count] : a type of tall building in eastern Asia that has many floors with roofs that stick out on each floor and curve up

¹paid /ˈpeɪd/ past tense and past participle of ¹PAY

²paid adj

1 a : receiving money for work • She is one of the few paid public officials in a town run mostly by volunteers. b — used to indicate if someone receives low or high pay for work • He got a job as a highly paid consultant. • She is very well paid. • low-paid workers

2 chiefly US : having been paid for • a paid political announcement • a paid advertisement

3 : including payment of normal wages, salary, etc. • I get two weeks of paid vacation [=time off during which you receive your normal pay] at my new job. • She was given a paid day off to deal with some personal matters.

put paid to chiefly Brit, informal : to end or stop (something) : to put an end to (something) • The pressure of work put paid to his holiday plans!

pail /ˈpeɪl/ noun, pl pails [count] chiefly US

1 : a round container that is open at the top and usually has a handle • a garbage pail • A plastic beach pail was lying on the sand. • Fill up that pail [=bucket] with water.

2 : the amount held by a pail • She poured a pail of water on the campfire.

pail-ful /ˈpeɪlˌfʊl/ noun, pl -fuls [count] chiefly US : the amount held by a pail • a pailful of water

¹pain /ˈpeɪn/ noun, pl pains

1 : the physical feeling caused by disease, injury, or something that hurts the body [noncount] The medication may upset your stomach but if you experience acute abdominal pain call your doctor. • I've had chronic back pain since the accident. • It was obvious that she was in pain. [=feeling pain] • Each patient has a different pain threshold. [=ability to tolerate pain] • The medicine provides 12 hours of pain relief. • For a week after surgery she took prescription pain medication/relievers. [=painkillers] [count] I feel a dull/sharp pain if I touch the bruise. — see also aches and pains at ²ACHE

2 : mental or emotional suffering : sadness caused by some emotional or mental problem [noncount] They didn't want to cause him pain. [=they didn't want to upset or hurt him] • the pain of a difficult childhood [count] It is a story about the joys and pains of life. — see also GROWING PAINS

3 [singular] informal : someone or something that causes trouble or makes you feel annoyed or angry • Rush hour traffic is such a pain. • This orange is a pain to peel. • Our neighbor can be such a pain. [=nuisance] — often used in phrases like pain in the neck or (impolite) pain in the ass • My little sister can be a (real/royal) pain in the neck.

be at pains : to try hard to do something • They were at pains to distance themselves from the scandal.

feel no pain see ¹FEEL

go to great pains or take (great) pains : to be careful in doing something : to try hard to do something — followed by to + verb • We went to great pains not to offend anyone. • He took great pains to explain the situation to us.

no gain without pain see ²GAIN

no pain, no gain see ²GAIN

on/under pain of formal : at the risk of being given (a particular form of punishment) • She was ordered to remain silent under pain of imprisonment. • He cannot return to the country on pain of death. [=he will be killed if he returns to the country]

²pain verb pains; pained; pain-ing [+ obj] formal : to cause (someone) to feel emotional pain : to make (someone) upset, sad, worried, etc. • He was deeply pained [=hurt] by your words. • As much as it pains me to admit it, she was right.

pained /ˈpeɪnd/ adj : appearing upset, sad, worried, etc. • She wore/had a pained expression on her face. • He truly looked pained when he heard the news.

pain-ful /ˈpeɪnfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing pain to your body • I got a painful sunburn. • a painful skin condition • His ankle is swollen and painful to the touch. [=his ankle hurts if he touches it]

2 : causing emotional pain • We can't ignore our country's painful history of slavery. • His questions brought up a lot of painful memories. • It was painful to watch.

pain-ful-ly /ˈpeɪnfəli/ adv [more ~; most ~]

1 : very or extremely — used especially to describe something that is bad, unpleasant, or upsetting • They made it painfully obvious/clear that we were not welcome: [=they made it very clear in a way that was rude or upsetting that we were not welcome] • After the injury she was painfully aware that her career in tennis would be over. • New developments have been painfully slow. • She is painfully shy.

2 : in a way that causes pain • After her tooth was pulled, her jaw was painfully swollen.

3 : in a way that requires a lot of effort • He labored painfully over his work.

pain-kill-er /ˈpeɪnˌkɪlə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a drug that decreases or removes pain that you feel in your body • I took some over-the-counter painkillers for my headache.

– pain-kill-ing /ˈpeɪnˌkɪlɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun • painkilling drugs pain-less /ˈpeɪnləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not causing or marked by pain: such as a : not causing pain to the body • a painless medical procedure b : not upsetting, disturbing, or difficult • Buying my new car was a surprisingly painless experience. • We had a relatively painless breakup.

– pain-less-ly adv • We'll try to get through this as quickly and painlessly as possible.

pains-tak-ing /ˈpeɪnˌsteɪkɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : showing or done with great care and effort • The book describes the election process in painstaking detail. • painstaking work/research – pains-tak-ing-ly adv • The old house was painstakingly restored to its original splendor. • She painstakingly researched all of her articles.

¹paint /ˈpeɪnt/ noun, pl paints

1 : a liquid that dries to form a thin colored layer when it is spread on a surface [noncount] Apply paint to the canvas in a series of short strokes. • I need more blue paint. • The old walls are coated with several layers of paint. • a can of latex/acrylic paint • The house needs a fresh/second coat of paint. • face paint [=colorful makeup for drawing pictures on children's faces] [count] The store sells many different paints. • a box of paints [=different types of paint that are used by an artist to paint pictures and that are usually sold in a dry form or in tubes] • finger paints [=paints that children spread onto paper with their hands] — see also GREASEPAINT, OIL PAINT, SPRAY PAINT

2 [singular] : a layer of dried paint on a surface • Did you chip the paint? • The car's paint is cracking. — called also (Brit) paintwork

²paint verb paints; paint-ed; paint-ing

1 [+ obj] : to cover (something) with paint : to put paint on (something) • I need to paint the bookcase. • We're going to paint the room yellow. • The classroom wall was painted with clouds and rainbows.

2 : to make (a picture or design) by using paints [+ obj] He painted that portrait of his wife. • She painted the landscape on a square canvas. • The store carries hand-painted tiles. [=tiles that have pictures or designs on them that were painted by a person and not by a machine] [no obj] She paints well. • I like to draw and my sister likes to paint. • The beauty of the world inspires me to paint. • He paints mostly in oils. — compare DRAW paint over [phrasal verb] paint over (something) : to cover (something) with a layer of paint • They painted over the graffiti.

3 [+ obj] : to describe (someone or something) in a particular way • The study paints a bleak/grim picture of the effects of pollution on animal life. • Opponents paint a picture of the president as corrupt and irresponsible. = Opponents paint the president as corrupt and irresponsible.

4 [+ obj] : to put makeup on (a part of the body) • She paint-ed her nails with pink nail polish. • She put on eye shadow and painted her lips with red lipstick.

paint the town (red) informal : to go out drinking, dancing, etc., to have a good time paint-ball /ˈpeɪntˌbɔːl/ noun [noncount] : a game in which pagoda

two teams use special guns to shoot balls filled with paint at each other paint-brush /'peɪnt,bʁʌʃ/ noun, pl -brush-es [count] : a brush used for putting paint on a surface paint-er /'peɪntə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person whose job it is to paint walls, houses, etc. • The painters were unable to work in the rain.

2 : an artist who paints pictures • He became famous as an abstract/landscape/Impressionist painter. • She was a painter of still lifes.

paint-er-ly /'peɪntəli/ adj

1 : typical of painters • He has a painterly eye. • a painterly sensibility

2 [more ~; most ~] : suggesting a painting : made in a way that reminds you of a painting • a painterly picture of the sea • painterly brushstrokes

paint-ing /'peɪntɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [count] : a picture that is painted : a picture made by putting paint on a canvas, board, etc. • They hung the painting in the living room. • The woman in that painting is my grandmother. • We went to see ancient cave paintings [=pictures painted on the wall of a cave] in Spain. — see also OIL PAINTING 2

2 [noncount] : the art or act of making pictures using paint • I like painting more than sculpture. • He is studying abstract/Chinese/watercolor painting. • She wants to devote all her time to painting. — see also OIL PAINTING 1

3 [noncount] : the activity of painting houses, walls, etc. • The room is ready for painting.

paint thinner noun, pl ~ -ners [count, noncount] : a liquid that is mixed with paint to make it easier to spread paint-work /'peɪnt,wɜːk/ noun [noncount] Brit : ¹PAINT 2

¹pair /'peə/ noun, pl pairs or pair [count]

1 : two things that are the same and are meant to be used together • a pair of gloves • a pair of shoes/socks • He blushed when he saw all three pairs of eyes watching him. • She won with a pair of aces. • I can't do everything at once—I've only got one pair of hands. [=I am only one person] • It will take two pairs of hands [=two people] to move this rock.

2 : a thing that has two parts which are joined • a pair of scissors • a pair of pants/underwear • I got my first pair of glasses when I was eight.

3 : two people who are related in some way or who do something together • His two closest friends lived in the city and the pair of them visited him often. • The dance is usually performed by a male and female pair. • Those two kids make quite a pair.

4 : two animals that mate together • To avoid competition, breeding/mating pairs stay away from other male chimpanzees. • A pair of parrots can raise one chick each year.

in pairs : in a group of two people or things • The teacher let the students work in pairs on the assignment. • They walked down the aisle in pairs.

²pair verb pairs; paired; pair-ing [+ obj] : to put (two people or things) together • The teacher paired students with partners for the assignment. — often used as (be) paired • We met when we were paired to work together on the project. • The suit is paired with black shoes for a sophisticated look. • The fish was paired with a white wine.

pair off [phrasal verb] 1 : to join together in a romantic relationship • He hated being single while his friends were pairing off and having kids. 2 pair off or pair (someone or something) off or pair off (someone or something) : to join with someone or something else to form a group of two • People paired off for the next dance. • She paired the students off. = She paired off the students.

pair up [phrasal verb] pair up or pair (someone or something) up or pair up (someone or something) : to join together or to cause (two people or things) to join together for a purpose, job, etc. • The two organizations paired up to educate the public about the threat of global warming. • They paired me up with a new partner for the last game. • The program pairs up volunteers with children who need help learning to read.

pairing noun, pl -ings [count]

1 : the action of putting two things or people into a group • The play was a successful pairing of strong acting and an interesting script. • People were surprised by the pairing of candidates for president and vice president.

2 : two things or people that work together with a single purpose • The menu suggested many food and wine pairings.

pais-ley /'peɪzli/ adj : covered in a pattern made up of colorful curved shapes • a paisley tie • The wallpaper is a paisley print. — see color picture on page C12

— paisley noun, pl -leys [count, noncount] • The fabric comes in paisley.

pa-ja-mas (US) or Brit py-ja-mas /pə'dʒɑːməz/ noun [plural]

1 : clothing that people wear in bed or while relaxing at home • silk pajamas • Put on your pajamas [=pj's] and get ready for bed. — see color picture on page C12

2 : loose pants that are worn in some parts of Asia and the Middle East

the cat's pajamas see CAT

— pa-ja-ma (US) or Brit py-ja-ma /pə'dʒɑːmə/ adj, always used before a noun • The boys slept in only their pajama bottoms. • She is having a pajama party [=a party for children who spend the night at the house of a friend] to celebrate her 10th birthday.

pak choi Brit spelling of BOK CHOY

Paki /'pæki/ noun, pl Pakis [count] Brit, informal + offensive : a person from Pakistan ♦ The word Paki is very offensive and should be avoided.

¹pal /'pæl/ noun, pl pals informal

1 [count] : a close friend • We've been pals since we were kids. • He and a pal [=buddy] started the business 15 years ago. • Come on—be a pal and lend me the money. • a gal pal [=a girl/woman who is a friend] — see also PEN PAL

2 — used to address a man in an angry or annoyed way • Listen, pal, I've had just about enough of your advice. • Wait a minute, pal. You're trying to trick me.

²pal verb pals; palled; pal-ling

pal around with [phrasal verb] informal pal around with (someone) chiefly US : to spend time with (someone) as a friend • She's been palling around with a girl she met at school.

pal up [phrasal verb] chiefly Brit, informal : to become friends with someone • They palled up when they were neighbors long ago. • He pals up with anyone who can help his career.

¹pal-ace /'pæləs/ noun, pl -ac-es [count]

1 : the official home of a king, queen, president, etc. • the royal/imperial/presidential palace • Buckingham Palace

2 : a very large and impressive house : MANSION

3 old-fashioned : a large and fancy public building • The town's old movie palace has been torn down. — often used in the names of buildings • the Crystal Palace • the Palace Hotel

4 the Palace chiefly Brit : the people who live in a palace; especially : the British royal family • The prime minister left to inform the Palace in person.

²palace adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to a palace • a palace guard/official

2 : of, relating to, or involving people in the government • palace politics • a palace revolution/coup

palaeolithic, palaeontology Brit spellings of PALEOLITHIC, PALEONTOLOGY pal-at-able /'pælətəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal

1 : having a pleasant or agreeable taste • palatable food • a less than palatable beer

2 : pleasant or acceptable to someone — usually + to • The play has been rewritten in an attempt to make it more palatable to modern audiences. • Traveling by train is a palatable alternative to driving.

— pal-at-abil-i-ty /,pælətə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] pal-a-tal /'pælət/ adj, linguistics, of a speech sound : made by placing the tongue so that it is near or touching the top surface (called the palate) of your mouth • The first sound in the English word "jar" is a palatal sound.

— palatal noun, pl -tals [count] • English/German palatals

pal-ate /'pælət/ noun, pl -ates [count]

1 : the top part of the inside of your mouth : the roof of your mouth — see also CLEFT PALATE

2 : the sense of taste • The restaurant serves Korean food adapted for the American palate. • She's been working hard on a menu that will please the palates of all her guests. • Sorbet is sometimes served between courses to cleanse the palate. [=to clean and refresh your mouth between different parts of a meal]

pa-la-tial /pə'leɪʃəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very large and impressive : like a palace • a palatial home pa-la-ver /pə'lævə, Brit pə'lɑːvə/ noun, informal

1 [noncount] chiefly US : talk that is not important or meaningful : NONSENSE • Enough of this palaver. We have a lot to discuss.

2 [singular] chiefly Brit : excitement and activity caused by something that is not important • What a palaver [=fuss] over nothing!

¹pale /'peɪl/ adj pal-er; pal-est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : light in color • the pale wood of the table • The walls were painted a pale blue. — opposite DEEP

2 : having a skin color that is closer to white than is usual or normal • She has a pale complexion. • His pale [=fair] skin burns easily. • Her illness had left her pale and weak. • She grew/became pale with fright. • Are you feeling well? You look pale.

3 of light : not bright or intense : DIM • the pale light of dawn

4 : not as good as something else • He was once a great athlete, but now he's just a pale version of his younger self. • The remake of the movie was a pale imitation of the original.

— pale-ness /'peɪlnəs/ noun [noncount]

²pale verb pales; paled; pal-ing [no obj]

1 : to lose color : to become pale • His face paled (in fear) when he saw her walk through the door. • The bright blue walls had paled over time.

2 : to appear less important, good, serious, etc., when compared with something else • His accomplishments pale beside those of his father. • Once you've tasted the local apples, all others pale by comparison. [=all others seem less good] • The afternoon meal paled in comparison to/with [=was not nearly as good as] the feast they had later. • Last year's losses pale by comparison with this year's. • (chiefly Brit) Your financial debt pales into insignificance [=seems much smaller] when you compare it with mine.

³pale noun

beyond the pale : offensive or unacceptable • conduct that was beyond the pale pale ale noun, pl ~ ales [count, noncount] : a type of ale that has a pale color and a somewhat bitter taste

Pa-leo-lith-ic (chiefly US) or Brit Pal-aeo-lith-ic /,peɪliə'liθɪk, Brit /,pæliə'liθɪk/ adj : of or relating to the time during the early Stone Age when people made rough tools and weapons out of stone • Paleolithic artifacts/tools/hunters • the Paleolithic age/period — compare NEOLITHIC pa-le-on-tol-o-gy (chiefly US) or Brit pal-ae-on-tol-o-gy /,peɪli,ɑ:n'tɔ:lədʒi, Brit /,pæliən'tɔlədʒi/ noun [noncount] : the science that deals with the fossils of animals and plants that lived very long ago especially in the time of dinosaurs

— pa-le-on-tol-o-gist (chiefly US) or Brit pal-ae-on-tol-o-gist /,peɪli,ɑ:n'tɔ:lədʒɪst, Brit /,pæli,ən'tɔlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

pal-ette /'pælət/ noun, pl -ettes [count]

1 : a thin board that has a hole for the thumb at one end and that is used by a painter to mix colors while painting

2 : the range of colors used by someone — usually singular • The designer's palette consists mainly of earth tones. • The palette for this season's fashions is full of pastels.

palette knife noun, pl ~ knives [count]

1 : a knife that has a blade which bends easily and that is used by painters to mix colors and apply paint

2 Brit : SPATULA 2

pal-i-mo-ny /'pælə,mouni/ noun [noncount] chiefly US : money that a court orders one person to pay to his or her former partner after they have stopped living together pa-limp-sest /'pæləmp,sest/ noun, pl -sests [count]

1 technical : a very old document on which the original writing has been erased and replaced with new writing

2 formal : something that has changed over time and shows evidence of that change • The ancient city is an architectural palimpsest. • a palimpsest of memories pal-in-drome /'pælən,droum/ noun, pl -dromes [count]

: a word, phrase, or number that reads the same backward or forward • The word "dad" and the number "1881" are palindromes.

paling noun, pl -ings [count] chiefly Brit : a piece of wood that is one of the upright pieces of a fence

pal-i-sade /,pælə'seɪd/ noun, pl -sades

1 [count] : a high fence made of pointed stakes that was used in the past to protect a building or area

2 palisades [plural] US : a line of steep cliffs especially along a river or ocean

¹pall /'pɑ:l/ noun, pl palls [count] formal

1 : something (such as a cloud of smoke) that covers a place and makes it dark — usually singular • A pall of smoke hung over the village after the fire. — often used figuratively • a pall of grief • The sad news cast a pall on/over the school.

2 : a heavy cloth that is used for covering a coffin, hearse, or tomb

²pall verb palls; palled; pal-ing [no obj] formal

1 : to become dull : to no longer be enjoyable or interesting • He found that his retirement hobbies palled after a couple of years.

2 : to lessen or fade • His interest in politics has palled over the years. • The excitement of the party quickly began to pall. [=dwindle] pall-bear-er /'pɑ:l,berə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who helps to carry the coffin at a funeral pal-let /'pælət/ noun, pl -lets [count]

1 : a wooden or metal platform that is used to support heavy things while they are being stored or moved • The computers are packed in boxes and then stacked on pallets until they're ready to be shipped.

2 a : a cloth bag that is filled with straw and used as a bed b : a small, hard bed

pallet

pal-li-ate /'pæli,eɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] formal : to make the effects of (something, such as an illness) less painful, harmful, or harsh • treatments that can palliate the painful symptoms of the disease

— pal-li-a-tion /,pæli'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • palliation of pain pal-li-a-tive /'pæli,eɪtv, Brit /'pæliətv/ noun, pl -tives [count]

1 medical : something that reduces the effects or symptoms of a medical condition without curing it • The disease has no cure, but a number of palliatives exist. • Travel is like a palliative against depression for him.

2 formal : something that is intended to make a bad situation seem better but that does not really improve the situation • symbolic palliatives for inner-city troubles

— palliative adj • palliative care/treatment pal-lid /'pæləd/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : very pale in a way that suggests poor health • the patient's pallid face

2 : dull and uninteresting • a pallid performance • The movie is a pallid version of the classic novel.

pal-lor /'pælə/ noun [singular] formal : paleness especially of the face that is caused by illness • The boy's sickly pallor concerned his mother even though he had no fever.

pal-ly /'pæli/ adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] chiefly Brit, informal : very friendly • He got very pally [=chummy] with the manager. • We've been pally for years.

¹palm /'pɑ:m/ noun, pl palms [count] : the inside part of the hand between the wrist and the fingers • He placed a coin in the child's outstretched palm. • The kitten was small enough to fit in the palm of my hand. • He claimed that he could read my palm. [=look at the lines on the palm of my hand and tell me what was going to happen to me in the future] — see picture at HAND

grease the palm of see ²GREASE

have someone in the palm of your hand : to have control or influence over someone : to be able to control someone easily • She has her boss in the palm of her hand.

— compare ²PALM

²palm noun, pl palms [count]

1 a : a kind of tree that grows in tropical regions and has a straight, tall trunk and many large leaves at the top of the trunk — called also palm tree b : a bush or large plant that is related to the palm and can be grown indoors — see color picture on page C6

2 : the leaf of a palm especially when it is carried as a symbol of victory or in celebration of something • People were waving palms in the streets.

— compare ¹PALM

³palm verb palms; palmed; palm-ing [+ obj]

1 : to hide (something) in the palm of your hand • The store's owner had seen one of the girls palm a lipstick before heading for the door. • To do the card trick, you have to learn to palm one of the cards.

2 a basketball : to hold (a basketball) in an illegal way for a moment while you are dribbling • He was called for palming the ball. b soccer : to knock (the ball) away from the goal with your hands • The kick was palmed away by the goalkeeper.

palm off [phrasal verb] informal 1 palm (something) off or palm off (something) a : to sell (something) for more than it is worth by being dishonest about it • The antique dealer had tried to palm the painting off as an original. • He'll palm [=paw] the car off on/onto some unsuspecting fool if he can. b : to get someone to accept or do (something) • He tried to palm off science fiction as truth. • She's good at palming off her household chores on her little sister. 2 palm yourself off as (someone) : to pretend to be (someone you are not) • He palmed [=passed] himself off as a lawyer.

palm-ist-ry /'pɑ:məstri/ noun [noncount] : the art or activity of looking at the lines on the palms of people's hands and telling them what will happen to them in the future

— palm-ist /'pɑ:mist/ noun, pl -ists [count]

palm oil noun [noncount] : oil that is obtained from the fruit of some palm trees and used in cooking and in making soap and other products

Palm Sunday noun [noncount] : the Christian holiday celebrated on the Sunday before Easter palm-top /'pɑ:m,tɑ:p/ noun, pl -tops [count] : a computer that is small enough to be held in the palm of your hand

palm tree noun, pl ~ trees [count] : ²PALM 1a

pal-o-mi-no /,pælə'mi:nou/ noun, pl -nos [count] : a horse that is light golden or cream in color and that has a cream or white mane and tail pal-pa-ble /'pælpəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : obvious and noticeable • I felt a palpable sense of relief. • The attraction between them was palpable. • There was a palpable excitement in the air as the town prepared for the festival.

— pal-pa-bly /'pælpəbli/ adv • the palpably real danger pal-pate /'pælpet/ verb -pates; -pat-ed; -pat-ing [+ obj] medical : to examine (part of the body) by touching it • The doctor palpated his ribs to see if there was any tenderness.

— pal-pa-tion /pæl'peɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

pal-pi-tate /'pælpə,tet/ verb [no obj] of the heart : to beat quickly and strongly and often in a way that is not regular because of excitement, nervousness, etc. • My heart began to palpitate when I was announced as the winner.

— pal-pi-ta-tion /,pælpə'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] medical — usually plural • Symptoms include dizziness and (heart) palpitations. • I was under so much stress that I developed palpitations. [=my heart began to palpitate]

¹pal-sy /'pɑ:lzi/ noun [noncount] medical : a medical condition that causes your body or part of your body to shake uncontrollably • facial palsy — see also CEREBRAL PALSY

— pal-sied /'pɑ:lzɪd/ adj

²palsy /'pælsi/ adj palsi-er; -est informal : PALSY-WALSY

palsy-walsy /,pælsi'wælsi/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : friendly in a way that is not proper or sincere • I don't think the boss should be getting palsy-walsy with her employees.

pal-try /'pɑ:ltri/ adj pal-tri-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] formal

1 : very small or too small in amount • They're offering a paltry [=meager] salary for the position. • Sales have increased by a paltry [=measly] two percent.

2 : having little meaning, importance, or worth • a paltry excuse • paltry work pam-pas /'pæmpəz/ noun

the pampas : large, flat, grassy areas of land in South America • cattle roaming the pampas

pamp-er /'pæmpə/ verb -pers; -pered; -per-ing [+ obj] : to treat (someone or something) very well : to give (someone or something) a lot of attention and care • They really pamper their guests at that hotel. • She pampered herself with a day at the spa. • He was pampered all his life and doesn't know how to function in the real world.

— pampered adj [more ~; most ~] • a pampered pet • the pampered life of the wealthy pam-phlet /'pæmflet/ noun, pl -phlets [count] : a small, thin book with no cover or only a paper cover that has information about a particular subject

pam-phle-teer /,pæmfle'tiə/ noun, pl -teers [count] : a person who writes pamphlets usually to support a cause or to criticize someone or something

¹pan /'pæn/ noun, pl pans [count]

1 a : a usually shallow and open metal container that has a handle and that is used for cooking or baking • The rice is in a pan on the stove. • Spread the batter evenly in the pan [= (Brit) tin] and bake for 40 minutes. • a cake/loaf/roasting pan — see also FRYING PAN, SAUCEPAN b : a container that is like a cooking pan that is used for holding something — see also BEDPAN, DUSTPAN

2 Brit : ¹BOWL 2a • a toilet pan

3 : STEEL DRUM

down the pan Brit, informal 1 — used to describe something that is being wasted or lost • It's just money down the pan. [= (US) down the drain] • All my hard work went down the pan. 2 — used to describe something that is getting much worse • The business is going down the pan. [= (US) going down the drain]

flash in the pan see ²FLASH

²pan verb pans; panned; pan-ning : to move (a movie, video, or television camera) across a scene or along with someone or something that is moving [+ obj] He panned the camera over the seats of the stadium. • The camera panned the seats of the stadium. [no obj] The director/camera panned past the pile of shoes to the bare feet of the playing children. — compare ³PAN

³pan verb pans; panned; pan-ning

1 [+ obj] informal : to criticize (a book, movie, play, etc.) severely • The newspaper's movie critic panned the film. — often used as (be) panned • The book was panned by the critics. 2 : to wash pieces of earth or stones with water in a special kind of pan in order to find pieces of gold or other metals [no obj] — usually + for • The gold mine is no longer in use, but visitors to the mine can still pan for gold. [+ obj] We heard reports of people panning gold upriver.

pan out [phrasal verb] 1 : to develop or happen • We'll have to see how things pan out. [=turn out] 2 : to have the end or result that you want : to succeed or turn out well • If things don't pan out [=work out] here, I'll move back to the city. • Her plans never panned out. • He applied for a number of jobs and is hoping that one of them will pan out. [=hoping that he will get one of the jobs]

— compare ²PAN

pan- prefix

1 : all or completely • panorama

2 : involving all of a specified group • Pan-American • pan-demic pan-a-cea /,pænə'si:ə/ noun, pl -ce-as [count] somewhat formal : something that will make everything about a situation better • The law will improve the lives of local farmers, but it is no panacea. • An increase in tuition won't be a panacea [=cure-all] for the college's financial problems.

pa-nache /pə'næʃ/ noun [noncount] : lots of energy and style • She played the role of hostess with great panache.

pan-a-ma hat or Pan-a-ma hat /'pænə,mɑ:-/ noun, pl ~ hats [count] : a light hat with a broad brim that is made from straw — called also panama; see picture at HAT

Pan-Amer-i-can /,pænə'merɪkən/ adj : of, relating to, or involving the countries of North and South America • the Pan-American highway pan-cake /'pænkɛk/ noun, pl -cakes [count]

1 : a thin, flat, round cake that is made by cooking batter on both sides in a frying pan or on a hot surface (called a griddle) • We had blueberry pancakes and sausage for breakfast.

— see also POTATO PANCAKE

2 : thick makeup worn especially by actors • She wore sequins, false eyelashes, and pancake onstage. — called also pancake makeup

(as) flat as a pancake see ¹FLAT

Pancake Day noun [noncount] Brit : SHROVE TUESDAY

pan-cet-ta /pæn'tʃetə/ noun [noncount] : a kind of Italian bacon pan-cre-as /'pæŋkri:əs/ noun, pl -as-es [count] : a large gland of the body that is near the stomach and that produces insulin and other substances that help the body digest food — see picture at HUMAN — pan-cre-at-ic /,pæŋkri'ætɪk/ adj • pancreatic cancer/tissue pan-da /'pændə/ noun, pl -das [count]

1 : a large animal with black-and-white fur that looks like a bear, lives in China, and eats mostly bamboo shoots — called also giant panda, panda bear panda car noun, pl ~ cars [count] Brit, informal : a small police car panda

2 : RED PANDA

pan-dem-ic /pæn'demɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] medical : an occurrence in which a disease spreads very quickly and affects a large number of people over a wide area or throughout the world • The 1918 flu pandemic claimed millions of lives. • the AIDS pandemic

— pandemic adj • a pandemic virus/disease • pandemic malaria pan-de-mo-ni-um /,pændə'mounijəm/ noun [noncount] : a situation in which a crowd of people act in a wild, uncontrolled, or violent way because they are afraid, excited, or confused • The announcement that the concert was canceled was met with pandemonium. • Pandemonium erupted in the courtroom when the verdict was announced.

pan-der /'pændə/ verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing [no obj] disapproving : to do or provide what someone wants or demands even though it is not proper, good, or reasonable — usually + to • The film panders to the popular taste for violence in entertainment.

Pan-do-ra's box /pæn'dorəz-/ noun [singular] : a source of many troubles : something that will lead to many problems • Her parents are understandably afraid of opening a Pandora's box [=causing many worries and problems] if they buy her a car.

pane /'peɪn/ noun, pl panes [count] : a sheet of glass in a window or door • a pane of glass — see picture at WINDOW pan-e-gy-ric /,pænə'dʒɪrɪk/ noun, pl -rics [count] formal : something (such as a speech or a piece of writing) that praises someone or something — often + to • The film is a panegyric to old-fashioned virtues.

pan-el /'pænəl/ noun, pl -els [count]

1 a : a group of people who answer questions, give advice or opinions about something, or take part in a discussion for an audience • The university is hosting a panel on free speech. • Tonight's show features a panel of famous chefs. • Three of the members on the panel are doctors. • a panel discussion on (the topic of) education b : a group of people with special knowledge, skill, or experience who give advice or make decisions • The advisory panel has recommended that the drug be approved. • A panel of judges selected the book for this year's award. c US : a group of people who are chosen to be jurors : JURY — called also jury panel

2 a : one of the flat pieces that make up a door, wall, or ceiling • The room was visible through the door's glass panel. • One of the ceiling panels needs to be replaced. b : a piece of cloth that makes up part of something sewn together • Each of the skirt's five panels is a different color. • Sew the two panels together to form a tablecloth. c : a piece of metal or plastic that forms part of the outside surface of a vehicle • Aside from a dent in one of the side panels the car is in good shape.

3 : a flat surface where the controls of a vehicle, machine, etc., are located • the control panel • The last number you called is listed on the phone's display panel. — see also INSTRUMENT PANEL

— see also SOLAR PANEL

2 panel verb -els; US -eled or Brit -elled; US -el-ing or Brit -el-ling [+ obj] : to cover (a wall, ceiling, etc.) with flat pieces of wood, glass, etc. • We paneled the living room with oak. • The walls were paneled in oak.

— paneled adj • The bedroom had dark paneled walls and large windows. • a heavy paneled door paneling (US) or Brit panelling noun [noncount] : square or rectangular pieces of wood that are joined together to cover a wall or ceiling • The dining room had dark paneling.

pan-el-ist /'pænəlɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] : a person who is a part of a group of people who answer questions, give advice or opinions, etc. : a person who is a member of a panel panel truck noun, pl ~ trucks [count] US : a small truck or van with a fully enclosed body that is often used to deliver goods pan-fry /'pæn,fraɪ/ verb -fries; -fried; -fry-ing [+ obj] : to cook (food) in a frying pan with a small amount of fat • pan-fried fish pang /'pæŋ/ noun, pl pangs [count] : a sudden, strong feeling of physical or emotional pain • hunger pangs — often + of • She felt a pang of guilt for not offering to help.

pan-han-dle /'pæn,hændl/ noun, pl -handles [count] US : a part of a land area (such as a state) that is narrow and sticks out from a larger area • the panhandle of Florida = the Florida Panhandle • The Texas Panhandle is the northernmost part of the state. • the Oklahoma Panhandle

2 panhandle verb -handles; -han-dled; -han-dling [no

obj] chiefly US : to ask strangers for money in a public place (such as on a sidewalk) • He panhandled for his bus fare. • There is a law against panhandling in the subway.

— pan-han-dler /'pæn,hændlə/ noun, pl -dlers [count]

1 pan-ic /'pænik/ noun, pl -ics

1 : a state or feeling of extreme fear that makes someone unable to act or think normally [singular] He was in a panic when he realized how late he was. • There's no reason to get into a panic. [noncount] The villagers fled in panic from the approaching army. • The crowd was in a state of panic. • She has panic attacks whenever she has to speak in public. • (medical) He was diagnosed with panic disorder. [=an illness that causes someone to have frequent panic attacks]

2 [count] : a situation that causes many people to become afraid and to rush to do something — usually singular • The recent panic over/about unsafe drinking water resulted in a shortage of bottled water in the stores.

— pan-icky /'pænikɪ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • He got panicky when he realized how late he was.

2 panic verb -ics; -icked; -ick-ing

1 [no obj] : to be overcome with extreme fear : to be affected by panic • If something goes wrong, don't panic.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (a person or animal) to feel extreme fear : to cause (a person or animal) to feel panic • The deer, panicked by the headlights, ran in front of the car.

panic button noun, pl ~ -tons [count] : a button in a bank, store, etc., that a person can press to call for help during an emergency (such as a robbery) push/hit/press the panic button : to become extremely afraid or nervous when something bad happens or might happen • Medical officials say there is no need to push the panic button over two isolated cases of the disease.

pan-ic-strick-en /'pænik,stri:kən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : too frightened to think or act normally : overcome with panic • The panic-stricken horses crashed through the door of the burning barn.

pan-nier /'pænjə/ noun, pl -niers [count] chiefly Brit : SADDLEBAG pan-o-ply /'pænəpli/ noun, pl -plies [count] formal : a group or collection that is impressive because it is so big or because it includes so many different kinds of people or things — usually singular • A panoply of drugs [=a wide array of drugs] is now available to treat depression. • the full panoply of American literature pan-ora-ma /,pænə'ræmə, Brit ,pænə'rɑ:mə/ noun, pl -mas [count]

1 : a full and wide view of something — usually singular • You can see a panorama of the entire bay from here.

2 a : a way of showing or telling something that includes a lot of information and covers many topics : a thorough presentation of a subject — usually singular • The book presents a panorama [=overview] of immigration in America. b : a group that includes many different people or things : a wide selection — usually singular • a panorama of cultures

— pan-o-ram-ic /,pænə'ræmɪk/ adj • a panoramic view of the city • a panoramic photograph of the Grand Canyon pan-pipe /'pæn,paɪp/ noun, pl -pipes [count] : a musical instrument that is made up of several short pipes of different lengths and that is played by blowing air across the top • play the panpipe — often plural especially in British English • play the panpipes

pan-sy /'pænsɪ/ noun, pl -sles [count]

1 : a small plant that is grown in gardens and has colorful flowers with five petals; also : its flower — see color picture on page C6

2 informal + old-fashioned a : a weak man or boy who is easily frightened b offensive : a male homosexual

pant /'pænt/ verb pants; pant-ed; pant-ing

1 a [no obj] : to breathe hard and quickly • Dogs pant when they are hot. • The hikers were panting by the time they reached the top of the hill. • They panted up the hill. [=they were panting as they went up the hill] • The patient was panting for breath [=breathing heavily] — sometimes used figuratively • The engine was panting noisily as it stood on the tracks. • The car panted up the hill. b [+ obj] : to say (something) while you are breathing quickly and heavily • "I've run far enough," he panted. [=gasped]

2 [no obj] informal : to wish for or want something very eagerly — often + for or after • Fans are panting for the writer's next book. • We knew she was panting after the starring role in the play. [=she wanted the starring role very much] — often followed by to + verb • The crowd was panting to hear the outcome.

— see also PANTS

pan·ta·loons /ˈpæntəˈluːnz/ noun [plural] old-fashioned : pants with wide legs that become narrow at the bottom • a clown in brightly colored pantaloons

pan·the·on /ˈpænθiˌɑːn/ noun, pl -ons [count]

1 : the gods of a particular country or group of people • the Greek and Roman pantheons

2 somewhat formal : a group of people who are famous or important — often + of • He occupies a place in the pantheon of great American writers. [=he is one of the great American writers]

3 : a temple that is built to honor all the gods of a particular country or group of people pan·ther /ˈpænθə/ noun, pl pan·thers also panther [count]

1 : a large, black wildcat

2 US : COUGAR

pant·ies /ˈpæntiz/ noun [plural] chiefly US : a piece of girl's or woman's underwear that covers the area between the waist and the top of the legs — called also (Brit) knickers; see color picture on page C13

pan·to /ˈpæntoʊ/ noun, pl -tos [count, noncount] Brit, informal : ¹PANTOMIME • a Christmas panto

¹pan·to·mime /ˈpæntəˌmaɪm/ noun, pl -mimes

1 a [noncount] : a way of expressing information or telling a story without words by using body movements and facial expressions • In the game of charades, one player uses pantomime to represent a word or phrase that the other players have to try to guess. b : a performance in which a story is told without words by using body movements and facial expressions [count] We saw pantomimes at the fair. [noncount] a ballet that is part dance and part pantomime

2 [count] Brit : a play for children performed during the Christmas season that is based on a fairy tale and includes singing and dancing

²pantomime verb -mimes; -mimed; -mim·ing [+ obj] : to make the movements of someone who is doing something without actually doing it : MIME • He pantomimed someone talking on the phone.

pan·try /ˈpæntri/ noun, pl -tries [count] : a small room in a house in which food is stored pants /ˈpænts/ noun [plural]

1 chiefly US : a piece of clothing that covers your body from the waist to the ankle and has a separate part for each leg • a pair of pants [=trousers] • short/long pants • a pants leg — sometimes used in the singular form pant especially before another noun and in clothing catalogs • a pant leg • a classic khaki pant = (more commonly) classic khaki pants — see color picture on page C14

2 Brit : UNDERPANTS 1

ants in your pants see ANT

by the seat of your pants see ¹SEAT

keep your pants on US, informal — used to tell someone to be patient • “Aren't you ready to leave yet?” “Keep your pants on! I'll be ready in a minute.”

the pants off informal — used for emphasis after words like charm, scare, frighten, bore, and beat • He can charm the pants off anybody. [=he is very charming] • She scared the pants off us [=she scared us very badly] when she phoned at 3 a.m. • The meeting bored the pants off me. • The home team beat the pants off the visiting team last night.

wear the pants see ¹WEAR

with your pants down US, informal : in an embarrassing or unprepared position • The clinic now maintains an adequate supply of vaccine so that it won't be caught with its pants down if there is a flu outbreak two years in a row.

pant·suit /ˈpæntˌsuːt/ noun, pl -suits [count] US : a woman's suit consisting of a jacket and pants that are made of the same material — called also (US) pants suit, (Brit) trouser suit

panty·hose /ˈpæntiˌhoʊz/ noun [plural] US : clothing for women made of thin material that fits closely over the feet and legs and goes up to the waist • a pair of pantyhose — called also (Brit) tights; see color picture on page C13

panty line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : the edge of a woman's panties especially when it can be seen through her clothing as a long, thin line • a visible panty line

panty liner noun, pl ~ ers [count] : a very thin pad that is worn inside a woman's panties in order to protect them from stains pap /ˈpæp/ noun [noncount] informal : books, television programs, etc., that are worthless or dull • That show is better than most of the pap on TV. • Why do you read that pap?

pa·pa also US pop·pa /ˈpɑːpə/ noun, pl -pas [count] informal + somewhat old-fashioned : a person's father — used especially by young children • Where's papa? • Good morning, Papa! — compare MAMA pa·pa·cy /ˈpeɪpəsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 the papacy : the office or position of the pope • He was selected by the cardinals for the papacy.

2 [count] : the time when a particular pope is in power — usually singular • during the papacy of John Paul II pa·pal /ˈpeɪpəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the pope or the government of the Roman Catholic Church • a papal decree/visit • papal authority papal infallibility noun [noncount] : the Roman Catholic belief that the pope cannot be wrong when using his official position of power to give instructions about Christian faith or morals pa·pa·raz·zo /ˌpɑːpəˈrɑːtsou, Brit ˌpæpəˈrætsou/ noun, pl pa·pa·raz·zi /ˌpɑːpəˈrɑːtsi, Brit ˌpæpəˈrætsi/ [count] : a photographer who follows famous people in order to take their pictures and then sells the pictures to newspapers or magazines — usually plural • a movie star surrounded by a swarm of paparazzi

pa·pa·ya /ˈpəˌpajə/ noun, pl -yas

[count, noncount] : a yellowish-green fruit with black seeds that grows on a tropical tree

¹pa·per /ˈpeɪpə/ noun, pl -pers

1 [noncount] : the material that is used in the form of thin sheets for writing or printing on, wrapping things, etc. • We'll need pens, glue, and some paper. • Be sure to print/write the letter on good paper. • She wrapped the present in pretty paper [=wrapping paper] and put a bow on the top. • a sheet of paper • He scribbled the number on a scrap of paper. • a crumpled/torn piece of paper • a pad of paper — see also GRAPH PAPER, SCRAP PAPER, SILVER PAPER, TISSUE PAPER, TOILET PAPER, WAX PAPER, WRITING PAPER

2 a [count] : a sheet of paper with information written or printed on it — usually plural • A pile of papers blew off the desk. • She has possession of the writer's personal papers. b papers [plural] : official documents that give information about something or that are used as proof of something • The border guards asked to see my papers. • divorce papers • legal papers — see also WALKING PAPERS, WORKING PAPERS

3 [count] a : a piece of writing usually on an academic or official subject • They published a landmark paper in 1995. • She presented a paper [=she delivered a speech about a written work] at the conference. • a scientific paper • a government paper — see also POSITION PAPER b US : a piece of writing that is done for a course at a school • He handed in a paper [=essay] about the nesting habits of birds. • The teacher was busy grading papers. — see also TERM PAPER c Brit : an exam or test in which students write answers to written questions • She did well on her history paper.

4 [count] : NEWSPAPER • a news story in the local paper • the morning paper • Did you hear what the papers are saying/reporting? • It was the sort of thing you read about in the papers. — see also FUNNY PAPERS on paper 1 : in a written form : in writing • He finally put his ideas on paper. [=he finally wrote down his ideas] 2 — used to say that something seems to be true or likely when you read or hear what is known about it but that the real situation may be different • The other team looked better on paper, but we beat them anyway. • On paper, the procedure is relatively simple.

5 [count, noncount] : paper that is used to cover or decorate the walls of a room : WALLPAPER • She picked a light green paper for the living room.

push paper(s) informal : to do boring or unimportant work in an office • She wanted to be a pilot, but instead she ended up pushing papers in a government job. — see also PAPER PUSHER

put/set pen to paper see ¹PEN

²paper adj

1 : made of paper • a paper bag • paper cups/plates [=cups/plates made of thick paper and usually designed to be used papaya

once and then thrown away] • The cups/plates were paper.

2 always used before a noun : of or relating to paper • paper manufacturers • a paper mill [=a mill/factory where paper is made]

3 always used before a noun : existing or shown on paper or in documents but not real • Their accounts showed lots of paper profits, but they went bankrupt anyway. • paper losses

3 paper verb -pers; -pered; -per-ing [+ obj] : to cover (something, such as a wall) with paper • paper [=wallpaper] the bedroom paper over [phrasal verb] paper (something) over or paper over (something) : to hide (something bad, such as differences or problems) • They papered over their disagreements [=they pretended that they did not disagree] in order to convince the investors to put up the money. • (chiefly Brit) We have to acknowledge these problems. We can't just paper over the cracks pa·per·back /'peɪpə,bæk/ noun, pl -backs : a book that has a thick paper cover [count] The store sells both paperbacks and hardcovers. [noncount] The book is sold only in paperback — compare HARDCOVER, SOFTCOVER — paperback adj • a paperback novel/edition pa·per·boy /'peɪpə,bɔɪ/ noun, pl -boys [count] : a boy who delivers newspapers to people's houses paper clip noun, pl ~ clips [count] : a piece of wire bent into flat loops that is used to hold sheets of paper together — see picture at OFFICE

pa·per·girl /'peɪpə,gɜ:l/ noun, pl -girls [count] : a girl who delivers newspapers to people's houses pa·per·hang·er /'peɪpə,hæŋə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a person whose job is to put up wallpaper paper knife noun, pl ~ knives [count] Brit : LETTER OPENER

pa·per·less /'peɪpə,ləs/ adj : using computers instead of paper to record or exchange information • a paperless office • a paperless business transaction paper money noun [noncount] : money that is made of paper : money in the form of bills instead of coins paper pusher noun, pl ~ -ers [count] chiefly US, informal + disapproving : someone who does boring or unimportant work in an office — called also (US) pencil pusher, (Brit) pen pusher pa·per·thin /'peɪpə,θɪn/ adj : very thin • paper-thin slices of roast beef • The walls are paper-thin.

paper tiger noun, pl ~ -gers [count] : someone or something that appears powerful or dangerous but is not • The new laws are just paper tigers without any method of enforcement.

paper towel noun, pl ~ -els : a sheet of soft and thick paper that can soak up liquid and that is used for drying your hands, cleaning up spills, etc. [count] She used a paper towel to wipe off the counter. • (US) a roll of paper towels [= (Brit) a roll of kitchen paper] [noncount] (US) a piece of paper towel [= (Brit) kitchen paper]

paper trail noun, pl ~ trails [count] chiefly US : documents (such as financial records or memos) that make it possible for someone at a later time to know what was done, discussed, etc. • They covered up the fraud and were careful not to leave a paper trail.

pa·per·weight /'peɪpə,weɪt/ noun, pl -weights [count] : a small, heavy object that is used to hold down loose papers on a surface

pa·per·work /'peɪpə,wɜ:k/ noun [noncount]

1 : routine work that involves writing letters, reports, etc. • He spent most of the morning doing (his) paperwork. • administrative paperwork

2 : the official documents that are needed for something to happen or be done • She failed to file the paperwork on time. • The lawyer had us fill in the paperwork for the mortgage.

pa·pery /'peɪpəri/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very thin or dry like paper • a berry with papery skin • the papery wing of a moth pa·pier·mâ·ché /,peɪpə'mæʃeɪ, Brit ,pæpjə'mæʃeɪ/ noun [noncount] : a material that is made of paper mixed with water, glue, and other substances and that hardens as it dries • She made a mask out of papier-mâché. — often used before another noun • a large papier-mâché sculpture pap·py /'pæpi/ noun, pl -pies [count] US, informal : a person's father : PAPA — used chiefly in the southern and east central part of the U.S.

pa·pri·ka /pə'pri:kə/ noun [noncount] : a red powder that is made from sweet peppers and used as a spice for food • tomato sauce made with garlic, paprika, and pepper

Pap smear /'pæp'smiə/ noun, pl ~ smears [count] US, medical : a test for the early detection of cancer of the uterus and cervix • She has a Pap smear done every year. — called also (US) Pap test, (Brit) cervical smear, (Brit) smear test pa·py·rus /pə'paɪrəs/ noun, pl pa·py·ri /pə'paɪri/ or pa·py·rus·es

1 [noncount] : a tall plant that is like grass and that grows in marshes especially in Egypt

2 a [noncount] : paper made from papyrus that was used in ancient times • an ancient text written on papyrus • a roll/scroll of papyrus • a papyrus scroll b [count] : a piece of paper made from papyrus that has writing on it • He discovered a papyrus in the ruins. per made from papyrus that has writing on it • He discovered a papyrus in the ruins.

par /'pɑ:/ noun, pl pars

1 : the number of strokes a good golfer is expected to take to finish a golf hole or course [noncount] He made/scored par on the ninth hole. • She finished the 18th hole three strokes under/over par. • The 18th hole is a par 5. [=par for the 18th hole is five strokes] • a par-5 hole [count] He made/scored a par on the ninth hole. • She made/scored nine pars in a row.

2 [noncount] business : the value of a stock or bond that is printed on the paper of the stock or bond itself or that is decided upon when the stock or bond is issued • That stock is trading (at) 16 percent above/below par. — called also par value above par : better than normal or expected : very good • The performance was above par.

below par also under par : worse than expected : not very good : BAD • Our meal was below par. [=subpar] • I'm feeling a little below par.

on (a) par with : at the same level or standard as (someone or something else) • The new version of the software is on a par with the old one. [=is as good as the old one] • His new book is on par with his best sellers.

par for the course disapproving : normal or typical : not unusual or unexpected • His son's bad behavior is just par for the course. [=his son often/always behaves badly] • It's par for the course that she's late to the meeting.

up to par : good enough : as good as expected or wanted • She was checking to see if his work was up to par. — usually used in negative statements • His course work is not up to par. [=not as good as it should be] • She's not feeling up to par. [=she is not feeling well; her health is not good] para. abbr paragraph

1 para- prefix

1 : beyond or outside of • paranormal

2 : helping highly trained professionals by doing tasks that require less training • paramedic • paralegal

2 para- combining form : parachute • paratrooper • parasailing

par·a·ble /'perəbəl/ noun, pl -ables [count] : a short story that teaches a moral or spiritual lesson • He told the children a parable about the importance of forgiveness.; especially : one of the stories told by Jesus Christ and recorded in the Bible • the parable of the Good Samaritan pa·rab·o·la /pə'ræbələ/ noun, pl -las [count] technical : a curve that is shaped like the path of something that is thrown forward and high in the air and falls back to the ground — sometimes used figuratively • a biography that follows the parabola of the actress's career [=a biography that shows the rise and fall of the actress's career]

— par·a·bol·ic /,perə'bɔ:lɪk/ adj • a parabolic curve para·cet·a·mol

/,perə'sɪ:tə,mɔ:l/ noun [noncount] Brit : ACETOMINOPHEN

1 para-chute /'perəʃu:t/ noun, pl

-chutes [count] : a piece of equipment usually made of cloth that is fastened to people or things and that allows them to fall slowly and land safely after they have jumped or been dropped from an aircraft • The pilot was wearing a parachute. • The supplies were dropped by parachute. — often used before another noun • a parachute jump/drop — see also GOLDEN PARACHUTE

2 parachute verb, always followed

parachute

by an adverb or preposition -chutes; -chut-ed; -chut-ing

1 [no obj] : to jump from an aircraft using a parachute • The soldiers parachuted in and quickly hid their gear. • New troops parachuted into enemy territory.

2 [+ obj] : to drop (someone or something) from an aircraft using a parachute • We will parachute supplies in after you arrive. • New troops were parachuted into enemy territory.

para-chut-ist /ˈperəˌʃuːtɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who jumps from an aircraft and uses a parachute to land

¹pa·rade /pəˈreɪd/ noun, pl -rades [count]

1 : a public celebration of a special day or event that usually includes many people and groups moving down a street by marching or riding in cars or on special vehicles (called floats) • the annual Thanksgiving Day parade • After the team won the championship, the city threw/had a parade for them. • The town will put on a parade. • The marching band lined up for the homecoming parade. • the parade route

2 : a military ceremony in which soldiers march or stand in lines so that they can be examined by officers or other important people

3 : a long series of people or things that come one after the other — usually singular; usually + of • We had a parade of visitors this morning. [=we had many visitors this morning] • The prosecution called a parade of witnesses to the stand. • We watched a parade of cars go by our house on the way to the stadium for the game.

4 Brit : a street with a row of small shops • a shopping parade on parade 1 : shown or displayed especially in a way that attracts attention or notice • Her new diamond engagement ring was on parade for all her friends to stare at. • Television executives learned that violent shows attract more viewers, and pretty soon it was violence on parade all day long. 2 : marching or standing in a military parade • The general carefully watched the soldiers on parade. • a military honor guard on parade

rain on someone's parade see ²RAIN

²parade verb -rades; -rad-ed; -rad-ing

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to walk or march together in public especially as a way of celebrating or protesting something • The team and its fans paraded down the street. • Protesters paraded in front of City Hall.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to walk in a way that attracts attention • The models paraded up and down the runway. • She paraded around on the beach in her bikini.

3 [+ obj] : to force (someone) to walk or march in public • The victors paraded the prisoners through the streets.

4 of soldiers : to march in lines in order to be examined by officers or other important people [no obj] The soldiers paraded past the generals. [+ obj] The soldiers were paraded past the generals.

5 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] : to show or present (someone or something) proudly or in a way that attracts attention • They don't like having their personal problems paraded in print for everyone to see.

6 disapproving : to be falsely presented as something good — + as [no obj] The book is just propaganda parading as literature. [+ obj] — usually used as (be) paraded • lies being paraded as the truth parade ground noun, pl ~ grounds [count] : a place where parades begin or happen • a military parade ground — often plural • Meet me at the parade grounds after the fireworks.

par-a-digm /ˈperəˌdaɪm/ noun, pl -digms [count] formal

1 : a model or pattern for something that may be copied • Her recent book provides us with a new paradigm for modern biography.

2 : a theory or a group of ideas about how something should be done, made, or thought about • the Freudian paradigm of psychoanalysis • a new study that challenges the current evolutionary paradigm

— par-a-dig-mat-ic /ˌperədɪɡˈmætɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a paradigmatic example paradigm shift noun, pl ~ shifts [count] formal : an important change that happens when the usual way of thinking about or doing something is replaced by a new and different way • This discovery will bring about a paradigm shift in our understanding of evolution. [=will cause people to understand evolution in a completely new way]

par-a-dise /ˈperəˌdaɪs/ noun, pl -dis-es

1 a [count] : a very beautiful, pleasant, or peaceful place that seems to be perfect • a rural paradise • tropical paradises • Their marriage was very happy at first, but now there's trouble in paradise. b [singular] : a place that is perfect for a particular activity or for a person who enjoys that activity • a marsh that is a birdwatcher's paradise • This shop is an antique collecting paradise! c [noncount] : a state of complete happiness • When I'm with you, I'm in paradise. [=I'm very happy] — see also FOOL'S PARADISE

2 or Paradise [noncount] a : a place where in some religions good people are believed to go after they die : HEAVEN b : the place where Adam and Eve first lived according to the Bible : EDEN

— see also BIRD OF PARADISE

par-a-dox /ˈperəˌdɔːks/ noun, pl -dox-es

1 [count] a : something (such as a situation) that is made up of two opposite things and that seems impossible but is actually true or possible • It is a paradox that computers need maintenance so often, since they are meant to save people time. b : someone who does two things that seem to be opposite to each other or who has qualities that are opposite • As an actor, he's a paradox—he loves being in the public eye but also deeply values and protects his privacy.

2 a [count] : a statement that seems to say two opposite things but that may be true b [noncount] : the use of such statements in writing or speech • a novel full of paradox

— par-a-dox-i-cal /ˌperəˈdɔːksɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • the paradoxical theory that global warming will lead to the next Ice Age — par-a-dox-i-cal-ly /ˌperəˈdɔːksɪkli/ adv

par-af-fin /ˈperəfən/ noun [noncount]

1 : a soft, waxy substance that is usually made from petroleum or coal and is used in candles and other products — called also paraffin wax

2 Brit : KEROSENE • a paraffin lamp para-glid-ing /ˈperəˌɡlaɪdɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : a sport in which a person jumps from a high place (such as a cliff or an airplane) and uses a special kind of parachute to float down to the ground

— para-glide /ˈperəˌɡlaɪd/ verb -glides; -glid-ed; -glid-ing [no obj] • He paraglided down from the cliff. • She likes to go paragliding. — para-glid-er /ˈperəˌɡlaɪdər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

par-a-gon /ˈperəˌɡɔːn, Brit ˈpærəɡən/ noun, pl -gons [count] formal : a person or thing that is perfect or excellent in some way and should be considered a model or example to be copied • He's no moral paragon. — often + of • The company is a paragon of modern manufacturing techniques. • He is a paragon of virtue. [=he is a very virtuous person] para-graph /ˈperəˌɡræf, Brit ˈpærəˌɡrɑːf/ noun, pl -graphs [count] : a part of a piece of writing that usually deals with one subject, that begins on a new line, and that is made up of one or more sentences • In the second paragraph from the bottom, you've misspelled "their" as "thier." • Please refer to section 2, paragraph 4 for the appropriate information. • The two introductory paragraphs were written by the editor.

par-a-keet /ˈperəˌkiːt/ noun, pl -keets [count] : a small, brightly colored tropical bird that has a long tail and that is often kept as a pet para-le-gal /ˈperəˌliːɡəl/ noun, pl -gals [count] US : a person who is trained to help a lawyer by doing research, office work, etc.

— para-le-gal /ˌperəˈliːɡəl/ adj, always used before a noun • paralegal studies

¹par-al-lel /ˈperəˌleɪl/ adj

1 — used to describe lines, paths, etc., that are the same distance apart along their whole length and do not touch at any point • parallel train tracks • A square is made of two sets of parallel lines. • The corn is planted in parallel rows. • The lines are parallel to each other. • The row of trees is parallel with the road. — compare PERPENDICULAR

2 : very similar and often happening at the same time • the parallel careers of the two movie stars • These two sentences are parallel in structure. • Notice the parallel development/evolution of the two technologies.

3 computers : designed for a computer system in which very small pieces of information are sent over separate wires at the same time • a parallel cable/connection/port/printer — compare ¹SERIAL 4

— parallel adv • The sidewalk runs parallel to/with the street.

²parallel noun, pl -lals

1 a [count] : a way in which things are similar : a shared quality or characteristic • These myths have some striking/obvious parallels with myths found in cultures around the world. • There are many parallels between the stories. • The essay draws parallels between the lives of the two presidents. [=describes ways in which the lives of the two presidents were similar] b [noncount] : something that is equal or similar — usually used in negative statements • This period of growth has no parallel [=there has never been a similar period of growth] in the history of the region. • a masterpiece without parallel [=better than all others] in the history of art • As an insult, it was without parallel. [=worse or more effective than all others]

2 [count] : any one of the imaginary circles on the surface of the Earth that are parallel to the equator and that are shown as lines on maps • Most of the United States is south of the 49th parallel. — compare MERIDIAN

in parallel (with) : at the same time and in a way that is related or connected • Prices are rising in parallel with increasing fuel costs. • The two systems work in parallel.

3 parallel verb -lels; -leled; -lel-ing [+ obj]

1 : to be similar or equal to (something) • Their test results parallel our own. • Nothing parallels that experience. [=that experience is unlike any other experience; it is unique]

2 : to happen at the same time as (something) and in a way that is related or connected • Rising prices parallel increasing fuel costs. • Spending is paralleled by an increase in the number of loans given.

3 : to be parallel to (something) : to go or extend in the same direction as (something) • The highway parallels the river.

parallel bars noun [plural] sports : a pair of long bars on posts that are parallel to each other and are used in gymnastics — compare UNEVEN BARS par-al-lel-ism /ˈperəˌleɪlɪzəm/ noun, pl -isms formal : the fact of being similar in development or form [noncount] There is some degree of parallelism between the lives of the two women. [count] There is a certain parallelism in the development of the two technologies.

par-al-lel-o-gram /ˈperəˌleləˌgræm/ noun, pl -grams [count] geometry : a four-sided shape made up of two pairs of straight parallel lines that are equal in length • Rectangles, squares, and rhombuses are all parallelograms.

parallel park verb ~ parks; ~ parked; ~ park-ing : to park a car, truck, etc., so that the long side of the vehicle is parallel to the side of the road [no obj] I still have to learn how to parallel park. [+ obj] parallel park a car

— parallel parking noun [noncount]

pa-ral-y-sis /pəˈræləsəs/ noun

1 medical : a condition in which you are unable to move or feel all or part of your body [noncount] The disease causes paralysis. • paralysis of the legs • partial/temporary paralysis [singular] The disease causes a paralysis of the legs.

2 formal : a state of being unable to function, act, or move [noncount] The whole country is in a state of paralysis. • They are trying to end the political paralysis that has been gripping the country. [singular] a paralysis of fear [=an inability to function, act, or move that is caused by fear]

1 par-a-lyt-ic /ˈperəˌlɪtɪk/ adj

1 always used before a noun, medical : affected with or causing paralysis • paralytic patients [=patients who are unable to move or feel all or part of their bodies] • a paralytic drug/stroke/disease [=a drug/stroke/disease that causes paralysis]

2 Brit, informal : very drunk • a group of paralytic drunks

2 paralytic noun, pl -ics [count] medical : a person who is paralyzed • treatment for paralytics

par-a-lyze (US) or Brit par-a-lyse /ˈperəˌlaɪz/ verb -lyz-es; -lyzed; -lyz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (a person or animal) unable to move or feel all or part of the body • The snake's venom paralyzed the mouse. • The accident paralyzed him from the neck down. [=the accident caused him to lose the ability to move or feel his body below his neck]

2 : to make (someone or something) unable to function, act, or move • The air strikes have paralyzed the city's transportation system. • The company was paralyzed by debt.

— paralyzed adj • The accident left him paralyzed from the neck down. • I was practically paralyzed with fear/embarassment. [=unable to function, act, or move because I was so afraid/embarassed] — paralyzing adj • the snake's paralyzing venom • a paralyzing fear para-med-ic /perəˈmedɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : a person whose job is to provide emergency medical care to sick or injured people who are being taken to a hospital • She's training to be a paramedic.

— paramedic adj, always used before a noun • paramedic training pa-ram-e-ter /pəˈræmətə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a rule or limit that controls what something is or how something should be done — usually plural • First we need to set/define the parameters of the project. • The investigation stayed within the parameters set by the court.

1 para-mil-i-tary /ˌperəˈmɪləˌteri, Brit ˌpærəˈmɪlətri/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to a group that is not an official army but that operates and is organized like an army • paramilitary militias • Government forces have been attacked by heavily armed paramilitary groups in several villages. • paramilitary training • a paramilitary police force par-a-mount /ˈperəˌmaʊnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very important : of highest rank or importance • Safety is of paramount importance. = Safety is paramount. • Unemployment was the paramount [=chief, main] issue in the election.

2 paramilitary noun, pl -tar-ies [count] : a member of a paramilitary group — usually plural • Forces encountered heavily armed paramilitaries.

par-amour /ˈperəˌmuə/ noun, pl -amours [count] literary : a person with whom someone is having a romantic or sexual relationship and especially a secret or improper relationship • Her husband found a love letter from her paramour. [=lover]

para-noia /ˌperəˈnoɪə/ noun [noncount]

1 medical : a serious mental illness that causes you to falsely believe that other people are trying to harm you • She was diagnosed with delusional paranoia.

2 : an unreasonable feeling that people are trying to harm you, do not like you, etc. • I had to admit that my fears were just paranoia.

1 para-noid /ˈperəˌnoɪd/ adj

1 medical : of, relating to, or suffering from a mental illness that causes you to falsely believe that people are trying to harm you • paranoid behavior/schizophrenia • a paranoid mental patient

2 [more ~; most ~] : having or showing an unreasonable feeling that people are trying to harm you, do not like you, etc. : feeling or showing paranoia • I guess I was just being paranoid. • She's a little paranoid about her job. • It's nothing more than a paranoid fantasy.

2 paranoid noun, pl -noids [count] medical : a person who has paranoia • a new treatment for paranoids para-nor-mal /ˌperəˈnoʊməl/ adj : very strange and not able to be explained by what scientists know about nature and the world • Some believe she had paranormal [=supernatural] powers. • paranormal phenomena the paranormal : strange events, abilities, etc., that cannot be explained by what is known about nature and the world • I've always been fascinated by the paranormal.

par-a-pet /ˈperəpət/ noun, pl -pets [count] : a low wall at the edge of a platform, roof, or bridge • The invaders fired arrows over the castle's parapet.

put/stick/raise your head above the parapet Brit, informal : to do or say something you think is important even though it may have bad results • I'll put my head above the parapet to defend him.

par-a-pher-na-lia /ˌperəfəˈneɪljə/ noun [noncount] : objects that are used to do a particular activity : objects of a particular kind • hockey paraphernalia [=equipment] • Drug paraphernalia was found in his car.

1 para-phrase /ˈperəˌfreɪz/ verb -phras-es; -phrased; -phras-ing : to say (something that someone else has said or written) using different words [+ obj] He paraphrased the quote. • She frequently paraphrases (the words of) famous authors in her lectures. [no obj] I'm paraphrasing, but he did say something like that.

2 paraphrase noun, pl -phrases [count] : a statement that says something that another person has said or written in a different way • This is just a paraphrase of what he said, not an exact quote.

para-ple-gia /ˌperəˈpliːdʒiə/ noun [noncount] medical : a condition in which you are permanently unable to move or feel your legs and the lower half of your body because of injury or illness para-ple-gic /ˌperəˈpliːdʒɪk/ noun, pl -gics [count] medical : a person who is permanently unable to move or feel the legs or lower half of the body because of injury or illness • Although she is a paraplegic, she is an accomplished athlete. — compare QUADRIPLEGIC

– paraplegic adj, always used before a noun • a paraplegic war veteran para-pro-fes-sion-al /ˌperəprəˈfɛʃənəl/ noun, pl -als [count] US : a person whose job is to help a professional person (such as a teacher) • There is at least one paraprofessional in each classroom.

– paraprofessional adj, always used before a noun • paraprofessional training para-psy-chol-o-gy /ˌperəˈsaɪˈkɒlədʒi/ noun [noncount] : the scientific study of events that cannot be explained by what scientists know about nature and the world para-sail-ing /ˌperəˈseɪlɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : a sport or activity in which you are pulled behind a motorboat while wearing a parachute so that you sail through the air • They went parasailing while they were on vacation.

par-a-site /ˌperəˈsaɪt/ noun, pl -sites [count]

1 : an animal or plant that lives in or on another animal or plant and gets food or protection from it • Many diseases are caused by parasites. — compare ¹HOST 3

2 disapproving : a person or thing that takes something from someone or something else and does not do anything to earn it or deserve it • She's a parasite who only stays with him for the money. • These new companies are parasites feeding off the success of those who spent the last decade establishing the industry.

par-a-sit-ic /ˌperəˈsaɪtɪk/ adj

1 of an animal or plant : living in or on another animal or plant and getting food or protection from it • parasitic plants/mites/worms

2 always used before a noun : caused by a parasite • a parasitic disease/infection

3 disapproving : getting food, money, etc., from other people without doing anything to earn it or deserve it • her lazy, parasitic brother para-sol /ˌperəˈsa:l/ noun, pl -sols [count] : a light umbrella that you use to protect yourself from the sun para-troop-er /ˌperəˈtru:pə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a member of a group of soldiers who are trained to jump out of airplanes using a parachute para-troops /ˌperəˈtru:ps/ noun [plural] : a group of soldiers who are trained to jump out of airplanes using a parachute : a group of paratroopers – para-troop /ˌperəˈtru:p/ adj, always used before a noun • a paratroop unit par-boil /ˈpɑːboɪl/ verb -boils; -boiled; -boil-ing [+ obj] : to boil (a piece of food) for a short time often before cooking it fully in another way • Parboil the potatoes before you roast them.

¹par-cel /ˈpɑːsəl/ noun, pl -cels [count]

1 : a section or area of land • Several 10-acre parcels (of land) are available. • a parcel of real estate

2 : a box or large envelope that is usually given, sent, or delivered to a person • The parcel [= (chiefly US) package] was shipped today. • She was carrying several brown paper parcels. [=boxes wrapped in heavy brown paper] — see picture at MAIL

part and parcel of see ¹PART

²parcel verb parcels; US par-celed or Brit par-celled; US par-cel-ing or Brit par-cel-ling parcel off [phrasal verb] parcel (something) off or parcel off (something) : to divide (something, such as land) into separate, smaller parts especially in order to sell it • The property was eventually parceled off and sold in pieces.

parcel out [phrasal verb] parcel (something) out or parcel out (something) : to divide or share (something) among different people, groups, etc. • The money was parceled out [=distributed] to local charities. • They plan to parcel the tickets out in a lottery. • We need to stop parceling out the blame for this problem and start working on a solution.

parcel up [phrasal verb] parcel (something) up or parcel up (something) Brit : to wrap (something) or put (something) into a box in order to mail it to someone • The paintings have all been parcelled up.

parcel bomb noun, pl ~ bombs [count] Brit : LETTER BOMB parcel post noun [noncount] : a service that people in the U.S. can use to mail packages • Do you want to send this (by) parcel post?

parch /ˈpɑːʃ/ verb parch-es; parched; parch-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) very dry • The hot desert sun had parched the land.

parched /ˈpɑːʃt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very dry especially because of hot weather and no rain • parched land

2 somewhat informal : very thirsty • Could I have some water? I'm parched.

Par-chee-si /pɑːˈʃi:zi/ trademark — used for a game in which players try to be the first to move all of their pieces all the way around a board

parch-ment /ˈpɑːʃmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 a [noncount] : paper made from the skin of a sheep or goat • Ancient people wrote on parchment. b [count] : a document written on parchment • a parchment dating back to ancient times

2 [noncount] : strong and thick paper; especially, chiefly US : strong, tough paper that is used by cooks • Line the pan with a sheet of parchment. — called also parchment paper

¹par-don /ˈpɑːdn/ verb par-dons; par-doned; par-don-ing [+ obj]

1 : to officially say that someone who is guilty of a crime will be allowed to go free and will not be punished • pardon a criminal

2 : to say that someone should not be blamed for thinking, doing, or saying something — usually used as (be) pardoned for • Voters can/should/could be pardoned for thinking this election would be different.

3 : to officially say that a person, country, etc., does not have to pay (a debt) • The group wants the debt of the world's poorest countries to be pardoned. [=forgiven]

4 — used to be polite in asking questions or saying things that could be considered rude • Pardon my ignorance, but what does “naïveté” mean? • Pardon my asking, but is that your natural hair color? • Pardon my saying so, but you look tired today. = You look tired today, if you'll pardon my saying so. • Pardon me for asking, but how old are you?

pardon me 1 — used as a polite way of starting to say something when you are interrupting someone, trying to get someone's attention, or disagreeing with someone • Pardon me, but can I speak to you privately for a moment? • Pardon me, (but) you dropped this envelope. • Pardon me, but I believe you've made a mistake. 2 also pardon — used as a polite apology for a minor fault or offense (such as laughing, coughing, or bumping into someone) • Oh, pardon me. I didn't see you standing there. • Pardon—I didn't mean to bump you. 3 also pardon — used as a polite way of asking someone to repeat something spoken • Pardon me? I didn't hear you. • “Are you ready to go?” “Pardon?” “I asked if you were ready to go.”

pardon my French informal + humorous — used to apologize for using offensive language • Everything he said is bullshit. Pardon my French.

pardon the expression see EXPRESSION

²pardon noun, pl -dons [count]

1 : an act of officially saying that someone who was judged to be guilty of a crime will be allowed to go free and will not be punished • The governor granted him a pardon. • She received a presidential/royal pardon. [=a pardon from a president or a king or queen]

2 formal : forgiveness for something • He asked/begged my pardon for taking so much of my time. — see also beg your pardon at BEG par-don-able /ˈpɑːdnəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be forgiven : not so bad that it cannot be forgiven or excused • It was a pardonable mistake/error.

pare /ˈpeə/ verb pares; pared; par-ing [+ obj]

1 : to carefully cut off the outside or the ends of (something) • pare an apple • She was paring [= (more commonly) trimming] her fingernails. — often + away • Pare away any brown spots on the avocado. — see also PARING KNIFE

2 : to make (something) smaller : to reduce (something) in size, amount, or number • The company has to find a way to pare expenses. • The budget has been pared to the bone. [=reduced as much as possible] — often + down • The book was pared down to 200 pages. • The company has to pare down the office staff. • The pared-down staff was forced to work longer hours.

par-ent /ˈperənt/ noun, pl -ents [count]

1 a : a person who is a father or mother : a person who has a child • My parents live in New York. • They recently became parents. = They're new parents. • The form must be signed by a parent or guardian of the child. • A few of us are single parents. [=parents who live with a child or children and no husband, wife, or partner] • my adoptive parents [=the people who adopted me] • The organization helps people who were adopted find their birth/biological parents. [=their natural parents] • They'd like to become foster parents. [=people who volunteer to care for a child who is not their biological child] — compare GRANDPARENT, STEPPARENT b : an animal or plant that produces a young animal or plant • The parent brings food to the chicks. • the parent bird • The new plant will have characteristics of both parent plants.

2 a : something out of which another thing has developed — usually used before another noun • Latin is the parent language of several languages, including Italian, Spanish, and French. b : a company or organization that owns and controls a smaller company or organization • the hospital's corporate parent = the corporate parent of the hospital — often used before another noun • a parent bank/company/corporation/firm

— pa-ren-tal /pə'rentl/ adj, always used before a noun • parental responsibility/consent

par-ent-age /'perəntɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] formal : a person's parents — used especially to describe the origins or social status of someone's parents • She was born in Japan, but (is) of African parentage. [=descent] • a person of noble/wealthy parentage [=birth, ancestry]

pa-ren-the-sis /pə'renθəsəs/ noun, pl -the-ses /-θə'si:z/ [count] : one of a pair of marks () that are used around a word, phrase, sentence, number, etc. — usually plural • The plant's common name is followed by its Latin name in parentheses. — called also (Brit) bracket par-en-thet-i-cal /,perən'thetɪkəl/ adj : included or added to give information which is not directly related to the main subject that is being discussed • parenthetical remarks/references • He explained the process thoroughly, including parenthetical comments about his own experiences with it. • a parenthetical note [=a note that is shown in parentheses]

— par-en-thet-i-cal-ly /,perən'thetɪkli/ adv • The author notes parenthetically that these meetings were not public.

par-ent-hood /'perənt,hud/ noun [noncount] : the state of being a mother or a father • the joys of parenthood par-ent-ing /'perəntɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the process of taking care of children until they are old enough to take care of themselves : the things that parents do to raise a child • They share the responsibilities of parenting. — often used before another noun • parenting skills/issues parent-in-law noun, pl parents-in-law [count] : a parent of your husband or wife : IN-LAW

Parent-Teacher Association noun, pl ~ -tions [count] : a local organization of teachers and parents who work together to improve schools and to help students — abbr. PTA

Parent-Teacher Organization noun, pl ~ -tions [count] US : PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION — abbr. PTO

par ex-cel-lence /'par,eksə'la:ns, Brit ,pɑ:r'eksə,la:ns/ adj, always used after a noun, formal : better than all others • a chef par excellence [=an excellent chef]

par-fait /pə'feit/ noun, pl -faits [count, noncount] US : a cold dessert made usually of layers of ice cream, fruit, and syrup with whipped cream on top pa-ri-ah /pə'raɪə/ noun, pl -ahs [count] : a person who is hated and rejected by other people • He's a talented player but his angry outbursts have made him a pariah in the sport of baseball. • a social pariah

paring knife noun, pl ~ knives [count] : a small knife with a short blade used especially for cutting fruit and vegetables par-ings /'perɪŋz/ noun [plural] : thin pieces that have been cut from something • finger nail/cheese parings

par-ish /'perɪʃ/ noun, pl -ish-es [count]

1 a : an area that has its own local church and priest or minister • The parish will be getting a new priest soon. b : the group of people who go to the church in a particular area • The parish has grown significantly in the last three years.

2 a US : an area in Louisiana that is like a county b Brit : a small area that has its own local government — parish adj, always used before a noun • a parish priest/minister • the parish church • He was elected to the parish council.

pa-rish-io-ner /pə'riʃənə/ noun, pl -ners [count] : a person who goes to a particular local church : a person who belongs to a parish • the parishioners of First Baptist Church parish-pump adj, always used before a noun, Brit, old-fashioned + disapproving : only important or interesting to people in a small area • All the articles are about parish-pump politics.

par-i-ty /'perəti/ noun [noncount] formal : the state of being equal • the struggle for gender/racial/social parity [= (more commonly) equality] • Women have fought for parity with men in the workplace. • The two currencies are approaching parity for the first time in decades. [=they are coming close to having the same value] • Currently, there is rough parity in the number of students entering and graduating from the school system. [=the number of students entering and graduating from the school system is about the same]

¹park /'pɑ:k/ noun, pl parks

1 [count] a : a piece of public land in or near a city that is kept free of houses and other buildings and can be used for pleasure and exercise • We went for a walk in the park. • New York City's Central Park • He was sitting on a park bench. [=a bench in a park] • the city's park/parks department b : a large area of public land kept in its natural state to protect plants and animals • The nation's parks are a popular destination for tourists. • Yellowstone (National) Park • Many parks have campsites. — see also NATIONAL PARK, STATE PARK

2 [count] sports a : a field or stadium where a sport (especially baseball) is played • a baseball park • He hit the ball out of the park. • Fenway Park in Boston — see also BALLPARK b Brit : a soccer or rugby field • a rugby game in Eden Park • She's the best player on the park. [=in the game]

3 [count] : an area that is designed for a specified use • a new office park [=an area with several buildings that are full of offices; an area for office buildings] • the town's only mobile home park [=an area for people to live in mobile homes] — see also AMUSEMENT PARK, CAR PARK, INDUSTRIAL PARK, THEME PARK, TRAILER PARK, WATER PARK

4 [noncount] US : a condition in which the gears of a vehicle are in a position that prevents the vehicle from moving • The car must be in park before you can turn the engine off. • She pulled over and put the car in park.

walk in the park see ²WALK

²park verb parks; parked; park-ing

1 a : to leave a car, truck, motorcycle, etc., in a particular place [no obj] I couldn't find anywhere to park. • I parked on the street. [+ obj] I parked the car on the street. • My car is parked behind your truck. = I'm parked behind your truck. • a parked car — see also DOUBLE-PARK, PARALLEL PARK b [no obj] of a car, truck, etc. : to be left in a particular place by a driver • Cars are only allowed to park on the right side of this street. • The bus parked behind the museum.

2 [+ obj] informal a : to temporarily leave (something) in a particular place • Park your bags in the hallway. b : to leave (something) in a particular place for a long time or what seems like a long time • She parked the money in a savings account and forgot about it for several years.

park yourself informal : to sit in a particular place especially for a long time • The kids parked themselves in front of the TV. • Park yourself in that chair and wait.

par-ka /'pɑ:kə/ noun, pl -kas [count] : a very warm jacket with a hood — see color picture on page C15 park and ride noun [noncount] : a system in which you drive to a place where you can leave your car and get on a bus or train that will take you the rest of the way to where you are going

parking noun [noncount]

1 : the act of leaving a car, truck, motorcycle, etc., in a particular place • There is no parking in this area. [=you are not allowed to park in this area] • It's always difficult to find a parking place/space/spot [=a place to park your car, truck, etc.] in this neighborhood.

2 : space in which vehicles can be parked • The restaurant has very little parking, so we'll have to park on the street. • They have plenty of free parking.

parking brake noun, pl ~ brakes [count] US : a piece of equipment in a car, truck, etc., that prevents the vehicle from moving when it is parked or stops the vehicle if the main brakes fail parking garage noun, pl ~ garages [count] US : a building in which people usually pay to park their cars, trucks, etc. — called also (Brit) car park

parking light noun, pl ~ lights [count] US : either one of two small lights that are on the front of a vehicle next to the headlights — called also (Brit) sidelight; see picture at CAR parking lot noun, pl ~ lots [count] US : an area outside a building for parking cars, trucks, etc. • the school/hospital/mall parking lot — called also (Brit) car park parking meter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a machine near a parking place on the side of a road that you put coins into in order to legally park there — see picture at STREET parking ticket noun, pl ~ -ets [count] : a piece of paper that officially tells you that you have parked your car, truck, etc., illegally or for too long and will have to pay a fine

Par-kin-son's disease /'pɑ:kənsənz-/ noun [noncount] medical : a disease that affects the nervous system and causes people's muscles to become weak and their arms and legs to shake — called also Parkinson's park-keeper noun, pl -ers [count] Brit : a person who takes care of a park park-land /'pɑ:k,lænd/ noun, pl -lands : land with trees, bushes, etc., that is or could be used as a park [noncount] an area of beautiful parkland [count] beautiful parklands

park ranger noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : RANGER 1b park-way /'pɑ:k,wei/ noun, pl -ways [count] US : a wide road with trees and grass along the sides and often in the middle par-lance /'pɑ:ləns/ noun [noncount] formal : language used by a particular group of people • In military parlance, “bug out” means “to retreat.” [=for people in the military, “bug out” means “to retreat.”] • The book introduced many readers to terms that are now in common parlance. [=used by many people in ordinary conversation]

par-lay /'pɑ:lei, Brit 'pɑ:li/ verb -lays; -layed; -lay-ing [+ obj] US : to use or develop (something) to get something else that has greater value — + into • He hoped to parlay his basketball skills into a college scholarship. • She parlayed $5,000 and years of hard work into a multimillion-dollar company.

Do not confuse parlay with parley.

par-ley /'pɑ:li/ verb -leys; -leyed; -ley-ing [no obj] old-fashioned : to talk with an enemy or someone you disagree with especially in order to end a conflict — usually + with • The government refused to parley with the rebels.

Do not confuse parley with parlay.

— parley noun, pl -leys [count] old-fashioned • a secret parley

par-lia-ment /'pɑ:ləmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 a : the group of people who are responsible for making the laws in some kinds of government [count] The parliament has authority over the armed forces. • the parliaments of Russia and Canada = the Russian and Canadian parliaments [noncount] laws made by parliament b Parliament [noncount] : a particular parliament; especially : the parliament of the United Kingdom that includes the House of Commons and the House of Lords • The issue was debated in Parliament. • a member of Parliament — see also HUNG PARLIAMENT

2 [count] : the period of time during which a parliament is working • The law was passed in the present parliament.

par-lia-men-tar-i-an /,pɑ:lə,mən'terijən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a member of a parliament; especially : a member who knows a lot about the way things are done in a parliament par-lia-men-ta-ry /,pɑ:lə'mentri/ adj, always used before a noun : relating to or including a parliament • a parliamentary democracy/government • parliamentary elections/candidates par-lor (US) or Brit par-lour /'pɑ:lə/ noun, pl -lors [count]

1 : a store or business that sells a specified kind of food or service • an ice-cream parlor • a pizza parlor • a beauty/funeral/tattoo parlor — see also MASSAGE PARLOR

2 old-fashioned : a room in a house or apartment that is used for conversation or for spending time with guests • We sat in the front parlor [=a parlor in the front of a house/apartment] and had a nice visit.

parlor game (US) or Brit parlour game noun, pl ~ games [count] somewhat old-fashioned : a game (such as a board game, card game, or guessing game) that you play inside your home par-lous /'pɑ:ləs/ adj, formal : full of danger or risk : PERILOUS • The company is in a parlous financial situation. • He talked about the parlous state of the country.

Par-me-san /'pɑ:mə,zɑ:n, Brit ,pɑ:mə'zæn/ noun [noncount] : a hard Italian cheese — called also Parmesan cheese

pa-ro-chi-al /pə'roukijəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of or relating to a church parish and the area around it • our pastor and other parochial leaders

2 [more ~; most ~] formal + usually disapproving : limited to only the things that affect your local area • voters worried about their own parochial concerns • a small town with a parochial [=narrow-minded, small-minded] point of view

— pa-ro-chi-al-ism /pə'roukijə,lizəm/ noun [noncount] • the parochialism of their views parochial school noun, pl ~ schools [count] US : a private school that is run by a church parish par-o-dist /'perədɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who writes parodies

1 par-o-dy /'perədi/ noun, pl -dies

1 : a piece of writing, music, etc., that imitates the style of someone or something else in an amusing way [count] a political parody • He has a talent for writing parodies. — often + of • The book was written as a parody of Henry James's style. • a parody of a soap opera [noncount] a writer with a talent for parody

2 [count] disapproving : a bad or unfair example of something — often + of • The trial was a parody of justice. [=the trial was very unfair]

2 parody verb -dies; -died; -dy-ing [+ obj] : to imitate (someone or something) in an amusing way • It was easy to parody the book's fancy language. • She parodied her brother's poetry.

1 pa-role /pə'roul/ noun [noncount] : permission given to a prisoner to leave prison before the end of a sentence usually as a reward for behaving well • The prisoner will be eligible for parole after three years. • He was given a life sentence without (the possibility of) parole. • He was granted/denied parole. • a parole hearing • She robbed a bank while out on parole. • The prisoner was released on parole.

2 parole verb -roles; -roled; -rol-ing [+ obj] : to release (a prisoner) on parole — usually used as (be) paroled • He was paroled after three years.

pa-rol-ee /pə,rou'li:/ noun, pl -ees [count] : a prisoner who is released on parole par-ox-ysm /'perək,sɪzəm/ noun, pl -ysms [count]

1 medical : a sudden attack or increase of symptoms of a disease (such as pain, coughing, shaking, etc.) that often occurs again and again — usually + of • paroxysms of pain/coughing

2 formal : a sudden strong feeling or expression of emotion that cannot be controlled • a paroxysm of rage • He went into paroxysms of laughter.

par-quet /'pɑ:keɪ/ noun [noncount] : a surface (such as a floor) made of small pieces of wood that fit together to form a pattern — often used before another noun • a parquet floor

1 par-rot /'perət/ noun, pl -rots [count] : a bright-colored tropical bird that has a curved bill and the ability to imitate speech — see color picture on page C9

2 parrot verb -rots; -rot-ed; -rot-ing [+ obj] disapproving : to repeat (something, such as words, ideas, etc.) without understanding the meaning • Some of the students were just parrotting what the teacher said.

parrot-fashion adv, Brit : without understanding what something means • The student recited the speech parrot-fashion and could not answer any questions about it.

par-ry /'peri/ verb -ries; -ried; -ry-ing

1 : to defend yourself by turning or pushing aside (a punch, a weapon, etc.) [+ obj] parry [=deflect] a blow • He parried the thrust of his opponent's sword. [no obj] He parried and then threw a punch.

2 [+ obj] : to avoid giving a direct answer to (a question) by being skillful or clever • She cleverly parried the reporters' questions.

— parry noun, pl -ries [count]

parse /'pɑ:s, Brit 'pɑ:z/ verb pars-es; parsed; pars-ing [+ obj]

1 grammar : to divide (a sentence) into grammatical parts and identify the parts and their relations to each other • Students were asked to parse the sentence.

2 : to study (something) by looking at its parts closely : ANALYZE • Economists parsed the census data.

par-si-mo-ni-ous /,pɑ:sə'mounijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very unwilling to spend money • The company is parsimonious [=stingy] with employee benefits. • a parsimonious [=thrifty] shopper

— par-si-mo-ni-ous-ly adv

par-si-mo-ny /'pɑ:sə'mouni/ noun [noncount] formal : the quality of being very unwilling to spend money • The charity was surprised by the parsimony of some larger corporations.

pars-ley /'pɑ:sli/ noun [noncount] : a plant with small green leaves that are used to season or decorate food — see color picture on page C6

parsnip /'pɑːsnɪp/ noun, pl -nips [count, noncount] : a vegetable that is the long white root of a plant related to the carrot — see color picture on page C4

parson /'pɑːsn/ noun, pl -sons [count] old-fashioned

1 : a minister who is in charge of a parish

2 : a member of the clergy and especially a Protestant pastor parsonage /'pɑːsənɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages [count] : the house in which a parson lives part /'pɑːt/ noun, pl parts

1 [count] a : one of the pieces, sections, qualities, etc., that make or form something • The entire book is good, but the best part is the ending. • I don't remember him saying that. I must have missed that part. — often + of • This is the best part of the movie. • He's from the western part of the state. • The disease is increasingly common in this part of the world. • the early/latter part of this century • Music is an important/major/essential part of my life. It's very much a part of me. • It's the part of the job he enjoys the least. • a natural part of growing up • A part of me wants to stay, but another part of me wants to go. • That was not a part of our original agreement. • She left out that part of the story. • Some parts of your speech were excellent. = Your speech was excellent in parts. • Babies spend a good part of [=a large amount of] the day sleeping. — see also BEAUTY PART, PART OF SPEECH, PRINCIPAL PARTS b : one of the pieces that are put together to form a machine • The mechanic had to order the part from the manufacturer. • an auto parts warehouse • The parts of a radio include the speaker, dials, and antenna. • Do you have any spare/replacement parts for this model of car? • the moving parts of the machine c : one of the pieces or areas of the body of a plant or animal • parts of the human body • My favorite part of the chicken is the drumstick. • body parts • a diagram labeling the different parts of the flower — see also PRIVATE PARTS

2 [noncount] : some but not all of something — + of • We spent part of the day at the beach. • The river forms part of the border between the two countries. • The numbers tell only part of the story. • Instead of being part of the solution, they became part of the problem. • Sure it's messy, but that's part of the fun/appeal. • Homelessness is part of a larger problem facing this country. • The program is part of a larger effort to help the world's children.

3 : a person who is a member of a group or who is included in an activity — usually + of [noncount] Come join us and be part of a winning team. • She wanted to be part of the action. [count] They considered her (to be) a part of the family. • He was an important part of the team's win. [=he did a lot to help the team to win]

4 [count] : one of the sections into which a book, play, television show, etc., is divided • Part one of the miniseries airs next Monday. • The first and second parts of Goethe's Faust are divided into acts. • Shakespeare's Henry VI, Parts I, II, and III

5 [count] : the character played by an actor in a play, movie, etc. • He got/landed the part of Romeo in his high school play. • They said she was wrong for the part because she was too tall. = They said she was too tall to play the part. • He has a small/bit part in the movie. — often used figuratively • In his cowboy hat and boots, he certainly looked the part [=he looked like a cowboy] • Now that he's rich he certainly acts the part [=behaves like a rich person] • If you want people at work to believe that you're a professional, you have to dress the part. • I've played the part of (the) devoted wife and mother, and now I want to do something more with my life. • He was playing the part of (the) gracious host.

6 [count] : an influence in producing a result or causing something — usually + in • My father's part in my upbringing was minimal. [=my father was not very involved in my upbringing] • She talked about television's part in modern elections. • Did alcohol play a part in the car accident? = Did alcohol have a part in causing the accident? [=was alcohol involved in the accident?] • Your family's finances play a big/major/significant part in determining how much financial aid you will receive for college. • We all have a part to play in the future of this company. • Parents have a big/important/significant part to play in the habits of their children. • So far, she has had no part in planning the event. [=she has not been involved in planning the event] • He stated that politics played no part in his decision. • When her father became ill, she began to take an active part in running her family's farm.

• They took an active part in the antiwar movement. — see also TAKE PART (below)

7 [count] : the notes that are sung by a particular singer or played on a particular instrument in a piece of music that is written for more than one voice or instrument • I'm usually a soprano, but I was told to sing the alto part for this song. • The song's flute part is especially beautiful. • singing in four-part harmony

8 parts [plural] somewhat old-fashioned : a general area with no exact limits or boundaries • I can tell from your accent that you're not from around these parts [=not from around here] • Tornadoes are pretty rare in these parts. • She graduated from high school and left for parts unknown [=a place that isn't known]

9 [count] US : the line where a person's hair is separated and combed to opposite sides of the head • a part down the middle of her head • a side part • He combs his hair back without a part. — called also (Brit) parting; see picture at HAIR

10 [count] : an amount that is equal to another amount • Mix one part sugar with two parts flour. • The movie is one part action and one part comedy. = The movie is equal parts action and comedy.

do your part : to do what you are responsible for doing or are able to do • I've done my part, and now it's time for him to do his. • Please do your part by donating what you can to the organization.

for someone's part : in someone's opinion • She doesn't trust him, but for my part [=as for me; in my opinion], I think he's a nice guy. • For his part, the Senator believes that the proposal will benefit American companies.

for the most part see MOST in good/great/large part : not entirely but mostly • The success of our company depends, in good part, on the condition of the economy. • I believe that their actions were motivated in great part [=largely] by a desire for revenge.

in no small part : to a great degree : largely or mostly • The team's success is due in no small part to the hard work of its players.

in part : to some extent : partially or partly • Thanks in part to her performance in that movie role, she became one of the most popular actresses in Hollywood. • The project failed in part because of a lack of funds. • The city's problems are due, at least in part, to its geographical location.

of parts : having many talents or skills • a man/woman of (many) parts

on someone's part or on the part of someone : by or from someone • It took a lot of hard work on everyone's part [=done by everyone] to finish the project on time. • It was a good effort on the part of all the students. [=all the students made a good effort] • There is a lot of sympathy for the accused woman on the part of the public. [=the public feels a lot of sympathy for her] part and parcel of : a basic and necessary part of (something) • Stress was part and parcel of the job.

sum of its parts see SUM take part : to be involved in something : to participate in something • The event was a great success, and I would like to thank everyone who took part. • The entire family takes part in cleaning the house. • They refused to take part in the discussion. • He swore that he took no part [=was not involved] in the group's illegal activities. — see also PART 6 (above) take someone's part chiefly Brit : to show support for someone in an argument, disagreement, etc. • The public has taken the accused woman's part [=taken her side, sided with her] because of her young age.

take something in good part Brit, old-fashioned : to not become too angry or upset about something : to not object too much to something • I was nervous when I had to tell him that he was wrong, but fortunately he took it in good part and we stayed friends.

the best/better/greater part of something : more than half of something : most of something • It took us the better part of a week to finish the job. • We've been waiting for the better part of an hour. • They live here for the greater part of the year.

want no part of/in something : to refuse to be involved in something • She said that she didn't agree with what they were doing and wanted no part of it. • I want no part of this scheme. • He wanted no part in discussing the issue.

part verb parts; part-ed; part-ing

1 : to separate into two or more parts that move away from each other [no obj] The crowd parted to let the president through. • The rain stopped and the clouds parted. • The big red curtains parted to reveal a new car! [+ obj] The Bible tells the story of how God parted the Red Sea. • She closed her eyes and parted her lips. • Her lips were parted.

2 [+ obj] : to separate (the hair on a person's head) into two parts on each side of a line by using a comb • She parts her hair on the side. • His dark hair was parted down/in the middle.

3 formal a [no obj] : to leave each other • The two lovers parted at dawn. • Tomorrow we shall part and, I fear, never see each other again. : to go or move away from someone • She couldn't bear the thought of parting from her family. b [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to be separated from someone — usually used as (be) parted • She couldn't bear to be parted from her family.

4 [no obj] somewhat formal : to end a relationship • The band parted after 10 successful years of performing together. • We parted on friendly terms. • The couple parted [=separated] in the summer of 2005. — often + from • By that time, he had already parted from his first wife.

part company formal 1 : to end a relationship • There are rumors that the football team and its coach have parted company. — often + with • I parted company with my business partners after a dispute about finances. 2 : to leave each other • Much has happened since we parted company. • The two friends parted company in the parking lot and drove home separately. 3 : to disagree with someone about something • The president and I part company on some important issues. — often + with • I don't believe in the death penalty, so I'm afraid I must part company with you there. [=I do not agree with you about that] part ways chiefly US 1 : to end a relationship • The band parted ways after releasing their third album. — often + with • She has since parted ways with the organization. 2 : to leave each other • We said our goodbyes and parted ways. 3 : to disagree with someone about something • We part ways on that issue.

part with [phrasal verb] part with (something) : to give up possession or control of (something) • He hated to part with that old car. • parting with a large amount of money

3 part adv : somewhat but not completely : to some extent or in some degree • The story is part science and part fiction. • She's part French and part Italian. [=some of her relatives or ancestors are from France and some are from Italy] • His statement is only part [=partially, partly] right. [=only part of his statement is right] • The Chimera is a monster in Greek mythology that is part lion, part goat, and part serpent.

4 part adj, always used before a noun : not complete or total • The claim is a part truth—there is more to the story than they are telling you. • She's the executive chef and part owner of the restaurant. [=she and other people own the restaurant as partners] • (Brit) You can trade in your old car as part payment for a new one.

par-take /pɑː'teɪk/ verb -takes; -took /-tʊk/; -tak-en /-teɪkən/; -tak-ing [no obj] formal

1 a : to have a share or part of something along with others • There was food available, but he chose not to partake. [=he chose not to eat any of the food] — usually + of • Music lovers partook of the rich offerings of the music festival. • He had partaken of too much dinner and was now stuffed. b : to join with others in doing something : to take part in something • Let us all partake in [(more commonly) join in] this celebration.

2 : to have some of the qualities of something • a story that partakes of the nature of poetry — par-tak-er noun, pl -ers [count] • partakers of the feast • partakers in the ceremony

par-tial /'pɑːʃəl/ adj

1 : not complete or total • These plants prefer full sun or partial shade. • The partial ban on immigration has been lifted. • His latest play was deemed only a partial success by the critics. • a partial eclipse of the sun • He wears a partial denture. • She suggested a partial solution to the problem.

2 [more ~; most ~] : tending to treat one person, group, or thing better than another • The competition's judges take great care not to seem partial. [=biased] • A referee must not be partial toward either team. — opposite IMPARTIAL partial to : liking something or someone very much and usually more than other things or people • I like all the food here, but I'm particularly partial to the fried chicken. • She says she's partial to tall men with dark hair. • I'm not partial to red wine. [=I do not like red wine]

par-tial-i-ty /,pɑːʃi'æləti/ noun, formal

1 [noncount] : an unfair tendency to treat one person, group, or thing better than another • Judges must not show partiality [=bias] during the competition.

2 [singular] : a tendency to like something or someone — often + to • I don't understand his partiality to modern art. [=I don't understand why he likes modern art] — often + for • She has a partiality for tall men with dark hair.

par-tial-ly /'pɑːʃəli/ adv : somewhat but not completely : to some extent or in some degree : PARTLY • I guess I'm partially responsible for what happened. • He only partially explained his reason for leaving. • The building was partially destroyed in the fire.

par-tic-i-pant /pɑː'tɪsəpənt/ noun, pl -pants [count] : a person who is involved in an activity or event : a person who participates in an activity or event — often + in • All the participants in the cooking contest received a free cookbook. • They were active participants in the project.

par-tic-i-pate /pɑː'tɪsə,peɪt/ verb -pates; -pat-ed; -pat-ing [no obj] : to be involved with others in doing something : to take part in an activity or event with others • Most people joined the game, but a few chose not to participate. — often + in • If you don't participate in the planning of the trip, you can't complain about what we plan. • He never participated in sports in high school. • Participating employees [=employees who have chosen to join] can contribute up to 14 percent of their wages to the retirement plan. • Look for these specials at a participating store [=a store that participates in an advertised sale or promotion] near you.

— par-tic-i-pa-tion /pɑː'tɪsə'peɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • He noted a lack of participation by the people who would benefit the most. • The show had a lot of audience participation. — often + in • He is known for his active participation in community affairs. • the participation of women in politics • Participation in the retirement plan is voluntary.

par-tic-i-pa-to-ry /pɑː'tɪsəpə'tɔːri, Brit pɑː'tɪsə'peɪtri/ adj, formal : providing the opportunity for people to be involved in deciding how something is done • participatory democracy/management par-ti-ci-p-le /'pɑːtɪsɪpəl/ noun, pl -ciples [count] grammar : a form of a verb that is used to indicate a past or present action and that can also be used like an adjective • In the phrases "the finishing touches" and "the finished product," "finishing" and "finished" are participles formed from the verb "finish." — see also PAST PARTICIPLE, PRESENT PARTICIPLE

— par-ti-cip-i-al /,pɑːtɪ'sɪpijəl/ adj • a participial phrase

par-ti-cle /'pɑːtɪkəl/ noun, pl -ticles [count]

1 a : a very small piece of something • fine particles of sand • food particles b : a very small amount of something • There is not a particle of evidence to support their claim. • There is not a particle of truth in what he said.

2 physics : any one of the very small parts of matter (such as a molecule, atom, or electron) • subatomic particles

3 grammar : an adverb or preposition that when combined with a verb creates a phrasal verb • The phrasal verb "look up" consists of the verb "look" and the adverbial particle "up."

par-ti-cle-board /'pɑːtɪkəl,bɔːd/ noun [noncount] : a type of board made by gluing together very small pieces of wood — called also chipboard; compare FIBERBOARD

1 par-tic-u-lar /pɑː'tɪkjələ/ adj

1 — used to indicate that one specific person or thing is being referred to and no others • Is there one particular [=specific] brand you prefer? • I asked for that particular seat because it's the one my father used to sit in. • Some lawyers are limited to one particular area of law. • Their names are listed in no particular order. • He quit his job for no particular reason. • I have nothing/something particular planned for this evening. • Are you looking for anything particular? [(more commonly) in particular]

2 always used before a noun : special or more than usual • The computer program will be of particular interest to teachers. • Pay particular attention to the poet's choice of words.

3 [more ~; most ~] : having very definite opinions about what is good or acceptable • You're more particular than I am when it comes to (choosing) a restaurant. • Our teacher is very particular when it comes to punctuation. — usually + about • Grandma is very particular [=choosy, picky] about the kind of olive oil she uses. • She's particular about her clothes.

4 [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : including many details • He gave us a very particular account of his trip. • a more particular description

²particular noun, pl -lars [count] : a specific detail or piece of information • They wanted to know the facts down to every particular. — usually plural • Just give us a brief report; you can fill us in on the particulars later. • (Brit) The teacher asked the students to write down their particulars [=personal facts, such as their names and addresses] on a sheet of paper. • (US, law) The court ordered the state to file a bill of particulars [=a detailed list of the charges or claims made in a legal case]

in particular 1 : special or unusual • “What are you doing?” “Nothing in particular.” • Are you looking for anything in particular? [=specific] • I have something in particular that I would like to discuss. • I made the cookies for no one in particular [=I did not make the cookies for any particular person] 2 : PARTICULARLY — used to indicate someone or something that deserves special mention • The whole family, but Mom in particular [=especially], loves to ski. • Heavy rains, in the central valley in particular, have driven up the price of lettuce. • He’s a brilliant pianist known for his recordings of Bach, in particular his recording of the Goldberg Variations.

par-tic-u-lar-i-ty /pəˈtɪkjəˈlerəti/ noun, pl -ties formal

1 [count] : a small detail • The actors studied all of the particularities of the script.

2 : a quality or feature that makes a person or thing different from others [count] the special particularities of the South • The particularities of the job take some time to get used to. [noncount] The critic’s review stressed the particularity [=uniqueness] of each work of art in the collection.

3 [noncount] : careful attention to detail • She described the scene with great particularity.

par-tic-u-lar-ize also Brit par-tic-u-lar-ise /pəˈtɪkjələˈraɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -izing formal : to give specific details or examples of (something) [+ obj] My lawyer advised me to particularize all my complaints against my landlord. [no obj] He said he had been treated rudely, then went on to particularize.

par-tic-u-lar-ly /pəˈtɪkjələli/ adv

1 : more than usually : VERY, EXTREMELY • It has been a particularly [=especially] dry summer. • Pay particularly close attention to the second paragraph.

2 — used to indicate someone or something that deserves special mention • I liked all the food, particularly [=especially] the dessert. • He’s good at all his subjects and he’s particularly good at math. • I am particularly pleased that you agreed to take the job. • The tools were useful, particularly the knife. [=the tools were useful, and the knife was the most useful of all; the knife, in particular, was useful] not particularly : only a little : not very or not very much • He is not particularly good at math. • I did not particularly like the movie. [=I only liked the movie a little] • “Did you like the movie?” “No, not particularly.”

¹part-ing /ˈpɑːtɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 : a time or occurrence when people leave each other [count] I feared the morning, for I knew that our parting would be difficult. • a bitter/sad/tearful parting [noncount] On parting, he took my hand and promised to return. • “Good-night, good-night! Parting is such sweet sorrow . . .” —Shakespeare, Romeo and Juliet

2 [count] : the act of separating something into two or more parts • the parting of the Red Sea

3 [count] Brit : the line where a person’s hair is separated : PART • a middle/side parting

parting of the ways : a point at which two people or groups decide to end a relationship • She and her political party came to a parting of the ways over the war. • These disagreements eventually led to the parting of the ways between the two organizations.

²parting adj, always used before a noun : given, taken, or done when leaving someone • a parting gift/kiss/glance • His parting words to me were “Be patient.” • As her parting shot she said that the other candidate simply did not understand the needs of the city’s citizens.

¹par-ti-san /ˈpɑːtəzən, Brit ˈpɑːtəˈzæn/ noun, pl -sans [count]

1 : a person who strongly supports a particular leader, group, or cause • a partisan [=supporter] of affirmative action • political partisans who only see one side of the problem

2 : a member of a military group that fights against soldiers who have taken control of its country

— par-ti-san-ship /ˈpɑːtəzənʃɪp, Brit ˈpɑːtəˈzænʃɪp/ noun [noncount] • The mayor was accused of partisanship in his decisions.

²partisan adj [more ~; most ~] often disapproving : strongly supporting one leader, group, or cause over another • partisan interests/loyalties/politics • She is highly/fiercely partisan. — compare BIPARTISAN, NONPARTISAN

¹par-ti-tion /pɑːˈtɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a wall or screen that separates one area from another • A thin partition separates the two rooms in the cabin. • Folding partitions separate the different banquet halls in the building. • The bank teller sat behind a glass partition. — see picture at OFFICE

2 [noncount] : the division of a country into separate political units • the partition of former Yugoslavia • the partition of Korea into North and South Korea

²partition verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing [+ obj]

1 formal : to divide (something) into parts or shares • It was necessary to partition the work to be done to make the job easier to accomplish. • The room is partitioned into four sections.

2 : to divide (a country) into two or more parts having separate political status • After the war, the country was partitioned.

partition off [phrasal verb] partition (something) off or partition off (something) : to separate (an area or part of a room) by using a wall, screen, etc. • The storage area was partitioned off from the rest of the basement.

part-ly /ˈpɑːtli/ adv : somewhat but not completely : to some extent or in some degree • We’re both partly [=partially] to blame for what happened. • The project failed partly because of a lack of funds. • What you say is only partly true. • partly cloudy skies

¹part-ner /ˈpɑːtnər/ noun, pl -ners [count]

1 : someone’s husband or wife or the person someone has sexual relations with • His partner, his wife of 20 years, was shocked to hear about his accident. • marital/sexual/same-sex partners — see also DOMESTIC PARTNER

2 : one of two or more people, businesses, etc., that work together or do business together • They are partners in the real estate business. • law partners • Singapore’s most important trading partner is Indonesia. • She was a senior partner at the Wall Street firm. — see also SILENT PARTNER, partner in crime at CRIME

3 : someone who participates in an activity or game with another person • We were each assigned a partner for the project. • a golf/tennis/dance partner — see also SPARRING PARTNER

²partner verb -ners; -nered; -ner-ing : to be or become a partner : to join with someone or something as a partner [no obj] The sporting goods store partnered with the newspaper to sponsor the road race. • She partnered with her sister, and they opened a candy shop together. [+ obj] The teacher partnered [=paired] me with Susan for the project. — usually used as (be) partnered • I was partnered with her in the tournament. [=we were partners in the tournament]

part-ner-ship /ˈpɑːtnərʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships

1 [noncount] : the state of being partners • two people joined in partnership • scientists working in partnership with each other • The company is developing a new car in partnership with leading auto manufacturers in Japan. • The two companies have gone/entered into partnership (with each other).

2 [count] : a relationship between partners • Their marriage is a partnership that has remained strong despite family illness. • The singing duo has maintained a successful partnership for 20 years. • a notable partnership between two experienced scientists in the field

3 [count] : a business that is owned by partners • He joined the partnership last year.

part of speech noun, pl parts of speech [count] : a class of words (such as adjectives, adverbs, nouns, verbs, etc.) that are identified according to the kinds of ideas they express and the way they work in a sentence • What part of speech is the word “lovely?”

par-tridge /ˈpɑːtrɪdʒ/ noun, pl partridge or par-tridg-es [count] : a brown bird with a round body and short tail that is often hunted for food and sport part-time /ˈpɑːtˈtaɪm/ adj : working or involving fewer hours than is considered normal or standard • part-time employees/students • a part-time job — compare FULL-TIME

— part-time adv • She works part-time at the office. • I go to college part-time. — part-tim-er /ˈpɑːtˈtaɪmər/ noun, pl

-ers [count] • Some of the employees are full-timers, but most of them are part-timers.

part-way /'pɑ:t'wei/ adv : at a distance or time that is between two points • I was partway to school when I realized I had forgotten my book. • Partway down the mountain, he sprained his ankle. • The team got a new coach partway through the season. • They met up with some friends partway through the trip.

1 par-ty /'pɑ:ti/ noun, pl -ties [count]

1 : a social event in which entertainment, food, and drinks are provided • We are having/giving/throwing a party. • a high school dance party • Were you invited to her party? • Our New Year's Eve party was a huge success. • a dinner party • a birthday/costume/farewell party — often used before another noun • a party hat/dress • party decorations/games • Get in the party spirit. • I'm not in a party mood. — see also BLOCK PARTY, COCKTAIL PARTY, DRINKS PARTY, HEN PARTY, HOUSE PARTY, SLUMBER PARTY, STAG PARTY, TAILGATE PARTY, TEA PARTY

2 : an organization of people who have similar political beliefs and ideas and who work to have their members elected to positions in the government • political parties with opposing agendas • the Democratic/Republican Party • The senator is loyal to his party. • the ruling party [=the party that is in power] • party members/policy • the party leader

3 law : a person who is involved in a legal case or contract • the two parties in the marriage contract • the guilty party • The parties in the lawsuit reached a settlement. — see also THIRD PARTY

4 formal : someone or something that is involved in an activity • The principal of the school was urged to be a party [=participant] in the educational council. • Interested parties are asked to contact their local representative. — often + to • a party to the international coalition aimed at fighting hunger • He refused to be a party to [=he refused to take part in] the gambling ring.

5 : a group of people who do something together • a mountain-climbing party • a rescue/search party — often + of • a party of travelers from Great Britain • He made a reservation at the restaurant for a party of four. [=for a group of four people] • A party of teenagers is in charge of the neighborhood cleanup.

the life (and soul) of the party see ¹LIFE

2 party verb -ties; -tied; -ty-ing [no obj] informal : to have a party or be involved in a party : to spend enjoyable time eating, drinking, dancing, etc., with a group of people • He spent the weekend partying with his friends. • We partied all night. — partying noun [noncount] • His parents told him to stop his partying and start studying more.

party animal noun, pl ~ -mals [count] informal : a person who enjoys going to parties and drinking a lot of alcohol and behaving in a loud and wild way par-ty-er /'pɑ:tijə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who goes to a party

2 informal : a person who enjoys going to parties • He was a big partyer in college.

party favor noun, pl ~ -vors [count] US : a small gift that is given to people at a party — usually plural • All the children received party favors.

par-ty-go-er /'pɑ:ti,gowə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who goes to a party party line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : the official policy or opinion of a political party or other organization that members are expected to support • Congress voted along party lines [=members of each party voted in the expected way] on the new education bill.

party politics noun [plural] often disapproving : political activities, decisions, etc., that relate to or support a particular political party • Party politics played a large role in determining who would be chosen for the position. • They shouldn't allow their votes to be influenced by party politics.

party poop-er /-'pu:pə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] chiefly US, informal : a person who spoils the fun for other people • Don't be such a party pooper!

par value noun, pl ~ -ues [count] : PAR 2 par-ve-nu /'pɑ:vənu:, Brit 'pɑ:vənju:/ noun, pl -nus [count] formal + disapproving : a person from usually a low social position who has recently or suddenly become wealthy, powerful, or successful but who is not accepted by other wealthy, powerful, and successful people

pash-mi-na /pəf'mi:nə/ noun, pl -nas

1 [noncount] : a kind of fine, soft wool from Asia

2 [count] : a long piece of clothing made from pashmina and worn around a woman's neck

1 pass /'pæs, Brit 'pɑ:s/ verb pass-es; passed; pass-ing

1 a : to move past someone or something [no obj] The boat was too tall to pass beneath/under the bridge. • A flock of geese were passing overhead. • Stand here and don't let anyone pass. [=move past you] — often + by • They pass by the library on their way to school. • I was just passing by and thought I'd stop and say hello. [+ obj] They pass the library every morning on their way to school. • The ships passed each other in the night. • We passed each other in the hallway without looking up. — often + by • She was hoping he would stop and talk to her, but he passed her by. b : to move past someone or something that is moving more slowly in the same direction [no obj] (US) "Is it safe to pass?" [= (Brit) overtake] "No, there's a car coming in the other lane." [+ obj] She passed two other runners just before the finish line. • He passed the slower cars on the highway.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition a [no obj] : to move or go into or through a particular place • The drug passes quickly into the bloodstream. • In a solar eclipse, the moon passes between the sun and the Earth. • The airplane passed out of sight. — often + through • Fear and panic passed through the crowd. • A river passes through the middle of the city. • Millions of tourists pass through the museum every year. • The paper passes through the fax machine and comes out the other end. • The bullet passed through his shoulder. • We passed through Texas on our way to Mexico. • We're just passing through. [=staying here for a very short time] b [+ obj] : to cause (something) to move or go in a specified way • Pass the end of the string through the loop. • He passed the rope around the pole.

3 [+ obj] : to give (something) to someone using your hands • She passed the baby back to his mother. • Would you please pass the salt? • Pass [=hand] me the butter, please. • They started passing around pictures of their trip. • Take one sheet and pass the rest down/on/along. [=take one sheet and give the rest to the next person] • Can you pass that screwdriver over to me?

4 sports : to throw, hit, or kick a ball or puck to a teammate [+ obj] Pass me the ball! = Pass the ball to me! [no obj] She passed to her teammate who then scored a goal.

5 [+ obj] a : to cause someone to have or be affected by (something that you have had or been affected by) • The disease was passed from mother to child. = She passed the disease to her child. — often + on • She contracted the disease and passed it on to her child. • Gas prices have risen, forcing companies to pass the cost on to the consumer. • We lowered our costs and are now able to pass on the savings to our customers. — sometimes + along • We're passing the savings along to our customers. b : to give (information) to another person — often + on • Doctors need to pass this information on to their patients. • Everyone's invited to the party. Pass it on! [=tell people that everyone is invited] — often + along • They quickly passed the word along that the meeting was postponed. • He told me about it, and now I'm passing it along to you.

6 [no obj] a : to go from one person to another person • The rumor quickly passed [=spread] from person to person. • The book passed from hand to hand. b : to be given to someone especially according to a law, rule, etc. • The throne passed to the king's son. • Ownership passes to the buyer upon payment in full. • After her death, the house passed into the hands of her granddaughter. [=her granddaughter became the owner of the house]

7 of time a [no obj] : to go by • Several months passed before I received a reply. • He became sleepy as the time passed. • The days pass quickly when you're on vacation. • Another day passed without any news about the whereabouts of their missing son. b [+ obj] : to let (time or a period of time) go by especially while you are doing something enjoyable • He passes [=spends] his days reading and taking walks around the neighborhood. • They passed the evening playing cards. • We played games to pass the time on the bus. • I walked over to my neighbor's house to pass the time of day. [=to have a friendly and informal conversation]

8 [no obj] a : to happen or take place • The meeting passed without incident. • He hoped that his mistake would pass unnoticed. [=not be noticed by anyone] — often + between • A meaningful glance passed between them. [=they glanced at each other in a meaningful way] • It's hard to believe that they're still friends after everything that's passed between them. b : to end or go away • She couldn't let the moment pass (away) without saying something. • This crisis will soon pass. [=will soon be over] • A storm had just passed. • They waited until it was clear that the danger had passed. • They were happy once, but that time has passed. [=that time is over] • The era of the traveling salesman has passed into history. [=traveling salesmen no longer exist]

9 [no obj] : to be done, said, etc., without producing a response • I disagreed with what he said, but I let it pass. [=I did not say anything in response to his remark] • She let his remark pass without comment.

10 [no obj] a : to not take, accept, or use something that is offered to you • Thanks for the offer, but I'll pass. — often + on • He passed on the cake. [=he did not eat any cake] • I think I'll pass on going with you. b : to decide not to do something at a particular point in a game (such as a card game) when it is your turn • "I bid three of hearts." "I pass."

11 a : to complete (a test, class, etc.) successfully [+ obj] He failed his driver's test the first time he took it, but he passed it the second time. • I almost didn't pass my French class this semester. [no obj] "How did you do on the test?" "I passed!" b [+ obj] : to decide that (someone) has passed an examination or course of study • The teacher said she couldn't pass me because I failed all of my tests.

12 a [+ obj] : to officially approve (a law, bill, etc.) • Congress passed a law banning the sale of automatic rifles. • The measure was passed by both the House and the Senate. • We've been trying to get this legislation passed for several months now. b chiefly US : to become approved by (a legislature) [+ obj] The measure passed both the House and the Senate. • The bill passed the House but was defeated/rejected by the Senate. [no obj] The proposal passed (into law). • The bill failed to pass in the Senate.

13 [+ obj] formal : to say or state (something) especially in an official way • Before passing sentence [=announcing the punishment], the judge commented on the seriousness of the crime. • The court is now ready to pass judgment. • It would be premature to pass judgment on [=to state an opinion on] his place in history. • Don't pass judgment on me [=don't criticize me] until you know all the facts.

14 [+ obj] : to go beyond (a number or amount) — usually used with mark • It's an extremely successful movie that has just passed [=exceeded, surpassed] the $100 million mark. [=it has earned more than $100 million] • I've passed the half-century mark. [=I am over 50 years old]

15 [no obj] : to change from one state or form to another • The water passes from a liquid to a gas. • passing through the different stages of human development

16 [no obj] : to be good enough : to be adequate • The work isn't perfect, but it will pass. [=will do]

17 [+ obj] : to illegally use (checks, bills, etc., with no real value) as money • They were charged with passing bad checks. • He was trying to pass counterfeit money.

18 [+ obj] : to have (something) come out from your body • He had been passing blood in his urine. [=blood had been appearing in his urine] • pass a kidney stone — see also pass gas at ¹GAS, pass water at ¹WATER

19 [no obj] : to die — used as a polite way to avoid saying the word "die" • I'm sorry, but your grandfather has passed. — see also PASS AWAY, PASS ON (below)

come to pass see ¹COME

pass as [phrasal verb] 1 pass as (someone or something) : to cause people to believe that you are (someone or something that you are not) • He thought that growing a mustache would help him pass as an adult. • Your mom could pass as your sister! 2 pass as (something) : to be accepted or regarded as (something) • the ancient practices that once passed as [=passed for] science pass away [phrasal verb] : to die — used as a polite way to avoid saying the word "die" • Her father passed away.

pass by [phrasal verb] pass (someone) by : to happen without being noticed or acted upon by (someone) • Don't let this opportunity pass (you) by! • I realized that I was letting life pass me by. — see also ¹PASS 1a (above) pass down [phrasal verb] pass (something) down or pass down (something) : to give (something) to a younger person especially within the same family • She will pass down her diamond ring to her niece. • It's a family recipe passed down [=handed down] from my great-grandmother. • The painting is a family heirloom that has been passed down through the generations.

pass for [phrasal verb] pass for (something) : to be accepted or regarded as (something) • I can't believe the garbage that's passing for [=passing as] art these days. • the tasteless soup that was supposed to pass for our dinner • What passes for entertainment around here?

pass in [phrasal verb] pass (something) in or pass in (something) : to give (something) to a person who will review it • Students should pass their papers in before they leave. • He passed in [=handed in] his test.

pass muster see ²MUSTER

pass off [phrasal verb] 1 pass (someone or something) off as (someone or something) or pass off (someone or something) as (someone or something) : to cause people to wrongly believe that someone or something is someone or something else • amateurs passing themselves off as professionals • He managed to pass himself off as the son of the famous actor. • She passed the poem off as her own. • They tried to pass it off as an original painting, but I suspected it was a copy. • a cheap piece of glass passed off as a diamond 2 Brit : to happen or take place in a particular way • The event passed off [=went off] with no major incidents. • The evening passed off quietly.

pass on [phrasal verb] : to die — used as a polite way to avoid saying the word "die" • Her parents have passed on.

pass out [phrasal verb] 1 : to fall asleep or become unconscious • They both passed out in front of the TV. • I felt like I was going to pass out from exhaustion. • He drank until he passed out. • Someone was passed out on the floor. [=someone was lying unconscious on the floor] 2 pass out (something) or pass (something) out : to give (something) to several or many people • They passed out [=handed out, distributed] copies of the newsletter. • The teacher hasn't finished passing out the tests yet. • She passed out flyers at the grocery store.

pass over [phrasal verb] 1 pass over (someone) or pass (someone) over : to not choose (someone) for a job, position, etc. • When it came time to select the recipient of the award, the committee once again passed him over. [=the committee did not give him an award] • The quarterback was passed over by other teams. — often + for • She was passed over for another promotion. 2 pass over (something) or pass (something) over : to leave out (something) • passing over [=skipping] the more boring parts of the book : to not discuss or deal with (something) • Let's pass over the technical details and get straight to the parts that really interest you.

pass the buck see ¹BUCK

pass the hat see HAT

pass the torch see ¹TORCH

pass up [phrasal verb] pass up (something) or pass (something) up : to not take or accept (something that is offered to you) • We couldn't afford to pass up her offer. • Her offer was too good to pass up.

pass your lips 1 of words : to come out of your mouth : to be spoken • The word "quit" has never passed her lips. [=she has never said the word "quit"] 2 of food or drink : to go into your mouth : to be eaten or drunk • He refused to let alcohol pass his lips. [=he never drank alcohol]

²*pass* noun, pl passes [count]

1 sports : an act of throwing, hitting, or kicking a ball or puck to a teammate • throwing/making/completing a perfect pass to a teammate • a forward pass • He caught a 20-yard pass from Johnson. • The quarterback threw two touchdown passes in the first half of the game. — see also BOUNCE PASS, SCREEN PASS, SHOVEL PASS

2 : a card or ticket which shows that you are allowed to enter or leave a particular place or to ride a vehicle • a one-day/weekend/season pass to the amusement park • Each new student will be given a bus pass. [=a ticket that permits you to ride the bus] • We won backstage passes [=cards that allow you to go behind the stage] for tonight's concert. • (US) You have to get a hall pass [=a card that shows you have permission to be out of class during class time] from the teacher. — see also BOARDING PASS

3 : a single, complete set of actions that are done together as a stage in a process • The machine is able to print on both sides in a single pass. • I did another pass to check for any spelling mistakes in my essay. • The error was discovered in the next pass through the data.

4 : an act of moving over a place • The planes made several passes over the area. • The pilot spotted the missing group on a second pass.

5 chiefly Brit : a grade which shows that you have passed a test or class • I got a pass in my History class. • The required pass mark was 75 percent.

make a pass at : to do or say something that clearly shows you want to begin a romantic or sexual relationship with (someone) • He made a pass at his wife's friend.

— compare ³PASS

³pass noun, pl passes

1 [count] : a low place in a mountain range where a road or path goes through • a mountain pass = a pass through the mountains

2 [singular] somewhat formal : a usually bad situation or condition • We had come to a very strange pass. • What brought them to such a sorry pass?

— compare ²PASS

pass-able /'pæsəbəl, Brit 'pɑ:səbəl/ adj

1 : capable of being passed, crossed, or traveled on • The main road is passable but most others are still covered with snow. • The river is passable during the summer months.

2 : good enough : adequate or satisfactory • He did a passable job with the assignment. • She plays passable golf but prefers tennis. • His Italian is passable.

— pass-ably /'pæsəbli, Brit 'pɑ:səbli/ adv • She speaks French passably. • He gets along passably (well) with his in-laws.

pas-sage /'pæsɪdʒ/ noun, pl -sag-es

1 [count] : a long, narrow space that connects one place to another • They escaped through a secret underground pas-sage. [=passageway] • (Brit) Her office is at the end of the pas-sage. [=hallway]

2 [count] : a narrow space that people or things can move through • We squeezed through a narrow passage between the rocks. • Special ships clear passages through the ice. • The medicine makes breathing easier by opening nasal passages.

3 : an act of moving or passing from one place or state to another [noncount] They controlled the passage of goods through their territory. • He guaranteed us safe passage. [=he promised that we could safely travel through the area] • the passage of food through the digestive system • the passage of air into and out of the lungs • the passage from life to death • the passage of the seasons • He left after the passage of a few hours. • With the passage of time, the number of children suffering with the disease has decreased dramatically. [singular] a child's passage into adulthood — see also RITE OF PASSAGE

4 [count] a : a usually short section of a book, poem, speech, etc. • He quoted a passage from the Bible. • The book's main theme is reflected in the following passage. • long descriptive passages b : a usually short section of a piece of music • complex musical passages

5 : an act of officially approving a bill, law, etc. [noncount] The passage [=enactment] of this law will save lives. • the passage of the 25th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution • government leaders who are determined to get passage of their bills [singular] a bill's passage into law

6 old-fashioned a [count] : a voyage or journey usually on a boat • a long ocean passage b [noncount] : the right to travel on a boat, airplane, etc. • They booked passage on a ship/train bound for Mexico.

pas-sage-way /'pæsɪdʒ,weɪ/ noun, pl -ways [count] : a long, narrow space that connects one place to another • An underground passageway [=corridor] connects the two buildings.

pass-book /'pæs,bʊk, Brit 'pɑ:s,bʊk/ noun, pl -books [count] : BANKBOOK pas-sé /pæ'seɪ, Brit 'pɑ:seɪ/ adj : no longer fashionable or popular • That style of music is now considered passé.

pas-sel /'pæsəl/ noun, pl -sels [count] US, informal : a large number or group of people or things — usually singular • A passel of children waited in the hall. • a passel of problems

pas-sen-ger /'pæsnɔːdʒə/ noun, pl -gers [count]

1 : a person who is traveling from one place to another in a car, bus, train, ship, airplane, etc., and who is not driving or working on it • There were two passengers in the car in addition to the driver. — often used before another noun • a passenger train/ship [=a train/ship that carries passengers]

2 Brit : a person in a group who does not do as much work as others • There's no room for passengers on this project; everybody must do his share of the work.

passenger car noun, pl ~ cars [count] US : a railroad car that carries passengers — called also (Brit) carriage passenger seat noun, pl ~ seats [count] : the front seat of a vehicle (such as a car) where a passenger sits pass-er /'pæsə, Brit 'pɑ:sə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone or something that passes something • a passer of bad checks; especially : a player who passes a ball or puck to a teammate in a sport • a quarterback who is an excellent passer

pass-er-by /'pæsə'baɪ, Brit 'pɑ:sə'baɪ/ noun, pl pass-ers-by /'pæsəz'baɪ, Brit 'pɑ:səz'baɪ/ [count] : a person who walks by something on a street or road • A passerby saw the accident and stopped to help. • Passersby were asked if they were registered to vote.

pass-fail /'pæs'feɪl, Brit 'pɑ:s'feɪl/ adj, US : using a system of grading in which the grades "pass" and "fail" are used instead of traditional grades like "A," "B," and "C" • a pass-fail class/test

¹pass-ing /'pæsn̩, Brit 'pɑ:sn̩/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of moving toward and beyond something — usually + of • I could hear the passing of a distant train. [=I could hear a distant train passing]

2 — used to talk about the movement of time; usually + of • They celebrate the passing of each season. • She grew stronger with the passing of each year. • We lament the passing of an era. • Only the passing of time will help her deal with this tragedy.

3 formal : a person's death • After her husband's passing, she moved to a smaller house. • We all mourned his passing.

4 : the act of officially approving a bill, law, etc. • the passing [=passage] of the bill through Congress in passing : in a brief way while discussing something else • She mentioned in passing that she was studying law. • The report notes the incident only in passing.

²passing adj, always used before a noun

1 : moving past someone or something • Someone called out from a passing car. • She sells flowers to passing motorists. • a passing ship/airplane/train

2 — used to talk about time that is going past • I love you more with each passing day. • with every passing year

3 : lasting for only a short time • Let's hope that these shoes are just a passing fad. • a passing phase in childhood

4 : done or made quickly • He made a few passing [=cursory] remarks about his work at the hospital. • We gave the restaurant a passing [=quick] glance before moving on. • She never gave the matter more than a passing thought. • Her assistants get only a passing mention at the end of the article.

5 : not very strong or thorough : SLIGHT • She has only a passing acquaintance with the subject. • I admit that I have only a passing interest in sports. • You can see a passing resemblance between him and his father.

6 : showing that you completed a test or class in an acceptable way • She completed the class with a passing grade/mark of 65 percent.

7 sports : relating to the skill of throwing, hitting, or kicking a ball or puck to a teammate • shooting and passing skills • The football team needs to improve its passing game. [=its ability to pass the ball] passing lane noun, pl ~ lanes [count] US : a part of a road or highway that drivers use to pass other vehicles

pas-sion /'pæʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 a : a strong feeling of enthusiasm or excitement for something or about doing something [count] Everyone could see the passion in his approach to the work. • a controversy that has stirred passions in Congress [noncount] Her performance is full of passion and originality. • She spoke with passion about preserving the building. b : a strong feeling (such as anger) that causes you to act in a dangerous way [noncount] The crime was committed in a fit of passion. • a crime of passion [count] destructive passions

2 : a strong sexual or romantic feeling for someone [noncount] — often + for • He had never felt such passion [=love, devotion] for anyone but her. [count] sexual passions

3 [count] a : something that you enjoy or love doing very much • Music/golf/writing has always been his passion. b : a strong feeling of love for something • She developed a passion for opera. • a student with a passion for literature

4 the Passion : the sufferings of Jesus Christ between the night of the Last Supper and his death • the Passion of Christ with a passion informal — used to say that you strongly dislike someone or something • I hate him with a passion.

— pas-sion-less /'pæʃənləs/ adj • a passionless marriage/performance/speech pas-sion-ate /'pæʃənət/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having, showing, or expressing strong emotions or beliefs • a passionate coach/performance • He gave a passionate speech on tax reform. • She has a passionate interest in animal rights. • She is passionate about art/music/sports. • We were moved by his passionate plea for forgiveness.

2 : expressing or relating to strong sexual or romantic feelings • a long, passionate kiss • a passionate love affair

— pas·sion·ate·ly adv • She spoke passionately about animal rights. • They kissed passionately. • They were passionately opposed to the war.

pas·sion·flow·er /'pæʃən,flaʊə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a tall plant with large flowers and berries that are often eaten as fruit passion fruit noun, pl passion fruit or passion fruits [count] : a small round fruit that has many seeds and is often used to make juice passion play or Passion play noun, pl ~ plays [count] : a play about the suffering and death of Jesus Christ

pas·sive /'pæsiʊ/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] — used to describe someone who allows things to happen or who accepts what other people do or decide without trying to change anything • His passive acceptance of the decision surprised us. • In her books, women are often portrayed in passive roles.

2 grammar a of a verb or voice : showing that the subject of a sentence is acted on or affected by the verb • “Hits” in “She hits the ball” is active, while “hit” in “The ball was hit” is passive. • In “He was hit by the ball,” “hit” is a passive verb. ♦ The passive voice is a way of writing or speaking that uses passive verbs. • The sentence “The house was destroyed by the tornado” is written in the passive voice. — compare ACTIVE b : containing a passive verb form • a passive sentence — pas·sive·ly adv • He waited passively for me to decide. — pas·siv·i·ty /pæ'siʊvəti/ noun [noncount] • She was angered by the passivity of her coworkers.

passive resistance noun [noncount] : a way of opposing the government without using violence especially by refusing to obey laws passive smoking noun [noncount] : the breathing in of cigarette smoke from people who are smoking nearby pass·key /'pæs,ki:/, Brit 'pɑ:s,ki:/ noun, pl -keys [count] : a key that opens many locks : MASTER KEY

Pass·over /'pæs,əʊvə/, Brit 'pɑ:s,əʊvə/ noun [noncount] : a Jewish holiday in March or April that celebrates the freeing of the Jews from slavery in Egypt pass·port /'pæs,pɔ:t/, Brit 'pɑ:s,pɔ:t/ noun, pl -ports [count]

1 : an official document issued by the government of a country that identifies someone as a citizen of that country and that is usually necessary when entering or leaving a country

2 : something that allows a person to achieve something — + to • Education can be a passport to a successful future.

pass·word /'pæs,wɜ:d/, Brit 'pɑ:s,wɜ:d/ noun, pl -words [count]

1 : a secret word or phrase that a person must know before being given permission to enter a place

2 : a secret series of numbers or letters that allows you to use a computer system • You need to enter your password to check your e-mail.

past /'pæst/, Brit 'pɑ:st/ adj

1 always used before a noun : having existed in a time before the present : from, done, or used in an earlier time • The museum displays artifacts from past [=earlier] civilizations. • She was hired based on her past experience in sales.

2 always used before a noun — used to refer to a time that has gone by recently • He has worked there for the past few months. • I spoke with him this past [=last] weekend.

3 always used before a noun — used to say what someone or something was in the past • She is a past [=former] president of the club. • Several past employees were interviewed for the story. • past champions

4 — used to describe something that ended or was completed in the past • The time is past for apologies. • In winters past, we have had much more snow. = In past winters, we have had much more snow.

past prep

1 : at the farther side of (something) : beyond (a particular place) • The office is two blocks past the intersection. • Turn left just past the stairs.

2 : up to and beyond (a person or place) • We drove past the house. • I must have walked right past her. • He looked past me to the next customer.

3 : later than (a time) • We need to leave by half past two. [=2:30] • It was past [=after, (Brit) gone] five o'clock by the time we got home. • It's past his bedtime. • The bill is past due. [=it is late; it should have been paid before now]

4 a : older than (an age) • Now that he is past 60, he's thinking about retiring. b : beyond the age for (something) • She is past playing with dolls.

5 : beyond or no longer at (a particular point) • The milk is past its expiration date. • The daffodils are past blooming. • They tried marriage counseling, but they were already past the point of reconciling. • The house is a mess, but she is past caring. [=she doesn't care] • As a singer, he is past his prime. [=he is no longer as good at singing as he once was]

I wouldn't put it past (someone) — used to say that you would not be surprised if someone did something bad • I wouldn't put it past him to lie. • I don't know if she ever cheated on an exam, but I wouldn't put it past her.

past it Brit, informal : too old to do something or to be useful • At the age of 45, he is past it as a football player.

past noun, pl pasts

1 [noncount] : an earlier time : the time before the present • Past, present, and future are all linked together. — usually used with the • happy memories of the past • In the past, there was a company luncheon every month. • Try not to worry about it anymore. It's in the past. • She wants to forget about the past. = She wants to put the past behind her. • The disease is mostly a thing of the past. [=something that no longer exists] • She had some financial problems, but that is all in the past. [=she has no financial problems now] — see also live in the past at 'LIVE

2 [count] : the events of a person's life, of a place, etc., before the present time — usually singular • Do you know anything about her past? • His past caught up with him when a former coworker recognized him. • He has an interesting past. • The city's past is full of interesting events. • We learned about the building's past as a textile factory.

3 the past grammar : PAST TENSE • The past of “walk” is “walked.”

blast from the past see 'BLAST

past adv : to and beyond a certain point or time • He drove past [=by] slowly so we could look at the house. • A deer ran past. • Several weeks went past before we heard from her.

pas·ta /'pɑ:stə/, Brit 'pæstə/ noun, pl -tas : a food made from a mixture of flour, water, and sometimes eggs that is formed into different shapes (such as thin strips, tubes, or shells) and usually boiled [noncount] They ordered pasta with meat sauce. • pasta salad/sauce [count] Breads and pastas are high in carbohydrates.

paste /'peɪst/ noun

1 [singular] : a soft, wet mixture of usually a powder and a liquid • Stir the flour and water to a paste. — see also TOOTHPASTE

2 [noncount] : a type of glue that is used to make things stick together • The children used paste and construction paper to make Mother's Day cards. • wallpaper paste

3 a [noncount] : a soft, smooth food that is made by grinding something (such as tomatoes or nuts) into very small pieces • canned tomato paste • a cake with an almond paste filling • anchovy/bean paste b [singular] : a type of dough made with flour and butter that is used in baking • Stir the ingredients to form a paste.

4 [noncount] : a type of glass that is used to make artificial gems • The necklace contains real gems and paste.

paste verb pastes; past-ed; past-ing [+ obj]

1 : to stick (something) to or onto something by using paste • I pasted the edges of the paper together. • He cut out the newspaper article and pasted it into a scrapbook.

2 : to put (something cut or copied from a computer document) into another part of the document or into another document • After you select the text with your mouse, you can cut it and then paste it at the beginning of the paragraph.

• You can cut and paste the picture into your file. — see also CUT-AND-PASTE

— compare ³PASTE

³paste verb pasted; pasting [+ obj] informal : to beat or defeat (someone or something) very badly • They got pasted 10–0. — compare ²PASTE

— past-ing /'peɪstɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] — usually singular • They got/took a real pasting from the opposition.

pas-tel /pæ'stel, Brit 'pæstl/ noun, pl -tels

1 a : a type of chalk made from a powdery substance that is used for drawing and comes in many different colors [count] — usually plural • She asked for a box of pastels for her birthday. • The artist works mostly in pastels. [=the materials the artist uses are mostly pastels] [noncount] a drawing/portrait done in pastel = a pastel drawing/portrait b : a drawing that is done using pastels • She has a collection of pastels.

2 [count] : a pale or light color • She prefers a pastel like light yellow. • a pastel sweater • The room is painted in a pastel shade of blue. — usually plural • She wears a lot of pastels.

pas-teur-i-za-tion also Brit pas-teur-i-sa-tion /,pæstʃə-rə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,pɑːstʃə,rar'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : a process in which a liquid (such as milk or cream) is heated to a temperature that kills harmful germs and then cooled quickly

— pas-teur-ize also Brit pas-teur-ise /'pæstʃə,raɪz, Brit 'pɑːstʃə,raɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] • Dairy products are often pasteurized. • pasteurized milk/cream

pas-tiche /pæ'stiːʃ/ noun, pl -tich-es

1 : something (such as a piece of writing, music, etc.) that imitates the style of someone or something else [count] His earlier building designs were pastiches based on classical forms. [noncount] With this work she goes beyond pastiche.

2 [count] a : a piece of writing, music, etc., that is made up of selections from different works • The research paper was essentially a pastiche made up of passages from different sources. b : a mixture of different things • The house is decorated in a pastiche of Asian styles.

pas-time /'pæs,taim, Brit 'pɑːs,taim/ noun, pl -times [count] : an activity that you enjoy doing during your free time • Her favorite pastime [=hobby] is gardening. • Baseball has been a national pastime for years.

past master noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a person who has done something many times before and has become very skilled at doing it : EXPERT • He's a past master at finding ways to get out of trouble. • They are past masters of the art of propaganda.

pas-tor /'pæstə, Brit 'pɑːstə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a minister or priest in charge of a church or parish • We have a new pastor at our church.

pas-to-ral /'pæstərəl, Brit 'pɑːstərəl/ adj

1 : of or relating to the countryside or to the lives of people who live in the country • The house is situated in a charming pastoral setting. • Her favorite painting in the collection is a pastoral landscape. • pastoral scenes • a pastoral poem

2 : of or relating to the spiritual care or guidance of people who are members of a religious group • The bishop outlined the church's views in a pastoral letter. • pastoral counseling

3 : of or relating to the pastor of a church • pastoral duties/responsibilities past participle noun, pl ~ -ciples [count] grammar : the form of the verb that is used with "have" in perfect tenses and with "be" in passive constructions • The verbs "thrown" in "the ball has been thrown" and "raised" in "many hands were raised" are past participles.

past perfect noun

the past perfect grammar : the form of the verb that is used in referring to an action that was completed by a particular time in the past ♦ The past perfect in English is formed by using had and the past participle of a verb, as in "She had visited there once before."

pas-tra-mi /pə'straːmi/ noun [noncount] : highly seasoned smoked beef that is usually eaten in sandwiches • hot pastrami on rye • He ordered a pastrami sandwich.

past-ry /'peɪstri/ noun, pl -ries

1 [noncount] : dough that is used to make pies and other baked goods • He worked on the filling while I prepared the pastry. • a pastry shell — see also PUFF PASTRY

2 [count] : a small, baked food made from pastry • She had a pastry and coffee for breakfast. • a pastry shop — see also DANISH PASTRY past tense noun, pl ~ tenses [count] grammar : a verb

tense that is used to refer to the past

¹pas-ture /'pæstʃə, Brit 'pɑːstʃə/ noun, pl -tures : a large area of land where animals feed on the grass [count] The horses were grazing in the pasture. [noncount] Most of their land is pasture. • She put/sent/turned the sheep out to pasture. [=she brought the sheep to a pasture to eat the grass]

greener pastures or Brit pastures new : a new and better place or situation • He left for greener pastures after working here for 10 years. • She is looking for pastures new.

put (someone) out to pasture : to force (someone) to leave a job because of old age • I'm not ready to be put out to pasture yet. — sometimes used of things • I put my old computer out to pasture. [=got rid of my old computer]

²pasture verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing [+ obj] : to put (an animal) in a pasture to feed on the grass • The horses are pastured on several acres of land.

pas-ture-land /'pæstʃə,lænd, Brit 'pɑːstʃə,lænd/ noun, pl -lands [count, noncount] : a large area of land where animals feed on the grass • The area between the mountains is mostly pastureland.

¹pasty /'peɪsti/ adj past-i-er; -est

1 : resembling paste • The mixture has a pasty consistency.

2 : pale and unhealthy in appearance • She has a pasty complexion. • You look a little pasty. Are you feeling OK?

²pas-ty /'pæsti/ noun, pl pas-ties [count] chiefly Brit : a small pie that usually contains meat — see also CORNISH PASTY pasty-faced /'peɪsti,feɪst/ adj, informal + often disapproving : having a face that looks pale and unhealthy • I don't know what she sees in that pasty-faced loser.

PA system /,piː'eɪ-/ noun, pl ~ -tems [count] : ²PA 1

¹pat /'pæt/ verb pats; pat-ted; pat-ting [+ obj]

T : to lightly touch (someone or something) with your hand usually several times in order to show affection or approval or to provide comfort • The child gently patted the dog's head. • He patted my knee and told me everything would be fine. — often + on • He patted me on my knee.

2 a : to flatten, smooth, or shape (something) by lightly pressing on it with your hand • He patted his hair down. • She patted the dough into a square. b : to lightly press (something) several times until it is dry • He patted the lettuce dry with a paper towel.

pat down [phrasal verb] pat (someone) down or pat down (someone) US : to move your hands over (someone) in order to search for something (such as a weapon) that may be hidden in clothing • The police patted the suspect down at the scene.

pat (someone) on the back : to praise or give credit to (someone) for doing good work • They deserve to be patted on the back for the way they've handled this problem. • You should pat yourselves on the back for doing such a great job.

²pat noun, pl pats [count]

1 : an act of lightly touching someone or something with your hand to show affection or approval • The teacher smiled and gave the boy a pat on the head. [=the teacher patted the boy on the head] • She gave the dog a quick pat.

2 : a small, flat, usually square piece of something (such as butter) • a pat of butter

a pat on the back informal : a show of praise or approval • You all deserve a pat on the back [=you all deserve to be praised] for making this possible. • You did a great job, so give yourself a pat on the back.

³pat adv : learned completely or perfectly • (US) She has her lines down pat. • (Brit) He had his story off pat.

stand pat US : to refuse to change your opinion or decision • Despite our objections, they are going to stand pat with their decision.

⁴pat adj, disapproving : said or done without any real thought or effort to be truthful or original • a pat response • The movie's pat ending was a disappointment. • His explanation was too pat to be believable.

pat-a-cake variant spelling of PATTY-CAKE

¹patch /'pætʃ/ noun, pl patch-es [count]

T : a piece of material that is used to cover a hole in something or to provide extra protection to an area • His pants have patches on the knees. • a jacket with brown patches on the elbows • He put a patch over the hole in the tire tube.

2 a : a piece of material that is worn over your eye because of injury or for medical reasons b : a piece of material that contains a drug and that is worn on your skin to allow the drug to slowly enter your body over a long period of time • She wears a nicotine patch to help her quit smoking.

3 : a small spot or area that is different from the surrounding area • There were icy patches [=areas of ice] on the road. • Fog patches made driving difficult. • He is developing a bald patch on the back of his head. • The cat has black patches on its forehead and tail. • The chair's original paint is still visible in patches [=in spots] — often + of • I could see a patch of blue sky through the clouds. • There are patches of weeds all over the lawn.

4 : a small area of land where a particular fruit or vegetable grows • a pumpkin/strawberry patch

5 : a period of time • He's going through a bad/difficult/rough patch [=spell] right now.

6 US : a piece of cloth with words or pictures that is sewn on clothing as a decoration or as part of a uniform : BADGE

7 computers : a program that corrects or updates an existing program • a software patch

8 Brit, informal : an area that someone knows well, works or lives in, or comes from • He knows everything that happens in/on his patch.

be not a patch on Brit, informal : to be much less good, appealing, impressive, etc., than (someone or something) •

The new chairman isn't a patch on his predecessor.

2 patch verb patches; patched; patch-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cover a hole in (something) with a piece of material • She patched (the hole in) the blanket. • The fence needs to be patched. • He patched (up) the roof.

2 : to connect (a person, telephone call, etc.) to a communication system especially for a short period of time • They patched him into the conference call. — often + through • The operator patched the call/caller through.

patch together [phrasal verb] patch (something) together or patch together (something) : to put (something) together usually in a quick or careless way • She patched a meal together from what was in the cupboard. • They quickly patched together a new plan.

patch up [phrasal verb] 1 patch (something) up or patch up (something) : to deal with (a problem, disagreement, etc.) in order to improve or repair a relationship • They finally patched up [=settled] their differences. • He is going to try to patch things up with his girlfriend. 2 patch (something or someone) up or patch up (something or someone) : to give quick and usually temporary medical treatment to (someone or something) • The doctor patched him up, so he's going to be as good as new. • She patched up his wounded arm. — see also 2 PATCH 1 (above)

patch-ou-li /'pætʃəli, pə'tʃu:li/ noun [noncount] : a perfume that is made from the oil of a southeast Asian plant patch-work /'pætʃwɜ:k/ noun

1 [singular] : something that is made up of different things • The valley is a patchwork of family farms. • A patchwork of laws prevent the land from being developed. • a patchwork system of laws

2 [noncount] : pieces of cloth of different colors and shapes that are sewn together in a pattern • a patchwork quilt/bedspread patchy /'pætʃi/ adj patch-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having some parts that are good and some that are bad • The lawn is kind of patchy this year. • a patchy performance

2 : existing or seen in some areas but not others • Patchy fog made driving difficult.

3 : not thorough or complete enough to be useful • His knowledge of the language is patchy. • She has only a patchy understanding of his condition.

pate /'peɪt/ noun, pl pates [count] somewhat old-fashioned

: the top of a person's head • his bald pate

pâ-té also pa-te /pɑ'teɪ, Brit 'pæteɪ/ noun, pl -tés also -tes [count, noncount] : liver or meat that has been chopped into very small pieces and that is usually spread on bread or crackers • liver pâté

pa-tel-la /pə'telə/ noun, pl -lae /-li/ or -las [count] technical

: KNEECAP — see picture at HUMAN

1 patent adj, always used before a noun

1 /'pætnt, Brit 'peɪnt/ : of, relating to, or concerned with patents • a patent law/lawyer • The company settled a patent dispute last year. • the licensing of patent rights • a patent application • They were sued for patent infringement. • a patent holder/owner

2 /'peɪnt/ formal : obvious or clear • His explanation turned out to be a patent lie. • She acted with patent disregard for the rules.

— pat-ent-ly adv • It is patently obvious that she is overqualified for the job.

2 pat-ent /'pætnt, Brit 'peɪnt/ noun, pl -ents : an official document that gives a person or company the right to be the only one that makes or sells a product for a certain period of time [count] — often + on • The company holds the/a patent on the product. • They want to take out a patent on [=obtain a patent for] the process. — often + for • She applied for patents for several of her inventions. [noncount] The product is protected by patent.

3 pat-ent /'pætnt, Brit 'peɪnt/ verb -ents; -ent-ed; -ent-ing [+ obj] : to get a patent for (something) • They patented their invention. • The product was patented by its inventor. • a patented process/drug

pat-ent leather /'pætnt-, Brit 'peɪnt-/ noun [noncount] : a type of leather that has a hard and shiny surface • shoes made of patent leather = patent-leather shoes

pa-ter-fa-mil-i-as /,pætəfə'mɪliəs, Brit ,pætəfə'mɪli,æs/ noun, pl pa-tres-fa-mil-i-as /,peɪtri:zfə'mɪliəs, Brit ,peɪtri:zfə'mɪli,æs/ [count] formal : a man who is the head of a family

pa-ter-nal /pə'tɜ:nəl/ adj

1 : of or relating to a father • He did not neglect his paternal responsibilities after the divorce. • He offered them some paternal [=fatherly] advice.

2 always used before a noun : related through the father • his paternal grandparents [=the parents of his father] • a paternal aunt/uncle — compare MATERNAL

— pa-ter-nal-ly adv • He smiled at them paternally. • paternally inherited genes pa-ter-nal-ism /pə'tɜ:nəlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] usually disapproving : the attitude or actions of a person, organization, etc., that protects people and gives them what they need but does not give them any responsibility or freedom of choice

— pa-ter-nal-ist /pə'tɜ:nəlɪst/ or pa-ter-nal-is-tic /pə'tɜ:nəlɪstɪk/ adj • They resent the boss's paternalistic attitude.

1 pa-ter-ni-ty /pə'tɜ:nəti/ noun [noncount] formal : the state or fact of being the father of a particular child • He acknowledged paternity of her child. [=he admitted that he was the father of her child] • The child's paternity was in question. [=people questioned who the child's father was] — compare MATERNITY

2 paternity adj, always used before a noun

1 : relating to the time when a father's child is born • paternity rights • Will he be able to take paternity leave? [=time off to take care of a newborn child]

2 : done to prove that a man is the father of a particular child • a paternity suit • paternity (DNA) tests/testing path /'pæθ, Brit 'pɑ:θ/ noun, pl paths /'pæðz, Brit 'pɑ:ðz/ [count]

1 a : a track that is made by people or animals walking over the ground • We followed a winding path through the woods. • a steep mountain path • The path led down the hill. b : a track that is specially made for people to walk or ride on • a bike path • a paved path — see also BRIDLE PATH

2 : the area in front of someone or something that is moving • The car skidded into the path of an oncoming truck. • The fire destroyed everything in its path. • The cars moved aside to clear a path for the ambulance. • He tried to leave but one of the guards blocked his path. — see also FLIGHT PATH

3 : a way of living or proceeding that leads to something • the path to peace/success • They are heading down a dangerous path that could lead to war. • Their older children all became doctors, but their youngest son chose/followed a different (career) path. — see also primrose path at PRIMROSE

beat a path see 1 BEAT

cross paths see 2 CROSS

lead someone down/up the garden path see 1 LEAD

off the beaten path see BEATEN

take/follow the path of least resistance see RESISTANCE

pa-thet-ic /pə'θetɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing feelings of sadness and sympathy • I could hear her pathetic [=pitiful] cries for help. • The blind, old dog was a pathetic sight.

2 informal + disapproving : very bad, poor, weak, etc. • The team was pretty bad last year, but this year they're downright pathetic. • The story he told was a pathetic attempt to cover up a lie. • a pathetic excuse • His car is a pathetic piece of junk.

— pa-thet-i-cal-ly /pə'θetɪkli/ adv • The child cried pathetically.

path·find·er /'pæθ,faɪndə, Brit 'pɑ:θ,faɪndə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who goes ahead of a group and finds the best way to travel through an unknown area

2 : a person or group that is the first to do something and that makes it possible for others to do the same thing

• TRAILBLAZER • a pathfinder of the fashion world • technological pathfinders

path·o·gen /'pæθədʒən/ noun, pl -gens [count] medical : something (such as a type of bacteria or a virus) that causes disease • a deadly pathogen

— path·o·gen·ic /,pæθə'dʒenɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • pathogenic bacteria path·o·log·i·cal /,pæθə'lɑ:dʒɪkəl/ also US path·o·log·ic /,pæθə'lɑ:dʒɪk/ adj

1 : extreme in a way that is not normal or that shows an illness or mental problem • He is a pathological liar/gambler. • She has a pathological fear of heights.

2 medical : relating to or caused by disease • a pathological condition • pathological changes in the body

3 technical : of or relating to the study of diseases : relating to pathology • a pathological study • pathological research/findings

— path·o·log·i·cal·ly /,pæθə'lɑ:dʒɪkli/ adv • a pathologically greedy person pa·thol·o·gist /pə'thɑ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] medical : a doctor who specializes in pathology; especially : a doctor who examines bodies to find out the cause of death pa·thol·o·gy /pə'thɑ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] technical

1 : the study of diseases and of the changes that they cause • a professor of pathology • plant pathology

2 : changes in a person, an animal, or a plant that are caused by disease • the pathology of lung diseases pa·thos /'peɪ,θɑ:s/ noun [noncount] literary : a quality that causes people to feel sympathy and sadness • Our knowledge of his tragic end adds an element of pathos to the story of his early success.

path·way /'pæθ,weɪ, Brit 'pɑ:θ,weɪ/ noun, pl -ways [count] : PATH • We walked along a winding pathway. • a pathway to success • (technical) a neural pathway [=a series of connected nerves along which electrical impulses travel in the body]

pa·tience /'peɪʃəns/ noun [noncount]

1 : the quality of being patient: such as a : the ability to wait for a long time without becoming annoyed or upset • I don't have the patience to wait in line for hours just to buy a ticket. • Investors need to have patience. The economy will improve soon. • "Aren't you finished yet?" "Have patience (with me). I'll be done soon." • Those people have been waiting for hours, and they're starting to run out of patience. = They're starting to lose patience. • After 10 long weeks, his patience was rewarded. [=he got what he wanted after waiting 10 weeks for it] b : the ability to remain calm and not become annoyed when dealing with problems or with difficult people • She treated her students with great patience and humor. • I don't have (much) patience for that kind of behavior. = I have little/no patience for that kind of behavior. [=I am not willing to accept that kind of behavior] • The team continues to play poorly, and many fans are starting to lose patience (with them). [=many fans are starting to become angry or upset about the team] • She has the patience of a saint. [=she is a very patient person] • All these mistakes of yours are trying my patience. [=I am starting to get upset because you have made so many mistakes] c : the ability to give attention to something for a long time without becoming bored or losing interest • I don't have the patience to do crossword puzzles.

2 Brit : SOLITAIRE 1

¹pa·tient /'peɪʃənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to remain calm and not become annoyed when waiting for a long time or when dealing with problems or difficult people • I hate having to stand in long lines. I'm just not very patient. • The teacher treated her students in a patient and understanding way. • "Aren't you finished yet?" "Be patient. I'll be done soon." — often + with • The teacher was patient with her students. — opposite IMPATIENT

2 : done in a careful way over a long period of time without hurrying • Proofreading requires patient attention to detail. • They put in years of patient labor/work on the project.

— pa·tient·ly adv • He patiently waited for his turn. • The teacher patiently explained the new material.

²patient noun, pl -tients [count] : a person who receives medical care or treatment • Several patients were waiting to see the doctor/dentist. • hospital/cancer patients — see also INPATIENT, OUTPATIENT pa·ti·na /pə'ti:nə/ noun, pl -nas [count]

1 : a thin usually green layer that forms naturally on the metals copper and bronze when they are exposed to the air for a long time

2 : a shiny or dark surface that forms naturally on something (such as wood or leather) that is used for a long time — usually singular • the beautiful patina of this antique table

3 : a thin layer — usually singular • The kitchen counter was covered with a patina of grease. — often used figuratively • a criminal who has been given a patina of respectability by his friendship with well-known businessmen pa·tio /'pæti:ʊs/ noun, pl -ti-os [count] : a flat area of ground that is covered with a hard material (such as bricks or concrete), is usually behind a house, and is used for sitting and relaxing • Let's have dinner on the patio. [=at a table on the patio] • a patio door [=a sliding glass door that opens to a patio, deck, etc.]

pa·tis·se·rie /pə'tɪsəri/ noun, pl -ries

1 [count] : a shop that sells cakes, cookies, etc. : a pastry shop

2 [noncount] : the things that are sold in a patisserie • a delicious selection of French patisserie

pa·tois /'pæ,twɑ:/ noun, pl pa·tois /'pæ,twɑ:z/ [count] : a form of a language that is spoken only in a particular area and that is different from the main form of the same language • the local patois [=dialect]

patresfamilias plural of PATERFAMILIAS

pa·tri·arch /'peɪtri,ɑ:k/ noun, pl -archs [count]

1 : a man who controls a family, group, or government • Our grandfather was the family's patriarch. • The tribe's patriarch ruled for 20 years before his death. — compare MATRIARCH

2 : an official (called a bishop) of very high rank in the Orthodox Church

— pa·tri·ar·chal /,peɪtri'ɑ:kəl/ adj • patriarchal cultures/societies [=cultures/societies that are controlled by men]

pa·tri·ar·chy /'peɪtri,ɑ:ki/ noun, pl -chies

1 [count] : a family, group, or government controlled by a man or a group of men • For 20 years, the country was ruled as a patriarchy. • ancient patriarchies

2 [noncount] : a social system in which family members are related to each other through their fathers • a region in which patriarchy is practiced — compare MATRIARCHY pa·tri·cian /pə'trɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] formal : a person who is a member of the highest social class : ARISTOCRAT

— patrician adj • patrician families

pat·ri·cide /'pætrə'saɪd/ noun, pl -cides [count] : the act of murdering your own father — compare FRATRICIDE, MATRICIDE

pat·ri·mo·ny /'pætrə,məʊni/ noun [singular] formal

1 : property that you receive from your father when he dies : INHERITANCE

2 : things that are from the past : HERITAGE • These historic landmarks are an important part of our cultural patrimony.

pa·tri·ot /'peɪtrɪjət, Brit 'pætrɪjət/ noun, pl -ots [count] : a person who loves and strongly supports or fights for his or her country • He was a great patriot who devoted his life to serving his country.

pa·tri·ot·ic /,peɪtri'ɑ:tɪk, Brit ,pætri'ɒtɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing great love and support for your country • having or showing patriotism • patriotic songs/speeches • A patriotic fervor swept the country.

— pa·tri·ot·i·cal·ly /,peɪtri'ɑ:tɪkli, Brit ,pætri'ɒtɪkli/ adv

pa·tri·o·tism /'peɪtrɪjə,tɪzəm, Brit 'pætrɪjə,tɪzəm/ noun : love that people feel for their country [noncount] You may not agree with him politically, but no one can question his patriotism. [singular] They supported the war with a fierce patriotism. — compare NATIONALISM

¹pa·trol /pə'trəʊl/ noun, pl -trolls

1 : the act of walking or going around or through an area, building, etc., in order to make sure that it is safe : the act of patrolling an area [count] The guard makes a patrol of the building every hour. [noncount] Soldiers are on patrol along the border. • a patrol officer

2 [count] : a group of people, vehicles, etc., that go through an area to make sure that it is safe : a group that patrols an area • Army patrols combed the area. • the highway patrol • the U.S. Border Patrol • a foot patrol [=a group that patrols by walking] • the ski patrol [=a group that patrols an area on skis]

²patrol verb -trols; -trolled; -trol-ling : to walk or go around or through (an area, building, etc.) especially in order to make sure that it is safe [+ obj] The squad had orders to patrol the area. • The border is patrolled by the army. • Police patrol the streets. [no obj] They patrolled on foot.

— pa-trol-ler noun, pl -lers [count]

patrol car noun, pl ~ cars [count] : a car that is used by the police to patrol an area

pa-trol-man /pə'troulmən/ noun, pl -men [count]

1 US : a police officer who patrols an area

2 Brit : a person who works for an organized group of car owners and who goes to help if one of the owners' cars stops working when it is being driven patrol wagon noun, pl ~ -ons [count] US : a truck that is used by the police to carry prisoners — called also (US, informal) paddy wagon

pa-tron /'peɪtrən/ noun, pl -trons [count]

1 : a person who gives money and support to an artist, organization, etc. • She is a well-known patron of the arts. • a patron of musicians/poets

2 somewhat formal : a person who buys the goods or uses the services of a business, library, etc. • A number of patrons [=customers] were waiting for tables at the restaurant. • library patrons

pa-tron-age /'pætrənɪdʒ/ noun [noncount]

1 : money and support that is given to an artist, organization, etc. • The college relied on the patronage of its wealthy graduates to expand its funds. • They thanked her for her patronage of the new hospital.

2 chiefly US, somewhat formal : support that is given to a business, library, etc., by buying its goods or using its services • The city should do more to encourage patronage of local businesses. • The new library is expected to have heavy patronage. [=many people are expected to use the new library]

3 often disapproving : the power to give jobs or provide other help to people as a reward for their support • a system of political patronage

pa-tron-ess /'peɪtrənəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count] : a woman who gives money and support to an artist, organization, etc. : a female patron • a patroness of the arts pa-tron-ize also Brit pa-tron-ise /'peɪtrənaɪz, Brit 'pætrənaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -izing

1 [+ obj] : to give money or support to (someone or something) • The family patronizes the arts/symphony.

2 disapproving : to talk to (someone) in a way that shows that you believe you are more intelligent or better than other people [+ obj] He hated being patronized and pitied by those who didn't believe his story. [no obj] "I'm sure you did your best even though you failed." "Please don't patronize."

3 [+ obj] somewhat formal : to be a frequent or regular customer or user of (a place) • It's a popular department store patronized by many people. [=many people shop at the store] • I patronize the library regularly.

patronizing adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : showing that you believe you are more intelligent or better than other people • She spoke to us in a patronizing [=condescending] tone. • a patronizing smile

— pa-tron-iz-ing-ly adv

patron saint noun, pl ~ saints [count]

1 : a saint who is believed to protect a particular place or type of person • St. David is the patron saint of Wales. • St. Christopher is the patron saint of travelers.

2 : a person who is known or admired as a leader or example • The success of her books has made her the patron saint of a new literary movement.

pat-sy /'pætsi/ noun, pl -sies [count] chiefly US, informal : a foolish person who is easily tricked or cheated • They treated us like a bunch of patsies.

¹pat-ter /'pætə/ noun [singular] : fast, continuous talk that is used to sell something or to entertain people • sales patter • The band leader kept up a running patter between songs. — compare ²PATTER

²patter noun [singular] : a quick series of light sounds or beats often + of • I heard the patter of little feet as the children ran down the hall. • the patter of rain against/on the windows — see also PITTER-PATTER — compare ¹PATTER

— patter verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] • Their feet pattered down the hall. • The rain was pattering on the roof.

¹pat-tern /'pætən/ noun, pl -terns [count]

1 : a repeated form or design especially that is used to decorate something • The dishes have a floral pattern around the

rim. • The fabric comes in different colors and patterns. • The rug is decorated with a geometric pattern. • The shadows made a pattern of lines on the ground. — see color picture on page C12

2 a : the regular and repeated way in which something happens or is done • They are studying behavior patterns among high-school students. • Analysts are noticing different spending patterns by consumers. • The trees followed a characteristic pattern of growth. • Your symptoms fit the pattern of diabetes. [=your symptoms are the same as the symptoms of diabetes] • His daily routine followed a set pattern. [=it was always the same] • The book set the pattern [=created an example which is followed by others] for detective fiction. b : something that happens in a regular and repeated way • We have to find a way to break the pattern of violence. [=to make the violence stop]

3 : a shape or model that is used as guide for making something • a dress pattern [=a large piece of paper that is used as a guide for cutting the cloth to make a dress]

— see also HOLDING PATTERN

²pattern verb -terns; -terned; -tern-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make or design (something) so that it is similar to something else of the same type — usually used as (be) patterned + on or (US) after • Her garden is patterned on [=modeled on] one she saw on her travels. • The new program is patterned after an earlier one.

2 : to decorate or mark (something) with a design : to form a pattern on (something) • Animals tracks patterned the mud. pattern yourself on or US pattern yourself after : to try to be like and to behave like (someone you admire) • When he started his own business, he patterned himself after [=modeled himself after] his father. [=he tried to do the things that his father would do]

pat-terned /'pætənd/ adj : having a design that is repeated many times : decorated with a pattern • patterned fabrics/rugs/wallpaper pat-tern-ing /'pætənɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the designs or patterns that appear on something • The wallpaper is decorated with floral patterning.

pat-ty also pat-tie /'pæti/ noun, pl pat-ties [count]

1 chiefly US : a small, flat cake of chopped food • hamburger/beef/chicken patties

2 US : a soft, flat candy • a peppermint patty

pat-ty-cake (US) /'pæti,keɪk/ also pat-a-cake /'pætə,keɪk/ noun [noncount] : a children's game in which two people lightly hit their hands together while singing a short poem (called a nursery rhyme) • Let's do/play patty-cake.

pau-ci-ty /'pa:səti/ noun [singular] formal : a small amount of something : an amount that is less than what is needed or wanted • There was a relative paucity [=lack] of detail in the report. • a paucity [=dearth] of evidence paunch /'pa:ntʃ/ noun, pl paunch-es [count] : a belly that sticks out especially on a man : a fat stomach • He sat with his hands folded over his paunch. • He used to be very thin but now he has a slight paunch.

— paunchy /'pa:ntʃi/ adj paunch-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] • a paunchy middle-aged man pau-per /'pa:pə/ noun, pl -pers [count] old-fashioned : a very poor person who has no money to pay for food, clothing, etc.

¹pause /'pa:z/ noun, pl paus-es

1 : a temporary stop : a period of time in which something is stopped before it is started again [count] There was a brief/long pause in the conversation. • After a pause the teacher continued the lesson. [noncount] He talked for over an hour without pause. [=without pausing or stopping]

2 [noncount] : a control that you use when you want to stop a recorded song, movie, etc., for a short time • He hit pause on the player and explained the significance of the song's lyrics. • Please hit the pause button on the remote control.

3 [count] music : the sign \frown that is placed over or under a musical note, rest, etc., to show that it should be held longer than usual give (someone) pause also give (someone) pause for thought : to cause (someone) to stop and think about something carefully or to have doubts about something • I was going to ask her for help, but the look on her face gave me pause. [=made me hesitate] • The latest economic news has given investors pause for thought.

²pause verb pauses; paused; paus-ing

1 [no obj] : to stop doing something for a short time before doing it again • She paused for a few seconds before crossing the street. • We paused briefly to look at the scenery. • He talked for over an hour without pausing.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (a recorded song, movie, etc.) to stop for a short time by pushing a button on a device • He picked up the remote control and paused the movie.

pave /'peɪv/ verb paves; paved; pav-ing [+ obj] : to cover (something) with a material (such as stone, tar, or concrete) that forms a hard, level surface for walking, driving, etc. • The crew was paving the road. • Some of the roads were paved over. • The driveway is paved with concrete. • a paved highway/road • It was said that this country was so rich, the streets were paved with/in gold.

pave over [phrasal verb] pave over (something) or pave (something) over disapproving : to cover (an area) with roads, parking lots, buildings, etc. • All this beautiful farmland will be paved over.

pave the way for (something or someone) : to make it easier for something to happen or for someone to do something • The discovery paves the way for the development of effective new treatments.

pave-ment /'peɪvmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [noncount] US : the hard surface of a road, driveway, etc. • He stopped the car just off the pavement. • The summer heat rose off the pavement.

2 [count] Brit : SIDEWALK hit the pavement see ¹HIT pavement café see CAFÉ pound the pavement see ⁴POUND

pa-vil-ion /pə'vɪljən/ noun, pl -ions [count]

1 : a building in a park or garden that usually has open sides and is used for parties, concerts, or other events

2 : a temporary building that is used at public events and exhibitions • The World's Fair had numerous pavilions.

3 US : a large building that is used for sports or public events

4 Brit : a building that is next to a sports field and used by players and people watching the game

paving noun [noncount]

1 : material (such as stone, tar, or concrete) that is used to form the hard surface of a road, driveway, etc. • The driveway was covered with concrete/brick paving.

2 : the hard surface of a road, driveway, etc. : PAVEMENT • They had to break up the paving to lay a new gas line.

paving stone noun, pl ~ stones [count] : a flat stone or brick used to make a hard surface to walk on outdoors

¹paw /'pa:/ noun, pl paws [count]

1 : the foot of an animal that has claws • The dog injured his paw. • a cat's paw

2 informal + disapproving : a person's hand • Keep your dirty paws off me! [=don't touch me]

²paw verb paws; pawed; paw-ing

1 of an animal : to touch or hit (someone or something) with a paw or foot [+ obj] The bull was pawing the dirt/ground. [no obj] — usually + at • The dog pawed at the door.

2 [+ obj] : to touch (someone or something) in a rough or sexual way • The celebrity couple was pawed by a mob of adoring fans. • She claims that her boss got drunk and tried to paw her at the company Christmas party.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to search by using your hands in an awkward or careless way • A crowd of customers was pawing over the remaining sales items. • She pawed through her purse to find her cell phone.

¹pawn /'pa:n/ noun, pl pawns [count]

1 : one of the eight small pieces that have the least value in the game of chess — see picture at CHESS

2 : a person or group that does not have much power and that is controlled by a more powerful person or group — usually + in • He became a pawn in the power struggle.

²pawn verb pawns; pawned; pawn-ing [+ obj] : to give (something that you own) to a pawnbroker in exchange for money • She was forced to pawn her diamond ring.

pawn off [phrasal verb] pawn (something) off or pawn off (something) US, informal 1 : to sell (something) for more than it is worth by being dishonest about it • He'll pawn [=palm] the car off on/onto some unsuspecting fool if he can. • I pawned off my old computer on him. 2 : to get someone to accept or do (something) • He tried to pawn off science fiction as truth.

pawn-bro-ker /'pa:n,broukə/ noun, pl -kers [count] : a person who lends money to people in exchange for personal property that can be sold if the money is not returned within a certain time • He was desperate for money so he hocked his watch to a pawnbroker.

pawn-shop /'pa:n,ʃɑ:p/ noun, pl -shops [count] : a pawnbroker's shop paw-paw /pə'pa:,, 'pa:pa:/ noun, pl -paws [count, non-count] chiefly Brit : PAPAYA

¹pay /'peɪ/ verb pays; paid /'peɪd/; pay-ing

1 a [no obj] : to give money for goods or services • I already paid last week. • Where do we pay to get in? • Do we have to pay to park here? • They left the restaurant without paying. • Should I pay in dollars or pesos? • We're trying to attract more paying customers [=customers that buy things from our company] through our Web site. • paying passengers • After their children left for college, they began opening their home to paying guests. [=people who give you money to live in your house with you for a short time] — often + for • He offered to pay for our dinner. • How will you be paying for your purchase: (in) cash, (by) check, or (with a) credit card? • "That cheap camera I bought is broken already." "Well, you get what you pay for." [=a thing that can be bought for a very low price probably isn't very good]

b [+ obj] : to give money to (someone) for goods or services • I'll pay the taxi driver. • Has anyone paid her yet? • We get paid on Fridays. • The workers get paid well. = The workers are well-paid. — often followed by to + verb • They're going to pay a crew to paint the house. • You couldn't pay me to jump out of an airplane! [=I would never jump out of an airplane, even if you gave me a lot of money] — sometimes + in • "Did he give you a check?" "No, he paid me in cash." • When he mowed her lawn, she paid him in cookies. [=she gave him cookies for mowing her lawn]

c [+ obj] : to give (something, such as an amount of money) for goods or services • I paid $200 to him yesterday. = I paid him $200 yesterday. • These workers are paid extremely low wages by their employers. • She pays 15 percent (of her earnings) to her agent. • I paid a lot of money for this car. • How much are you willing to pay? • They paid over $300,000 for their house. • They paid a high price [=a lot of money] for that painting. • I couldn't afford to pay cash, so I put it on my credit card. • We paid good money [=we gave a large amount of money] to see this show, and we want our money's worth! d — used to say how much someone earns for doing a job [no obj] My job doesn't pay very well. [=I don't earn much money from my job] • It's difficult work that pays relatively poorly. • high-paying jobs [+ obj] The job pays $150,000 a year.

2 [+ obj] : to give the money that you owe for (something) • I can't afford to pay my rent. • paying taxes/fines/penalties • Use the company's financing plan and pay no interest for a full year. • Has this bill been paid? • The receipt shows that their bill has been paid in full. [=all of the money they owed has been paid]

3 : to have a good or helpful result : to be worth the expense or effort to do something [no obj] Hard work always pays [=pays off] in the long run. • Crime doesn't pay. [=you get more trouble than benefit from committing a crime] — often followed by to + verb • It pays [=it is worth the effort] to study your notes after every class. • When the roads are icy, it pays to drive slowly. • It pays to advertise. [+ obj] It pays stores to be open on the weekends. [=stores benefit from being open on the weekends] • Spending a lot of money on advertising has paid dividends for our company. [=has given our company extra advantages or benefits] • Our efforts are finally paying dividends. [=we are finally getting the results we want from our efforts]

4 [+ obj] : to give (a percentage of money) as the profit from an investment or business • The investment paid eight percent last year. • a savings account paying four percent interest

5 a [no obj] : to deal with the bad result of something that you did : to be punished for doing something • If you offend him, he will make you pay. — often + for • I'll make you pay for what you've done to me! • You'll pay for this! • She paid dearly for her mistakes. [=she suffered a lot as a result of her mistakes] • He thinks that the people who committed these terrible crimes should pay with their lives. [=should be killed] b [+ obj] : to give, lose, or suffer (something) as a punishment for or result of something else • We all felt that 25 years in prison was a high/small price to pay for his crimes. ♦ If you pay a/the price or pay a heavy/high/steep (etc.) price or (Brit) pay the penalty for something, you experience the bad effects or results of that thing. • I knew the consequences of what I was about to do, but I was willing to pay the price. • Famous people always pay a price for their fame. • She paid a heavy price for telling the truth. • Someone has to pay the penalty for these mistakes.

6 [+ obj] — used in various phrases that describe giving your attention to what is being done or said • Are you paying attention? [=are you listening and trying to understand?] • Remember to pay close attention to the instructions. • He's just teasing you. Don't pay any attention to him. = Pay no attention to him. [=don't be upset by what he is saying] • He kept talking but she paid him no mind. [=she didn't listen to what he said] • Pay heed to what he says. [=listen to what he says]

7 [+ obj] — used to describe saying or doing something that expresses respect, admiration, etc., for someone • She paid me a compliment. [=she said something nice about me] • We gather here today to pay tribute/homage to [=to honor and praise] a great woman.

hell to pay or the devil to pay — used to say that if a specific thing happens, something else that is very bad will be the result or someone will get very upset • We knew that if anyone caught us cheating there would be hell to pay. [=we would be severely punished] • There'll be the devil to pay if we don't finish on time.

pay a call/visit : to go somewhere to visit someone • She paid me a visit [=she came to visit me] while I was in the hospital. = She paid a call on me while I was in the hospital.

pay back [phrasal verb] 1 pay back (something) or pay (something) back : to return (an amount of money) that someone allowed you to borrow • She has to pay back the $100 she borrowed. • He said that he'll pay the money back tomorrow. • paying back a loan 2 pay (someone) back or pay back (someone) a : to give (someone) the amount of money that you borrowed • I'll pay you back when I get the money. • I lent him money and he never paid me back. • I have to pay back my sister for that loan. b : to punish or hurt (someone who did something bad to you) • I wanted to pay him back [=get back at him; make him suffer] for all the pain he caused me. • He's finally getting paid back for all the trouble he caused. — see also PAYBACK c : to do something good for (someone who did something good for you) • How can I pay you back for all your help?

pay court to see ¹COURT

pay for itself ♦ If you buy something that pays for itself, the amount of money you save by using the product for a period of time is more than the amount of money you spent when you bought the product. • You save so much on heating costs with our high-quality windows that the windows will pay for themselves within five years!

pay in [phrasal verb] pay in (something) or pay (something) in Brit : to put (money) in an account : DEPOSIT • I went to the bank to pay in a cheque. • paying a cheque in an account pay into [phrasal verb] pay into (something) chiefly US : to put money into (a fund or account) • Each month she pays into an account that can be used for medical expenses.

pay off [phrasal verb] 1 : to produce a result that you want • It's great to see that all of our hard work has finally paid off. 2 pay off (something) or pay (something) off : to give all of the money that you owe for (something that you pay for over a period of time) • It will take us 30 years to pay off our mortgage, but then the house will be ours. • If I won the money, I'd use it to pay off all my credit cards. • paying off your debts • She finally got her car paid off. [=she finally paid all the money she had borrowed to buy her car] 3 pay off (someone) or pay (someone) off a : to give money to (someone) in order to make that person do something illegal or dishonest for you or to convince that person not to talk about something • He tried to pay off [=bribe] a police officer. • The company was accused of paying off its employees to keep them from talking about its illegal activities. b Brit : to stop employing (someone) after paying all of the money that was owed to that person • They paid off all their workers and then closed the factory. — see also PAYOFF pay out [phrasal verb] pay out (something) or pay (something) out 1 : to give (an amount of money) to someone usually over a period of time • The government has paid out [=disbursed] millions of dollars in foreign aid. • The prize money will be paid out (to the winner) over the course of five years. — see also PAYOUT 2 : to allow (a rope or chain) to become loose and move through your hands • We lowered the anchor and continued to pay out several more feet of rope.

pay the piper see PIPER

pay through the nose see ¹NOSE

pay up [phrasal verb] somewhat informal 1 : to pay what you owe : to pay what is due • We paid up and left. • He decided to pay up after they threatened to take him to court for the money. 2 ♦ If you are paid up, you have given all of the money that you owe until a specific date. • You're (all) paid up through June. [=you do not have to pay any more money until after June]

pay your dues see ²DUE

pay your (own) way : to use your own money to pay for the things you need or do • She got a part-time job in order to pay her way through college. • Students must pay their own way if they choose to participate in the trip. • I wanted to buy him dinner, but he insisted on paying his own way.

pay your respects formal : to visit or speak with someone in a polite way as a sign of respect • I went up to her after the meeting and paid my respects. • We paid our last respects at his funeral. [=we went to his funeral as a sign of respect] put paid to Brit, informal : to cause (something) to end : to stop (something) • The storm put paid to his attempt to sail around the world. • They hope to put paid to the argument once and for all.

— see also ²PAID

²*pay* noun [noncount] : money received in exchange for work : money paid to someone for doing work • receiving higher/better/lower pay • The work is hard, but the pay is good. [=you earn a lot of money by doing the work] • She spent a week's pay [=the amount of money she earns in one week] in just one night. • He has been suspended without pay pending the results of the investigation. • "Women," she said, "should receive equal pay for equal work." [=they should be paid the same amount of money as men who perform the same job] • When he works on the weekends, he collects overtime pay. [=an increased rate of money earned for working more than the usual number of hours in one week] • The company owes her $500 in back pay. [=money that is owed to a worker from an earlier time] • severance pay [=money given to workers when a company ends their jobs] • The workers are demanding an increase in their rate of pay, = The workers are demanding an increase in their pay rate. [=the amount of money they are paid per hour, week, etc.] • Each pay period begins on the first of the month. • (US) He asked for a pay raise = (Brit) He asked for a pay rise. • Workers received a $4,000 pay increase. • I took a significant pay cut when I took this job, but I think it was worth it. — see also BASE PAY, CO-PAY, SICK PAY, TAKE-HOME PAY in the pay of someone : working usually in a secret way for a person or organization • He was accused of being in the pay of gangsters.

pay-able /'peɪəbəl/ adj, always used after a noun : possible or necessary to pay • She charges her patients $3,000, payable in installments. • The bill was payable [=due] on the first of February. • The plan defines the maximum amount payable [=that will be paid] by the insurance company. • (business) accounts payable [=the amounts of money that you owe to people or other businesses] — often + to • benefits payable to the insured ♦ If a check is made payable to someone, the name of that person or business is written on the check. • All checks should be made payable to the university. • Make your check payable to "Therapy Associates Inc."

pay-as-you-go adj — used to describe a system of payment in which bills are paid when they are due or goods and services are paid for when they are bought • The city adopted a pay-as-you-go policy to avoid future debt. • I use a pay-as-you-go plan for my cell phone.

pay-back /'peɪ,bæk/ noun, pl -backs

1 [noncount] : punishment for something that was done in the past • This is payback [=this is my revenge] for all the pain you've caused me. • They beat our team last year, so we've got to beat them this year as payback. • You've ruined my life, and now it's payback time. [=now I'm going to hurt you because you hurt me] — see also pay back at ¹PAY

2 [count] : an amount of money that you receive after investing in something and that is equal to or greater than the amount of money that you originally invested — usually singular • The investment has yielded a big payback for the company. — sometimes used figuratively • While these cars are expensive, there's a significant payback in terms of safety. [=the safety of the cars make them worth their high cost]

3 [count] : the amount of time that passes before invested money is returned or before money that is owed is paid — usually singular • a five-year payback • The payback period is expected to be less than six months on this investment. • The loan calls for a two-year payback period.

pay-cable noun [noncount] chiefly US : pay-TV that is sent through a cable television system — often used before another noun • a pay-cable channel/network pay-check (US) /'peɪ,tʃɛk/ or Brit pay cheque /'peɪ,tʃɛk/ noun, pl -checks [count]

1 : a check that is used to pay an employee for his or her work • I went to the office to pick up my paycheck. • a big paycheck [=a paycheck for a large amount of money] • (US) We are living paycheck to paycheck [=we spend all of the money from one paycheck before we receive the next paycheck] and have no money left over for savings.

2 chiefly US : the money that you regularly earn : a wage or salary • Your weekly paycheck will be almost $600 after taxes. • When I was in college, I earned my first steady paycheck [=I was earning money regularly for the first time] as a waitress.

pay-day /'peɪ,deɪ/ noun : the day when you are regularly paid your wages [noncount] Payday is every other Friday. [=the company pays its employees every two weeks on a Friday] • Next Friday is payday. [count] Is this Friday a pay-day?

pay dirt noun

hit/strike pay dirt chiefly US, informal : to do, find, or get something that results in money or success • The band hit pay dirt [=had a big success] with their first single. • The police struck pay dirt when a witness came forward with new information.

PAYE /,piː,eɪ,wɑːi/ noun [noncount] Brit : WITHHOLDING TAX ♦ PAYE is an abbreviation of the words "pay as you earn."

pay-ee /per'i:/ noun, pl -ees [count] technical : a person or organization that receives money : a person or organization that is paid • The payee must endorse the back of the check. • a payee bank pay envelope noun, pl ~ -lopes [count] US

1 : an envelope that contains your wages
2 : the money that you regularly earn : a wage or salary • Workers will be expecting bigger/fatter pay envelopes [(more commonly) paychecks] next year. — called also (Brit) pay packet pay-er /'peɪə/ also pay-or /per'ɒə/ noun, pl -ers also -ors [count] : a person, organization, etc., that pays or is responsible for paying something • He is a regular bill payer. [=he pays his bills when they are due] • a single-payer health-care system [=a system in which the government pays for everyone's health care] — see also TAXPAYER paying-in slip noun, pl ~ slips [count] Brit : DEPOSIT SLIP pay-load /'peɪ,ləʊd/ noun, pl -loads [count]

1 a : the amount of goods or material that is carried by a vehicle (such as a truck) • a heavy payload • truckers delivering their payloads b : the things (such as passengers or bombs) that are carried by an aircraft or spacecraft

2 : the weight of a payload • The truck is carrying a payload of 2,580 pounds.

3 : the power of the explosive material in a bomb or missile pay-mas-ter /'peɪ,mæstə, Brit 'peɪ,mɑːstə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a person whose job is paying salaries or wages • She worked as the company's paymaster for 22 years.

2 usually disapproving : a person, country, etc., that pays people and controls their actions • a paymaster of/to terrorists

pay-ment /'peɪmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 [noncount] a : the act of giving money for something : the act of paying • Payment is due on the first of every month. • Prompt payment of your bill ensures that you will not have to pay any additional fees. • We require payment in advance for all goods purchased. • an online/electronic payment system • a payment plan to reduce your debt • He was released from prison on payment of [=after paying] a $5,000 fine. • cash, credit cards, and other methods of payment • I had the bank stop payment on the check. = I had a stop payment (order) put on the check. [=I told the bank not to take money from my account to pay for the check] b : something that is given to someone in exchange for something else • He accepted the tickets as payment (for his services). • We bought them dinner in payment [=as a way of paying them] for all their help.

2 [count] : an amount of money that is paid for something • Our records show that we received a payment of $215.36 in

May. • Buy this product for three easy payments of only $19.95! • low monthly payments • It took me five years to pay off the car, but I never missed a payment. • making payments on a loan • Their family is struggling to meet the payments on their house. = They're struggling to keep up (with) their mortgage payments. • The credit card company just increased the penalty on late payments. • She wrote the first three chapters of her book and received an advance payment from the publisher. • cash payments from donors • interest payments on a loan — see also BALANCE OF PAYMENTS, BALLOON PAYMENT, DOWN PAYMENT

pay-off /'peɪ,ɔːf/ noun, pl -offs

1 : a good result : the advantage or benefit that is gained from doing something [count] You'll have to work hard but there'll be a big/large payoff in the end. • We expected more of a payoff for all our hard work. • What's the payoff? [noncount] We made a lot of sacrifices with little payoff.

2 [count] : something valuable (such as money) that you give to someone for doing something and especially for doing something illegal or dishonest : BRIBE • Several city officials have been accused of receiving payoffs from the company.

3 [count] Brit : money that a company gives to a worker who is being forced to leave a job • He lost his factory job but received a payoff and a pension. — see also pay off at ¹PAY pay-o-la /per'əʊlə/ noun [noncount] chiefly US, informal

1 : money that is paid to someone for illegally helping to sell or advertise a product • These radio disc jockeys accepted payola to play particular songs.

2 : the illegal practice of giving or receiving payola • payola in the music industry • a payola scandal

payor variant spelling of PAYER pay-out /'peɪ,aut/ noun, pl -outs [count] : a usually large amount of money that is given to someone • Each year, the government spends millions of dollars in payouts [=disbursements] to corporate farms. • a large insurance payout — see also pay out at ¹PAY pay packet noun, pl ~ -ets [count] Brit : PAY ENVELOPE • her weekly/monthly pay packet

pay-per-view noun [noncount] : cable television channels that charge a fee for each show you watch • We're watching a boxing match on pay-per-view tonight. — often used before another noun • pay-per-view movies pay phone noun, pl ~ phones [count] : a public telephone that you can use if you put coins into it or use a calling card to pay for your call — see picture at TELEPHONE

pay-roll /'peɪ,rəʊl/ noun, pl -rolls [count]

1 : a list of the people who work for a company and the amount of money that the company has agreed to pay them • They cut him from their payroll. — often used before another noun • She's in charge of the company's payroll department. [=the department that is responsible for paying employees] • payroll deductions [=money that you earn but is not included in the pay you receive because it is used to pay your taxes, insurance costs, etc.] — often used in the phrase on the payroll • Her company has over 3,000 employees on the payroll. • He's currently on the payroll of a small law firm.
2 : the total amount of money that a company pays to all of its employees • He's the manager of a baseball team with a $50 million payroll. • Businesses are keeping their payrolls low by embracing new technologies.

payroll tax noun, pl ~ taxes [count]

1 : a tax that is paid by a company and that is based on the amount of money that the company spends paying all of its employees

2 : WITHHOLDING TAX

pay stub noun, pl ~ stubs [count] US : a piece of paper that is given to an employee with each paycheck and that shows the amount of money that the employee earned and the amount that was removed for taxes, insurance costs, etc. • Keep your pay stubs for your financial records. — called also (Brit) pay slip pay-TV noun [noncount] : television channels that you must order and pay for • a movie on pay-TV • subscribers to pay-TV channels/networks — called also pay television; compare PAY-CABLE

PB&J abbr peanut butter and jelly

PBS abbr Public Broadcasting Service ♦ PBS is an organization that produces educational television programs that are shown without commercials in a network of stations throughout the U.S.

¹PC /,piː'si:/ noun, pl PCs or PC's [count] : PERSONAL COMPUTER

²PC abbr 1 Peace Corps 2 politically correct; political correctness 3 Brit police constable

PCP abbr, US primary care physician; primary care provider pct abbr percent; percentage

pd abbr paid

PD abbr, US police department

PDA /ˈpiːdiːeɪ/ noun, pl PDAs [count] : a small electronic device that is used for storing and organizing information (such as phone numbers, addresses, appointments, and notes) ✧ PDA is an abbreviation of “personal digital assistant.”

PDQ or pdq or p.d.q. /ˈpiːdiːˈkjuː/ adv, informal : as quickly as possible : immediately • We need to hire someone PDQ. ✧ PDQ is an abbreviation of the phrase “pretty damned quick.”

P.E. (US) or PE abbr physical education

pea /ˈpiː/ noun, pl peas [count] : a small, round, green seed that is eaten as a vegetable and that is formed in a seed case (called a pod) of a climbing plant; also : a plant that produces peas • We're growing tomatoes and peas in our garden this year. — see color picture on page C4; see also BLACK-EYED PEA, CHICKPEA, SNAP PEA, SNOW PEA, SUGAR SNAP PEA, SWEET PEA two peas in a pod — used to say that two people or things are very similar to each other • My brother and I are two peas in a pod. We both like the same things.

peace /ˈpiːs/ noun

1 a : a state in which there is no war or fighting [noncount] After many years of war, people on both sides were longing for peace. • We said a prayer for world peace. • They have lived in peace [=peacefully] for many years. • We grew up in a time when the nation was prosperous and at peace. [=not fighting a war] • The United Nations has sent troops to the area to try to keep (the) peace. [singular] a lasting peace • The two countries have maintained an uneasy peace. [=a state in which fighting could start at any time] b [singular] : an agreement to end a war • He tried to negotiate a peace between the warring countries. • After many years of war, the two countries have finally made peace (with each other). — often used before another noun • a peace agreement/agreement/treaty • a peace initiative/conference • peace talks • the peace process [=the steps that are taken by countries or groups that are trying to end a war] c [singular] : a period of time when there is no war or fighting • There was a peace of 50 years before war broke out again.

2 [noncount] a : a quiet and calm state • I just want a few moments of peace. = I just want a little peace and quiet. • Why won't they leave him in peace? [=why won't they stop bothering him?] b : a safe and calm state in a public place • Peace and order were finally restored in the town. • He was arrested for a breach of the peace. = He was arrested for disturbing the peace. [=for behaving in a loud or violent way in a public place] — see also JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

3 : a state in which a person is not bothered by thoughts or feelings of doubt, guilt, worry, etc. [singular] After years of therapy, he has finally achieved an inner peace. [noncount] He is searching for inner peace. • She has found peace (within herself). • Insurance can provide you with peace of mind. • The problem was settled and his mind was at peace. • They are at peace with each other. • She's at peace with their decision. [=she has accepted their decision] • May our dearly departed friend rest in peace. [=we hope our friend who has died will have peace after death]

4 [noncount] : a state in which people do not argue or cause trouble • There will never be peace between those families. • She wants to go, and we won't have any peace until we agree to let her do what she wants.

hold your peace see ¹HOLD

make your peace with ✧ If you make your peace with someone, you end an argument or disagreement that you had with that person. • He wanted to make his peace with his father before he died.

sue for peace see SUE peace-able /ˈpiːsəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not liking or wanting to fight or argue • They are a peace-able [=peaceful], good-natured people. • He has a peaceable nature.

2 : not involving violence or fighting • The crowd dispersed in a peaceable manner.

— peace-ably /ˈpiːsəbli/ adv • As neighbors, they had lived peaceably for many years.

Peace Corps noun

the Peace Corps : a U.S. organization that trains and sends people who work without pay to help poor people in other countries

peace dividend noun, pl ~ -dends [count] : money that a government originally planned to spend on its military that becomes available for other things when a situation changes (such as when a war ends) — usually singular peace-ful /ˈpiːsfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : quiet and calm : without noise, excitement, etc. • a peaceful countryside • The park is so peaceful and quiet.

2 : not fighting a war • peaceful nations

3 : not involving violence or force • a peaceful rally/demonstration/protest • They settled the conflict by peaceful means. • We need to find a peaceful alternative to war.

4 : not liking or wanting to fight : preferring peace • They are a peaceful [=peaceable] people.

— peace-ful-ly adv • She slept peacefully. • The nations managed to coexist peacefully. • He lived peacefully among the villagers. — peace-ful-ness noun [noncount] peace-keep-er /ˈpiːs,kiːpə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone (such as a soldier) who helps to prevent or stop fighting between countries or groups • Peacekeepers were sent in to stop the violence.

— peace-keep-ing /ˈpiːs,kiːpɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun • a peacekeeping force/mission • peacekeeping operations/troops peace-mak-er /ˈpiːs,meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who helps to prevent or stop an argument, a fight, or a war • She acted as peacemaker in the dispute.

— peace-mak-ing /ˈpiːs,meɪkɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun [noncount] • peacemaking efforts/activities • He was sent on a peacemaking trip. — peacemaking noun [noncount] • Our attempts at peacemaking have failed.

peace offering noun, pl ~ -ings [count] : a gift that is given as a way of apologizing or making peace • After our last argument, I sent her flowers as a peace offering.

peace officer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US, law : a police officer or similar official • He was arrested for assaulting a peace officer.

peace pipe noun, pl ~ pipes [count] : a pipe that is smoked by Native Americans in a special ceremony as a sign of peace

peace sign noun, pl ~ signs [count]

1 : a sign that you make by holding your hand up with the palm facing away from you and with only the two fingers that are closest to your thumb pointing upward in the shape of a V ✧ This gesture was popular especially in the late 1960s. It is used either as a peaceful greeting or to show that you want peace rather than war. — usually singular • He flashed a peace sign at us as we drove by.

2 : PEACE SYMBOL

peace symbol noun, pl ~ -bols [count] : the symbol ☸ that is used to say that peace is wanted instead of war peace-time /ˈpiːs,taɪm/ noun [noncount] : a period of time during which a country is not fighting a war • The size of the army was reduced during/in peacetime. — often used before another noun • the peacetime army/economy — opposite WARTIME

peach /ˈpiːtʃ/ noun, pl peach-es

1 [count] : a round, sweet fruit that has white or yellow flesh, soft yellow or pink skin, and a large, hard seed at the center • a ripe, juicy peach — see color picture on page C5

2 [noncount] : a yellowish-pink color — see color picture on page C3

3 [singular] informal + old-fashioned : a person or thing that is liked or admired very much • He's a real peach. = He's a peach of a guy. [=he's a great guy]

peaches and cream 1 — used to describe someone who has smooth and pale skin with light pink cheeks • She has a peaches and cream complexion. 2 chiefly US, informal : a situation, process, etc., that has no trouble or problems • He promised her that if she married him, life would be peaches and cream. • We've managed to finish the job, but it hasn't been all peaches and cream.

peachy /ˈpiːtʃi/ adj peach-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : like a peach • a peachy pink color • a peachy flavor

2 chiefly US, informal : very good : fine or excellent • That's just peachy with me. • For the first few months of their marriage, everything was peachy. — often used in an ironic way to describe something that is bad, unpleasant, etc. • “It's starting to rain.” “Oh, that's just peachy! What are we going to do now?”

peachy keen adj, chiefly US, informal : very good : fine or excellent • She acts as if everything in her life is peachy keen [=peachy], but I don't think she's really happy.

pea-cock /'pi:kə:k/ noun, pl -cocks [count] : a large male bird that has a very long bright blue and green tail that it can lift up and spread apart like a fan — see color picture on page C9

pea green noun [noncount] : a yellowish-green color — see color picture on page C2

¹peak /'pi:k/ noun, pl peaks [count]

T a : the pointed top of a mountain • a line of rocky peaks
b : a tall mountain with a pointed or narrow top • Pikes Peak in Colorado — see color picture on page C7 c : something that looks like a pointed top of a mountain • the peak of the roof • The recipe says to beat the cream until it forms soft/stiff peaks.

2 : the highest level or degree of excellence, quantity, activity, etc. • His cooking is the peak of perfection. [=is excellent] • a singer at the peak [=height] of her popularity • The team was at its peak [=played best] in the 1980s. • At her peak she was writing a new novel every year. • Violence reached a peak just before the election. • The graph shows that murders in the city declined from a peak of 173 in 2004. • There are peaks and valleys [=very high and very low levels] in electricity usage during the summer.

3 chiefly Brit : the front part of a cap or hat that shades the eyes : VISOR

²peak adj, always used before a noun

1 : at the highest point or level • He is in peak [=top, excellent] physical condition. • peak [=best possible] engine performance • The factory has been running at peak capacity for the past year.

2 : filled with the most activity • Phone calls cost more during peak calling hours. [=the time period when most calls are made] • the peak season for fishing • peak [=prime] television viewing time — opposite OFF-PEAK

³peak verb peaks; peaked; peak-ing [no obj] : to reach the highest level • Electricity usage peaks during the summer. • The singer's popularity peaked years ago. [=he is not as popular now] • The stock price peaked several months ago at 30 dollars per share.

¹peaked /'pi:kt/ adj : having a peak • a peaked [=pointed] roof • (chiefly Brit) a peaked cap — compare ²PEAKED

²peak-ed /'pi:kəd/ adj, US, informal : pale and sick • She looks a bit peaked today. — compare ¹PEAKED

peaky /'pi:ki/ adj, Brit, informal : pale and sick : PEAKED • He's looking a bit peaky.

peal /'pi:l/ noun, pl peals [count]

1 : the loud ringing of bells • the peal of wedding bells

2 : a loud sound or series of sounds • peals of laughter • a peal of thunder

— peal verb peals; pealed; peal-ing [no obj] • Bells pealed as the wedding ceremony ended.

pea-nut /'pi:nat/ noun, pl -nuts

1 [count] : a nut with a thin shell that grows under the ground and that can be eaten • roasted peanuts — often used before another noun • peanut oil — called also (Brit) groundnut

2 peanuts [plural] informal : a very small amount of money • Five billion dollars is peanuts compared to what the government spends each year. • He works all day for peanuts.

peanut butter noun [noncount] : a creamy food made from peanuts • a jar of peanut butter • a peanut butter and jelly sandwich pear /'peə/ noun, pl pears [count] : a sweet fruit that is narrow near the stem and rounded at the other end and that grows on a tree; also : the tree that this fruit grows on — see color picture on page C5; see also PRICKLY PEAR

pearl /'pəl/ noun, pl pearls

1 [count] : a hard, shiny, white ball that is formed inside the shell of an oyster and that is often used as jewelry • She wore a string of pearls. • a pearl necklace • pearl earrings — see color picture on page C11

2 [noncount] : MOTHER-OF-PEARL

3 [count] : something that is shaped like a pearl • Pearls of dew glistened on the grass. • pearl onions

4 [count] : someone or something that is very good or admired • She was a pearl among swine. • The island is a cultural pearl of the Pacific.

cast/throw pearls before swine : to give or offer something valuable to someone who does not understand its value pearls of wisdom : wise words or statements • He offered some pearls of wisdom [=good advice] about raising children. • (humorous) A crowd of reporters gathered around the coach after the game to hear him dispense his usual pearls of wisdom.

pearly /'pəli/ adj : having the shiny, white color of pearls • Her teeth were pearly white. • (informal) Don't forget to brush your pearly whites. [=teeth]

Pearly Gates noun

the Pearly Gates informal + humorous : a pair of gates thought of as the place through which people enter heaven when they die

pear-shaped /'peəʃeɪpt/ adj : shaped like a pear • a pear-shaped fruit • She has a pear-shaped figure. [=she has wide hips and thighs and a small chest] go pear-shaped Brit, informal : to go wrong • She was in debt, and when she lost her job it all went pear-shaped.

peas-ant /'peznt/ noun, pl -ants [count]

1 : a poor farmer or farm worker who has low social status — used especially to refer to poor people who lived in Europe in the past or to poor people who live in some countries around the world today • This land was farmed for centuries by peasants. — often used before another noun • peasant farmers • a peasant community/girl • peasant food [=good food that is made with simple ingredients and that is not fancy]

2 disapproving : a person who is not educated and has low social status • They treated us like a bunch of peasants.

peas-ant-ry /'pezntri/ noun

the peasantry : all the peasants living in an area or country • He tried to organize the peasantry for a revolt. • the Russian peasantry

pease pudding /'pi:z-/ noun [noncount] Brit : a soft food made by boiling dried peas

pea soup noun [noncount]

1 : a thick soup made of boiled dried peas

2 informal — used to describe heavy and thick fog • fog as thick as pea soup = pea-soup fog

pea-soup-er /'pi:'sʊpə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit, old-fashioned + informal : a very heavy and thick fog • The fog was very bad—a real pea-souper.

peat /'pi:t/ noun [noncount] : a dark material made of decaying plants that is burned for heat or added to garden soil

— peaty /'pi:ti/ adj peat-i-er; -est • peaty ground peat moss noun [noncount] chiefly US : a type of moss that usually grows on wet land and that is used by gardeners as a fertilizer, for growing plants in pots, etc. — called also sphagnum, sphagnum moss

peb-ble /'pebəl/ noun, pl peb-bles [count] : a small, round stone; especially : one that has been made smooth by the movement of water • pebbles in the stream — peb-bly /'pebəli/ adj • a pebbly beach [=a beach with many pebbles] pe-can /'pi:kən, 'pi:kæn, Brit pi:kæn, 'pi:kən/ noun, pl -cans [count] : a nut that grows on a tall tree in the United States and Mexico and that can be eaten • pecan pie — see picture at NUT pec-ca-dil-lo /'pekə'dilou/ noun, pl -loes or -los [count] : a small mistake or fault that is not regarded as very bad or serious • a politician's sexual peccadillos

¹peck /'pek/ verb pecks; pecked; peck-ing

1 of a bird a : to strike sharply at something with the beak [no obj] — + at • A crow pecked at the lawn, hunting for bugs. [+obj] The hen pecked my finger. b [+obj] : to make (something) by pecking with the beak • The woodpecker pecked a hole in the tree.

2 [+obj] : to kiss (someone) lightly and quickly • He pecked his wife on the cheek as he headed out the door.

peck at [phrasal verb] peck at (something) : to take small bites of (food) • Her son pecked at his food and said he wasn't hungry.

— see also HUNT-AND-PECK

²peck noun, pl pecks [count]

1 : the act of pecking something : a quick, sharp strike with the beak • The bird took a peck at the corn. [=the bird pecked the corn]

2 informal : a quick kiss • She gave her son a peck on the cheek.

— compare ³PECK

peanut

³peck noun, pl pecks [count] : a unit for measuring an amount of fruit, vegetables, or grain that is equal to about 8.8 liters in the U.S. and about 9.1 liters in the U.K. — compare ²PECK

peck·er /'pekə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US, informal + offensive : PENIS

keep your pecker up Brit, informal : to stay happy or hopeful pecking order noun, pl ~ -ders [count] : the way in which people or things in a group or organization are placed in a series of levels with different importance or status • As an assistant manager, he was pretty low in the company's pecking order. • the pecking order of Washington politics

peck·ish /'pekɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal

1 chiefly Brit : slightly hungry • If you're feeling peckish, there's some cheese in the fridge.

2 US : irritated or annoyed • a peckish tone of voice

pecs /'peks/ noun [plural] informal : PECTORALS • a body-builder with great pecs pec·tin /'pektən/ noun [noncount] : a substance in some fruits that makes fruit jellies thick when the fruit is cooked pec·to·ral /'pektərəl/ adj, technical : relating to or located on the chest • pectoral muscles pec·to·rals /'pektərəlz/ noun [plural] : the muscles of the chest — called also (informal) pecs

pe·cu·liar /pɪ'kju:ljə/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not usual or normal : STRANGE • It seems peculiar that he would leave town and not tell anybody. • The dog's peculiar behavior worried them. • She got a peculiar feeling when the phone rang. • She had a peculiar expression on her face.

2 not used before a noun, Brit, informal : not well : somewhat ill • He's feeling peculiar.

peculiar to : of, relating to, or found in (only one person, thing, or place) • a custom peculiar to America [=a custom that is found only in America]

— pe·cu·liar·ly adv • The movie has a peculiarly [=distinctively, uniquely, particularly] American quality. • He's been behaving peculiarly. [= (more commonly) strangely, oddly]

pe·cu·liar·i·ty /pɪ'kju:lɪ'jerəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality or state of being unusual or peculiar • the peculiarity of his appearance

2 [count] : something that is unusual or peculiar in a person or thing • It is a peculiarity of the house that there is no front door. • her peculiarities as a writer • Scientists tried to explain some peculiarities in the results of the experiment.

pe·cu·ni·ary /pɪ'kju:niəri, Brit pɪ'kju:nri/ adj, formal : relating to or in the form of money • the hope of pecuniary [= (more commonly) financial] reward • pecuniary losses

ped·a·gog·i·cal /,pedə'gɑ:ɢɪkəl/ also ped·a·gog·ic /,pedə'gɑ:ɢɪk/ adj, formal : of or relating to teachers or education • pedagogical methods/practices

— ped·a·gog·i·cal·ly /,pedə'gɑ:ɢɪkli/ adv

ped·a·gogue /'pedə,gɑ:g/ noun, pl -gogues [count] formal + old-fashioned : TEACHER

ped·a·go·gy /'pedəgoudʒi/ noun [noncount] formal : the art, science, or profession of teaching

¹ped·al /'pedl/ noun, pl -als [count]

1 : a flat piece of metal, rubber, etc., that you push with your foot to make a machine move, work, or stop • a bike's pedals • a car's gas/brake pedal — see picture at BICYCLE

2 : a lever on a piano, organ, etc., that you push with your foot to make or change a sound put the pedal to the metal US, informal 1 : to drive very fast 2 : to work very quickly • We are going to have to put the pedal to the metal if we want to finish on time.

²pedal verb -als; US -aled or Brit -alled; US -al·ing or Brit -al·ling

1 : to push the pedals of (something, such as a bicycle) [+ obj] pedal a bike [no obj] He was pedaling as fast as he could.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to ride a bicycle to a particular place • He pedaled down to the store.

pedal boat noun, pl ~ boats [count] : PADDLEBOAT 1

ped·a·lo /'pedə,lou/ noun, pl -los [count] Brit : PADDLEBOAT 1 pedal pushers noun [plural] old-fashioned : girls' or women's pants that go down to a part of the leg that is a short distance below the knee pedal steel noun, pl ~ steels [count] : a musical instrument that has strings which are plucked while being pressed with a movable steel bar and a pedal that can change the pitch of the strings — called also pedal steel guitar, steel guitar

ped·ant /'pednt/ noun, pl -ants [count] disapproving : a person who annoys other people by correcting small errors and giving too much attention to minor details • a dull pedant

— pe·dan·tic /pɪ'dæntɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a pedantic teacher • a pedantic insistence on following the rules exactly — pe·dan·ti·cal·ly /pɪ'dæntɪkli/ adv — ped·ant·ry /'pedntri/ noun [noncount] • His instructions were precise to the point of pedantry.

ped·dle /'pedl/ verb ped·dles; ped·dled; ped·dling [+ obj]

1 : to sell (something) usually in small amounts and often by traveling to different places • They peddled fruits and vegetables out of their truck on the side of the road. • She now peddles her wares [=sells her products] on the Internet.

2 : to try to get people to accept or believe (something) • He peddled his idea for a new movie to every executive in Hollywood. • The mayor's aides tried to peddle his innocence to reporters. • peddling gossip

ped·dler /'pedlə/ noun, pl -dlers [count]

1 US : someone who sells things in small amounts often by traveling to different places : a person who peddles something • a poor street peddler [= (Brit) pedlar] • a fruit peddler

2 : a person who sells illegal drugs • The police are trying to get drug peddlers off the streets. = (Brit) The police are trying to get peddlers off the street.

ped·es·tal /'pedəstl/ noun, pl -tals [count]

1 : the base of a column or other tall object • the pedestal of a vase/lamp/statue

2 — used to describe the position of someone who is admired, successful, etc. • Her boyfriend put/placed her on a pedestal, [=thought of her as a perfect person with no faults] • He wanted a career as an actor, but he didn't want to be put on a pedestal. [=to be treated like a big star] • They're trying to knock the champions off their pedestal. [=to defeat the champions]

¹pe·des·tri·an /pə'destriən/ noun, pl -ans

[count] : a person who is walking in a city, along a road, etc. • The car slid off the road and almost hit a group of pedestrians.

²pedestrian adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : not interesting or unusual : ORDINARY • He lived a pedestrian life, working at the paper mill and living in his trailer. • pedestrian concerns like paying the bills and getting the kids to school on time

2 always used before a noun : relating to or designed for people who are walking • This area has a lot of pedestrian traffic. [=there are a lot of pedestrians in this area] • a pedestrian mall

pedestrian crossing noun, pl ~ -ings [count] formal : CROSSWALK

pe·des·tri·an·ise /pə'destriən,aɪz/ verb -is·es; -ised; -is·ing [+ obj] Brit : to change (an area, street, etc.) so that no vehicles are allowed • the city's pedestrianised shopping district pe·di·at·ric (US) or Brit pae·di·at·ric /,pi:di'ætrɪk/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : of or relating to the medical care or illnesses of children • pediatric treatment • a pediatric surgeon

pe·di·a·tri·cian (US) or Brit pae·di·a·tri·cian /,pi:dijə'triʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] : a doctor who treats babies and children

pe·di·at·rics (US) or Brit pae·di·at·rics /,pi:di'ætrɪks/ noun [noncount] medical : a branch of medicine that deals with the development, care, and diseases of babies and children • a doctor who specializes in pediatrics

ped·i·cure /'pedɪ,kjə/ noun, pl -cures [count] : a treatment to improve the appearance and health of the feet or toenails • She's getting a pedicure tomorrow. — compare MANICURE

ped·i·gree /'pedə,gri:/ noun, pl -grees

1 : the history of the family members in a person's or animal's past especially when it is good or impressive [count] That horse has an impressive pedigree. • Her husband has a noble/aristocratic pedigree. [=the people in his family were noble/aristocratic] • What is the dog's pedigree? [noncount] The puppy came with papers proving its pedigree.

2 : the origin and history of something especially when it is good or impressive [count] a painting's pedigree • Democracy is an idea with a pedigree stretching back to ancient pedestal

Greece. • The company has an excellent pedigree with over a century in the business. [noncount] She wants to go to a school with pedigree. [=a school that has a long and impressive history]

– ped·i·greed /'pedəgri:d/ or pedigree adj • a pedigreed horse/school/family ped·i·ment /'pedəmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] : a triangular area on the face of a building below the roof, above an entrance, etc.

ped·lar /'pedlə/ noun, pl -lars [count] Brit : PEDDLER 1

pe·dom·e·ter /pi'də:mədə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a device that measures the distance a person travels by walking pe·do·phile (US) or Brit pae·do·phile /'pedə'fajəl, Brit 'pi:də'fajəl/ noun, pl -philes [count] : a person who has a sexual interest in children pe·do·phil·ia (US) or Brit pae·do·phil·ia /,pedə'filiə, Brit ,pi:də'filiə/ noun [noncount] : sexual feelings or activities that involve children pee /'pi:/ noun, informal

1 [noncount] : URINE

2 [singular] : an act of passing urine from the body • Does she have to take a pee? = (Brit) Does she have to have a pee? = (Brit) Does she have to go for a pee?

– pee verb pees; peed; pee·ing [no obj] • The dog peed [=urinated] on the floor.

peek /'pi:k/ verb peeks; peeked; peek·ing [no obj]

1 a : to look at someone or something secretly especially from a hidden place • A little girl peeked around the corner of the chair at him. • She peeked [=peered] through a hole in the fence. • Close your eyes, and no peeking! b : to look at something briefly • She peeked ahead to the next chapter to see what happened next. • He allowed some of his friends to peek at his next painting.

2 : to show slightly : to be slightly visible — usually + out • Her slip peeked out from beneath her skirt. [=a small part of her slip could be seen beneath her skirt]

– peek noun, pl peeks [count] • Take another peek at the cake in the oven to see if it's done. • They tried to sneak a peek at the actors getting ready behind the curtain. • We saw a sneak peek [=a brief showing] of the movie that will be released next month.

peek·a·boo /'pi:kəbu:/ noun [noncount] : a game played with a baby in which you cover and then uncover your face and say "Peekaboo!" • play peekaboo — called also (Brit) peepbo

¹peel /'pi:l/ verb peels; peeled; peel·ing

1 [+ obj] : to remove the skin from (a fruit, vegetable, etc.) • peel an apple • peel the cucumbers

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] : to remove (a covering, shell, etc.) from something • They peeled back the sheet to display the new sculpture. — often + from • An animal had peeled the bark from the tree. • We had to peel the wallpaper from the wall. — often + off • (informal) Guests peeled off [=took off] their wet coats by the door. • They peeled the old wallpaper off.

3 [no obj] a : to come off in pieces • The paint is peeling (off). • She got sunburned and the skin on her back is peeling (off). b : to lose an outer layer of skin, bark, etc. • She got sunburned and her back is peeling.

keep your eyes peeled see ¹EYE

peel off [phrasal verb] informal : to turn and go away from something quickly • One of the jets peeled off from the formation and headed back.

peel out [phrasal verb] US, informal : to speed away from a place in a car, on a motorcycle, etc. • Dirt and gravel flew as he peeled out into the street.

– peel·er noun, pl -ers [count] • a potato/vegetable peeler

²peel noun, pl peels [count] : the skin of a fruit • a banana peel • an orange peel — see color picture on page C5

¹peep /'pi:p/ noun, pl peeps

1 [count] : a quick, high sound that is made by a young bird or that is like the sound made by a young bird • the peep of a chick

2 [singular] informal : a word or sound • I don't want to hear a single peep out of you. • We didn't hear a peep coming from his office. • They accepted her decision with hardly a peep of protest.

– see also PEEPS

²peep verb peeps; peeped; peep·ing [no obj] : to make a quick, high sound : to make a peep • I heard a chick peep. • a peeping sound — compare ³PEEP

³peep verb peeps; peeped; peeping

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to look very quickly at someone or something • I'll just peep [=peek] in the room to see if the baby is sleeping. • He peeped [=peered] through a hole in the fence.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to show slightly : to be slightly visible • Early spring flowers were peeping through the snow.

3 [+ obj] slang : to look at or see (someone or something) • We peeped [=saw] him at the restaurant. • Peep this [=check this out]—I've got two tickets for the show.

– compare ²PEEP

peep·bo /'pi:p,bou/ noun [noncount] Brit : PEEKABOO peep·er /'pi:pə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a type of small American frog that makes a peeping sound — called also spring peeper

peep·hole /'pi:p,houl/ noun, pl -holes [count] : a hole that is used to look through something (such as a door) to the other side peeping Tom noun, pl ~ Toms [count] : a person who secretly looks into other people's windows to see them naked peeps /'pi:ps/ noun [plural] US slang : people and especially the people who are your friends • just me and my peeps peep show noun, pl ~ shows [count] : a show in which someone looks into a box, room, etc., through a small hole or window and sees pictures or a performance usually involving sex

¹peer /'piə/ noun, pl peers [count]

1 : a person who belongs to the same age group or social group as someone else • his academic peers [=people in the same grade or level of school] • He was respected and admired by his peers. • teenagers spending time with their peer groups • (chiefly US, law) You have the right to be tried by a jury of your peers. [=a jury whose members are from the same community as you]

2 : a member of the British nobility — see also LIFE PEER

²peer verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition peers; peered; peer·ing [no obj] : to look closely or carefully especially because something or someone is difficult to see • She peered into the dark closet looking for her missing shoe. • He peered down the well. • An animal peered out from the woods next to their camp. • He peered over the fence.

peer·age /'pi:tɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages formal

1 the peerage : the people who are members of the British nobility : the people who are peers

2 [count] : the rank of a British peer • He was given the peerage after years of devoted service to the community.

peer·ess /'pi:rəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count]

1 : a woman who is a member of the British nobility

2 : the wife or widow of a peer (sense 2)

peer·less /'pi:ləs/ adj : having no equal : better than all others • As an athlete he is peerless.

peer pressure noun [noncount] : a feeling that you must do the same things as other people of your age and social group in order to be liked or respected by them • She started drinking in high school because of peer pressure.

peer review noun [noncount] : a process by which a scholarly work (such as a paper or a research proposal) is checked by a group of experts in the same field to make sure it meets the necessary standards before it is published or accepted peeve /'pi:v/ noun, pl peeves [count] : something that annoys someone • One of her peeves is people who are always late. — see also PET PEEVE

peevd /'pi:vd/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : angry or annoyed • He's peevd at me because I borrowed his car without asking. • Her boss was peevd by/about the mistakes she made with the customer's order. • I'm feeling pretty peevd.

pee·vish /'pi:vɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling or showing irritation • a peevish frown • peevish patients in the doctor's waiting room

– pee·vish·ly adv • "I didn't do anything wrong," he answered peevishly. — pee·vish·ness noun [noncount]

¹peg /'peg/ noun, pl pegs [count]

1 : a small piece of wood, metal, or other material that is used to hold or fasten things or to hang things on • Her coat hung on a peg by the door. • a tent peg [=a pointed piece of wood or metal that is pushed into the ground to hold the corners of a tent in position]

2 : a wooden piece in a musical instrument (such as a violin) that is turned to tighten or loosen a string • a tuning peg

3 Brit : CLOTHESPIN

a peg to hang something on Brit : something (such as a fact or issue) that is used as support or a reason for something said or done • He used the incident as a peg to hang his theory on.

a square peg in a round hole : someone who does not fit in a particular place or situation • She felt like a square peg in a round hole at the new school until she made some new friends.

off the peg Brit : in a store where clothes are sold in different sizes that are not made to fit a particular person • He bought that suit off the peg. [= (US) off the rack] — see also OFF-THE-PEG take/knock/bring someone down a peg : to make (someone) feel less important or proud • He was taken down a peg when an even better player joined the team. • She needs to be taken down a peg. [= humbled]

2 peg verb pegs; pegged; peg-ging [+ obj]

1 a : to fasten (something) with pegs • Is the tent pegged down all the way? • (Brit) She was outside pegging the laundry to the clothesline. b : to put a peg into (something) • He pegged the boards.

2 a : to keep (something, such as a price) at a particular level or rate • peg the price of wheat at its current level b : to link (something) to another amount or value • The foreign currency is pegged to the U.S. dollar. [=its value changes when the U.S. dollar's value does] • His bonus is pegged to how many sales he makes each year for the company.

3 informal : to think of or identify (someone) as a certain kind of person • The salesman had me pegged [=understood what kind of person I am] in a matter of minutes. — usually + as • She pegged him right away as a nice guy. — sometimes + for • She had him pegged for a liar.

4 US, informal : THROW • He pegged the ball to first base. peg away [phrasal verb] chiefly Brit, informal : to work hard — usually + at • He sat there pegging away at his homework.

peg out [phrasal verb] Brit, informal : to die • He doesn't want to peg out because of somebody else's mistakes.

peg leg noun, pl ~ legs [count] old-fashioned + informal : an artificial leg usually made of wood and attached at the knee pe-jo-ra-tive /pi'dʒorətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : insulting to someone or something : expressing criticism • a pejorative term • a word with pejorative connotations — pejorative noun, pl -tives [count] • a word that is used as a pejorative [=an insulting word] — pe-jo-ra-tive-ly adv • The word is often used pejoratively.

Pe-king-ese or Pe-kin-ese /,pi:kə'ni:z/ noun, pl Peking-ese or Pekinese [count] : a small dog with a flat face and long, soft fur pe-lag-ic /pə'lædʒɪk/ adj, technical : relating to or living in the sea far from the shore • pelagic fish/birds/waters

pel-i-can /'pelɪkən/ noun, pl -cans [count] : a large ocean bird that has a large bag that is part of its lower bill for catching and holding fish — see color picture on page C9

pelican crossing noun, pl ~ -ings [count] Brit : a place where a person can stop traffic in order to cross the road by pressing a button that controls the traffic lights

pel-let /'pelət/ noun, pl -lets [count]

1 : a small, hard ball of food, medicine, etc. • food pellets for rabbits = rabbit pellets

2 : a small metal object that is shot from a gun • shotgun pellets • a pellet gun [=a special gun that is designed to shoot pellets]

pell-mell /,pel'mel/ adv : in a confused and hurried way • a car racing pell-mell through the streets — pell-mell adj • the pell-mell pace of modern life pel-lu-cid /pə'lu:səd/ adj [more ~; most ~] literary : very clear • pellucid water • pellucid prose

pel-met /'pelmət/ noun, pl -mets [count] Brit : VALANCE 1

pel-o-ton /'pelə,tɔ:n/ noun, pl -tons [count] : the main group of riders in a bicycle race • He broke away from the peloton and sprinted into the lead.

1 pelt /'pelt/ verb pelts; pelt-ed; pelt-ing

1 [+ obj] : to repeatedly hit (someone or something) with things thrown from a distance • Rioters pelted the police. — often + with • The boys pelted the building with rocks.

2 [+ obj] : to hit against (something) repeatedly • Rain pelted the windowpanes. • the pelting rain

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to move very quickly • The children came pelting down the street. • We were pelting along.

2 pelt noun, pl pelts [count] : the skin of a dead animal especially with its hair, wool, or fur still on it • a lion's pelt

pel-vic /'pelvɪk/ adj : relating to or located in or near the pelvis • pelvic bones • a pelvic exam [=an examination of the pelvis and the organs in it]

pel-vis /'pelvəs/ noun, pl -vis-es [count] : the wide curved bones between the spine and the leg bones — see picture at HUMAN

1 pen /'pen/ noun, pl pens : a writing instrument that uses ink [count] She signed her name with a pen. [noncount] She signed her name in pen. — compare PENCIL put/set pen to paper : to write or begin to write something • She thought about writing a novel for several years before she finally put pen to paper.

— compare ³PEN, ⁵PEN

2 pen verb pens; penned; pen-ning [+ obj] : to write (something) • pen a letter • She penned a novel. • a poem penned by Shakespeare — compare ⁴PEN

3 pen noun, pl pens [count] : a small enclosed area for farm animals • a sheep pen — compare ¹PEN, ⁵PEN

4 pen verb pens; penned; pen-ning [+ obj] : to put or keep (a person or animal) in an enclosed area — usually used as (be) penned • They were penned behind a wooden fence. • cattle penned in the barn pen in/up [phrasal verb] pen (someone or something) in/up : to put or keep (a person or animal) in an enclosed area : to prevent (someone or something) from moving beyond a particular area — usually used as (be) penned in/up • Several dogs were penned up [=penned] behind the house. • The men were penned up [=trapped] on the ship for months. — often used figuratively • She felt penned in by their relationship.

— compare ²PEN

5 pen noun

the pen US, informal : PRISON • He was sent to the pen [=the penitentiary] for armed robbery.

— compare ¹PEN, ³PEN

pe-nal /'pi:nəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun : relating to or used for punishment • penal laws • a penal institution [=prison] • a penal colony [=a place where prisoners are sent to live]

2 Brit : very severe • penal interest rates penal code noun, pl ~ codes [count] law : a set of laws relating to crimes and the punishments for those crimes

pe-nal-ize also Brit pe-nal-ise /'pi:nə,ləɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to punish (someone or something) for breaking a rule or a law • The company was penalized for not paying taxes. • The hockey player was penalized for holding.

2 : to give (someone) an unfair disadvantage • This law would unfairly penalize immigrants.

pen-al-ty /'penlti/ noun, pl -ties

1 : punishment for breaking a rule or law [count] The company was given/assessed a severe/stiff penalty for the violation. • They allowed him to pay back the money without a penalty. [noncount] They allowed him to pay back the money without penalty. — see also DEATH PENALTY

2 [count] : a disadvantage or difficulty you experience • Lack of privacy is one of the penalties you pay for fame.

3 [count] : a punishment or disadvantage given to a team or player for breaking a rule in a game • The hockey player was given/assessed a penalty for holding.

pay the penalty see ¹PAY

penalty box noun, pl ~ boxes [count] : the area beside an ice hockey rink where a player who has been given a penalty sits for a certain amount of time penalty kick noun, pl ~ kicks [count] : a kick in soccer or rugby that a player makes when the other team has broken a rule penalty shot noun, pl ~ shots [count] : a shot in hockey that a player makes when the other team has broken a rule pen-ance /'penəns/ noun : something that you do or are given to do in order to show that you are sad or sorry about doing something wrong [noncount] She did/performed (an act of) penance for her sins. [singular] He did charitable work as a penance.

pence Brit plural of PENNY pen-chant /'penʃənt/ noun, pl -chants [count] : a strong liking for something or a strong tendency to behave in a certain way — usually + for • He has a penchant for asking stupid questions. [=he asks a lot of stupid questions] • Her penchant for mathematics helped her to become an engineer.

¹pen·cil /'pensəl/ noun, pl -cils : an instrument used for writing and drawing that has a hard outer part and a black or colored center part [count] Use a pencil instead of a pen so you can erase your mistakes. [noncount] Write your answers in pencil. [=using a pencil] — often used before another noun • a pencil sketch • a pencil sharpener [=a device used to make the tip of a pencil sharp so that it can be used for writing] • a pencil case [=a small box for holding pencils and other small items, such as erasers] — see picture at OFFICE; compare PEN

²pencil verb, pl -cils; US -ciled or Brit -cilled; US -cil-ing or Brit -cil-ling [+ obj] : to draw or write (something) with a pencil • He penciled some notes on a piece of paper.

pencil in [phrasal verb] pencil (someone or something) in or pencil in (someone or something) : to put (someone or something that may be changed later) on a schedule, list, etc. • Would you like me to pencil you in [=to schedule you] for Thursday morning at 11? — sometimes used figuratively • He was penciled in as the director's replacement.

pencil pusher noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US, informal : PAPER PUSHER pen·dant /'pendənt/ noun, pl -dants [count] : a piece of jewelry that hangs on a chain or a cord which is worn around your neck — see color picture on page C11

pen·dent or pen·dant /'pendənt/ adj, formal : hanging down from above • a pendent light fixture

¹pend·ing /'pendɪŋ/ prep, formal : while waiting for (something) • He is being held in jail pending trial. • She received a four-year sentence and is currently out on bail pending appeal.

²pending adj, formal

1 : not yet decided or acted on • bills pending in Congress • a pending visa application • The results of the investigation are pending. • There are lawsuits pending against the company.

2 : happening or likely to happen soon • the company's pending [=impending] move to a new location pen·du·lous /'pendʒələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : hanging down and swinging freely • pendulous silver earrings

— pen·du·lous·ly adv • blossoms dangling pendulously from the branches

pen·du·lum /'pendʒələm/ noun, pl -lums [count] : a stick with a weight at the bottom that swings back and forth inside a clock — often used figuratively • The fashion pendulum swung from silver jewelry to gold and back again. [=silver jewelry was popular for a while, then gold became popular, and then silver became popular again]

pen·e·tra·ble /'penətrəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : allowing someone or something to pass through or enter : able to be penetrated • an easily penetrable border

— pen·e·tra·bil·i·ty /,penətrə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount]

pen·e·trate /'penətreɪt/ verb -trates; -trat-ed; -trat-ing

1 : to go through or into something [+ obj] These bullets can penetrate armor. • radiation penetrating the Earth's atmosphere [no obj] The bullet failed to penetrate. • The heat penetrated through the wall. • The roots of these plants have been known to penetrate to a depth of more than 15 feet.

2 [+ obj] : to see or show the way through (something) • Our eyes were unable to penetrate the darkness. [=we were unable to see through the darkness] • My car's headlights couldn't penetrate the dense fog. • They were unable to penetrate his disguise. [=to see or realize who he really was behind his disguise]

3 [+ obj] : to succeed in becoming part of (an organization, a community, etc.) • The movie is about foreign agents who penetrate [=infiltrate] the CIA. • The company is trying to penetrate [=sell its products in] the U.S. market.

4 [+ obj] : to succeed in understanding or finding (something) • scientists trying to penetrate the secrets hidden in our genes • attempting to penetrate the mysteries of human nature

5 : to be understood or noticed by someone [+ obj] The truth had not yet penetrated my consciousness. [=I had not yet realized the truth] [no obj] The truth had not yet penetrated.

6 [+ obj] of a man : to put the penis into the vagina or the anus of (another person) during sex penetrating adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : able to understand something clearly and fully • She is one of our most penetrating and provocative critical thinkers. • a penetrating mind b : helping people to understand something clearly and fully • an author famous for her pene- trating social commentary • a penetrating account of what really happened during the crisis

2 : spreading out deeply or widely • penetrating cold • flowers that give off a penetrating perfume

3 of sounds : loud and clear and sometimes unpleasant • a deep, penetrating voice • a baby's penetrating wail

4 ♦ People who have penetrating eyes or a penetrating gaze/stare/look make you feel uncomfortable by looking at you in a way that makes you feel that they know what you are thinking. • She transfixed me with a penetrating gaze.

— pen·e·tra·ting·ly adv • a penetratingly sweet aroma pen·e·tra·tion /,penə'treɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the act of going through or into something : the act of penetrating something [noncount] Cuts in the skin could permit the penetration of bacteria into the body. • the penetration of the CIA by foreign agents • the penetration of the U.S. market by a foreign company [count] multiple penetrations into enemy territory

2 [noncount] formal : an ability to understand things clearly and fully • a writer who analyzes the underlying causes of the recession with great penetration

pen·e·tra·tive /'penə'treɪtɪv, Brit 'penə'treɪtɪv/ adj

1 — used to describe sexual activity in which a man puts his penis into another person's vagina or anus • penetrative sex

2 [more ~; most ~] formal : able to enter or go through something • penetrative ammunition

3 [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing an ability to understand things clearly and fully • penetrative insights pen friend noun, pl ~ friends [count] Brit : PEN PAL pen·guin /'pɛŋgwɪn/ noun, pl -guins

[count] : a black-and-white bird that cannot fly, that uses its wings for swimming, and that lives in or near the Antarctic pen·i·cil·lin /,penə'sɪlən/ noun [noncount]

: a medicine that is used to kill harmful bacteria

pe·nile /'piːnəjəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : of or relating to the penis • penile dysfunction pen·in·su·la /pə'nɪnsələ, Brit pə'nɪnsjələ/noun, pl -las [count] : a piece of land that is almost entirely surrounded by water and is attached to a larger land area • They built their house on a narrow peninsula. • the Yucatan Peninsula — see color picture on page C7

— pen·in·su·lar /pə'nɪnsələ, Brit pə'nɪnsjələ/ adj, formal • the culture of peninsular Spain pe·nis /'piːnəs/ noun, pl -nis-es [count] : the part of the body of men and male animals that is used for sex and through which urine leaves the body pen·i·tence /'penətəns/ noun [noncount] formal : a feeling of deep sadness because you have done something wrong • Forgiveness requires penitence.

¹pen·i·tent /'penətənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : feeling or showing sorrow and regret because you have done something wrong • a penitent [= (more commonly) repentant] sinner • a penitent gesture

²penitent noun, pl -tents [count] formal : a person who is sorry for doing something wrong and asks for forgiveness : a penitent person • penitents seeking God's forgiveness pen·i·ten·tial /,penə'tenʃəl/ adj, formal : relating to the feeling of being sorry for doing something wrong : relating to penitence or penance • penitential prayers • a penitential journey/pilgrimage pen·i·ten·tia·ry /,penə'tenʃəri/ noun, pl -ries [count] US : PRISON — often used in the names of prisons • Colorado State Penitentiary synonyms see ¹JAIL pen·knife /'pen,naɪf/ noun, pl -knives [count] : a small knife with a folding blade : POCKETKNIFE pen·light /'pen,laɪt/ noun, pl -lights [count] : a small flashlight that looks like a pen pen·man·ship /'penmən,ʃɪp/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : the art or practice of writing by hand • My third grade teacher thought it was important for us to learn penmanship.

2 : the quality or style of someone's handwriting • Your poor penmanship [=handwriting] makes it hard to read your work.

pen name noun, pl ~ names [count] : a name used by a writer instead of the writer's real name • Samuel L. Clemens is better known by his pen name "Mark Twain."

pen·nant /'penənt/ noun, pl -nants [count]

penguin

1 : a long, thin, pointed flag • pennants waving atop the tower

2 baseball : the prize that is awarded to the champions of the American League and the National League each year • The Red Sox won the American League pennant in 2004.

pen·ni·less /'penɪləs/ adj : having no money : very poor • a penniless vagrant • She was unemployed and penniless.

Penn·syl·va·nia Dutch /,pensəl'veɪnjə-/ noun [non-count]

1 : a group of people originally from Germany who settled in Pennsylvania in the 18th century

2 : a form of German spoken by the Pennsylvania Dutch pen·ny /'peni/ noun, pl US pen·nies /'penɪz/ or Brit pence /'pens/ [count]

1 a pl pennies : a coin or a unit of money equal to 1/100 of a dollar : CENT b pl pence : a coin or a unit of money equal to 1/100 of a British pound — abbr. p c pl pence : a British coin used before 1971 that was equal to 1/12 of a shilling — abbr. p

2 a : a small amount of money • We got the car for just pennies. [=it didn't cost very much] • When you're trying to save money, every penny helps/counts. [=even a small amount of money is important] • Our vacation was expensive, but it was worth every penny. [=it was worth the entire amount that we paid for it] • (chiefly Brit) He was trying to earn/turn an honest penny. [=earn money for honest hard work] b : the least amount of money • I didn't have a penny (to my name). [=I did not have any money at all]

(a penny for your thoughts — used to ask what someone is thinking about • "A penny for your thoughts?" "Oh, I'm just thinking about what I want to do over the weekend."

a penny saved ♦ The saying a penny saved (is a penny earned) means that it is important to save your money. • Well, you know what they say about a penny saved.

a pretty penny : a large amount of money • That will cost a pretty penny. [=that will be very expensive] in for a penny, in for a pound Brit — used to say that you should finish what you have started to do even though it may be difficult or expensive • "If you want to quit, I'll understand." "No, I'm sure we can do this. In for a penny, in for a pound."

not a penny less/more : no less or no more than a certain amount of money • I'll do the job for 100 dollars and not a penny less. [=I won't do the job unless I am paid at least 100 dollars] • I'll pay you 100 dollars and not a penny more. [=I'll pay you 100 dollars, but I won't pay you any more than that]

pinch pennies see PINCH

ten a penny see TEN

the penny drops Brit, informal — used to say that someone finally understands something after not understanding it for a time • I had to explain it to him three times, but finally the penny dropped. [=he understood the explanation] penny-ante adj, US, informal + disapproving : not important, valuable, or impressive : SMALL-TIME • a penny-ante operation • penny-ante politics

penny arcade noun, pl ~ -cades [count] US : ARCADE 3

penny candy noun [noncount] US : candy that costs only a few pennies for each piece • bags of penny candy

penny loafer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] chiefly US : a shoe without laces that has a strap with a slit that a penny can fit into on the top of the shoe pen·ny-pinch-ing /'penɪ,pɪntʃɪŋ/ adj : not wanting to spend a lot of money : very careful or too careful about spending money • a *penny-pinch*ing shopper — pen·ny-pinch-er /'penɪ,pɪntʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • Her roommate was a real penny-pincher.

pen·ny-wise /'penɪ,wɑɪz/ adj

penny-wise and but pound-foolish : careful about small amounts of money but not about large amounts — used especially to describe something that is done to save a small amount of money now but that will cost a large amount of money in the future • The administration's plans to cut funding are penny-wise and pound-foolish.

pen pal noun, pl ~ pals [count] : a person (such as someone in a foreign country) who you exchange letters with even though you have never met — called also (Brit) pen friend

pen pusher noun, pl ~ pushers [count] Brit, informal : PAPER PUSHER

1 pen·sion /'pensən/ noun, pl -sions [count] : an amount of money that a company or the government pays to a person who is old or sick and no longer works • Her pension arrives in the mail every month. • collect/receive a pension • retired people living on/off their pensions • a job with pension benefits [=a job that pays a pension after a number of years of employment] • a pension fund [=money that a company invests in order to earn money to pay pensions]

2 pension verb -sions; -sioned; -sion-ing

pension off [phrasal verb] pension (someone) off or pension off (someone) chiefly Brit : to allow or force (an employee) to leave a job and accept a pension • She was pensioned off after 35 years with the company. [=she was forced to retire after 35 years with the company]

pen·sion·able /'pensənəbəl/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly Brit : allowing someone to receive a pension • The factory offered pensionable employment. [=a job that includes pension benefits] • Her husband had reached pensionable age. [=her husband was old enough to qualify for a pension] pen·sion·er /'pensənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly Brit : a person who receives or lives on a pension; especially : a person who receives a government pension • an old-age pensioner — compare OAP pension plan noun, pl ~ plans [count] : an arrangement made with an employer to pay money to an employee after retirement • I work for this company because they have a good pension plan. — called also (Brit) pension scheme

pen·sive /'pensɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : quietly sad or thoughtful • The child sat by himself, looking pensive. • a pensive young poet • a pensive mood/expression/sigh — pen·sive·ly adv • She stared pensively out the window. — pen·sive·ness noun [noncount]

pen·ta·gon /'pentə,gɑ:n/ noun, pl -gons

1 [count] mathematics : a flat shape that has five sides and five corners — see picture at GEOMETRY

2 the Pentagon a : the building in Washington, D.C., that is the headquarters of the U.S. Department of Defense • The general attended a meeting at the Pentagon. • Pentagon officials b : the leaders of the U.S. military • There was disagreement between the President and the Pentagon over the new military budget.

— pen·tag·o·nal /pen'tægənəl/ adj, mathematics • a pentagonal shape pent·a·gram /'pentə,græm/ noun, pl -grams [count] : a shape that is like a star with five points formed by five straight lines and that is often used as a magic or religious symbol pen·tam·e·ter /'pen'tæmətə/ noun [noncount] technical : a rhythm in poetry that has five stressed syllables in each line • a poem written in iambic pentameter

pen·tath·lon /pen'tæθlən/ noun, pl -lons [count] : a sports contest for men that consists of five different events • the winner of the Olympic pentathlon

— pen·tath·lete /pen'tæθli:t/ noun, pl -letes [count] • Olympic pentathletes

Pen·te·cost /'pentɪ,kɑ:st/ noun [noncount] : a Christian holiday on the seventh Sunday after Easter that celebrates the appearance of the Holy Spirit to the apostles — called also (Brit) Whit Sunday

Pen·te·cos·tal /,pentɪ'kɑ:stəl/ adj : of, relating to, or belonging to a Christian group that emphasizes the power of the Holy Spirit and the authority of the Bible • a Pentecostal church • Pentecostal beliefs • She's Pentecostal.

pent·house /'pent,haus/ noun, pl -hous-es [count] : an apartment on the top floor or roof of a building • a luxurious penthouse — often used before another noun • a penthouse suite/apartment

pent-up adj : held or kept inside : not released • The children were full of pent-up energy after the long car ride. • pent-up anger/frustration/enthusiasm/excitement pen·ul·ti·mate /prɪ'nʌltəmət/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : occurring immediately before the last one : next to the last • the penultimate chapter of the book [=the chapter that comes before the last chapter] • the penultimate syllable of the word pe·nu·ri·ous /pə'nɜ:riəs, Brit pə'njuəriəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very poor • penurious peasants • The penurious school system had to lay off several teachers.

pen·u·ry /'penjəri/ noun [noncount] formal : the state of being very poor : extreme poverty • struggling with penury • living in penury

pe·on /'pi:,ɑ:n/ noun, pl -ons [count]

1 US : a person who does hard or boring work for very little money : a person who is not very important in a society or organization • The new policy changes affect the whole department, from the manager down to the office peons. [=the lowest paid workers in the office] • "Those rich politicians don't care about peons like us," she complained.

2 : a poor farm worker especially in Latin America pe-o-ny /'pi:jəni/ noun, pl -nies [count] : a type of plant that has large round red, pink, or white flowers; also : the flower

1 peo-ple /'pi:pəl/ noun

1 [plural] a : individual human beings ♦ This sense of people is the plural of person. • We met all sorts of people on the trip. • rich/poor people • The neighbors are nice people. • The people next door own a dog. b : human beings as a group : all or most people • He doesn't care what people think of him. [=he doesn't care what anyone thinks of him] • People can be really cruel sometimes. • People think the coach should be fired. • She tends to annoy people. • People say it's impossible, but I'm still going to try.

2 [plural] : a group of people who share a quality, interest, etc. • a book for young people • the American people • The environmental people [=the people who are interested in protecting the environment] are against the town's plan to build more houses along the river. • city people [=people who live in cities] — often used in compounds • business*people* [=people whose jobs involve business] • sales*people*

3 pl peoples [count] : a group of people who make up a race, tribe, nation, etc. • a people who migrated across the Bering Strait • the native peoples of Mexico • peoples of Asia

4 a the people : the ordinary people in a country who do not have special power or privileges • She is well-liked as a senator because she listens to the people. • the common people • He is a man of the people. [=he is someone who understands or is like ordinary people] b the People US, law — used to refer to the government of the U.S. or of a particular state in the name of a legal case • The People vs. John Doe

5 [plural] : people who are related to or connected with someone; such as a literary : people who are ruled or governed by someone • The queen was loved by her people. b somewhat old-fashioned : family members : people you are related to • She is visiting her people [=folks, family] in Texas. • Where are your people from? c : the people who work for you or your company, organization, etc. • Our people are working hard to restore electricity to the city.

good people US, informal + old-fashioned : an honest, helpful, or morally good person • I like him; he's good people.

of all people — used to emphasize that a specified person is the person you most or least expect to do or know something • You, of all people, should know the answer to this. [=I expect you to know the answer to this] • My best friend, of all people, betrayed me. [=I was very surprised that my best friend betrayed me]

2 people verb peo-pled; peo-pled; peo-pling [+ obj] formal

1 of people : to live or be in (a place) — usually used as (be) peopled • The town is peopled [=inhabited] almost entirely by factory workers. • a campus peopled with students from around the world

2 : to put people in (something, such as a story) — usually used as (be) peopled • The story is peopled with odd characters. [=the characters in the story are odd]

people carrier noun, pl ~ -ers [count] Brit : MINIVAN people mover noun, pl ~ -ers [count]

1 US : a vehicle or moving surface that is used to take groups of people from one place to another • The airport has a people mover to bring passengers to the far terminals.

2 Brit : MINIVAN

people person noun [singular] : someone who enjoys being with or talking to other people • The company is looking for a people person to join their customer service staff.

people skills noun [plural] : the ability to work with or talk to other people in an effective and friendly way • Good people skills are important in customer service.

1 pep /'pep/ noun [noncount] somewhat old-fashioned : energy or enthusiasm • The young teacher was full of pep.

2 pep verb peps; pepped; pep-pling

pep up [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to become more lively or active • The economy has started to pep up in recent months. 2 pep (someone or something) up or pep up (someone or something) : to cause (someone or something) to become more lively or active • To pep up [=improve, increase] sales, the company is offering a free trial subscription for one month. • The coach tried to pep the team up.

1 pep-per /'pepə/ noun, pl -pers

1 [noncount] : a food seasoning that is made by grinding the dried berries of an Indian plant along with their hard, black covers : BLACK PEPPER • Please pass the salt and pepper. • freshly ground pepper — see also CAYENNE PEPPER, SALT-AND-PEPPER, WHITE PEPPER

2 [count] : a hollow vegetable that is usually red, green, or yellow and that is eaten raw or cooked • The steak was served with peppers and onions. • Be careful handling hot peppers. — see color picture on page C4; see also BELL PEPPER, GREEN PEPPER, RED PEPPER, SWEET PEPPER

2 pepper verb peppers; pep-pered; pep-per-ing [+ obj]

: to add pepper to (food) • You need to pepper the stew more. pepper with [phrasal verb] 1 pepper (someone or something) with (something) : to hit (someone) repeatedly with your fists or with objects • The boxer peppered his opponent with punches. • The goalie was peppered with shots. — often used figuratively • The reporters peppered her with questions. [=the reporters asked her a lot of questions] 2 pepper (something) with (something) a : to put a small amount of (something) on many different parts of (a surface) — usually used as (be) peppered with • His face is peppered with freckles. [=he has freckles on many different parts of his face] b : to put something in many places in (a story, speech, etc.) • She peppered the report with statistics.

pep-per-corn /'pepə,kɔ:n/ noun, pl -corns [count] : a dried berry from an Indian plant that is ground to make pepper

pep-per-mint /'pepə,mɪnt/ noun, pl -mints

1 [noncount] : a plant that produces an oil that is used especially to flavor candies

2 [count] : a candy flavored with peppermint pep-per-o-ni /,pepə'rouni/ noun [noncount] : a spicy sausage that is usually eaten on pizza

pepper shaker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : a small container with holes on top that is used to put small amounts of pepper on food — called also (Brit) pepper pot pepper spray noun, pl ~ sprays [count, noncount] : a substance made from a chemical found in peppers that causes temporary blindness and pain to the nose, throat, and skin when it is sprayed on someone • The police used pepper spray to bring the suspect under control.

pep-pery /'pepəri/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : containing pepper or having the qualities of pepper • a peppery soup/salad • a peppery flavor/smell

2 : having a lively, aggressive, or somewhat shocking quality • She's a peppery, outspoken woman. • peppery language pep pill noun, pl ~ pills [count] informal : a pill that contains a drug which makes you happier or gives you more energy for a short period of time pep-py /'pepi/ adj pep-pi-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] chiefly US, somewhat old-fashioned

1 : full of energy or enthusiasm • At 75 years old, he is as peppy as ever. • a group of peppy cheerleaders • The song was a peppy little dance number.

2 : able to move fast • a peppy [=zippy] little car pep rally noun, pl ~ rallies [count] US : an event before a school sports event that is meant to get students and fans excited and to encourage the team to win • The school held a pep rally in the gym before the football game; also : a similar event in which speakers try to get a group of people excited and enthusiastic about something • The mayor gave an inspiring speech at the party's pep rally.

pep talk noun, pl ~ talks [count] informal : a short speech that is given to encourage someone to work harder, to feel more confident and enthusiastic, etc. • The coach gave the team a pep talk before the game. • She needs a pep talk.

pep-tic ulcer /'peptik-/ noun, pl ~ -cers [count] medical : a painful sore inside the stomach or another part of the digestive system per /'pə/ prep

1 : for each • The pay is $12 per hour. [=for every hour you work, you will be paid $12] • The tickets are $25 per person. [=each ticket costs $25] • The speed limit is 35 miles per hour. • The car gets 32 miles per gallon. • He averages 15 points per game.

2 somewhat formal : as directed by or stated in : ACCORDING TO • Per your advice, I accepted their offer. • The work was done as per [=according to] your instructions. • As per usual [=as usual], I paid for our meal. [=I paid for our meal, which is what I usually do] per-am-bu-la-tor /pə'ræmbjə,leɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

 Brit : STROLLER

per an-num /pə'ænəm/ adv, somewhat formal : in or for each year • She earns $60,000 per annum. [= (more commonly) per year, annually] — abbr. p.a.

per cap-i-ta /pə'kæpətə/ adv : by or for each person • What is the average income per capita in the state? [=what is the average income for people in the state?; how much money does each person in the state earn on average?]

— per capita adj • The state's average per capita income is $35,000.

per-ceive /pə'si:v/ verb -ceives; -ceived; -ceiv-ing [+obj]

1 formal : to notice or become aware of (something) • I perceived [=noticed] that she had been crying. • The detective perceived [=saw] a change in the suspect's attitude.

2 : to think of (someone or something) as being something stated • She perceived herself as an independent woman. = She perceived herself to be an independent woman. — often used as (be) perceived • He is perceived as one of the best players in baseball.

— perceived adj • a perceived threat [=something that is thought of as being a threat]

per-cent (US) or Brit per cent /pə'sent/ noun, pl US per-cent or Brit per cent

1 [count] : one part in a hundred : an amount that is equal to one one-hundredth of something • The value has increased half a percent. • several percent — usually used with a number • Thirty percent [=3/10] of the class failed the test. • Water covers more than 70 percent of the Earth's surface.

2 [singular] : a part of a whole : PORTION • A large percent [= (more commonly) percentage] of their profits comes from online sales.

— percent (US) or Brit per cent adv • Gas prices rose 15 percent. [=15%] • I'm 99.9 percent sure that I am right. [=I am almost completely sure that I am right] • I agree with her 100 percent. [=I agree with her completely] • He feels 100 percent better. [=he feels completely healthy again]

— percent (US) or Brit per cent adj • I received a five percent [=5%] increase in my salary.

per-cent-age /pə'sentɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages

1 [count] : a number or rate that is expressed as a certain number of parts of something divided into 100 parts • If a goalie saves 96 out of 100 shots, his save percentage is 96 percent. • The percentages of women completing high school and college were 95 percent and 52 percent, respectively. • Interest rates fell two percentage points. [=interest rates fell two percent]

2 [singular] : a part of a whole : PORTION • What percentage of your income do you spend on rent? • A large percentage of students passed the test. [=most of the students passed the test]

3 [count] : a part or share of the profit earned when something is sold — usually singular • He gets a percentage for every car he sells.

no percentage informal — used to say that something should not be done because there is no chance that it will produce a good result • There's no percentage in arguing with them. They'll never change their minds.

per-cen-tile /pə'sen,tajəl/ noun, pl -tiles [count] : one of 100 equal parts that a group of people can be divided into in order to rank them • She scored in the 95th percentile in math. [=she got a higher score in math than 95 percent of her classmates] • His height and weight are in the 80th percentile for boys his age.

per-cep-ti-ble /pə'septəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be seen or noticed : able to be perceived • The sound was barely perceptible. • There was a perceptible change in the audience's mood.

— per-cep-ti-bly /pə'septəbli/ adv • The size has not changed perceptibly in three months. • It is perceptibly [=noticeably] cooler this evening.

per-cep-tion /pə'sepʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a [count] : the way you think about or understand someone or something — often + of • People's perceptions of this town have changed radically. • the public/public's perception of nuclear power — see also SELF-PERCEPTION b [non-count] somewhat formal : the ability to understand or notice something easily • She shows remarkable perception.

2 [noncount] somewhat formal : the way that you notice or understand something using one of your senses • visual/spatial perception — see also DEPTH PERCEPTION, EXTRASENSORY PERCEPTION

per-cep-tive /pə'septiv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing an ability to understand or notice something easily or quickly • a perceptive analysis/observation/comment • He is a very perceptive young man.

— per-cep-tive-ly adv • As one critic perceptively observes, the city itself is perhaps the most important character in the novel. — per-cep-tive-ness noun [noncount]

perch /pɜ:tʃ/ verb perch-es; perched; perch-ing

1 [no obj] : to sit on or be on something high or on something from which it is easy to fall — usually + on • Birds often perch on the ledge outside my window. • People perched on the railing to get a better view. • Their house perches on a rocky cliff.

2 [+ obj] : to put (someone or something) on something high or on something from which it is easy to fall • People perched themselves on the railing [=people sat on the railing] to get a better view. — usually used as (be) perched • He stood there in his coat, a small hat perched on/atop his head. • A bird was perched on the telephone wire. • Their house is perched on a rocky cliff. • The castle is perched high in among the hills of Scotland.

perch noun, pl perches [count]

1 : something (such as a tree branch) that a bird sits on • The bird flew down from its perch.

2 : a high seat or location • The lifeguard watches the swimmers from her perch.

— compare ³PERCH

perch noun, pl perch or perches [count, noncount] : a fish that lives in rivers and streams and that is eaten as food — compare ²PERCH per-chance /pə'tʃæns, Brit pə'tʃɑ:ns/ adv, old-fashioned + literary : maybe but not definitely : PERHAPS • "To sleep: per-chance to dream . . ." —Shakespeare, Hamlet

per-co-late /'pɜ:kə,leɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing

1 [no obj] : to pass slowly through something that has many small holes in it • The water percolates [=filters, seeps] through the sand. • Sunlight percolated down through the trees.

2 [no obj] : to spread slowly • Rumors percolated throughout the town.

3 : to make (coffee) in a special pot (called a percolator) [+obj] There is nothing like percolating coffee over an open campfire. [no obj] Coffee was percolating on the stove.

4 [no obj] a : to continue for a long time without obvious activity • The feud percolated [=simmered] for decades. b : to develop slowly • Ideas are always percolating [=simmering] in my mind.

per-co-la-tor /'pɜ:kə,leɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a covered pot that has a narrow tube in the center and that is used for making coffee per-cus-sion /pə'kʌʃən/ noun [noncount] : musical instruments (such as drums, cymbals, or xylophones) that you play by hitting or shaking • He plays percussion for the band. • The marimba is a percussion instrument. • The song features Tito Puente on percussion. [=Tito Puente plays percussion instruments for the song] • The percussion section [=the group of musicians who play percussion instruments in a band or orchestra] did a great job.

per-cus-sion-ist /pə'kʌʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who plays a percussion instrument per-cus-sive /pə'kʌsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : of or relating to a percussion instrument or to the sounds that a percussion instrument makes • The song had a punchy, percussive rhythm. • The language uses a lot of percussive sounds. [=sharp, short sounds that are similar to the sounds some percussion instruments make] per di-em /pə'di:jəm/ adv, formal : for each day : per day • Employees will be given $20 per diem for expenses.

— per diem adj, always used before a noun • a per diem allowance per diem noun, pl ~ -ems [count] US : an amount of money given to someone for daily expenses (such as food or fuel) • He received a $30 per diem for food.

per-di-tion /pə'dɪʃən/ noun [noncount] old-fashioned : the state of being in hell forever as punishment after death : DAMNATION • sinners condemned to eternal perdition — usually used figuratively • It's this kind of selfishness that leads down the road/path to perdition. [=that is very dangerous or harmful]

per-e-grine falcon /'perəgrən-/ noun, pl ~ -cons [count]

percussion

timpani, kettledrums

cymbals

snare drum

tambourine

bongos,
bongo drums

xylophone

bass drum

gong

conga, conga drum

: a type of hawk that can fly very fast and is sometimes trained to hunt — called also peregrine

pe·remp·to·ry /pə'remptəri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal
1 — used to describe an order, command, etc., that you must obey without any questions or excuses • a peremptory order/instruction from the court

2 disapproving : having or showing the insulting attitude of people who think that they should be obeyed without question : ARROGANT • Her peremptory tone/attitude angered me.

— pe·remp·to·ri·ly /pə'remptərəli/ adv

¹pe·ren·ni·al /pə'renɪjəl/ adj

1 of a plant : living for several years or for many years : having a life cycle that is more than two years long • a perennial plant • This variety of oregano is perennial. — compare ¹ANNUAL, ¹BIENNIAL

2 a : existing or continuing in the same way for a long time • Hot dogs are a perennial favorite at barbecues. [=people always like to eat hot dogs at barbecues] b : happening again and again • Flooding is a perennial problem for people living by the river.

— pe·ren·ni·al·ly adv • a perennially popular restaurant

²perennial noun, pl -als [count] : a plant that lives for several years or for many years : a perennial plant • Her garden is full of perennials. — compare ²ANNUAL, ²BIENNIAL

¹per·fect /'pəfɪkt/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] a : having no mistakes or flaws • a perfect [=flawless] diamond • Your teeth are perfect. • The car is in perfect [=mint] condition. • The performance was perfect. • I'm not perfect [=I make mistakes], but at least I can admit when I'm wrong. • He thought he had committed the perfect crime. [=a crime that is done so carefully that the criminal will never be caught] • Yes, you made a mistake, but it's okay; nobody's perfect [=everyone makes mistakes] • Students who have perfect attendance [=who have been present at every class] will get 10 extra points. • If you want to be a good writer, you should write every day. Remember, practice makes perfect [=you become better at something if you practice it often] — see also PICTURE-PERFECT b : completely correct or accurate • She spoke perfect English. • He drew a perfect circle. • a perfect replica c : having all the qualities you want in that kind of person, situation, etc. • She's a perfect baby. She hardly cries and she sleeps through the night. • His behavior is a perfect example of what not to do. • In a perfect world [=in the best possible situation], there would be no need for weapons.

2 [more ~; most ~] : exactly right for a particular purpose, situation, or person • This is a perfect time/place/day to have a wedding. • Going to the museum was a perfect way to spend a rainy day. • "Is that a big enough piece of pie?" "Yes, it's perfect, thanks." • You have perfect timing. [=your timing is exactly right; you are present, ready, etc., at exactly the right time] I just took dinner out of the oven. — often + for • I found the perfect [=ideal] gift for you. • They are a perfect match for each other. • That picture is perfect for this room. • The weather was perfect for a day at the beach.

3 always used before a noun : complete and total — used for emphasis • a perfect stranger/fool/angel/gentleman • You have a perfect right to be angry. • My cat and dog live together in perfect harmony.

²per·fect /pə'fekt/ verb -fects; -fect-ed; -fect-ing [+ obj] : to make (something good) perfect or better • He needs to perfect [=refine] his reading skills over the summer. • Scientists are still perfecting [=improving] the treatment.

³per·fect /'pəfɪkt/ noun

the perfect grammar : PERFECT TENSE • a verb that is in the perfect — see also FUTURE PERFECT, PAST PERFECT, PRESENT PERFECT perfect game noun, pl ~ games [count] baseball : a game in which a pitcher does not allow the batters from the other team to get a base hit or to get to first base in any other way per·fec·tion /pə'fɛkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the state or condition of being perfect [noncount] The coach expects perfection from his players. [=expects the players to make no mistakes] [singular] She has achieved a rare perfection in her playing. • a perfection of form

2 [noncount] : the act of making something perfect or better : the act of perfecting something — + of • the perfection of surgical techniques • She is working on the perfection of her art.

3 [noncount] : something that cannot be improved : something that is perfect • The meal was sheer perfection. [=the meal was perfect] • His poetry is pure perfection.

to perfection : in a way or to a degree that is exactly right • The steak was cooked to perfection. [=was perfectly cooked] per·fec·tion·ist /pə'fɛkʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who wants things to be done perfectly or who tries to do things perfectly • I'm a bit of a perfectionist, which makes it difficult for me to finish things sometimes.

— per·fec·tion·ism /pə'fɛkʃənɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • Perfectionism can make it difficult for people to finish things—they keep wanting to improve them.

per·fect·ly /'pəfɪktli/ adv

1 : in every way : COMPLETELY — used for emphasis • I was perfectly willing to help. • They are throwing out a perfectly good sofa. • It is perfectly normal/natural to feel nervous. • You know perfectly well what I mean. [=you know exactly what I mean] • To be perfectly honest, I don't want to go. • You are perfectly capable of doing it yourself. • The bridge is perfectly safe.

2 [more ~; most ~] : without errors, mistakes, or flaws : in a perfect way • She sang perfectly. [=she sang without making a mistake] • The dress fits perfectly. [=the dress is the right size] • The steak was perfectly cooked. • a perfectly formed rose perfect pitch noun [noncount] music : the ability to correctly name any musical note that you hear or to sing any musical note correctly without help • He has perfect pitch. —

sometimes used figuratively • a designer who has perfect pitch for color [=a designer who always chooses the best colors]

perfect tense noun, pl ~ tens-es [count] grammar : a verb tense that is used to refer to an action or state that is completed at the time of speaking or at a time spoken of per-fid-i-ous /pə'fidijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] literary : not able to be trusted • We were betrayed by a perfidious ally. : showing that someone cannot be trusted • perfidious [=treacherous] acts per-fi-dy /pə'fədi/ noun [noncount] literary : the act of betraying someone or something : the state of not being loyal • They are guilty of perfidy.

per-fo-rate /'pəfə'reit/ verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing [+ obj] : to make a hole or a series of holes in (something) • Cover the bowl with aluminum foil, and then use a fork to perforate the foil.

perforated adj

1 : having a hole or a series of holes • a perforated [=punctured] eardrum

2 of paper, cardboard, etc. : having a line of small holes to make tearing easy and neat • a pad with perforated sheets of paper

per-fo-ra-tion /,pəfə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a small hole or series of small holes in paper, cardboard, etc. — often plural • The perforations help you tear the paper neatly and easily.

2 medical : a hole in part of the body caused by an accident or disease [count] intestinal perforations [noncount] an infection that can cause perforation of the intestine per-force /pə'fəʊs/ adv, formal + literary — used to say that something is necessary or must be done • They must perform obey the law.

per-form /pə'fəʊm/ verb -forms; -formed; -form-ing

1 [+ obj] : to do an action or activity that usually requires training or skill • The doctor had to perform surgery immediately. • A team of six scientists performed [=carried out] the experiment. • He has been unable to perform [=complete, fulfill] his duties since the accident. • The magician performed some amazing tricks. • The gymnasts performed their routines perfectly. • You are required to perform 50 hours of community service. • The wedding (ceremony) was performed by a justice of the peace. = A justice of the peace performed the wedding (ceremony). • You can't expect me to perform miracles. [=to do something that is impossible]

2 : to entertain an audience by singing, acting, etc. [no obj] The band will be performing on the main stage. • She's a wonderful singer who loves to perform before a live audience. [+ obj] The band will perform songs from their new album. • The class performed the play for the school. • He performed [=acted] the part/role of Othello. [=he played Othello; he said the words and did the actions of the character Othello]

3 [no obj] — used to describe how effective or successful someone or something is • The stock market is performing well/badly. • The engine/computer was performing poorly. • I perform best under pressure.

per-for-mance /pə'fəʊməns/ noun, pl -man-c-es

1 [count] a : an activity (such as singing a song or acting in a play) that a person or group does to entertain an audience • This evening's performance will start at 8 o'clock. • The hall is usually used for orchestra performances. — sometimes used figuratively • That tearful apology was quite a performance—I almost believed you really were sorry. b : the way an actor performs a part in a play, movie, etc. • The critics loved her performance as the villain. • She gave a brilliant performance as the villain. [=she played the role of the villain brilliantly]

2 somewhat formal : the act of doing a job, an activity, etc. [noncount] the performance of procedures/activities/duties [singular] Event planners hope to avoid a repeat performance of last year's problems. [=hope that last year's problems will not happen again this year]

3 : how well someone or something functions, works, etc. : how well someone or something performs [count] A supervisor will evaluate each employee's performance. • employees with strong job performances • a student's academic performance • The team's performance last night was poor. [=the team performed/played poorly last night] • This car had the best overall performance. [=this car functioned better than all the other cars] • How has the company's stock performance been? [=has the value of the company's stock been increasing/decreasing?] [noncount] She was fired for poor job performance. [=she was fired for doing her job badly] • Employees are given an annual performance assessment/evaluation. • The gas additive improves engine performance. • an increased level of performance • We've introduced new performance levels/standards. • a bicyclist who was disqualified for taking performance-enhancing drugs [=drugs that improve your ability to do something] — see also HIGH PERFORMANCE

4 [singular] Brit, informal : an act that requires a lot of time and effort • Getting to the airport turned out to be a real performance [=production] because of the bridge construction.

performance art noun [noncount] : a type of art that is created in front of or presented to an audience by the artist — performance artist noun, pl ~ -ists [count]

per-form-er /pə'fəʊmə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person (such as an actor or a musician) who acts, sings, dances, etc., for an audience • The new actress joining the troupe is a seasoned performer.

2 : someone or something that works, functions, or behaves in a particular way : someone or something that performs well or badly • The top five performers of the sales team will receive a bonus. • The computer is a good performer at a reasonable price. • This stock has been a poor performer.

performing arts noun [plural] : types of art (such as music, dance, or drama) that are performed for an audience • workshops for visual and performing arts — usually used with the • a high school for the performing arts

per-fume /pə'fju:m/ noun, pl -fumes

1 : a liquid substance that you put on your body in small amounts in order to smell pleasant [noncount] Are you wearing perfume? • a bottle of perfume [count] She smelled the different perfumes at the store.

2 [count] : a pleasant smell • The perfume [=fragrance, scent] of lilies filled the room.

per-fume /pə'fju:m/ verb -fumes; -fumed; -fum-ing [+ obj]

1 literary : to fill or cover (something) with a pleasant smell • Roses perfumed the air. • The meal included a delicate fish perfumed with butter and herbs.

2 somewhat formal : to put perfume in or on (something) • a time when it was common for men to perfume their hair — per-fumed adj • perfumed soap/paper per-func-to-ry /pə'fʌŋktəri/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal — used to describe something that is done without energy or enthusiasm because of habit or because it is expected • a perfunctory smile/nod/salute • He made/issued a perfunctory statement supporting the mayor.

— per-func-to-ri-ly /pə'fʌŋktərəli/ adv • She smiled/nodded perfunctorily.

per-haps /pə'hæps/ adv : possibly but not certainly : MAY-BE Perhaps is a more formal word than maybe. It is used when you are talking about an action that might happen in the future. • Perhaps we'll meet again. • "Will you come with us?" "I don't know. Perhaps." • "Will you come with us?" "Perhaps, perhaps not." • "Perhaps I'll come with you and perhaps I won't." • They're hoping that she'll perhaps change her mind. = They're hoping that perhaps she'll change her mind. • You should hear from them soon, perhaps even by next week. = Perhaps you'll hear from them by next week. It is also used to suggest something that is possibly correct, true, or proper. • Perhaps we should just stay here and wait. • Perhaps it would be better if you left. • There were perhaps 10,000 people at the event. • The shed is 20, perhaps 25, feet long. • We waited an hour, perhaps more. • Perhaps it's time to think about your future. And perhaps can be used to say that one thing is true but that something else is also true. • Perhaps it's not as great as her first book, but it's still worth reading. • The instructions are still confusing, perhaps, but they're much better than they were before.

per-i-dot /'perə,dɑ:t/ noun, pl -dots [count, noncount] : a clear, yellowish-green stone that is used in jewelry — see color picture on page C11

peri-gee /'perə,dʒi:/ noun [singular] technical : the point in outer space where an object traveling around the Earth (such as a satellite or the moon) is closest to the Earth — compare APOGEE per-il /'perəl/ noun, pl -ils somewhat formal + literary

1 [noncount] : the possibility that you will be hurt or killed or that something unpleasant or bad will happen : DANGER • People are unaware of the peril these miners face each day.

— usually used in the phrase in peril • They put their lives in peril. [=in jeopardy] • The species is in peril [= (more commonly) in danger] of dying out. • His career is in peril.

2 [count] : something that is likely to cause injury, pain, harm, or loss : DANGER • She described global warming as “a growing peril.” — usually plural • the perils of childbirth • They faced many perils in their journey through the region. at your (own) peril — used to say that if you do something you should be aware that it is dangerous and that you could be harmed, injured, punished, etc. • No lifeguard is on duty: swim at your own peril. [=at your own risk] • Restaurants that ignore the smoking ban do so at their peril.

per-il-ous /ˈperələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal + literary : full of danger : DANGEROUS • a perilous journey across the mountains • The climb was perilous.

— per-il-ous-ly adv • He leaned perilously over the edge of the boat. • She came perilously close to drowning. [=she almost drowned] • The company was perilously close to bankruptcy.

pe-rim-e-ter /pəˈrɪmətə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] a : the outside edge of an area or surface — often + of • The soldiers defended the perimeter of the camp. • They put up a fence around the perimeter of the yard. b : the total length of the lines that form a shape — often + of • The perimeter of the rectangle is 24 inches.

2 the perimeter basketball : the area on a basketball court that is not close to the basket • He scored from the perimeter.

peri-na-tal /ˌperəˈneɪtəl/ adj, medical : happening during or around the time of birth • The doctor took steps to prevent perinatal infection. • perinatal death

pe-ri-od /ˈpiːrɪəd/ noun, pl -ods [count]

1 : a length of time during which a series of events or an action takes place or is completed • We have had two power failures in a five-month period. • The period between Christmas and New Year's Eve is a very busy one for us. — often + of • Two snowstorms hit the area in a period of one week. • There was a brief period of silence. • The country is in a period of economic growth. • Scattered showers are expected with a few periods of sunshine. • We didn't speak for a long period of time. — see also COOLING-OFF PERIOD

2 : a length of time that is very important in the history of the world, a nation, etc. • We are studying our country's colonial period.

3 : a time that is very important in the life of a person • Picasso's Blue Period • Children go through many changes during the period of adolescence.

4 a : one of the parts that a school day is divided into • I have algebra class during third period. b : one of the parts that the playing time of a game (such as hockey) is divided into • He scored a goal in the first period. • The score was tied after two periods.

5 US a : a point, used to show the end of a sentence or an abbreviation — called also (Brit) full stop • b — used in speech to emphasize that a decision, command, or opinion has been made and will not be changed • You are not leaving this house, period. • I don't want to talk to her again, period.

6 : MENSTRUAL PERIOD

2 period /ˈpiːrɪəd/ adj, always used before a noun : of, relating to, or typical of a particular time in history • period costumes/furniture • a period play pe-ri-od-ic /ˌpiːriˈɑːdɪk/ adj, always used before a noun : happening regularly over a period of time • He takes the car in for periodic oil changes. • She makes periodic [=regular] payments to the bank.

— pe-ri-od-i-cal-ly /ˌpiːriˈɑːdɪkli/ adv • The directory is updated periodically.

pe-ri-od-i-cal /ˌpiːriˈɑːdɪkəl/ noun, pl -cals [count] : a magazine that is published every week, month, etc. • She writes for a monthly periodical. • The library has a large collection of scholarly periodicals.

periodic table noun [singular] chemistry : a list that shows the chemical elements arranged according to their properties period piece noun, pl ~ pieces [count] : something (such as a play, a movie, or a piece of furniture) that is from, set in, or typical of a particular time in history peri-pa-tet-ic /ˌperəpəˈtɛtɪk/ adj, formal : going from place to place usually as part of your job • She worked as a peripatetic journalist for most of her life. • He had a peripatetic career as a salesman.

1 pe-riph-er-al /pəˈrɪfərəl/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] formal : not relating to the main or most important part • If we focus too much on peripheral issues, we will lose sight of the goal. — often + to • His role in the negotiations was peripheral to the outcome. [=his role in the negotiations was not important in deciding the outcome]

2 computers : connected to a computer but not an essential part of it • peripheral devices/equipment such as modems and scanners

3 : of or relating to the area that is to the side of the area you are looking at • He saw in his peripheral vision that a car was trying to pass him.

4 medical : of or relating to the part of the nervous system that is separate from the brain and spinal cord • peripheral nerves • the peripheral nervous system

— pe-riph-er-al-ly adv • He was only peripherally involved in the sale of the house. [=he played a small part in the sale of the house]

2 peripheral noun, pl -als [count] computers : a piece of equipment (such as a printer, speaker, etc.) that is connected to a computer but is not an essential part of it • computer peripherals

pe-riph-ery /pəˈrɪfəri/ noun, pl -er-ies [count] formal : the outside edge of an area : the area that surrounds a place or thing — often + of • A fence was built around the periphery of the site. • The factory is located on the periphery of the city. — often used figuratively • the periphery of society • There was little we could do as we watched the case unfold from the periphery. [=we were not actively involved so there was little we could do] peri-scope /ˈperəˌskəʊp/ noun, pl -scopes [count] : a long tube that contains lenses and mirrors and that is used to look over or around something and especially by a person in a submarine to see above the surface of the water per-ish /ˈperɪʃ/ verb -ish-es; -ished; -ish-ing [no obj]

1 formal + literary : to die or be killed • Two people perished in the fire. • The sailors perished at sea.

2 formal : to disappear or be destroyed : to cease to exist • The civilization perished after 500 years. • Many ancient languages have perished over time.

3 Brit : to slowly break apart by a natural process • The rubber will perish with age.

perish the thought — used to say that you hope that something does not happen or to say that something will not happen • Who would take over as goalie if, perish the thought, he got injured? • What? Me help him out? Perish the thought.

per-ish-able /ˈperɪʃəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : likely to spoil or decay quickly : not likely to stay fresh for a long time if not eaten or used • perishable foods per-ish-ables /ˈperɪʃəbəlz/ noun [plural] : foods that are perishable • You should store perishables in the refrigerator.

perished adj, not used before a noun, Brit, informal : very cold • We were all perished.

perishing adj, Brit, informal

1 : very cold • It is perishing out here. • Why don't we light a fire? I am perishing. • a perishing cold day

2 old-fashioned : very annoying • a perishing nuisance peri-to-ni-tis /ˌperətəˈnartəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious condition in which the covering of the stomach, intestines, and nearby organs becomes swollen and infected per-i-win-kle /ˈperɪˌwɪŋkəl/ noun, pl -win-kles

1 [count] : a plant with blue or white flowers that spreads along the ground

2 [count, noncount] : a light purplish blue color — called also periwinkle blue

3 [count] : a small snail that lives in the sea and that can be eaten per-jure /ˈpɛdʒə/ verb -jures; -jured; -jur-ing

perjure yourself law : to tell a lie in a court of law after promising to tell the truth : to commit perjury • He perjured himself before the court by giving a false testimony.

— per-jur-er /ˈpɛdʒərə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

per-ju-ry /ˈpɛdʒəri/ noun [noncount] law : the crime of telling a lie in a court of law after promising to tell the truth • He was found guilty of perjury.

1 perk /ˈpɜːk/ verb perks; perked; perk-ing

perk up [phrasal verb] informal • 1 a : to become more lively or cheerful • We perked up when we heard the good news.

b perk (someone) up or perk up (someone) : to make (someone) more lively or cheerful • The good news perked everyone up. 2 perk (something) up or perk up (some- thing) : to make (something) fresher or more appealing • The new paint job really perked up the room. 3 chiefly US a perk (ears) up or perk up (ears) of an animal : to lift (the ears) in a quick or alert way • The dog heard its name and perked up its ears. — sometimes used without up • The dog perked its ears. — often used figuratively of a person • I perked up my ears [=I began to listen closely] when I heard his name mentioned. b of ears : to be lifted in a quick and alert way • The dog's ears perked up. — often used figuratively of a person • My ears perked up [=I began to listen closely] when she said she knew my brother.

— compare ²PERK

²perk verb perks; perked; perk-ing [no obj] chiefly US, informal : PERCOLATE 3 • Start the coffee perking. — compare ¹PERK

³perk noun, pl perks [count]

1 : something extra that someone receives in addition to regular pay for doing a job — usually plural • The job came with several perks, including use of a company car.

2 : a good thing that you have or get because of your situation — usually plural • One of the perks of being a celebrity is that people often want to give you things.

perky /'pɜːki/ adj perk-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : lively in manner or appearance • a perky teenager • He hasn't been his perky self lately. • She drove around in a perky little car.

— perk-i-ness noun [noncount]

¹perm /'pɜːm/ noun, pl perms [count] : a process in which someone's hair is curled and treated with chemicals so that it remains curly for a long time • She got a perm last week.

²perm verb perms; permed; perm-ing [+ obj] : to make (hair) curly for a long time by using chemicals : to give a perm to (hair) • She got her hair permed at the salon.

per-ma-frost /'pɜːməˌfrɔːst/ noun [noncount] technical : a layer of soil that is always frozen in very cold regions of the world

¹per-ma-nent /'pɜːməˌnɛnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : lasting or continuing for a very long time or forever : not temporary or changing • She made a permanent home in this country. • Prolonged exposure to the sun can cause permanent skin damage. • The museum's permanent collection includes works of art from the 18th century. • The transcripts will serve as a permanent record of the proceedings.

— per-ma-nence /'pɜːməˌnɛns/ noun [noncount] • the permanence of the written word — per-ma-nen-cy /'pɜːməˌnɛnsi/ noun [noncount] — per-ma-nent-ly adv • He was permanently banned from the store.

²permanent noun, pl -nents [count] US, old-fashioned : ¹PERM per-me-able /'pɜːmiˌjəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] technical : allowing liquids or gases to pass through • The cell has a permeable membrane. • permeable limestone — per-me-abil-i-ty /'pɜːmiˌjəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount] • They tested the permeability of the fabric.

per-me-ate /'pɜːmiˌeɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing formal : to pass or spread through (something) [+ obj] The water permeated the sand. • The smell of baking bread permeated the kitchen. • A feeling of anxiety permeated the office as we rushed to meet the deadline. [no obj] The rain permeated through/into the soil.

per-mis-si-ble /'pɜːˈmɪsəbəl/ adj, formal : allowed or permitted by laws or rules • permissible levels of noise — often + to • It is not permissible for students to wear hats in school. — opposite IMPERMISSIBLE per-mis-sion /'pɜːˈmɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the right or ability to do something that is given by someone who has the power to decide if it will be allowed or permitted • They got/received permission from the city to build an apartment complex. • The teacher gave me her permission to go home early. • He asked (for) my permission to paint his room. • You have my permission.

per-mis-sive /'pɜːˈmɪsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] often disapproving : giving people a lot of freedom or too much freedom to do what they want to do • permissive parents • a permissive society • Some states have more permissive laws than others.

— per-mis-sive-ness noun [noncount] • He sometimes takes advantage of the permissiveness of his parents.

¹per-mit /'pɜːˈmɪt/ verb -mits; -mit-ted; -mit-ting [+ obj] a : to allow (something) to happen : to give permission for (something) • The judge permitted the release of the prisoner. • Smoking is not permitted in the building. •

When we arrived at customs we realized we had more than the permitted number of items. b : to allow (someone) to do or have something • He permitted himself one more cookie. — often followed by to + verb • Her parents will not permit them to marry. • He was not permitted to serve on the jury. • (formal) Permit me to offer my congratulations on your victory. [=I would like to congratulate you on your victory] 2 : to make something possible [no obj] If time permits [=if there is enough time left], we can go out to eat later. • The picnic will be held at the park, weather permitting. [=if the weather is good enough to allow it] [+ obj] The new ramp permits easier access to the highway.

²per-mit /'pɜːˈmɪt/ noun, pl -mits [count] : an official document that shows that a person is allowed to do or have something • He got a fishing/work permit. • The city will issue the permit. • You cannot park here without a permit. • A permit is required to own a gun. — see also LEARNER'S PERMIT per-mu-ta-tion /ˌpɜːmjuˈteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : one of the many different ways or forms in which something exists or can be arranged — usually plural • Computer technology, in all of its permutations, is here to stay. • Early permutations of the design look nothing like the final result. • I have heard various permutations of this theory.

per-ni-cious /'pɜːnɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : causing great harm or damage often in a way that is not easily seen or noticed • More pernicious still has been the acceptance of the author's controversial ideas by the general public. • the pernicious effects of jealousy • She thinks television has a pernicious influence on our children.

— per-ni-cious-ly adv

per-nick-e-ty /'pɜːˈnɪkəti/ adj [more ~; most ~] Brit, informal + disapproving : PERSNICKETY per-ora-tion /ˌpɜːəˈreɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal

1 : the last part of a speech

2 disapproving : a long and dull speech • We sat through a lengthy peroration on the evils of the government's policies.

per-ox-ide /'pɜːrɔːkˌsaɪd/ noun [noncount] : a chemical that is used chiefly to kill bacteria or to make hair lighter in color — see also HYDROGEN PEROXIDE

perp /'pɜːp/ noun, pl perps [count] US slang : a person who commits a crime or does something wrong • The victim wasn't able to identify the perp. [=perpetrator]

per-pen-dic-u-lar /ˌpɜːpənˈdɪkjələ/ adj : going straight up or to the side at a 90 degree angle from another line or surface • a perpendicular line • She lives on the street that is perpendicular to mine. • a perpendicular cliff [=a cliff that goes straight up] — compare PARALLEL

— per-pen-dic-u-lar-ly adv • The two cars were parked perpendicularly to each other.

per-pe-trate /'pɜːpəˌtreɪt/ verb -trates; -trat-ed; -trat-ing [+ obj] formal : to do (something that is illegal or wrong) • The men were planning to perpetrate a robbery. • The attack was perpetrated by a street gang. • He vowed revenge for the crime perpetrated on his family.

— per-pe-tra-tion /ˌpɜːpəˌtreɪʃən/ noun [noncount] — per-pe-tra-tor /'pɜːpəˌtreɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • The police caught the perpetrators who robbed the bank.

per-pet-u-al /'pɜːpɛtʃəwəl/ adj

1 : continuing forever or for a very long time without stopping • The region is in a state of perpetual war. • He seems to have a perpetual grin on his face. • (humorous) the perpetual student/bachelor

2 : happening all the time or very often • Lack of government funding has been a perpetual [=constant] problem for the organization. • the perpetual demands of parenthood — per-pet-u-al-ly adv • The two civilizations were perpetually at war.

per-pet-u-ate /'pɜːpɛtʃəˌweɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] formal : to cause (something that should be stopped, such as a mistaken idea or a bad situation) to continue • He perpetuates the myth that his house is haunted. • Fears about an epidemic are being perpetuated by the media.

— per-pet-u-a-tion /ˌpɜːpɛtʃəˌweɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • The perpetuation of these lies will not help our cause.

per-pe-tu-ity /ˌpɜːpəˌtuːwəti, Brit ˌpɜːpəˌtjuːwəti/ noun [noncount] formal : the state of continuing forever or for a very long time • The land will be passed on from generation to generation in perpetuity. [=forever]

per-plex /'pɜːˈpleks/ verb -plex-es; -plexed; -plex-ing [+ obj] : to confuse (someone) very much • Her attitude perplexes me. = I am perplexed by her attitude. • Questions about the meaning of life have always perplexed humankind.

per-plexed /pəˈplekst/ adj [more ~; most ~] : unable to understand something clearly or to think clearly : CONFUSED • He gave her a perplexed look. • The explanation left me thoroughly perplexed.

— per-plexed-ly /pəˈpleksədli/ adv • The boy stared perplexedly at the chalkboard.

perplexing adj [more ~; most ~] : difficult to understand : CONFUSING • perplexing questions/problems • His sudden change of attitude is very perplexing.

per-plex-i-ty /pəˈpleksəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the state of being very confused because something is difficult to understand • There was a look of perplexity on his face. • He stared at her in perplexity.

2 [count] : something that is confusing and difficult to understand • We will never solve all of the perplexities of life.

per-qui-site /ˈpəkwəzət/ noun, pl -sites [count] formal : ³PERK • Use of the company's jet is a perquisite of the job.

per-ry /ˈperi/ noun, pl -ries [count, noncount] Brit : an alcoholic drink made from pears per se /pəˈsei/ adv, formal : by, of, or in itself — used to indicate that something is being considered by itself and not along with other things • She feels that there is nothing wrong with gambling per se, but she thinks that it should be done in moderation.

per-se-cute /ˈpəsiˌkjuːt/ verb -cutes; -cut-ed; -cut-ing [+ obj]

1 : to treat (someone) cruelly or unfairly especially because of race or religious or political beliefs • The country's leaders relentlessly persecuted those who fought against the regime. • They were persecuted for their beliefs. • a persecuted minority/people

2 : to constantly annoy or bother (someone) • He complained about being persecuted [=harassed] by the media.

— per-se-cu-tion /ˌpəsiˈkjuːʃən/ noun [noncount] They were victims of religious persecution. • He was forced to flee the country to avoid persecution. [count] the persecutions of ethnic minorities — per-se-cu-tor /ˈpəsiˌkjuːtə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

per-se-ver-ance /ˌpəsəˈvɪərəns/ noun [noncount] : the quality that allows someone to continue trying to do something even though it is difficult • His perseverance was rewarded: after many rejections, he finally found a job. • Perseverance is required to perfect just about any skill.

per-se-vere /ˌpəsəˈviə/ verb -veres; -vered; -ver-ing [no obj] : to continue doing something or trying to do something even though it is difficult • She persevered in her studies and graduated near the top of her class. • Even though he was tired, he persevered and finished the race.

— persevering adj [more ~; most ~] • If you are persevering, I am convinced you will find a job. • a very determined and persevering young woman

Per-sian cat /ˈpəzən-, Brit ˈpəːʃən-/ noun, pl ~ cats [count] : a type of cat that has a round head and long, soft fur per-sim-mon /pəˈsɪmən/ noun, pl -mons [count] : a small, round, orange fruit per-sist /pəˈsɪst/ verb -sists; -sist-ed; -sist-ing [no obj]

1 : to continue to do something or to try to do something even though it is difficult or other people want you to stop • She had turned him down for a date before, but he persisted and asked her again. • The reporter persisted with his questioning. • If you persist with this behavior, you will be punished. • Must you persist in making that noise?

2 : to continue to occur or exist beyond the usual, expected, or normal time • If the pain persists, see a doctor. • Doubts about the defendant's story have persisted for some time now. • Rumors persist that they are dating.

per-sis-tence /pəˈsɪstəns/ noun [noncount]

1 : the quality that allows someone to continue doing something or trying to do something even though it is difficult or opposed by other people • He admired her dogged persistence in pursuing the job. • His persistence in asking for a raise was finally rewarded. • She has shown a lot of persistence.

2 : the state of occurring or existing beyond the usual, expected, or normal time — usually + of • The persistence of the rash worried him.

per-sis-tent /pəˈsɪstənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : continuing to do something or to try to do something even though it is difficult or other people want you to stop • We were nagged by a persistent salesman. • He is one of the government's most persistent critics. • She has been persistent in pursuing the job.

2 : continuing beyond the usual, expected, or normal time : not stopping or going away • He has been fighting a persistent cold/infection. • Flooding has been a persistent problem in the area this year. • Persistent rumors that the business is for sale have alarmed the staff.

— per-sis-tent-ly adv • He has persistently denied the charges.

persistent vegetative state noun [singular] medical : an unconscious state that is the result of severe brain damage and that can last for a very long time per-snick-e-ty /pəˈsnɪkəti/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal + disapproving : giving a lot of attention to details that are minor or not important • a persnickety teacher • The editor is persnickety [= (Brit) pernickety] about comma usage.

per-son /ˈpɜːsn/ noun, pl people or per-sons [count] ♦ The plural of person is usually people except in formal or legal contexts, where the plural is often persons.

1 a : a human being • She is a very nice/shy/interesting person. • I saw a person standing on the dock. • Any person who wants a refund must have a receipt. • Most people here are quite friendly. • The tickets are $25 per person. • The person at the front desk will be able to help you. • The tax break is only applicable to persons in a high income bracket. • I like her as a person, but she is not a very good writer. • The disease is easily transmitted from person to person. — sometimes used in compounds to avoid using man or woman • a spokesperson • salespeople — see also MISSING PERSON b : a person who likes or enjoys something specified • Our new friends are real party people. [=our new friends like parties] • I'm just not a city person. [=I do not like the city very much] • She's always been a cat person. [=she likes cats a lot] — see also PEOPLE PERSON

2 pl persons law : the body or clothing of a person especially when considered as a place to hide things • He was arrested for having a gun on his person without a permit. [=he was arrested for carrying a gun without having a gun permit] • The dogs discovered that the men were hiding drugs about their persons.

in person — used to say that a person is actually present at a place • The president appeared in person at the ceremony. • They met in person after speaking on the phone. • You will need to sign for the package in person.

in the person of formal — used to say that someone is the person who does something, provides something, etc. • Relief during the blackout arrived in the person of my brother, who brought flashlights and candles.

— see also FIRST PERSON, SECOND PERSON, THIRD PERSON per-so-na /pəˈsəʊnə/ noun, pl per-so-nae /pəˈsəʊni/ or per-so-nas [count] : the way you behave, talk, etc., with other people that causes them to see you as a particular kind of person : the image or personality that a person presents to other people • His public persona is that of a strong, determined leader, but in private life he's very insecure. • The band takes on a whole new persona when they perform live. — see also DRAMATIS PERSONAE, PERSONA NON GRATA per-son-able /ˈpɜːsənəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : friendly or pleasant in manner : easy to get along with • The hostess was very personable. • He is a personable young man.

per-son-age /ˈpɜːsənɪdʒ/ noun, pl -ages [count] formal : an important or famous person • The premiere was attended by no less a personage than the president himself.

per-son-al /ˈpɜːsənəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun a : belonging or relating to a particular person • personal property/belongings • This is just my personal opinion/preference. • I can only tell you what I know from personal experience. • He added his own personal touches to the recipe. • We don't accept personal checks. • He is a personal friend of mine. • She is always concerned about her personal appearance. • We provide each of our customers with personal service. • Golf is a personal interest of mine. b : made or designed to be used by one person • a personal stereo c — used to describe someone whose job involves working for or helping a particular person • She has her own personal chauffeur. • the director's personal assistant • a personal trainer

2 a [more ~; most ~] : relating to a person's private feelings, thoughts, problems, etc. • May I ask you a personal question? • That information is very personal, and you have no business asking about it. b : relating to the parts of your life that do not involve your work or job • He doesn't speak much about his personal life. • The company car is not for personal use. • I had to leave work early because I had some personal matters/problems/issues to take care of. • Is the letter personal or about business? • a personal phone call C — used to describe the feelings of two people who know and deal with each other • We have a close personal relationship. • He is a good boss, but I don't get along with him on a personal level.

3 [more ~; most ~] : relating to a particular person's character, appearance, opinions, etc., in a way that is offensive or hurtful • His speech included some personal remarks about me that I found offensive. • He took her comment as a personal insult. • It's nothing personal [=I don't mean to offend you], but I'd rather not talk to you about it. • Nothing personal, but why are you still friends with him? • Let's not get personal here.

4 always used before a noun : done by a particular person instead of by someone else who is working or acting for that person • The mayor made a personal appearance at the ceremony. • I shall give the matter my (own) personal attention.

5 always used before a noun : relating to a person's physical body or health • It's important to practice good personal hygiene. • personal care products personal ad noun, pl ~ ads [count] : a short message in a special section of a newspaper, magazine, etc., that is written by someone who is interested in forming a friendly or romantic relationship with someone else

personal column noun

the personal column Brit : PERSONALS

personal computer noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a small computer designed for use by one person at home or in an office — called also PC

personal digital assistant noun, pl ~ -tants [count] : PDA personal foul noun, pl ~ fouls [count] basketball : a foul that involves physical contact with an opponent — compare TECHNICAL FOUL

per-son·al·i·ty /ˌpɜːsəˈnæləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 : the set of emotional qualities, ways of behaving, etc., that makes a person different from other people [count] He has a very pleasant/strong personality. • We all have different personalities. • There was a clash of personalities [=a disagreement between people with different personalities] in the office. [noncount] The psychiatrist considered behavior as well as personality before prescribing a treatment. — often used before another noun • personality disorders/traits — see also SPLIT PERSONALITY

2 a [noncount] : attractive qualities (such as energy, friendliness, and humor) that make a person interesting or pleasant to be with • He has lots of personality. b : attractive qualities that make something unusual or interesting • He wants to buy a car that has personality. • The city lacks personality.

3 [count] a : a person who is famous • She has met many television personalities. • a sports/radio personality b : a person who is unusual or different from other people in a noticeable way • He was an influential personality in genetic engineering.

cult of personality or personality cult : a situation in which a public figure (such as a political leader) is deliberately presented to the people of a country as a great person who should be admired and loved per-son·al·ize also Brit per-son·al·ise /ˈpɜːsənəˌlaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj]

1 : to mark (something) in a way that shows it belongs to a particular person — usually used as (be) personalized • The stationery was personalized with her initials.

2 : to change or design (something) for a particular person — usually used as (be) personalized • The computer program can be personalized to fit your needs.

— personalized also Brit personalised adj • The children have personalized towels with their names sewn in. • You can receive personalized service at the salon. • a personalized license plate

per-son·al·ly /ˈpɜːsənəli/ adv

1 — used to say that something was done or will be done by a particular person and not by someone else • He said he would attend to the matter personally. • I personally approved the changes. • She personally replied to my letter.

2 — used to say that someone knows a person or thing from personal experience and not because of someone else • “Do you know him personally?” “No, but my friend does.”

3 : in a way that involves a particular person and no one else • You will be held personally responsible for any losses or damages. • The player was personally criticized by his coach.

• He blamed me personally for causing the problem. • I was personally offended by the article.

4 : in a way that relates to a particular person and is offensive or hurtful • He didn't mean it personally. • Don't take my comments personally.

5 — used to say what your opinion is • Personally, I liked the first version more. = I personally liked the first version more.

6 : in a way that involves someone's personal life rather than someone's work or job • I knew him both personally and professionally.

personal pronoun noun, pl ~ -nouns [count] grammar : a pronoun (such as I, you, they, or it) that is used to refer to a specific person or thing per-son·als /ˈpɜːsənəlz/ noun

the personals US : a special section of a newspaper, magazine, etc., where people can place short personal messages (called personal ads) — called also (Brit) the personal column personal space noun [noncount] : the amount of space between you and another person that makes you feel comfortable being near that person • You are invading my personal space.

per-so·na non gra·ta /pəˌsounəˌnɑːnˈgrɑːtə/ noun [noncount] : someone who is not accepted or welcome by other people • His shocking book about the movie industry has made him persona non grata in Hollywood.

per-son·i·fi·ca·tion /pəˌsɔːnəfəˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] a : a person who has a lot of a particular quality and who is the perfect example of someone who has that quality — often + of • Your father is the personification of kindness and generosity. [=he is very kind and generous] • He is the personification of evil. b : an imaginary person that represents a thing or idea — often + of • Uncle Sam is the personification of the U.S. government.

2 : the practice of representing a thing or idea as a person in art, literature, etc. [noncount] the use of personification in a story [count] a personification of justice as a woman with her eyes covered per-son·i·fy /pəˌsɔːnəˌfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to have a lot of (a particular quality) : to be the perfect example of a person who has (a quality) • She personifies kindness. = She is kindness personified. [=she is a very kind person]

2 : to think of or represent (a thing or idea) as a person or as having human qualities or powers • The ancient Greeks personified the forces of nature as gods and goddesses. • Justice is personified as a woman with her eyes covered.

per-son·nel /ˈpɜːsənəl/ noun, pl personnel

1 [plural] : the people who work for a particular company or organization • Over 10,000 military personnel were stationed in the country. • They've reduced the number of personnel working on the project. • medical/security/administrative personnel

2 [noncount] : a department within a company or organization that deals with the people who work for it : HUMAN RESOURCES • Talk to personnel if you have any questions about your health insurance. • She's the director of personnel. — often used before another noun • the personnel director/manager/department personnel carrier noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a vehicle with thick, strong walls that is used for transporting military workers and their equipment • armored personnel carriers person-to-person adj : involving two people or going directly from one person to another person • person-to-person communication • person-to-person meetings • a person-to-person phone call — person-to-person adv • The reporter talked person-to-person with the hostage.

per-spec-tive /pəˈspektɪv/ noun, pl -tives

1 : a way of thinking about and understanding something (such as a particular issue or life in general) [count] He helped us see the problem from a new perspective. [=angle, point of view] • The story is told from the perspective of a teenage boy in the 1940s. • marriage as seen from a male/female perspective • From an economic perspective, the policy has some merit. • a critique of the war from a historical perspective — often + on • My grandmother has a surprisingly modern perspective [=outlook] on life. • They had totally different perspectives on the war. [noncount] He had a complete change of perspective after his illness.

2 [noncount] a : a condition in which a person knows which things are important and does not worry or think about unimportant things • He had lost all sense of perspective and believed that his life was ruined. — often used after in or into • She helped him put his life in proper perspective. • Seeing how difficult their lives are has really put my problems into perspective. b : the ability to understand which things are truly important and which things are not • Try to keep/maintain your perspective and not get too worried about it. • I was trying to gain some perspective on the things that I learned in college. [=I was deciding which things were important and which things were not]

3 [count] : the angle or direction that a person uses to look at an object • She drew the building from several different perspectives. • From this perspective, the city looks peaceful.

4 [noncount] : a way of showing depth or distance in a painting or drawing by making the objects that are far away smaller and making the objects that are closer to the viewer larger • I admire her use of perspective in her paintings. • a drawing done in perspective = a perspective drawing

Per-spex /pəˈspɛks/ trademark, Brit — used for a type of clear plastic per-spi-ca-cious /ˌpəspəˈkeɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing an ability to notice and understand things that are difficult or not obvious • She considers herself a perspicacious [=shrewd, astute] judge of character. • The critic made some perspicacious [=insightful] observations about the film.

— per-spi-ca-cious-ly adv — per-spi-cac-i-ty /ˌpəspəˈkæsi/ noun [noncount] • her intellectual perspicacity

per-spi-ra-tion /ˌpəspəˈreɪʃən/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal

1 : the clear liquid that forms on your skin when you are hot or nervous : SWEAT • She wiped the perspiration from her forehead.

2 : the act or process of perspiring • Drink plenty of water to replace the liquid lost by perspiration. [=sweating] per-spire /pəˈspajə/ verb -spires; -spired; -spir-ing [no obj] somewhat formal : to produce a clear liquid from your skin when you are hot or nervous : SWEAT • I was nervous and could feel myself start to perspire. • She ran two miles and wasn't even perspiring.

per-suade /pəˈsweɪd/ verb -suades; -suad-ed; -suad-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone) to do something by asking, arguing, or giving reasons • He persuaded his friend to go back to school. • She couldn't be persuaded to go. • He would not let himself be persuaded into buying the more expensive stereo. • I am not easily persuaded. — compare DISSUADE

2 : to cause (someone) to believe something : CONVINC • They persuaded us that we were wrong. • He persuaded himself that he had made the right choice.

per-sua-sion /pəˈsweɪʒən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [noncount] : the act of causing people to do or believe something : the act or activity of persuading people • It would take a lot of persuasion to get him to agree to such an offer. • Most kids don't need much persuasion to use computers. • Many voters are still open to persuasion. [=many voters can still be persuaded to change their opinions] • She used her powers of persuasion [=her ability to persuade people] to convince them to buy the house.

2 [count] formal : a particular type of belief or way of thinking • an individual's religious/moral persuasion • people of all different persuasions — sometimes used humorously to refer to a particular type of person or thing • artists of the female/feminine persuasion [=artists who are women]

per-sua-sive /pəˈsweɪsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to cause people to do or believe something : able to persuade people • We weren't shown any persuasive evidence that he had committed the crime. • a very persuasive [=convincing] argument • a persuasive salesman

— per-sua-sive-ly adv • She argues persuasively that the drug should be legal. — per-sua-sive-ness noun [noncount]

pert /pərt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing confidence and a lack of respect or seriousness especially in an amusing or appealing way — used especially to describe girls or young women • a lively and pert young actress • He laughed at the girl's pert answer.

2 : small and attractive • a pert little hat • a pert bottom/nose — pert-ly adv • She winked at him pertly and smiled.

per-tain /pəˈteɪn/ verb -tains; -tained; -tain-ing [no obj] formal : to relate to someone or something : to have a connection to a person or thing • The law pertains [=applies] only to people who were born in this country. • The questions pertained to [=the questions were about] the role of religion in society. • books pertaining to the country's history per-ti-nent /ˈpətiːnənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : relating to the thing that is being thought about or discussed : RELEVANT • a pertinent question • His comments weren't pertinent (to the discussion).

— per-ti-nence /ˈpətiːnəns/ noun [noncount] • the pertinence [=relevance] of the question — per-ti-nent-ly adv per-turb /pəˈtɜrb/ verb -turbs; -turbed; -turb-ing [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to be worried or upset • It perturbed him that his son was thinking about leaving school.

— perturbed adj [more ~; most ~] • She was so perturbed that she forgot to say goodbye. • perturbed behavior • He looked very perturbed when he heard the news.

per-tur-ba-tion /ˌpəɪˈtɜːbeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 technical : a change in the normal state or regular movement of something [count] a perturbation in the planet's orbit [noncount] gravitational perturbation

2 [noncount] formal : the state of being worried or upset • mental/emotional perturbation

per-tus-sis /pəˈtʌsəs/ noun [noncount] medical : WHOOPING COUGH

pe-ruse /pəˈruːz/ verb -rus-es; -rused; -rus-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to look at or read (something) in an informal or relaxed way • Would you like something to drink while you peruse [=look over] the menu? • He perused the newspaper over breakfast.

2 : to examine or read (something) in a very careful way • She perused [=studied] the lists closely.

— pe-rus-al /pəˈruːzəl/ noun, pl -als [count] — usually singular • a quick perusal of the menu • Here is the list of guests for your perusal. [noncount] This book deserves careful perusal.

perv /pəv/ noun, pl perves [count] slang : PERVERT per-vade /pəˈveɪd/ verb -vades; -vad-ed; -vad-ing [+ obj] formal : to spread through all parts of (something) • A sense of excitement pervaded the room. [=everyone in the room felt excited] : to exist in every part of (something) • A feeling of great sadness pervades the film. • Art and music pervade every aspect of their lives.

per-va-sive /pəˈveɪsɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : existing in every part of something : spreading to all parts of something • a pervasive odor • the pervasive nature of the problem • television's pervasive influence on our culture

— per-va-sive-ly adv — per-va-sive-ness noun [noncount] per-verse /pəˈvɜrs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : wrong or different in a way that others feel is strange or offensive • their perverse cruelty to animals • She has a perverse fascination with death. • He seems to take perverse pleasure/delight in making things as difficult as possible. • His friends all enjoy his perverse sense of humor. • Is this some kind of perverse joke? • perverse [=perverted] sexual desires — per-verse-ly adv • The movie was perversely amusing.

per-ver-sion /pəˈvɜːʒən/ noun, pl -sions

1 : sexual behavior that people think is not normal or natural [count] sexual perversions [noncount] sexual perversion

2 a [count] : something that improperly changes something good • perversions of the truth • The judge's decision was a perversion of justice. [=was very unjust] b [noncount] : the process of improperly changing something that is good • They fought against perversion of the health-care system.

per-ver-si-ty /pəˈvɜːsəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality of being wrong or different in a strange or offensive way : a perverse quality • The sheer perversity of her actions is shocking. • sexual perversity [=perversion] • acting out of stubborn perversity [=a feeling of not wanting to do what other people want or expect]

2 [count] : something that is wrong or perverse • sexual perversities — often + of • It is one of the many perversities of the system.

per-vert /pəˈvɜrt/ verb -verts; -vert-ed; -vert-ing [+ obj]

1 : to change (something good) so that it is no longer what it was or should be • people who pervert their religion to support violence • They perverted the truth to help further their careers.

2 : to cause (a person or a person's mind) to become immoral or not normal • movies that pervert the minds of young people by glorifying violence pervert justice or pervert the course of justice Brit : to try to stop the police from learning the facts about a criminal case • She was convicted of perverting justice [= (US) obstructing justice] for lying to the police.

per·vert /pəˈvɜrt/ noun, pl -verts [count] : a person whose sexual behavior is considered not normal or acceptable per·vert·ed /pəˈvɜrtəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing sexual desires that are considered not normal or acceptable • perverted minds • perverted criminals • perverted behavior

2 : not considered normal or acceptable : PERVERSE • perverted logic • He took a perverted pleasure/delight in watching them suffer.

pe·se·ta /pəˈseɪtə/ noun, pl -tas [count] : the basic unit of money of Spain until 2002

pes·ky /ˈpeski/ adj pes·ki·er; -est US, informal : making someone annoyed or irritated • I've been trying to get rid of this pesky cold for weeks. • pesky insects • pesky reporters

pe·so /ˈpeɪsoʊ/ noun, pl pe·sos [count] : the basic unit of money of several Latin-American countries and the Philippines; also : a coin or bill representing one peso

pes·si·mism /ˈpesəˌmɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a feeling or belief that bad things will happen in the future : a feeling or belief that what you hope for will not happen • She has expressed pessimism over the outcome of the trial. [=she thinks the outcome will be bad] • Although the economy shows signs of improving, a sense of pessimism remains. • He expressed his pessimism about politics and politicians. [=his belief that politics and politicians are generally bad] — opposite OPTIMISM pes·si·mist /ˈpesəˌmɪst/ noun, pl -mists [count] : a person who usually expects bad things to happen • Stop being such a pessimist. Not everything is wrong with the world. — opposite OPTIMIST

pes·si·mis·tic /ˌpesəˌmɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a lack of hope for the future : expecting bad things to happen • I'm pessimistic about our chances of winning. [=I don't think we'll win] • Most doctors were pessimistic that a cure could be found. • The film gives a very pessimistic view of human nature. • He has an extremely negative and pessimistic attitude. — opposite OPTIMISTIC

— pes·si·mis·ti·cal·ly /ˌpesəˌmɪstɪkli/ adv • He spoke pessimistically about the country's future.

pest /ˈpest/ noun, pl pests [count]

1 : an animal or insect that causes problems for people especially by damaging crops • These insects/birds are pests for farmers. • agricultural/garden pests • mice and other household pests — often used before another noun • pest control/management

2 informal : a person who bothers or annoys other people • You're being a real pest. Would you leave us alone, please?

pes·ter /ˈpestə/ verb -ters -tered; -ter·ing [+ obj] : to annoy or bother (someone) in a repeated way • His mother's always pestering [=harassing] him (with questions) about his love life. • Leave me alone! Stop pestering me!

pes·ti·cide /ˈpestəˌsaɪd/ noun, pl -cides [count, noncount] : a chemical that is used to kill animals or insects that damage plants or crops

pes·ti·lence /ˈpestələns/ noun, pl -lenc·es literary : a disease that causes many people to die [noncount] After years of war and pestilence, few people remained in the city. [count] — usually singular • a deadly pestilence

pes·tle /ˈpesəl/ noun, pl pestles [count] : a hard tool with a rounded end that is used for pounding or crushing substances (such as medicines) in a deep bowl (called a mortar) pes·to /ˈpestoʊ/ noun [noncount] : an Italian sauce that is made especially of fresh basil, garlic, oil, and grated cheese • Top the bread with pesto.

pet /pet/ noun, pl pets [count]

1 : an animal (such as a dog, cat, bird, or fish) that people keep mainly for pleasure • He caught a snake and kept it as a pet for several years. • No pets (are) allowed. • An orange cat named Alex was our first family pet [=a pet kept by a family] — often used before another noun • pet food • a pet store • a pet dog/cat

2 Brit — used to address someone in a loving or friendly way • What's the matter, pet? [=darling] — see also TEACHER'S PET pet adj, always used before a noun : very interesting or important to a particular person • The mayor's pet project has been the construction of a new high school. • I have my own pet [=favorite] theory about that. • a politician's pet causes/issues

pet verb pets; pet·ted; pet·ting

1 [+ obj] : to touch (a cat, dog, child, etc.) with your hand in a loving or friendly way • My dog loves to be petted.

2 [no obj] informal : to kiss and touch someone in a sexual way • There was some heavy petting going on at the party.

pet·al /ˈpetl/ noun, pl -als [count] : one of the soft, colorful parts of a flower • rose petals • flowers with pink and white petals — see picture at FLOWER

pe·tard /pəˈtɑrd/ noun

hoist by/on/with your own petard : hurt by something that you have done or planned yourself : harmed by your own trick or scheme • a politician who has been hoist by his own petard

pe·ter /ˈpi:tər/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter·ing

peter out [phrasal verb] informal : to gradually become smaller, weaker, or less before stopping or ending • Their romantic relationship petered out after the summer. • Interest in the sport is beginning to peter out.

pet hate noun, pl ~ hates [count] Brit : PET PEEVE

pe·tit bour·geois /pəˈti:buəʒˈwɑ:/ noun, pl petit bour·geois [count] often disapproving : a member of the petite bourgeoisie — called also petty bourgeois

pe·tite /pəˈti:t/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a small and thin body — usually used to describe a woman or girl • She's petite and has short black hair. • a petite young woman • clothes in petite sizes [=sizes that fit petite women]

petite bourgeoisie noun

the petite bourgeoisie : a social class that is between the middle class and the lower class : the lower middle class • a member of the petite bourgeoisie — called also the petty bourgeoisie

pe·tit four /ˌpetiˈfoʊ/ noun, pl pe·tits fours or petit fours /ˌpetiˈfoʊz/ [count] : a very small cake that is decorated with frosting pe·ti·tion /pəˈtiʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : a written document that many people sign to show that they want a person or organization to do or change something • They collected 2,000 signatures on a petition demanding that women be allowed to join the club. • Would you like to sign our petition?

2 a : a formal written request made to an official person or organization • We presented a petition to the legislature to change the law. b law : a formal written request to have a legal case decided by a court • She filed a petition for divorce. • They've denied your petition. [=the court will not hear your case]

3 formal : a prayer or request to God or to a very powerful person or group • We ask you to hear our petition.

petition verb -tions; -tioned; -tion·ing : to ask (a person, group, or organization) for something in a formal way [+ obj] The organization petitioned the government to investigate the issue. • All people had the right to petition the king for help. [no obj] She petitioned to join their club. — often + for • The students petitioned for permission to wear hats in school.

pe·ti·tion·er /pəˈtiʃənər/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who creates a petition or signs a petition in order to change or ask for something • We have the signatures of over 300 petitioners.

2 law : a person who asks to have a legal case decided by a court • The petitioner is trying to have the Supreme Court overrule the decision.

pet·it lar·ceny /ˈpeti-/ noun [noncount] US, law : the crime of stealing something that does not have a high value — called also petit theft, petty larceny, petty theft; compare GRAND LARCENY

pet·it theft /ˈpeti-/ noun [noncount] US, law : PETIT LARCENY pet name noun, pl ~ names [count] : a name that a person uses for someone to show love or affection • His pet name for her is "Sweet Pea."

pet peeve noun, pl ~ peeves [count] US : something that annoys or bothers a person very much • One of my biggest pet peeves is people driving too slowly on the highway. — called also (Brit) pet hate pe·tre·l /ˈpetrəl/ noun, pl -trels [count] : a bird that has long wings and usually dark feathers and that lives mainly on the ocean

Pe·tri dish /ˈpi:tri-/ noun, pl ~ dishes [count] : a small, shallow dish that has a loose cover and that is used in scientific experiments especially for growing bacteria

petrified adj

1 : very afraid or frightened of something : unable to move or act because you are afraid • “Are you afraid?” “I’m not just afraid, I’m petrified.” • We were petrified with fear.

2 — used to describe something (such as wood) that has slowly changed into stone or a substance like stone over a very long period of time • petrified wood • the petrified bones of a fish • a petrified forest

pet-ri-fy /ˈpetrəˌfaɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make (someone) very afraid • It petrifies [=terrifies] me to think of how close we came to dying.

2 technical : to slowly change (something, such as wood) into stone or a substance like stone over a very long period of time [+ obj] the processes that petrify wood [no obj] The dead tree petrified into stone.

pet-ro-chem-i-cal /ˌpetrouˈkemɪkəl/ noun, pl -cals

[count] technical : a chemical that is made from petroleum or natural gas

pet-rol /ˈpetrəl/ noun [noncount] Brit : GASOLINEpetrol bomb noun, pl ~ bombs [count] Brit : MOLOTOV COCKTAILpe-tro-leum /pəˈtrouliəm/ noun [noncount] : a kind of oil that comes from below the ground and that is the source of gasoline and other productspetroleum jelly noun [noncount] : an oily substance that is made from petroleum, has no taste or odor, and is used especially in products that are rubbed on the skin to help heal a wound, reduce pain, etc.petrol station noun, pl ~ -tions [count] Brit : GAS STATIONpet-ti-coat /ˈpetiˌkəʊt/ noun, pl -coats [count] : a skirt that a woman or girl wears under a dress or outer skirtpet-ti-fog-ging /ˈpetiˌfɑːɡɪŋ/ adj, old-fashioned : worrying too much about details that are minor or not important • pettifogging lawyerspetting zoo noun, pl ~ zoos [count] US : a collection of animals that children can touch and feedpet-ty /ˈpeti/ adj pet-ti-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 a : not very important or serious • Let’s not waste time arguing over petty [=trivial] details. • petty [=minor] crimes • a petty official [=an official who is not important and has little power] b : relating to things that are not very important or serious • a petty argument about grammar • petty jealousy c : committing crimes that are not very serious • petty criminals/thieves/crooks

2 : treating people harshly and unfairly because of things that are not very important • a small-minded, petty person • My behavior was petty and stupid. I apologize.

— pet-ti-ness /ˈpetɪnəs/ noun [noncount] • the pettiness of their concerns petty bourgeois noun, pl petty bourgeois [count] : PETIT BOURGEOISpetty bourgeoisie noun [noncount] : PETIT BOURGEOISIEpetty cash noun [noncount] : a small amount of money that is kept in an office in order to pay for small itemspetty larceny noun [noncount] : PETIT LARCENYpetty officer noun, pl ~ -cers [count] : an officer with a low rank in the Navy or U.S. Coast Guardpetty theft noun [noncount] : PETIT LARCENYpet-u-lant /ˈpetʃələnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : having or showing the attitude of people who become angry and annoyed when they do not get what they want • a petulant child • Her tone was petulant and angry.

— pet-u-lance /ˈpetʃələns/ noun [noncount] — pet-u-lant-ly adv

pe-tu-nia /piˈtuːnjə/ noun, pl -nias [count] : a plant that has colorful flowers which are shaped like funnelspew /ˈpjuː/ noun, pl pews [count] : one of the benches that are placed in rows in a churchpew-ter /ˈpjuːtə/ noun [noncount] : a dull gray metal that is a mixture of tin and usually lead • cups made of pewter = pewter cupsPG /ˈpiːdʒiː/ — used as a special mark to indicate that people of all ages may see a particular movie but that parents may want to watch the movie with their children • This movie is rated PG. Parental guidance is suggested. — compare G, NC-17, PG-13, R, *Xpg. abbr page • pg. 26PGA abbr Professional Golfers’ AssociationPGCE abbr, Brit Postgraduate Certificate of Education

PG-13 /ˈpiːˈdʒiːθəˈtiːn/ — used as a special mark to indicate that people of all ages may see a particular movie but that parents may want to watch the movie with their children especially when their children are younger than 13 years old; compare G, NC-17, PG, R, X

pH /ˈpiːˈetʃ/ noun [singular] technical : a number between 0 and 14 that indicates if a chemical is an acid or a base ♦ A chemical with a pH lower than 7 is an acid, and a chemical with a pH higher than 7 is a base. • You should test the pH of the soil in your garden.

PH abbr pinch hitter

pha-lanx /ˈfeɪˌlæŋks, Brit ˈfæˌlæŋks/ noun, pl -lanx-es [count] formal : a large group of people, animals, or things often placed close together • A solid phalanx of armed guards stood in front of the castle. • She had to go through a phalanx of television cameras.

phal-lic /ˈfælɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : of, relating to, or resembling a penis • The poem is filled with phallic imagery. • an ancient Greek phallic symbol representing fertility

phal-lus /ˈfæləs/ noun, pl phal-li /ˈfæˌlaɪ/ or phal-lus-es [count]

1 : an image or representation of a penis

2 : PENIS

phan-tasm /ˈfænˌtæzəm/ noun, pl -tasms [count] literary : something that exists only in a person’s mind • the phantasm of equality • a ghostly phantasm phan-tas-ma-go-ria /ˈfænˌtæzməˈɡorɪə/ noun, pl -rias [count] literary : a confusing or strange scene that is like a dream because it is always changing in an odd way • He saw a phantasmagoria of shadowy creatures through the fog.

— phan-tas-ma-gor-ic /ˈfænˌtæzməˈɡorɪk/ or phan-tas-ma-gor-i-cal /ˈfænˌtæzməˈɡorɪkəl/ adj • a phantasmagoric scene

¹phan-tom /ˈfæntəm/ noun, pl -toms [count]

1 : the soul of a dead person thought of as living in an unseen world or as appearing to living people : GHOST • The book is about the phantoms that are said to haunt the nation’s cemeteries.

2 : something that is not real and exists only in a person’s mind • The crisis is merely a phantom made up by the media.

3 : something that is hard to see or achieve — often + of • He spent years chasing the phantoms of fame and fortune.

²phantom adj, always used before a noun

1 : coming from or associated with the world of ghosts • People claim to have seen a phantom ship floating on the lake.

2 a : not real or true or not based on something real or true • A number of ballots from phantom voters had to be thrown out. • phantom fears b : not real but felt or experienced as something real • phantom illnesses • a phantom pregnancy [=a medical condition in which a woman believes that she is pregnant and can appear to be pregnant when she is not pregnant]

pha-raoh or Pharaoh /ˈferəʊ/ noun, pl -raohs [count] : a ruler of ancient Egypt

Phar-i-see /ˈferəˌsiː/ noun, pl -sees [count] : a member of an ancient Jewish group that followed Jewish religious laws and teachings very strictly

¹phar-ma-ceu-ti-cal /ˈfæməˈsuːtɪkəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to the production and sale of drugs and medicine • a pharmaceutical company • lobbyists from the pharmaceutical industry²pharmaceutical noun, pl -cals [count] technical : a drug or medicine — usually plural • The company manufactures pharmaceuticals.

phar-ma-cist /ˈfæməsɪst/ noun, pl -cists [count] : a person whose job is to prepare and sell the drugs and medicines that a doctor prescribes for patients • He is trained as a pharmacist. [= (US) druggist, (Brit) chemist]

phar-ma-col-o-gy /ˈfæməˈkɑːlədʒi/ noun [noncount] technical

1 : the scientific study of drugs and how they are used in medicine

2 : a drug’s qualities and effects • We don’t have a complete understanding of the new drug’s pharmacology yet.

— phar-ma-col-o-gist /ˈfæməˈkɑːlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] — phar-ma-co-log-i-cal /ˈfæməkəˈlɑːdʒɪkəl/ also phar-ma-co-log-ic /ˈfæməkəˈlɑːdʒɪk/ adj, always used before a noun • the pharmacological treatment of depression [=the treatment of depression using drugs] • pharmacologic effects — phar-ma-co-log-i-cal-ly /ˈfæməkəˈlɑːdʒɪkli/ adv • The two drugs are pharmacologically similar.

phar·ma·co·pe·ia (chiefly US) or chiefly Brit phar·ma·co·poe·ia /fə'məkə'pi:jə/ noun, pl -ias [count] technical

1 : a collection or supply of drugs • The new discovery added another drug to the global pharmacopeia.

2 : an official book that describes drugs and how to use them as medicine

phar·ma·cy /fə'məsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [count] a : a store or part of a store in which drugs and medicines are prepared and sold • There's a pharmacy in our grocery store now. b : a place in a hospital where drugs and medicines are prepared and given out : DISPENSARY

2 [noncount] : the practice and profession of preparing drugs and medicines • She's studying pharmacy at the university.

phar·ynx /fərɪŋks/ noun, pl phar·yng·es /fə'rɪŋdʒɪz/ or phar·ynx·es [count] medical : the part inside your mouth where the passages of the nose connect to your mouth and throat

¹phase /'feɪz/ noun, pl phas·es

1 [count] : a part or step in a process : one part in a series of related events or actions • The project will be done in three phases. • He's in the final phase of treatment now. • The building project marks a new phase in the town's development. • These poems are from an early phase [=stage] in her career.

2 [count] : a short period of time during which a person behaves in a particular way or likes a particular thing • He has been throwing tantrums a lot, but the doctor says it's just a phase. • She's going through a punk phase right now. [=she likes punk music and fashion at this point in her life]

3 [count] : the shape of the part of the moon that is visible at different times during a month • a calendar based on the phases of the moon

4 [noncount] Brit : the state in which things work together with each other — used in the phrases in phase or out of phase • Make sure the machine's wheels are moving in phase with each other. • The sound on this movie is out of phase. [=the sound does not match the images of the movie] • He seems to be out of phase [= (US) out of step] with the rest of the team.

²phase verb phases; phased; phas·ing

phase in [phrasal verb] phase (something) in or phase in (something) : to start to use or do (something) gradually over a period of time : to introduce (something) slowly • The country is phasing in new paper currency. • The tax cut will be phased in over the next three years. • The law will phase tax cuts in over a period of two years.

phase out [phrasal verb] phase (something) out or phase out (something) : to stop using, making, or doing (something) gradually over a period of time • The company is phasing its old equipment out. • The airplane is being phased out in favor of a new design. — see also PHASEOUT phased adj : done gradually in steps and according to a plan • The government has announced the phased closure of a number of military bases. • a phased withdrawal of troops

phase-out /'feɪz,aʊt/ noun, pl -outs [count] US : the act of stopping something gradually over a period of time in a planned series of steps or phases — usually singular • The restaurant will continue its phaseout of many unhealthy menu items over the next two years. — see also phase out at ²PHASE phat /'fæt/ adj phat·ter; -est US slang : very attractive or appealing • That song has a phat beat. • That car is phat!

PhD /,pi:'etʃ'di:/ noun, pl PhDs [count]

1 : the highest degree given by a university or college • He got his PhD [=doctorate] from Harvard. • She has two PhDs. [=doctoral degrees] • a PhD candidate [=a person who is trying to get a PhD]

2 : a person who has a PhD • We're not hiring new PhDs at this point. • Sheila Jones, PhD ♦ PhD is an abbreviation of "doctor of philosophy."

pheas·ant /'feɪznt/ noun, pl pheasant or pheas·ants

1 [count] : a large bird that has a long tail and is often hunted for food or sport ♦ The male pheasant is brightly colored and the female is mostly brown. — see color picture on page C9

2 [noncount] : the meat of the pheasant eaten as food

phe·nom /'fi:nə:m/ noun, pl -noms [count] US, informal : a person who is very good at doing something (such as a sport) • a football/baseball phenom [= (more formally) phenomenon]

phenomena plural of PHENOMENON

phe·nom·e·nal /fi'nə:mən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very good or great : unusual in a way that is very impressive • The book was a phenomenal [=huge] success. • Her performance was phenomenal. [=amazing]

phe·nom·e·nal·ly /fi'nə:mənli/ adv

1 : in a very great or impressive way • It's a phenomenally [=hugely] successful book.

2 : very or extremely : to an unusually high degree • The speech was phenomenally boring.

phe·nom·e·non /fi'nə:mə,nən/ noun [count]

1 pl -e·na /-ənə/ : something (such as an interesting fact or event) that can be observed and studied and that typically is unusual or difficult to understand or explain fully • natural phenomena like lightning and earthquakes • the phenomenon of love

2 pl -e·nons : someone or something that is very impressive or popular especially because of an unusual ability or quality • the greatest literary phenomenon of the decade • He's a football/baseball phenomenon. • The movie eventually became a cultural phenomenon.

pher·o·mone /'ferə,moun/ noun, pl -mones [count] biology : a chemical substance that an animal or insect produces in order to attract other animals or insects and especially a mate

phew /'fju:/ interj — used to show that you are relieved, tired, hot, or disgusted • Phew! I thought we were going to miss the bus! • Phew! What a long day it's been! • Phew! It's hot in here. • Phew! What's that smell?

phi·al /'fajəl/ noun, pl -als [count] Brit : VIAL

Phi Be·ta Kap·pa /,faɪ,beɪtə'kæpə/ noun, pl ~ -pas

1 [noncount] : a special society for students who do excellent academic work at a college or university in the U.S. • He belongs to Phi Beta Kappa. • He made Phi Beta Kappa his sophomore year. • She graduated Phi Beta Kappa. [=when she graduated, she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa]

2 [count] : a person who is a member of Phi Beta Kappa • He's a Phi Beta Kappa.

phi·lan·der·er /fə'lændərər/ noun, pl -ers [count] old-fashioned + disapproving : a man who has sexual relations with many women and especially with women who are not his wife

— phi·lan·der·ing /fɪ'lændərɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun • a philandering husband — philandering noun [noncount] • She refused to tolerate his philandering.

phi·lan·thro·pist /fə'lænθrəpɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a wealthy person who gives money and time to help make life better for other people • wealthy philanthropists

phi·lan·thro·py /fə'lænθrəpi/ noun [noncount] : the practice of giving money and time to help make life better for other people • The family's philanthropy made it possible to build the public library. — compare MISANTHROPY

— phil·an·throp·ic /,fɪlən'θrə:pɪk/ adj • She started a philanthropic [=charitable] foundation. • He is involved in various philanthropic activities.

phi·lat·e·list /fə'lætəlɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] technical : a person who studies or collects postage stamps phi·lat·e·ly /fə'lætəli/ noun [noncount] technical : the study or collection of postage stamps • She has enjoyed philately [= (more commonly) stamp collecting] since she was a child.

— phil·a·tel·ic /,fɪlə'telɪk/ adj • a philatelic society

-phile /,fajəl/ noun combining form : someone who likes something very much • Francophile [=a person who likes France or French culture] • technophile — compare -PHOBE

Phil·har·mon·ic /,fɪlə'mɑ:nɪk/ noun, pl -ics [count] : SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA — usually used in the names of orchestras • the New York Philharmonic

-phil·ia /'fɪli:jə/ noun combining form

1 : a strong feeling of love or admiration for something • Anglophilia [=a love of England] — compare -PHOBIA

2 : a feeling of unusual or abnormal sexual desire for someone or something • pedophilia [=adult sexual desire for children]

phi·lis·tine or Phi·lis·tine /'fɪləstɪ:n, Brit 'fɪləstain/ noun, pl -tines [count] formal + disapproving : a person who does not understand or care about art or culture • They're just a bunch of philistines who don't care if the city's orchestra goes bankrupt.

— philistine adj • a philistine public concerned only with celebrities — phi·lis·tin·ism /'fɪləstə,nɪzəm/ noun [non-count]

Phil·lips screw /'fɪləps-/ noun, pl ~ screws [count] : a type of screw that has a slot in its top that looks like a cross — called also Phillips-head screw

Phillips screwdriver noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a screwdriver that is designed to be used with a Phillips screw — called also Phillips-head screwdriver

philo-den-dron /fɪlə'dendrən/ noun, pl -drons [count] : a kind of plant with attractive leaves that people often grow indoors — see color picture on page C6

phi-lol-o-gy /fə'lɑ:lə'dʒi/ noun [noncount] somewhat old-fashioned + technical : the study of language; especially : the study of how languages or words develop — compare LINGUISTICS

— phil-o-log-i-cal /fɪlə'lɑ:lə'dʒɪkəl/ adj • philological evidence

— phi-lol-o-gist /fə'lɑ:lə'dʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

phi-los-o-pher /fə'lɑ:səfə/ noun, pl -phers [count] : a person who studies ideas about knowledge, truth, the nature and meaning of life, etc. : a person who studies philosophy • the Greek philosopher Plato philosopher's stone noun [singular] : an imaginary substance that people in the past believed had the power to change other metals into gold philo-soph-i-cal /fɪlə'sɑ:fɪkəl/ also philo-soph-ic /fɪlə'sɑ:fɪk/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or based on philosophy • They got into a philosophical debate about what it means for something to be “natural.” • Chinese philosophical texts

2 [more ~; most ~] : having a calm attitude toward a difficult or unpleasant situation • He's trying to be philosophical about their decision since he knows he can't change it.

— philo-soph-i-cal-ly /fɪlə'sɑ:fɪkli/ adv • She's philosophically opposed to capital punishment. • He accepted their decision philosophically.

phi-los-o-phize also Brit phi-los-o-phise /fə'lɑ:səfaɪz/ verb -phiz-es; -phized; -phiz-ing [no obj] : to talk about something in a serious way for a long time — often + about or on • We had to listen to him philosophizing about art again. • She was philosophizing on the meaning of life.

phi-los-o-phy /fə'lɑ:səfi/ noun, pl -phies

1 a [noncount] : the study of ideas about knowledge, truth, the nature and meaning of life, etc. • a professor of philosophy • Her degree is in philosophy and religion. — often used before another noun • a philosophy book/class/professor b [count] : a particular set of ideas about knowledge, truth, the nature and meaning of life, etc. • The group eventually split over conflicting political philosophies. — often + of • the philosophy of Plato

2 [count] : a set of ideas about how to do something or how to live • Her main cooking philosophy is to use only fresh ingredients. • My philosophy is to live and let live. [=let other people live the way they want to] • His philosophy of life [=his way of living] is to treat people as he would like to be treated.

phlegm /'flem/ noun [noncount]

1 : a thick, yellowish liquid that is produced in the nose and throat especially when a person has a cold

2 literary : calmness in a difficult or unpleasant situation • He displayed remarkable phlegm in very dangerous conditions.

— phlegmy /'flemi/ adj • a phlegmy cough phleg-mat-ic /fleg'mætɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] literary : not easily upset, excited, or angered • our phlegmatic leader • She was phlegmatic [=calm] even during the most difficult moments of the crisis.

phlox /'flɑ:ks/ noun, pl phlox or phlox-es [count, noncount] : a tall plant that has groups of white, pink, or purple flowers

-phobe /'foub/ noun combining form : a person who dislikes or is afraid of something or someone • technophobe [=a person who is afraid of technology] • arachnophobe [=a person who is afraid of spiders] — compare -PHILE

pho-bia /'foubɪə/ noun, pl -bias [count] : an extremely strong dislike or fear of someone or something • His fear of crowds eventually developed into a phobia.

-pho-bia /'foubɪə/ noun combining form : an extremely strong dislike or fear of someone or something • xenophobia [=fear and hatred of foreign people and things] — compare -PHILIA

pho-bic /'foubɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : of, relating to, or having an extremely strong fear or dislike of someone or something • She is phobic about heights.

— phobic noun, pl -bics [count] • social phobics [=people who are very nervous and afraid in social situations]

-phobic /'foubɪk/ adj combining form : having an extremely strong dislike or fear of someone or something • claustropho-

bic [=afraid of being in closed or narrow spaces]

phoe-nix /'fi:nɪks/ noun, pl -nix-es [count] : a magical bird in ancient stories that lives for 500 years before it burns itself to death and then is born again from its ashes — sometimes used figuratively • The arts scene in this city is a phoenix rising from the ashes and is more vibrant than ever before.

phon- or phono- combining form : connected with sound, voice, or speech • phonology [=the study of speech sounds] • phonograph [=a kind of machine that plays recorded sounds]

¹phone /'foun/ noun, pl phones

1 : TELEPHONE: such as a [noncount] : a system that uses wires and radio signals to send people's voices over long distances • We spoke by phone earlier. • The voice on the other end of the phone [=line] was familiar, but I couldn't place it. • a phone bill/company/conversation • I just have to make a quick phone call before we leave. • You can order over the phone [=by calling on the telephone] b [count] : a device that is connected to a telephone system and that you use to listen or speak to someone who is somewhere else • The phone has been ringing all morning! • He slammed the phone [=receiver] down and stormed out of the room. • Our new phone is cordless. • I left the phone off the hook. — see pictures at OFFICE, TELEPHONE; see also CELL PHONE, MOBILE PHONE, PAY PHONE, WIRELESS PHONE on the phone 1 : using a telephone to talk to someone • Can you see who's at the door? I'm on the phone. • I was on the phone with my sister until late last night. 2 Brit : connected to a telephone system • How many households aren't on the phone?

2 phones [plural] : HEADPHONES

²phone verb phones; phoned; phon-ing : to speak or try to speak to (someone) over a telephone system : TELEPHONE [+ obj] She phoned [=called] them already. — often + up in British English • I phoned her up earlier today. [no obj] Someone from the newspaper will be phoning with a few questions. — often + up in British English • She said she would be phoning up later.

phone in [phrasal verb] 1 a : to make a telephone call to a place (such as the place where you work) • Our boss is on a business trip but she will phone in [=call in] periodically. • She phoned in sick [=called in sick] yesterday. [=she telephoned the place where she works to say that she was sick and would not be coming to work] b : to make a telephone call to a radio or television program • Thousands of people phoned in to make a donation. • People phoned in [=called in] (to the show) from all over the country. — see also PHONE-IN 2 phone (something) in or phone in (something) : to deliver (something, such as a message) by making a telephone call • He only phoned in the pizza order a little while ago, so it's probably not ready yet.

-phone /'foun/ noun combining form

1 : sound • homophones [=words that sound the same but are spelled differently and have different meanings] — often used in the names of musical instruments and devices that relate to sound • saxophone • microphone

2 : a speaker of a specified language • Francophone [=a person who speaks French]

phone book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a book that lists the names, addresses, and phone numbers of the people and businesses in a certain area — called also directory, phone directory, telephone book, telephone directory

phone booth noun, pl ~ booths [count] US : a very small room or enclosed structure with a public telephone in it — called also telephone booth, (Brit) phone box, (Brit) telephone box

phone card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : CALLING CARD 1

phone-in /'founɪn/ noun, pl -ins [count] chiefly Brit : CALL-IN — see also phone in 1b at ²PHONE

pho-neme /'fou,nɪ:m/ noun, pl -nemes [count] linguistics : the smallest unit of speech that can be used to make one word different from another word • The sounds represented by “c” and “b” are different phonemes, as in the words “cat” and “bat.”

— pho-ne-mic /fə'ni:mɪk/ adj • phonemic analysis — pho-ne-mi-cal-ly /fə'ni:mɪkli/ adv • phonemically distinct phone number noun, pl ~ -bers [count] : a number that you dial on a telephone to reach a particular person, business, etc. • What's your phone number? • I don't have her new phone number. — called also number, telephone number

phone sex noun [noncount] : a conversation held over the telephone in which people describe sex acts to one another for sexual pleasure

phone tag noun [noncount] US, informal : TELEPHONE TAG
 • “Have you talked to your sister about the party yet?” “No, we’ve been playing phone tag all week.”

phone tapping noun [noncount] Brit : WIRETAPPING

pho-net-ic /fəˈnetɪk/ adj, linguistics

1 : of or relating to spoken language, speech sounds, or the science of phonetics • the phonetic units of a language

2 : representing each speech sound with a single symbol • a phonetic transcription • This dictionary uses the International Phonetic Alphabet.

3 [more ~; most ~] : using a system of written symbols that represent speech sounds in a way that is very close to how they actually sound • Spanish is a more phonetic language than English.

– pho-net-i-cal-ly /fəˈnetɪkli/ adv • He is able to spell words phonetically.

pho-net-ics /fəˈnetɪks/ noun [noncount] linguistics : the study of speech sounds

– pho-ne-ti-cian /ˌfəʊnəˈtɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count]

phoney chiefly Brit spelling of PHONY

pho-nic /ˈfəːnɪk/ adj, always used before a noun, linguistics : of or relating to speech sounds or phonics • the phonic [(more commonly) phonetic] elements of a word

phon-ics /ˈfəːnɪks/ noun [noncount] : a method of teaching people to read and pronounce words by learning the sounds of letters, letter groups, and syllables phono- variant spelling of PHON-

pho-no-graph /ˈfəʊnəˌɡræf, Brit ˈfəʊnəˌɡrɑːf/ noun, pl -graphs [count] old-fashioned : RECORD PLAYER

pho-nol-o-gy /fəˈnɑːlədʒi/ noun [noncount] linguistics : the study of the speech sounds used in a language • a professor of phonology • He’s studying Japanese phonology.

– pho-no-log-i-cal /ˌfəʊnəˈlɑːdʒɪkəl/ adj, always used before a noun • We will compare the phonological features of the two languages. – pho-no-log-i-cal-ly /ˌfəʊnəˈlɑːdʒɪkli/ adv • phonologically similar languages – pho-nol-o-gist /fəˈnɑːlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count]

¹pho-ny (US) or chiefly Brit phoney /ˈfəʊni/ adj pho-ni-er; -est informal

1 : not true, real, or genuine : intended to make someone think something that is not true • He gave a phony name to the police. = The name he gave the police was phony. • a phony [(more commonly) counterfeit] $100 bill • She’s been talking in a phony [=fake] Irish accent all day.

2 of a person : not honest or sincere : saying things that are meant to deceive people • phony politicians

– pho-ni-ness noun [noncount] • I recognized the phoni-ness of her accent.

²phony (US) or chiefly Brit phoney noun, pl pho-nies [count] informal

1 : a person who pretends to be someone else or to have feelings or abilities that he or she does not really have : a person who is not sincere • According to him, politics is full of phonies. • I don’t think she ever meant to help us. What a phony!

2 : something that is not real or genuine • The painting is a phony. [=fake] phoo-ey /ˈfuːwi/ interj, chiefly US, informal + humorous — used to express disbelief, disappointment, or a strong dislike for something • You say it was a mistake? Phooey!

phos-phate /ˈfɑːsˌfeɪt/ noun, pl -phates [count, noncount] chemistry : a salt or compound that has phosphorus in it and that is used especially in products (called fertilizers) that help plants grow

phos-pho-res-cent /ˌfɑːsfəˈresnt/ adj, technical : of or relating to a type of light that glows softly in the dark and that does not produce heat • a phosphorescent glow

– phos-pho-res-cence /ˌfɑːsfəˈresns/ noun [noncount] technical • Some sea creatures exhibit phosphorescence.

phos-pho-rus /ˈfɑːsfərəs/ noun [noncount] chemistry : a poisonous chemical element that glows in the dark and burns when it is touched by air

– phos-phor-ic /ˈfɑːsfərɪk/ adj • phosphoric acid [=a type of acid that contains phosphorus]

phot- or photo- combining form

1 : related to light • photon • photography

2 : relating to photography • photocopy • photojournalism

pho-to /ˈfəʊtəʊ/ noun, pl -tos [count] : PHOTOGRAPH • black-and-white photos • We gave them a framed family photo for their anniversary. • You aren’t allowed to take photos inside the theater. • The magazine published a photo spread [=photographs printed together usually on a number of pages] of scenes from the play. • All of my baby pictures are in one photo album. [=a book that holds photographs]

photo booth noun, pl ~ booths [count] : a small room that one or two people can go into to have their photograph taken by putting money into a slot

pho-to-call /ˈfəʊtəʊˌkɑːl/ noun, pl -calls [count] Brit : PHOTO SHOOT

pho-to-cell /ˈfəʊtəˌsel/ noun, pl -cells [count] technical : PHOTOELECTRIC CELL

pho-to-copi-er /ˈfəʊtəˌkɑːpijə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : COPIER

pho-to-copy /ˈfəʊtəˌkɑːpi/ noun, pl -cop-ies [count] : a paper copy of a document, picture, etc., that is made with a special machine (called a copier or photocopier) • She made a photocopy of the letter.

– photocopy verb -copies; -cop-ied; -cop-y-ing [+ obj] She asked her assistant to photocopy the letter and send it to all of her clients. • He gave me a bunch of photocopied articles to use in my research. [no obj] His job includes answering the phones, filing, and photocopying.

photocopy machine or photocopying machine noun, pl ~ -chines [count] : COPIER

pho-to-elec-tric /ˌfəʊtəwɪˈlektɪk/ adj, technical : involving, relating to, or using an electric current that is controlled by light photoelectric cell noun, pl ~ cells [count] technical : an electronic device that converts changes in light into changes in an electric current — called also photocell

photo finish noun [singular] : a finish in a race in which the racers are so close that the judges have to look at a photograph of the racers crossing the finish line to see who has won

pho-to-ge-nic /ˈfəʊtəˈdʒenɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : tending to look good in photographs • She’s a very photogenic child. • This is the city’s most photogenic park. — compare TELEGENIC

¹pho-to-graph /ˈfəʊtəˌɡræf, Brit ˈfəʊtəˌɡrɑːf/ noun, pl -graphs [count] : a picture made by a camera • The man’s photograph was on the front page of the paper. = A photograph of the man was on the front page of the paper. • I always take a lot of photographs when I travel. • a digital photograph • The exhibit included videos as well as still photographs. [=ordinary photographs that are not videos, movies, etc.] — called also photo

²photograph verb -graphs; -graphed; -graph-ing

1 [+ obj] : to take a photograph of (someone or something) • He photographed the women sitting on the bench. • She was photographed in the studio.

2 [no obj] : to appear in photographs • He photographs well. [=he looks good in photographs; he is photogenic]

pho-tog-ra-pher /fəˈtɑːɡrəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count] : a person who takes photographs especially as a job • He worked for the magazine as a fashion photographer.

pho-to-graph-ic /ˌfəʊtəˈɡræfɪk/ adj : relating to or used to make photographs • photographic film/paper • the photographic process • photographic images of the galaxy

– pho-to-graph-i-cal-ly /ˌfəʊtəˈɡræfɪkli/ adv • I reduced the images photographically.

photographic memory noun, pl ~ -ries [count] : an unusual ability to remember things completely and exactly as they were seen, read, etc. — usually singular • He is a good detective because he has a photographic memory.

pho-tog-ra-phy /fəˈtɑːɡrəfi/ noun [noncount] : the art, process, or job of taking pictures with a camera • He studied both film and still photography. • Landscape photography is her hobby. • The art museum is showing a photography exhibit. [=an exhibit of photographs] • the director of photography [=the person who is in charge of filming for a movie]

pho-to-jour-nal-ism /ˌfəʊtəʊˈdʒənəlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the job or activity of using photographs to report news stories in magazines or newspapers

– pho-to-jour-nal-ist /ˌfəʊtəʊˈdʒənəlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

pho-ton /ˈfəʊˌtɑːn/ noun, pl -tons [count] physics : a tiny particle of light or electromagnetic radiation

photo opportunity noun, pl ~ -ties [count] : a situation in which a famous person (such as a politician) can be photographed while doing something good or impressive that is meant to be seen in a favorable way by the public • The mayor’s visit to the hospital was a good photo opportunity. — called also photo op

pho-to-sen-si-tive /ˌfɒtəʊ'sensətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] technical : reacting to light by changing color, creating electricity, etc. • paper with a photosensitive coating

— pho-to-sen-si-tiv-i-ty /ˌfɒtəʊ'sensə'tɪvəti/ noun [non-count]

photo shoot noun, pl ~ shoots [count] : an occasion when a professional photographer takes pictures of someone famous for use in a magazine or for some other purpose • The magazine used only two of the pictures from the photo shoot. — called also photo session, shoot, (Brit) photocall

pho-to-syn-the-sis /ˌfɒtəʊ'sɪnθəsɪs/ noun [noncount] biology : the process by which a green plant turns water and carbon dioxide into food when the plant is exposed to light

phras-al /'freɪzəl/ adj, grammar : of, relating to, or consisting of a phrase or phrases • phrasal categories • a phrasal unit phrasal verb noun, pl ~ verbs [count] grammar : a group of words that functions as a verb and is made up of a verb and a preposition, an adverb, or both • "Take off" and "look down on" are phrasal verbs.

¹phrase /'freɪz/ noun, pl phrases [count]

1 : a group of two or more words that express a single idea but do not usually form a complete sentence • Answer the questions in complete sentences, not phrases. • She used the phrase "I strongly believe" too many times in her speech. • Underline the key words or phrases in the paragraph. • an adverbial/adjectival phrase — see also NOUN PHRASE, PREPOSITIONAL PHRASE

2 : a brief expression that is commonly used • To borrow a phrase from my mother, I spend too much time "watching the boob tube" and not enough time outside. • a famous phrase — see also CATCHPHRASE, to coin a phrase at ²COIN, turn of phrase at ²TURN

3 music : a short section of a longer piece of music • musical phrases

²phrase verb phrases; phrased; phras-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say (something) in a particular way • He phrased his version of the story in a way that made him look good. • The question was awkwardly phrased.

2 : to perform (a piece of music) with the notes grouped together in a particular way • The singer phrased the music beautifully.

phrase book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a book for travelers that contains common phrases and expressions of a foreign language with their translations phrase-ol-o-gy /ˌfreɪzi'ɔ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount] formal : the way that a particular person or group uses words • legal phraseology

phrasing noun [noncount]

1 : the way something is expressed in words : the particular words or the order of words that are used to express something • The phrasing of the instructions was confusing.

2 music : the act of grouping notes together in a particular way • a singer known for her elegant/fluid/artful phrasing phut /'fʌt/

go phut Brit, informal : to stop working • The television went phut this morning.

phyl-lo also filo /'fi:lou/ noun [noncount] : very thin dough that is used in pastries — called also phyllo dough, phyllo pastry phy-lum /'faɪləm/ noun, pl phy-la /'faɪlə/ [count] biology : a large group of related animals or plants phys ed /'fɪz'ed/ noun [noncount] chiefly US, somewhat informal : PHYSICAL EDUCATION

physi- or physio- combining form

1 : related to nature • physiology

2 : physical • physiotherapy

¹phys-i-cal /'fɪzɪkəl/ adj

1 : relating to the body of a person instead of the mind • physical abuse • The program is designed to address both physical and emotional health. • No physical contact with other players is allowed in the game. • He has an unusual physical appearance. • He is in good physical condition. [=he is strong and healthy; he is in good shape] • physical fitness [=good health and strength that you get through exercise]

2 : existing in a form that you can touch or see • physical objects • the physical environment/world • There was no physical evidence of the crime.

3 [more ~; most ~] : involving or related to sex • physical attraction • Their relationship was purely physical.

4 [more ~; most ~] a : involving or having a lot of movement or activity • physical comedy [=comedy in which people hit each other, fall down, etc.] • He's a very physical comedian. b : involving or having very violent and forceful activity • Ice hockey is a very physical sport. • It was a very physical hockey game. • He's one of the team's most physical players.

5 a : of or relating to the laws of nature • Scientists used the space station to study physical phenomena in a weightless environment. b always used before a noun : of or relating to the study of physics • physical forces

6 [more ~; most ~] : tending to express love or affection by touching other people • She is a very physical person.

— phys-i-cal-i-ty /ˌfɪzɪ'kæləti/ noun [noncount] • a comedian known for his physicality

²physical noun, pl -cals [count] : a medical examination to see if a person's body is healthy • Her doctor performed a routine physical. [=checkup] • an annual physical — called also physical examination physical education noun [noncount] : sports and exercise taught in schools • He teaches physical education at the high school. — abbr. P.E. — called also (chiefly US, somewhat informal) phys ed

phys-i-cal-ly /'fɪzɪkli/ adv

1 : related to or involving the body or physical form • I don't think I am physically able to climb all the way to the top. • The doctor could find nothing physically wrong with him. • Her sister is physically disabled. • The buildings were designed to resemble one another physically. • a physically attractive person

2 — used to say what can truly happen or be done by physical effort • It is physically impossible for me to get everything done and still go to sleep on time. • She did everything physically possible to make us happy.

physical science noun, pl ~ -ences [count] : an area of science that deals with materials that are not alive and the ways in which nonliving things work — usually plural • physical sciences such as physics, chemistry, and astronomy — compare LIFE SCIENCE physical therapist noun, pl ~ -pists [count] US, medical : a person whose job is to give people physical therapy — abbr. PT — called also (Brit) physiotherapist, (Brit, informal) physio physical therapy noun [noncount] US, medical : the treatment of a disease or an injury of the muscles or joints with massage, exercises, heat, etc. — abbr. PT — called also (Brit) physiotherapy, (Brit, informal) physio phy-si-cian /fə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] chiefly US, somewhat formal : a medical doctor; especially : a medical doctor who is not a surgeon physician assistant noun, pl ~ -tants [count] US : PHYSICIAN'S ASSISTANT physician-assisted suicide noun [noncount] chiefly US : suicide that is done with the help of a doctor — compare ASSISTED SUICIDE physician's assistant noun, pl ~ -tants [count] US : a person who provides basic medical care and who usually works with a doctor — called also (US) PA, (US) physician assistant phys-i-cist /'fɪzəsɪst/ noun, pl -cists [count] : a scientist who studies or is a specialist in physics

phys-ics /'fɪzɪks/ noun [noncount] : a science that deals with matter and energy and the way they act on each other in heat, light, electricity, and sound • high-energy/nuclear/modern/particle physics • laws of physics — see also ASTROPHYSICS, GEOPHYSICS

phys-io /'fɪzɪjə/ noun, pl phys-ios Brit, informal

1 [noncount] : PHYSICAL THERAPY

2 [count] : PHYSICAL THERAPIST

physio- variant spelling of PHYSI-phys-i-og-no-my /ˌfɪzɪ'ɔ:gnəmi/ noun, pl -mies [count] formal : the appearance of a person's face : a person's facial features • He and his son have the same distinctive physiognomy.

phys-i-ol-o-gy /ˌfɪzɪ'ɔ:lədʒi/ noun [noncount]

1 : a science that deals with the ways that living things function • She took a course in anatomy and physiology.

2 : the ways that living things or any of their parts function • human physiology • the physiology of diseased plants

— phys-i-o-log-i-cal /ˌfɪzɪjə'lɑ:dʒɪkəl/ also chiefly US phys-i-o-log-ic /ˌfɪzɪjə'lɑ:dʒɪk/ adj • physiological changes/processes • a normal physiological response to cold temperatures — phys-i-o-log-i-cal-ly /ˌfɪzɪjə'lɑ:dʒɪkli/ adv

— phys-i-ol-o-gist /ˌfɪzɪ'ɔ:lədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] • She's a trained physiologist.

phys.io.ther.a.pist /ˌfɪzɪjəʊˈθerəpɪst/ noun, pl -pists

[count] Brit : PHYSICAL THERAPIST

phys.io.ther.a.py /ˌfɪzɪjəʊˈθerəpi/ noun [noncount] Brit : PHYSICAL THERAPY

phy.sique /fəˈzi:k/ noun, pl -siques [count] : the size and shape of a person's body : BUILD — usually singular • He has the physique of a trained athlete. • a dancer's physique pi /ˈpaɪ/ noun [noncount] geometry : the number that results when the circumference of a circle is divided by its diameter and that is approximately 3.1416; also : the symbol π used for this number pi.a.nis.si.mo /ˌpijəˈnɪsəməʊ/ adv, music : very softly • The first section is meant to be sung pianissimo.

PI abbr private investigator • Joe Smith, PI

— pianissimo adj • pianissimo notes

pi.a.nist /piˈænɪst, ˈpiːjənɪst/ noun, pl -nists [count] : a person who plays the piano • a concert/classical/jazz pianist

¹pi.ano /piˈænəʊ/ noun, pl -an.os [count] : a large musical instrument with a keyboard that you play by pressing black and white keys and that produces sound when small hammers inside the piano hit steel wires • Do you play the piano? • a concerto that is played on the piano = a piano concerto • a piano player [=pianist] • He takes piano lessons on Wednesdays. — see picture at KEYBOARD; compare HARPSICHORD; see also GRAND PIANO, UPRIGHT PIANO

²piano /piˈɑːnoʊ/ adv, music : quietly or softly

— piano adj • a piano passage

piano bar noun, pl ~ bars [count] : a bar where there is a piano player who plays music to entertain the customers

pi.ano.forte /piˈænəˌfoʊt, ˌpiːænəʊˈfɔːti/ noun, pl -fortes [count] old-fashioned : ¹PIANO

pi.az.za /piˈɑːtsə/ noun, pl -zas [count] : an open public area in a town or city (especially in Italy) that is usually surrounded by buildings pic /ˈpɪk/ noun, pl pics or pix /ˈpɪks/ [count] informal

1 : PHOTOGRAPH • She showed me her vacation pics.

2 : MOVIE • an exciting action pic

pi.ca.resque /ˌpɪkəˈresk/ adj : telling a story about the adventures of a usually playful and dishonest character • a picaresque novel pic.a.yune /ˌpɪkiˈjuːn/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : not very valuable or important • They argued over the most picayune details.

pic.co.lo /ˈpɪkəˌlou/ noun, pl -los [count] : a musical instrument that looks like a small flute and plays very high notes — see picture at WOODWIND

¹pick /ˈpɪk/ verb picks; picked; pick-ing [+ obj]

1 : to choose or select (someone or something) from a group • Pick a card—any card. • They picked a name out of a hat. • The winners will be picked by lottery. • She was picked to replace the retiring CEO. • Who do you think he will pick as/for his running mate? • He picked the blue tie to wear to the interview. • He picked the right/wrong answer. • They both picked New York to win the World Series. [=they both said that they thought the New York team would win the World Series] — see also CHERRY-PICK

2 : to remove (a fruit, flower, etc.) from a plant especially by using your hand • She picked a flower for her mother. • I picked some carrots and a few tomatoes. • They sell freshly picked fruits and vegetables. • Our grapes are picked by hand. — see also HANDPICK

3 a : to remove unwanted material from (something) by using your finger, a small tool, etc. • It's considered impolite to pick your nose in public. • He was sitting at the table, pick-ing his teeth with a toothpick. b always followed by an adverb or preposition : to remove (something) from something by using your fingers • Pick the meat from/off the bones. • She picked all the pepperoni off (of) the pizza.

4 chiefly US : to play (a guitar, banjo, etc.) by pulling the strings with your fingers or with a pick : PLUCK • She was strumming and picking her guitar.

bone to pick see ¹BONE

pick a fight/quarrel : to deliberately start a fight with someone • Never pick a fight you can't win. • She sometimes picked fights with other girls at school.

pick a lock : to open a lock by using something that is not the key • He used a knife to pick the lock on the front door.

pick and choose : to choose only the best or most appropriate things or people • As one of Hollywood's most successful actors, he's now in a position to carefully pick and choose his roles. • The newspaper picks and chooses which stories to report. • With so many candidates, we can afford to pick and choose. [=we can afford to take our time and only choose the best candidate]

pick apart [phrasal verb] pick (someone or something) apart or pick apart (someone or something) chiefly US : to say all of the things that are bad or wrong about (someone or something) : to criticize (a person or thing) in a very detailed and usually unkind way • You can expect political analysts to pick apart the governor's speech. • The film's critics picked his performance apart.

pick at [phrasal verb] 1 pick at (something) a : to eat small amounts of (food) very slowly usually because you do not want to eat • She picked at a salad while I ate my steak. b : to pull on (something) with your fingertips or your fingernails often because you are nervous • She picked at the buttons on her jacket while waiting for her interview. • He was picking at his shoelaces. 2 pick at (someone or something) : to criticize (someone or something) especially for small mistakes • They're constantly arguing and picking at each other.

pick off [phrasal verb] 1 pick off (someone or something) or pick (someone or something) off : to aim at and shoot (someone or something) • The hunters hid by the stream and waited to pick off deer as they passed. • A sniper was picking off soldiers from the top of the building. 2 pick off (someone) or pick (someone) off baseball : to cause (a player who is standing close to a base) to be tagged out by making a quick throw • The runner on second base was picked off by the catcher. • The pitcher almost picked her off with a quick throw to first base. — see also PICKOFF pick on [phrasal verb] pick on (someone) 1 : to laugh at or make fun of (someone) in an unkind way • Kids used to pick on me for wearing old worn-out clothes. • He used to get picked on by the other kids at the bus stop. • Why is she always picking on me? • Hey, why don't you pick on someone your own size? 2 : to unfairly criticize (one person or group) when others also deserve to be criticized • It's unfair to pick on teachers for the problems in our schools when politicians are equally to blame.

pick out [phrasal verb] 1 pick (something) out or pick out (something) a : to choose or select (the best or most appropriate person or thing) from a group • It took him an hour to pick out [=pick] what to wear. • They let their two-year-old daughter pick out her own clothes. • I've picked out the perfect spot for our picnic. • Picking out a gift for a friend b : to play (a song, melody, etc.) by playing each note separately • She sat picking out a tune on the piano. 2 pick (someone or something) out or pick out (someone or something) : to see and identify (someone or something) • His red hair makes it easy to pick him out of/in a crowd. • The police had a witness pick the suspect out of a lineup. • I could pick out the pattern against the background. • No one was able to pick out the originals from the copies.

pick over [phrasal verb] pick over (something) or pick (something) over : to look at (a group of objects or an amount of material) in order to choose the best ones or to remove pieces you do not want • They picked over the strawberries and threw away the green ones. • Pick over the fish to remove any bones. • The applications were thoroughly picked over and only the best applicants were given interviews.

pick pockets or pick someone's pocket : to steal money or objects from someone's pockets or purse • One of the boys distracted her while the other picked her pocket. • She survived on the streets by shoplifting and picking pockets. — see also PICKPOCKET pick (someone or something) to pieces/shreds : to study and criticize all of the parts of (someone or something) • The media picked his personal life to pieces. • Her ideas were picked to shreds by her coworkers.

pick someone's brain/brains see ¹BRAIN

pick (something) clean : to remove all the material that covers something • The birds picked the bones clean. = The bones were picked clean by the birds.

pick up [phrasal verb] 1 pick (someone or something) up or pick up (someone or something) a : to lift (someone or something) from the ground or a low surface • Would you pick that pencil up for me, please? • She picked the book up off/from the ground by its cover. • He bent to pick up his hat. • Pick up the ball! • They picked up their guitars and started to play. • She always picks up her baby when he cries. b : to go somewhere in order to get and bring back (someone or something) • I have to pick up my kids at school. = I have to pick them up from school. • Have you

picked up the car from the repair shop yet? • He picked up his dry cleaning. • They'll hold our tickets but we have to pick them up an hour before the show. c : to let or put (people or things) into or onto a car, bus, ship, etc. • She had a taxi pick her up at the airport and take her to the hotel. • Have you ever picked up a hitchhiker? • The ship will be picking up more cargo at the next port. 2 a pick up or pick (something) up or pick up (something) chiefly US : to make an area clean and organized by removing trash and putting things in the proper places • We have just enough time to pick up [=clean up] and wash our hands before dinner. • The children worked together to pick up the toys. • Pick up that mess! • You may go outside after you pick your room up. • Everyone needs to help pick up the kitchen after dinner. • We spent the morning picking up the yard after the storm. b pick up after (someone) : to clean the mess created by (someone) • You have to pick up after yourself if you make a mess. • His mother still picks up after him. 3 : to answer a telephone • I called your house, but no one picked up. • She got to the phone just before the answering machine picked up. 4 : to become busy usually after a period of little activity : to improve or increase in activity • Sales slowed down after the winter holidays, but we're expecting things to pick up again this summer. • Business really picked up last month. • The economy/market seems to be picking up. 5 a : to increase in speed or strength • The wind will pick up later this afternoon. • The movie starts out slowly, but the pace picks up when the two main characters meet for the first time. b pick up speed/momentum (etc.) : to begin to have more speed/momentum (etc.) • The cyclists quickly picked up speed [=gained speed; began to go faster] as they headed down the mountain. • His campaign has begun to pick up momentum. • The idea began to pick up steam [=become more popular] around the turn of the century. c pick up the pace : to go faster • If we want to finish on time, we're going to have to pick up the pace. 6 a : to begin again after a temporary stop • The discussion picked up this morning at the point where we had stopped yesterday. • After being separated for three years, they picked up (right) where they left off. b pick (something) up or pick up (something) : to start (something) again after a temporary stop • We'll pick up this discussion tomorrow. 7 pick (something) up or pick up (something) a : to buy or get (something) • Have you picked up a copy of her new CD yet? • On Tuesdays, he picks up dinner at our favorite restaurant and brings it home. • She stopped to pick up a few groceries at the supermarket. b : to earn or gain (something) • She'll likely pick up an award for her performance in the film. • The team picked up [=gained] a few yards on the last play. • They've finally picked up their first victory of the season. c : to become aware of (something, such as a story) and begin to write about it, work on it, etc. • Few people had heard about this problem until the press picked up [=took up] the story. d : to learn (something) usually in an informal way • I picked up a few French phrases on my trip to Paris. • He seems to pick foreign languages up very easily. • She uses a style of singing she picked up from listening to jazz music. • He's been picking up some bad habits from his friends. e : to become sick with (an illness) from someone or something • I think I picked up [=caught] a cold from someone at work. f : to be able to see, hear, or smell (something) • This radio lets me pick up stations from other countries. • The planes were picked up [=detected] by radar. • telescopes picking up the faint glow of distant stars • The dogs picked up the scent and started to bark. : to become aware of (something) • He learned that he could pick up cues from his partner if he paid close attention. • They studied the evidence and managed to pick up some clues. 8 pick (someone) up or pick up (someone) a : to meet and begin a usually brief sexual relationship with (someone) • She used to go to bars to pick up men. • He picked her up at a club. b of the police : to use the power of the law to take and keep (someone, such as a criminal) • The cops picked up the suspect at a local bar. • The police picked him up [=arrested him] for trespassing/robbery/murder. • The police picked him up for questioning. [=they brought him to the police station in order to ask him questions] c : to make (someone) feel more energetic and lively • I drank some coffee hoping that it would pick me up a little. — see also PICK-ME-UP d sports : to get (a player) from another team or from some other source • The team picked up three new players in the draft. • They picked him up from a rival team. e

sports : to begin to guard (a player from the opposite team) during a game • Your job is to pick up an opposing player and block him. 9 pick yourself up a : to stand up again after falling • I fell to the ground but picked myself up and continued running. b : to recover from a difficult situation • After his divorce, he picked himself up and started looking for love again. 10 pick up and leave/go : to leave suddenly with your possessions • I couldn't just pick up and leave/go without saying goodbye. 11 pick up the tab/bill/check : to pay the money that is owed for something • When she stays at expensive hotels during business trips, her company picks up the tab. • They always offer to pick up the check when we go out to dinner with them. 12 pick up the pieces : to try to make a situation better after something bad has happened • After her business went bankrupt, she picked up the pieces and started again. • They created the problem, and now they expect us to pick up the pieces. — see also pick up the cudgels for at ¹CUDGEL, pick up the gauntlet at ²GAUNTLET, pick up the slack at ²SLACK, pick up the threads at ¹THREAD

pick up on [phrasal verb] 1 pick up on (something) a : to notice or become aware of (something) • He didn't pick up on the hint. • I seemed to be the only one who picked up on the mistake. • The reader soon picks up on the fact that the story's main character is crazy. • She was nervous, but no one picked up on it. b : to take (something, such as an idea) from another person or group and use it or continue to develop it yourself • The media has recently begun to pick up on this issue. • The fashion world picked up on this trend after she wore that dress to the award show. • The other students quickly picked up on [=adopted] the expression. c : to continue talking about (a statement, subject, etc.) • I'd like to pick up on your last comment. • She began the class by picking up on a point she made earlier. 2 pick up (someone) on (something) or pick (someone) up on (something) Brit : to question (someone) about (something said or done) • I'd like to pick up the last speaker on one of the points she made. • When he said that whales were fish, I felt I had to pick him up on it. [=to challenge him on it]

pick your way always followed by an adverb or preposition : to walk very slowly while carefully choosing where to put your feet • The horses slowly pick their way across the rocky ground. • We picked our way down the muddy path.

²pick noun, pl picks

1 [singular] : the ability to choose the person or thing that you want • If you get there early enough, you'll have your pick of seats. • All of these restaurants are good. Take your pick. [=choose any of them] • The girls got to choose their partners, and she got (the) first pick. [=she was able to choose her partner first]

2 [count] : someone or something that is chosen • My picks [=choices] are the roasted duck and the chocolate cake. — usually singular • Who is your pick to win? [=who do you think will win?] • The team made him the second pick [=the second person who was chosen] in the 1998 draft. • She was their number one pick. = She was their first pick. [=she was the person they wanted most] • Here is our top pick for this year's wine list.

3 [singular] : the best part of something or the best thing or things in a group — used in the phrase the pick of • It was surely the pick of this year's films. [=it was the best film this year] • I read many books this summer, and that was the pick of the bunch. [=the best of the bunch/group] • There are many good cars on the market now, but this one is clearly the pick of the litter. [=the best one]

— compare ³PICK

³pick noun, pl picks [count]

1 : a large tool that has a long handle and a heavy metal bar that is pointed at one or both ends and that is used for breaking rocks or digging in hard ground — see also ICE PICK, TOOTH PICK

2 : a small, thin piece of plastic or metal that is used to play a guitar or similar instrument — called also plectrum

— compare ²PICK

pick-and-mix or pick'n'mix adj, Brit : having a mixture of different things that you can choose • The shop offers a pick-and-mix assortment of new and used items. • a pick'n'mix approach to the problem

pick-ax (US) or chiefly Brit pick-axe /'pɪk,æks/ noun, pl -axes [count] : ³PICK 1 picked /'pɪkt/ adj : carefully chosen • a picked [= (more commonly) handpicked] group/team/force of soldiers pick·er /'pɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or machine that picks crops • fruit/orange/strawberry pickers • a cotton picker

pick·er·el /'pɪkərəl/ noun, pl pickerel [count] : a small North American fish that lives in rivers and streams

¹pick·et /'pɪkət/ noun, pl -ets [count]

1 : a stick or post that is pointed at the end so that it can be put into the ground • a house surrounded by a white picket fence

2 a : a person or group of people who are standing or marching near a place to protest something • Pickets marched in front of the company headquarters. • The strikers held picket signs painted with angry slogans. b Brit : a protest or strike involving pickets • The students were barred from holding a picket outside the company's headquarters.

3 : a soldier or a group of soldiers whose duty is to guard something (such as a camp)

²picket verb -ets; -et-ed; -et-ing

1 : to stand or march in a public place in order to protest something or to prevent other workers from going to work during a strike [no obj] Workers picketed outside the grocery store. [+ obj] The union is picketing the factory.

2 [+ obj] : to guard (something, such as a road or camp) with a group of soldiers pick·et·er /'pɪkətə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US : a person who stands or marches in front of a business, a government building, etc., as a form of protest — usually plural • Pickers crowded the sidewalk in front of the clinic.

picket line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : a line or group of people who are refusing to go to work until their employer agrees to certain demands • She joined her coworkers on the picket line. • The other employees refused to cross the picket line. [=to work while other workers were picketing] picking noun [noncount] : the activity of removing fruits from a plant for use • Berry picking is a favorite summer activity. • We're going apple picking.

pick·ings /'pɪkɪŋz, 'pɪkənz/ noun [plural] informal : opportunities for getting the things you want or need • I try to go to yard sales early to get the best pickings. • It was slim pickings [=there were very few good things to choose from] at this year's show. • thieves looking for easy pickings • (chiefly Brit) rich pickings

¹pick·le /'pɪkəl/ noun, pl pick-les

1 [count] chiefly US : a cucumber that is preserved in salt water or vinegar — see also DILL PICKLE

2 [noncount] Brit : a thick, cold sauce made of chopped vegetables preserved in vinegar

3 [singular] informal : an unpleasant or difficult situation — usually used in the phrase in a pickle • We were in a pickle when we missed our deadline.

²pickle verb pickles; pick-led; pick-ling [+ obj] : to preserve (food) with salt water or vinegar • They pickled the cabbage.

pickled adj

1 : preserved with salt water or vinegar • pickled ginger • The herring is pickled.

2 not used before a noun, informal : very drunk or intoxicated • He got pickled at the office party.

pick-me-up /'pɪkmiˌʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] : something (such as a drink) that makes you feel better and more lively • Coffee is my usual morning pick-me-up. • I could really use a pick-me-up after the day I just had.

pick'n'mix variant spelling of PICK-AND-MIX

pick-off /'pɪkˌɔːf/ noun, pl -offs [count] US, baseball : a play in which a runner who is close to a base is tagged out when the pitcher or catcher quickly throws the ball to that base • He made a pickoff throw to third base. — see also pick off at ¹PICK

pick·pock·et /'pɪk,pɔːkət/ noun, pl -ets [count] : a thief who steals money and other things from people's pockets and purses — see also pick pockets at ¹PICK

¹pick-up /'pɪkˌʌp/ noun, pl -ups

1 [count] : a small truck that has an open back with low sides — called also pickup truck; see picture at TRUCK

2 : the act of going somewhere to get a person or thing that you will then take to another place [noncount] The fee pays for garbage/trash pickup. • Is this order for pickup or delivery? [=do you want to come and get the order yourself, or do you want us to deliver the order to you?] • Your pizza will be ready for pickup [=you can pick up your pizza] in 20 minutes. [count] The school bus was late for its afternoon pick-up. • The truck is scheduled to make a pickup today.

3 [count] : an increase in activity — usually + in • They saw a pickup in business during the last quarter. • Several of our stores have reported a pickup in orders. • a pickup in consumer spending

4 [noncount] US : the ability of a vehicle to increase speed quickly • The car corners well and has good pickup. [= (more formally) acceleration]

5 [count] : a person you meet and have a usually brief sexual relationship with • He looked for pickups in singles bars.

6 [count] : a device on a musical instrument (such as an electric guitar) that makes sounds louder by changing them into electrical signals • a guitar pickup

7 [count] sports : a player who becomes part of a team after being obtained from another team • He joined the team as a free agent pickup last summer.

²pickup adj, always used before a noun, US

1 : organized informally with people who are available or nearby at the time • He plays with pickup bands at nightclubs. • a pickup football game • playing pickup basketball

2 : of or relating to the act of trying to meet strangers in order to have brief sexual relationships with them • What's the pickup scene like in this city? • He tried using one of his pickup lines [=a comment used to start a conversation with someone you are attracted to] on her, but it didn't work.

picky /'pɪki/ adj pick-i-er; -est : very careful or too careful about choosing or accepting things : hard to please • He's a picky [=fussy] eater. • She's very picky [=choosy] about what brands of shoes she'll wear.

¹pic·nic /'pɪknɪk/ noun, pl -nics [count]

1 a : a meal that is eaten outdoors especially during a trip away from home • We decided to have a picnic on the beach. • We ate our picnic by the lake. b : a trip or party that includes a meal eaten outdoors • This weekend I have a family picnic [=a picnic with family members] to go to. • The annual school/company picnic is this weekend. ♢ If you go on a picnic, you go somewhere to have a picnic • Let's go on a picnic today.

2 informal : something that is pleasant or easy • This winter is a picnic compared with last year's. — often used in negative statements • Breaking a leg is no picnic. [=breaking a leg is not a pleasant experience] • Being president isn't exactly a picnic. [=being president is not easy]

²picnic verb -nics; -nicked; -nick-ing [no obj] : to eat a meal outdoors especially during a trip away from home : to have a picnic • We picnicked in the park.

— pic·nick·er noun, pl -ers [count] • The park was full of picnickers.

pic·to·ri·al /pɪk'tɔːrɪəl/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to painting or drawing • pictorial art

2 : having or using pictures • pictorial magazines • a pictorial message • a pictorial record of the trip

— pic·to·ri·al·ly adv

¹pic·ture /'pɪktʃə/ noun, pl -tures

1 [count] : a painting, drawing, or photograph of someone or something • I hung the picture on the wall. • The book has a lot of pictures. • Draw a picture of your house. • We looked at family pictures. [=photos] • We took pictures [=photographs] of the wedding. • a picture frame [=a frame for holding a picture]

2 [count] : an idea of how something or someone looks, of what something is like, etc. — usually singular • I have a mental picture of what he looks like. • The book gives us a picture of life in a small village. • I don't yet have a full picture of what's going on. • After your explanation, I have a better/clearer picture of what to expect. • (informal) You've said enough. I get the picture. [=I understand; I get the idea]

3 [noncount] : a general situation • The staff looked at the financial picture of the company. • The overall economic picture is improving. • Marriage never entered the picture [=was never considered] until now. • After a brief separation, her boyfriend is back in the picture. [=she is dating him again] • With last year's winner out of the picture [=no longer in the competition], she has a good chance of winning. — see also BIG PICTURE

4 [count] : an image on the screen of a television set • The picture is fuzzy.

5 a [count] : a movie or film • "Casablanca" won the award for Best Picture in 1943. b the pictures old-fashioned : a showing of a movie in a theater • I took my girlfriend to the pictures. [= (US) the movies] c pictures [plural] : the movies or movie industry • He wants to work in pictures.

6 [noncount] a : someone or something that looks exactly like someone or something else • He is the picture of his father. [=he looks just like his father] b : a perfect example of something • She is the picture of health. [=she looks very healthy]

a picture is worth a thousand words see ¹WORTH

(as) pretty as a picture see ¹PRETTY

keep someone in the picture or put someone in the picture chiefly Brit : to give someone the information that is needed to understand something • Teachers meet regularly with parents to keep them in the picture about their child's progress. • I'll put you in the picture as soon as a final decision has been made.

paint/draw a picture of : to create an idea or understanding of something or someone through words, facts, etc. • The author paints a disturbing picture of life in the camp. • These statistics paint a clear picture of how the population is aging.

²picture verb -tures; -tured; -tur-ing [+ obj]

1 : to have a thought, understanding, or idea about (something or someone) : IMAGINE • I can still picture the house I grew up in. • I can't picture changing jobs at this point in my life. • Picture what it would be like if you didn't own a car. • Can you picture him as a teacher?

2 : to show or represent (someone or something) in a painting, drawing, or photograph — usually used as (be) pictured • She is pictured here with her sister.

3 : to describe (something or someone) in a particular way — + as; usually used as (be) pictured • She is pictured [=portrayed] as being very businesslike.

picture book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a book that has many pictures and is usually for children picture-book adj, always used before a noun : very pretty or charming : like a picture in a picture book • picture-book scenery

picture card noun, pl ~ cards [count] Brit : FACE CARD

picture-perfect adj [more ~; most ~] US : having an appearance or quality that is exactly right : completely perfect • The pilot made a picture-perfect landing. • The bride looked picture-perfect. [=the bride looked beautiful]

picture postcard noun, pl ~ -cards [count] old-fashioned : a postcard with a photograph or picture on one side

picture-postcard adj, always used before a noun : very pretty or charming : like a picture on a picture postcard • a picture-postcard village

pic-tur-esque /ˈpɪktʃəˈresk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very pretty or charming : like a painted picture • a picturesque village/setting • The view of the mountains was very picturesque.

2 : telling about something in a way that makes it very easy to imagine : causing someone to have a very clear mental picture of something • He gave a picturesque [=vivid] account of his travels.

picture tube noun, pl ~ tubes [count] : CATHODE-RAY TUBE picture window noun, pl ~ -dows [count] : a large window that is made from a single piece of glass — see picture at WINDOW

pid-dle /ˈpɪdl/ verb pid-dles; pid-dled; pid-dling [no obj] informal : URINATE • The dog pid-dled [=peed] on the rug.

pid-dle around [phrasal verb] chiefly US, informal : to waste time doing something that is not important or useful • We should stop pid-dling around and get busy.

pid-dle away [phrasal verb] pid-dle (something) away or pid-dle away (something) chiefly US, informal : to waste (something, such as time, money, an opportunity, etc.) • We pid-dled the whole morning away doing nothing. • He pid-dled away his entire paycheck.

pid-dling /ˈpɪdlən/ adj, always used before a noun, informal + disapproving : small or unimportant • He was paid a pid-dling amount of money. • pid-dling details

pid-dly /ˈpɪdli/ adj, always used before a noun, informal + disapproving : PIDDLING • I don't want to argue about pid-dly details.

pid-gin /ˈpɪdʒən/ noun, pl -gins [count, noncount] : a language that is formed from a mixture of several languages when speakers of different languages need to talk to each other — often used before another noun • linguists studying pidgin languages around the world • He spoke to me in Pid-gin English. [=English mixed with words from other languages]

pie /ˈpaɪ/ noun, pl pies : a food that consists of a pastry crust that is filled with fruit, meat, etc. [count] The bakery sells pies and cakes. [noncount] Would you like a piece/slice of apple pie? • I would like some pie. • a pie plate [=a dish used for holding a pie] — see picture at BAKING; see also BOSTON CREAM PIE, POTPIE, SHEPHERD'S PIE

a piece/slice/share of the pie : a portion of a particular amount of money • The state needs to give public schools a larger piece of the pie. [=the state needs to give public schools more funds] • He's the best player on the team and he wants a bigger slice of the pie. [=he wants more money]

(as) easy as pie see ¹EASY

eat humble pie see EAT

have a finger in a/the pie see ¹FINGER

— see also COW PIE, CUTIE-PIE, PIE CHART, PIE IN THE SKY, SWEETIE PIE

pie-bald /ˈpaɪˌbɑːld/ adj, always used before a noun : spotted with two different colors (especially black and white) • a pie-bald horse

¹piece /ˈpiːs/ noun, pl piec-es

1 [count] a : an amount that is cut or separated from a larger section of something • Divide the pie into six equal pieces. • The cheese was cut into small pieces and arranged on a silver platter. — often + of • I need a few more pieces of tape. • a long piece of string • a piece of wood/metal/plastic/leather/cloth • a piece of steak/chicken/fish • a piece [=slice] of pizza/bread/cake — see also PIECE OF CAKE b : an amount of something considered separately from the rest — + of • She bought a small piece of land/property in the country.

2 [count] : a small often broken part of something • pieces [=fragments] of broken glass • You have a piece of lettuce stuck between your teeth. • Her broken bicycle lay in pieces by the side of the road. • I watched her rip the letter to/into pieces and throw it away. • The old bridge was blown to pieces [=blown apart] during the war.

3 [count] : one of the parts that form a complete thing when they are put together • There are 12 pieces in this stainless steel knife set. • a jigsaw puzzle with 500 pieces • We're missing one piece of the puzzle. • They built up the stone wall one piece at a time. = They built up the stone wall piece by piece. • I took apart the engine piece by piece and put it back together again. • (Brit) The rifle comes to pieces [=it separates into parts] for easy storage. • (Brit) They took the bed to pieces [=they took apart the bed] and moved it out of the room. — often used in combination • a three-piece suit • one-piece bathing suits • a five-piece band

4 [singular] : a part of someone or something that is shared with other people : PORTION — + of • a piece of the jackpot • They went there to claim a piece of the American dream for themselves. • The town is growing fast, and these construction companies want a piece of the new housing market. • Once she became famous, everyone wanted a piece of her. = Everyone wanted a piece of her time. [=everyone wanted her to do things for them] — see also a piece of the action at ACTION, a piece of the pie at PIE

5 [count] : one of a particular type of thing — + of • Please take out a piece [=sheet] of paper and write your name on the top. • I packed three pieces of fruit: two apples and a banana. • a piece of candy/chalk • We had several new pieces of furniture delivered to our home. • You got two pieces of mail today. • a piece of clothing • an expensive piece of jewelry/luggage/equipment • His last car was a piece of junk. [=it was worthless or of poor quality] — see also CONVERSATION PIECE, PIECE OF WORK

6 [count] : an example or amount of something — usually singular; + of • May I offer you a piece [=bit] of advice? [=may I offer you some advice?] • I just heard a wonderful piece of news! • a new piece of information/evidence • an important piece of legislation • a silly piece of nonsense • That's a really nice piece of work you've done there! • an impressive piece of acting • a famous piece [=work] of art/literature/music

7 [count] a : a work of art, music, drama, or literature • The statue David is one of Michelangelo's most famous pieces. • a piece painted by Pablo Picasso • Next, we will be performing a piece by J. S. Bach. • a piano piece = a piece (written) for piano • They performed a short dramatic piece written for the king's birthday. — see also MUSEUM PIECE, PERIOD PIECE, SET PIECE b : an article in a newspaper or magazine or one of the parts of a television or radio news program • He has written several pieces for the magazine. • The newspaper printed her opinion piece [=an article that expresses someone's beliefs or views] criticizing the president. — often + about or on • Did you see that piece about/on the earthquake survivors? — see also PUFF PIECE

8 [count] : one of the small movable objects in a game like

chess or checkers • Move your piece [=man] forward three spaces. • capturing an opponent's pieces

9 [count] a : a coin that has a specified value • a 50-cent piece • a 10-pence piece b : a coin that is made of a specified metal • 30 gold pieces

10 [count] : GUN • (chiefly US, informal) He reached into his pocket and pulled out a piece. [=handgun] • artillery pieces [=large guns that shoot over long distances] from the First World War

11 [singular] US, informal : an amount of distance that is not specified • Their house is a fair piece from here. [=is a fairly long way away from here] • It's down the road a piece.

bits and pieces see ¹BIT

fall to pieces 1 : to break into parts • The old map fell to pieces [=came apart, fell apart] in my hands. 2 : to become ruined or destroyed • His life fell to pieces after his divorce. 3 : to become unable to control your emotions • She falls to pieces [=breaks down] when she tries to talk about the accident. • When he heard the bad news, he just fell to pieces. [=he started to cry]

give someone a piece of your mind see ¹MIND

go to pieces : to become unable to behave normally because you are very nervous or upset • He tends to go to pieces [=break down] under pressure. • I go (all) to pieces if I have to talk in front of a large group of people.

in one piece : without being hurt or damaged • It was a difficult trip, but we all made it home in one piece. [=safe and sound] • All our furniture arrived in one piece.

of a piece 1 : having similar qualities or characteristics : matching each other or belonging together • She believes that the two crimes are of a piece. [=are very similar] • We chose these 12 songs for the album because they were all of a piece. 2 : in agreement or harmony with something • This new theory is very much of a piece [= (more commonly) consistent] with their earlier work.

pick (someone or something) to pieces see ¹PICK

pick up the pieces see pick up at ¹PICK

say your piece : to say what you want to say : to express your opinions or ideas • You will all be given a chance to say your piece [=speak your mind] at the meeting tonight. • You've said your piece, now please let me respond.

tear (someone or something) to pieces see ¹TEAR to pieces informal : to a very great degree : very much • We're thrilled to pieces [=to bits] that you've decided to stay! • She loves him to pieces. — see also ¹PIECE 2, 3 (above)

²piece verb pieces; pieced; piec-ing

piece together [phrasal verb] piece (something) together or piece together (something) : to make (something) by bringing together various parts or pieces • She pieced the quilt together from scraps of old cloth. • Watching the movie was like piecing together [=putting together] a jigsaw puzzle. : to bring together (various parts or pieces) to form one complete thing • The police had to piece together reports from several witnesses to get an accurate account of what happened. • piecing together the clues/evidence pièce de ré-sis-tance /pi,esdəˈziːˈstɑːns/ noun, pl pièces de ré-sis-tance /pi,esdəˈziːˈstɑːns/ [count] : the best or most important thing or event • The pièce de résistance of the whole concert was when the two bands came onstage to perform together. • The waiter suggested we try the restaurant's pièce de résistance: the chocolate soufflé.

piece-meal /ˈpiːsˈmiːl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : done or made in a gradual way in a series of separate steps • They've done piecemeal repairs in the past, but the bridge now needs major reconstruction. • Some people want the changes to be made all at once, but I think we should take a more piece-meal approach.

— piecemeal adv • Our parents started selling off the family farm piecemeal [=gradually, piece by piece] several years ago, and now there are only five acres left.

piece of cake noun [singular] informal : something that is easy to do • “How was the test?” “The essay portion was hard, but the rest was a piece of cake.” [=cinch, breeze]

piece of work noun, pl pieces of work [count] chiefly US, informal + often disapproving : someone who is difficult to understand : a complicated or strange person. • She's a piece of work, isn't she? • Man, that guy's a real piece of work. a nasty piece of work chiefly Brit : an unkind or unpleasant person • Her boyfriend is a nasty piece of work.

piece-work /ˈpiːsˌwɜːk/ noun [noncount] : work in which you are paid for each thing you make or do and not for the amount of time you work • doing piecework in a factory — often used before another noun • piecework rates/earnings — piece-work-er /ˈpiːsˌwɜːkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] pie chart noun, pl ~ charts [count] : a chart consisting of a circle that is divided into parts to show the size of the different amounts that are a part of a whole amount pie-crust /ˈpaɪˌkrɒst/ noun, pl -crusts [count] : the outer part of a pie pie hole noun, pl ~ holes [count] US slang : someone's mouth • teenagers shoving pizza down their pie holes • Shut your pie hole! [=shut up; stop talking] pie in the sky noun [noncount] : something good that someone says will happen but that seems impossible or unlikely : a very unlikely or unrealistic goal, plan, etc. • His plan to reduce the national debt seems like pie in the sky.

— pie-in-the-sky adj • Voters did not believe his pie-in-the-sky promises.

pier /ˈpiə/ noun, pl piers [count] : a structure that goes out from a shore into the water ♦ Piers are typically used as a place for ships to load and unload people or things or as a place where people can walk. • The ferry leaves from pier 4. • People were fishing off the pier. • Couples walked on/along the pier.

pierce /ˈpiəs/ verb pierc-es; pierced; pierc-ing

1 : to make a hole in or through (something) [+ obj] The needle pierced her skin. • The bullet pierced his lung. • She had her ears pierced. = She pierced her ears. [=she had holes made in her ears so that she could wear earrings] [no obj] The needle pierced into her skin. • The bullet pierced through his lung.

2 : to go through or into (something) in a forceful or noticeable way [+ obj] A scream pierced the silence. • The fog was pierced by a dim light. [=a dim light could be seen through the fog] [no obj] — often + through • The flashlight pierced through the darkness. • A scream pierced through the air. • The troops pierced through the enemy's defenses.

pierced adj

1 of a body part : having a hole that was made so that a piece of jewelry can be worn through it • She has pierced ears. • a pierced nose/navel

2 : having holes made in one or more parts of your body so you can wear jewelry in them • a tattooed and pierced musician

¹piercing noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : the act or practice of decorating your body with jewelry or other objects that are attached directly to your skin • There's a small shop in town where they do tattooing and body piercing.

2 [count] : a hole through part of the body where a piece of jewelry can be attached • She got another ear piercing.

²piercing adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : seeming to have the power to see a person's thoughts or feelings • She looked at me with piercing eyes, and I was suddenly frightened that she knew what I had done. • I tried to avoid his piercing stare.

2 : very loud and high-pitched • a piercing scream/voice

3 : having a strong affect on someone : felt in a very noticeable way • She felt a piercing sadness when she heard the news.

4 : very cold • a piercing wind

— pierc-ing-ly adv • My father looked piercingly at me. • It is piercingly cold outside.

pi-e-ty /ˈpajəti/ noun [noncount] : devotion to God : the quality or state of being pious • He was admired for his extreme piety. • an act of piety

pif-fle /ˈpɪfəl/ noun [noncount] informal + old-fashioned : words or ideas that are false or silly : NONSENSE • His story is complete piffle.

pif-fling /ˈpɪfəlɪŋ/ adj, chiefly Brit, informal + disapproving : small and unimportant • a piffling [=piddling] amount of money

¹pig /ˈpɪɡ/ noun, pl pigs

1 [count] : an animal that has a fat body with short legs, a small tail, and a wide nose and that is raised on a farm or lives in the wild — compare HOG, PIGLET, SOW; see also GUINEA PIG, POTBELLIED PIG

pie chart

2 [count] informal + disapproving a : someone who eats a lot of food especially at one time • The kids eat like pigs. [=the kids eat a lot] • I made a pig of myself at dinner. [=I ate too much at dinner] b : someone who selfishly wants or takes more than other people • a greedy pig c : someone who is unpleasant or offensive • Don't be a pig. Say "excuse me" after you burp. • They live like pigs. [=they live in a dirty environment] • He is a sexist pig. = He is a male chauvinist pig. [=he is a man who thinks women are not equal to men]

pig

3 [count] slang, offensive : POLICE OFFICER
4 [singular] Brit, informal : something that is very difficult or unpleasant — + of • I had a pig of a day at work. [=I had a very difficult day at work]

a pig in a poke old-fashioned : something usually of poor quality that someone tries to persuade you to buy or accept when you do not know much about it • If you buy a used car without testing it, you're buying a pig in a poke.

In a pig's eye see ¹EYE make a pig's ear (out) of Brit, informal : to do or manage something badly • He has made a pig's ear of his reelection campaign.

pig in the middle see ¹PIGGY pigs might fly Brit, informal — said as a response to something that seems unlikely to happen • "This time I think he'll ask me to marry him!" "Yeah, and pigs might fly."
when pigs fly US, informal — used to say that you think that something will never happen • The train station will be renovated when pigs fly. [=it will never be renovated] pig out [phrasal verb] informal : to eat a lot of food at one time • I pigged out at the picnic. — often + on • The boys pigged out on pizza.

2 verb pigs; pigged; pig-ging

pi-geon /'pi:dʒən/ noun, pl -geons [count] : a gray bird that is common in cities and that has a fat body and short legs — see color picture on page C9; see also CLAY PIGEON, HOMING PIGEON, STOOL PIGEON

1 pi-geon-hole /'pi:dʒən,hou/ verb -holes; -holed; -hol-ing [+ obj] disapproving : to unfairly think of or describe (someone or something) as belonging to a particular group, having only a particular skill, etc. • She likes to perform different types of music because she doesn't want to be pigeonholed. — often + as • She doesn't want to be pigeonholed as a jazz musician.

2 pigeonhole noun, pl -holes [count]

1 chiefly Brit : a small open space in a desk, cabinet, or wall for keeping letters or papers
2 disapproving — used to say that someone or something is being unfairly thought of or described as belonging to a particular group, having only a particular skill, etc. • He's a talented actor who doesn't want to be put in a pigeonhole. [=doesn't want to be pigeonholed] pi-geon-toed /'pi:dʒən,toud/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having feet that are turned toward each other so that the toes do not point straight ahead • The child is pigeon-toed.

pig-gery /'pi:gəri/ noun, pl -ger-ies [count] chiefly Brit : a place where pigs are kept or raised pig-gish /'pi:giʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] chiefly US, informal + disapproving : greedy, offensive, or unpleasant • a piggish demand for more money • He has a piggish attitude toward women.

— pi-gish-ly adv

1 pig-gy /'pi:gi/ noun, pl -gies [count] informal : a pig ♦ Piggy is used especially by children or when talking to children. • Hey, look at the little piggy!

piggy in the middle also pig in the middle Brit, informal : someone who is brought into an argument between two people or groups • They're arguing again, and I'm piggy in the middle.

2 piggy adj [more ~; most ~] informal + disapproving : PIGGISH • piggy behavior

1 pig-gy-back /'pi:gi,bæk/ noun, pl -backs [count] : the act of carrying someone on your back or shoulders • Her father gave her a piggyback. = Her father gave her a piggyback ride. [=her father carried her on his back]

— piggyback adv • a child being carried piggyback

2 piggyback verb -backs; -backed; -back-ing : to be carried by or connected to something else or to cause (something) to be carried by or connected to something else — usually used figuratively [no obj] Other companies are trying to piggyback on our success. [=trying to use our success to help themselves] [+ obj] The legislation is being piggybacked on another bill. [=is being added to another bill so that they will both be passed together]

piggy bank noun, pl ~ banks [count] : a container that is often shaped like a pig with a narrow opening in the top and that is used for saving coins pig-head-ed /'pi:ghedəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : refusing to do what other people want or to change your opinion or the way you do something : very stubborn • He was too pigheaded to listen to my suggestion.

— pig-head-ed-ness noun [noncount]

pig in a blanket noun, pl pigs in a blanket or pigs in blankets [count] US : a small hot dog that is served in a wrapping of baked dough pig Latin noun [noncount] chiefly US : a playful way of speaking English in which the sound at the beginning of a word is moved to the end and the sound "ay" is added • "Oseclay the oorday" is pig Latin for "close the door."

pig-let /'pi:glət/ noun, pl -lets [count] : a baby pig pig-ment /'pi:gmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 : a natural substance that gives color to animals and plants [count] Chlorophyll is a group of green pigments. • Melanin is a pigment that gives color to skin and fur. [noncount] Albinos lack normal skin pigment.

2 : a substance that gives color to something else [count] Pigments are used to give color to paint, ink, and plastic. [noncount] Red pigment is mixed into the ink.

— pig-ment-ed /'pi:gməntəd/ adj • dark pigmented skin • pigmented paints pig-men-ta-tion /,pi:gmənt'eɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the natural coloring of people, animals, or plants • dark skin pigmentation

pigmy variant spelling of PYGMY

pig-pen /'pi:ɡ,pen/ noun, pl -pens [count] US

1 : PIGSTY 1

2 : PIGSTY 2 • Their house is a real pigpen.

pig-skin /'pi:ɡ,skɪn/ noun, pl -skins

1 [noncount] : leather made from the skin of a pig • The collar is made of pigskin. — often used before another noun • a pigskin jacket

2 [count] US, informal : the ball used in American football • We threw the pigskin [=football] around.

pig-sty /'pi:ɡ,staɪ/ noun, pl -sties [count]

1 : a place where pigs are kept — called also (US) pigpen, sty
2 informal : a dirty or messy place • His room was a pigsty. — called also (US) pigpen, sty

pig-tails /'pi:ɡ,teɪlz/ noun [plural] : hair tied in two ponytails or braids with one on each side of the head • I want to wear pigtails, but my mom tells me that they're for little girls. • She wore her hair in pigtails. — see picture at HAIR

— pig-tailed /'pi:ɡ,teɪld/ adj, always used before a noun • a pigtailed little girl

1 pike /'paɪk/ noun, pl pike or pikes [count] : a large fish that lives in rivers and lakes and that has a long body and sharp teeth — compare ²PIKE, ³PIKE

2 pike noun, pl pikes [count] US, informal : a road that people must pay to use : TURNPIKE — usually used with the • There might be a lot of traffic on the pike.

down the pike US, informal 1 : in the future • Today's technology is only a hint at what's down the pike. [=down the road] 2 come down the pike : to happen or appear • He is the greatest boxer to come down the pike [=come along] in years. • A chance like this doesn't come down the pike every day.

— compare ¹PIKE, ³PIKE

3 pike noun, pl pikes [count] : a long wooden pole with a steel point that was used in the past as a weapon — compare ¹PIKE, ²PIKE

pi-laf /'pi:lɑ:f, 'pi:lɑ:f, Brit 'pi:læf/ noun, pl pi-lafs [count, noncount] : a dish that is made of seasoned rice and vegetables and often meat • a vegetable pilaf • a serving of rice pilaf — called also (chiefly Brit) pilau

pi-las-ter /'pi:læstə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a rectangular column that is attached to a wall and that is used for decoration or support

Pi-la-tes /'pə'lɑ:tɪz/ noun [noncount] : a system of exercises that are often done with special equipment

pi-lau /pə'lou, Brit 'pi:lau/ noun, pl -laus [count, noncount] chiefly Brit : PILAF

¹pile /'pajəl/ noun, pl piles [count]

1 : a group of things that are put one on top of another • He put the magazines into a neat pile. • She raked the leaves into piles. • Take a card from the pile. — often + of • a pile of wood • a pile of clothes

2 informal a : a very large amount of something • She had piles of work to do. • He makes a pile of money. b : a large amount of money • He made his pile and then retired. • He made a pile in the stock market.

at the bottom of the pile : in a low or very unimportant position • He is at the bottom of the pile but should get a promotion soon. • The team finished the season at the bottom of the pile.

at the top of the pile : in a high or very important position • With this promotion, he will be at the top of the pile. • The team finished the season at the top of the pile.

— compare ³PILE, ⁴PILE

²pile verb piles; piled; pil-ing

1 [+ obj] : to put (something) in a pile • The campers piled [=stacked] wood for the fire. • The books were piled [=heaped] high on the table. — often + up • The teacher neatly piled up the students' papers.

2 [+ obj] : to put a large amount of things on or in (something) — + with • He piled his plate with potatoes. • The chair was piled with clothes. [=there was a pile of clothes on the chair]

3 [+ obj] : to put (things or people) inside or on top of something in a quick and careless way — + into or onto • I piled all my clothes into one suitcase. • We piled the kids into the van. • He piled potatoes onto his plate.

4 [no obj] of a group of people, animals, etc. : to enter or get on something (such as a building or vehicle) quickly — + into or onto • The kids piled [=crowded] into the van. • People piled into the theater. • We piled onto the sofa.

pile in [phrasal verb] of a group of people, animals, etc. : to move into a place or vehicle quickly • She parked the van and we all piled in.

pile on [phrasal verb] 1 pile on (something) : to put a large amount of (something) on something or someone • He piled on the gravy. • The teacher punished the class by piling on more work. [=the teacher punished the class by giving them more work] • Her parents piled on the pressure to do well in school. [=her parents put a lot of pressure on her to do well in school] ♦ If you pile on the pounds, you gain a lot of weight. 2 US, informal : to join other people in criticizing something or someone in usually an unfair way • After the first few negative reviews, all the other critics started piling on.

pile out [phrasal verb] of a group of people, animals, etc. : to move out of a place or a vehicle quickly • She parked the van, and the kids piled out. • The crowd piled out of the theater.

pile up [phrasal verb] : to increase in amount or number to a total that is difficult to manage • Work piled up while she was on vacation. • The bills are piling up. • Traffic piled up because of the accident. • Snow piled up on the cars. — see also PILEUP

³pile noun : a soft surface of short threads on a rug, carpet, etc. [singular] The rug has a thick pile. [noncount] It's a yellow rug with shaggy pile. — compare ³NAP — compare ¹PILE, ⁴PILE

⁴pile noun, pl piles [count] : a long stake or pointed post that is pushed into the ground to support something (such as a building) — compare ¹PILE, ³PILE

pile driver noun, pl ~-ers [count]

1 : a machine used for hammering posts into the ground
2 Brit, informal : a very hard kick or hit • He hit a pile driver into the net from 20 yards out.

piles noun [plural] medical : a swollen mass of veins located at or near the anus • He has piles. [=hemorrhoids]

pile-up /'pajəl,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count]

1 : an accident in which several or many vehicles crash into each other • A five-car pileup slowed traffic.

2 : a large amount of something that has increased gradually over a period of time • a pileup of debt — see also pile up at ²PILE pil-fer /'pilfə/ verb -fers; -fered; -fer-ing : to steal things that are not very valuable or to steal a small amount of something [no obj] He was caught pilfering. [+ obj] She pilfered stamps and paper from work.

pil-grim /'pilgrəm/ noun, pl -grims [count]

1 : someone who travels to a holy place • Thousands of Muslim pilgrims traveled to Mecca.

2 Pilgrim : one of the people who traveled by boat from England and created the first permanent settlement in New England at Plymouth in 1620

pil-grim-age /'pilgrəmidʒ/ noun, pl -ag-es

1 : a journey to a holy place [count] He made a pilgrimage to Mecca. [noncount] The tradition of pilgrimage is important in Islam.

2 : a journey to a special or unusual place [count] The family went on a pilgrimage to historical battlefields. [noncount] The poet's grave site has become a place of pilgrimage.

¹pill /'pil/ noun, pl pills [count]

1 a : a small, rounded object that you swallow and that contains medicine, vitamins, etc. • She took a pill for her headache. • The drug is available as a pill or a liquid. • diet pills — see also PEP PILL, POISON PILL, SLEEPING PILL, SUGAR PILL b the pill : a pill that a woman takes so that she will not become pregnant : a contraceptive in pill form • She is on the pill. [=she is taking birth control pills regularly] — see also MORNING-AFTER PILL

2 US, informal : an annoying person — usually singular • Don't be such a pill.

(a) bitter pill (to swallow) see ¹BITTER

sugar/sweeten the pill : to make an unpleasant thing less difficult to accept or deal with • Faster service may sugar the pill of higher fees.

²pill verb pills; piled; pill-ing [no obj] of a sweater, fabric, etc. : to begin to have small balls of fiber on the surface usually after having been worn or used many times • Wool sweaters may pill after you wash them.

pil-lage /'pilidʒ/ verb -lag-es; -laged; -lag-ing : to take things from (a place, such as a city or town) by force especially during a war : to loot or plunder (a place) [+ obj] The enemy pillaged the town. • The town was pillaged and burned. [no obj] barbarians known for looting and pillaging — pillage noun [noncount] • The town suffered pillage and destruction. — pil-lag-er noun, pl -ers [count] • The museum's artwork was stolen by pillagers.

pil-lar /'pilə/ noun, pl -lars [count]

1 : a large post that helps to hold up something (such as a roof)

2 : someone who is an important member of a group — + of • He is a pillar of the church/community. • a pillar of society

3 : a basic fact, idea, or principle of something — + of • a central pillar of the theory • one of the five pillars of Islam • The right to vote is a pillar of democracy.

4 : something that rises into the air in a tall, thin shape • Pillars of smoke rose from the factory. • a pillar of rock from pillar to post chiefly Brit : from one place or one situation to another • His book has been passed from pillar to post, but no one wants to publish it. • He has been running from pillar to post his whole life.

pillar of strength : someone or something that gives support or help during difficult times • My husband was my/a pillar of strength during my mother's illness. • Religion was his pillar of strength after his wife died.

pil-box /'pil,bɔks/ noun, pl -box-es [count]

1 : a small box for holding pills

2 : a small, low shelter for machine guns and other weapons

3 : a small, round hat without a brim

pil-lion /'piljən/ noun [singular] chiefly Brit : a seat for a passenger on a motorcycle — often used before another noun • a pillion passenger/seat

— pillion adv, chiefly Brit • He rode pillion. [=on a pillion]

pil-lock /'pilək/ noun, pl -locks [count] Brit slang : a stupid person • He was acting like a total pillock.

¹pil-lo-ry /'piləri/ verb -ries; -ried; -ry-ing [+ obj] : to publicly criticize (someone) in a very harsh way • The press pilloried the judge for her decision. — often used as (be) pilloried • The mayor was pilloried by the press for his comments.

²pillory noun, pl -ries [count] : a device that was used in the past for punishing someone in public and that consists of a wooden frame with holes in which the head and hands can be locked

pil-low /'pilou/ noun, pl -lows [count] : a bag filled with soft material that is used as a cushion usually for the head of a person who is lying down — see picture at BED

pil-low-case /'pilou,keis/ noun, pl -cas-es [count] : a removable covering for a pillow — called also pillowslip; see picture at BED

pil·low·slip /'pɪləʊslɪp/ noun, pl -slips [count] : PILLOWCASE

pillow talk noun [noncount] informal : a conversation between lovers in bed

¹pi·lot /'pɪlət/ noun, pl -lots [count]

1 : a person who flies an airplane, helicopter, etc. • an airline pilot • a fighter/bomber pilot — see also AUTOPILOT, BUSH PILOT, COPILLOT, TEST PILOT

2 : a person who steers or guides a ship into and out of a port or in dangerous waters

3 : a single television show that is made as a test to see if a television series based on the show would be popular and successful

4 : PILOT LIGHT

— pi·lot·less /'pɪlətləs/ adj • pilotless aircraft/planes

²pilot verb -lots; -lot·ed; -lot·ing [+ obj]

1 : to fly (an airplane, spacecraft, etc.) • He is learning how to pilot a helicopter.

2 : to steer or guide (a ship) • He skillfully piloted the ship into port during the storm. — often used figuratively • The education bill was piloted through the House and Senate. • The hostess piloted us to our table. • a skillful manager who has piloted his team to the playoffs

³pilot adj, always used before a noun : done as a test to see if a larger program, study, etc., should be done • The group conducted a pilot program/project/study. • a pilot episode pilot light noun, pl ~ lights [count] : a small flame that is always burning in a gas stove, burner, etc., and that is used to light a larger flame pilot officer noun, pl ~ -cers [count] : an officer of low rank in the British Air Force

pil·sner or pil·sen·er /'pɪlsnə/ noun, pl -sners or -seners [count, noncount] : a light beer with a strong flavor of hops pi·men·to /pə'mentou/ noun, pl -tos or -to [count] : PIMIENTO

pi·mien·to /pəm'jentou/ noun, pl -tos [count] : a type of small, mildly sweet pepper

¹pimp /'pɪmp/ noun, pl pimps [count] : a man who makes money illegally by getting customers for prostitutes

²pimp verb pimps; pimped; pimp·ing [no obj] : to get customers for prostitutes : to work as a pimp — often + for • He pimps for three women.

pim·ple /'pɪmpəl/ noun, pl pimples [count] : a small, red, swollen spot on the skin • a teenager who has pimples [=acne]

— pim·pled /'pɪmpəld/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a pimpled face — pim·ply /'pɪmpəli/ adj pim·pli·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] • pimply skin • a pimply teenager

¹pin /'pɪn/ noun, pl pins

1 [count] : a thin, pointed piece of stiff wire with a rounded head at one end that is used especially for fastening pieces of cloth — see picture at SEWING; see also BOBBY PIN, CLOTHESPIN, DRAWING PIN, HAIRPIN, SAFETY PIN

2 [count] a : a thin, pointed piece of stiff wire with a decoration at one end — see also HATPIN b chiefly US : BROOCH c : a small usually circular object that has writing and often a picture on it and that has a pin on the back so that it can be fastened to clothing, bags, etc. • He handed out pins with the peace sign on them. • political campaign pins

3 [count] a : a thin piece of wood, metal, or plastic that is used for holding things together or for hanging one thing from another b : a long, thin piece of metal that is used to fasten together the ends of broken bone

4 [count] Brit : one of the metal pieces that stick out from an electric plug and fit into a socket : PRONG • a three-pin plug

5 [count] : a thin piece of metal that is removed to trigger the explosion of a small bomb (called a grenade) • pull the pin

6 [count] golf : a long stick with a flag at the top that shows where the hole is on a green • The ball landed near the pin.

7 [count] bowling : one of the usually white standing pieces that are knocked down with the ball — see also TENPIN

8 pins [plural] informal : the legs of a person or animal • They were knocked right off their pins by the heavy winds.

you could hear a pin drop — used to say that it was so quiet that the smallest noise could be heard • After he announced that he was leaving, you could hear a pin drop in the office.

²pin verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition pins; pinned; pin·ning [+ obj]

1 : to fasten or attach (something) with a pin • She pinned a rose to her dress. • The general pinned the medal on the soldier. • She pinned up/back her hair. • He pinned a sign on the wall.

2 : to prevent or stop (someone or something) from moving by holding or pressing firmly against something • The passengers were pinned under the wreckage. • The guards pinned his arms to his sides. • She was pinned against the side of the car. • The police officers pinned the suspect down (on the ground). — sometimes used figuratively • The soldiers were pinned down by enemy fire. [=the soldiers were unable to move because they were being shot at by the enemy]

pin down [phrasal verb] 1 pin (someone) down : to cause or force (someone) to make a definite statement or decision about something • Reporters tried to pin him down on the specific changes he wants to make to the tax laws. • He talked in a general way, but they couldn't pin him down to specifics. 2 pin down (something) or pin (something) down : to find out (something) with certainty • Can you pin down when the change occurred? • I'm trying to pin down [=identify] the source of the problem.

pin on [phrasal verb] 1 pin (something) on (someone) : to say that (something) was done or caused by (someone) • The police pinned the robbery on the night watchman. • He always manages to pin [=fasten] the blame on someone else. 2 pin (all) your hopes on (something) : to hope very much that (something) will help you or allow you to succeed • Many cancer patients are pinning their hopes on a new drug that is now being developed. • You shouldn't pin all your hopes on getting the job.

PIN /'pɪn/ abbr personal identification number ♦ A personal identification number is a secret number that is used to get money from a bank account through a machine, to get personal information on a Web site, etc.

pi·ña co·la·da /'pi:njəkou'lɑ:də/ noun, pl ~ -das [count] : a drink that is made of rum, coconut juice, and pineapple juice mixed with ice pin·a·fore /'pɪnə,fɔə/ noun, pl -fores [count] : ²JUMPER 1

pi·ña·ta or pi·na·ta /'pin'jɑ:tə/ noun, pl -tas [count] : a decorated container filled with candies, fruits, and gifts that is hung up at parties or celebrations and hit with a stick by children until it is broken and the things inside it fall out pin·ball /'pɪn,bɑ:l/ noun [noncount] : a game played on a special machine in which a ball scores points by hitting targets while rolling down a slanting surface and the player tries to control the ball with a set of levers • We spent hours playing pinball. • a pinball machine

pince·nez /,pæns'nei/ noun, pl pince·nez /,pæns'neɪz/ [count] : a pair of old-fashioned eyeglasses that do not have pieces that fit over the ears and that are worn by being clipped onto the nose

pin·cer /'pɪnsə/ noun, pl -cers

1 pincers [plural] : a small tool that is used for holding or gripping small objects • He used (a pair of) pincers to remove the nail.

2 [count] : a claw of a lobster or crab and some insects

pincer movement noun, pl ~ -ments [count] : a military attack by two groups of soldiers that approach an enemy position from two different directions at the same time

¹pinch /'pɪntʃ/ verb pinch·es; pinched; pinch·ing

1 [+ obj] a : to squeeze (someone's skin) between your thumb and finger often in a painful way • My little brother is always trying to pinch me. • He pinched her cheeks and told her how cute she was. — often used figuratively • It was all so beautiful I had to pinch myself [=I had to remind myself that it was real] to be sure I wasn't dreaming. • Pinch me. [=I can't believe this is happening] b : to squeeze or press (something) together with your thumb and finger • Pinch together the edges of the dough. • He pinched the top of his nose to stop the bleeding and leaned forward. c : to remove (part of a plant) by squeezing with your thumb and finger • He pinched off/out the top of the shoots. • She pinched back the new growth.

2 : to press against or squeeze (a part of the body) in a painful way [+ obj] These new shoes are pinching my toes. • I pinched my fingers in the door. • He had a pinched nerve [=a nerve pressed against a bone in the neck in a painful way] in his neck. [no obj] These shoes pinch.

piñata

3 [no obj] : to be very careful about spending money : to spend as little money as possible • By pinching and scraping, she managed to save enough money to buy a new car. — see also PINCH PENNIES (below)

4 [+ obj] chiefly Brit, informal : to steal (something) • Someone pinched her purse. • The material was pinched [=lifted] from another book.

5 [+ obj] informal + old-fashioned : to arrest (someone) — often + for • He was pinched for speeding.

6 [+ obj] chiefly US, informal a : to cause financial problems for (someone or something) • Many people are now being/feeling pinched [=squeezed] by high gasoline prices. • The recession is pinching the pocketbooks of many people. b : to reduce or limit (something) in a way that causes problems • The trade embargo drove up prices and pinched supplies.

pinch pennies informal : to be very careful about spending money : to spend as little money as possible • He pinched pennies to live on his small paycheck.

2 pinch noun, pl pinches [count]

1 : the act of pinching someone or something — usually singular • He gave me a pinch on the cheek. [=he pinched my cheek]

2 : the amount of something that can be held between your finger and thumb — often + of • Add a pinch of salt to the soup. • He took a pinch of snuff.

feel the pinch : to experience the problems caused by not having enough money or by paying higher costs • The family began to feel the pinch after the mother lost her job. • We are starting to feel the pinch of high fuel costs.

in a pinch (US) or Brit at a pinch : in a bad situation when help is needed • I can help out in a pinch if you need a babysitter. • In a pinch, you can substitute another ingredient in the recipe. • She can be resourceful in a pinch. [=in an emergency]

take (something) with a pinch of salt see 1 SALT

3 pinch adj, always used before a noun, US, baseball

1 : used as a substitute for another player • a pinch runner [=a player who enters a game as a runner in place of another player]

2 : made by a pinch hitter • A pinch homer won the game. • a pinch hit pinched adj [more ~; most ~] : having a thin and unhealthy appearance • She had pinched cheeks. • a face pinched with cold pinched for chiefly US, informal : not having enough of (something) • Students are especially pinched for time at the end of the school year. • Pinched for cash/money, he skipped lunch.

pinch-hit /'pɪnʃ'hit/ verb -hits; -hit; -hit-ting [no obj] US

1 baseball : to bat in the place of another player • The manager sent in Jones to pinch-hit for the pitcher.

2 informal : to act or serve in place of another person : SUBSTITUTE • The President wasn't able to attend the ceremony, so the Vice President was there to pinch-hit for him.

— pinch hitter noun, pl ~-ters [count]

pin-cush-ion /'pɪn,kʊʃən/ noun, pl -ions [count] : a small bag filled with a soft material that pins and needles can be pushed into when they are not being used — see picture at SEWING

1 pine /'paɪn/ noun, pl *pin*es or pine

1 [count] : a tree that has long, thin needles instead of leaves and that stays green throughout the year — called also pine tree

2 [noncount] : the wood of a pine tree that is often used to make furniture

— pine adj • pine trees/needles/forests/floors • The box is pine. — pin-ey also piny /'paɪni/ adj, chiefly US • a piney aroma • a piney forest [=a forest with many pine trees]

2 pine verb *pin*es; *pin*ed; pin-ing [no obj] : to become thin and weak because of sadness or loss — usually + away • Since his wife left him, he spends his days alone, *pin*ing away. synonyms see YEARN

pine after [phrasal verb] pine after (someone or something) US : to want or desire (someone or something) very much • teenage girls *pin*ing after rock stars

pine for [phrasal verb] pine for (someone or something) : to feel very sad because you want (something) or because you are not with (someone) • She was *pin*ing for the old days. • He's *pin*ing for his college sweetheart. • At this time of year, most people are *pin*ing for [=longing for] the return of spring.

pine-apple /'paɪ,næpəl/ noun, pl -apples [count, non-count] : a large fruit that grows on a tropical tree and that has thick skin and very sweet, juicy, yellow flesh • a can of chopped pineapple • pineapple juice — see color picture on page C5

pine-cone /'paɪn,kəʊn/ noun, pl -cones [count] : a hard and dry part that is the fruit of a pine tree and contains many seeds — see color picture on page C6

pine nut noun, pl ~ nuts [count] : the seed of some pine trees that is used as food — usually plural • The recipe calls for ¼ cup of pine nuts. — called also (Brit) pine kernel

pinecone

ping /'pɪŋ/ verb *pin*gs; *pin*ged; pin-ing [no obj]

1 : to make the high, sharp sound of a small, hard object bouncing off metal or glass • The engine in my car keeps *pin*ging. [= (Brit) *pink*ing]

2 : to bounce off something with a sharp, high sound • Pebbles *pin*ged off the car.

— ping noun, pl *pin*gs [count]

Ping-Pong /'pɪŋ,pɑːŋ/ trademark — used for table tennis pin-head /'pɪn,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count]

1 : the rounded end of a pin • The insect is the size of a pin-head.

2 US, informal : a stupid or foolish person • Her boss is a real pinhead.

pin-head-ed /'pɪn,hedəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : stupid or foolish • her pinheaded boss/decision pin-hole /'pɪn,həʊl/ noun, pl -holes [count] : a very small hole made by a pin or in some other way • The water was leaking through a pinhole in the pipe. • pinhole leaks

1 pin-ion /'pɪnjən/ verb -ions; -ioned; -ion-ing [+ obj] : to tie up (someone's arms or legs) very tightly • They *pin*ioned his arms behind his back.

2 pinion noun, pl -ions [count] technical : a small gear in a machine • a car with rack and pinion steering

1 pink /'pɪŋk/ noun, pl *pin*ks

1 [count, noncount] : a pale red color : a color that is a mixture of red and white — see color picture on page C3; see also SHOCKING PINK

2 [count] : a plant with narrow leaves and colorful flowers in the pink informal + old-fashioned : in very good health • Regular exercise helped to keep her in the pink (of good health).

— pink-ish /'pɪŋkɪʃ/ adj • a pinkish rose/color — pink-ness noun [noncount]

2 pink adj : of the color pink • pink roses • Her dress is pale/salmon pink.

tickled pink see TICKLE

3 pink verb *pin*ks; *pin*ked; pin-ing [no obj] Brit : PING 1

pink-collar adj, chiefly US : traditionally held by women • pink-collar jobs — compare BLUE-COLLAR, WHITE-COLLAR pink-eye /'pɪŋk,aɪ/ noun [noncount] chiefly US, medical : CONJUNCTIVITIS pin-kie or pin-ky /'pɪŋki/ noun, pl -kies [count] chiefly US + Scotland, informal : LITTLE FINGER • She cut her left pinkie. • a pinkie ring

*pink*ing shears noun [plural] : scissors with special blades that make an edge with many sharp points when they cut cloth pinko /'pɪŋkəʊ/ noun, pl *pin*k-os [count] informal

1 US, disapproving : a person who is a communist or socialist or who supports the ideas of communists and socialists

2 Brit : a person whose political or economic opinions are slightly liberal or radical pink slip noun, pl ~ slips [count] chiefly US, informal : a notice that is given to a worker by an employer saying that the worker's job is ending • Thousands of factory workers have been given the pink slip [=have been laid off; have lost their jobs] in recent months. = Thousands of workers have gotten the pink slip.

— pink-slip verb -slips; -slipped; -slip-ping [+ obj] — usually used as (be/get) pink-slipped • Thousands of factory workers have been/gotten pink-slipped in recent months.

pin money noun [noncount] old-fashioned : money that is used for small expenses • She had a babysitting job to earn pin money.

pin-na-cle /'pɪnɪkəl/ noun, pl -na-cles [count]

1 : a high mountain top • a lofty pinnacle

2 : the best or most important part of something : the point of greatest success or achievement — usually singular • His career reached its pinnacle when he won the championship. — often + of • Winning the championship was the pinnacle of his career. • She stands at the pinnacle of the fashion industry. • She has achieved/reached the pinnacle of success.

3 : a tower on the roof of a building that comes to a narrow point at the top pin·ny /'pɪni/ noun, pl -nies [count] Brit, informal : PIN-AFORE

pi·noch·le /'pi:nɒkəl/ noun [noncount] : a card game played with a special deck of 48 cards

Pinot Blanc /'pi:nou'blɑ:ŋk/ noun, pl ~ Blancs [count, noncount] : a dry white wine originally from France

Pinot Gri·gio /'pi:nou'gri:ʤijou/ noun, pl ~ -gios [count, noncount] : a dry white wine originally from Italy

Pinot Noir /'pi:nou'nwɑ:ʃ/ noun, pl ~ Noirs [count, noncount] : a dry red wine originally from France

1 pin·point /'pɪn,pɔɪnt/ noun, pl -points [count] : a very small point or dot — often + of • a pinpoint of light

2 pinpoint adj, always used before a noun : very exact or precise • The pitcher showed pinpoint control of his fastball. • pinpoint accuracy/precision

3 pinpoint verb -points; -point·ed; -point·ing [+ obj] 1 : to find out (something) with certainty • They were finally able to pinpoint the cause of the fire.

2 : to find or locate the exact position of (something) • He pinpointed the city on the map. • Rescuers were able to pinpoint where the lost girl was. • The military uses computer imaging to pinpoint targets.

pin·prick /'pɪn,pɹɪk/ noun, pl -pricks [count]

1 : a small hole that is made by a pin or other sharp tool : PINHOLE

2 : a very small point or dot — often + of • a pinprick [= pinpoint] of light

3 : a slight but sharp pain caused by a pin or needle • He felt a pinprick in his leg. — often used figuratively • I felt a pinprick of jealousy when I saw them together.

pins and needles noun [noncount] : the unpleasant tingling feeling in a part of your body (such as your arm or leg) as it becomes numb or recovers from being numb on pins and needles US : feeling very nervous and unsure about what will happen • Everyone was on pins and needles waiting to hear the jury's verdict.

pin·stripe /'pɪn,straɪp/ noun, pl -stripes

1 [count] : a thin vertical stripe on cloth • a dark suit with white pinstripes — often used before another noun • a pin-stripe pattern/shirt/suit — see color picture on page C12

2 pinstripes [plural] : a suit with pinstripes • a man dressed in pinstripes

— pin-striped /'pɪn,straɪpt/ adj • a pin-striped suit pint /'paɪnt/ noun, pl pints [count]

1 US : a unit for measuring liquids that is equal to 0.473 liters

2 Brit : a unit for measuring liquids that is equal to 0.568 liters

3 a : a container that holds a pint of something • The ice cream comes in pints. b chiefly Brit : a pint of beer • I'd like another pint, please. • We'll all go for a pint after work.

pin·to /'pɪntou/ noun, pl -tos [count] US : a horse or pony that has patches of white and another color pinto bean noun, pl ~ beans [count] : a type of small bean that is grown for food pint-sized /'paɪnt,saɪzd/ or pint-size /'paɪnt,saɪz/ adj, informal : very small • pint-sized children • a pint-sized actress • The restaurant serves pint-sized portions.

pin·up /'pɪn,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count]

1 : a photograph of an attractive person (such as an actress or model) that is hung or pinned on a wall

2 : a person who appears in or is attractive enough to appear in a pinup • He is dating a glamorous pinup.

— pinup adj, always used before a noun • a pinup calendar pin·wheel /'pɪn,wɪ:l/ noun, pl -wheels [count] US

1 : a toy that has a set of thin blades that are arranged like a fan on the end of a stick and that spin like a wheel when air is blown on them — called also (Brit) windmill

2 : a type of firework that spins like a wheel — called also (Brit) Catherine wheel

1 pi·o·neer /'paɪə'niə/ noun, pl -neers [count]

1 : a person who helps create or develop new ideas, methods, etc. — often + in • They were pioneers in the field of American medicine. • She was a pioneer in the development of new cancer treatments. — often + of • a pioneer of digital technology

2 : someone who is one of the first people to move to and live in a new area • the pioneers who settled in the American West in the 19th century

— pioneer adj, always used before a noun • pioneer surgeons • the pioneer days of the old West

2 pioneer verb -neers; -neered; -neer·ing : to help create or develop (new ideas, methods, etc.) : to be a pioneer in the development of (something) [+ obj] a painter who pioneered a new art form • The new method of cancer treatment was pioneered by an international team of researchers. • He helped pioneer a new route to the West. [no obj] He pioneered in the development of airplanes.

pioneering adj : using new and better ideas for the first time • pioneering studies • a pioneering experiment • He played a pioneering role in the development of online business models.

pi·ous /'paɪəs/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : deeply religious : devoted to a particular religion • pious [= devout] churchgoing people • They lived a quiet, pious life.

2 disapproving : falsely appearing to be good or moral • I'm tired of hearing politicians making pious pronouncements about their devotion to the people.

pious hope/wish : something that is hoped for but will probably not happen • His speech contained no practical solutions, just the pious hope that the war would end soon.

— pi·ous·ly adv

1 pip /'pɪp/ noun, pl pips [count] US

1 : one of the dots on dice or dominoes that show their value

2 : a design on a playing card that shows the suit and value — compare 2 PIP

2 pip noun, pl pips [count]

1 chiefly Brit : a small, hard seed of some fruits • orange/apple pips [= (US) seeds]

2 informal + old-fashioned : a person or thing that is liked or admired very much • It's a pip of an idea. • She's a pip!

3 Brit : a short, high sound : BEEP

— compare 1 PIP

3 pip verb pips; pipped; pip·ping [+ obj] Brit, informal : to defeat (someone or something) by a small amount in a race or other competition • The horse pipped his rival at the wire. • The team was pipped at/to the post by its longtime rival.

1 pipe /'paɪp/ noun, pl pipes

1 [count] : a long, hollow tube for carrying water, steam, gas, etc. • water/sewer pipes • copper/lead pipes — see picture at PLUMBING; see also DRAINPIPE, HOSEPIPE, STOVEPIPE, TAILPIPE, WINDPIPE

2 [count] : a tube with a small bowl at one end that is used for smoking tobacco • He smokes a pipe. • He lit the pipe. — see also PEACE PIPE, WATER PIPE

3 a [count] : a musical instrument that is in the shape of a tube, has holes along the top, and is played by blowing — see also PANPIPE b [count] : any one of the large tubes of an organ that produce sound when air goes through them

c pipes [plural] : BAGPIPE d pipes [plural] US, informal : a singer's voice • He has the pipes to sing on Broadway. • a singer with a fine set of pipes put/stick that in your pipe and smoke it informal — used to tell someone that they must accept what you say is true even though they might not like it or agree with you • "It's a stupid movie." "Oh really? Well it was just nominated for an Oscar, so put/stick that in your pipe and smoke it!"

2 pipe verb pipes; piped; pip·ing

1 [+ obj] : to carry or move (something, such as water or oil) in a pipe — often used as (be) piped • Water is piped into the cabin from an underground stream.

2 [+ obj] : to send (music or recorded sound) from one place to another through an electrical connection — usually used as (be) piped • Music is piped into every store in the mall.

3 a [no obj] : to play a pipe or the bagpipes • The pipers piped while the drummers drummed. b [+ obj] : to play (a tune or song) on a pipe or the bagpipes • The musician piped a tune.

4 [+ obj] : to decorate a cake, cookie, etc., with a line of (something, such as cream or frosting) by using a special bag or tube • I piped the frosting around the edge of the cake.

pipe

pipe down [phrasal verb] informal : to become quiet : to stop talking • The teacher told the students to pipe down. [=quiet down] pipe up [phrasal verb] informal : to start talking : to say something • After being quiet for almost an hour, he suddenly piPED up [=spoke up] to ask where we were going.

pipe cleaner noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a piece of wire that is covered with soft cloth and used to clean the inside of a tobacco pipe pipe dream noun, pl ~ dreams [count] : a hope, wish, or dream that is impossible to achieve or not practical • His plan for starting his own business was just a pipe dream.

pipe fitter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a person whose job is to install and repair pipes that carry water, gas, etc.

pipe-line /'paɪp,laɪn/ noun, pl -lines

1 [count] : a line of connected pipes that are used for carrying liquids and gases over a long distance • a natural gas pipe-line — sometimes used figuratively • a weapons pipeline • a news pipeline from the mayor's office

2 the pipeline : the system for developing and producing something • the next wave of products to come down the pipeline [=to be produced] • Newer treatments for the disease are in the pipeline. [=are being developed] • He's a film producer with several projects in the pipeline. [=in the works]

pipe organ noun, pl ~ -gans [count] : ORGAN 2a

pip·er /'paɪpə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who plays a pipe or the bagpipes pay the piper informal 1 : to pay the cost of something • We have to do what they say because they're the ones who are paying the piper. • You know what they say: he who pays the piper calls the tune. [=the person who pays for something controls how it is done] 2 chiefly US : to pay money or suffer in some way because of something you have done • They have mismanaged the company for years, and now they have to pay the piper.

pi·pette /paɪ'pet, Brit pi'pet/ noun, pl -pettes [count] technical : a narrow glass tube used for measuring liquid or for moving small amounts of liquid from one place to another

¹pip·ing /'paɪpɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 : pipes that carry water, gas, etc. • There's a problem with the pip-ing in the building. • kitchen/bathroom pip-ing
2 : the music of a pipe or pipes
3 : a narrow tube of cloth that is used to decorate clothes, furniture, etc. • a sofa trimmed with blue pip-ing • a uniform with yellow pip-ing down the pants

²pip-ing adj : having a high-pitched sound or tone • the pip-ing voices of small children

pip-ing hot adj, of food or drink : very hot • The coffee was served pip-ing hot. • pip-ing hot soup pip·squeak /'pɪp,skwi:k/ noun, pl -squeaks [count] informal : a person who is very small or unimportant • He's just a pipsqueak compared to his teammates.

pi·quant /'pi:kənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : having a pleasant, spicy taste • piquant vegetables seasoned with pepper • He served the fish with a piquant sauce.
2 : interesting and exciting • a piquant bit of gossip
— pi·quan·cy /'pi:kənsi/ noun [noncount] • The pepper added piquancy to the sauce. — pi·quant·ly adv

¹pique /'pi:k/ noun [noncount] formal : a sudden feeling of annoyance or anger when someone has offended you • After a moment of pique, the senator responded calmly to his accusers. • He slammed the door in a fit of pique.

²pique verb piques; piqued; piqu·ing [+ obj]

1 chiefly US : to cause (curiosity or interest) • The package piqued [=sparked, aroused] my curiosity. • Brightly colored objects pique a baby's interest.
2 chiefly Brit : to make (someone) annoyed or angry — usually used as (be) piqued • I was piqued by his rudeness.

pi·ra·cy /'paɪrəsi/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of attacking and stealing from a ship at sea • piracy on the high seas
2 a : the act of illegally copying someone's product or invention without permission • software/music/video piracy b : the act of illegally making television or radio broadcasts • radio piracy

pi·ra·nha /pə'rɑ:nə/ noun, pl -nhas [count] : a small South American fish that has sharp teeth and that eats the flesh of animals — see color picture on page C8

¹pi·rate /'paɪrət/ noun, pl -rates [count]

1 : someone who attacks and steals from a ship at sea • the famous pirate Jean Lafitte — often used before another noun • a pirate ship/costume/captain/movie

2 a : someone who illegally copies a product or invention without permission • A software pirate made bootleg copies of the computer program. — often used before another noun • pirate videotapes/CDs/software • pirate translations
b : a person or organization that illegally makes television or radio broadcasts — usually used before another noun • pirate radio

— pi·rat·i·cal /pə'rætɪkəl/ adj • piratical activity

²pirate verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing [+ obj] : to illegally copy (something) without permission • He was accused of pirating their invention.

— pirated adj • pirated videotapes/software/recordings

pir·ou·ette /'pɪrə'wet/ noun, pl -ettes [count] : a full turn on the front of one foot in ballet • the elegant pirouettes of the prima ballerina

— pirouette verb -ettes; -ett-ed; -ett-ing [no obj] • Twelve dancers pirouetted across the stage.

Pi·scēs /'paɪ,si:z/ noun, pl Pisces

1 [noncount] : the 12th sign of the zodiac that comes between Aquarius and Aries and is symbolized by a pair of fish — see picture at ZODIAC

2 [count] : a person born under the sign of Pisces : a person born between February 19 and March 20 • He was born on March first, so he's a Pisces.

¹piss /'pɪs/ verb piss-es; pissed; piss-ing informal + impolite

1 [no obj] : URINATE • I have to piss.

2 [+ obj] : to urinate in or on (something) • He pissed [=wet] the bed. • I was so scared I almost pissed my pants.

not have a pot to piss in informal + impolite : to have no money or possessions • I had just moved to the city and didn't have a pot to piss in.

piss about/around [phrasal verb] Brit, informal + impolite

1 : to spend time doing things that are not useful or serious : to waste time • She didn't come all this way just to piss about. • Don't piss around with your health—see a doctor! • It's time we stopped peeing about [=fooling around] and got busy. 2 piss (someone) about/around : to be unfair or dishonest with (someone) • The sales clerk is peeing us around [= (US) jerking us around]—he keeps saying he'll help us, but we've been waiting for 20 minutes!

piss and moan US, informal + impolite : to complain in a constant or annoying way • He's always peeing and moaning about having to pay taxes.

piss away [phrasal verb] piss (something) away or piss away (something) US, informal + impolite : to foolishly waste (something, such as money, talent, opportunities, etc.) • He pissed a fortune away on gambling and drinking.

piss down [phrasal verb] Brit, informal + impolite : to rain hard • Let's go, mate. It's going to piss down any minute.

piss like a racehorse US, informal + impolite : to urinate a large amount piss off [phrasal verb] 1 Brit, informal + impolite : to go away • Why don't you piss off? [= (US) buzz off] 2 piss (someone) off or piss off (someone) informal + impolite : to make (someone) very angry or annoyed • Her superior attitude really pisses me off.

piss yourself (laughing) Brit, informal + impolite : to laugh very hard • We pissed ourselves laughing during the movie.

²piss noun, informal + impolite

1 [noncount] : URINE

2 [singular] : an act of urinating • He says he has to take a piss. = (Brit) He says he has to have a piss.

on the piss Brit, informal + impolite : drinking heavily at a pub or bar • He's had a big night out on the piss.

piss and vinegar US, informal + impolite : strength and energy • We were full of piss and vinegar back then.

take the piss out of Brit, informal + impolite : to make fun of or laugh at (someone or something) • He took the piss out of me about my tattoo.

pissed /'pɪst/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 or pissed off chiefly US, informal + impolite : very angry or annoyed at someone • She is pissed at her boyfriend for not calling her. • I got really pissed when she said that! • Aren't you pissed off [=ticked off] that your team lost?

2 Brit slang : very drunk or intoxicated • They went to the pub and got completely pissed.

piss-poor /'pɪs,puə/ adj, US, informal + impolite : very bad : extremely poor • He did a piss-poor job.

pis·ta·chio /pə'stæfɪjə/ noun, pl -chios [count] : a small green nut — often used before another noun • pistachio ice cream — see picture at NUT piste /'pi:st/ noun, pl pistes [count] chiefly Brit : a downhill ski trail pis-til /'pi:stl/ noun, pl -tils [count] botany : the long central part of a flower that extends from the ovary — see picture at FLOWER

pis-tol /'pi:stl/ noun, pl -tols [count]

1 : a small gun made to be aimed and fired with one hand — see picture at GUN; see also WATER PISTOL

2 US, informal : a person who has a lot of energy and spirit — usually singular • That guy's a real pistol.

pistol-whip verb -whips; -whipped; -whip-ping [+ obj] : to hit (someone) many times with a pistol • He was pistol-whipped to the ground by a prison guard.

pis-ton /'pi:stən/ noun, pl -tons [count] : a part of an engine that moves up and down inside a tube and that causes other parts of the engine to move — see picture at ENGINE pit /'pit/ noun, pl pits

1 [count] : a hole in the ground usually made by digging • The explorers discovered a burial pit containing human bones. • The impact of the meteor created a huge pit. [=crater] • The hikers dug a pit for the fire.

2 [count] a : a large, deep hole in the ground from which stones or minerals are dug out • a gravel/chalk/tar pit — see also SANDPIT b chiefly Brit : a coal mine

3 [count] : something that uses up or holds a very large amount of money, food, information, etc. • My house is such a money pit—I'm always paying for repairs on it! • My brother's stomach is a bottomless pit [=my brother eats constantly] • The Internet is a bottomless pit of information. [=the Internet contains a great amount of information]

4 [count] : an area separated from and often placed below the areas next to it: such as a : an outdoor area where food is cooked • a barbecue pit b US : an area where particular investments are traded • the oil futures pit of the New York Mercantile Exchange c : an area where animals are brought to fight d : the space in a theater where an orchestra plays • The conductor walked down into the (orchestra) pit and stood at the podium. e : an area of dirt or grass used for playing certain games • a horseshoe pit f : MOSH PIT g : an area beside a racetrack used for servicing cars during a race — usually plural • The driver stopped in the pits to refuel. — see also PIT STOP

5 [count] : a small hole or dent on the surface of something • The car's door was covered with pits and scratches. • The boy had pits [=pockmarks] on his face.

6 a [count] : a very bad or unpleasant place or situation — usually + of • The downtown area is a pit of depression/despair/hopelessness. b the pits informal : something that is very bad or unpleasant • You caught the flu on your birthday? That's the pits! [=that is awful] • This rainy weather is the absolute pits. [=I hate this rainy weather] • I usually like her movies, but her most recent one is really the pits! [=her most recent one is terrible]

7 [count] informal : ARMPIT

the pit of your/the stomach : the part of a person's stomach where strong feelings of nervousness, excitement, etc., can be felt • She felt a flutter in the pit of her stomach when he walked through the door.

— compare ³PIT

pit verb pits; pit-ted; pit-ting

1 [+ obj] : to make small holes or dents in (something) • A hailstorm badly pitted the car's roof. — see also PITTED 2

2 [no obj] car racing : to make a pit stop • The driver was forced to pit because of engine problems.

pit against [phrasal verb] pit (someone or something) against (someone or something) : to cause (someone or something) to fight or compete against (another person or thing) • Tonight's game will pit Smith against Johnson for the championship. [=Smith will be playing against Johnson for the championship in tonight's game] • The team will be pitted against [=will be playing against] last year's champion in the finals. • The game requires you to pit your wits against the computer. [=to use your wits to try to defeat the computer]

— compare ⁴PIT

pit noun, pl pits [count] US : the hard middle part of a fruit : STONE • peach/cherry/olive pits — see color picture on page C5 — compare ¹PIT pit verb pits; pit-ted; pit-ting [+ obj] chiefly US : to remove the pit from (a piece of fruit) • He pitted the plum and cut it into pieces. — see also PITTED 1 — compare ²PIT

pi-ta (US) or Brit pit-ta /'pi:tə, Brit 'pitə/ noun, pl -tas [count, noncount] : a type of thin, flat bread that can be separated to form a pocket for holding food — called also (US) pita bread, (Brit) pitta bread; see picture at BAKING pit-a-pat /,pitɪ'pæt/ noun [singular] : PITTER-PATTER — often + of • the pit-a-pat of the raindrops on the roof — pit-a-pat adv • Her heart went pit-a-pat [=her heart beat rapidly with excitement] when he walked into the room.

pit boss noun, pl ~ bosses [count] chiefly US : a person whose job is to supervise the gambling that is done in a casino pit bull noun, pl ~ bulls [count] : a type of dog that is known for its strength and its ability to fight — called also pit bull terrier

pitch /'pitʃ/ noun, pl pitch-es

1 : the highness or lowness of a sound [count] instruments with different pitches • Her voice has a high pitch. • The pitch of the engine suddenly changed from a low to a high squeal. [noncount] He noticed the change of pitch in the sound of the engine. • You were a little off pitch [=too high or too low] on that last note. • His singing was perfectly on pitch. — see also PERFECT PITCH

2 [count] baseball : an act of throwing a baseball to a batter or the ball that is thrown to a batter • His third pitch was a fastball down the middle of the plate. • The batter was hit by an inside pitch. [=a ball that is thrown close to the batter] • She fouled off the first pitch. — see also WILD PITCH

3 [count] : things that are said by someone (such as a salesman) in order to make someone want to buy, do, or accept something • The salesman started making/delivering his pitch as soon as he saw us looking at the car. • an advertising pitch — see also SALES PITCH

4 [singular] : a state of intense feeling • Tensions between the two groups have risen to a high/feverish pitch. [=have become very intense] • They brought the audience to such a pitch of excitement that you could no longer hear the music. — see also FEVER PITCH

5 [count] : the amount or degree of slope on a roof or other surface • All the houses have roofs with steep pitches to prevent the buildup of snow.

6 [noncount] : up and down movement of a ship or airplane • The water was choppy that day, and the continual pitch of the boat made everyone seasick. • Flaps on the airplane's wings are used to control pitch.

7 [count] Brit : an area that is used for playing sports : PLAYING FIELD • Fans ran onto the pitch at the end of the match. • a rugby/cricket pitch

8 [count] Brit : an outdoor area where someone performs or sells things

9 [count] golf : PITCH SHOT

— compare ³PITCH

pitch verb pitch-es; pitched; pitch-ing

1 [+ obj] : to throw or toss (something) • Passersby on the street pitched coins into her open guitar case as she played. • They were pitching horseshoes. • She pitched the empty box into the garbage. • (American football) The quarterback pitched the ball underhanded to the halfback.

2 baseball a : to throw a baseball to a batter : to throw a pitch [+ obj] He pitched me a curveball. • a perfectly pitched ball [=a pitch that is thrown perfectly] • The batter was hit by a pitched ball. [=by a pitch] [no obj] Will you pitch to me so I can practice my swing? • They've worked on improving their pitching and hitting since last season. • He hurt his pitching arm/shoulder/hand. [=the arm/shoulder/hand that he uses to pitch baseballs] • the team's pitching coach/staff b : to play baseball as a pitcher [+ obj] She pitched the first three innings. • In his last game of the year, he pitched a no-hitter/shutout against the school's rival team. [no obj] He pitched in the major leagues for several years. • She pitched well/great yesterday.

3 [+ obj] : to talk about or describe (something) in a favorable way so that people will want to buy it, accept it, etc. • She can now be seen pitching [=plugging] cleaning products on television. • It's one of the many products their company pitches. • commercials pitching toys to children • The drug has been pitched as a treatment for many ailments. — often + to • I've been thinking about pitching the idea to my boss. • She pitched the story to her editor. • They pitched the TV show to several different networks before they found one that wanted to produce it.

4 [+ obj] a : to cause (a sound, your voice, etc.) to be high or low • He sometimes itches his voice lower to make himself sound older. • differently itched sounds — see also HIGH-PITCHED, LOW-PITCHED b : to cause (a song, an instrument, etc.) to be in a particular musical key • a tune itched in the key of C • differently itched instruments

5 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] a : to make or design (something) for people at a particular level • They itched the test at a fifth-grade reading level. • The lesson was originally itched to younger students. [=it was designed/intended for younger students] b : to cause (something) to be at a particular level • Try not to itch your hopes/ambitions too high.

6 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] of a surface : to slope downward • The road itches steeply down the side of the mountain. — see also PITCHED

7 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to fall or move suddenly in a particular direction • He lost his balance and itched forward onto the ground. • The boat was itching up and down in the rough waters. • The nose of the airplane suddenly itched downward.

8 a golf : to hit a golf ball so that it goes very high in the air and rolls very little after hitting the ground [no obj] She itched onto the green from a patch of tall grass. • a itching wedge [=a type of golf club used for itching] [+ obj] She itched the ball up on to the green. b [+ obj] cricket : to cause (the ball) to bounce on the ground before reaching a batsman. c [no obj] of a ball : to bounce on the ground • Her shot landed short of the green and itched into a bunker.

9 [+ obj] : to set up (a tent or camp) • We decided to itch our tents there for the night. • We itched camp by the river.

itch a fit/tantrum US, informal : to become very upset and angry in a loud and uncontrolled way • He itched [=threw] a fit when she said she was going to be late again. • My three-year-old itched one of her temper tantrums when we tried to leave the party early.

itch in [phrasal verb] itch in or pitch in (something) informal : to do something or give something (such as money) to help a person, group, or cause • Everyone has to itch in [=chip in, contribute] if we're going to finish this project on time. • They all itched in to help. • People in the town have been itching in to pay the family's medical bills. • I itched in [=contributed] a couple of bucks to help pay for his birthday cake.

itch into [phrasal verb] itch into (someone) chiefly Brit, informal : to attack or criticize (someone) forcefully • He said his mother would itch into him when he got home.

itch up [phrasal verb] Brit, informal : to appear or arrive at a place • Several hundred fans itched up [=showed up] at the hotel to welcome the team.

³pitch noun [noncount]

1 : a thick, black, sticky substance that is used on roofs, boats, etc., to keep out water • ships sealed/coated with pitch • The night sky was as black/dark as pitch. [=extremely black/dark]

2 : a sticky substance that is produced by some trees (such as pines trees) • pine pitch

— compare ¹PITCH

pitch-black /'pɪtʃ'blæk/ adj : very dark or black • It's already pitch-black outside. • pitch-black hair pitch-dark /'pɪtʃ'dɑːk/ adj : very dark • It's pitch-dark outside.

itched /'pɪtʃt/ adj : not flat : having a slope • a itched roof itched battle noun, pl ~ battles [count]

1 : a major battle that is fought by large groups of soldiers

2 : a long argument or fight between people who have become very angry or emotional • She has been in a itched battle with her ex-husband over custody of their children.

¹itch-er /'pɪtʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : the player who throws the ball to the batter in baseball — see also RELIEF PITCHER — compare ²PITCHER

²itcher noun, pl -ers [count] US

1 : a container with a lip and handle that is used for holding and pouring out liquids • a itcher of beer — called also (Brit) jug; see picture at PLACE SETTING

2 : the amount held by a pitcher • We drank a itcher of water.

3 Brit : JUG

— compare ¹PITCHER

¹itch-fork /'pɪtʃ'fɔːk/ noun, pl -forks [count] : a tool that has two or three long, thin metal bars on a long handle and that is used for lifting hay

²itchfork verb -forks; -forked; -fork-ing [+ obj]

1 : to lift and throw (something) with a pitchfork • The farmer itchforked the hay onto the truck.

2 Brit, informal : to force (someone) into a situation or position suddenly or without preparation — usually used as (be) itchforked • He was itchforked into the job.

itch-man /'pɪtʃmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] US : a man whose job is to talk about something (such as a product) in order to persuade people to buy or accept it • a former star athlete who now works as a itchman on TV itch-out /'pɪtʃ'au/ noun, pl -outs

[count] baseball : a pitch that is deliberately thrown far from the batter so that the catcher can catch the ball and throw it quickly to a base to try to put out a runner itch-per-fect /'pɪtʃ'pɜːfɪkt/ adj : having exactly the right tone or style • a itch-perfect performance itch shot noun, pl ~ shots [count] golf : a high shot that is made from an area near the green • She hit a itch shot onto the green. — called also itch

itch-wom-an /'pɪtʃ'wʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-wɪmən/ [count] US : a woman whose job is to talk about something (such as a product) in order to persuade people to buy or accept it • a celebrity itchwoman pit-e-ous /'pɪtɪəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] literary : deserving or causing feelings of sympathy or pity • a piteous tale • The child cried out in a piteous voice.

— pit-e-ous-ly adv

pit-fall /'pɪt'fɔːl/ noun, pl -falls [count] : a danger or problem that is hidden or not obvious at first — usually plural; often + of • I warned him about the (hidden) pitfalls of online dating.

pith /'pɪθ/ noun [noncount]

1 : the white covering that is found under the skin of oranges, lemons, etc.

2 : the most important part of something — often + of • the pith of the matter pit-head /'pɪt'hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] chiefly Brit : the top of a coal mine and the area and buildings around it pith helmet noun, pl ~ -mets [count] : a light, hard hat that is worn for protection from the sun in hot countries

pithy /'pɪθi/ adj pith-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : using few words in a clever and effective way • The critic gave the film a pithy review. • The book is filled with pithy sayings about love and loss. • a pithy little Mother's Day card

synonyms see CONCISE

2 : resembling or having a lot of pith • a white, pithy substance

— pith-i-ly /'pɪθəli/ adv

pit-i-able /'pɪtɪəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : deserving pity or sympathy : PITIFUL • a pitiable orphan — pit-i-ably /'pɪtɪəbli/ adv

pit-i-ful /'pɪtɪfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : deserving or causing feelings of pity or sympathy • a pitiful lost dog • the child's pitiful cries

2 : causing feelings of dislike or disgust by not being enough or not being good enough • a pitiful [=very small] amount of money • a pitiful excuse • She made a pitiful attempt to complete her work.

— pit-i-ful-ly adv • a pitifully sad story • a pitifully small amount of money pit-i-less /'pɪtɪləs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very cruel : having or showing no pity • a pitiless [=merciless] ruler/critic • The soldiers were pitiless toward their enemy.

2 : very harsh or severe • the pitiless desert heat • a pitiless storm

— pit-i-less-ly adv • pitilessly cruel pi-ton /'piːtɑːn/ noun, pl -tons [count] : a pointed piece of metal used in rock climbing that is hammered into a crack in the rock in order to hold the rope which is attached to the climber pit stop noun, pl ~ stops [count]

1 : a stop for fuel and minor repairs during a car race

2 US, informal a : a short stop during a journey for rest, food, or to use a bathroom • We made a pit stop for some food before getting back on the highway. b : a place for pitchfork

making such a stop • This little town is an ideal pit stop between the two cities.

pitta Brit spelling of PITA pit-tance /'pɪtns/ noun, pl -tance-es [count] : a very small amount of money — usually singular • For all her work, she only made a pittance. • He bought the car for a pittance.

pitted adj

1 of a fruit : with the pit removed • pitted olives/dates

2 [more ~; most ~] : having many small holes or dents : having many pits • the pitted surface of the bowl • a man with pitted and scarred cheeks pit-ter-pat-ter /'pɪtə,pætə/ noun [singular] : a quick series of light sounds — often + of • the pitter-patter of little feet • the pitter-patter of the rain — pit-ter-pat-ter /'pɪtə'pætə/ adv • His feet went pitter-patter up the stairs.

pitting noun [noncount] : small holes or dents on a surface • The car's paint showed some pitting from flying gravel. • Her face had some minor pitting from the chicken pox.

pi-tu-i-tary /pə'tu:wə'teri, Brit pə'tju:wə'tri/ noun, pl -taries [count] medical : a small organ in the brain that produces hormones and influences growth and development — called also pituitary gland

¹pity /'pɪti/ noun

1 [noncount] : a strong feeling of sadness or sympathy for someone or something • She has had a hard life and deserves your pity. • I felt deep pity for the lost dog.

2 [singular] : something that causes sadness or disappointment • It's a pity [=shame] you can't go. = Pity (that) you can't go. [=I'm sorry that you can't go] • I'll be out of town on that day—a (great) pity, since I'd love to see you. • He didn't live to see his daughter grow up, and that's a pity.

more's the pity : UNFORTUNATELY — used to say that something is disappointing • "Did you get to see her before she left?" "No, more's the pity." [=I regret that I didn't get to see her] take pity on : to feel pity for (a person or animal) and do something to help • I took pity on the stray cat and fed him.

²pity verb pit-ies; pit-ied; pity-ing [+ obj] : to feel pity for (someone or something) : to feel sorry for (someone or something) • I pity anyone who has to work at that place.

pitying adj [more ~; most ~] : showing or expressing pity for someone or something • a pitying look/smile

¹piv-ot /'pɪvət/ noun, pl -ots

1 [count] : a pin or shaft on which a mechanical part turns

2 [count] : the action of turning around a point : the action of pivoting — usually singular • The quarterback made a quick pivot [=turn] and threw the ball to the running back.

3 [count] : a person or thing that is central or important to someone or something else — usually singular • Their children had become the pivot around which their life turned.

4 [noncount] basketball : a position in which a player on offense faces away from the basket to pass to or assist other teammates trying to score • Their center is a strong player in the pivot.

²pivot verb -ots; -ot-ed; -ot-ing [no obj] : to turn on or around a central point • The dancers pivoted on their toes and changed direction. • The door hinge pivots around the pin. • The quarterback pivoted and threw the ball to the running back.

pivot on/around [phrasal verb] pivot on/around (something) : to be based on (something) • Our vacation plans will pivot around how much money we can save. • The book's plot pivots on the main character's need for revenge.

piv-ot-al /'pɪvət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very important • She is at a pivotal point in her career. • a pivotal [=critical] moment/decision

piv-ot-man /'pɪvət,mæn/ noun, pl -men /-,mɛn/ [count] basketball : a player who plays in the pivot : the center on a team

pix plural of PIC

pix-el /'pɪksəl/ noun, pl -els [count] : any one of the very small dots that together form the picture on a television screen, computer monitor, etc.

pix-e-lat-ed also pix-i-lat-ed /'pɪksə,leɪtəd/ adj, of an image on a computer or television screen : made up of a small number of large pixels that produce a picture which is not clear or sharp • a heavily pixelated image pix-ie also pixy /'pɪksi/ noun, pl pix-ies [count] : an imaginary creature that looks like a small person and has magical powers

piz-za /'pi:tʃə/ noun, pl -zas : a food made from flat, usually round bread that is topped with usually tomato sauce and cheese and often with meat or vegetables [count] We ordered a pizza for supper. [noncount] I ordered pizza for supper. • a slice of pepperoni/cheese pizza — called also pizza pie

piz-zazz or pi-zazz /pə'zæz/ noun [noncount] informal : a quality or style that is exciting and interesting • The young actress has a lot of pizzazz. • The song has plenty of pizzazz.

piz-ze-ria /,pi:tʃə'ri:jə/ noun, pl -rias [count] : a restaurant where mainly pizzas are served piz-zi-ca-to /,pɪtʃi'ka:tou/ adv — used as a direction in music to indicate that notes should be played by plucking the strings of a violin, viola, cello, etc., with the fingers instead of by using a bow • The section should be played pizzicato.

— pizzicato adj • a pizzicato solo pij's /'pi:,dʒeɪz/ noun [plural] informal : PAJAMAS

pkg. abbr package

pkt abbr packet pkwy abbr parkway

pl. abbr 1 place 2 plural

plac-ard /'plækəd/ noun, pl -ards [count] : a large notice or sign put up in a public place or carried by people • The placard on the door says that the church was built in the late 1600s. • protesters carrying placards

plac-ate /'pleɪ,keɪt, Brit plə'keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] formal : to cause (someone) to feel less angry about something • The administration placated protesters by agreeing to consider their demands. • The angry customer was not placated by the clerk's apology.

¹place /'pleɪs/ noun, pl plac-es

1 [count] : a specific area or region of the world : a particular city, country, etc. • Please state your place of birth and your current place of residence. [=where you were born and where you live now] • New York City is a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there. • I've heard it's a good place to raise children. • places like Africa and South America • traveling to distant/exotic/faraway/remote places • the hottest place on earth

2 [count] : a building or area that is used for a particular purpose • churches and other places of worship • a place of learning/business • You should plan to meet him in a public place. • a local gathering/meeting place • Muslim holy places • ancient burial places • We had dinner at a great little Italian place [=restaurant] downtown. • He tried several places [=stores], but no one sold the ingredients he needed. • You've come to the right place. I have just what you need. • This bar is the place to be [=it is where many people go and where exciting things happen] on Saturday nights.

3 [count] a : a building, part of a building, or area that is used for shelter • They gave him a place to stay for the night. b : a house, apartment, etc., where a person lives : HOME • We're going to need a bigger place once the baby is born. • He's looking to buy a place in the country. • Shall we go to my place or yours? • our summer place

4 [count] : a particular space or area • This looks like a good place [=location, spot] to stop and rest. • It's nice to have the whole family together in one place. • Keep your jewelry and other valuables in a safe place. • The map is torn in (some) places. [=some parts of the map are torn] • The bone in her leg broke in two places. • Try looking for the phrase in another place in the dictionary. • A person can only be in one place at one time. • The guards/chairs were not in their proper places. • Wires carry the information from place to place. = They carry it from one place to another. • Success is sometimes just a matter of being in the right place at the right time. • You were just unlucky; you happened to be at the wrong place at the wrong time. — sometimes used figuratively • She keeps a special place in her heart for mistreated animals. • When I left the army, I was in a very strange place mentally. [=I was in a very strange mental state] — see also HIDING PLACE, RESTING PLACE

5 [count] : a particular point that you reach in a discussion, book, etc. — usually singular • This seems like a good place to end our discussion for today. • He used the receipt to keep/mark his place in the book he was reading. • She dropped the magazine on the floor and lost her place.

6 [count] : an available seat, space, or amount of room • There's no place to sit down. • I found a place to put my things. • They didn't have a good place for the painting in their apartment. • If you get to the theater before me, could you save me a place? • "Excuse me, is this place taken?" "Yes,

I'm saving it for my friend." • She said she couldn't see the stage and asked if he would change/trade/swap/switch places with her. • During the ceremony, he was given a place of honor [=a seat for someone who is being honored] next to the president's wife. • We'll have to make a place [=make a space available; make room] for our guests. • We made a place for you at the dinner table.

7 [count] : a particular position in a line especially of people or vehicles • I had to use the bathroom, but I didn't want to lose my place in line. • Would you save/hold our places (in line), please?

8 [count] : a particular position during or at the end of a race or competition — usually singular • The runner from the U.S. is currently in third place. • Their horse finished in last place. • The two teams are tied for second place. • "Who took first place?" "First place went to the red team."

9 [count] a : a position in a group, course, organization, school, etc. • They offered her a place [=job] on their staff. • He started getting bad grades and lost his place on the basketball team. [=he was no longer allowed to be on the team] • She was guaranteed a place in the college. • There are two places still open in the course/class. • He has friends in high places [=friends who have power and influence] — often used figuratively • Her courage during the war earned her a place in history. [=she is remembered as an important person in history because of her courage during the war] • She has an important place in the community. [=she is an important part of the community] • He occupies a prominent place among the great musicians of our time. b : the proper position of someone in a group or society • The queen's servants must know their place and act accordingly. [=they must act like servants] • It's not my place [=it is not appropriate for me] to punish other people's children. • It was not his place to make the final decision.

10 a [singular] : an appropriate situation or setting • There's a time and a place for everything. • This is neither the time nor the place to talk about money. b [count] : a particular situation or set of conditions • Call me if you ever find yourself in a tight place. • Anyone in her place [=position] would have done the same thing. • I love my life and wouldn't change/trade/swap/switch places with anyone in the world!

11 [count] mathematics : the position of a digit in a number • In the number 316, the digit 1 is in the tens place. • Move the decimal point two places to the right. • a number with three decimal places [=a number with three digits that follow the decimal point; a number like 2.345 or .678] • In the number 2.468, the 4 is in the first decimal place.

12 — used in the names of streets • He lives at 313 Jackson Place.

all over the place informal 1 : in many different areas or locations : EVERYWHERE • New houses are springing up all over the place in that part of the country. • The kids left their toys all over the place. • Bullets were flying all over the place. 2 : not organized in a logical way • Your essay lacks organization; your ideas are all over the place.

between a rock and a hard place see ²ROCK

fall into place see ¹FALL

give place to (something) formal : to be replaced by (something) • Confidence gave place to [(more commonly) gave way to] fear. • Further down the street, tall office buildings give place to rows of tidy houses.

go places : to become successful • She has enough ambition to really go places. • The band is clearly going places.

keep (someone) in his/her place : to prevent (someone) from achieving a higher social status • Such social rules were used to keep women in their place.

in place 1 : in the proper position • He makes sure that every hair on his head is in place before leaving the house. • Tape held/kept the photo in place. • The house's walls are in place, but nothing else has been done. • With all the performers in place, we were ready to rehearse. 2 : in the state of being used or active • The new computer system should be in place by next Monday. • These changes were already in place when the new president took office. • Plans are in place for the upcoming hurricane season. 3 US : in the same location without moving forward or backward. • To warm up before swimming practice, we run in place [= (Brit) on the spot] for five minutes.

in place of (someone or something) or in someone's or something's place : as a substitute or replacement for someone or something • Use milk in place of [=instead of] water for creamier hot chocolate. • In place of butter, olive oil was served with the bread. • The prince ruled the kingdom in place of his father. = The prince ruled the kingdom in his father's place. • She couldn't attend the meeting, so she sent her secretary in her place.

in the first place — used at the end of a sentence to indicate what was true or what should have been done at the beginning of a situation • We should never have gone there in the first place. [=to begin with] • I didn't care much for the job in the first place.

in the first/second place — used when listing the most important parts of something or the most important reasons for something • I'm not going to tell you because, in the first place, it's none of your business, and in the second place, you would tell everyone else.

into place 1 : into the proper position • She lowered her glasses then pushed them back into place. 2 : into the state of being used or active • The curfew was put into place [=was established] by the town's mayor. • The plan will be put into place over the course of several months.

no place for — used to say that someone or something does not belong in a particular place, situation, etc. • This party is no place for children. [=children should not be allowed at this party] • There is no place for racism in our society.

of all places — used to say that it is unusual or surprising that something happened in or is true about a particular place • She met her future husband in a grocery store, of all places.

out of place 1 : not in the correct location or position • Nothing in the room was out of place. 2 : not in a typical or appropriate situation or setting • Their modern style home seems oddly out of place among the town's old farmhouses. • She wouldn't look out of place on the cover of a fashion magazine. • I feel a bit out of place [=I feel like I don't belong] with my wife's family. • The law seems particularly out of place in today's society.

place in the sun see ¹SUN

pride of place see ¹PRIDE

put someone in his/her place ✧ Someone who puts you in your place shows you that you are not better than other people and should not be acting in such a confident and proud way. • He told her to stop talking, but she quickly put him in his place.

take place : to happen • The wedding is set to take place this July. • Negotiations are now taking place between the two governments. • He didn't understand what had just taken place. • Where does the story take place? [=where is the story set?]

take someone's or something's place or take the place of (someone or something) : to replace someone or something • Who will take the king's place when he dies? • We solved the original problem, but now a new one has taken its place. • I was too busy to attend the meeting, so I had my secretary take my place. • Who will take the place of the current pope? • Televisions began to take the place of radios in most families' homes.

take your place 1 : to go to the location where you are supposed to sit, stand, etc. • The goalie took her place on the field. • The actors take their places on the stage and the curtain rises. • (chiefly Brit) Ladies and gentlemen, please take your places. [= (US) take your seats] The play is about to begin. 2 : to be thought of or considered as sharing a particular rank or status with others • He has taken his place among/alongside/beside/with history's most brutal dictators. • The film will surely take its place among the greatest films of all time. [=will be recognized as one of the greatest films of all time] • The hurricane will take its place in history as one of this country's worst natural disasters.

²place verb places; placed; plac-ing

1 [+ obj] : to put (something or someone) in a particular place or position • Please place [=set, lay] the book on my desk. • She placed [=rested] her hand on his shoulder. • The box was placed at the center of the room. • You can really see the similarities when you place the two pictures side by side. • Her name was placed on the list. • The husbands and wives were placed in separate groups. • New flowers had been placed [=positioned] around the edges of the garden. • They were placed next to each other in line.

2 [+ obj] : to put (someone or something) in a particular state, condition, or situation • Working with sick people places him at risk for infection. • By not accepting the prosecutor's deal, he places his future in the hands of the jury. • We're placing you under arrest. • He was released from jail and placed on probation.

3 [+ obj] a — used to say that something is thought of as important, valuable, etc.; + on or upon • They place great importance on both work and family. [=they believe that both work and family are important] • She talked about the high value that her parents place on education. • Some parents place a lot of emphasis on winning, but we just want our children to have fun playing sports. b — used to say who or what you believe should be trusted, blamed, etc. • We have no choice but to place our faith in the legal system. [=to trust the legal system] • Too many children in this country are overweight, and I place most of the blame on a lack of exercise. [=I blame the problem on a lack of exercise] • Their plan places heavy reliance [=their plan relies heavily] upon cooperation from others.

4 [+ obj] : to cause or require someone or something to deal with (a demand, burden, etc.) — + on or upon • The growing population is placing increasing demands on our schools. [=it is causing our schools to deal with increasing demands] • The financial burden of the program is ultimately placed upon the taxpayers. [=the taxpayers have to pay for the program] • He managed to get a lot done, considering the time constraints that were placed on him. • restrictions placed upon a person's freedom

5 [+ obj] a : to perform the actions that are required for (something) • He placed a collect (phone) call to his wife. • Place your bets. b : to give (an order) to someone • The company placed an order (with the manufacturer) for an additional 100 units. • "Are you ready to place your order?" asked the waiter. c : to cause (something, such as an advertisement) to appear somewhere • We tried selling our house by placing an ad in the newspaper.

6 [+ obj] : to find an appropriate place for (someone) to live, work, or learn • The agency helps place unemployed workers. • The child was removed from the home and placed in the care of relatives. • The children were placed with a foster family. • In high school, she was placed in advanced math and science classes.

7 [+ obj] : to show or prove the location of (someone or something) at a particular time • The evidence places you at the scene of the crime. • Investigators were able to place him at several of these meetings. • The company's records place three of their trucks in the area that day.

8 [+ obj] : to remember where you saw (someone or someone's face) in the past • The man looked familiar but she couldn't quite place him. • It wasn't until later that I placed her face: she was my ninth grade English teacher, Ms. Lee.

9 a [no obj] US : to end a race or competition in a particular position • He placed fifth in last year's race. • The team placed second overall. • The first three participants to place in each event will receive medals. b Brit ♦ Someone who is placed first, second, (etc.) in a race or competition has finished in that position. • He was placed fifth in last year's race. • The team was placed second overall.

10 [+ obj] : to give (someone or something) a particular rank in a series or category • Tolstoy's War and Peace is often placed [=ranked, rated] among the greatest masterpieces of world literature. • Among the most serious problems facing the world, global warming is often placed first. • The administration places [=puts, sets] improving the country's health-care system high on their list of priorities.

pla-ce-bo /plə'si:bou/ noun, pl -bos [count] medicine : a pill or substance that is given to a patient like a drug but that has no physical effect on the patient ♦ Patients who have been given a placebo that they think is a real drug may feel better because they believe that they are getting actual medicine. The improvement that they experience in their health is called the placebo effect. Placebos are also used in tests to compare the effect of a real drug with a substance that does not have any physical effect.

place-kick /'pleis,kɪk/ noun, pl -kicks [count] : a kick that is made in sports like American football and rugby when the ball has been put on the ground or is being held on the ground

— place-kick-er /'pleis,kɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] chiefly US

place mat noun, pl ~ mats [count] : a small, often rectangular mat on which a set of dishes, knives, forks, etc., for one person are placed at a table — see picture at PLACE SETTING

place-ment /'pleismənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 : the act of putting something in a particular place [non-count] the strategic placement of products at the entrance of a store • the placement of microphones around the room [count] The director tried several different camera placements for the scene.

2 [noncount] : the act of finding an appropriate place for someone to live, work, or learn • The agency has overseen the placement of hundreds of children in loving homes. • the placement of unemployed workers — often used before another noun • We give all applicants placement tests to determine their level of proficiency. • job placement programs place name noun, pl ~ names [count] : the name of a city, town, lake, country, etc. • Many of the area's place names come from Native American languages.

pla-cen-ta /plə'sentə/ noun, pl -tas [count] medical : the organ in mammals that forms inside the mother's uterus, nourishes the unborn baby, and is pushed out of the mother after the birth of the baby

— pla-cen-tal /plə'sentl/ adj, always used before a noun • placental blood • the placental membrane place setting noun, pl ~ -tings [count] : a set of dishes, knives, forks, etc., that are put on a table for one person • Please lay another place setting for our guest.

plac-id /'plæsəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : not easily upset or excited • a person with a sunny, placid disposition

2 : not moving much : calm and steady • the placid surface of the lake

— pla-cid-i-ty /plə'sɪdətɪ/ noun [noncount] • the placidity of the quiet morning — plac-id-ly adv

plac-ing /'pleɪsɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count] Brit : RANKING place setting

pla-gia-rism /'pleɪdʒəˌrɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the act of using another person's words or ideas without giving credit to that person : the act of plagiarizing something • The student has been accused of plagiarism.

— pla-gia-rist /'pleɪdʒərɪst/ noun, pl -rists [count] • The student is accused of being a plagiarist.

pla-gia-rize also Brit pla-gia-rise /'pleɪdʒəˌraɪz/ verb -rizes; -rized; -riz-ing : to use the words or ideas of another person as if they were your own words or ideas [+ obj] He plagiarized a classmate's report. [no obj] She plagiarized from an article she read on the Internet.

¹plague /'pleɪg/ noun, pl plagues

1 [count] old-fashioned : a large number of harmful or annoying things • The country was hit by a plague of natural disasters that year. • a plague of locusts • There has been a plague of bank robberies in the area.

2 a : a disease that causes death and that spreads quickly to a large number of people [count] a plague that swept through the tribe in the 1600s [noncount] a time of plague

b [noncount] : BUBONIC PLAGUE • an outbreak of (the) plague

avoid (someone or something) like the plague informal : to stay away as much as possible from (someone or something) • I avoid my weird neighbor like the plague.

²plague verb plagues; plagued; plagu-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause constant or repeated trouble, illness, etc., for (someone or something) • parasites that plague deer • Computer viruses plague Internet users. • Crime plagues the inner city. • Drought and wildfires continue to plague the area. — often used as (be) plagued • The new plane has been plagued by/mechanical problems. [=has had many mechanical problems] • an athlete plagued by knee injuries

2 : to cause constant worry or distress to (someone) — usually used as (be) plagued • He is plagued by a sense of guilt. • She is plagued by fear of another terrorist attack. • I was plagued with doubts about my decision.

plaice /'pleɪs/ noun, pl plaice [count, noncount] : a fish that has a flat body and that is eaten as food plaid /'plæd/ noun, pl plaids

1 [noncount] : a pattern on cloth of stripes with different widths that cross each other to form squares — often used before another noun • a plaid pattern • a plaid shirt. — see color picture on page C12

2 plaids [plural] US : clothes with plaid patterns • She likes to wear plaids.

3 [count] : a woolen cloth with a plaid pattern that is worn over the shoulder as part of the Scottish national costume

¹plain /'pleɪn/ adj plain-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having no pattern or decoration • Her dress was plain. • a plain fabric • It was a plain room with no curtains. • She was wearing plain black shoes. • He printed the picture on plain paper.

2 : not having any added or extra things • a glass of plain [=pure] water • a piece of plain chicken • plain yogurt • You don't have to call me Mr. Johnson—just plain Fred will be fine. • (Brit) The recipe calls for 250 grams of plain flour. [= (US) all-purpose flour]

3 : easy to see or understand • It's plain to see [=it's obvious] that you don't like dogs. • You should have made it plain [=clear] to us what you were planning to do. • What he said is a lie, plain and simple. • The evidence makes it plain [=clearly shows] that he is guilty. • The answer is (as) plain as day. = The answer is as plain as the nose on your face. [=the answer is very obvious]

4 : simple and honest • The senator was known for his plain speaking. • Let me say it in plain English: you're fired.

5 always used before a noun : complete and total • His motive was plain [=pure, sheer] greed. • The lawyer stated the plain facts of the case. • Her story is the plain truth.

6 : not unusual or special in any way : ORDINARY • We're just plain, hardworking people. • plain common sense • (US) I'm just a plain old country boy. • (US) All kinds of people attended the event, including politicians, celebrities, and just plain folks. [=ordinary people]

7 : not handsome or beautiful • She's really kind of plain. • She describes herself as a plain Jane. [=a woman who is ordinary looking and not beautiful or glamorous] in plain sight or in plain view chiefly US : in a place that is easily seen • He carried his gun in plain sight.

plain clothes : the ordinary clothes of a police officer who is not wearing a uniform • The officer was wearing plain clothes. [=the officer was not in uniform] — see also PLAINCLOTHES

plain sailing see SAILING

— plain-ly adv • The camp is for kids who like sports, which he plainly [=obviously, definitely] does. • The star was plainly [=clearly] visible in the sky toward the north. • The book states quite plainly [=openly, simply] that he was part of the plot. • She always dresses plainly. — plain-ness noun [noncount] • the plainness of her clothes

²plain noun, pl plains [count] : a large area of flat land without trees • the Spanish plain • the Great Plains of the United States

³plain adv, informal : truly or completely • Her answer was misleading, if not plain dishonest. — used to make a statement or description more forceful • She plain forgot to call me. • You are just plain wrong.

plain chocolate noun [noncount] Brit : DARK CHOCOLATE

plain-clothes /'pleɪn'kləʊz/ adj, always used before a noun : dressed in ordinary clothes and not a uniform while on duty • a plainclothes police officer — see also plain clothes at ¹PLAIN

plain-clothes-man /'pleɪn'kləʊzmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a police officer who does not wear a uniform while on duty plain-spo-ken /'pleɪn'spəʊkən/ adj [more ~; most ~] : expressing opinions, ideas, beliefs, etc., in a simple and honest way • a plainspoken man • plainspoken eloquence plain-tiff /'pleɪntɪf/ noun, pl -tiffs [count] law : a person who sues another person or accuses another person of a crime in a court of law — compare DEFENDANT plain-tive /'pleɪntɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : expressing suffering or sadness : having a sad sound • a plaintive [=mournful, sorrowful] sigh • We could hear the plaintive cry of a wounded animal in the woods.

— plain-tive-ly adv

plain-vanilla adj, chiefly US, informal : not having any special features or qualities • We bought the plain-vanilla CD player. [=the most basic model]

¹plait /'pleɪt, Brit 'plæt/ verb plaits; plait-ed; plait-ing [+ obj] chiefly Brit : to twist together three pieces of (hair, rope, etc.) : BRAID • My mum taught me how to plait my own hair.

²plait noun, pl plaits [count] chiefly Brit : an arrangement of hair made by weaving three sections together : BRAID • She wore her hair in plaits.

¹plan /'plæn/ noun, pl plans

1 : a set of actions that have been thought of as a way to do or achieve something [count] the President's economic plan • the army's plan of attack • We need to agree on a plan of action. — often + for • The partners created a business plan for their new store. • The city has a ten-year plan for fixing the city's roads. [noncount] Not everything at the show went according to plan. [=the way it was supposed to] — see also GAME PLAN, MASTER PLAN

2 : something that a person intends to do [count] Our plan was to have the guests park on the street, not the lawn. — often plural • We would love to have dinner at your house Friday night, but we already have plans. [=we are already planning/expecting to do something else] • They didn't want to change their vacation plans. • We made plans to go out this Friday. • [noncount] When we met them at the restaurant, they said there had been a change of/in plan.

3 [count] : a detailed agreement for telephone service, medical care, insurance, etc. • a health/medical plan [=an insurance program that pays for medical care] • He changed his long-distance/calling plan. • a tuition payment plan • Her employer offers a great dental plan. [=insurance for dental care] • a retirement plan — see also INSTALLMENT PLAN, PENSION PLAN

4 [count] : a drawing that shows the parts or details of something (such as a building, town, machine, etc.) • a street plan of Washington, D.C. • a seating plan [=a drawing that shows the places where particular people will sit at a gathering] — often plural • The builder brought over the plans for their new house. • The architect drew up plans for the office tower. — see also FLOOR PLAN

²plan verb plans; planned; plan-ning

1 : to think about and arrange the parts or details of (something) before it happens or is made [+ obj] We are busy plan-ning the party. • The prisoners spent months planning their escape. • a teacher planning her next lesson • The students are planning a protest. • We have something very special planned for your birthday. • Their wedding is planned for June. • a planned series of books about cars • Things don't always go as planned. — sometimes + out • That crash was no accident. They had the whole thing planned out to get insurance money. • They planned the whole thing out. • You should first plan out your essay. [no obj] Always remember to plan ahead.

2 a : to intend or expect to do (something) [+ obj] — followed by to + verb • She plans to move out and get a divorce. • Please let us know if you plan to attend. [no obj] — followed by on + -ing verb • We don't plan on going anywhere tonight. • They plan on coming to the party. b [no obj] : to expect something to happen — + for or on • They didn't plan for [=anticipate] such a long wait at the restaurant. • She didn't plan on such cold weather.

¹plane /'pleɪn/ noun, pl planes

1 : a vehicle that has wings and an engine and can carry people or things in the air : AIRPLANE [count] a cargo plane [noncount] We will be traveling to Rome by plane. — often used before another noun • a plane crash/ride

2 [count] geometry : a flat or level surface that extends outward like a sheet • a horizontal plane

3 [count] : a level of thought, existence, or development • He uses meditation to reach a higher spiritual plane. • I don't consider the two writers' stories as being on the same plane.

²plane verb planes; planed; plan-ing [+ obj] : to make (a piece of wood) smooth or level by cutting off thin pieces with a special tool (called a plane) • He had to plane the edge of the door so it would close better.

³plane noun, pl planes [count] : a sharp tool that is pushed along a piece of wood to smooth or shape the surface — see picture at CARPENTRY plane-load /'pleɪn,ləʊd/ noun, pl -loads [count] : an amount or number of people or things that will fill an airplane • a planeload of troops plan-er /'pleɪnə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : an electric tool that is used for smoothing the surface of a board plan-et /'plænət/ noun, pl -ets

1 [count] : a large, round object in space (such as the Earth) that travels around a star (such as the sun)

2 the planet : the planet Earth • We must help preserve the planet. = We must help preserve the planet's environment.

3 — used in informal phrases to say that someone is not aware of what is really happening or has ideas that are not realistic or practical • You think they'll help us? Are you (living) on another planet? • What planet are you living on? • She looked at me as if I were someone from another planet.

plan-e-tar-i-um /,plænə'terijəm/ noun, pl -i-ums or -ia /-ijə/ [count] : a building or room in which images of stars, planets, etc., are shown on a high, curved ceiling plan-e-tary /'plænə,teri, Brit 'plænətri/ adj, always used before a noun, technical : of or relating to planets • a planetary system • planetary motion/orbit plan-gent /'plændʒənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary, of a sound : loud, deep, and often sad • a plangent tone/chord • a plangent cry plank /'plæŋk/ noun, pl planks [count]

1 : a long, thick board that is used especially in building something

2 formal : one of the official beliefs and goals of an organization (such as a political party) • Before the convention, there was debate over the foreign policy and economic planks. — compare PLATFORM

walk the plank see ¹WALK plank-ing /'plæŋkɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : heavy boards that are used to build something • deck planking plank-ton /'plæŋktən/ noun [noncount] : the very small animal and plant life in an ocean, lake, etc. • fish that feed mainly on plankton

plan-ner /'plænə/ noun, pl -ners [count]

1 : a person who plans things; especially : a person whose job is to plan things for other people • They hired a wedding planner. • financial planners

2 : a person whose job is to plan the growth and development of a town or city • City planners refused to approve a proposed shopping center.

planning noun [noncount] : the act or process of making a plan to achieve or do something • financial/city/business planning • Careful planning made the party a success.

¹plant /'plænt/ noun, pl plants [count]

1 : a living thing that grows in the ground, usually has leaves or flowers, and needs sun and water to survive • a cotton plant • plant and animal life — see also HOUSEPLANT, POT PLANT

2 a : a building or factory where something is made • an auto plant • an ice-cream plant — see also POWER PLANT b US : the land, buildings, and equipment of an organization • the college's physical plant

3 a : something that is put in a place to trick or confuse people • He claimed police left the glove at the crime scene as a plant. [=as false evidence to make it look like he committed the crime] b : a person who is put in a place as a spy or for a secret purpose • The gangsters never suspected that he was a police plant.

— plant-like /'plænt,lai/ adj [more ~; most ~] • plantlike organisms

²plant verb plants; plant-ed; plant-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to put (a seed, flower, or plant) in the ground to grow • He planted the seeds. • I planted corn this year. b : to fill (an area) with seeds, flowers, or plants • I planted the border with roses. • a field planted with corn

2 a : to put or place (something) in the ground • She planted stakes in the garden to hold the vines. b : to put or place (something or yourself) firmly or forcefully on a surface or in a particular position • He planted a punch on the other boxer's nose. [=he punched the other boxer's nose] • She planted a big kiss on his cheek. [=she gave him a big kiss on his cheek] • I firmly planted my feet and refused to move. • He planted himself in front of the TV and stayed there.

3 a : to put (someone or something) in a place secretly • Terrorists planted a bomb in the bus station. • She claims that the police planted the drugs in her car. • The police officers were accused of planting evidence at the scene. [=placing objects at the scene to make someone seem guilty of a crime] • He was a spy planted in the office by a rival company. b : to cause (a story, rumor, etc.) to be reported or talked about usually for some secret purpose • Someone planted a rumor saying that he had died. • They planted a story in the press about her mental problems.

4 : to cause (an idea, feeling, etc.) to be in someone's mind • She planted the first seeds of doubt in my mind. • The story planted the idea of starting my own business in my mind. [=the story made me think of starting my own business]

¹plan-tain /'plæntɪn/ noun, pl -tains [count, noncount] : a greenish fruit that comes from a kind of banana plant and is eaten after it has been cooked • a fried plantain — compare

²PLANTAIN

²plantain noun, pl -tains [count] : a common weed with leaves that grow near the ground and small greenish flowers — compare ¹PLANTAIN

plan-ta-tion /plæn'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : a large area of land especially in a hot part of the world where crops (such as cotton) are grown • a southern plantation ✧ Because slaves worked on cotton plantations in the southern U.S. in the past, the word plantation is often associated with the history of slavery in the U.S. • He compared the situation of black college basketball players to the plantation. [=compared the college basketball system to slavery]

2 : a group of trees that have been planted together • a plantation of pines plant-er /'plæntə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a container in which plants are grown • She bought a planter to put on their deck. • a hanging planter

2 : a person who owns a plantation • a wealthy South American planter

3 : a machine that plants seeds in the ground

plaque /'plæk/ noun, pl plaques

1 [count] : a flat, thin piece of metal or wood with writing on it that is used especially as a reminder of something (such as a historic event or an achievement) • A bronze plaque marked the city's oldest building. • They gave him a plaque in honor of his 30 years of service.

2 a [noncount] : a thin coating that forms on teeth and contains bacteria • Brushing your teeth prevents the buildup of plaque. b [count] medical : a change in brain tissue that occurs in Alzheimer's disease • The scientists are studying the way the plaques form. c [noncount] medical : a harmful material that can form in arteries and be a cause of heart disease

plas-ma /'plæzmə/ noun, pl -mas

1 [noncount] medical : the watery part of blood that contains blood cells

2 [noncount] technical : a substance that is similar to a gas but that can carry electricity • the plasma that makes up a star

3 a [noncount] : a type of visual display for computers, televisions, etc., that uses plasma with electrical charges between two sheets of glass and that produces pictures that are very clear and bright — usually used before another noun • a plasma screen/TV b [count] : a television with a plasma screen • Our new TV is a 50-inch plasma.

1 plas·ter /'plæstə, Brit 'plɑ:stə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [noncount] a : a wet substance that hardens when it becomes dry and that is used to make smooth walls and ceilings — often used before another noun • plaster walls b : PLASTER OF PARIS

2 [count] Brit : a piece of material that is put on the skin over a small wound in plaster Brit : in a hard covering that protects a broken bone and allows it to heal : in a plaster cast • Her arm is in plaster.

2 plaster verb -ters; -tered; -ter·ing [+ obj]

1 a : to cover (a surface) with plaster • We plastered and sanded the walls before painting them. b : to cover (a surface or area) with something • They plastered the walls with posters. — usually used as (be) plastered • The walls were plastered with posters. • The Web page is plastered with ads.

2 : to put (something, such as a poster or sign) on a surface • Someone had plastered a political poster on the wall. — often used figuratively • He had a silly smile plastered on his face. [=he was smiling in a silly way]

3 : to make (something) lie flat against or stick to something • His clothes were plastered to his body from the rain. • He plastered his hair down/back with gel.

plaster over [phrasal verb] plaster over (something) or plaster (something) over : to cover (something) with plaster • We plastered over the holes and cracks in the wall.

plas·ter·board /'plæstə,bɔ:d, Brit 'plɑ:stə,bɔ:d/ noun [noncount] : building material that is used for making walls and ceilings and that is made of large sheets of plaster covered with thick paper : DRYWALL plaster cast noun, pl ~ casts [count]

1 : ²CAST 2 • She had a plaster cast on her leg.

2 : a copy of something made of plaster of paris • The mask was made from a plaster cast of his face.

plastered adj, not used before a noun [more ~; most ~] informal : very drunk • I got/was totally plastered at the party.

plas·ter·er /'plæstərə, Brit 'plɑ:stərə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person whose job is to put plaster on walls and ceilings plaster of par·is or plaster of Paris /-'perəs/ noun [noncount] : a white powder that is mixed with water to form a paste which hardens quickly and which is used for making decorations, plaster casts, etc.

1 plas·tic /'plæstɪk/ noun, pl -tics

1 : a light, strong substance that can be made into different shapes and that is used for making many common products [noncount] The toy was made of plastic. [count] a company that manufactures plastics

2 [noncount] informal : a credit card when used for payment • She used plastic to pay for her new computer.

2 plastic adj

1 : made or consisting of plastic • plastic dishes/toys • a plastic bag/bottle/bin/container • a plastic bullet [=a bullet made of plastic that is used by the police, military, etc., to stop violent people without killing them] — see also PLASTIC WRAP

2 [more ~; most ~] informal : not real or sincere • a politician with a plastic [=fake] smile

3 technical : capable of being made into different shapes • plastic clay plastic explosive noun, pl ~ -sives [count, noncount] : an explosive that is made of a soft substance like clay that can be formed into different shapes • a bomb made with plastic explosives

Plas·ti·cine /'plæstə,sɪ:n/ trademark — used for a soft material that is like clay and that is used especially by children for making models of people, animals, etc.

plas·tic·i·ty /plæ'stɪsəti/ noun [noncount] technical : the quality of being able to be made into different shapes • the plasticity of clay plastic surgeon noun, pl ~ -geons [count] : a doctor who performs plastic surgery plastic surgery noun [noncount] : surgery that improves or repairs the form or appearance of body parts • He needed plastic surgery on his face after the car accident.

plastic wrap noun [noncount] US : thin, clear plastic that is used to wrap food or to cover containers that have food in them — called also (Brit) cling film

1 plate /'pleɪt/ noun, pl plates

1 [count] a : a flat and usually round dish that is used for eating or serving food • plates, bowls, and cups • a paper plate • fancy dinner/salad/bread/dessert plates • a large serving plate [=platter] • pie plates [=plates used to hold pies] — see picture at PLACE SETTING b : the food that is served on a plate • a plate of cheese and crackers • a fruit/vegetable/meat plate [=a plate filled with different fruits/vegetables/meats] • I ate a salad and a plate of spaghetti.

2 [count] : a thin, flat piece of metal • A shiny metal plate was screwed to the door. • He had a steel plate put in his shoulder after the accident. • a plate of armor — see also BREAST-PLATE, NAMEPLATE

3 [count] : LICENSE PLATE — usually plural • a car with New York plates

4 [count] : one of the usually flat, hard pieces that cover the body of some animals • a dinosaur covered in bony plates

5 [singular] : a dish or small container used in some churches to collect money • They passed around the plate during services. • the collection plate

6 the plate baseball : HOME PLATE • The runner was tagged out at the plate. — see also STEP UP TO THE PLATE (below)

7 [count] geology : one of the very large sections of the Earth's surface that are believed to move and cause earthquakes where they touch each other — see also PLATE TECTONICS

8 [noncount] a : metal that is covered with a thin layer of gold or silver • gold/silver plate b : objects (such as dishes, knives, forks, etc.) that are covered with a thin layer of gold or silver • The dishes were solid silver, not plate.

9 [count] : a special page in a book that has pictures on it • The book is 500 pages long and contains over 50 color plates. — see also BOOKPLATE

10 [count] : a surface of metal, plastic, or wood that is used in printing words or pictures on paper • printing plates

11 [count] : a sheet of glass or plastic that is treated with a special chemical and used in photography • photographic plates

12 [count] : the part of a set of false teeth that attaches to the mouth • the upper/lower plate of a set of dentures

clean your plate see ²CLEAN

on a plate informal : in a way that requires no effort : as a gift • He was handed the job on a plate. [=he was given the job without having to do anything to earn it] • The victory was handed to us on a plate.

on your plate informal — used to refer to the things that a person has to do or deal with at one time • She has a lot on her plate right now. [=she has a lot of things that she has to deal with right now] • I've got enough on my plate to keep me busy this summer.

step up to the plate baseball : to move into position next to home plate in order to bat — often used figuratively in U.S. English • He finally stepped up to the plate [=he finally took action] and asked her to marry him. • If you want this promotion, you're going to have to step up to the plate. [=you will have to improve your work performance to show that you deserve the promotion]

— see also FASHION PLATE

2 plate verb plates; plat·ed; plat·ing [+ obj]

1 : to add a layer of metal to the outside of (something) — usually used as (be) plated • The tin cups were plated with silver.

2 baseball : to cause (a run or a runner) to score • His second hit plated [=drove in] two runs.

1 pla·teau /plæ'tou/ noun, pl pla-teaus also pla-teaux /plæ'touz/ [count]

1 : a large flat area of land that is higher than other areas of land that surround it • a plateau covering hundreds of miles • the Colorado Plateau — see color picture on page C7

2 : a period when something does not increase or advance any further • After several years of rapid growth, the company is now at a plateau. [=it has stopped growing] • The price of gas seems to have reached a plateau.

2 plateau verb -teaus; -teaued; -teau·ing [no obj] : to stop growing or increasing : to reach a plateau • Sales of computers have plateaued in recent years.

plate·ful /'pleɪt,fʊl/ noun, pl -fuls [count] : the amount of food that fills a plate • two platefuls of salad plate glass noun [noncount] : large sheets of very clear and thick glass — often used before another noun • plate glass windows plate·let /'pleɪtlət/ noun, pl -lets [count] : a small, round, thin blood cell that helps blood to stop flowing from a cut by becoming thick and sticky — called also blood platelet

plate tectonics noun [noncount] geology : a scientific theory that the Earth's surface is made of very large sections that move very slowly; also : the movements of the large sections that form the Earth's surface • earthquakes caused by plate tectonics

plat-form /'plæt,foərm/ noun, pl -forms [count]

1 a : a flat surface that is raised higher than the floor or ground and that people stand on when performing or speaking • a raised wooden platform • He stepped up onto the platform and looked out into the audience. b : a flat area next to railroad tracks where people wait for a train or subway • She stepped off the train onto the platform. • Our train is boarding on platform 6. c : a usually raised structure that has a flat surface where people or machines do work • a viewing/observation platform • oil drilling platforms

2 : the official beliefs and goals of a political party or candidate • political platforms • the Republican/Democratic platform • The party adopted a new platform. • She was elected on a platform of peace. [=people elected her because she promised to work for peace] — compare PLANK

3 : something that allows someone to tell a large number of people about an idea, product, etc. • The company plans to use the show as a platform to launch the new soft drink.

4 : a shoe with a very thick sole — usually plural • In the 1970s, we all wore platforms and bell-bottom pants. — called also platform shoe

5 computers : a program or set of programs that controls the way a computer works and runs other programs : OPERATING SYSTEM • The program can be run on various PC platforms.

plat-ing /'plɛtɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 : a thin layer of metal that has been added to the outside of something • spoons covered in silver plating

2 : a layer of wide, thin pieces of metal • armor plating

plat-i-num /'plætɪnəm/ noun [noncount] : a heavy, silver-colored metal that is difficult to melt and that is used especially in expensive jewelry platinum blonde or platinum blond noun, pl ~ blondes or ~ blonds [count] : a person who has very light blonde hair • She dyed her hair and now she's a platinum blonde.

— platinum blonde or platinum blond adj • platinum blonde supermodels platinum record noun, pl ~ -cords [count] : an award that is given to a singer or musical group for selling at least one million copies of a record — compare GOLD RECORD

plat-i-tude /'plætə,tu:d, Brit 'plætə,tju:d/ noun, pl -tudes [count] disapproving : a statement that expresses an idea that is not new • His speech was filled with familiar platitudes about the value of hard work and dedication.

— plat-i-tu-di-nous /'plætə'tu:dnəs, Brit 'plætə'tju:dnəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal • platitudinous remarks

pla-ton-ic /plə'tɔ:nɪk/ adj : of, relating to, or having a close relationship in which there is no romance or sex • They had a platonic friendship, not a romantic one. • Our relationship was strictly platonic. • platonic love

pla-toon /plə'tu:n/ noun, pl -toons [count]

1 : a group of soldiers that includes two or more squads usually led by one lieutenant • a platoon of soldiers

2 : a group of people who are doing something together • platoons of waiters

plat-ter /'plætə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 a : a large plate that is used for serving food and especially meat • a silver platter b : the food that is served on a platter • large platters of hot turkey and ham • a platter [=plate] of cheese and crackers

2 : a meal in a restaurant that has a particular type of food • The chicken platter comes with fries and coleslaw. • She ordered the seafood platter.

on a (silver) platter : in a way that requires no effort : as a gift • He has had everything handed/given to him on a silver platter. [=he has not had to work for the things that he has; he is very lucky and has been given everything he has] platy-pus /'plætɪpəs/ noun, pl -pus-es [count] : a small animal from Australia that has a bill like the bill of a duck, webbed feet, and a wide flat tail — called also duck-billed platypus

plau-dits /'plɑ:dɪts/ noun [plural] formal : strong approval • The book received the plaudits [=acclaim, praise] of the critics. • He has earned/won plaudits for his work abroad.

plau-si-ble /'plɑ:zəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : possibly true

: believable or realistic • a plausible [=possible] conclusion • a plausible excuse • I thought her explanation was perfectly/entirely/completely plausible. [=I believed her explanation] — opposite IM-PLAUSIBLE

— plau-si-bil-i-ty

/,plɑ:zə'bɪləti/ noun [non-count]

— plau-si-bly

/'plɑ:zəbli/ adv • She plausibly [=believably] argued that she was innocent. • Any of those things could plausibly happen.

platypus

1 play /'pleɪ/ verb plays; played; play-ing

1 : to do activities for fun or enjoyment [no obj] The children were playing in the yard. • Can Sara come out and play? • He played by himself in his room. — often + with • She's outside playing with her friends. • You already have lots of toys to play with. • a baby playing with his toes [+ obj] ♦ If children play teacher/school (etc.), they play by pretending to be adults. • She likes to play teacher/doctor with her sisters. — see also play house at ¹HOUSE

2 a : to participate in (a game or sport) [+ obj] Did you play any sports in high school? • She plays soccer. • Do you want to play (a game of) cards/poker? • No one dares to play chess with/against him. • It's not whether you win or lose (that's important), it's how you play the game. • The children were playing hide-and-seek. [no obj] I have a chess set. Do you want to play? • It's your turn to play. • She hurt her wrist but decided to continue playing. • He played in every major tournament this year. • He's always dreamed of playing on a professional hockey team. — often + for • We never play for money. • I'm on a basketball team at school, but I also play for fun with my friends. ♦ If you play for a particular team, you are a member of that team. • Babe Ruth played for the Yankees. • He used to play for Boston but got traded to New York.

b : to compete against (someone) in a game [+ obj] The Yankees are playing the Red Sox tonight at Yankee Stadium. • No one dares to play him at chess. • When Tom and I are finished with this game, you can play the winner. [no obj] The Yankees and the Red Sox are playing at Yankee Stadium. • She has played against some of the best tennis players in the world. ♦ If you play (someone) for (something), you play a game in which the winner will be able to take or keep something. • "Is that the last can of soda?" "Yeah, I'll play you for it."

c [+ obj] : to have (a particular position on a sports team) • He dreamed about playing quarterback in the National Football League. • She played center field in their last game. • He plays third base. • What position does he play? d [+ obj] : to allow (someone) to play during a game especially in a particular position • Her coach didn't play her in yesterday's game. • They decided to play him at first base.

e [+ obj] : to place (a playing card) on the table during your turn in a card game • I played the ace of hearts. — often used figuratively • lawyers who play the race card to defend their clients [=who say that their clients were treated unfairly because of their race] — see also play your cards close to the chest/vest at ¹CARD, play your cards right at ¹CARD f [+ obj] : to move (a piece) during your turn in a chess game • He played his rook/bishop/queen for the win. g [+ obj] : to hit, kick, throw, or catch (a ball, puck, etc.) • You have to play the ball where it lies. • He played a wedge shot to the green. • He played a great shot to his opponent's forehand. • The shortstop played the ball perfectly.

3 [+ obj] a : to bet money on (something) • I used to gamble a lot. Mostly, I played the races/horses/slots. • She only plays the lottery when there's a large jackpot. b : to invest money in (the stock market) in order to try to earn money • You can lose a lot of money playing the (stock) market.

4 a : to perform music on (an instrument) [+ obj] She's been playing the violin since she was 10 years old. • Where did you learn to play the piano? • He can play guitar and drums. [no obj] He played while she sang. • Would you play for us? • He plays in a band. b [no obj] of an instrument : to produce music • I could hear a guitar playing in the distance. c [+ obj] : to perform (a song, a piece of music, etc.) on an instrument • Would you play something for us? • The band played their new hit song. • The conductor had us play the piece again from the beginning. • The band played a waltz. • She started her career playing country music. d [+ obj] : to perform music written by (a particular composer) • The orchestra will be playing Mozart tonight. e : to perform music in (a particular place) [+ obj] It was her dream to play Carnegie Hall. • She prefers playing small concert halls rather than big stadiums. • The band has been playing bars and nightclubs. [no obj] We mostly play in bars and nightclubs.

5 : to cause (a song, a piece of music, a movie, etc.) to be heard or seen [+ obj] You kids are playing your music too loud. • The radio station plays mostly hip-hop and R&B. • Who decides which songs get played on the radio? • We're waiting for you to play the movie. • I asked him to play the album/CD/DVD for me. [no obj] Our favorite song was playing on the radio. • Classical music played softly in the background. • The movie/DVD is already playing.

6 [no obj] : to be shown or performed usually more than one time • The film is now playing [=is now being shown] in theaters across the country. • What's playing at the theater/movies? • The show has been playing to full/packed houses.

7 a [+ obj] : to act the part of (a particular character) in a film, play, etc. • He played the lead role in Hamlet. • Her character is being played by a relatively unknown actress. • She's not a doctor, but she plays one on TV. — often used figuratively • My wife never disciplines the children. She gets to play the good guy while I have to play the bad guy. [=I have to discipline the children] • I survived a terrible tragedy, but I don't want to play the victim. [=I don't want to act like a victim] — often used with part or role • Luck played an important part in their success. [=a lot of their success was because of luck] • The essay discusses the role that television plays in modern society. [=the effect that television has on modern society] • He's been playing the part/role of the jealous husband. [=he has been acting like a jealous husband] • We all have a part/role to play in the future of this company. [=we all will be involved in an important way in the future of this company] — see also ROLE-PLAY b [no obj] : to pretend that you have a particular quality or are in a particular condition • Don't play [=act] all innocent with me! • She tried to teach her dog to play dead [=to lie on its back and pretend to be dead] • If anyone asks you about it, play dumb. [=act like you do not know anything about it]

8 : to act or behave in a particular way [no obj] It's a very competitive business, and not everyone plays fair. = Not everyone plays by the rules. • If you play smart [=if you make good decisions], you should be able to graduate in four years. [+ obj] She didn't want to seem too eager, so she decided to play it cool [=to act calm] • If you play it smart, you should be able to graduate in four years. • I decided to play it safe [=to be careful and avoid risk or danger] and leave early so that I would be sure to arrive on time. — see also play by ear at 1 EAR

9 [no obj] : to do or say things in a joking way • Don't take it so seriously. He was just playing. [=kidding, joking] — often + around • I was just playing around. I didn't really mean it. • Stop playing around and talk to me seriously for a moment.

10 [+ obj] : to do (something) to someone in order to amuse yourself or others • He's known for playing pranks, so I wouldn't trust him if I were you. — usually + on • Let's play a joke on her. • The students got in trouble for playing a trick on their teacher. • I can't believe what I'm seeing. My eyes must be playing tricks on me.

11 [+ obj] informal : to use or control (someone or something) in a clever and unfair way • I'm never going to let anyone play me again. • She played you like a fool. — often + for • She realized too late that she had been played for a fool. • They had been playing the guy for a sucker all along.

12 [+ obj] : to base a decision or action on (something) • Sometimes you just have to play your luck [=to take a chance] and hope that everything turns out okay. • The coach was playing the odds that his pitcher would get through the inning without giving up a run. • Criminal investigators need to play [=to act on] their hunches.

13 [no obj] US : to be accepted or received in a particular way • The script looked good on paper but didn't play well on Broadway. — often + with • His idea did not play well with the committee. [=the committee did not like his idea]

14 [no obj] : to move in a lively and irregular way • A knowing smile played on/about her lips. • We watched the moonlight playing on the water.

play along [phrasal verb] : to agree to do or accept what other people want • They wanted me to cooperate with them, but I refused to play along. [=go along] • If I pretend to be sick, will you play along and tell everyone that I had to go to the doctor? — often + with • I refused to play along with them. • Will you play along with my plan?

play around also Brit play about [phrasal verb]

1 : to have sex with someone who is not your husband, wife, or regular partner • He's not the kind of guy who plays around. [=fools around, messes around] — often + on • She's been playing around on her husband. — often + with • She's been playing around with one of her coworkers. 2 : to deal with or treat something in a careless way • When it comes to protecting his family, he doesn't play around. [=fool around, mess around] — often + with • You can't play around with diabetes; it's a very serious disease. 3 : to use or do something in a way that is not very serious • It's time to stop playing around [=fooling around] and get busy. — often + on • I spent the evening playing around on the piano/computer/Internet. — often + with • I'm not really a painter; I just like to play around with paints. 4 play around with (something) : to move or change (something) or to think about (something) in different ways often in order to find out what would work best • I see you've been playing around with the living room furniture again. • The supervisor played around with our work schedules this week. • We played around with the idea for a while but eventually realized that it just wouldn't work. — see also 1 PLAY 9 (above)

play at [phrasal verb] play at (something) 1 : to do (something) in a way that is not serious • They were only playing at trying to fix the problem. 2 chiefly Brit : to play by pretending to be (someone or something) • (Brit) She liked to play at doctors and nurses as a child. — often used in the phrase play at being (something) • boys playing at being soldiers 3 Brit — used to say in an annoyed way that you do not know the reason for someone's behavior • What is he playing at? • I have no idea what he was playing at.

play back [phrasal verb] play back (something) or play (something) back : to cause (recorded sounds or pictures) to be heard or seen • The machine allows you to record and play back sounds. • We finished recording our first take and played it back to hear how it sounded. • He played the tape back to/for us. — see also PLAYBACK

play ball see 1 BALL

play down [phrasal verb] play down (something) or play (something) down : to make (something) seem smaller or less important • She played down [=downplayed] her role in the research. • It was a significant mistake though our CEO tried to play it down.

play fast and loose : to behave in a clever and dishonest way — usually + with • He was accused of playing fast and loose with the truth. [=of being dishonest] • reporters playing fast and loose with the facts play for laughs or play (something) for laughs : to act in a funny way that makes people laugh • She's fantastic in serious roles, but she also knows how to play for laughs. • Most performers would have taken a serious tone during the scene, but he decided to play it for laughs.

play for time : to try to make something happen later instead of sooner : to try to delay something • They're just playing for time, hoping that the situation will resolve itself.

play games see 1 GAME play God usually disapproving : to make decisions that have a very powerful and important effect on other people's lives • lawyers who play God with people's lives play hard to get : to pretend that you are not interested in having a romantic or sexual relationship with someone in order to make that person more attracted to you • She's been playing hard to get, but I can tell that she likes me.

play into [phrasal verb] play into (something) : to help support (something, such as an idea) • This new evidence plays into their theory quite nicely. • Her methods play into the stereotype that lawyers are dishonest.

play into someone's hands or play into the hands of someone : to do something that you do not realize will hurt you and help someone else • You're only playing into their hands by making such ridiculous accusations.

play off [phrasal verb] 1 chiefly Brit : to participate in a game that decides a winner from people or teams that had the same results in an earlier game : to play in a play-off • The two teams played off for third place. — see also PLAY-OFF 2 play off (someone or something) US : to react to (someone or something) in a pleasing way : to combine with (someone or something) in a way that makes each part better • In this scene, the two actors play off each other extremely well. • The sweetness of the wine plays off the sharp flavor of the cheese. 3 play (someone or something) off against (someone or something) : to cause two people or groups to fight or compete with each other in a way that helps you • They have been playing him off against his old enemies. [=causing him to fight with his old enemies] • He played one side off against the other.

play on also play upon [phrasal verb] play on/upon (something) : to make people do what you want by using (their emotions, fears, concerns, etc.) in an unfair way • The company plays on [=takes advantage of] the concerns of parents in order to sell their products. • Politicians often win votes by playing on [=exploiting] people's emotions.

play out [phrasal verb] 1 a : to happen or occur in usually a gradual way • Let's wait and see how things play out. [=take place, develop] • The consequences of the error will play out for several years to come. • Their personal tragedy was being played out in public. b play out (something) or play (something) out : to make (something) happen • She got to play out [=realize] her fantasy of being on TV. • We watch professional athletes play out [=act out, live out] our dreams on the field. • This scene plays itself out [=happens] daily in every large city in this country. 2 play out (something) or play (something) out : to finish (something) • Her coach let her play out the rest of the season but said she wouldn't be allowed on the team next year. • We'll stop the game after we play out this hand. • playing out dangerous experiments • That style of music had played itself out [=stopped being current or popular] and the record companies wanted something new. — see also PLAYED-OUT play the field : to have romantic or sexual relationships with more than one person at a time : to date more than one person • He wanted to play the field a bit before he got married and settled down.

play the fool see ¹FOOL

play to [phrasal verb] 1 play to (someone or something) : to behave or perform in a particular way for (someone or something) in order to get approval or attention • He didn't mean what he was saying. He was just playing to the crowd. • He loves publicity and plays to the cameras every chance he gets. 2 play to (something) : to make use of (something) • a film that plays to stereotypes of housewives • In his latest album, he once again plays to his strengths as a classical musician.

play to the gallery see GALLERY

play up [phrasal verb] 1 play up (something) or play (something) up a : to talk about or treat (something) in a way that gives it special importance : to emphasize or stress (something) • During the interview, try to play up your weaknesses and play up your strengths. b : to make (something) seem bigger or more important • It was only a small achievement though our CEO tried to play it up. 2 play up or play (someone) up Brit : to cause problems or pain • The children have been playing up [=misbehaving, acting up] again. • The camera started playing up [=acting up] after I dropped it. • Whenever it rains, my arthritis starts playing up. [=acting up] • My back has been playing me up again.

play with [phrasal verb] play with (something) 1 : to move or handle (something) with your hands or fingers often without thinking • She played with her hair while she talked on the phone. • Stop playing with your food and eat. 2 : to handle, change, or deal with (something) in a careless way • I played [=fiddled, messed] with the radio for a while but couldn't get it to work. • It's important to teach your children not to play with guns/fire/matches. • Don't play with [=play around with] my heart/emotions. • You have to take this seriously. You're playing with people's lives! • They're playing with other people's money. 3 : to think about (something) briefly and not very seriously • Management has been playing with [=toying with] the idea of moving to a different building. • I played with the idea of moving to Chicago but ended up staying in New York.

play with fire : to do something that is risky or dangerous • People who use drugs are playing with fire.

play with words/language : to use words that sound similar or that have several different meanings especially in a clever or funny way • a writer who enjoys playing with words

play with yourself : to touch your own sex organs for sexual pleasure : MASTURBATE

²play noun, pl plays

1 [count] : a piece of writing that tells a story through the actions and words of characters and that is performed on a stage • The play is based on a real-life event. • He wrote, directed, and starred in the play. • plays by Shakespeare • His fifth grade class is putting on a play about the first Thanksgiving. • I've gone to all of my daughter's school plays. • She's currently adapting a stage play [=a play that is written to be performed on a stage] for the big screen. — see also MYSTERY PLAY, PASSION PLAY, SCREENPLAY

2 [noncount] : activities that are done especially by children for fun or enjoyment • The book discusses the role of play in a child's development. • imaginative play • As the saying goes, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." • a safe play area • the sounds of children at play [=the sounds of children playing] — see also CHILD'S PLAY

3 a [noncount] : the action that happens during a game • Please, no talking during play. • Rain held up play for an hour. • The chess match finally ended after three hours of play. • The two golfers were tied at the start of play yesterday. • We were surprised with/by the other team's level/quality of play. b : the time when a person playing a game is supposed to do something [count] It's your play. [=more commonly] turn [noncount] Roll the dice to determine the order of play. [=to decide who plays first, second, etc.]

4 [count] US : a particular action or set of actions that happens during a game: such as a American football : a planned attempt to move the ball forward or to stop an opponent from moving the ball forward • The quarterback called out the play to his teammates. • He ran 50 yards on that last play. • running/passing plays • a defensive/offensive play b baseball : an action that is done to try to get a player out • He was called safe on a close play at first base. — often used with make • The shortstop made a great play to end the inning. • She had a chance to catch the ball, but she failed to make the play. — see also DOUBLE PLAY, TRIPLE PLAY c : the act of moving a piece in a game like chess or checkers • the first/opening play [=move] of the game

5 [noncount] : the state of being active or having an effect • the play of market forces • She promotes the free play of ideas in her classroom. • Several issues are at play [=are involved] in determining the price of gasoline. • The students' creativity was brought/called/put into play on this last assignment. [=the students had to use their creativity] • Two important factors come into play. [=are involved]

6 [noncount] a : time when a musical recording is played by a radio station : AIRPLAY • The song has been getting heavy radio play. [=radio stations have been playing the song frequently] b US : attention in newspapers, on television, etc. • The story has so far received little play in the press. [=has not gotten much attention in the press]

7 [count] : a humorous or clever way of using a word or phrase so that more than one meaning is suggested — + on • The title of the article makes a play on the prime minister's last name. • a play on the word's original meaning • a clever play on words [=pun] — see also WORDPLAY

8 [noncount] a : a function of a machine that causes recorded sounds or pictures to be heard or seen • Press "Play" to start the movie. b : time when a machine is being used to hear or see recorded sounds or pictures • The CD player's batteries only provided three to four hours of play.

9 [singular] : the irregular or lively movement of something • Look at the dazzling play of colors in this diamond. • a play of shadow and light in/into play of a ball : in or into the area where players must stay in sports • She tried to keep the ball in play, but it bounced out of bounds. • He put the ball back into play.

10 [noncount] : loose and free movement of something (such as part of a machine) • There's too much play in the car's steering wheel.

make a play for : to try to get (someone or something) • He made a play for her. [=he tried to start a romantic or sexual relationship with her] • She made a play for the job, but she didn't get it.

out of play of a ball : outside the area where players must stay in sports • The ball is out of play [=dead] if it crosses these lines.

— see also FAIR PLAY, FOUL PLAY, POWER PLAY

play-able /ˈpleɪəbəl/ adj

1 : capable of being played • The ball was out-of-bounds and no longer playable. • Many older computer games aren't playable on the new system. • The violin they found in the attic was old but still playable.

2 [more ~; most ~] : suitable for being played on • The field was muddy but playable. • Changes have been made to make the golf course more playable.

play-act-ing /ˈpleɪ,æktɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : behavior that is not honest or sincere • The company was losing money, but all of the playacting had people believing that it was doing well.

play-action pass noun, pl ~ passes [count] American football : a play in which the quarterback pretends to hand the ball to a runner before passing it to another player play-back /'pleɪ,bæk/ noun, pl -backs

1 [noncount] : the act of causing recorded sounds or pictures to be heard or seen again • devices used for the playback of audio/video recordings = playback devices

2 [count] : a recording that is heard or seen again : a recording that is played back • The band listened to a playback of their first recording. — see also play back at ¹PLAY play-bill /'pleɪ,bɪl/ noun, pl -bills [count] : a poster or piece of paper that advertises a play play-book /'pleɪ,bʊk/ noun, pl -books [count] American football : a book that contains descriptions of the different offensive and defensive plays that are used by a team • He studied the new plays in the team's playbook. — often used figuratively in U.S. English • They began to fight the war using the enemy's playbook. • The competition beat us using a play straight from our own playbook.

play-boy /'pleɪ,bɔɪ/ noun, pl -boys [count] : a man who spends most of his time doing things that give him pleasure • She was dating a rich American playboy who was seeing two other women at the same time.

play-by-play /'pleɪ,bai,pleɪ/ noun, pl -plays US : a description of a game that is given while the game is being played [count] I listened to a play-by-play of the game. [noncount] a broadcaster who does play-by-play

— play-by-play adj, always used before a noun • a play-by-play announcer/commentator/account — sometimes used figuratively • He gave the jury a play-by-play analysis of the videotape.

play-date /'pleɪ,deɪt/ noun, pl -dates [count] chiefly US : a time that parents arrange for their young children to play together • She has a playdate with a friend from kindergarten.

played-out adj [more ~; most ~] : no longer current, popular, or effective • played-out ideas — see also play out at ¹PLAY play-er /'pleɪə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who plays a sport or game • She's one of the team's best players. • a star baseball player • professional poker players — see also TEAM PLAYER

2 : a person who performs music usually on a particular instrument • The band's lead guitar player hurt his hand and couldn't play. • Piano players are called pianists.

3 : a machine that causes recorded sounds or pictures to be heard or seen • a record/DVD/CD player

4 : a person who participates in a usually competitive field or activity • She is a key/major/top player in genetics research. • one of the industry's inside players

5 old-fashioned : an actor or actress • a traveling band of players • Even the movie's bit players [=people who perform very small roles] are excellent.

6 US slang : a person and especially a man who has sexual relationships with more than one person at the same time • That guy's a player.

player piano noun, pl ~ -nos [count] : a piano that is played by a machine inside the piano play-ful /'pleɪfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : happy and full of energy : eager to play • She's an old dog, but she's still very playful. • playful kittens

2 : showing that you are having fun and not being serious • He had a playful expression on his face. • a playful tone of voice • You're certainly in a playful mood! • She gave him a light playful slap on the knee.

— play-ful-ly adv — play-ful-ness noun [noncount] play-girl /'pleɪ,gɜːl/ noun, pl -girls [count] : a woman who spends most of her time doing things that give her pleasure • He's dating a rich, beautiful playgirl.

play-go-er /'pleɪ,gowə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who often goes to plays or who is at a particular play : THEATERGOER

play-ground /'pleɪ,graʊnd/ noun, pl -grounds [count]

1 : an outdoor area where children can play that usually includes special equipment (such as swings and slides)

2 : a place where people go to do enjoyable things • The island was a playground of the rich and famous until the 1950s. • These mountains are a playground for hikers, skiers, and nature lovers.

play-group /'pleɪ,gruːp/ noun, pl -groups [count]

1 US : an organized group of young children and their parents that meet regularly so the children can play together

2 Brit : a school where children younger than five years old go to play and learn — called also (chiefly Brit) play school

play-house /'pleɪ,haʊs/ noun, pl -houses [count]

1 : THEATER — usually used in names • the Provincetown Playhouse in New York City

2 : a small house for children to play in — called also (Brit) Wendy house

playing card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : ¹CARD 1a playing field noun, pl ~ fields [count] : an area that is used for playing some sports; especially : the part of a field that is officially marked as the place where the action of a game happens — see also LEVEL PLAYING FIELD

level the playing field see ³LEVEL

play-list /'pleɪ,lɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] : a list of songs to be played especially by a radio station • Most of the city's DJs have added the song to their playlists.

play-mak-er /'pleɪ,meɪkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a skillful player in sports like basketball, soccer, and hockey who makes plays that help a team to score during games play-mate /'pleɪ,meɪt/ noun, pl -mates [count] : a friend with whom a child plays • She was my playmate and best friend. • He wasn't allowed to join his playmates outside.

playground

seesaw,
teeter-totter (US)

sandbox (US), sandpit (Brit)

swing

slide

play structure (US), climbing frame (Brit)

playing cards

play-off /ˈpleɪ.ɔːf/ noun, pl -offs [count]

1 US : a series of games that is played after the end of the regular season in order to decide which player or team is the champion — usually plural • The teams will once again face each other in the play-offs.

2 : a game or series of games that is played to decide the winner when people or teams are tied • We tied the first day, but I beat her the next day in a play-off. • an 18-hole play-off — see also play off at ¹PLAY play-pen /ˈpleɪ.pən/ noun, pl -pens [count] : a structure with high sides that provides an enclosed area in which a baby or young child can play — called also (US) play yard play-room /ˈpleɪ.ruːm/ noun, pl -rooms [count] : a room for children to play in • Their basement has a playroom.

play school noun, pl ~ schools [count] chiefly Brit : PLAYGROUP 2

play structure noun, pl ~ -tures [count] US : a structure that is designed for children to climb on for fun and that often includes a slide — called also (Brit) climbing frame; see picture at PLAYGROUND play-thing /ˈpleɪ.θɪŋ/ noun, pl -things [count]

1 : a toy • a child's plaything • VCRs were once the expensive, high-tech playthings of the rich.

2 : a person or thing that you treat in a careless way and use for your own amusement or advantage • We mustn't let the environment become the plaything of oil companies. • The emperor used people as his playthings.

play-time /ˈpleɪ.taɪm/ noun [noncount]

1 : a time to play and have fun • She has a little playtime in the morning before she goes to school. • This isn't playtime; get to work!

2 Brit : RECESS • The children have playtime after lunch.

play-wright /ˈpleɪ.raɪt/ noun, pl -wrights [count] : a person who writes plays : DRAMATIST play-writ-ing also US play-wright-ing /ˈpleɪ.raɪtɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the activity of writing plays • He gave classes in playwriting and poetry. • a playwriting course play yard noun, pl ~ yards [count] US : PLAYPEN

pla-za /ˈplɑːzə/ noun, pl -zas [count]

1 : an open public area that is usually near city buildings and that often has trees and bushes and places to sit, walk, and shop • They put his statue in the town's plaza.

2 chiefly US : SHOPPING CENTER

3 US a : an area on or next to a highway having restaurants, gas stations, restrooms, etc. • a rest/information/service plaza b : a place where you stop to pay money before going onto a highway — called also toll plaza

plea /ˈpliː/ noun, pl pleas [count]

1 : a serious and emotional request for something • We are making a plea to all companies to stop polluting the environment. — often + for • No one heard his pleas for help. • the prisoner's passionate/desperate/fervent plea for mercy

2 law a : a statement in which a person who has been accused of a crime says in court that he or she is guilty or not guilty of the crime • The defendant entered a plea of not guilty. • a guilty plea b : a statement in which a person says that he or she is guilty of a particular crime : a plea of guilty • She and her lawyers accepted a lesser plea [=they said that she was guilty of a less serious crime] of manslaughter. c : a reason or excuse for committing a crime • He murdered his wife and got off on an insanity plea. [=the court said that he was not guilty because he was insane]

cop a plea see ²COP

plea bargaining noun [noncount] : a process in which a person who is accused of a crime is allowed to say that he or she is guilty of a less serious crime in order to be given a less severe punishment • As a result of plea bargaining, he would not be sentenced to death.

— plea bargain noun, pl ~ -gains [count] • She could confess and be granted a plea bargain. • He refused to accept a plea bargain. — plea-bargain verb -gains; -gained; -gaining [no obj] • He plea-bargained to avoid spending time in jail.

plead /ˈpliːd/ verb pleads; plead-ed /ˈpliːdəd/ or pled /ˈpled/; plead-ing

1 [no obj] : to ask for something in a serious and emotional way • He begged and pleaded, but she would not change her mind. — often + for • She pleaded [=begged] for forgiveness and got her job back. • pleading for help/mercy — often + with • He pleaded with the judge not to send him to jail.

2 [+ obj] : to try to prove (a case) in a court of law • She couldn't afford a lawyer to plead her case.

3 [no obj] : to say in court that you are either guilty or not guilty of a crime : to make a plea • “How do you plead?” asked the judge. • “We plead guilty, Your Honor.” • He pled not guilty by reason of insanity. [=he said in court that he was not responsible for the crime because he was insane] • He agreed to plead to a lesser charge of manslaughter.

4 [+ obj] : to give (something) as a reason or excuse for something • He pleaded that he didn't have enough money to pay his bill. • On that particular issue, I will have to plead ignorance. [=to say that I do not know anything about it]

5 : to argue in support of (a cause) [+ obj] They went to plead their cause to the governor. [no obj] We will plead on your behalf.

plead the Fifth see ¹FIFTH

pleading noun, pl -ings

1 : the act of asking for something in a serious and emotional way [noncount] I'm tired of their begging and pleading. [count] Despite our pleadings to be allowed to leave, they kept us there for several more hours.

2 [count] law : one of the formal, usually written statements made by the two sides of a legal case in a court of law plead-ing-ly /ˈpliːdɪŋli/ adv [more ~; most ~] : in a way that shows that someone wants something very much • He looked up at me pleadingly.

pleas-ant /ˈpleɪzənt/ adj pleas-ant-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : causing a feeling of happiness or pleasure • the pleasant smell of cookies baking in the oven • We had a pleasant conversation. • Our evening together was pleasant but not very exciting. • Have a pleasant day/afternoon/evening. • I didn't know you were coming. What a pleasant surprise!

2 : friendly and likable • Their new teacher seems pleasant enough. • a very pleasant young man

— pleas-ant-ly adv • She smiled at him pleasantly. • We were pleasantly surprised to see her there. — pleas-ant-ness noun [noncount] pleas-ant-ry /ˈpleɪzəntri/ noun, pl -ries [count] formal : something (such as a greeting) that people say in order to be polite — usually plural • After exchanging pleasantries, she brought me into her office to discuss the project.

¹please /ˈpliːz/ adv

1 a — used to ask for something in a polite way • Please come in. • Please bring your books with you to every class. • Pass the salt, please. = Would you please pass the salt. • I'll have a glass of red wine, please. • Please don't leave the door open. • Next, please! = Will the next person please come forward? b — used to show that a request is serious or important • Please, God, help us. • I beg you. Please, don't leave me here alone. • Will everyone please be quiet and listen?

2 — used as a polite way of saying yes • “Would you like some tea?” “Please.” • “How about a piece of cake?” “Yes, please.”

3 informal — used to show that you do not agree with or believe something that was said • Oh, please. You can't be serious! That makes no sense!

²please verb pleas-es; pleased; pleas-ing

1 : to make (someone) happy or satisfied [+ obj] He joined the football team to please his father. • She enjoys pleasing others. • Her parents were pleased by her decision. • It pleases me to know that you liked the gift. • They're very hard/easy to please. • You can't please everyone. [no obj] — used in the phrase to please • She's always been eager to please. • restaurants that aim to please • All of their desserts are sure to please. [=everyone will like them] — opposite DISPLEASE

2 [no obj] : to make a choice about what to do, have, etc. • Since he no longer lives with his parents, he's able to come and go as he pleases. [=to come and go whenever he wants to] • There's no hurry. Stay as long as you please. [=as long as you want to stay] • I can do whatever I please. [=like] • You can do as you please. [=you can do whatever you want/choose to do]

as you please Brit, informal — used to make a statement more forceful especially when describing behavior that is surprising • She walked right in, bold as you please. [=in a very bold way]

if you please old-fashioned + formal 1 — used to make a polite request • Follow me, if you please, and I'll show you to the garden. 2 — used to express your surprise or annoyance about something • He insulted her, and then, if you please [=if you would believe it], asked for her help.

please yourself — used to say that you can do what you want to do • "I'm going to skip the party tonight." "OK, please yourself." [=suit yourself] pleased adj [more ~; most ~] : happy or satisfied • We're all pleased that you came. • My father was none too pleased [=not pleased at all; very angry or unhappy] when he found out that my brother had wrecked the car. — often + with • I'm pleased with the grade I got in the class. • You look rather pleased with yourself. — often followed by to + verb • We are pleased to announce that the school has hired a new teacher. • You'll be pleased to learn that you're getting a raise. • "This is my friend, Jane." "(I'm) Pleased to meet you."

(as) pleased as punch informal : very happy or satisfied • We were pleased as punch that he decided to visit.

pleas-ing adj [more ~; most ~] : good in a way that gives pleasure or enjoyment : attractive or appealing • the pleasing [=pleasant] smell of freshly baked bread • pleasing sounds/sights • He wanted his kitchen to be both functional and aesthetically pleasing.

— pleas-ing-ly adv • The meal was pleasingly simple.

plea-sur-able /'pleɪsərəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : causing a feeling of pleasure or enjoyment • She has pleasurable [=pleasant] memories of her childhood. • a pleasurable activity/experience

— plea-sur-ably /'pleɪsərəbli/ adv • walking pleasurably along the beach plea-sure /'pleɪʒə/ noun, pl -sures

1 [noncount] a : a feeling of happiness, enjoyment, or satisfaction : a pleasant or pleasing feeling • I paint for the sheer/pure pleasure of it. • intense physical/sexual pleasure • He smiled with pleasure. • She gets pleasure from helping others. [=she enjoys helping others] • She takes pleasure in [=enjoys] her work. • His grandparents took great/special pleasure in seeing him graduate from college. b : activity that is done for enjoyment • Is this trip for business or pleasure?

2 [count] : something or someone that causes a feeling of happiness, enjoyment, or satisfaction • It's been a pleasure working with you. = You were a pleasure to work with. [=I enjoyed working with you] • It would be my pleasure to help. [=I would be glad to help] • It is a special pleasure for me to be here with you today. • Now I can enjoy the simple pleasures of life, like spending time with my family. • "Thanks for your help." "(It was) My pleasure." [=I was happy to help] • Dark chocolate is a guilty pleasure of mine. [=something that I enjoy even though it causes guilty feelings] at someone's pleasure or at the pleasure of someone — used to say that something is done or can be done because someone wants it to be done • The building can be converted to condominiums at the owner's pleasure. • I serve at the pleasure of the president, and I will continue to serve as long as the president wants me to.

what's your pleasure? informal — used to ask what drink someone would like to be served with pleasure — used to say that you are happy to do something for someone • "Would you deliver a message for me?" "Yes, with pleasure."

pleat /'pli:t/ noun, pl pleats [count] : a fold in cloth that is made by folding the material onto itself • Her skirt has pleats at the waist. — see color picture on page C16

— pleat-ed /'pli:təd/ adj • a pleated skirt [=a skirt that has pleats]

pleb /'pleb/ noun, pl plebs [count] chiefly Brit, informal + disapproving : an ordinary person who has low social status — usually plural • They think they're too important to waste time on plebs like us.

plebe /'pli:b/ noun, pl plebes [count] US, informal : a student in the first year at a military or naval school

ple-be-ian /'pli:'bi:jən/ noun, pl -ians [count]

1 : a member of the common people of ancient Rome

2 : a common person

— plebeian adj • plebeian laws • He doesn't think the novel will appeal to their plebeian tastes.

pleb-i-scite /'plebəsait/ noun, pl -scites : a vote by which the people of a country or region express their opinion for or against an important proposal [count] They are going to hold a plebiscite on the question of national independence. [noncount] The issue will be decided by plebiscite.

plec-trum /'plektrəm/ noun, pl plec-trums or plec-tra /'plektrə/ [count] chiefly Brit : ³PICK 2

1 pledge /'pledʒ/ noun, pl pledg-es [count]

1 : a serious promise or agreement • He has promised to fulfill/honor/keep a campaign pledge to cut taxes. • She refused to take a pledge of silence. [=she said she wouldn't promise to stay silent]

2 : a promise to give money • To make a pledge or donation, please call the charity's office. • The company has made a pledge of over $3,000.

3 : something that you leave with another person as a way to show that you will keep your promise • He left his car as a pledge that he would return with the money.

4 US : a person who has promised to join a college fraternity or sorority but who has not been officially accepted into the group • Our sorority usually accepts 10 pledges each year.

the Pledge of Allegiance US : a formal promise of loyalty to the United States that groups of people say together • The children recited the Pledge of Allegiance.

2 pledge verb pledges; pledged; pledg-ing

1 [+ obj] : to formally promise to give or do (something) • Her family pledged $100,000 toward the construction of a new school. • He called to pledge money to the charity. • We've all pledged (our) loyalty/support/allegiance to the organization. • Every morning, we pledge allegiance to the flag. • teenagers who have pledged not to start smoking • During his campaign, he pledged that he would not raise taxes.

2 [+ obj] : to cause (someone) to formally promise something • She pledged herself to silence. [=she promised that she would not say anything] • The chefs are pledged to keep the restaurant's special recipe a secret.

3 [+ obj] : to give (something) as a way to show that you will keep your promise to someone • He pledged his paintings as collateral/security for a loan.

4 US : to promise to join (a college fraternity or sorority) [+ obj] She pledged the sorority as a freshman. [no obj] A few of his friends pledged to/with fraternities.

ple-na-ry /'pli:nəri/ adj, always used before a noun, formal

1 : attended by all the people who have the right to attend • A plenary meeting of the 500 members was held last summer. • plenary sessions of the legislature

2 : complete in every way • the plenary [=absolute] power of the federal government

pleni-po-ten-tia-ry /,plenəpə'tenʃəri/ noun, pl -ries [count] technical : a person (such as a diplomat) who has complete power to do business for a government

— plenipotentia-ry adj • plenipotentia-ry powers plen-i-tude /'plenətu:d, Brit 'plenə,tju:d/ noun, formal

1 [singular] : a large number or amount of something • She has gathered a plenitude of information on the topic. • a plenitude of choices

2 [noncount] : the state of being full or complete • a life of happiness and plenitude [=a life in which there is plenty of food, money, etc.]

plen-te-ous /'plentijəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + literary : existing in large amounts : plentiful or abundant • a plenteous [=copious] harvest plen-ti-ful /'plentifəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : present in large amounts • When I was a teenager, jobs were plentiful [=there were plenty of jobs] and the economy was strong. • Gasoline won't always be cheap and plentiful. • Space is plentiful enough for several homes. • plentiful amounts of rain • Natural gas is a plentiful resource. • Doctors and nurses are now in plentiful supply. = There is now a plentiful supply of doctors and nurses.

2 : containing or giving large amounts of something • These vegetables are a plentiful source of vitamins. • plentiful [=fruitful] land

— plen-ti-ful-ly adv • fruit growing plentifully on the trees

synonyms PLENTIFUL, ABUNDANT, and AMPLE mean more than enough but not too much. PLENTIFUL suggests a large or rich supply of something. • We moved to the city where jobs are more plentiful. • a plentiful supply of fruits and vegetables • Oranges are plentiful this summer. ABUNDANT suggests a very large supply that is far greater than what is necessary. • an abundant crop of corn • The fish are becoming increasingly abundant. AMPLE suggests an amount that may not be very large but that is more than enough in a specific situation. • The deer had ample food to last the winter. • There is ample evidence to prove that he is guilty of the crime.

¹plen-ty /'plenti/ pronoun [noncount] : a large number or amount of something : a number or amount of something that is enough for a particular purpose • "Would you like more pie?" "No, thanks. I've had plenty." • There's plenty [=enough] for everyone. — often + of • He has plenty of room to work. • There will be plenty of time to relax later. • Remember to drink plenty of water before and after you exercise. • He'll be in plenty of trouble when he gets home. — often followed by to + verb • There's plenty to see and do in the city. • Your family has plenty to be thankful for. • We always have plenty to talk about.

²plenty noun [noncount] formal : the state of having enough of the things that make life good and easy • They thought of America as the land of plenty. • Businesses tend to give more to charity in times of plenty. [=when they have more money] • a season of plenty

in plenty — used to say that something is present or exists in large amounts • She has the qualities of patience and courage in plenty. [=she has plenty of patience and courage]

³plenty adv, informal : to a great degree : more than enough • We're plenty [=very] busy with the work we have already. • It's plenty cold outside. • There's plenty more where that came from. • The car is plenty large enough to fit six people.

pleth-o-ra /'pleθərə/ noun [singular] formal : a very large amount or number : an amount that is much greater than what is necessary • A plethora of books have been written on the subject. • a plethora of information

pleu-ri-sy /'plærsi/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious and painful disease of the lungs

Plex-i-glas /'pleksi,glæs/ trademark — used for sheets of strong, clear plastic

plex-us /'pleksəs/ noun see SOLAR PLEXUS pli-able /'plajəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : able to bend, fold, or twist easily : FLEXIBLE • Because the leather is pliable, it's easy to work with.

2 : too easily influenced or controlled by other people • She sometimes takes advantage of her pliable parents. • His principles are pliable.

— pli-abil-i-ty /,plajə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • the pliability of the leather pli-ant /'plajənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : able to bend without breaking : FLEXIBLE • a pliant [= (more commonly) pliable] material b : able to move freely • the dancer's pliant body

2 : too easily influenced or controlled by other people • a pliant Congress that will do whatever the President wants • a pliant wife/husband

— pli-an-cy /'plajənsi/ noun [noncount]

pli-ers /'plajəz/ noun [plural] : a tool that is used for holding small objects or for bending and cutting wire • No toolbox is complete without (a pair of) pliers. — see picture at CARPENTRY

¹plight /'plaɪt/ noun, pl plights [count] : a very bad or difficult situation — usually singular • The recent cut in funding will only contribute to the hospital's financial plight. • the plight of the unemployed/homeless

²plight verb plights; plight-ed; plight-ing

plight your troth old-fashioned : to promise to marry someone • the garden where the lovers plighted their troth

plim-soll /'plɪmsəl/ noun, pl -solls [count] Brit : a light sports shoe that is made of strong cloth and has a rubber bottom plinth /'plɪnθ/ noun, pl plinths [count] : a block of stone or wood that is used as the base for a pillar, statue, etc.

plod /'plɔ:d/ verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition plods; plod-ded; plod-ding

1 : to walk slowly and usually heavily : TRUDGE [no obj] • We plodded through mud that came up past our ankles. • I could hear my roommate plodding up the steps to our apartment. [+ obj] We plodded our way across the muddy field.

2 [+ obj] : to progress or develop slowly • He plodded through his work. • The day was plodding along.

— plod noun [singular] • The pace had slowed to a plod.

— plod-der /'plɔ:də/ noun, pl -ders [count] • a steady plodder — plodding adj, always used before a noun • the movie's plodding pace • The book was written in plodding prose. — plod-ding-ly adv • ploddingly dull prose

¹plonk /'plɔ:ŋk/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit, informal : cheap wine that is not of good quality

²plonk verb plonks; plonked; plonk-ing [+ obj] Brit, informal : to drop or place (something or someone) in a forceful and often careless way : PLUNK • He plonked the suitcase onto the bench.

plonk down [phrasal verb] plonk down or plonk yourself down Brit, informal : to sit or lie down suddenly in a careless way • He plonked down [= (chiefly US) plunked down] beside me. • She plonked herself down on the sofa.

plonk-er /'plɔ:ŋkə/ noun, pl -ers [count] Brit, informal : a stupid person • He was acting like a complete/total plonker.

¹plop /'plɔ:p/ verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition plops; plopped; plop-ping informal

1 [no obj] : to fall, drop, or move with a sound like something dropping into liquid • The stone plopped into the river. • An ice cube plopped noisily into the glass.

2 [+ obj] : to drop (something) into a liquid so that it makes a splashing sound • I filled the glass with water and plopped a few ice cubes into it.

3 : to sit or lie down in a heavy or careless way : to allow your body to drop heavily or carelessly [no obj] She plopped onto the couch. • They plopped down on the floor. [+ obj] He plopped himself down in the chair.

4 [+ obj] : to drop or place (something or someone) in a heavy or careless way : PLUNK • He plopped the tray down. • The article warns parents against plopping their toddlers in front of the TV for hours on end.

plop down [phrasal verb] plop down (money) or plop (money) down US, informal : to pay or spend (money) • I can't afford to just plop down [= plunk down] $30 for a T-shirt.

²plop noun, pl plops [count] : the sound made when something (such as a small object) drops into liquid — usually singular • The rock landed in the water with a plop.

plo-sive /'plɔ:sv/ noun, pl -sives [count] linguistics : ²STOP 6

¹plot /'plɔ:t/ noun, pl plots

1 [count] a : an area of land that has been measured and is considered as a unit • The plots are selling for $15,000 per acre. • They just bought a 12-acre plot of land. b : a usually small piece of land that is used for a particular purpose • a garden plot • He bought a burial plot in the local cemetery. [=a small area of land where his body will be buried when he dies]

2 : a series of events that form the story in a novel, movie, etc. [count] The book's plot revolves around a woman who is searching for her missing sister. • The movie has a weak/strong plot. • As the plot unfolds [=as the story continues; as things happen in the novel, movie, etc.], we learn more about the hero's family. [noncount] The movie lacks plot [=nothing interesting happens in the movie], but it's a fascinating character study. • He is a master of plot [=he is very good at thinking of interesting stories], but his characters are not realistic. — see also SUBPLOT

3 [count] : a secret plan to do something that is usually illegal or harmful • Police uncovered a plot to assassinate the prime minister. • The prime minister was the target of an assassination plot. • plots against the government • They hatched a plot [=made a plan] to steal the famous painting.

lose the plot Brit, informal : to become confused or crazy • She was so nervous she thought she was going to lose the plot. [=lose it] the plot thickens ♦ When the plot thickens in a novel, movie, etc., the story becomes more complicated or interesting. • The plot thickens when the audience learns that the missing woman used to work for the FBI. The phrase is also used in a usually humorous way to talk about things that happen in real life. • So you've worked with him before? Ah, the plot thickens.

²plot verb plots; plot-ted; plot-ting

1 a : to plan secretly to do something usually illegal or harmful [+ obj] They plotted to steal the painting. • She spent her years in prison plotting her revenge. • He plotted his escape. • They are accused of plotting the assassination of the prime minister. = They are accused of plotting to assassinate the prime minister. [no obj] — usually + against • He feared the other prisoners were plotting against him. b [+ obj] : to plan (something) • We've been plotting growth strategies for the company. • She carefully plotted her career path.

2 [+ obj] : to mark (something, such as a location or path) on a map, graph, chart, etc. • They've plotted the locations where the trees will be planted. • Have you plotted the route for your trip yet? • Students plotted soil temperatures on a graph throughout the school year. — often + out • The investigators plotted out the airplane's route.

3 [+ obj] : to create a plot for (a novel, movie, etc.) — usually used as (be) plotted • Her latest book is a brilliantly plotted novel [=a novel with a brilliant plot] about the war.

plot-line /'plɑ:t, lɑm/ noun, pl -lines [count] : the things that happen in a book, movie, etc. : PLOT • the movie's main plot-line

plot-ter /'plɑ:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 : a person who secretly plans to do something illegal or harmful : someone who plots something • The police caught the plotters of the bank heist.

2 : a computer program or device that creates a graph or chart from information

Plough /'plau/ noun

the Plough Brit : BIG DIPPER

plough, ploughshare Brit spelling of PLOW, PLOWSHARE

plo-ver /'plʌvə/ noun, pl plover or plo-vers [count] : a type of bird that has a short beak and that lives near the sea

¹plow (US) or Brit plough /'plau/ noun, pl plows [count]

1 : a piece of farm equipment that is used to dig into and turn over soil especially to prepare the soil for planting under the plow of land : used for growing crops • The amount of local land under the plow is decreasing.

2 : SNOWPLOW

plow

plow (US), plough (Brit)

plow (US),
plough (Brit)

snowplow (US), snowplough (Brit)

²plow (US) or Brit plough verb plows; plowed; plow-ing

1 [+ obj] : to dig into or break up (dirt, soil, land, etc.) with a plow • The soil was freshly plowed. • They used oxen to plow the field. • Plow the weeds back into the soil. [=use a plow to bury the weeds]

2 chiefly US : to use a snowplow to remove snow from a road, parking lot, etc. [+ obj] My street hasn't been plowed yet. • We hired someone to plow the snow from our driveway. [no obj] The town won't start plowing until the storm is almost over.

3 : to move through, over, or across (something) in a forceful and steady way [+ obj] a ship/whale plowing the ocean • They continued to plow their way through the tall grass. [no obj] — followed by an adverb or preposition • A series of damaging storms plowed across the state last fall. • We plowed through the crowd.

4 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to do something difficult in a slow or steady way • She spent several hours plowing through the paperwork on her desk.

plough a furrow see ¹FURROW plow ahead [phrasal verb] : to continue to do something without being stopped by problems or opposition • The city is plowing ahead with plans to demolish the building.

plow into [phrasal verb] 1 plow into (someone or something) : to crash into (someone or something) usually at a high speed • The car plowed into the guardrail. 2 plow (money, profits, etc.) into (something) : to invest (money, profits, etc.) in (something) : to put (money) into (something) • The company plowed millions of dollars into research. — often + back • For the first 10 years, the profits were all plowed back into the company.

plow on [phrasal verb] : to continue doing something that is slow and difficult • I was discouraged, but I plowed on.

plow-share (US) or Brit plough-share /'plau,ʃeə/ noun, pl -shares [count] : the part of a plow that digs into the soil beat/turn swords into plowshares see SWORD ploy /'plɔɪ/ noun, pl ploys [count] : a clever trick or plan that is used to get someone to do something or to gain an advantage over someone • Her story about being sick is only a ploy to get you to give her money. • a marketing ploy [=something that people who are selling a product use to make people want to buy the product]

¹pluck /'plʌk/ verb plucks; plucked; pluck-ing

1 [+ obj] : to pull (something) quickly to remove it • My sister plucked a white hair from my head. • The hunter plucked the bird's feathers. • plucking petals off/from a flower • pluck [=pick] a lemon from the tree

2 [+ obj] : to remove some or all of the feathers or hairs from (something) • They plucked a chicken. • She plucks her eyebrows. [=she regularly removes some of the hairs in her eyebrows to make her eyebrows have a particular shape]

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] a : to take (someone or something) away from a place or situation suddenly or by force • Firefighters plucked the child from the top floor of the burning building. • He'd been plucked from obscurity and thrust into the national spotlight. • a cat that was plucked off the city's streets last winter b : to select or take (something) usually from a group, container, or place • We plucked [=chose] passages at random from the book and read them aloud. • He plucked a stone out of the river.

4 a : to pull and release (a string on a musical instrument) with your fingers in order to make a sound [+ obj] pluck a guitar string [no obj] pluck on a guitar string b : to play (a guitar, banjo, etc.) by pulling and releasing the strings with your fingers [+ obj] She was softly plucking a banjo. [no obj] plucking on/at a banjo pluck at [phrasal verb] pluck at (something) : to pull part of (something) with your fingers especially more than once • He nervously plucked at the blanket.

pluck up (the) courage ♦ If you pluck up (the) courage to do something, you become brave enough to do it. • He finally plucked up the courage to ask her out on a date.

²pluck noun [noncount] old-fashioned + informal : a quality that makes you continue trying to do or achieve something that is difficult : courage and determination • It takes pluck to do what she did. • She showed pluck in getting up on stage.

plucky /'plʌki/ adj pluck-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : having or showing a lot of courage or determination • a plucky young man

¹plug /'plʌg/ noun, pl plugs [count]

1 a : a part at the end of an electric cord that has two or three metal pins that connect the cord to a source of electricity • the lamp's plug • The only way to turn the machine off is to pull the plug. [=remove the plug from the outlet] — see also PULL THE PLUG (below) b : a part at the end of a wire or cable that is used to connect machines or devices • a microphone plug c chiefly Brit : OUTLET 4

2 : a thing that is used to close a hole in a container or object • I put the plug [=stopper] in the drain and let the sink/bathtub fill with water. • a drain plug

3 : a thing that is used to fill a hole or empty area • a wooden plug • We replanted the area with plugs of grass. [=bunches of grass plants] — see also EARPLUG

plug

4 : a piece of tobacco used for chewing • He put a plug of tobacco in his mouth.

5 : SPARK PLUG

6 : something that is said on the radio, on television, etc., in order to create interest in something (such as a book, movie, or restaurant) — often + for • I heard a plug for that café on the radio. • He gave a plug for [=talked about] his new film during the interview. • She put in a plug for the band's new album on her radio program.

pull the plug informal 1 : to turn off the machine that is keeping a very sick or injured person alive and allow that person to die • Only his wife can decide to pull the plug. 2 : to allow or cause something to end by stopping the money or support that is needed for it — usually + on • At the end of the season, the network is pulling the plug on the show. • They may pull the plug on the tutoring program.

²plug verb plugs; plugged; plug-ing [+ obj]

1 : to fill or cover (a hole, space, etc.) with something • We were able to plug the hole with cement. • Leaves and dirt were plugging [=blocking] the storm drain. — often + up • He plugged up the spaces between the stones with mud. • The drain was plugged up. [=clogged, blocked] — often used figuratively • The company needs to plug the holes/gaps in its security system.

2 : to praise (something, such as a book, movie, or restaurant) publicly in a way that makes people want to buy it, see it, etc. : to advertise (something) by talking about it especially on the radio or television • One of the DJs on the local radio station has been plugging the band's new album.

3 US, informal + old-fashioned : to shoot (someone) with a gun • He plugged him right in the chest.

plug away [phrasal verb] informal : to continue doing something even though it is difficult or boring — often + at • She kept plugging away at her homework.

plug in [phrasal verb] plug (something) in or plug in (something) 1 : to connect (something, such as a lamp or television) to an electrical source or to another device by using a plug • Don't plug the stereo in yet. • He plugged in the lamp. • The microphone isn't plugged in. 2 : to put (information, such as a word or number) in something • The form has spaces where you just plug in [=insert] your name and address. — see also PLUG-IN plug into [phrasal verb] 1 plug into (something) or plug (something) into (something) : to become connected or to cause (something) to become connected to an electrical source or another device • The heater plugs into the dashboard of your car. • Plug the heater into the dashboard of the car. • I'm trying to figure out how to plug the scanner into my computer. — sometimes used figuratively • The company has plugged into the international market. [=the company has become connected to the international market; the company has begun to do business in the international market] • His friends are plugged into the city's music scene. [=his friends are actively involved in the city's music scene] 2 plug (something) into (something) : to put (information, such as a word or number) into something • The computer program will take data from these sources and automatically plug it into the equation.

plug and play noun [noncount] computers : a feature of a computer system that makes it possible for the computer to use a device as soon as it is connected to the computer — plug-and-play adj • plug-and-play software

plug-hole /'plʌg.hoʊl/ noun, pl -holes [count] Brit : ²DRAIN 1

down the plughole informal 1 — used to describe something that is being wasted or lost • All my hard work went down the plughole. [=went down the drain] • You're pouring your money down the plughole. [=you're wasting your money] 2 — used to describe something that is getting much worse • The business is going down the plughole.

plug-in /'plʌg.in/ noun, pl -ins [count] computers : a small piece of software that adds a feature to a larger program or makes a program work better • a (Web) browser plug-in • plug-in software

plum /'plʌm/ noun, pl plums

1 [count] : a round, juicy fruit that has red or purple skin, sweet yellow flesh, and a hard seed at the center • a bowl of peaches and plums • Dried plums are also called "prunes." • plum sauce • plum trees — see color picture on page C5

2 [count] somewhat informal : something that many people want or think is very good • That deal is a real plum for the contractor. — usually used before another noun • It's a plum

job. • How did she get such a plum role in the play?

3 [noncount] : a dark reddish-purple color — see color picture on page C3 plum-age /'plʌmɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] : the feathers that cover the body of a bird • The peacock has colorful plumage.

¹plumb /'plʌm/ adv

1 technical : exactly straight down or up : in a perfectly vertical position • He set the board plumb.

2 US, informal + old-fashioned : to a complete degree : COMPLETELY • I plumb forgot about the party. • We were plumb [=totally] exhausted after the game.

3 informal : EXACTLY, DIRECTLY • The island is located plumb [=right] in the middle of the lake.

²plumb adj [more ~; most ~] technical : exactly vertical : standing perfectly straight and not leaning in any way • The carpenter made sure that the wall was plumb. • The chimney is out of plumb. = The chimney is off plumb. [=not straight upright; leaning to one side]

³plumb verb plumbs; plumbed; plumb-ing [+ obj]

1 a literary : to examine (something) in a careful and complete way in order to understand it • The book plumbs the complexities of human relationships. • a scientist who spent her life plumbing the minds of criminals • The play plumbs the depths of human nature. b : to experience or reach (something) • someone who has plumbed the depths of loss/pain [=who has experienced a lot of loss/pain] • The company's stocks plumbed new depths [=reached their lowest value] this week.

2 US a : to install pipes for sinks, toilets, etc., in (a building or room) • The plumber is almost finished plumbing the apartment. • The new house has been wired and plumbed. b : to connect (something, such as a sink) to a water supply • All the bathroom fixtures have been plumbed.

plumb in [phrasal verb] chiefly Brit plumb (something) in or plumb in (something) : to connect (something) to a water supply • I plumbed in the washing machine.

plumb bob noun, pl ~ bobs [count] US

1 : a usually small, heavy object that is used to make a string or rope hang straight : the heavy object that is part of a plumb line — called also bob plumb-er /'plʌmə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person whose job is to install or repair sinks, toilets, water pipes, etc.

2 : PLUMB LINE

plumber's snake noun, pl ~ snakes [count] : ¹SNAKE 3

plumb-ing /'plʌmɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 : a system of pipes that carries water through a building • The house has old plumbing. • The cottage has electricity but no indoor plumbing. [=the cottage does not have a toilet or sink; there are no pipes that supply clean water to the cottage] • a store that sells plumbing fixtures [=sinks, toilets, faucets, etc.]

plumbing

2 : the work of a plumber : the job of installing and repairing sinks, toilets, water pipes, etc.

plumb line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : a tool that consists of a small, heavy object attached to a string or rope and that is used especially to see if something (such as a wall) is perfectly vertical — called also (US) plumb bob

plume /'plu:m/ noun, pl plumes [count]

1 : a feather or group of feathers on a bird • the peacock's colorful plumes

2 : a decoration made of feathers or something similar • a hat with bright ostrich plumes

3 : something (such as smoke, steam, or water) that rises into the air in a tall, thin shape • A plume [=column] of smoke rose from the chimney.

— see also NOM DE PLUME

— plumed /'plu:md/ adj • The knights wore plumed helmets. • a white-plumed bird plum-met /'plʌmət/ verb -mets; -met-ed; -met-ing [no obj]

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to fall suddenly straight down especially from a very high place • The acrobat plummeted into the net. • The car plummeted to the bottom of the canyon. • The satellite plummeted into/toward the ocean.

2 : to fall or drop suddenly in amount, value, etc. : PLUNGE • Stock prices plummeted 40 percent during the scandal. • The TV show has plummeted in the ratings. • Temperatures are expected to plummet this weekend. • The town's population plummets when the students leave for the summer.

plum-my /'plʌmi/ adj plum-mi-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : like a plum in color, taste, or smell • the wine's ripe, plummy flavors

2 often disapproving, of a person's voice : full and formal often in a way that sounds too proper and not natural • his plummy British accent

3 informal : wanted by many people : very good and desirable • a plummy job [=a good job that people want to have]

1 plump /'plʌmp/ verb plumps; plumped; plump-ing : to sit, fall, or lie down in a sudden, awkward, or relaxed way : PLOP [no obj] He came home and plumped [=flopped] down on the couch. [+ obj] She plumped her bags onto the bench.

plump for [phrasal verb] plump for (someone or something) informal 1 US : to express support for (someone or something) • The President plumped for the incumbent candidate in the election. 2 Brit : to choose (someone or something) after thinking carefully • I finally plumped for the blue dress.

— compare ²PLUMP

2 plump verb plumps; plumped; plumping [+ obj] : to shake or hit (something, such as a pillow) to make it fuller, softer, or rounder • She plumped [=fluffed] (up) her pillows and climbed into bed. — compare ¹PLUMP

3 plump adj plump-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] : having a full, rounded shape • a plump, juicy peach : slightly fat • He was a plump [=chubby] little boy. • His aunt pinched his plump cheeks.

— plump-ness noun [noncount]

plum pudding noun, pl ~ -dings [count, noncount] : a sweet food that is made with bread crumbs, dried fruit, and spices and that is served warm — called also (Brit) Christmas pudding

plum tomato noun, pl ~ -toes [count] : a tomato that is shaped like an egg

1 plun-der /'plʌndə/ verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing : to steal things from (a place, such as a city or town) especially by force [+ obj] The village was plundered by the invading army. • Thieves had long ago plundered the tomb. [no obj] The soldiers continued plundering for days.

— plun-der-er noun, pl -ers [count]

2 plunder noun [noncount]

1 : the act of stealing things from a place especially by force : the act of plundering something • the plunder of the village • All evidence suggested that the plunder of the tomb had happened long ago.

2 : things that are stolen or taken by force especially during a war • Soldiers divided the plunder [=loot] among themselves.

1 plunge /'plʌndʒ/ verb plung-es; plunged; plung-ing [no obj]

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to fall or jump

suddenly from a high place • Her car plunged off a bridge. • He plunged [=dove] into the pool. • The rocket plunged [=plummeted] toward the Earth. • The parachute failed to open, and the jumper plunged to her death [=died from her fall]

2 : to fall or drop suddenly in amount, value, etc. : PLUMMET • The stock market plunged yesterday. • The President's approval rating has plunged to 20 percent. • The moose population has plunged in recent years.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to have a steep slope or drop downward • The rocky cliffs plunge into the swirling rapids below. • The road plunges down the mountain.

plunge in/into [phrasal verb] 1 plunge (something) in or plunge (something) into (something) : to push (something) into (something) quickly and forcefully • The nurse grabbed his arm and plunged the needle in. • He plunged the knife into the cake. • I plunged the sponge into the bucket of water. • He plunged his hands into his pockets.

2 plunge in or plunge into (something) : to start doing (something) with enthusiasm and energy • It was a big project, so we all just had to plunge in [=dive in] and get started. • She plunged (right) into the assignment. 3 a plunge into (something) : to suddenly begin to be in (a particular and usually bad condition or situation) • He plunged into a severe depression. b plunge (someone or something) into (something) : to cause (someone or something) to suddenly be in (a particular condition or situation) • A series of bad management decisions had plunged the company into debt. • The author plunges his readers into a world of fantasy. • The museum was recently plunged into scandal when it was learned that some of its art had been sold on the black market. • The city was plunged into darkness [=the city suddenly became dark]

2 plunge noun, pl plunges [count]

1 : a sudden fall or jump usually from a high place • Amazingly, the cat survived its plunge from the building's roof.

2 : a sudden quick fall in amount, value, etc. • Market analysts predicted a price plunge. • The store experienced a sharp plunge in sales.

3 : the act of suddenly beginning to be in a particular condition or situation — usually + into • his plunge into severe depression • A series of bad management decisions are responsible for the company's plunge into debt.

take the plunge informal : to do something after thinking about it especially for a long time • We've been thinking of buying a new car, and yesterday we finally took the plunge. [=we bought a new car] • They're talking about marriage, but they don't know if they're ready to take the plunge.

plung-er /'plʌndʒə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a tool made of a stick with a rubber cup on the end that is used to clear a blocked pipe in a toilet or sink — see picture at BATHROOM

2 : a part that moves up and down usually inside a tube or cylinder (such as a syringe) to push something out plunk /'plʌŋk/ verb plunks; plunked; plunk-ing informal

1 chiefly US : to pull or hit a string or key on a musical instrument with your fingers especially in a way that makes a brief, somewhat harsh sound [+ obj] You've been plunking that banjo all afternoon! • She plunked out a little tune on the piano. [no obj] plunking away on a guitar

2 [+ obj] US : to hit (someone or something) especially with a ball • The pitcher plunked the first two batters of the game.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] chiefly US : to drop or place (something or someone) in a forceful and often careless way : PLOP • He plunked [= (Brit) plonked] the suitcase onto the bench. • She plunked a mug of coffee on the counter. — often used figuratively • He was plunked down into a job he wasn't qualified to do.

plunk down [phrasal verb] informal 1 plunk down (money) or plunk (money) down US : to pay or spend (money) • He just plunked down $25,000 for a new car. 2 plunk down or plunk yourself down chiefly US : to sit or lie down suddenly in a careless way • He plunked down [= (Brit) plonked down] beside me. • She plunked herself down on the sofa.

plu-per-fect /'plu:'pəfɪkt/ noun [noncount] grammar : PAST PERFECT

1 plu-ral /'plʊərəl/ adj

1 grammar : relating to a form of a word that refers to more than one person or thing • The word "trees" is a plural noun. • The plural form of the word "child" is "children." • a plural verb such as "are" or "were" rather than a singular verb such as “is” or “was” — compare SINGULAR

2 formal a : relating to or made up of more than one kind or group • Our country is a plural society. [=it includes people of different social classes, religions, races, etc.] b : relating to or made up of more than one person or thing • the practice of plural marriage [=a marriage in which there is more than one husband or wife]

2 plural noun, pl -rals [count] : a form of a word that is used to refer to more than one person or thing • English plurals usually end in an “s.” — usually used with the • The plural of (the word) “child” is “children.” • “Books” is the plural of “book.” • “Children” is in the plural. — abbr. pl.

plu-ral-ism /'plərəˌlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] formal

1 : a situation in which people of different social classes, religions, races, etc., are together in a society but continue to have their different traditions and interests • He spoke of the benefits of cultural/religious pluralism.

2 : the belief that people of different social classes, religions, races, etc., should live together in a society • She's a champion of pluralism.

— plu-ral-ist /'plərəˌlɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] — pluralist or plu-ral-is-tic /,plərəˌlɪstɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a pluralistic society

plu-ral-i-ty /pluˈræləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] formal : a usually large number of things — usually singular; usually + of • The researchers studied a plurality of approaches.

2 [count] chiefly US, technical : a number of votes that is more than the number of votes for any other candidate or party but that is not more than half of the total number of votes — usually singular • Her party won by receiving a plurality of the vote. • He was elected with a plurality, not a majority. — compare MAJORITY

3 [noncount] grammar : the state of being plural • The verb “are” indicates the plurality of the subject. [=the verb “are” shows that the subject is plural]

1 plus /'plʌs/ adj

1 always used before a noun : having a value that is above zero : POSITIVE • The temperature was plus 10 degrees. [=10 degrees above zero] — opposite ³MINUS 1

2 — used after a letter grade (such as A, B, or C) to show that the work is slightly better than the letter by itself would indicate • He got a C plus in history. — opposite ³MINUS 2

3 — used after a number to indicate a range greater than that number • The concert is an 18-plus show. [=a show for people who are 18 years old or older] • This stadium seats 20,000-plus people. [=more than 20,000 people] on the plus side — used to describe the more appealing or attractive part of something • On the minus side, the job doesn't pay very well, but on the plus side, the hours are very convenient.

2 plus noun, pl plus-es [count]

1 informal : something that is useful or helpful • The apartment isn't perfect, but the fact that it has new appliances is a plus. • The state college's low tuition is only one of its pluses. [=advantages, benefits] • The job doesn't pay well, but the convenient hours are a definite plus. — opposite ²MINUS 1

2 mathematics : PLUS SIGN

3 plus prep

1 — used to indicate that one number or amount is being added to another • 4 plus 5 equals/is 9 • The cost is $10 plus $2 for shipping.

2 : and also : as well as • The hotel has two restaurants, plus a bar and a swimming pool.

plus or minus — used to indicate that a value, number, or amount may be above or below a certain number • It should take a month, plus or minus a few days.

4 plus conj, informal : in addition : AND • He works a full-time job during the day, plus he goes to school at night. • I enjoy gardening, plus it's good exercise.

1 plush /'plʌʃ/ adj plush-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 a : made of a thick, soft fabric • plush carpeting/toys b : thick and soft • plush fabric

2 : very fancy and usually expensive : LUXURIOUS • a plush apartment/office/suite • The hotel accommodations were plush.

2 plush noun [noncount] : a thick, soft fabric plus sign noun, pl ~ signs [count] : the symbol + used to show that a number is being added to another number or that a quantity is greater than zero — compare MINUS SIGN plus size noun, pl ~ sizes [count] chiefly US : a clothing size made for large women • The store sells plus sizes.

— plus-size adj • plus-size clothing/women • the plus-size department/market

Plu-to /'pluːtɒ/ noun [singular] : the object in our solar system that in the past was thought to be the planet farthest from the sun but that is no longer considered to be a planet

plu-toc-ra-cy /pluˈtɑːkrəsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 a [noncount] : government by the richest people • a trend toward plutocracy b [count] : a country that is ruled by the richest people • If only the wealthy can afford to run for public office, are we more a plutocracy than a democracy?

2 [count] : a group of very rich people who have a lot of power • corporate greed and America's growing plutocracy

plu-to-crāt /'pluːtəˌkræt/ noun, pl -crats [count] often disapproving : a person who has power because of great wealth

— plu-to-crāt-ic /,pluːtəˌkrætɪk/ adj • a plutocratic society

plu-to-ni-um /pluˈtɒnɪjəm/ noun [noncount] : a radioactive element that is used to make nuclear energy and nuclear weapons

1 ply /'plai/ verb plies; plied; ply-ing formal

1 [+obj] a : to work at (a job, activity, etc.) • The carpenter plies his art/craft in his workshop. • Wood-carvers were ply-ing their trade [=doing their work] in the town square. • a street where many artists ply their wares [=sell their goods] on the sidewalk b old-fashioned : to use (something, such as a tool) with care and skill • She makes a living as a writer, busily plying her pen each day.

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition, of a bus, ship, airplane, etc. : to go along the same route regularly : to travel on a particular road, way, etc., regularly [no obj] Barges plied back and forth along the canal. • Two ferries ply between the island and mainland in the summer months. [+obj] Trucks ply the highway between the two cities. • ships plying the country's northern coast ply for hire/business/trade Brit : to try to get customers or business • Taxis ply for hire/business outside the train station. • The company is plying for trade in America.

ply with [phrasal verb] ply (someone) with (something) : to offer or give (something) to (someone) repeatedly or constantly • Someone who is plying you with gifts [=giving you many gifts] probably wants something in return. • Waiters plied guests with wine and hors d'oeuvres. • He plied me with questions. [=he asked me many questions]

2 ply noun, pl plies [count] : one of the layers, folds, or strands that make something (such as yarn or plywood) • a single ply of fabric — usually used in combination • four-ply yarn [=yarn made up of four strands] • two-ply paper towels

ply-wood /'plaiˌwʊd/ noun [noncount] : a strong board that is made by gluing together thin sheets of wood • a floor made of plywood = a plywood floor

p.m. or PM or Brit pm abbr in the afternoon or evening — used with numbers to show the time of day • She went to bed at 10 p.m. • He works every day from 8:00 a.m. to/until 4:30 p.m. • Lunch will be served at 12 p.m. [=noon; one hour after 11 a.m.] ♦ The abbreviation p.m. stands for the Latin phrase post meridiem, which means “after noon.” — compare A.M.

PM abbr prime minister

PMS /ˌpiːˌemˈes/ noun [noncount] US : PREMENSTRUAL SYNDROME

PMT /ˌpiːˌemˈtiː/ noun [noncount] Brit : PREMENSTRUAL SYNDROME

pneu-mat-ic /nuˈmætɪk, Brit njuˈmætɪk/ adj

1 technical a : using air pressure to move or work • a pneumatic hammer b : filled with air • pneumatic tires

2 US, informal, of a woman : having a body with full, pleasing curves • The movie stars a pneumatic blonde.

pneumatic drill noun, pl ~ drills [count] : JACKHAMMER

pneu-mo-nia /nuˈmɒnjə, Brit njuˈmɒnjə/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease that affects the lungs and makes it difficult to breathe • He caught/contracted pneumonia over the winter. • Her father died from/of double pneumonia. [=pneumonia in both lungs]

P.O. abbr 1 post office 2 postal order

1 poach /'pəʊtʃ/ verb poach-es; poached; poach-ing [+obj]

1 : to cook (something) in a small amount of liquid that is almost boiling • The vegetables were poached in chicken broth.

2 : to cook (an egg without its shell) in boiling water or in a small cup over boiling water • poach an egg

— compare ²POACH

— poached adj • We had poached eggs for breakfast. • poached salmon/oysters

2 poach verb poaches; poached; poaching

1 : to hunt or fish illegally : to catch or kill an animal illegally [+ obj] Elephants are often poached for their ivory tusks. [no obj] The state fines anyone who is caught poaching.

2 [+ obj] : to take (something, such as an idea, or someone, such as an employee or customer) from someone else illegally or unfairly • She was accused of poaching [=plagiarizing] the material for her essay from a Web site. • Her former company accused her of poaching clients.

poach on someone's territory/turf : to do something that someone else should do : to interfere in an area that another person usually controls • You can't keep other candidates from poaching on your turf. [=from trying to get voters who usually vote for you or your party to vote for them]

— compare ¹POACH

— poach-er noun, pl -ers [count] • Poachers are responsible for the declining rhinoceros population in this area.

— poaching noun [noncount] • a heavy fine for poaching

P.O. Box noun, pl ~ Boxes [count] : a box at a post office where you can have mail delivered — used in mailing addresses • Write to P.O. Box 100, New York, New York.

po'-boy /'pou,boi/ noun, pl -boys [count] US : SUBMARINE SANDWICH — used especially to refer to a type of submarine sandwich that is served in Louisiana

pock /'pɑ:k/ verb pocks; pocked; pock-ing [+ obj] : to make holes in or marks on (something) • one of the many craters that pock the moon's surface

— pocked adj • the moon's pocked surface • a bullet-pocked wall [=a wall that bullets have pocked] • The road was pocked with potholes. • a face pocked with scars

1 pock-et /'pɑ:kət/ noun, pl -ets [count]

1 : a usually small cloth bag that is sewn into a piece of clothing, a larger bag, etc., and that is open at the top or side so that you can put things into it • He keeps his gloves in his coat pocket. • She was standing there with her hands in her pockets. • a hip/breast/shirt pocket • I have a hole in my pocket. • Her pocket was full of change/coins. • The security guard asked us to empty our pockets [=to take out everything in our pockets] — see color picture on page C15

2 : the amount of money that someone has available to spend • We're looking for investors with pockets that are deep enough to pay for the project. [=investors with enough money to pay for the project] • There are items in our store that suit every pocket [=that everyone can afford to buy] • The governor paid for the event out of his own pocket [=with his own money rather than the state's money] • The mayor diverted city funds into his own pockets [=he took money that belonged to the city] — see also DEEP POCKETS

3 : a small bag or container that is attached to something and used to hold things • There are pockets on the back of each car seat. • The tickets are in the zippered pocket on the front of the suitcase.

4 : a small area or group that is different from the larger area or group it is in or near — usually + of • Military forces have encountered a few pockets of resistance.

5 pool and billiards : a bag or cup that you hit the ball into at the corner or side of a pool table or billiard table • He knocked the ball into the corner/side pocket.

6 : AIR POCKET

be/live in each other's pockets Brit, informal : to be too close to someone or spend too much time with someone in someone's pocket or in the pocket of someone disappearing : under someone's control or influence • The judge in the case was in the senator's pocket. [=was controlled by the senator] • researchers/scientists who are in the pocket of pharmaceutical companies in your pocket informal ✧ If you have something in your pocket, you are certain to win or get it. • The interview went really well. I thought I had the job in my pocket. • She knew that she had the game/match in her pocket. [=she knew she would win the game]

line your pockets see ³LINE

out of pocket chiefly Brit, informal : having less money because of something that has happened • The lawsuit has left company shareholders $30 million out of pocket. — see also OUT-OF-POCKET

pick pockets see ¹PICK

2 pocket verb -ets; -et-ed; -et-ing [+ obj]

1 : to put (something) in a pocket • He pocketed the change.

2 a : to take or keep (something that does not belong to you) • The chairman was fired for pocketing funds. • It turned out that they had pocketed [=stolen] most of the money that was supposed to go to victims of the fire. • The saleswoman had overcharged them and pocketed the difference. b : to earn or win (something, such as money) • a professional golfer who pocketed more than four million dollars in winnings

3 US : to ignore (an emotion or feeling) • I had to pocket my pride and ask for some help.

4 pool and billiards : to hit (a ball) into a pocket of a pool table or billiard table • She pocketed the eight ball.

3 pocket adj, always used before a noun

1 : small enough to fit in a pocket • a pocket calculator/dictionary

2 : carried in a pocket • pocket change • a pocket watch/handkerchief pocket billiards noun [noncount] : ³POOL 2

pock-et-book /'pɑ:kət,bʊk/ noun, pl -books [count]

1 US, somewhat old-fashioned : a bag usually with handles and pockets that is used by women to carry money and personal belongings : PURSE, HANDBAG

2 US : the amount of money that someone has available to spend : someone's ability to pay for things • The restaurant has meals priced to suit every pocketbook [=it has meals that everyone can afford] • People vote their pocketbooks. [=people vote according to how a candidate or issue will affect their financial situation]

3 Brit : NOTEBOOK 1

pock-et-ful /'pɑ:kət,ful/ noun, pl pock-et-fuls or pock-ets-ful /'pɑ:kəts,ful/ [count] : an amount of something that can be carried in a pocket • He carried a pocketful of money.

pock-et-knife /'pɑ:kət,naɪf/ noun, pl -knives [count] : a small knife that has one or more blades that fold into the handle — called also jackknife, penknife

pocket money noun [noncount]

1 : a small amount of extra money • She mowed lawns in the summers to earn pocket money. [=spending money]

2 Brit : money that is regularly given to children by their parents : money that children are given as an allowance pock-et-size /'pɑ:kət,saɪz/ also pock-et-sized /'pɑ:kət,saɪzd/ adj : small enough to be carried in a pocket • a pocket-size dictionary pocket veto noun, pl ~ -toes [count] US : a method that the President can use to prevent a bill from becoming a law by not signing the bill before the session of Congress ends

pock-mark /'pɑ:k,mɑ:k/ noun, pl -marks [count]

1 : a mark or scar on the skin that is usually caused by a disease (such as chicken pox or acne)

2 : a hole in or mark on something • The bullets left pock-marks in the wall.

— pockmarked /'pɑ:k,mɑ:kt/ adj • A severe case of the chicken pox had left her badly pockmarked. • The car was pockmarked [=pocked] with rust.

1 pod /'pɑ:d/ noun, pl Pods [count]

1 : a long, thin part of some plants that has seeds inside • pea pods • a seed pod • Carob seeds grow in edible pods.

2 : a long, narrow area that is under the wings or body of an airplane and that is used to hold something (such as fuel or a jet engine)

3 : a part of a spacecraft that can be separated from the main part

4 : a case that contains the eggs of certain insects (such as grasshoppers) two peas in a pod see PEA

— compare ²POD

2 pod noun, pl Pods [count] : a group of ocean animals (such as whales) that are swimming together • pods of whales/dolphins — compare ¹POD

PO'd /,pi:'oud/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : very angry or annoyed at someone or something • He was/got really PO'd [=impolite] pissed off when his date didn't show up.

podgy /'pɑ:ʒi/ adj podg-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] Brit, informal : PUDGY

po-di-a-trist /pou'dajətrɪst/ noun, pl -trists [count] chiefly US : a doctor who treats injuries and diseases of the foot — called also (chiefly Brit) chiropodist

— po-di-a-try /pou'dajətri/ noun [noncount] pocketknife

po·di·um /'poudijəm/ noun, pl -ums [count]

1 : a raised platform for a speaker, performer, or the leader of an orchestra

2 US : a stand with a slanted surface that holds a book, notes, etc., for someone who is reading, speaking, or teaching : LECTERN

Po·dunk also po·dunk /'pou,dʌŋk/ noun [singular] US, informal : a small, unimportant town • folks who move to the big city from Podunk • a Podunk town po·em /'pəwəm/ noun, pl -ems [count] : a piece of writing that usually has figurative language and that is written in separate lines that often have a repeated rhythm and sometimes rhyme • a love/epic poem • He wrote a poem about his parents.

po·et /'pəwət/ noun, pl -ets [count] : a person who writes poems po·et·ess /'pəwətəs/ noun, pl -ess·es [count] old-fashioned : a girl or woman who writes poems po·et·ic /pou'etɪk/ also po·et·i·cal /pou'etɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of, relating to, or characteristic of poets or poetry • poetic words • poetic meter

2 : having a beautiful or graceful quality • poetic language

— po·et·i·cal·ly /pou'etɪkli/ adv • a poetically written description of the forest poetic justice noun [noncount] : a result or occurrence that seems proper because someone who has done bad things to other people is being harmed or punished • After the way he treated his staff, it was poetic justice that he lost his job.

poet laureate noun, pl poets laureate or poet laureates [count] : a poet who is honored by being chosen for an official position by a ruler or government

po·et·ry /'pəwətri/ noun [noncount]

1 : the writings of a poet : poems • I read the poem in a collection of modern poetry. • She's published two books of lyric poetry and a novel. • He found it easiest to express himself in the language of poetry. • He reads/writes poetry. • The bookstore holds a poetry reading [=an event in which people read poems that they have written aloud for a group] every Thursday night.

2 : something that is very beautiful or graceful • Her dancing is pure poetry.

poetry in motion : someone or something that moves in a way that is very graceful or beautiful • He is poetry in motion when he catches and throws the ball.

po·faced /'pou,feɪst/ adj [more ~; most ~] Brit, informal

1 : having a serious expression on the face • a po-faced police officer

2 : too serious • the writer's po-faced [=humorless] style

po·go stick /'pəʊgəʊ-/ noun, pl ~ sticks [count] : a toy that children use for bouncing up and down which consists of a pole with handles at the top, a strong spring at the bottom, and two pieces near the bottom to stand on po·grom /pə'grɔ:m, Brit 'pɒgrəm/ noun, pl -groms [count] : the organized killing of many helpless people usually because of their race or religion poi·gnant /'pɔɪnjənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : causing a strong feeling of sadness • a poignant moment • The photograph was a poignant reminder of her childhood.

— poi·gnan·cy /'pɔɪnjənsi/ noun [noncount] • The anniversary of the flood has a special poignancy in the town that suffered the most damage. — poi·gnant·ly adv

poin·set·tia /'pɔɪn'setɪjə/ noun, pl -tias [count] : a plant with large red, pink, or white leaves that look like petals — see color picture on page C6 ♦ Poinsettias are tropical plants but are often grown indoors in pots. Red poinsettias are especially popular at Christmastime.

1 point /'pɔɪnt/ noun, pl points

1 a [count] : an idea that you try to make other people accept or understand • She showed us several graphs to illustrate the point she was making. • I see your point, but I don't think everyone will agree. • There's no use in arguing the point. • He made a very good point about the need for change. • Let me make one final point. • That's the point I've been trying to make. • "What's your point?" "Actually, I have two points." • My point is simply that we must do something to help the homeless. • That's my point exactly. • Maybe there's a better way to get your point across. [=to make people understand what you are saying] • He's willing to do almost anything to prove a point. [=to show that he is right about something] • If you want to stretch a point [=exagger-

ate slightly], you could say that he is handsome. • "If we leave now, we won't make it back in time." "That's a good point." • "You have to help them." "Point taken. [=I understand what you are saying] I'll do what I can." • I don't want to labor/be-labor the point [=repeat myself too many times], but I think I should mention again that we are running out of time. b [count] : a particular detail of an idea or argument • There are two critical/crucial/key points that I would like to discuss. • There are several weak points in their theory. c the point : the main or most important idea of something that is said or written • It took several paragraphs for her to come/get to the point of her argument. • If you drive while drunk, you could lose your license, but even more to the point [=more importantly], you could kill someone. — see also TO THE POINT (below)

2 : a reason for doing something : PURPOSE [singular] Is there a point to/for all of this paperwork? — often + of • What's the point of having [=why have] a swimming pool if you never use it? — often + in • I saw no point in continuing the discussion. • There's no point in getting upset. [=there is no reason to get upset] [noncount] There's not much point in making rules if no one's going to follow them.

3 [count] : an individual detail or part of something • The only point at issue is when the meeting should be held. • Carefully consider each point in the witness's testimony. • We debated the fine/finer points of the law. • The main point of contention [=the main thing that people are arguing over] is who owns the rights to the land. — see also RALLYING POINT, SELLING POINT, STICKING POINT, TALKING POINT

4 [count] : a particular position, location, or place • We met at a point halfway between the two cities. • The sun reaches its highest point in the sky at noon. • the country's northernmost point • distant points in the solar system • Change trains here for all points south. • The break occurred at a weak point in the bone. • She showed us the old capital building and other points of interest. • Ellis Island in Manhattan was the point of entry of many American immigrants. [=the place where many immigrants entered the U.S.] • The package's point of origin [=the place from where the package was sent] was somewhere in the U.S.

5 [count] : a particular time or a particular stage in the development of something — usually singular • At no point (in time) did the defendant ask for a lawyer. • By this point in the conversation, I was beginning to lose my patience. • I imagine the change will take place at some point in the next year or so. • We are approaching the cutoff point of the negotiations. • At that time, she enjoyed more success than at any other point in her career. • That was the high/low point of her career. • At this point in my life, I can't afford to take any risks. = I'm at a point in my life where I can't afford to take any risks. • It got to the point where we could no longer ignore his behavior. • The game had gone past the point of being fun. [=the game had stopped being fun] • We walked all day and were beyond the point of exhaustion. • The temperature will rise to 33 degrees Fahrenheit, at which point the ice will begin to melt. • It's the natural starting point for a discussion on how to help the homeless. • There comes a point in a man's life when he has to think seriously about his future. • From that point on [=beginning at that time], I took my studies more seriously. • From this point on, any further changes must be approved by your supervisor. • Up to that point it had been a successful meeting. • The animals were hunted to the point of extinction. [=the animals were hunted until they were extinct] • She was at the point of leaving [=she was just about to leave] when he asked her to dance. • The police are on the point of solving the case. [=the police have almost solved the case] — see also BREAKING POINT, POINT OF NO RETURN, TURNING POINT

6 [count] a : a unit of measurement • Her blood pressure had risen 16 points since her last checkup. • Support for the President dropped three points [=percent] after the incident. • She is currently 10 points behind the leading candidate in the polls. • Interest rates have risen about two percentage points. [=interest rates rose about two percent] — see also BOILING POINT, DEW POINT, FLASH POINT, FREEZING POINT, MELTING POINT b : a unit that is used to score a game or contest • We won (the game) by three points. • They scored 13 points in the first quarter. • She has to win this point in order to win the match. • She lost a point for falling off the balance beam. • A touchdown is worth six points. • He beat his opponent on points. [=by winning more points than his opponent] — see also EXTRA POINT, GAME POINT, MATCH POINT, SET POINT 7 points [plural] informal : praise, credit, or approval for doing something good or helpful • She washed the car in order to score points [=brownie points] with her father. • He's not too smart, but he gets points for effort. [=he should be given credit for the effort he makes]

P

8 [count] : the usually sharp end of something (such as a sword, needle, or pencil) • the sharp point [=tip] of the needle • She sharpened the pencil down to a point. • The alligator's tail tapers to a point.

9 [count] : a small dot • We see the stars and planets as tiny points of light. • a line drawn between two points

10 [count] : DECIMAL POINT — used especially in speech to say a number that includes a decimal point • The number 9.5 is read aloud as “nine point five.” • He had a temperature of one hundred and four point two. [=104.2] • You're listening to ninety-three point nine [=93.9] FM.

11 [count] : any one of the 32 marks on a compass that are used for showing directions • The point SSW is between the points S and SW. • The cardinal points [=the four main directions] are North, South, East, and West.

12 [count] : a piece of land that sticks out into a lake, ocean, etc. • The light was coming from the lighthouse on the point. — sometimes used in names • Montauk Point is at the eastern tip of Long Island.

13 [count] Brit : OUTLET 4

14 [count] : a unit that measures the size of letters typed on a computer or printed in a published work • Your essays should be double-spaced and written in 12-point type.

beside the point see BESIDE

from point A to point B see ¹A

in point of formal : when considering (a particular quality) : with regard to (something) • The two painters differ greatly in point of skill. [=the level of their skill is very different] • Some people think that all fat is unhealthy to eat when, in point of fact [=in truth, in actuality], some types of fat are good for you.

make a point ✧ If you make a point of doing something or make it a point to do something, you give your attention to it so that you are sure that it happens. • She makes a point of treating her employees fairly. = She makes it a point to treat her employees fairly.

not to put too fine a point on it see ¹FINE on point US : relating very well to the subject that is being discussed : accurate and appropriate • His criticisms about the war were very much on point. • Her message is (right) on point.

to the point : relating to the thing that is being thought about or discussed • Please keep your questions brief and to the point. — see also ¹POINT 1c (above)

up to a point — used to indicate that a statement is partly but not completely true • I understand his feelings up to a point. [=to some extent] • Competition is good but only up to a certain point.

— see also CASE IN POINT, EXCLAMATION POINT, PRICE POINT

²point verb points; point-ed; point-ing

1 : to show someone where to look by moving your finger or an object held in your hand in a particular direction. [no obj] “It's not polite to point,” she said. • When I asked the child where his mother was, he pointed in the direction of the house. • Pointing with his cane, the old man asked, “Whose dog is that?” — often + at • It's not polite to point at people. • All the kids were pointing and laughing at me. • She pointed at the map on the wall. • “It's time to leave,” he said pointing at his watch. — often + to • She pointed to me and asked me to stand up. — often + toward • He pointed toward the door. [+ obj] She pointed her finger at the door. — see also FINGER-POINTING

2 [+ obj] : to cause the front or tip of (something) to be turned toward someone or something • Point [=aim] the flashlight into the hole. • They pointed their microphones in my direction. — often + at • She pointed her camera at us. • A gun was pointed at his head.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to have the end or tip extended, aimed, or turned in a specified direction • We can leave when the minute hand points to 12. • Stand with your arms at your sides and your hands pointing downward. • The ship was pointing into the wind.

4 computers : to use a mouse or other device to move the pointer on a computer screen to a particular object or place [+ obj] Just point the arrow on the icon and click. [no obj] Just point and click.

5 [+ obj] : to show (someone) which direction to travel in order to reach a particular place : to direct (someone) toward something • She pointed him to the school's library. • Could you point me in the direction of the train station? • If you just point me in the general direction, I think I can find it.

6 [+ obj] : to give a sharp end to (something) • He was pointing [= (more commonly) sharpening] a stick with a knife.

7 [+ obj] : to repair (a wall, chimney, etc.) by putting new cement or other material between the bricks or stones • The wall needs to be pointed.

point an accusing finger at, point at/the finger at see ¹FINGER point out [phrasal verb] 1 point out (someone or something) or point (someone or something) out : to direct someone's attention to (someone or something) by pointing • He pointed his girlfriend out in the crowd. • Could you point out the restrooms, please. • We asked her to point out (to us) her country on the map. • He pointed out the houses of famous people as we drove by. • He pointed out the way to the restrooms. 2 point out (something) or point (something) out : to talk about or mention (something that you think is important) • Let me point out [=mention] a few things before we switch topics. • He was quick to point out our mistake out. • He pointed out the benefits/importance of daily exercise. • As she likes to point out, she distrusted him from the beginning. • I would like to point out that no one is perfect. • He pointed out that there are several advantages to owning your own home.

point the way : to show the way to go in order to get somewhere • She pointed the way to the exit. — often used figuratively • We led good lives, and we must thank our parents for pointing the way. • Their work pointed the way for future scientific research.

point to [phrasal verb] point to (something) : to mention or refer to (something) as a way of supporting an argument or claim • The prosecution is unable to point to anything that proves its case. • I can point to several past accomplishments that show that I can perform the job well.

point to/toward [phrasal verb] point to/toward (someone or something) : to show that something is true or probably true • All the evidence points to him as the murderer. [=all the evidence indicates that he is the murderer] • Her symptoms point to diabetes. [=her symptoms suggest that she has diabetes] • Everything points to a bright future for their company. • The results from these tests point toward a different conclusion.

point up [phrasal verb] point up (something) or point (something) up formal : to bring attention to (something) : to highlight or emphasize (something) • The speaker pointed up the importance of improving public education. • The destruction caused by the earthquake points up the need for improvements in construction standards.

point your toes : to bend your foot down so that the top of it and the front of your leg form a straight line • She forgot to point her toes when she dove into the water.

point-and-click adj, computers : used by pointing to images on a computer screen and pressing a mouse or other device • point-and-click links • a point-and-click interface

point-and-shoot adj, of a camera : having simple controls that do not need to be changed by the user and that make it possible to take pictures easily • point-and-shoot cameras/camcorders

point-blank /'point'blæŋk/ adv

1 : from a very close distance • The victim was shot point-blank in the head.

2 : in a direct and open way that does not hide anything • He told me point-blank [=bluntly, outright] that he didn't believe me. • I asked her point-blank what she wanted. • She refused him point-blank.

— point-blank adj • a point-blank question/refusal • a point-blank shot to the goal • The shots were taken at/from point-blank range.

pointe also pointes /'pwænt/ noun [noncount] : a ballet position in which the dancer stands on the ends of the toes • a ballerina on pointe point-ed /'pointəd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : ending in a point • a sharply pointed pencil • the long pointed [=pointy] leaves of a willow tree • pointed rocks • He had a mustache and a short pointed beard. b : having a particular number of points — used in combination • a six-pointed star

2 : clearly directed toward a particular person or group • pointed remarks/criticism • He made a pointed reference to his mother-in-law.

3 : very easy to see or notice • She reacted to the news with pointed indifference.

– point-ed-ness noun [noncount] • the pointedness of their remarks point-ed-ly /'pointədli/ adv [more ~; most ~] : in a way that is very easy to see or notice • He pointedly ignored the question. • She pointedly refused to go to their party.

point-er /'pointə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a useful suggestion about how to do or understand something better • She got some pointers [=hints, tips] about the use of commas. • Let me give you a few pointers on managing a successful business.

2 Brit : a sign that shows the condition or existence of something : INDICATOR • The latest data gives a pointer to the economy's overall growth. • This may be a pointer to a very serious problem.

3 : a thin stick that a person uses to show people where to look on a screen, map, etc.

4 computers : a small object (such as an arrow or cursor) that is moved on a computer screen by a mouse and that is used to make selections or change where work is being done

5 : a large dog that has long ears and short hair and that is trained to work with hunters by finding and pointing toward hunted animals with its head and body point guard noun, pl ~ guards [count] basketball : a player who is one of the two guards on a team and is the one most responsible for leading the team when it has the ball and is trying to score

poin-til-lism /'pointə,lɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : a style of painting in which a picture is formed from small dots of color

– poin-til-list /'pointəlɪst/ adj • a pointillist painting

– pointillist noun, pl -ists [count]

point-ing /'pointɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the material that is used to fill the cracks between the bricks of a wall, chimney, etc.

point-less /'pointləs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having no meaning, purpose, or effect • He made a few more pointless [=meaningless, senseless] remarks. • a pointless exercise • It would be pointless for us to continue the investigation. • It's pointless [=useless] to argue with her. • a pointless killing

– point-less-ly adv • Her answer was pointlessly complicated. – point-less-ness noun [noncount] point man noun, pl ~ men [count] chiefly US : the main person who speaks for or supports someone or something • He's the President's point man on national defense.

point of departure noun, pl points of departure [count] : a starting point in a discussion, project, etc. • The study will be a point of departure [=jumping-off point] for future research.

point of honor noun, pl points of honor [count] : something that you do because you believe it is the right and honorable thing to do • My father considers it a point of honor to finish any project he starts.

point of no return noun [singular] : the time when it becomes no longer possible for you to make a different decision or to return to an earlier place or state • If you've signed the contract, you've already reached the point of no return.

point of order noun, pl points of order [count] formal : a question or statement about the way things should be done at a meeting, debate, etc. • The senator raised a point of order demanding that debate be allowed to continue.

point of reference noun, pl points of reference [count] : something that is used to judge or understand something else • The professor used the study as a point of reference for evaluating and discussing other theories.

point of view noun, pl points of view [count] : a way of looking at or thinking about something : VIEWPOINT • Even if you disagree with her, you should try to see things from her point of view. [=perspective] • They considered/approached the problem from opposite points of view. • From a strictly financial point of view, selling the house makes sense.

point person noun, pl ~ people [count] chiefly US : POINT MAN

point spread noun, pl ~ spreads [count] US, sports : the number of points by which a team is expected to win in a particular game

pointy /'pointi/ adj point-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : having a somewhat sharp end : ending in a point • a pointy nose • pointy shoes = shoes with pointy toes poise /'poɪz/ noun [noncount]

1 : a calm, confident manner • She kept her poise even when under attack. • He behaved with poise and dignity.

2 : a graceful way of walking, moving, standing, etc. • Strength and flexibility are important for good poise and posture. • a dancer of great poise and grace poise verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition poises; poised; pois-ing [+ obj] : to hold (something) in a balanced and steady position • She poised her pencil above the paper and waited for the signal to begin writing.

poised adj

1 not used before a noun : not moving but ready to move • The actors were poised on the stage, ready for the curtain to come up. • She held the pencil poised over/above the paper.

2 not used before a noun : ready or prepared for something • The company is poised for success. • She seemed poised to take on the leadership of the country. • He is now poised to become the next big star in country music.

3 not used before a noun : in a state, place, or situation that is between two different or opposite things • a city poised between the mountains and the sea • a group of people poised between hope and fear

4 [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a calm, confident manner • a very poised young woman

poi-son /'poɪzn/ noun, pl -sons

1 : a substance that can cause people or animals to die or to become very sick if it gets into their bodies especially by being swallowed [noncount] a jar of rat poison • The killer gave her victims food laced with poison. • suck poison from a snake bite • The villain in the play dies by drinking a vial of poison. [count] deadly poisons

2 : something (such as an idea, emotion, or situation) that is very harmful or unpleasant [noncount] Jealousy is relationship poison. [=jealousy can destroy a relationship] • Hiring a carpenter is expensive and doing it yourself is slow. Pick/Choose your poison. [=neither choice is good but you have to choose one] [count] Poverty is a poison to society.

what's your poison? informal + old-fashioned — used to ask what kind of alcoholic drink someone wants to be served poison verb -sons; -soned; -son-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to cause (a person or animal) to die or to become very sick with poison • How did the murderer poison the victim? • Hundreds were poisoned from drinking the contaminated water. • He was poisoned with cyanide. b : to put a harmful or deadly substance in or on (something) • The factory poisoned the air with its fumes. • Illegal dumping of waste is poisoning the stream and killing fish. • The food was poisoned.

2 : to change (something) in a very harmful or unpleasant way • He poisoned their minds with hatred for her. • They let the disagreement poison [=destroy] their friendship. • His angry outburst poisoned the atmosphere of the party. • She was working in a hostile environment poisoned by sexist jokes.

poisoned chalice see CHALICE

– poi-son-er /'poɪznə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

– poisoning noun, pl -ings [noncount] alcohol/lead poisoning [=illness caused by having too much alcohol/lead in your body] • carbon monoxide poisoning [count] poisonings caused by bacteria — see also BLOOD POISONING, FOOD POISONING

poison gas noun [noncount] : gas that can cause a person to die or to become very sick : poisonous gas

poison ivy noun [noncount]

1 : a common plant in the central and eastern U.S. that has leaves which cause a very itchy and painful rash on your skin if you touch them

2 : the rash that is caused by poison ivy • I got/have poison ivy all over my arm.

poison oak noun [noncount]

1 : a common bush in the western U.S. that causes a very itchy and painful rash on your skin if you touch it

2 : POISON IVY

poi-son-ous /'poɪznəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : causing sickness or death by entering or touching the body : containing poison • poisonous mushrooms • The leaves of the plant are poisonous. [=toxic] • Chocolate is poisonous to dogs. b : capable of putting poison into another animal's body by biting it • This species of spider is extremely poisonous. • poisonous snakes

2 : very harmful or unpleasant • poisonous rumors • He was in a particularly poisonous [=nasty] mood last night.

– poi-son-ous-ly adv

poison-pen letter noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : a very harsh or critical letter written to someone and usually not signed • The mayor received some poison-pen letters after he fired several city employees.

poison pill noun, pl ~ pills [count] business : something that a company does to make itself less valuable or appealing in order to avoid being bought by another company — often used before another noun • a poison pill defense/plan poison su·mac /-'fju:mæk/ noun [noncount] : a common bush in the eastern U.S. and Canada that causes a very itchy and painful rash on your skin if you touch it

¹poke /'pouk/ verb pokes; poked; pok-ing

1 a : to push your finger or something thin or pointed into or at someone or something [+ obj] He poked a stick at the snake. = He poked the snake with a stick. • He poked [=jabbed] me in the ribs. • I accidentally poked my finger right through the old fabric. • Throwing pencils is not allowed because someone's eye could get poked out. [no obj] — often + at • She poked at the sand with her toes. b [+ obj] : to make (a hole) in something by pushing something sharp or pointed through or into it — usually + in • As a practical joke, she poked holes in the bottom of some of the paper cups. • He used a fork to poke holes in the potatoes.

2 : to stick out so that a part can be seen [no obj] — often + out • Your toe is poking out through the hole in your sock. — often + through • You can see the seedlings beginning to poke through the soil. • After days of rain, sunshine finally poked through the clouds. [+ obj] — often + out • She poked her head out the window and yelled down to us.

poke along [phrasal verb] US, informal : to move along very slowly • They were just poking along towards home. • The car poked along down the street.

poke around or Brit poke about [phrasal verb] poke around/about or poke around/about (something) informal : to look around or search through something • The police found him poking around (in) the deserted house. • He poked around in his closet for something to wear to the party. • She's in the kitchen poking around for something to eat. — often used figuratively • I don't want you poking around in my personal life.

poke fun at see ¹FUN

poke your nose in/into see ¹NOSE

²poke noun, pl pokes [count]

1 : a quick push with your finger or with something thin or pointed — usually singular • She gave my arm a quick poke [=jab] to tell me it was my turn.

2 US, informal : a usually minor criticism or insult that is directed toward a particular person or group — usually singular • She thanked everyone in her speech but she couldn't resist taking a poke at the people who said the movie would never succeed.

a pig in a poke see ¹PIG

¹po·ker /'poukə/ noun [noncount] : a card game in which players bet money on the value of their cards — compare ²POKER

²pok·er /'poukə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a metal rod for moving coal or wood in a fire — compare ¹POKER poker face noun, pl ~ faces [count] : an expression on your face that does not show your thoughts or feelings — usually singular • She maintained her poker face even after she heard the bad news.

— po·ker-faced /'poukə,feɪst/ adj • Her usually poker-faced boss gave her a big smile when he told her she was being promoted.

po·key /'pouki/ noun

the pokey US slang, old-fashioned : PRISON • He spent six months in the pokey.

poky or pok·ey /'pouki/ adj pokier; -est informal

1 US : very slow • a poky old car • Stop being so poky.

2 Brit, of a room or building : small and uncomfortable • a poky little room

pol /'pɑ:l/ noun, pl pols [count] US, informal : POLITICIAN • Many of the city's residents have criticized local pols for their decision to close the public library.

Po·lack /'pou,læk/ noun, pl -lacks [count] US, informal + offensive : a Polish person ♦ The word Polack is very offensive and should be avoided.

po·lar /'poulə/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to the North or South Pole or the region around it • polar ice caps

2 : completely different or opposite • They took polar positions on the issue. • She and I are good friends even though we're polar opposites.

3 technical : relating to one or both of the poles of a magnet polar bear noun, pl ~ bears [count] : a large white bear that lives near the North Pole — see picture at BEAR

po·lar·i·ty /'pou'lerəti/ noun, pl -ties [count, noncount]

1 formal : a state in which two ideas, opinions, etc., are completely opposite or very different from each other • There is (a) considerable polarity of opinion on this issue. [=there are two sides with completely different opinions on this issue]

2 physics : the condition of having positive and negative charges and especially magnetic or electrical poles

po·lar·ize also Brit po·lar·ise /'poulə,raɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -izing

1 : to cause (people, opinions, etc.) to separate into opposing groups [+ obj] The war has polarized the nation. [no obj] The current debate polarizes along lines of class and race.

2 [+ obj] physics : to cause (something, such as light waves) to vibrate in a particular pattern • a filter that polarizes light = a polarizing filter

3 [+ obj] physics : to cause (something) to have positive and negative charges : to give polarity to (something) • polarize atoms • polarize a magnet

— po·lar·i·za·tion also Brit po·lar·i·sa·tion /'poulərə-'zeɪʃən, Brit 'pəulə,raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

Po·lar·oid /'poulə,roɪd/ trademark — used for a material that is used chiefly in eyeglasses to prevent glare and for a camera that produces developed pictures

¹pole /'poul/ noun, pl poles [count] : a long, straight piece of wood, metal, etc., that is often placed in the ground so that it stands straight up • They have a couple of bird feeders hanging from a pole in the backyard. • A pole was blocking their view of the field. • He connected the poles of the tent. • a fishing pole [=rod] • I wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole. [=I do not want to get near it; I do not want to discuss it or be involved with it at all] — see also FLAGPOLE, MAYPOLE, TELEGRAPH POLE, TELEPHONE POLE, TOTEM POLE up the pole Brit, informal : CRAZY • The pressure of his job nearly drove him up the pole.

— compare ³POLE

²pole verb poles; poled; pol-ing [+ obj] : to move (a boat) by using a pole to push against the bottom of a river, lake, etc. • pole a boat

³pole noun, pl poles [count]

1 : either end of the imaginary line around which something (such as the earth) turns — see also NORTH POLE, SOUTH POLE

2 technical a : either one of the two ends of a magnet b : the positive point or the negative point on a battery

3 : either one of two opposite positions, situations, etc. • When it comes to politics, we're on opposite poles. • They were on opposite poles of the argument.

poles apart : as far apart or as different as possible • Though they were generally poles apart politically, they did agree on this one issue.

— compare ¹POLE

Pole /'poul/ noun, pl Poles [count] : a Polish person pole·ax (US) or Brit pole·axe /'poul,æks/ verb -ax-es; -axed; -ax-ing [+ obj] : to hit and knock down (someone) • He went down as if he'd been poleaxed. — often used figuratively • I was poleaxed [=shocked and stunned] by the horrible news. • The department has been poleaxed by cutbacks.

pole bean noun, pl ~ beans [count] US : a bean plant that grows up a pole, fence, etc.; also : the bean that grows on this plant pole·cat /'poul,kæt/ noun, pl -cats [count]

1 : a European animal that has dark brown fur and a long thin body and that gives off a bad smell to defend itself

2 US, informal : SKUNK

po·lem·ic /pə'lemɪk/ noun, pl -ics formal

1 [count] : a strong written or spoken attack against someone else's opinions, beliefs, practices, etc. • Her book is a fierce polemic against the inequalities in our society.

2 polemics [plural] : the art or practice of using language to defend or harshly criticize something or someone • They managed to discuss the issues without resorting to polemics.

— po·lem·i·cal /pə'lemɪkəl/ also po·lem·ic /pə'lemɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] • polemical writing • I don't like the book's polemical tone. — po·lem·i·cal·ly /pə'lemɪkli/ adv

po·lem·i·cist /pə'leməsɪst/ noun, pl -cists [count] : a person who is good at making forceful arguments in speech or writing • She has a reputation as a fierce polemicist.

pole position noun, pl ~ -tions [count, noncount] : the front position at the start of a car race • He won the pole po- sition by having the fastest qualifying time.

Pole Star noun

the Pole Star : NORTH STAR

pole vault noun

the pole vault : an athletic event in which people compete by using a pole to jump over a bar that is high above the ground

– pole-vault verb –vaults; –vault-ed; –vault-ing [no obj]

– pole-vault-er noun, pl –ers

¹po-lice /pə'li:s/ noun [plural] :

the people or the department of people who enforce laws, investigate crimes, and make arrests • (The) Police blocked the street to clear a path for the parade. • Police arrested a man whom they identified as the murderer. • In case of emergency, call the police. [= (US) the police department] • I was pulled over by the state police [=by state police officers] for speeding. • the chief of police [=the chief of the police department] — often used before another noun • He applied for a job with the New York Police Department. • They were arrested for interfering with a police investigation. • According to the police report the thieves broke in around midnight. • The mayor attempted to cover up what was a clear case of police brutality. [=physical abuse by police officers] • the police academy/chief • He is in police custody. [=he is being held by the police] — see also MILITARY POLICE, SECRET POLICE

help the police with their inquiries see INQUIRY

²police verb –lic-es; –lic-ed; –lic-ing [+ obj]

1 : to control and keep order in (an area) by the use of police or military forces • The officers police the streets for reckless drivers. • The coast is policed by the military.

2 : to control (something) by making sure that rules and regulations are being followed • The international agency polices the development of atomic energy facilities.

– policing /pə'li:sɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • Community policing has helped cut down on crime in the neighborhood. • The industry is operating without adequate policing.

police car noun, pl ~ cars [count] : a car used by police officers — called also (US) cruiser, (US) police cruiser, squad car

police constable noun, pl ~ –stables [count] chiefly Brit : a police officer of the lowest rank — abbr. PC — called also constable

police dog noun, pl ~ dogs [count] : a dog that is trained to help police find criminals and illegal drugs police force noun, pl ~ forces [count] : the police organization in a particular area • He joined the local police force.

po-lice-man /pə'li:smən/ noun, pl –men /-mən/ [count] : a man who is a police officer police officer noun, pl ~ –cers [count] : a person whose job is to enforce laws, investigate crimes, and make arrests : a member of the police police state noun, pl ~ states [count] : a country in which the activities of the people are strictly controlled by the government with the help of a police force police station noun, pl ~ –tions [count] : a place where local police officers work • They brought him down to the police station for questioning. — called also station house

po-lice-wom-an /pə'li:s,wumən/ noun, pl –wom-en /-,wimən/ [count] : a woman who is a police officer

¹pol-i-cy /'pɑ:ləsi/ noun, pl –cies

1 : an officially accepted set of rules or ideas about what should be done [count] Ask the cashier what the store's return policy is. • They voted to adopt/pursue more liberal trade policies. [noncount] Each employee is given a handbook on company policy. • American foreign policy

2 : an idea or belief that guides the way you live or behave [count] — usually singular • I make it a policy not to lend my friends money. [=I don't lend my friends money] [noncount] I don't lend my friends money as a matter of policy.

honesty is the best policy see HONESTY

– compare ²POLICY

²policy noun, pl –cies [count] :

a document that contains the agreement that an insurance company and a person have made • Property damage caused by fire is not covered under this policy. — compare ¹POLICY pol-i-cy-hold-er /'pɑ:ləsi,houldə/ noun, pl –ers [count] : a person who owns an insurance policy

po-lio /'poulijou/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious disease that affects the nerves of the spine and often makes a person permanently unable to move particular muscles — called also infantile paralysis, poliomyelitis

po-lio-my-eli-tis /,poulijou,majə'laitəs/ noun [noncount] medical : POLIO

¹pol-ish /'pɑ:lɪʃ/ verb –ish-es; –ished; –ish-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) smooth and shiny by rubbing it • He polished his shoes. • She polished the silverware.

2 : to improve (something) : to make (something) better than it was before • He spent the summer polishing his math skills. — often + up • Your essay needs to be polished up. = You need to polish up your essay. • They polished up [=practiced singing/playing] some old songs for the performance.

3 : to put nail polish on (a fingernail or toenail) • I polished her fingernails for her. [=I painted her nails with nail polish] polish off [phrasal verb] 1 polish (something) off or polish off (something) [informal] : to finish (something) completely • We polished off the whole pie. • He had polished off the book before bed. 2 polish (someone or something) off or polish off (someone or something) : to defeat (someone or something) in a contest, game, etc. • They polished off the visiting team, 6–0.

– pol-ish-er noun, pl –ers [count] • a floor polisher [=a piece of equipment that is used to make a floor smooth and shiny] • She worked as a diamond polisher. — see also APPLE POLISHER

²polish noun, pl –ishes

1 : a substance that is rubbed on a surface to make it smooth and shiny [noncount] I need more shoe/furniture polish. [count] Did you use a wax polish on the table or an oil-based one? — see also NAIL POLISH

2 [singular] : a smooth and shiny surface • Buff the floor to a polish. [=until it has a smooth and shiny surface] • The stone takes a high polish. [=the stone can become very shiny when it is polished]

3 [noncount] a : good quality or style that comes from practice or effort • The movie has the polish we've come to expect from that director. • His performance lacked polish. b somewhat old-fashioned : good manners • He's rude and lacks polish.

4 [singular] : the act of polishing something • She gave the statue a quick polish. — see also SPIT AND POLISH

Pol-ish /'pouliʃ/ noun

1 [noncount] : the language of Poland • Do you speak Polish?

2 the Polish : the people of Poland • a tradition of the Polish [=Poles]

– Polish adj • She is Polish. • Polish food/traditions

polished adj

1 : made smooth and shiny by polishing • polished silver/granite • brightly polished fingernails

2 [more ~; most ~] : very impressive or skillful • This is a highly/very polished piece of writing. • The dancers gave a polished [=excellent] performance. • She is a polished actress.

3 [more ~; most ~] somewhat old-fashioned : very polite : having good manners • a polished gentleman po-lit-bu-ro /'pɑ:lət,bjərou/ noun, pl –ros [count] : the main group of people in a Communist government who make decisions about policy po-lite /pə'laɪt/ adj po-lit-er; –est [or more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing good manners or respect for other people • Your children are very polite. [=they behave well with other people] • It was polite of him to hold the door for them. • Please be polite to the guests. • It isn't polite to interrupt people when they're talking. • He said he liked the show, but he was only being polite. [=he did not like the show, but he said that he did in order to show good manners] • When she called the painting "unique" that was just a polite [=nice] way of saying she didn't like it. • She received some polite applause despite the mistakes in her performance. • They had been fighting, but they were able to make polite [=civil] conversation at dinner.

2 always used before a noun : socially correct or proper • po-lite speech [=somewhat formal speech that is not offensive and can be used in all situations] • Certain words should not be used in polite society/company. [=with people who value good manners]

– po-lite-ly adv • She asked them politely to leave. = She po-litely asked them to leave. • He is not, to put it politely [=to say this in a way that shows good manners], the best guitar player in the world. — po-lite-ness noun [noncount] • She pole vault

only did it out of politeness. [=to be polite; because she wanted to show good manners]

pol-i-tic /'pɑ:lə,tɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : showing good judgment especially in dealing with other people • It would not be politic to ignore them. • a politic [=tactful] answer/decision — see also BODY POLITIC

po-lit-i-cal /pə'litɪkəl/ adj

1 : of or relating to politics or government • the American political system [=the way the American government is officially organized, managed, etc.] • The senator has changed political parties. • Health care has become a major political issue in recent years. • a political leader • political ambition • a group of political activists • economic and political power • political reform • We need a political solution rather than a military solution.

2 [more ~; most ~] : interested in or active in politics • She is very political.

3 always used before a noun : involving, concerned with, or accused of acts against a government • political prisoners [=people who are put in prison because of their political beliefs and activities] • a political crime

4 : relating to the things people do to gain or keep power or an advantage within a group, organization, etc. • His promotion was entirely political. [=he was promoted because a powerful person wanted him to be promoted and not because he was qualified] • She claims that she was fired for political reasons.

political football see FOOTBALL

— po-lit-i-cal-ly /pə'litɪkli/ adv • She's politically liberal/conservative. • It is a politically sensitive issue. • Politically, the country is divided. • The students are very politically active. • a politically motivated crime political action committee noun, pl ~-tees [count] US : a group that is formed to give money to the political campaigns of people who are likely to make decisions that would benefit the group's interests • The governor received over $3 million in campaign contributions from political action committees. — called also PAC politically correct adj [more ~; most ~] sometimes disapproving : agreeing with the idea that people should be careful to not use language or behave in a way that could offend a particular group of people • politically correct language/terms • He later realized that his response was not politically correct. — abbr. PC

— political correctness noun [noncount]

politically incorrect adj [more ~; most ~] : not avoiding language or behavior that could offend a particular group of people • a politically incorrect comment • politically incorrect humor

— political incorrectness noun [noncount] political science noun [noncount] : the study of governments and how they work • a degree in political science

— political scientist noun, pl ~-tists [count] • Political scientists offered their views on the President's policies.

pol-i-ti-cian /,pɑ:lə'tɪʃən/ noun, pl -cians [count] : someone who is active in government usually as an elected official po-lit-i-cize also Brit po-lit-i-cise /pə'litəsaɪz/ verb -cizes; -cized; -cizing [+ obj]

1 disapproving : to relate (an idea, issue, etc.) to politics in a way that makes people less likely to agree • They have politicized the budget process. — often used as (be) politicized • Many people have expressed concerns that the investigation has been politicized. • Health care has become a highly politicized issue in recent years.

2 : to cause (someone) to become involved or interested in government or politics — usually used as (be) politicized • students politicized by the war

— po-lit-i-ci-za-tion also Brit po-lit-i-ci-sa-tion /pə'litəsə'zeɪʃən, Brit pə'litəsaɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the politicization of religion pol-i-tick-ing /'pɑ:lə,tɪkɪŋ/ noun [noncount] often disapproving : political activity that is done especially in order to win support or gain an advantage • She won the nomination after a lot of behind-the-scenes politicking.

po-lit-i-co /pə'litɪkəʊ/ noun, pl -cos [count] somewhat informal + often disapproving : POLITICIAN • a politico who will do anything to win an election

pol-i-tics /'pɑ:lə,tɪks/ noun

1 [noncount] : activities that relate to influencing the actions and policies of a government or getting and keeping power in a government • He is an important figure in American politics. • The students discussed the latest news in national/local politics. • Politics has always interested her. = She's always been interested in politics. — often used with a plural verb • Politics have always interested her. • He talked about the ways in which global politics are changing. • The mayor's politics [=the political decisions the mayor made] were often criticized during her time in office. — see also PARTY POLITICS, POWER POLITICS

2 [noncount] : the work or job of people (such as elected officials) who are part of a government • Politics is a competitive profession. • She plans on going into politics. = She plans on entering politics. [=she plans on getting a job that involves politics]

3 [plural] : the opinions that someone has about what should be done by governments : a person's political thoughts and opinions • She has changed her politics. • His politics are very liberal/conservative. [=he believes that governments should be liberal/conservative]

4 [noncount] often disapproving : the activities, attitudes, or behaviors that are used to get or keep power or an advantage within a group, organization, etc. • I don't want to get involved in office politics. • She wrote a book about sexual politics [=the way men and women deal with and behave toward each other] in the academic world.

5 [noncount] chiefly Brit : POLITICAL SCIENCE • a degree in politics

play politics disapproving : to say or do things for political reasons instead of doing what is right or what is best for other people • She's been accused of playing politics with the investigation. • Legislators need to stop playing politics with our future.

pol-i-ty /'pɑ:ləti/ noun, pl -ties formal

1 [count] : something (such as a country or state) that has a government : a politically organized unit • the polities of medieval Italy

2 [noncount] : a form of government • the American polity

pol-ka /'poukə, Brit 'pɒlkə/ noun, pl -kas [count]

1 : a lively dance for couples • We danced a polka.

2 : the music for a polka • The band played a polka.

pol-ka dot /'poukə-/ noun, pl ~ dots [count] : one of a series of dots that make a pattern especially on fabric or clothing — usually plural • The dress has polka dots on it. — see color picture on page C12

— polka-dot or pol-ka-dot-ted /'poukə,dɑ:təd/ adj • a polka-dotted skirt [=a skirt with a pattern of polka dots]

1 poll /'pou/ noun, pl polls

1 [count] : an activity in which several or many people are asked a question or a series of questions in order to get information about what most people think about something • The magazine conducted a poll to find out the favorite 100 movies of all time. • A recent poll shows a decrease in the number of teenagers who smoke. — see also EXIT POLL, OPINION POLL, STRAW POLL

2 a [count] : the record of votes that were made by people in an election — usually plural • The polls show that she's ahead with 55 percent of the votes. = She's ahead in the polls with 55 percent of the votes. b [noncount] Brit : the number of votes made in an election • The candidate won with 55 percent of the poll. [= (US) vote]

3 the polls : the places where people vote during an election • The polls are open until 8:00 tonight. • Voters went to the polls today. [=people voted today] • He was defeated at the polls. [=he lost the election]

2 poll verb polls; polled; poll-ing [+ obj]

1 : to ask (several or many people) a question or a series of questions in order to get information about what most people think about something • The magazine polled its readers on their eating habits. [=the magazine took/conducted a poll of its readers to find out about their eating habits] • About half of the people polled had tried smoking.

2 : to receive (a specified number or percentage of votes) in an election • The conservative candidate polled more than 10,000 votes in the last election.

pol-len /'pɑ:lən/ noun [noncount] : the very fine usually yellow dust that is produced by a plant and that is carried to other plants of the same kind usually by wind or insects so that the plants can produce seeds pollen count noun, pl ~ counts [count] : a number that indicates the amount of pollen in the air and that is used by people who get sick from breathing in pollen • The weather forecast said that the pollen count will be high tomorrow.

pol-li-nate /'pɑ:lənert/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [+ obj] : to give (a plant) pollen from another plant of the same kind so that seeds will be produced • The plants/flowers are pollinated by bees.

— pol·li·na·tion /ˌpɑːləˈneɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Pollination is required for plants to produce seeds. — pol·li·na·tor /ˌpɑːləˈneɪtər/ noun, pl -tors [count] • Honeybees are a common pollinator of flowers.

polling noun [noncount]

1 : the act of asking a person a question as part of a survey or poll • The polling was done by telephone.

2 chiefly Brit : the act of voting in an election • Polling starts at 8 a.m. • (Brit) It's polling day [= (US) election day] today.

polling booth noun, pl ~ booths [count] Brit : VOTING BOOTH polling place noun, pl ~ places [count] US : a building where people go to vote in an election — called also (Brit) polling station

pol·li·wog also pol·ly·wog /ˌpɑːliˈwɔːɡ/ noun, pl -wogs [count] US : TADPOLE poll·ster /ˈpɒlstər/ noun, pl -sters [count] : someone who makes questions for a poll, asks questions in a poll, or collects and presents results from a poll poll tax noun, pl ~ tax-es [count] : a tax that each adult has to pay in order to vote in an election ✧ Poll taxes are no longer legal in the U.S.

pol·lut·ant /pəˈluːtənt/ noun, pl -ants [count] : a substance that makes land, water, air, etc., dirty and not safe or suitable to use : something that causes pollution • air/water pollutants • environmental/industrial pollutants • chemical/toxic pollutants pol·lute /pəˈluːt/ verb -lutes; -lut-ed; -lut-ing [+ obj] : to make (land, water, air, etc.) dirty and not safe or suitable to use • Waste from the factory had polluted [=contaminated] the river. • Miles of beaches were polluted by the oil spill. • Car exhaust pollutes the air. — often used figuratively • Violence on television is polluting the minds of children.

— polluted adj [more ~; most ~] • polluted beaches/air • The river is polluted. — pol·lut·er noun, pl -ers [count] • Polluters will be fined. • The company is one of the worst polluters in the country.

pol·lu·tion /pəˈluːʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the action or process of making land, water, air, etc., dirty and not safe or suitable to use • industrial practices that have caused pollution of the air and water

2 : substances that make land, water, air, etc., dirty and not safe or suitable to use • The tests showed high levels of pollution in the water/air. • The fish are dying of/from pollution. — see also LIGHT POLLUTION, NOISE POLLUTION

Pol·ly·an·na /ˌpɑːliˈænə/ noun, pl -nas [count] disapproving : someone who thinks good things will always happen and finds something good in everything • I'm no Pollyanna, but I do think some good will come out of this.

— Pol·ly·an·na·ish /ˌpɑːliˈænəɪʃ/ also Pol·ly·an·nish /ˌpɑːliˈænɪʃ/ adj • Pollyannaish illusions/beliefs

pollywog variant spelling of POLLIWOG

po·lo /ˈpɒləʊ/ noun [noncount] : a game played by two teams of four players who ride horses while using long mallets to hit a wooden ball into a goal — see also WATER POLO

polo neck noun, pl ~ necks [count] Brit : TURTLENECK 1

polo shirt noun, pl ~ shirts [count] : a shirt with a collar and a few buttons at the neck that you put on by pulling over your head — see color picture on page C14

pol·ter·geist /ˈpɒltərˌgaɪst/ noun, pl -geists [count] : a ghost that makes strange noises and causes objects to move

poly- combining form : many • polygamous • polyglot

poly·es·ter /ˌpɑːliˈɛstər/ noun [noncount] : a material that is made from a chemical process and that is used for making many different products including fabrics • The shirt is made of polyester. • a polyester shirt • The sheets are a cotton and polyester blend.

poly·eth·yl·ene /ˌpɑːliˈɛθəlɪn/ noun [noncount] US : a light and strong plastic that is used mainly in sheets for packaging — called also (Brit) polythene

po·lyg·a·my /pəˈlɪɡəmi/ noun [noncount] : the state or practice of being married to more than one person at the same time • Some cultures practice polygamy. — compare MONOGAMY

— po·lyg·a·mist /pəˈlɪɡəmist/ noun, pl -mists [count] • He/She is a polygamist. — po·lyg·a·mous /pəˈlɪɡəməs/ adj • a polygamous marriage

poly·glot /ˌpɑːliˈɡlɔːt/ adj, formal

1 : knowing or using several languages : MULTILINGUAL • polyglot travelers • a polyglot population

2 : made up of people or things from different cultures, countries, etc. • a polyglot community made up of many cultures

— polyglot noun, pl -glots [count] • She was a polyglot who was fluent in four languages.

poly·gon /ˌpɑːliˈɡɔːn/ noun, pl -gons [count] mathematics : a flat shape that has three or more straight lines and angles • Pentagons, hexagons, and octagons are all kinds of polygons. — see picture at GEOMETRY

poly·graph /ˌpɑːliˈɡræf, Brit ˈpɒliˈɡrɑːf/ noun, pl -graphs [count]

1 : LIE DETECTOR • They hooked him up to the polygraph and began the test.

2 US : a test that is done with a lie detector to see if someone is telling the truth • She was asked to take a polygraph.

poly·math /ˌpɑːliˈmæθ/ noun, pl -maths [count] formal : someone who knows a lot about many different things poly·mer /ˌpɑːləmə/ noun, pl -mers [count] chemistry : a chemical compound that is made of small molecules that are arranged in a simple repeating structure to form a larger molecule poly·mor·phous /ˌpɑːliˈmɔːfəs/ adj, formal + technical : having or occurring in many different forms, styles, or stages of development • a polymorphous rash • polymorphous sexuality

pol·yp /ˈpɑːləp/ noun, pl -yps [count]

1 medical : a small lump that grows inside your body (such as inside your colon or on your vocal cords)

2 : a small sea animal (such as a coral) that has a body shaped like a tube poly·syl·lab·ic /ˌpɑːlɪsəˈlæbɪk/ adj, technical : having more than three syllables • polysyllabic words poly·tech·nic /ˌpɑːliˈteknɪk/ noun, pl -nics [count] : a college or university that provides training in technical and practical sciences

— polytechnic adj, always used before a noun • a polytechnic university/institute poly·the·ism /ˌpɑːliˈθiːzəm/ noun [noncount] : the belief that there is more than one god — poly·the·ist /ˌpɑːliˈθiːjɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] — poly·the·is·tic /ˌpɑːliˈθiːstɪk/ adj • polytheistic religions

poly·thene /ˌpɑːləˈθiːn/ noun [noncount] Brit : POLYETHYLENE

poly·un·sat·u·rat·ed /ˌpɑːliˌʌnˈsætʃəˌreɪtəd/ adj, technical — used to describe a type of oil or fat that is found especially in nuts and fish and that is better for your health than saturated fats and trans fats • polyunsaturated fats/oils — compare MONOUNSATURATED, UNSATURATED poly·ure·thane /ˌpɒliˈjʊərəˌθeɪn/ noun [noncount] : a type of plastic that is used to make various products and especially to make a clear liquid that is spread on a surface (such as a wooden floor) and that becomes hard when it dries • The floor will need two coats of polyurethane.

polyvinyl chloride noun [noncount] technical : PVC po·made /pouˈmeɪd, Brit pəˈmaːd/ noun, pl -mades [count] : a thick substance that is used to style hair

pome·gran·ate /ˌpɑːməˈɡrænət/ noun, pl -ates [count] : a round, red fruit that has a thick skin and many large seeds pom·mel /ˈpʌmə/ noun, pl -mels [count] : a high, round part on the front of a saddle pommel horse noun, pl ~ horses [count] : a large piece of equipment used in gymnastics that is like a very thick bench with two handles on top of it — called also horse

pomp /ˈpɑːmp/ noun [noncount] : the impressive decorations, music, clothing etc., that are part of some formal events • the pomp [=splendor] of a royal ceremony

pomp and circumstance : impressive formal activities or ceremonies • The prime minister was greeted with pomp and circumstance. • the pomp and circumstance of a presidential inauguration pom·pa·dour /ˌpɑːmpəˈdoʊ/ noun, pl -dours [count] chiefly US : a hairstyle worn especially by men in which the hair is combed into a high mound at the front of the head — called also (Brit) quiff

pom-pom /ˈpɑːmˌpɑːm/ noun, pl -poms [count]

1 : a small, soft ball that is used as a decoration especially on clothing • The hat had a pom-pom [= (chiefly Brit) bobble] on top.

2 : a large collection of plastic strings attached to a handle that is waved by cheerleaders pompous /'pɑ:mpəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : having or showing the attitude of people who speak and behave in a very formal and serious way because they believe that they are better, smarter, or more important than other people • a pompous [=self-important] politician • a pompous remark • She found it difficult to talk about her achievements without sounding pompous.

— pom-pos-i-ty /,pɑ:m'pɑ:səti/ noun, pl -ties [noncount] theatrical pomposity [count] the pomposities [=pompous remarks and actions] of elected officials — pomp-ous-ly adv • a suggestion she had pompously dismissed

¹ponce /'pɑ:ns/ noun, pl ponce-es [count] Brit, informal

1 : PIMP

2 offensive : a homosexual man or a man who dresses and behaves in a way that seems feminine

²ponce /'pɑ:ns/ verb ponces; poned; ponc-ing

ponce about/around [phrasal verb] Brit, informal : to spend time doing things that are not useful or serious : to waste time doing silly things • It's time to stop poncing about and get busy.

pon-cho /'pɑ:ntʃou/ noun, pl -chos [count] : a piece of clothing that is used as a coat and that is made of a single piece of cloth or plastic with a hole in the middle for a person's head to go through pond /'pɑ:nd/ noun, pl ponds

1 [count] : an area of water that is surrounded by land and that is smaller than a lake

2 the pond informal : the Atlantic Ocean • They moved here from across the pond.

a big fish in a small pond see ¹FISH

pon-der /'pɑ:ndə/ verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing : to think about or consider (something) carefully [+ obj] He pondered the question before he answered. • The team pondered their chances of success. • We pondered whether we could afford the trip. [no obj] — + on, over, or about • She paused to ponder on the situation. • We pondered over/about what to do.

pon-der-ous /'pɑ:ndərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very boring or dull • students struggling to stay awake during a ponderous lecture

2 : slow or awkward because of weight and size • the elephant's ponderous movements

— pon-der-ous-ly adv • a ponderously technical lecture • He walked ponderously up the stairs. — pon-der-ous-ness noun [noncount]

¹pong /'pɑ:ŋ/ noun, pl pongs [count] Brit, informal : an unpleasant smell • the pong of stale cigarette smoke

²pong verb pongs; poned; pong-ing [no obj] Brit, informal : to have an unpleasant smell • foods that make your breath pong a bit pon-tiff or Pon-tiff /'pɑ:ntɪf/ noun, pl -tiffs [count] formal

: POPE

pon-tif-i-cal /pan'tɪfɪkəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : of, relating to, or coming from a pope • pontifical authority

¹pon-tif-i-cate /pan'tɪfə,keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [no obj] disapproving : to speak or express your opinion about something in a way that shows that you think you are always right • We had to listen to her pontificate about/on the best way to raise children.

²pon-tif-i-cate /pan'tɪfəkət/ noun, pl -cates [count]

1 : the position of a pope • He was elected to the pontificate last year.

2 : the period of time during which a particular person is pope • during the pontificate of Pope John Paul II

pon-toon /pan'tu:n/ noun, pl -toons [count] : a large hollow container filled with air that is used to make a structure (such as a boat, airplane, or bridge) float on top of water • The boat had two pontoons. • They built a pontoon bridge [=a bridge that floats on the water and is held up by pontoons] • a pontoon plane [=an airplane that has pontoons on the bottom so that it can float on water]

¹po-ny /'pouni/ noun, pl po-nies [count] : a small horse • He rode a pony. — see also ONE-TRICK PONY

dog and pony show see ¹DOG

²pony verb po-nies; po-nied; po-ny-ing

pony up [phrasal verb] US, informal 1 : to pay money for something • When the bill came, we all had to pony up. [=pay up] = We all had to pony up for the bill. 2 pony up (something) : to pay (money) for something • We ponied up $160 for the concert tickets.

po-ny-tail /'pouni,teɪl/ noun, pl -tails [count] : a way of arranging hair by gathering it together at the back of the head and letting it hang down freely • She usually wears her hair pulled/tied back in a ponytail. — see picture at HAIR

Pon-zi scheme /'pɑ:nzi-/ noun, pl ~ schemes [count] US : PYRAMID SCHEME

poo /'pu:/ noun, informal

1 [noncount] : solid waste passed out of the body : FECES • dog poo [=poop]

2 [singular] : the act of passing solid waste from the body — used especially by children in the phrases take a poo and do a poo

— poo verb poods; pooed; poo-ing [no obj] • The dog pooed on the lawn.

— poo /,pu:/ combining form, US, informal + disapproving — used to suggest that something is small, unimportant, or childish in some way • They all have these cutesy-poo nicknames I find so annoying.

poo-bah variant spelling of POOH-BAH

pooch /'pu:tʃ/ noun, pl pooch-es [count] informal : a dog • What a cute little pooch!

poo-dle /'pu:d/ noun, pl poodles [count] : a type of dog that has thick, curly hair — see picture at DOG

¹poof /'pu:f/ interj — used to say that something has happened suddenly or that someone or something has disappeared • One minute she was here, then poof, she was gone. • I took a pill and poof—my headache vanished.

²poof noun, pl poofs [count] Brit, informal + offensive : a homosexual man

poof-ter /'pu:ftə/ noun, pl -ters [count] Brit, informal + offensive : a homosexual man pooh /'pu:/ interj, informal

1 — used to show that you think an idea, suggestion, etc., is not very good • Oh, pooh, that's a terrible idea!

2 Brit — used to express disgust at an unpleasant smell • Pooh! What stinks?

pooh-bah also poo-bah /'pu:,ba:/ noun, pl -bahs [count] often disapproving : a person who has a lot of power or influence • an annual gathering of airline industry pooh-bahs

pooh-pooh /'pu:,pu:/ verb -poohs; -poohed; -pooh-ing [+ obj] informal : to think or say that (something) is not very good or not true • They pooh-poohed my idea/suggestion. • He pooh-poohed the idea that the house was haunted. • The campers pooh-poohed our warnings about the storm.

¹pool /'pu:l/ noun, pl pools [count]

1 : SWIMMING POOL • She dove into the pool. • an indoor pool • Is it an aboveground pool or an inground pool?

2 a : a small area of water • tide pools on the beach — see also WADING POOL b : a small amount of liquid or light that is on a surface — often + of • They found a pool [=puddle] of blood on the floor. • They stood in a pool of light. — sometimes used figuratively • Her eyes were pools of blue.

— compare ³POOL

²pool verb pools; pooled; pool-ing [no obj] : to form a pool or puddle • Water pooled on the floor. — compare ⁴POOL

³pool noun, pl pools

1 [count] : the money that is bet by people on an event (such as a sports game) • He won the weekly football pool. • The pool was split among three people.

2 [noncount] : a game played on a long table in which players use a long stick and a white ball to hit 15 colored balls into one of six pockets around the table • He enjoys playing/shooting pool. • a pool table • a pool cue — called also pocket billiards; compare BILLIARDS, SNOOKER

3 [count] : an amount of money that has been collected from many people for some purpose • They each put $20 into the pool. • an investment pool

4 [count] : a supply of things or people that are available for use • The team has a pool of talent waiting in the minor leagues. • a pool of jurors • We dipped into our pool of resources. — see also GENE POOL, MOTOR POOL

5 [count] : a group of people who do the same job or activity together • The President answered questions from journalists in the press pool. • the secretarial pool — see also CAR POOL — compare ¹POOL

⁴pool verb pools; pooled; pool-ing [+ obj] : to combine (something) to form a supply which can be used by a group of people • We pooled our money together and rented a car. • We can do more when we pool our ideas and resources. — compare ²POOL

pool-room /'pu:l,ru:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count] : a room that has a pool table or many pool tables : a room where people play pool pool-side /'pu:l,said/ noun [noncount] : the area next to or near the side of a swimming pool • We had lunch at the pool-side. — often used before another noun • a poolside barbecue/bar

— poolside adv • Sunbathers were relaxing poolside. • We had lunch poolside.

¹poop /'pu:p/ verb poops; pooped; poop-ing [no obj] US, informal : to pass solid waste from the body : DEFECATE • The dog pooped on the lawn. — compare ³POOP

²poop noun, US, informal

1 [noncount] : solid waste passed out of the body : FECES • dog poop

2 [singular] : the act of passing solid waste from the body • The dog did a poop on the lawn.

³poop verb poops; pooped; pooping

poop out [phrasal verb] US, informal 1 : to stop working properly • The old radio finally pooped out. 2 a : to become very tired • We worked all morning but we pooped out in the afternoon. b poop (someone) out : to make (someone) very tired • That hike really pooped me out. • I'm all pooped out.

— compare ¹POOP

poop deck noun, pl ~ decks [count] : the flat surface on the raised structure at the rear of a ship

pooped adj, not used before a noun, US, informal : very tired • We were pooped after a long day of work.

poop-er-scoop-er /'pu:pə,sku:pə/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal : a device that is used for picking up dog feces so that it can be thrown away poor /'puə/ adj poor-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : having little money or few possessions : not having enough money for the basic things that people need to live properly • We were too poor to buy new clothes. • The organization helps poor families/people. • a poor country/neighborhood — opposite RICH

2 : having a very small amount of something • a poor crop • She has a poor vocabulary. — often + in • Junk food is poor in vitamins and nutrients. — opposite RICH

3 : not good in quality or condition : BAD • a poor effort • It was a poor attempt at a joke. • a poor performance • He is in poor condition/health. • She couldn't read the sign because her vision was too poor. • The joke was in poor taste. [=the joke was offensive or not polite] • He has a poor opinion of her. [=he does not think she is good; he does not like her]

4 : not skilled at something : not able to do something well • He was such a poor plumber that he couldn't fix a simple leak. • a poor golfer • She is a poor judge of character. • I am poor [= (more commonly) bad] at math.

5 always used before a noun — used to refer to someone or something in a way that shows sympathy • The poor kitten hurt its paw. • Leave the poor guy alone. • You're all by yourself, you poor thing. • Poor John has been sick for days.

a poor second/third (etc.) — used to say that someone finished a race or contest a long way behind the winner • He came in a poor second in the race. [=he finished second but was far behind the winner] • She was a poor second in the tournament.

make a poor fist of see FIST poor man's 1 — used to refer to someone (such as a performer) who is like another person in some ways but not as talented or successful • a young actor who is said to be the poor man's James Dean 2 — used to refer to something that is like something else but not as expensive • Pewter is the poor man's silver.

the poor : poor people • He gave money to the poor.

poor-house /'puə,haus/ noun, pl -houses [count] old-fashioned : a place for poor people to live that is paid for by the taxes, donations, etc., of other people

¹poor-ly /'puəli/ adv : in a poor or bad manner : in a way that is not good or satisfactory • The essay was so poorly [=badly] written that it made no sense. • a poorly run business

²poorly adj, Brit, informal : somewhat ill • feeling poorly

¹pop /'pɑ:p/ verb pops; popped; pop-ping

1 a : to suddenly break open or come away from something often with a short, loud noise [no obj] The balloon popped. [=burst] • We heard the sound of corks popping as the celebration began. • One of the buttons popped off my sweater. [+ obj] Don't pop that balloon! • She popped the cork on the champagne. [=she opened the bottle of champagne by removing the cork] b [no obj] : to make a short, loud noise • Guns were popping in the distance.

2 : to cook (popcorn) [+ obj] We popped some popcorn in the microwave. [no obj] The popcorn is done popping.

3 [no obj] informal a : to come from, into, or out of a place suddenly or briefly • I didn't mean to say that—it just popped out. • Her shoulder popped out of its socket. • He opened the box, and out popped a mouse. • A funny thought just popped into my head. [=I just thought of something funny] • The cathedral suddenly popped into view. [=I could suddenly see the cathedral] • Her father pops in and out of her life. [=her father is sometimes involved in her life and sometimes not] b always followed by an adverb or preposition : to go to or from a place quickly, suddenly, or briefly • If you are busy, I can pop back in later. • She popped over for a cup of tea. = (Brit) She popped round for a cup of tea. • My neighbor popped in for a visit. • I need to pop into the drugstore for some film. • She popped out for a minute. She should be back soon. • I'll pop down to the post office during my break.

4 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] informal : to put (something) in, into, or onto a place suddenly or briefly • She popped a CD in the player. • He popped a quarter in the jukebox. • I popped a grape into my mouth. • He popped [=stuck] his head out the window.

5 ✧ When your ears pop, you feel a sudden change of pressure in your ears as you are going up or down in an airplane, on a steep road, etc.

6 ✧ If your eyes pop, they open very wide because you are surprised, afraid, excited, etc. • When I saw the new car, my eyes practically popped out of my head.

7 [+ obj] US, informal : to hit (someone) • I felt like popping him (one).

8 [no obj] baseball : to hit a pop fly • He popped [=popped up] to the second baseman in the first inning. • The batter popped out. [=hit a pop fly that was caught for an out]

9 [+ obj] US, informal : to open and drink (a bottle or can of beer) • They stopped at a bar to pop a few beers after work.

pop off [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to die especially in a sudden or unexpected way • The old man popped off before he could rewrite his will. 2 US : to talk loudly or angrily to someone • The hockey player was ejected from the game for popping off to the referee.

pop on [phrasal verb] Brit, informal pop on (something) or pop (something) on : to put on (clothing) quickly • pop on a hat pop open 1 : to open suddenly and quickly • The suitcase/lid popped open. 2 : to open (something) suddenly and quickly • She popped the umbrella open. • He popped open a cold beer.

pop pills informal : to take a lot of pills regularly • I've been popping pills all week for this cold. • He spends his time getting drunk and popping pills.

pop the question informal : to ask someone to marry you • He popped the question on Christmas Day.

pop up [phrasal verb] informal 1 : to appear in usually a sudden or unexpected way • Coffee shops seem to be popping up everywhere. • New evidence has been popping up every day in the trial. • Problems kept popping up. 2 baseball : to hit a high fly ball that does not go very far : to hit a pop fly • The batter popped up [=popped] to the second baseman. — see also POP-UP

²pop noun, pl pops

1 [count] : a short, loud sound • We heard a loud pop when the lights went out.

2 informal : SODA POP [noncount] a bottle of pop [=soda] [count] Two pops, please.

3 [count] baseball : POP FLY

a pop US, informal : for each one : APIECE • The tickets are selling at $50 a pop.

take a pop at informal 1 : to try to hit (someone) • Some drunk took a pop at me. 2 chiefly Brit : to criticize (someone) publicly • He took a pop at his rival.

— compare ⁴POP, ⁵POP

³pop adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to things that are popular and often talked about on television, in newspapers, etc. • pop culture/psychology/fiction

2 : of or relating to popular music • pop rock • a pop artist/singer/star [=a person who sings popular music]

⁴pop noun, pl pops

1 [noncount] : music that is popular • The radio station plays pop.

2 Pops [noncount] US : an orchestra that plays popular music — used in names • the Boston/Cincinnati Pops

— compare ²POP, ⁵POP

⁵pop noun, pl pops US, informal + old-fashioned

1 [count] : a person's father — usually singular • Hey Pop, can I borrow one of your ties? • My pop likes watching football.

2 pops often humorous — used as a form of address for an old man • Need help with that package, pops? — see also MOM-AND-POP

— compare ²POP, ⁴POP

pop. abbr population

pop art or Pop Art noun [noncount] : art in which common objects (such as road signs, hamburgers, comic strips, or soup cans) are used or shown — pop artist or Pop artist noun, pl ~ -ists [count]

pop-corn /'pɑ:p,kɔ:n/ noun [noncount] : corn in the form of hard yellow seeds that burst open and become soft and white when they are heated • We watched a movie and ate (a bag of) popcorn.

popcorn

pope or Pope /'pəʊp/ noun, pl popes or Popes [count] : the head of the Roman Catholic Church • The cardinals elected a new pope. • Pope Benedict XVI

pop-eyed /'pɑ:p,aɪd/ adj

1 : having eyes that stick out • pop-eyed bullfrogs

2 : having eyes that are open very wide because of surprise, fear, excitement, etc. • He stared pop-eyed as the huge wave came straight towards the boat.

pop fly noun, pl ~ flies [count] baseball : a very high fly ball that does not go very far • He hit a high pop fly to the second baseman. — called also pop, pop-up

pop-gun /'pɑ:p,gʌn/ noun, pl -guns [count] : a toy gun that shoots corks and makes a loud noise

pop-lar /'pɑ:plə/ noun, pl -lars [count] : a tall, thin tree that has rough bark, soft wood, and very small groups of flowers

pop-lin /'pɑ:plən/ noun [noncount] : a strong cotton cloth pop-over /'pɑ:p,əʊvə/ noun, pl -overs [count] US : a type of bread roll that is very light and that is made from eggs, milk, and flour

poppa variant spelling of PAPA

pop-per /'pɑ:pə/ noun, pl -pers [count]

1 : a pan or electric machine for making popcorn • a popcorn popper

2 Brit : ²SNAP 3

pop-pet /'pɑ:pət/ noun, pl -pets [count] Brit, informal — used to talk in a loving way to or about a child • It's time for bed, poppet.

pop-py /'pɑ:pi/ noun, pl -pies [count] : a type of plant that has bright red or orange flowers and that is the source of opium; also : its flower pop-py-cock /'pɑ:pi,kɔ:k/ noun [noncount] informal + old-fashioned : foolish words or ideas : NONSENSE • That's a lot of poppycock!

poppy seed noun, pl ~ seeds [count] : the small, black seed of a poppy that is used in baked goods (such as breads and cakes) • Sprinkle poppy seeds on the bread before baking. • a poppy seed cake

pop quiz noun, pl ~ quiz-zes [count] US : a short test that a teacher gives to students without warning

Pop-sicle /'pɑ:psɪkəl/ trademark — used for flavored and colored water frozen on a stick pop-top /'pɑ:p,tɑ:p/ noun, pl -tops [count] US : the part of a can's top that can be removed by pulling a ring pop-u-lace /'pɑ:pjələs/ noun [singular] formal : the people who live in a country or area • The populace has suffered greatly. • a diverse/educated populace • the general populace [=the ordinary or common people]

pop-u-lar /'pɑ:pjələ/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] a : liked or enjoyed by many people • They have names that were popular a century ago. • He is a popular guy in school. • a popular actor • Spicy foods have become increasingly popular. • This is our most popular [=best-selling] brand of sneaker. — often + with or among • The bar is popular with college students. • This TV show is especially popular among women. — opposite UNPOPULAR b : accepted, followed, used, or done by many people • That is a very popular misconception. • The word "groovy" was popular in the 1960s but it's outdated now. • Her theories are popular among social scientists. • Contrary to popular belief/opinion [=in spite of what many people believe], fame does have its drawbacks. — opposite UNPOPULAR

2 always used before a noun : of, relating to, or coming from most of the people in a country, society, or group • popular government • popular culture • the popular vote — see also popular demand at DEMAND

3 always used before a noun, somewhat formal : designed or intended for the average person : capable of being understood by ordinary people • popular mechanics • a popular history of physics

pop-u-lar-i-ty /,pɑ:pjə'lerəti/ noun [noncount] : state of being liked, enjoyed, accepted, or done by a large number of people : the quality or state of being popular • Acupuncture has grown/gained (in) popularity [=has become more popular] in the West. • the increasing popularity of cell phones • The candidate is winning/losing popularity with/among voters. [=is becoming more/less popular with/among voters] popularity contest noun, pl ~ -tests [count] : a contest or situation in which the person who wins or is most successful is the one who is most popular rather than the one who is most skillful, qualified, etc. • The election was just a popularity contest. Voters didn't really care about the issues. — often used to say that someone or something is not popular • After laying off hundreds of workers, the company isn't going to win any popularity contests around here. [=the company is not well liked after laying off hundreds of workers]

pop-u-lar-ize also Brit pop-u-lar-ise /'pɑ:pjələ'raɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -izing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (something) to be liked, enjoyed, accepted, or done by many people : to make (something) popular • a phrase that was popularized by its use in a hit TV show • Dream analysis was popularized by Sigmund Freud.

2 : to make (something that is difficult or complicated) simpler and easier to understand for the average person • The book presents a popularized version of American history.

— pop-u-lar-i-za-tion also Brit pop-u-lar-i-sa-tion /,pɑ:pjələ'reɪzə'seɪʃən, Brit ,pɑ:pjələ'raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the popularization of yoga

pop-u-lar-ly /'pɑ:pjələli/ adv

1 : by many people or most people • a popularly held belief • The polygraph machine is more popularly [=commonly] known as a "lie detector."

2 : by being chosen or voted for by most of the people • He was the country's first popularly elected leader. [=the country's first leader who was chosen in an election rather than in some other way]

pop-u-late /'pɑ:pjəleɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj] : to live in (a country, city, area, etc.) : to make up the population of (a place) • Immigrants began to populate the area in the late 19th century. • Strange creatures populate the ocean depths. — often used as (be) populated • The country is populated by many ethnic groups. — often used figuratively • The area is populated by small farms. [=the area has many small farms] • His stories are populated with real-life characters.

— populated adj [more ~; most ~] • a densely/heavily populated area [=an area where many people live] • a sparsely/thinly populated area [=an area where few people live] • The most populated region of the country [=the region where most people live] is in the south.

pop-u-la-tion /,pɑ:pjə'leɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the number of people who live in a place [count] The world's population has increased greatly. — often + of • The population of New York City is over eight million. [noncount] The city has experienced an increase in population. — often used before another noun • population growth/control • a population explosion/boom [=a sudden large increase in the number of people or animals in an area]

2 [count] : a group of people or animals of a particular kind that live in a place • There has been a sharp reduction in the bat population in this region. • the rural population of America • the educated/Jewish/adult population

pop-u-list /'pɑ:pjəlɪst/ adj : of or relating to a political party that claims to represent ordinary people • populist leaders — pop-u-lism /'pɑ:pjə'lɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • His populism appeals to a broad range of voters. — populist noun, pl -ists [count] • She is a populist.

pop-u-lous /'pɑ:pjələs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having a large population • a populous seaport • the most populous state in the U.S.

¹pop-up /'pɑ:p,ʌp/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : having a picture that stands up when a page is opened • a pop-up book • a pop-up card

2 computers : appearing on the screen over another window or document • a pop-up menu • pop-up ads

2 pop-up noun, pl -ups [count]

1 baseball : POP FLY • He hit a high pop-up that was caught by the shortstop. — see also pop up at 1 POP

2 computers : a window that appears on the screen over other windows or documents and that often advertises something • The Web site is full of pop-ups.

por-ce-lain /'pɒsələn/ noun [noncount] : a hard, white substance that is very delicate and that is made by baking clay • The bowl is made of/from porcelain. • a porcelain bowl/doll porch /'pɔ:tʃ/ noun, pl porch-es [count]

1 US : a structure attached to the entrance of a building that has a roof and that may or may not have walls • The house has a large front/back porch. • an enclosed porch [=a porch that has walls] — see picture at HOUSE

2 Brit : an entrance to a building that has a separate roof

por-cine /'pɔ:sain/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : of, relating to, or like a pig • porcine pets • his porcine face

por-cu-pine /'pɔ:kjə,pain/ noun, pl por-cu-pines also porcupine [count] : a small animal that has very stiff, sharp parts (called quills) all over its body — see picture at RODENT

1 pore /'pɔ:/ verb pores; pored; por-ing

pore over [phrasal verb] pore over (something) : to read or study (something) very carefully • He pored over the map for hours.

2 pore noun, pl pores [count]

1 : a very small opening on the surface of your skin that liquid comes out through when you sweat

2 : a small opening on the surface of a plant, a rock, etc.

pork /'pɔ:k/ noun [noncount]

1 : the meat of a pig that is used for food • roast pork • pork chops

2 US, informal + disapproving : government money that is spent on projects done to help the political careers of elected officials • We need to cut the pork out of the federal budget.

pork barrel noun [noncount] US, informal + disapproving : government projects that benefit people in a particular part of the country and that are done in order to help the political careers of elected officials — often used before another noun • pork barrel projects/spending pork-er /'pɔ:kə/ noun, pl -ers [count] informal

1 : a very fat pig used for food

2 : a fat person

pork rind noun, pl ~ rinds [count, noncount] US : a small piece of pig skin that is fried and eaten cold as a snack

1 porky /'pɔ:ki/ adj pork-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : 1 FAT • He's looking a little porky these days.

2 porky noun, pl pork-ies [count] Brit slang : 4 LIE • He told a porky.

porn /'pɔ:n/ also por-no /'pɔ:nou/ noun [noncount] informal : PORNOGRAPHY • making/selling porn — often used before another noun • a porn movie • the porn industry

por-no-graph-ic /,pɔ:nə'græfik/ adj [more ~; most ~] often disapproving : showing or describing naked people or sex in a very open and direct way in order to cause sexual excitement • pornographic magazines/movies • pornographic Web sites por-nog-ra-phy /pɔ:'nɑ:grəfi/ noun [noncount] often disapproving : movies, pictures, magazines, etc., that show or describe naked people or sex in a very open and direct way in order to cause sexual excitement • If you ask me, his movies are just high-class pornography.

— por-nog-ra-pher /pɔ:'nɑ:grəfə/ noun, pl -phers [count]

po-rous /'pɔ:rəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having small holes that allow air or liquid to pass through • porous rock • a porous membrane/surface

2 : easy to pass or get through • The country has a porous border.

— po-ros-i-ty /pə'rɑ:səti/ noun [noncount] technical • the porosity of the membrane por-poise /'pɔ:pəs/ noun, pl -pois-es [count] : a small usually gray and white whale that has a rounded nose — see picture at DOLPHIN

por-ridge /'pɔ:riʤ/ noun [noncount] Brit : OATMEAL 2

1 port /'pɔ:t/ noun, pl ports

1 : a town or city where ships stop to load and unload cargo [count] Boston is a major U.S. port. [noncount] The ship is now in port but will be leaving port soon.

2 : a place where ships can find shelter from a storm [count] The ship reached the port safely. [noncount] The ship spent two days in port.

any port in a storm — used to say that you will use anyone or anything for comfort, help, etc., when you are in a bad situation • “I know she's lonely, but I can't believe she's going out with that guy.” “Well, you know what they say: any port in a storm.”

— compare 2 PORT, 3 PORT, 4 PORT

2 port noun [noncount] : the side of a ship or aircraft that is on the left when you are looking toward the front • The ship turned to port. — compare STARBOARD — compare 1 PORT, 3 PORT, 4 PORT

— port adj • the port side • the port engine

3 port noun, pl ports [count, noncount] : a strong, sweet, usually dark red wine that is made in Portugal — compare 1 PORT, 2 PORT, 4 PORT

4 port noun, pl ports [count] : a place where you can connect a piece of equipment (such as a printer or mouse) to a computer — compare 1 PORT, 2 PORT, 3 PORT

Port. abbr Portugal

portabella variant spelling of PORTOBELLO

por-ta-ble /'pɔ:təbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : easy to carry or move around • a portable television/radio • Portable devices such as MP3 players are becoming increasingly popular.

— portable noun, pl -tables [count] • laptop computers and other portables — por-ta-bil-i-ty /pɔ:tə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • Portability is the main advantage of laptops.

por-tal /'pɔ:təl/ noun, pl -tals [count]

1 formal + literary : a large door or gate to a building (such as a church)

2 computers : a Web site that helps you find other sites • a Web portal for baseball fans

port-cul-lis /pɔ:t'kʌləs/ noun, pl -lis-es [count] formal + literary : a heavy iron gate that can be raised or lowered at the entrance to a castle por-tend /pɔ:t'tend/ verb -tends; -tend-ed; -tend-ing [+ obj] formal + literary : to be a sign or warning that something usually bad or unpleasant is going to happen • The distant thunder portended a storm. • If you're superstitious, a black cat portends trouble.

por-tent /'pɔ:tənt/ noun, pl -tents [count] formal + literary : a sign or warning that something usually bad or unpleasant is going to happen • a portent of evil por-ten-tous /pɔ:t'tentəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 formal + literary : giving a sign or warning that something usually bad or unpleasant is going to happen • a portentous dream/event

2 formal + disapproving : trying to seem important, serious, or impressive : POMPOUS • a portentous manner/tone

— por-ten-tous-ly adv

por-ter /'pɔ:tə/ noun, pl -ters

1 [count] : a person whose job is to carry bags or luggage at a hotel, airport, etc. • The porter helped her with her luggage.

2 [count] US : a person whose job is to help passengers on a train

3 [count] Brit : a person whose job is to let people into a hotel, college, hospital, etc. • the night porter

4 [count] Brit : a person whose job is to move patients from one part of a hospital to another

5 [count, noncount] : a heavy, dark brown beer • a glass of porter

port-fo-lio /pɔ:t'fəuli,ou/ noun, pl -lios [count]

1 : a flat case for carrying documents or drawings

2 : a set of drawings, paintings, or photographs that are presented together in a folder ♦ Artists present portfolios of their work to possible employers or to people who might buy or show their art.

3 finance : the investments that are owned by a person or organization • an investment/retirement portfolio • a portfolio manager

4 Brit : the responsibilities of a minister of state or member of a cabinet • That's not part of his portfolio.

port-hole /'pɔ:t,həul/ noun, pl -holes [count] : a small round window in the side of a ship or aircraft

por-ti-co /'pɔ:ti,kou/ noun, pl -coes or -cos [count] formal : a row of columns supporting a roof at the entrance of a building

1 por-tion /'pɔ:tʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : a part of a larger amount, area, etc. • A portion of the donations will be given to the orphanage. • Portions of land were used for farming. • A considerable/significant portion of the city was flooded.

2 : a part of something that is shared with other people — usually singular • A portion of the blame belongs to you. • He took on a large portion of the work.

3 : the amount of food that is served to a person at one time • The restaurant gives large/generous portions. • I'll just have a small portion [=serving] of meat. • She divided the pie into six equal portions.

2 portion verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing [+ obj] : to divide (something) into parts and give those parts to people • The work was portioned to each member of the staff. — usually + out • They portioned the supplies out equally. • The supplies were portioned out among the troops.

port-ly /'pɔ:tli/ adj port-li-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : having a round and somewhat fat body • a portly gentleman port-man-teau /pɔ:t'mæntəu/ noun, pl -teaus or -teaux /pɔ:t'mæntəuz/ [count] old-fashioned : a large suitcase that opens into two parts

por-to-bel-lo /,pɔ:tə'beləu/ also por-ta-bel-la /,pɔ:tə'belə/ noun, pl -los also -las [count] chiefly US : a large brown mushroom used in cooking port of call noun, pl ports of call [count] : a place where a ship stops during a journey • The island is a busy port of call. • Our next port of call is Jamaica.

port of entry noun, pl ports of entry [count] : a place (such as a city or airport) where people or goods enter a country

por-trait /'pɔ:tret/ noun, pl -traits

1 [count] : a painting, drawing, or photograph of a person that usually only includes the person's head and shoulders • black-and-white portraits • a family portrait • The queen posed for her portrait. — see also SELF-PORTRAIT

2 [count] : a detailed description of something or someone • The book/film presents a portrait of life in a small town.

3 [noncount] : a way of printing a page so that the shorter sides are on the top and bottom and the longer sides are on the left and right — compare LANDSCAPE

por-trait-ist /'pɔ:tretist/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who paints or draws portraits

por-trai-ture /'pɔ:tretʃə/ noun [noncount]

1 : the art of making portraits • a painter who is master at portraiture

2 : portraits of people painted or drawn by artists • The museum is exhibiting portraiture from the late 19th century.

por-tray /pɔ:t'rei/ verb -trays; -trayed; -tray-ing [+ obj]

1 : to describe (someone or something) in a particular way • The White House has portrayed the President as deeply conflicted over the matter. • The lawyer portrayed his client as a victim of child abuse. • He portrayed himself as a victim.

2 : to show (someone or something) in a painting, book, etc. • The painting portrays the queen in a purple robe. • The novel portrays [=depicts] life in a small southern town.

3 : to play (a character) in a film, play, or television show • Laurence Olivier portrayed Hamlet beautifully.

por-tray-al /pɔ:t'rejəl/ noun, pl -als [count]

1 : the act of showing or describing someone or something especially in a painting, book, etc. — often + of • We will examine Edgar Allan Poe's portrayal of women in his stories. • The book is an accurate portrayal of his life. • I don't accept his portrayal of himself as an innocent victim. [=I don't believe that he is an innocent victim, as he claims to be]

2 : the way in which an actor plays a character — often + of • Laurence Olivier's portrayal of Hamlet was brilliant.

1 Por-tu-guese /,pɔ:tʃə'gi:z/ adj : of or relating to Portugal, its people, or their language • Portuguese customs/food

2 Portuguese noun

1 [noncount] : the language spoken in Portugal and Brazil • She is teaching her son Portuguese.

2 the Portuguese : the people of Portugal : Portuguese people • the customs of the Portuguese

Portuguese man-of-war noun, pl ~ man-of-wars or ~ men-of-war [count] : a large sea animal that has a very soft body, many long, soft parts (called tentacles) that hang down from its body, and a poisonous sting

pos. abbr 1 position 2 positive

1 pose /'pəʊz/ verb pos-es; posed; pos-ing

1 [+ obj] : to be or create (a possible threat, danger, problem, etc.) • Smog poses a threat to our health. [=smog threatens our health] • His careless behavior poses a hazard to others. [=his careless behavior is dangerous to others] • Physical sports pose a risk of injury. • The weather should not pose a problem for us. • Decreasing the unemployment rate poses a serious challenge to/for the new governor.

2 [+ obj] : to ask or suggest (a question) • My mother posed a question to me that I still can't answer to this day: "What do you want to do with your life?" • The contradictions in his argument pose [=raise] questions about his credibility.

3 : to stand, sit, or lie down in a particular position as a model for a photograph, painting, etc. [no obj] — usually + for • Everyone posed for the group photo. • She posed nude for the magazine. [+ obj] The photographer posed her on the steps of the courthouse.

pose as [phrasal verb] pose as (someone or something) : to pretend to be (someone or something) in order to deceive people • She posed as a student to get free admission to the museum. • undercover cops posing as drug dealers

2 pose noun, pl poses [count]

1 : the position in which someone stands, sits, lies down, etc., especially as a model for a photograph, painting, etc. • The photographs show the models in both clothed and nude poses. • Hold that pose. It will make a great photograph.

2 disapproving : a kind of behavior that is intended to impress other people and that is not sincere • His disapproval of the war looks good to voters, but I bet it's just a pose.

1 pos-er /'pəʊzə/ noun, pl -ers [count] disapproving : a person who dresses or behaves in a deceptive way that is meant to impress other people • He's not really interested in rap music. He's just a poser. — called also poseur — compare 2 POSER

2 poser noun, pl -ers [count] informal : a difficult question or problem • Here's a poser for you—what is good art? — compare 1 POSER

po-seur /pəʊ'zə/ noun, pl -seurs [count] disapproving : 1 POSER

posh /'pɔ:ʃ/ adj posh-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal

1 : very attractive, expensive, and popular • They live in a posh neighborhood. • I stayed at a posh [=elegant, luxurious] hotel.

2 Brit : typical of people who have high social status • a posh accent • The family is very posh.

— posh adv, Brit • They laugh when I try to talk posh.

pos-it /'pɔ:zət/ verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj] formal : to suggest (something, such as an idea or theory) especially in order to start a discussion • Some astronomers have posited [=proposed, postulated] that the universe is made up of mysterious dark matter.

1 po-si-tion /pə'ziʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a [count] : the place where someone or something is in relation to other people or things • From this position, you can see all of New York City's skyline. • The chart shows the positions [=locations] of the constellations in the night sky. b [noncount] : the place where someone or something should be — used after in, into, or out of • The actors were all in position. • The nail fell out of position before I could hammer it. • He maneuvered the car into position. • The defensive players fell back into position. • Police were in position to catch the fleeing suspect. • The switch is in the on position, but nothing is happening.

2 a : the way someone stands, sits, or lies down [count] Actors, please assume/take your positions. The show is about to begin. • The child fell asleep in a sitting position. • I was in an uncomfortable position and had to move. [noncount] I was uncomfortable, so I shifted position. — see also FETAL POSITION b [count] : the way something is arranged or placed • Return your seat to an upright position for landing.

3 [count] : the situation that someone or something is in — usually singular • I've been in your position before, so I think I can help you. • The company's financial position has worsened over the past year. • The manager was placed in the awkward/difficult position of having to lay off dozens of workers. • Put yourself in my position for a moment. What would you do? • He is in a position of power/authority. • I'm in no position to lend you any money. [=I cannot lend you any money]

4 [count] : an opinion or judgment on a particular subject • The Supreme Court has taken the position that the First Amendment does not apply in these kinds of cases. • Allow me to explain my position. — often + on • I was forced to rethink my positions on certain issues. • He criticized his opponent for not taking a position on gun control.

5 : the rank or role of someone or something in an organization or society [count] He rose to a position of leadership and authority. • They dedicated their lives to improving the position of women in a male-dominated society. [noncount] Wealth and position are not important to her.

6 [count] : JOB • Does your company have any entry-level positions available? • The position has been filled. [=someone has been hired for the job] • Requirements for the position include a master's degree and at least five years of work experience. • She was named to the position of senior vice president of marketing.

7 : the place of someone or something in a race, contest, competition, etc. [count] She finished the race in fourth position. [noncount] The cars jockeyed for position in the first lap of the race. [=each car tried to get into a better position in the first lap of the race] • The candidates jockeyed for position in the debates. [=they tried to do better than others in the debates] — see also POLE POSITION

8 [count] sports : the particular place and job of a player on a sports team • I think goalie is the hardest position to play in hockey.

9 [count] : a place where an army has put soldiers, guns, etc. — usually plural • Artillery bombarded our positions.

²position verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing [+ obj] : to put (something or someone) in a particular position • He positioned the chairs around the table. • The company is positioning itself to take advantage of a new market. • The shortstop was positioned well to make the play. • She positioned herself by the door.

po-si-tion-al /pə'ziʃənəl/ adj, always used before a noun : relating to the position of someone or something • positional changes • a positional advantage position paper noun, pl ~-pers [count] : a written report from an organization or government that discusses a particular issue and suggests what should be done

¹pos-i-tive /'pə:zətɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : good or useful • Did you have a positive [=pleasant] experience working with that company? • The book had a positive influence on me. • He has been a positive role model for his brother. • Nothing positive came out of that experience. • What are some of the positive things about your job? • The low unemployment rate is a positive sign for the economy. • The company took positive steps to create a safer workplace. — opposite NEGATIVE

2 [more ~; most ~] : thinking about the good qualities of someone or something : thinking that a good result will happen : hopeful or optimistic • You've got to have a positive attitude/outlook to do well in life. • You should try to be more positive about the whole situation. • On the positive side, you will be making more money. • To end on a positive note, we are seeing an increase in sales this month. — opposite NEGATIVE

3 not used before a noun : completely certain or sure that something is correct or true • We were positive that we would win the game. • "That is the street we need to take." "Are you sure?" "(I'm) Positive." • I'm not (absolutely) positive, but I think they won the World Series in 1954.

4 [more ~; most ~] : showing or expressing support, approval, or agreement • Most of the response from the public has been positive [=favorable] so far. • The reviews were mostly positive. • positive feedback • The new Web site has received a positive response from its visitors. — opposite NEGATIVE

5 : unable to be doubted : certainly true • There is no positive [=definite, conclusive] proof that life exists on other planets. • The police have not yet made a positive identification of the victim. • The fact that the DNA samples did not match is proof positive that he is not the father.

6 : showing the presence of a particular germ, condition, or substance • He tested positive for steroids. [=the test showed that he had used steroids] • The test results were positive. • HIV positive patients — opposite NEGATIVE

7 a mathematics : greater than zero • a positive integer — opposite NEGATIVE b : more than the amount of money spent or invested • We got a positive return on our investment. [=we made a profit on our investment] — opposite NEGATIVE

8 technical a : containing or producing electricity that is charged by a proton • a positive charge/current — opposite NEGATIVE b : having more protons than electrons • a positive ion/particle — opposite NEGATIVE

9 always used before a noun, informal : absolute or complete position

kneeling lying

slouching

crouching

leaning squatting

sitting

standing

— used to make a statement more forceful • The way poor people are treated in this country is a positive disgrace.

2 positive noun, pl -tives [count]

1 : something that is good or useful • The positives of living in the city include access to public transportation and many interesting restaurants. • The positives of the job outweigh the negatives. [=there are more good things about the job than bad things] — opposite NEGATIVE

2 : the result from a test that shows that a particular germ, condition, or substance is present • The test showed a positive. • The test produced too many false positives [=results that showed something was present when it really was not] to be reliable. — opposite NEGATIVE

3 : a photograph that shows light and dark areas or colors as they look in real life — compare NEGATIVE

positive discrimination noun [noncount] Brit : AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

pos·i·tive·ly /ˈpɑːzətɪvli/ adv

1 a — used to stress the truth of a statement • The new City Hall building is positively [=downright] ugly. • Driving a car without wearing a seatbelt is positively stupid. b — used to stress that you really mean what you are saying • “Are you going out with him?” “Positively [=certainly] not!” • This is positively [=definitely] the last time I’m going to bail you out!

2 [more ~; most ~] : in a positive way: such as a : in a way that shows that you are hopeful and thinking about the good qualities of a situation • If you start thinking positively, you might feel better. b : in a way that shows that you agree with or approve of someone or something • Only 35 percent of survey respondents view the state of the economy positively. • Customers responded positively to the new product. c : in a certain or definite way • No one was able to positively identify the corpse.

3 technical — used to say that something has a positive electric charge • positively charged ions pos·i·tron /ˈpɑːzəˌtraːn/ noun, pl -trons [count] physics : a very small particle of matter that has a positive charge of electricity and that travels around the nucleus of an atom

poss. abbr possible

pos·se /ˈpɑːsi/ noun, pl -ses [count]

1 : a group of people who were gathered together by a sheriff in the past to help search for a criminal • The sheriff and his posse rode out to look for the bandits.

2 informal : a group of people who are together for a particular purpose — often + of • A posse of reporters greeted the coach.

3 informal : a group of friends : GANG • I went to the game with my posse. • The movie star and his posse [(more formally) entourage] were seen at the new restaurant.

pos·sess /pəˈzɛs/ verb -sess-es; -sessed; -sess-ing [+obj]

1 formal : to have or own (something) • nations that possess nuclear weapons • The defendant was charged with possessing cocaine. • The ruby was once possessed by an ancient queen. • He dreams of someday possessing great wealth.

2 : to have or show (a particular quality, ability, skill, etc.) • He possesses a keen wit. • The drug possesses the potential to suppress tumors. • Do dolphins possess the ability to use language?

3 a of spirits : to enter into and control (someone) — often used as (be) possessed • The movie is about a child who is possessed by a demon. b of emotions : to have a powerful effect on (someone) • They were possessed by fear. [=they were very afraid] • A terrible rage possessed her at that moment. [=she became filled with rage] • Whatever possessed him to say such a stupid thing? [=why did he say such a stupid thing?] • She was acting like a fool. I don’t know what possessed her. [=I don’t know why she acted that way]

be possessed of literary : to have (a particular quality, ability, skill, etc.) • He is a man who is possessed of great talent. [=a man who has great talent] possessed adj : controlled by a usually evil spirit • a horror movie about a possessed child like a man/woman possessed : with a lot of energy or force : like a person who is completely controlled by some powerful emotion, spirit, etc. • He pounded on the door like a man possessed, yelling for someone to let him in.

pos·ses·sion /pəˈzɛʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [noncount] formal : the condition of having or owning something • She is old but still has (full) possession of her senses/faculties. [=she is still able to think clearly] • I have in my possession [=I possess] silverware that has been passed down in my family for generations. • The city can take possession of the abandoned buildings. • She came into possession of a rare silver coin.

2 [count] : something that is owned or possessed by someone • The family lost all of its possessions in the fire. • This ring was my mother’s most precious possession. • personal possessions [=belongings]

3 [noncount] law : the crime of having something that is illegal (such as a drug or weapon) • The defendant was charged with heroin possession. • possession of stolen property

4 [count] : a country that is controlled or governed by another country • The U.S. has several possessions in the Pacific Ocean.

5 sports a [noncount] : control of the ball or puck in a game • He took too long to shoot and lost possession of the puck. • He did not have possession of the ball before he was knocked out of bounds. b [count] American football : a time when a team has control of the ball and is trying to score • They scored a touchdown on each of their first two possessions.

6 [noncount] : the state of being controlled by a usually evil spirit • demonic possession

1 pos·ses·sive /pəˈzɛsɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : not willing to share things with or lend things to other people — often + about • She is very possessive about her toys. — often + of • He is quite possessive of his DVD collection.

2 [more ~; most ~] : wanting all of someone’s attention and love • If you marry him, he is only going to become even more jealous and possessive than he is now. • a possessive boyfriend — often + of • a mother who was very possessive of her son

3 grammar : relating to a word or a form of a word that shows that something or someone belongs to something or someone else • The possessive form of “dog” is “dog’s.” • “His” and “her” are possessive pronouns.

— pos·ses·sive·ly adv • “It’s mine!” he said possessively.

— pos·ses·sive·ness noun [noncount]

2 possessive noun, pl -sives grammar

1 [count] : a possessive word or phrase • “Your” and “yours” are possessives.

2 the possessive : the form of a word that shows possession or belonging • The possessive of “it” is “its.”

pos·ses·sor /pəˈzɛsə/ noun, pl -sors [count] : a person who owns or has something — often + of • (formal) the possessor of the land • He is the proud possessor of a baseball autographed by Hank Aaron.

pos·si·bil·i·ty /ˌpɑːsəˈbɪləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 : a chance that something might exist, happen, or be true : the state or fact of being possible [count] There is a strong/real/remote/faint possibility that I will not be chosen for the job. • Have you considered the possibility that you may be wrong? — usually + of • the possibility [=likelihood] of success/failure • He received a life sentence without the possibility of parole. • Is there a possibility of rain today? • Scientists are still unsure about the possibility of life on other planets.

[noncount] It is not outside the range/realm of possibility that he could get laid off. [=he might get laid off] • (chiefly Brit) You shouldn’t worry about things that are beyond the bounds of possibility. [=things that cannot happen]

2 [count] : something that might be done or might happen : something that is possible • Rain is a possibility today. [=it might rain today] • There is a wide range of possibilities [=options] to consider. • My first two ideas didn’t work, but I thought of a third possibility. • We exhausted all/the possibilities. [=we did everything that we could think of doing] • The future holds untold possibilities. • His degree and job experience give him a wide range of possibilities for a career.

3 possibilities [plural] : abilities or qualities that could make someone or something better in the future : POTENTIAL • a man of undetermined possibilities • The old house might not look like much now, but it has possibilities.

1 pos·si·ble /ˈpɑːsəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 not usually used before a noun : able to be done • It simply isn’t possible. • Would it be possible for me to use your phone? [=may I use your phone?] • Advances in medicine have made it possible for people to live longer. • It is possible that she decided not to join us. • We tried to spend as little money as possible. • It is not physically possible to do everything you have planned in one day. • I like to go swimming whenever possible. [=whenever there is an opportunity to swim] • Do your best to come home from work early, if (at all) possible. [=if it can be done] • Come as soon/quickly as

(humanly) possible. [=as soon as you can] — opposite IMPOSSIBLE

2 : able to happen or exist • We need to plan against possible dangers. [=dangers that may occur] • The weather report warned of possible thunderstorms tonight. • Thunderstorms are possible but not probable tonight. • The highest possible score is 100. • How possible [=likely] is rain today? • What possible good can it do to argue? • He is in the worst possible situation. • It is possible that life exists on other planets.

3 always used before a noun : able or suited to be or to become something specified • I found a possible site for a camp. • She suggested a possible solution to the problem.

4 : reasonable to believe : perhaps true • It's possible that your computer has a virus. • Robbery is one possible motive for the murder.

2 possible noun, pl -sibles

1 [count] : someone or something that might be suitable or acceptable for a particular job, purpose, etc. • We have two possibles for the job.

2 the possible : something that can be done • Finishing the job today is not outside the realm of the possible. [=is not impossible]

pos·si·bly /ˈpɑːsəbli/ adv

1 — used to say something might happen, exist, or be true but is not certain • The exam will probably take you the whole hour to complete, possibly [=perhaps, maybe] even longer. • The doctor says I might possibly regain full use of my hand. • The fire could possibly have been caused by faulty wiring. • It's possibly the worst movie I've ever seen. • "Is it going to rain?" "Quite possibly."

2 — used to show shock or surprise at something • That cannot possibly be true. [=it is not possible that it is true] • How could anyone possibly have done such a thing?

3 — used to ask for something politely • Could you possibly get me some bread and milk while you're out?

4 — used to say that someone will do or has done everything that can be done to achieve something • I will come as soon as I possibly can. • I did all I possibly could to get here on time, but I got caught in traffic.

5 — used in negative statements to emphasize that something cannot or could not happen or be done • I can't possibly tell you that. It's a secret. • You couldn't possibly understand what I'm going through. • You could not have possibly finished your homework in such a short amount of time.

pos·sum /ˈpɑːsəm/ noun, pl pos·sums also possum [count] : OPOSSUM play possum informal 1 : to pretend to be asleep or dead • The wounded soldier played possum, hoping the enemy would pass him by. 2 : to pretend to be helpless or less effective in order to deceive an opponent or save strength • The boxer played possum [=pretended to be weaker than he was] for the first few rounds, letting his opponent tire himself out.

1 post /ˈpoust/ noun, pl posts [count]

1 : a piece of wood or metal that is set in an upright position into or on the ground especially as a support or marker • fence posts — see picture at HOUSE

2 : a pole that marks the starting or finishing point of a horse race — usually singular • a horse's post position [=the position of a horse in the line of horses at the start of a race] • (Brit) The horses galloped toward the finishing post

3 : GOALPOST — usually singular • The shot hit the post.

from pillar to post see PILLAR

— compare ³POST, ⁴POST

2 post verb posts; post-ed; post-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to put up (a sign, notice, etc.) so that it can be seen by many people • When we lost our cat, we posted (up) signs all over the neighborhood asking if people had seen him. • The professor posted (up) the students' exam grades outside her office. b : to make (something) officially known to many people • A snowstorm warning was posted [=announced] for the New England area. • The company posted [=reported] increased profits for the third quarter.

2 : to add (a message) to an online message board [+ obj] I read through the previous messages, then posted a quick response. [no obj] She posts regularly to several newsgroups.

3 [+ obj] chiefly Brit : to send (a letter or package) by mail • If you find anything I've left behind, just post [=mail] it to me.

keep (someone) posted : to regularly give (someone) the most recent news about something • Keep me posted on how the project is coming along. • We don't know her condition yet, but we'll keep you posted.

post bail see ¹BAIL

— compare ⁵POST

3 post noun, pl posts

1 [noncount] chiefly Brit a : POSTAL SERVICE • We don't have a telephone at the cottage, so contact us by post. [=mail] • There are strict rules against sending dangerous materials through the post. b : letters or packages sent by post : MAIL • He got a summer job delivering the post. • Has the post come yet? • After lunch, she sat and read the post. • I put the payment in the post [=I mailed the payment] this morning. — see also PARCEL POST

2 [count] : a message on an online message board • The Internet newsgroup is very active, with over 50 posts per day. — called also posting

by return of post see ²RETURN

— compare ¹POST, ⁴POST

4 post noun, pl posts

1 [count] a : the place where a soldier or guard is told to be • No matter what happens, do not abandon your post. [=do not leave your assigned area] • a command post b : the place where someone does a job • The bartender returned to her post behind the counter. c : a place where soldiers are sent to live for a period of time : CAMP • My cousin's Army unit was recently sent to a post in Alaska. • The large post houses over 25,000 people. — see also STAGING POST

2 [count] : a usually important job or position in a large organization • Our old supervisor just retired, so they're looking for someone to fill his post. • He resigned from his post as superintendent of public schools. • She applied for a government/administrative post.

3 [count] : TRADING POST

4 the post basketball a : the area on a basketball court that is near the basket • He was standing in the post all alone. b : the position of a player who is in the post • She usually plays the post.

— compare ¹POST, ³POST

5 post verb posts; posted; post-ing [+ obj]

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to assign (someone, such as a guard) to stand or stay at a particular place • Paramedics were posted nearby. • The general posted a guard outside the door to his tent.

2 chiefly Brit : to send (someone) to a place to work for a long period of time as part of a job — usually + to • Her company is posting her to New York City. — usually used as (be) posted • He was posted to Munich, Germany.

— compare ²POST

post- /ˈpoust/ prefix : after or later than • the postwar period [=the time after a war] • postdate • the postindustrial economy • post-1990

post·age /ˈpoustɪdʒ/ noun [noncount]

1 : the cost of sending a letter or package by mail • How much is the postage for this package? • Enclose two dollars for postage and handling.

2 : the stamps attached to a letter or package • I hope I put enough postage on the package.

postage meter noun, pl ~-ters [count] : a machine that stamps pieces of mail to show that postage has been paid postage-paid adj, always used before a noun : costing nothing to mail because the postage has been paid already • a postage-paid envelope/postcard postage stamp noun, pl ~ stamps [count] : ¹STAMP ¹

post·al /ˈpoustl/ adj, always used before a noun : relating to or involved in the sending, handling, and delivery of mail • postal workers [=post office employees] • Postal rates are going up. • The city worked to quickly restore postal service.

go postal US, informal : to suddenly behave in a very violent or angry way • She suddenly went postal and started yelling at the customers. • If he calls me this late again, I'm going to go postal on him.

postal address noun, pl ~-dresses [count] : MAILING ADDRESS

postal order noun, pl ~-ders [count] Brit : MONEY ORDER

Postal Service noun

the Postal Service US : the U.S. government department in charge of collecting and delivering mail • the United States Postal Service

post·bag /ˈpoust,bæg/ noun, pl -bags Brit

1 [count] : MAILBAG

2 [singular] : the total number of letters received by a person, business, or organization at a particular time • We received a huge postbag on the spelling mistakes in our newsletter.

post-box /'poust,bɑ:ks/ noun, pl -boxes [count] Brit : MAILBOX 1

post-card /'poust,kɑ:d/ noun, pl -cards [count] : a card on which a message may be sent by mail without an envelope and that often has a picture on one side — see picture at MAIL; see also PICTURE POSTCARD

post-code /'poust,koud/ noun, pl -codes [count] Brit : a group of numbers and letters that is used especially in the United Kingdom and Australia as part of an address to identify a mail delivery area — compare ZIP CODE post-date /,poust'deɪt/ verb -dates; -dat-ed; -dat-ing [+ obj]

1 : to give (something) a date that is later than the actual or current date • postdate a check • We sent the company a postdated check for next month's payment. — opposite ANTE-DATE

2 : to exist, happen, or be made at a later time than (something) • These buildings postdate World War II. [=they were built after World War II] — opposite ANTE-DATE, PRE-DATE post-doc-tor-al /,poust'dɑ:ktərəl/ adj, always used before a noun : relating to work that is done after a PhD has been completed • a postdoctoral fellowship • postdoctoral research post-er /'poustə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 a : a usually large printed notice often having a picture on it that is put in a public place to advertise something • Posters for the concert have been going up all over town. • campaign posters b : a usually large picture that is put on walls as a decoration • His walls were covered with posters of his favorite bands.

2 : a person who writes messages on an online message board poster boy noun, pl ~ boys [count] : a male poster child poster child noun, pl ~ children [count] US

1 : a child who has a particular disease and is shown in posters to raise money to help fight that disease

2 : a person who represents or is identified with something (such as a cause or product) • She was a stirring speaker and activist and soon became the poster child of the antiwar movement. • (humorous) My brother is the poster child for laziness. [=he is very lazy]

poste res-tante /,poust,ɾe'stɑ:nt/ noun [noncount] chiefly Brit : GENERAL DELIVERY poster girl noun, pl ~ girls [count] : a female poster child

¹pos-te-ri-or /pou'stɪrɪə/ adj, technical : near or toward the back of something (such as the body) • the posterior part of the brain — opposite ANTERIOR

²pos-te-ri-or /pɑ'stɪrɪə/ noun, pl -ors [count] humorous : the part of the body above the legs that is used for sitting : BUTTOCKS • The man squeezed his large posterior into the chair.

pos-ter-i-ty /pɑ'stɛrəti/ noun [noncount] formal : people in the future • Posterity will remember her as a woman of courage and integrity. • A record of the events was preserved for posterity. • The truth about what happened will be known/lost to posterity.

post exchange noun, pl ~ -changes [count] US : a store at a military post — abbr. PX post-free /'poust'fri:/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly Brit : POSTPAID • post-free delivery

— post-free adv • They sent me a brochure post-free.

post-game /'poust'geɪm/ adj, always used before a noun, US : happening immediately or very soon after the end of a sports game • a postgame interview/celebration

¹post-grad-u-ate /,poust'grædʒəwət/ adj, always used before a noun : of or relating to studies done after earning a bachelor's degree or other degree • After college, she spent her first postgraduate year studying abroad. • a postgraduate [= (US) graduate] student/course/program

²postgraduate noun, pl -ates [count] chiefly Brit : a student who continues to study for an advanced degree after earning a bachelor's degree or other first degree : a graduate student post-haste /'poust'heɪst/ adv, literary : very quickly : with great speed — used after a verb • They sent posthaste for the doctor. = They sent for the doctor posthaste.

post-hu-mous /'pɑ:stʃəməs/ adj, always used before a noun : happening, done, or published after someone's death • She received a posthumous award for her life of philanthropy. • her posthumous fame/reputation • a posthumous novel/anthology/memoir

— post-hu-mous-ly adv • The Army posthumously awarded him a medal for bravery. • Her last book was published posthumously. [=after her death]

pos-tie /'pousti/ noun, pl -ties [count] Brit, informal : LETTER CARRIER

post-ing /'poustɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings [count]

1 US : a public announcement of something • the company's latest posting of profits • a job posting [=an announcement telling people that a position is open]

2 chiefly Brit : the act of sending someone to a place to work for a long period of time as part of a job • military postings • a Foreign Service posting in Paris

3 : ³POST 2

Post-it /'poust,ɪt/ trademark — used for a small, colored slip of paper with a sticky edge post-man /'poustmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] : a man who collects and delivers mail : MAILMAN

¹post-mark /'poust,mɑ:k/ noun, pl -marks [count] : a mark placed over the stamp on a piece of mail that shows when the mail was sent and where it was sent from and that makes it impossible to use the stamp again — see picture at MAIL

²postmark verb -marks; -marked; -mark-ing [+ obj] : to put a postmark on (something) • The package was postmarked 13 February.

post-mas-ter /'poust,mæstə, Brit 'pəust,mɑ:stə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a person who is in charge of a post office

Postmaster General noun, pl Postmasters General [count] : the person who is in charge of the U.S. Postal Service post-men-o-paus-al /,poust,mənə'pɑ:zəl/ adj, medical

1 : having gone through menopause • postmenopausal women

2 : happening after menopause • postmenopausal symptoms

post-mis-tress /'poust,mɪstrəs/ noun, pl -tress-es [count] old-fashioned : a woman who is in charge of a post office

post-mod-ern /,poust'mɑ:dən/ adj : of or relating to postmodernism • postmodern architecture/literature post-mod-ern-ism /,poust'mɑ:də'nɪzəm/ noun [non-count] : a style of art, architecture, literature, etc., that developed after modernism and that differs from modernism in some important way (such as by combining traditional materials and forms with modern ones or by having an ironic tone or attitude)

— post-mod-ern-ist /,poust'mɑ:dənɪst/ adj • a postmodernist author • postmodernist art — postmodernist noun, pl -ists [count] • The author is a postmodernist.

¹post-mor-tem /,poust'moətəm/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : happening after death • a postmortem examination

²postmortem noun, pl -tems [count]

1 medical : an examination of a dead body to find out the cause of death : AUTOPSY • A postmortem showed that the man had been poisoned.

2 : a discussion or analysis of something (such as an event) after it has ended • Party leaders are conducting a postmortem of the election to try to find out what went wrong.

post-na-tal /,poust'neɪtəl/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : relating to the period of time following the birth of a child • postnatal care/depression

post office noun, pl ~ -fices

1 [count] : a building where the mail for a local area is sent and received — abbr. P.O.

2 the Post Office : the government department in charge of collecting and delivering mail • She works for the Post Office. [= (US) the Postal Service] post office box noun, pl ~ boxes [count] : P.O. BOX post-op /'poust'ɑ:p/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : POSTOPERATIVE • a post-op procedure/patient post-op-er-a-tive /,poust'ɑ:prətɪv/ adj, always used before a noun, medical

1 : happening after an operation • postoperative care

2 : having had an operation recently • a postoperative patient

post-paid /'poust'peɪd/ adj : costing nothing to mail because the postage has been paid already • The shoes are $40 postpaid. • a postpaid card

post-par-tum /,poust'pɑ:təm/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : relating to or happening in the period of time following the birth of a child • a postpartum examination/care postpartum depression noun [noncount] chiefly US, medical : a feeling of deep sadness, anxiety, etc., that a woman feels after giving birth to a child post-pone /ˌpoustˈpoun/ verb -pones; -poned; -pon-ing [+ obj] : to decide that something which had been planned for a particular time will be done at a later time instead • We had to postpone our vacation. = We had to postpone going on our vacation. • The baseball game was postponed until/to tomorrow because of rain.

— post-pone-ment /ˌpoustˈpounmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] After many postponements, the wedding finally took place. [noncount] The rain caused postponement of the baseball game.

post-pran-di-al /ˌpoustˈprændijəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal + humorous : happening after a meal • postprandial nausea • a postprandial coffee/nap post-script /ˌpoustˈskript/ noun, pl -scripts [count]

1 : a note or series of notes added at the end of a letter, article, or book • In a postscript to her letter, she promised to write again soon. — abbr. PS

2 : an additional fact or piece of information about a story that occurs after the main part • An interesting postscript to the story is that the two people involved later got married.

post-sea-son /ˌpoustˈsiːzn/ noun, pl -sons [count] US, sports : a period of time immediately after the regular season when teams play against each other in a series of games to determine a champion • The team has never played in the postseason. — often used before another noun • postseason games

post-traumatic stress disorder noun [noncount] medical : a mental condition that can affect a person who has had a very shocking or difficult experience (such as fighting in a war) and that is usually characterized by depression, anxiety, etc. — abbr. PTSD — called also post-traumatic stress syndrome

¹pos-tu-late /ˌpɑːstʃəˈleɪt/ verb -lates; -lat-ed; -lat-ing [+ obj] formal : to suggest (something, such as an idea or theory) especially in order to start a discussion • The theory postulates [=claims, posits] that carbon dioxide emissions contribute to global warming. • Scientists have postulated the existence of water on the planet.

²pos-tu-late /ˌpɑːstʃəˈleɪt/ noun, pl -lates [count] formal : a statement that is accepted as being true and that is used as the basis of a theory, argument, etc. • Einstein's theory of relativity was deduced from two postulates.

pos-ture /ˌpɑːstʃə/ noun, pl -tures

1 : the way in which your body is positioned when you are sitting or standing [count] Human beings have an upright posture. • a rigid/stiff posture [noncount] He has good/bad/poor posture.

2 [count] formal : the attitude a person or group has toward a subject — usually singular • The country has taken an aggressive posture on immigration. • She took a neutral posture in the argument.

— pos-tur-al /ˌpɑːstʃərəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal • poor postural habits pos-tur-ing /ˌpɑːstʃəriŋ/ noun [noncount] disapproving : behavior that is intended to impress other people and that is not sincere • Don't be fooled by his macho posturing. He's really a coward at heart.

post-war /ˌpoustˈwɔː/ adj, always used before a noun : happening, existing, or made after a war • the postwar generation • postwar architecture; especially : happening, existing, or made after World War II • postwar Europe — opposite PRE-WAR

post-wom-an /ˌpoustˈwʊmən/ noun, pl -wom-en /-ˈwɪmən/ [count] : a woman who collects or delivers mail : a female letter carrier po-sy /ˈpouzi/ noun, pl -sies [count] old-fashioned

1 : a small bunch of flowers • a posy of violets

2 : a single cut flower • a pocket full of posies

¹pot /ˈpɑːt/ noun, pl pots

1 [count] a : a deep, round container that is used for cooking • a soup pot • He scrubbed the pots and pans. — see picture at KITCHEN b : a container that is used for storing or holding something • clay pots • (Brit) a yogurt/paint pot • He is growing tomato plants in pots. — see also CHAMBER POT, CHIMNEY POT, COFFEEPOT, FLOWERPOT, LOBSTER POT, MELTING POT, STOCKPOT, TEAPOT

2 [count] : the amount of something held by a pot — often + of • She made a pot of tea.

3 [count] informal : a large amount of something — usually + of • She earned a pot of money on that job. • His comments have stirred up a pot of trouble. — often plural • She earned pots of money.

4 the pot chiefly US a : the total amount of money that can be won in a card game and that is made up of all the bets put together : KITTY • He took the pot. [=he won all the money that was bet] • There is over $100 in the pot. b : the total amount of money that has been gathered from many people for some purpose : KITTY • A donor added $1,000 to the pot in support of the theater company.

5 [count] informal : POTBELLY — usually singular • I'm so out of shape—look at this pot!

6 [count] informal : TOILET — usually singular • sat on the pot

7 [count] Brit : a shot that causes a ball to fall into a pocket in games like snooker and pool

a watched pot never boils see ¹*BOIL* go to pot informal : to be ruined : to fail • Their business is going to pot.

— compare ²*POT*

²pot noun [noncount] informal : MARIJUANA • an ounce of pot • a pot smoker/plant — compare ¹*POT*

³pot verb pots; pot-ted; pot-ting [+ obj]

1 : to plant (something) in a pot • She spent the afternoon potting tulip bulbs.

2 Brit : to shoot (a ball) into a pocket in games like snooker and pool • He potted [=pocketed, sank] the winning shot.

3 Brit : to shoot and kill (an animal) • She potted a bird.

po-ta-ble /ˌpoutəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] technical : safe to drink • potable water pot-ash /ˈpɑːt,æʃ/ noun [noncount] : a form of potassium that is used especially to improve soil or to make soap po-tas-si-um /pəˈtæsiəm/ noun [noncount] : a soft, silver-white metal that is used especially in farming and industry

po-ta-to /pəˈteɪtə/ noun, pl -toes

1 : a round root of a plant that has brown, yellow, or red skin and white or yellow flesh and that is eaten as a vegetable [count] baked/mashed/roasted/boiled potatoes [noncount] slices of potato • mashed potato • potato salad — see color picture on page C4; see also JACKET POTATO, SWEET POTATO

2 [count] : the plant that produces potatoes • She's growing carrots and potatoes in her garden this year.

— see also COUCH POTATO, HOT POTATO, MEAT AND POTATOES, SMALL POTATOES

potato chip noun, pl ~ chips [count] US : a thin slice of potato that is fried or sometimes baked and usually salted • I had a sandwich and a bag of potato chips for lunch. — called also (Brit) crisp, (Brit) potato crisp

potato pancake noun, pl ~ -cakes [count] chiefly US : a fried, flat cake consisting of potato mixed with egg and usually onion and spices pot-bel-lied /ˈpɑːt,belɪd/ adj : having a large, round stomach that sticks out • a potbellied man potbellied pig noun, pl ~ pigs [count] : a small pig with a large belly and usually a black or white coat potbellied stove noun, pl ~ stoves [count] US : a stove with a large, rounded body — called also potbelly stove

pot-bel-ly /ˈpɑːt,beli/ noun, pl -lies [count]

1 : a large, round stomach that sticks out • a man with a potbelly

2 : POTBELLIED STOVE

potbelly stove noun, pl ~ stoves [count] : POTBELLIED STOVE

pot-boil-er /ˈpɑːt,boɪlə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a book, movie, etc., that is made in usually a cheap way in order to make money rather than for artistic reasons

po-ten-cy /ˈpoutɪnsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [noncount] : the power to influence someone • Her words had potency. — often + of • I can't deny the potency of his argument.

2 : the strength or effectiveness of something [count] drugs of high potencies [noncount] vitamins of high potency

3 [noncount] : the ability of a man to have sex • The drug can improve sexual potency.

po-tent /ˈpoutɪnt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : very effective or strong • potent medicine • The tea was potent. b : having a very powerful effect or influence on someone • He had potent arguments for going to war. • Her story serves as a potent reminder of the dangers of drug use.

2 of a man : able to have sex — opposite IMPOTENT

— po-tent-ly adv • a potently meaningful speech

po·ten·tate /'poutn,tet/ noun, pl -tates [count] literary : a powerful ruler • medieval potentates

¹po·ten·tial /pə'tenʃəl/ adj, always used before a noun : capable of becoming real : POSSIBLE • Doctors are excited about the new drug's potential benefits. • Critics say the factory poses a potential threat to the environment. • the school's potential growth • He is a potential candidate for president. • The project has potential risks/advantages.

— po·ten·tial·ly adv • a potentially deadly virus

²potential noun, pl -tials

¹ [count] : a chance or possibility that something will happen or exist in the future — usually singular; usually + for • Wet roads increase the potential for an accident. [=make an accident more likely to happen] • If you study hard, there is a greater potential for success.

² a : a quality that something has that can be developed to make it better [count] Scientists are exploring the potentials of the new drug. • The stock's earning potential is high. [=the stock is likely to earn a lot of money] • The new technology has the potential to transform the industry. [noncount] There is potential in the new technology, but it will be a long time before it can actually be used. • The company has a lot of potential for future growth. b [noncount] : an ability that someone has that can be developed to help that person become successful • The team's newest player shows great potential. [=promise] • He has the potential to be one of the team's best players. • She has leadership potential. [=she could become a successful leader] • He shows enormous potential as an athlete. • The school tries to help students reach/realize their full potential. [=to become the best they can be] potential energy noun [noncount] physics : the energy that something has because of its position or the way its parts are arranged ♦ Potential energy is energy that is not yet being used.

³ [count, noncount] technical : the amount of work that is required to move a quantity of electricity from one point on a circuit to another ♦ This kind of work is usually measured in volts. • The instrument is used to measure the changing electrical potentials.

po·ten·ti·al·i·ty /pə'tenʃi'æləti/ noun, pl -ties formal

¹ : a quality that can be developed to make someone or something better [count] They underestimated his potentialities. [noncount] The teacher sees potentiality [=potential] in every student.

² [count] : a chance or possibility that something will happen or exist in the future — usually singular • There is a/the potentiality for good in all people.

pot·head /'pɑ:t,hed/ noun, pl -heads [count] US, informal : a person who smokes a lot of marijuana pot·hold·er /'pɑ:t,houldə/ noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : a small, thick cloth pad that people use to protect their hands when they are holding hot cooking pots, pans, etc. — see picture at KITCHEN pot·hole /'pɑ:t,houl/ noun, pl -holes [count] : a deep, round hole in a road or some other surface (such as the bottom of a river) — sometimes used figuratively • The project hit a big pothole a few weeks ago.

— pot·holed /'pɑ:t,hould/ adj • the city's potholed streets

po·tion /'pouʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a drink that is meant to have a special or magical effect on someone • He drank the fatal potion. • The hero in the play is given a magic/love potion so that he will fall in love with the princess. • medical potions • sleeping potions

pot·luck (US) or Brit pot luck /'pɑ:t'lak/ noun, pl -lucks

¹ [count] US : a meal to which everyone who is invited brings food to share • He organized a neighborhood potluck for next Saturday. — often used before another noun • a potluck dinner/supper

² [noncount] chiefly Brit : a meal for a guest that is prepared from whatever is available • I wasn't expecting you for dinner, so you'll have to take pot luck. — often used figuratively • We don't have definite plans. We're just going to take pot luck. [=we're just going to take/accept whatever is available and hope that it is good] pot·pie /'pɑ:t'pai/ noun, pl -pies [count] US : a mixture of meat and vegetables that is covered with a layer of pastry and cooked in a deep dish • a chicken/turkey potpie

pot plant noun, pl ~ plants [count]

¹ chiefly US, informal : a marijuana plant

² Brit : HOUSEPLANT

pot·pour·ri /,poupu'ri:/ noun, pl -ris

¹ [count, noncount] : a mixture of dried flower petals, leaves, and spices that is used to make a room smell pleasant

² [singular] : a collection of different things • The festival was a musical potpourri—performances included folk, jazz, blues, and rap music. — often + of • The book is a potpourri [=assortment, medley] of stories about family, religion, and food.

pot roast noun, pl ~ roasts [count, noncount] : a piece of beef that is cooked slowly in a pot pot·shot /'pɑ:t,ʃɑ:t/ noun, pl -shots [count] : a gunshot that is fired in a careless way or at an easy target • A sniper was on the roof taking potshots at passing cars. — often used figuratively to describe a careless or unfair criticism • She uses her newspaper column to take potshots at anyone who disagrees with her. • a verbal potshot pot·tage /'pɑ:tɪdʒ/ noun [noncount] old-fashioned : a thick soup of vegetables and often meat

a mess of pottage : something that has little or no value •

They sold/traded their birthright for a mess of pottage.

pot·ted /'pɑ:təd/ adj, always used before a noun

¹ : growing in a pot rather than in the ground • potted palms/plants/herbs

² : cooked and then preserved in a pot, jar, or can • potted meats

³ chiefly Brit, informal : giving only the most important information about something : brief and simplified • The book gives a potted history of the Industrial Revolution in the first chapter. • a potted summary/version

¹pot·ter /'pɑ:tə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a person who makes pots, bowls, plates, etc., out of clay : a person who makes pottery by hand

²potter verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing

potter around/about [phrasal verb] Brit : to spend time in a relaxed way doing small jobs and other things that are not very important • He spent his vacation pottering around [(US) puttering around] the house/garden.

— pot·ter·er /'pɑ:tərə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

potter's wheel noun, pl ~ wheels [count] : a machine with a flat disk on which a potter shapes wet clay into pots as it spins

pot·tery /'pɑ:təri/ noun, pl -ter-ies

¹ [noncount] : objects (such as bowls, plates, etc.) that are made out of clay usually by hand and then baked at high temperatures so that they become hard • He has collected pottery for years. • a glazed pottery jar

² [noncount] : the art or activity of making objects out of clay • She was a painter for years before she discovered pottery. • a pottery class • pottery techniques

³ [count] : a place where potters make objects out of clay potting shed noun, pl ~ sheds [count] : a small building in which plants are grown in pots until they are ready to be planted outside potting soil noun [noncount] US : a mixture of dirt and other substances that people use when placing plants in pots

¹pot·ty /'pɑ:ti/ noun, pl -ties informal

¹ [count] : a pot that children use as a toilet until they are big enough to use a toilet

² the potty : the toilet or bathroom — used by children or when talking to children • Mommy, I need to use the potty.

go potty US, informal : to use the toilet — used by children or when talking to children. • Be sure to go potty before we leave the house. • I have to go potty.

²potty adj pot·ti·er; -est [also more ~; most ~] Brit, informal

¹ : CRAZY • I think he's gone a little potty. • All this noise is driving me potty!

² : very interested in or excited about someone or something • She's just potty about this new dance class.

pot·ty·mouthed /'pɑ:ti,mauðd/ adj [more ~; most ~] US, informal : using indecent or offensive language : FOUL-MOUTHED • potty-mouthed comedians

— potty mouth noun, pl ~ mouths [count] US, informal • a comedian who has/is a potty mouth [=a comedian who uses a lot of offensive language]

potty training noun [noncount] : TOILET TRAINING

— potty-train verb -trains; -trained; -training [+ obj] • She's trying to potty-train her daughter. — potty-trained adj • The twins are potty-trained now.

pouch /'paʊf/ noun, pl pouch-es [count]

¹ a : a small bag • He carried his money in a small leather pouch in his pocket. • a tobacco pouch b : a bag often with a lock that is used to carry letters or important papers • a mail pouch

² a : a pocket of skin on the stomachs of some female ani-

imals (such as kangaroos and koalas) that is used to carry young b : a pocket of skin inside the mouths of some animals (such as squirrels and hamsters) that is used to carry food

— pouchy /'paʊtʃi/ adj pouch·i·er; -est • pouchy [=baggy] eyes pouf also pouffe /'pu:f/ noun, pl poufs also pouffes [count] Brit : OTTOMAN

poul-tice /'poultəs/ noun, pl -tic-es [count] : a soft, usually heated substance that is spread on cloth and then placed on the skin to heal a sore or reduce pain

poul-try /'poultri/ noun [noncount]

1 : birds (such as chickens and ducks) that are raised on farms for their eggs or meat

2 : meat from a bird • This wine goes well with poultry.

pounce /'paʊns/ verb pounc-es; pounced; pounc-ing [no obj]

1 : to suddenly jump toward and take hold of someone or something • The cat crouched low and waited for the moment to pounce. — usually + on • As the boys rounded the corner, a group of kids pounced on them. — often used figuratively • A salesperson pounced on me [=quickly approached me] as soon as I walked into the store. • When a few documents showed that the mayor had avoided paying his taxes, the press pounced on [=attacked] him. • She lost control of the ball, and the other team pounced on the opportunity to score. • He pounced on the job offer.

2 : to act or move quickly and suddenly • Movie studios are ready to pounce as soon as she announces that she's making movies again. • She pounced at the phone when it rang.

¹pound /'paʊnd/ noun, pl pounds also pound

1 [count] : a unit of weight that is equal to 16 ounces or 0.4536 kilograms • The recipe calls for a pound of ground beef. • a 50-pound dog = a dog that weighs 50 pounds • Chicken is on sale this week for $3 per/a pound. • I gained some weight last winter and I'm trying to lose a few pounds. • Pound for pound, it's the most valuable crop being grown in the state. [=when comparing a pound of this crop with a pound of other crops, a pound of this crop is more valuable] 2 a [count] : a basic unit of money in the United Kingdom and some other countries • The bill came to 30 pounds 10 pence. • Rent for the flat is 600 pounds per/a month. • a five-pound note b [count] : a bill or coin that is worth one pound • "Do you have any cash on you?" "I've got a few pounds in my wallet." c the pound technical : the value of a pound when it is compared to another unit of money • The dollar dropped sharply against the pound. • the strength/weakness of the pound

in for a penny, in for a pound see PENNY pile on the pounds see ²PILE

pound of flesh : an amount that is owed to someone who demands to be paid • When the creditors came to collect their pound of flesh, he had nothing to give them.

— compare ²POUND, ³POUND; see also POUND CAKE

²pound noun, pl pounds [count]

1 : a place where dogs and cats that are found on the streets without an owner are kept until their owners come and get them

2 : a place to which cars that have been parked illegally are towed and kept until their owners pay to get them back

— compare ¹POUND, ³POUND

³pound noun, pl pounds [count] US : the symbol # • To record a message, press pound. = To record a message, press the pound key. [=press the button/key labeled "#"] — called also (US) pound sign, (Brit) hash, (Brit) hash sign — compare ¹POUND, ²POUND

⁴pound verb pounds; pound-ed; pound-ing

1 : to hit (something or someone) with force again and again [+ obj] Heavy waves pounded the shore. • The metal is heated and then pounded into shape. • She pounded [=drove] the nails into the wood. • He got frustrated and started to pound the piano keys. • He pounded his fist on the table. • The boxers were really pounding each other. [no obj] Someone is pounding [=banging] at the door. • Waves pounded against the side of the boat. — often + on • He began to pound on a drum.

2 [+ obj] : to crush or break (something) into very small pieces by hitting it again and again • The wheat is pounded into flour. • Pound the herbs and garlic until they form a paste.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to walk or run with heavy and loud steps • He came pounding down the stairs. • The horses pounded up the track.

4 [no obj] : to work hard at something for a long time — usually + away • He pounded away all night at his computer, writing the report. • I don't feel like I'm making much progress, but I keep pounding away.

5 [no obj] : to beat loudly and quickly • He woke from the dream in a cold sweat with his heart pounding (in his ears). • I took an aspirin because my head was pounding. • a pounding [=throbbing] headache

6 [+ obj] : to bomb (an area) many times • Bombers pounded the city all night.

7 [+ obj] US, informal : to drink (something) quickly • They pounded (back) a few beers at the bar.

pound out [phrasal verb] pound out (something) or pound (something) out 1 : to make or produce (something) quickly • Every week he pounds out [=bangs out] another column for the newspaper. 2 : to play (a song, melody, etc.) loudly on a musical instrument (such as a piano) • The band's lead singer was pounding out [=banging out] a tune on the piano.

pound the streets/pavement : to walk or run on the street especially in search of something • She's out there every day pounding the pavement, looking for work. • Hard-core joggers will pound the streets in all kinds of weather.

pound-age /'paʊndɪdʒ/ noun [noncount]

1 technical : an amount charged for every pound that something weighs

2 informal : body weight • She's carrying some extra pound-age after the holidays.

pound cake noun, pl ~ cakes [count, noncount] US : a rich cake made with a large amount of butter and eggs pound-er /'paʊndə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person or thing that has a specified weight in pounds — used in combination • The fish was a 22-pounder. [=the fish weighed 22 pounds] • He's the team's only 300-pounder. [=a person who weighs 300 pounds]

2 : a gun that fires a shell of a specified weight • a 64-pounder pound-fool-ish /'paʊnd'fu:liʃ/ adj

penny-wise and/but pound-foolish see PENNY-WISE

pounding noun, pl -ings

1 [count] : the act of hitting someone or something with force again and again — usually singular • We could hear the pounding of waves against the shore. • There was a pounding [=banging] on/at my door early the next morning. • The boxer took a pounding [=took a beating] in the ring. — often used figuratively • They gave us a pounding in the first half of the game. • The company's stocks took a pounding.

2 [singular] : the act of beating loudly and quickly • I could feel a pounding in my chest. = I could feel the pounding of my heart in my chest.

pound sign noun, pl ~ signs [count]

1 : the symbol £ that represents the British pound

2 US : ³POUND

pound sterling noun, pl pounds sterling [count] : a basic unit of money in the United Kingdom : POUND

pour /'poʊ/ verb pours; poured; pour-ing

1 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to flow in a steady stream from or into a container or place • He carefully poured the water into her glass. • Pour the sauce over the pasta. • She poured salt into the palm of her hand and then sprinkled it over the stew. • The smokestacks poured out thick clouds of black smoke. • The burst pipe poured out water. • The concrete foundation has been poured. — sometimes used figuratively • She poured scorn on the plan. [=she talked about the plan in a very critical and scornful way]

2 : to fill a cup or glass with a drink for someone [+ obj] Will you pour (out) the wine? [=will you fill everyone's glass with wine?] • Pour a drink for me, please. = Pour me a drink, please. • Can I pour you some lemonade? • He poured [=served] himself a (cup of) coffee. [no obj] Could you please pour?

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to flow or move continuously in a steady stream • Light poured [=streamed] down from the hole in the roof. • Smoke poured out from the chimney. • Sweat was pouring from her brow. — often used figuratively • Music pours out of the dance clubs at night. • All of his pent-up emotion came pouring out. • She started crying, and then the whole story of what happened came pouring out. • Orders for the soap have started to pour in. • Thousands of people poured into the stadium for the game. • People poured out of the subway.

4 [no obj] a : to rain heavily • It poured all day. • It was pouring the whole time we were there. • (Brit) It is pouring (down) with rain b of rain : to come down heavily • The rain poured down • We had to wait for hours in the pouring rain pour cold water on see ¹WATER pour into [phrasal verb] pour (something) into (something) : to spend (a large amount of money, time, energy, etc.) on something • She has poured thousands (of dollars) into the business. • He has been pouring all his time/resources into the project.

pour oil on troubled waters chiefly Brit : to try to make peace between people who are arguing pour on [phrasal verb] 1 pour on (something) or pour (something) on : to produce a lot of (something) in order to achieve something • The defense poured on the pressure in the second half of the game. • He really poured on the charm to get her to have dinner with him. 2 pour it on informal a : to talk about something in an emotional way that is not sincere in order to get sympathy, attention, etc. • When he saw that she felt sorry for him, he really poured it on. b chiefly US : to do something in a very energetic and effective way • After they took the lead in the second half, they really started to pour it on. [=they started to score a lot of points very quickly] pour out [phrasal verb] pour out (something) or pour (something) out : to freely express (an emotion) : to talk freely about (something personal) • I listened while he poured out his anger and frustration. • I'm sorry about pouring out my troubles like this. • She poured out the whole story.

pour your heart/soul out or pour out your heart/soul : to speak very freely to someone about how your private and most deeply felt emotions • He'll pour his heart out to anyone who will listen.

when it rains, it pours or it never rains but it pours see ²RAIN

pout /'paʊt/ verb pouts; pout-ed; pout-ing

1 : to push out your lips to show that you are angry or annoyed or to look sexually attractive [+ obj] She pouted her lips and stared at him angrily. [no obj] The boy didn't want to leave—he stomped his feet and pouted. • The model pouted for the cameras. • Her lips pouted, and she began to cry.

2 [no obj] chiefly US : to refuse to talk to people because you are angry or annoyed about something • Whenever he doesn't get his own way, he pouts. [=sulks] • Quit pouting!

— pout noun, pl pouts [count] • She had a sultry pout on her lips. — pouted adj • pouted lips — pouty /'paʊti/ adj pout-i-er; -est • pouty lips • He had a pouty look on his face.

POV abbr, chiefly US point of view

pov-er-ty /'pɑ:vəti/ noun

1 [noncount] : the state of being poor • rural/urban poverty • families living in poverty • He came from poverty. • He was born in/into poverty.

2 [singular] formal : a lack of something • There is a poverty of information about the disease. • a poverty of imagination poverty line noun

the poverty line : the level of income that makes it possible for a person to pay for basic food, clothing, and shelter • Many families in the city are living below/at the poverty line. — called also poverty level

pov-er-ty-strick-en /'pɑ:vəti,stri:kən/ adj : very poor • poverty-stricken neighborhoods/families poverty trap noun, pl ~ traps [count] : a situation in which a person who is poor is unable to escape from poverty; especially, chiefly Brit : a situation in which a poor person who gets a job will remain poor because the amount of money that person receives from the government will be reduced

pow /'paʊ/ interj

1 — used to express the sound of an explosion, a gun firing, or a person hitting another person • We were talking and then ... Pow! Someone hit him from behind.

2 — used to show that something has happened suddenly • I was relaxing with a cup of tea and then—pow! I suddenly remembered where I was supposed to be.

POW /,pi:,ou'dʌbəl,ju:/ noun, pl POWs [count] : PRISONER OF WAR • missing POWs • a POW camp

¹pow-der /'paʊdə/ noun, pl -ders

1 : a dry substance made up of very tiny pieces of something [noncount] garlic/chili/cocoa powder [count] The powder is made from the roots of the plant. • Mix together the different powders. • She crushed the peppercorns into a fine powder. — see also BAKING POWDER, CHILI POWDER, CURRY POWDER, FIVE-SPICE POWDER, SOAP POWDER

2 [noncount] : a very fine, dry substance that is put on your body or face especially to make it dry or less shiny • The girls put on their lipstick and (face) powder before heading out to the dance. • We're running low on baby powder and diapers. — see picture at GROOMING; see also TALCUM POWDER

3 [noncount] : snow that is very light and dry • We woke this morning to several inches of fresh powder on the ground. — often used before another noun • powder skiing/snow

4 [noncount] : GUNPOWDER — see also POWDER KEG keep your powder dry old-fashioned : to be calm and ready for a possible problem in the future • They don't know how the election will turn out, so for now they're just keeping their powder dry.

take a powder US, informal + old-fashioned : to leave suddenly and quickly • The boys decided to take a powder as soon as they saw there was work to be done.

²powder verb -ders; -dered; -der-ing [+ obj] : to put powder on (your face or body) • She powdered her face and put on lipstick.

powder your nose somewhat old-fashioned — used by women as a polite way of excusing themselves from a table, conversation, etc., to go to the bathroom • Excuse me. I'm just going to go powder my nose. I'll be right back.

powder blue noun [noncount] : a pale blue color — see color picture on page C2

pow-dered adj, always used before a noun

1 : in the form of a powder; such as a : made into a dry powder by having all the water removed • powdered milk/ink b : having been crushed or ground into a powder • powdered shells/charcoal

2 : covered in powder • powdered wigs/cheeks powdered sugar noun [noncount] US : sugar that has been ground into a fine powder — called also (US) confectioners' sugar, (Brit) icing sugar

powder keg noun, pl ~ kegs [count]

1 : a small container that is used to hold gunpowder 2 : a place or situation that is likely to become dangerous or violent soon • Political instability has made the region a powder keg.

powder puff noun, pl ~ puffs [count] : a small, round piece of soft material that is used to put powder on your face or body powder room noun, pl ~ rooms [count]

1 US : a small bathroom especially for guests that has a toilet and sink but not a bathtub or shower

2 : a public bathroom for women in a restaurant, hotel, etc.

pow-dery /'paʊdəri/ adj

1 : like powder • powdery ashes • the beach's powdery white sand

2 : covered with powder • We skied down the powdery slopes.

¹pow-er /'paʊə/ noun, pl -ers

1 [noncount] : the ability or right to control people or things • She is from a very wealthy family with a lot of social power. • a politician who is hungry for power = a power-hungry politician • The company abused its power, forcing workers to work overtime without pay. • The company was almost destroyed in a power struggle between its two founders. • She had them in her power. [=she controlled them] • I'm sorry, but I don't have it in my power to help you. [=I don't have the power to help you; I can't help you] — often + over • He has no power over me.

2 [noncount] : political control of a country or area • After the emperor died, power passed to his eldest son. • the peaceful transfer of power to the newly elected president • The president was removed from power in the recent uprising. • The new government has taken power. • The latest elections put a new (political) party in power. • The rebels rose/came to power several years ago. — see also BLACK POWER, FLOWER POWER

3 [count] a : a person or organization that has a lot of control and influence over other people or organizations • A small company with only a few products has grown to become a power in the industry. • Our state is now the region's leading economic power. b : a country that has a lot of influence and military strength • a foreign power • the European powers — see also GREAT POWER, SUPERPOWER, WORLD POWER

4 [noncount] a : physical force or strength • Getting the floor clean required lots of muscle power. — often + of • I was impressed by the sheer power of her tennis serve. • the power of hurricane winds b : military force • They are threatening to use air/military power to resolve the conflict.

— see also BALANCE OF POWER, FIREPOWER, SEA POWER
c : the energy or force that someone or something can produce for movement, work, etc. • He could not walk under his own power. [=he could not walk without help] • The machines are running at full power. [=are doing as much work as they can possibly do]

5 a : an ability to do something [count] It's an old story, but it still has the power to frighten children. • You have the power to change your life. • I'll do everything within/in my power to help. [=I'll do everything that I can to help] • It's in your power [=you have the ability] to change the way things are done here. — often + of • He's studying the healing powers of various plants. • She lost the power of speech. [=she was no longer able to speak] • Some things are beyond the power of human understanding. • He used all of his powers of persuasion, but she still would not agree. [noncount] Each member of the club has equal voting power. • The new computer is tiny but has more computing power than many desktop computers. • His position gives him great bargaining power. — see also BUYING POWER, PURCHASING POWER, STAYING POWER b [noncount] : the ability to influence or affect people or things • It was a speech of great power. • A good lawyer is able to argue with power and conviction. — often + of • the power of art/love/religion/television • Great poetry reminds us of the power of language. — see also DRAWING POWER, PULLING POWER

6 : the right to do something : legal or official authority to do something [count] You have the power to decide whether or not you'll agree to do it. • The President has the power to veto laws passed by Congress. [noncount] The board of directors has given her power to negotiate the contract. — see also POWER OF ATTORNEY

7 [noncount] a : energy that can be collected and used to operate machines • electrical/nuclear/solar/wind/battery power • The car's engine yields more power while using less fuel. — see also HORSEPOWER, MANPOWER b : the electricity that people use • We lost power during the storm. • Do you know how many watts of power your refrigerator uses per day?

8 [count] mathematics a : the number of times that a number is to be multiplied by itself • 5 (raised) to the third power is 125. [=5 x 5 x 5 = 125] b : a number that results from multiplying a number by itself • 8 is a power of 2 because 2 x 2 x 2 is equal to 8.

9 [noncount] technical : the ability of an optical device (such as a telescope) to make objects look bigger • the power [=magnification] of a microscope/telescope • a telescope of high power

do (someone) a power of good Brit, informal + old-fashioned : to help someone physically or mentally : to make someone feel better • I think spending a day outside in the sunshine would do you a power of good. [= (US) do you a world of good]

more power to you (US) or Brit more power to your elbow informal — used to say that you approve of what someone is doing and hope it will be successful • If he wants to write a book, more power to him!

the corridors/halls of power : places where people talk about issues and make important decisions especially about political matters • the corridors of power in Washington, D.C.

the power behind the throne : the person who secretly controls a country, organization, etc., by controlling the actions and decisions of the official leader • He's the company president, but his assistant is the (real) power behind the throne.

the powers that be : the people who decide what is allowed or acceptable in a group, organization, etc. • The students wanted to have a big party, but the powers that be didn't approve. • I applied for the job, but I guess the powers that be didn't think I was qualified.

synonyms POWER, AUTHORITY, JURISDICTION, COMMAND, and DOMINION mean the right or ability to govern, rule, or strongly influence people or situations. POWER is a general word that suggests the ability to control or influence what is done, felt, etc. • the power of the throne • the power to appoint judges • The movie has the power to shape public opinion. AUTHORITY suggests power that has been given to someone for a specific purpose and that has certain limits. • She gave her nephew the authority to manage the estate on her behalf. JURISDICTION refers to official, legal power that has certain limits. • This matter is outside the court's jurisdiction. COMMAND refers to the power that someone (such as a military officer) has to make decisions and to force people to behave in a desired way. • He was given command of the regiment. DOMINION is a formal word that stresses the greatest or highest power or authority. • The country no longer has dominion over the island.

²power verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing

1 [+ obj] : to supply (something) with power — usually used as (be) powered • The entire village is powered by wind. — see also POWERED

2 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to move with great speed or force [no obj] The running back powered through the defensive line. — often used figuratively • The band powered through a number of new songs before playing some of their classics. [+ obj] He powered the ball past the goalie. • She powered her way to the finish line.

power up [phrasal verb] power up (something) or power (something) up : to make (a machine) ready for use by supplying it with electricity • I powered up [=started up, turned on] the computer.

³power adj, always used before a noun

1 : of or relating to electrical power • a power supply/source/failure/outage • Someone from the power [=electric] company called. • Power lines [=wires that carry electricity] run along the west side of the street.

2 : operated by using electricity rather than a person's strength • a power drill/saw • power tools • The car comes equipped with power windows.

3 : having great strength or power • a power running back • a power pitcher

4 a : involving important people who meet to discuss business or political affairs • a power breakfast/lunch b of clothing : having a formal or impressive quality that is meant to make you look powerful and important • a power suit • (US) He was wearing a red power tie.

power-assisted steering noun [noncount] : POWER STEERING power base noun, pl ~ bases [count] : the area or group of people that provides the main support for a particular political candidate • Both candidates are doing whatever they can to raise money from their power bases. • Most of her power base is in the city.

pow-er-boat /'pawə,bout/ noun, pl -boats [count] : MOTORBOAT; especially : SPEEDBOAT power broker noun, pl ~ -kers [count] : a person who has a lot of influence and control in a particular activity (such as politics)

power cut noun, pl ~ cuts [count] Brit : OUTAGE pow-ered /'pawəd/ adj : operated by a specified kind of power • electrically powered vehicles — usually used in combination • nuclear-powered submarines • a battery-powered motor — see also HIGH-POWERED power forward noun, pl ~ -wards [count] basketball : a forward whose size and strength are used mainly to control play near the basket pow-er-ful /'pawəfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having the ability to control or influence people or things • rich and powerful people • a powerful ally • The country is becoming more and more powerful.

2 : having a strong effect on someone or something • powerful drugs that attack cancer cells • The cash bonus provides a powerful incentive to workers. • powerful emotions/images • The perfume has a powerful smell. • It's a very powerful movie. • He gave a powerful [=moving] speech. • a powerful [=convincing, compelling] argument

3 : having or producing a lot of physical strength or force • powerful magnets • a powerful machine/motor/force • The dog has a powerful body. • She has a powerful voice. • The weapons are very powerful. • The aardvark uses its powerful claws to dig for food.

4 : capable of doing many things in a fast and efficient way • His new computer is more powerful than the one I have.

the powerful : powerful people • the weak and the powerful — pow-er-ful-ly adv • a powerfully built man [=a man with a body that looks very strong] • a powerfully written speech/book pow-er-house /'pawə,haus/ noun, pl -hous-es [count]

1 : a group of people or an organization that has a lot of power • The country is an economic powerhouse. • Their company became a powerhouse in the video game industry.

2 : a person, team, etc., that has a lot of energy, strength, and skill • an intellectual powerhouse • She's a powerhouse on the tennis court. • This year's team is a powerhouse that's winning its games easily. • a powerhouse gymnast
3 chiefly US : someone or something that is full of a particular thing • Seaweed is a powerhouse of vitamins and minerals. • He is a powerhouse of ideas.

pow·er·less /'paʊələs/ adj : having no power : unable to do something or to stop something • powerless victims • She felt powerless [=helpless] lying in the hospital bed. — often + against • He felt powerless against the rumors that people were spreading about him. — often followed by to + verb • Studies show that people are not powerless to prevent heart disease.

— pow·er·less·ness noun [noncount]

power of attorney noun, pl powers of attorney law

1 [count, noncount] : the right to act and make decisions for another person in business and legal matters • Mrs. Flagg gave her son (a) power of attorney over all her accounts when she entered the nursing home.

2 [count] : a document that gives someone the right of power of attorney power pack noun, pl ~ packs [count] : a small case that contains the power supply for an electronic device power plant noun, pl ~ plants [count] US : a building or group of buildings in which electricity for a large area is produced — called also power station

power play noun, pl ~ plays [count] US

1 ice hockey : a situation in which one team has more players on the ice than the other team for a period of time because of a penalty • They scored their first goal on a power play.

2 : an attempt by a person, group, or organization to use power in a forceful and direct way to get or do something • He made a power play to seize control of the company.

power point noun, pl ~ points [count] Brit : OUTLET 4 power politics noun [noncount] : politics based on the use of military or economic power to influence the actions and decisions of other governments power steering noun [noncount] : a steering system in cars that uses power from the engine to make it easier to turn the steering wheel — called also power-assisted steering power strip noun, pl ~ strips [count] US : an electrical device that has a series of outlets attached to a cord with a plug on one end — see picture at COMPUTER power structure noun, pl ~ -tures [count] US : a group of people who have control of a government, organization, etc., or the way in which those people are organized • The parade won't happen without the approval of the city's power structure. • Women in the company are struggling for equality against the male power structure. • They are making changes to the power structure of the church/university.

power trip noun, pl ~ trips [count] : an activity or way of behaving that makes a person feel powerful : something that a person does for the pleasure of using power to control other people • She's been on a power trip since she was promoted to manager.

power walk verb ~ walks; ~ walked; ~ walking [no obj] : to walk quickly for exercise especially while carrying or wearing weights

— power walking noun [noncount]

pow·wow /'paʊ,waʊ/ noun, pl -wows [count]

1 : a social gathering of Native Americans that usually includes dancing

2 informal : a meeting for people to discuss something • We'll talk about vacation plans at the family powwow.

pox /'pɑ:ks/ noun

1 [singular] : a disease that causes a rash on the skin — see also CHICKEN POX

2 [noncount] old-fashioned a : SYPHILIS b : SMALLPOX

3 [singular] old-fashioned + humorous — used to say that you hope something bad will happen to someone or something • A pox on all who don't believe me!

poxy /'pɑ:ksi/ adj, always used before a noun, Brit slang : not important : having little value • a poxy job

pp abbr 1 pp. pages • The article is on pp. 22–27. 2 per person • The tickets are $55 pp. 3 Brit by proxy ♦ This abbreviation is used before a person's name on a document to show that the signature is not of that person but of a person who has signed the document with the other person's permission. 4 pianissimo

PPO /,pi:pi:'ou/ noun, pl PPOs [count] US : an organization that provides health care to people at a lower cost if they use the doctors, hospitals, etc., that belong to the organization • I'm not sure if that doctor belongs to my PPO. ♦ PPO is an abbreviation of “preferred provider organization.” — compare HMO

PPS abbr an additional postscript — used before a second note that is added to the end of a letter after the writer has signed it; compare PS

¹PR /'pi:'ɑ:/ noun [noncount] : PUBLIC RELATIONS • a job in PR — often used before another noun • a PR agency/firm/representative

²PR abbr 1 proportional representation 2 Puerto Rico

prac·ti·ca·ble /'præktikəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : able to be done or used • There's no practicable [=feasible] way to do the experiment with the current technology. • The idea is interesting but not practicable, I'm afraid. • Someday it may be practicable [=possible] to efficiently use waste as fuel.

— prac·ti·ca·bil·i·ty /,præktikə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • To be honest, I doubt the practicability of the idea. — prac·ti·ca·bly /'præktikəbli/ adv

¹prac·ti·cal /'præktikəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : relating to what is real rather than to what is possible or imagined • We can speculate about the future, but on a more practical level, we have to admit that we simply don't know what will happen. • An engineer will address the design's practical problems. • She has a lot of practical experience in dealing with these kinds of problems. • The practical [=actual] effect of the change has been very slight. — opposite THEORETICAL

2 a : likely to succeed and reasonable to do or use • The books suggests some practical ways to save money. • practical solutions to complicated problems • He thinks wind can be a practical source of renewable energy. b : appropriate or suited for actual use • The machine is too big to be practical for most private homes. • The shoes are nice, but they're not very practical. c : relating to what can or should be done in an actual situation • The book is a practical guide to car care. • He gave me some practical advice/help on finding a job. • One of the practical advantages of living in the city is that you have access to public transportation. • I have enough practical knowledge of German to get by. d : logical and reasonable in a particular situation • We could try to continue, but it's more practical to start over. • We left early for practical reasons—there's less traffic then and it's cooler.

3 of a person a : tending to make good decisions and to deal with daily life in a sensible way • He is a very practical person with no interest in expensive cars or clothes. • Try to be more practical about money. b : good at making or repairing things • My husband is not very practical around the house.

for (all) practical purposes — used to say that one thing has the same effect or result as something else • His effort to hide the document was, for practical purposes [=in effect], an admission that he had made a mistake. • During the blizzard, the town was, for all practical purposes [=virtually, practically], shut down.

²practical noun, pl -cals [count] chiefly Brit : an examination in which students have to do or make something to show what they have learned • We have our zoology practicals next week.

prac·ti·cal·i·ty /,præktɪ'kæləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : the quality of being likely to succeed and reasonable to do or use • Panelists will debate the practicality of wind as a source of renewable energy.

2 [noncount] : the quality of being appropriate or suited for actual use • The size of the machine makes me doubt its practicality [=suitability] for use in the home. • I know you like the dressy shoes better than the sneakers, but I think you should choose based on practicality, not style.

3 [noncount] : the quality of being sensible in making decisions and dealing with the problems of daily life • His optimism and practicality make him a skilled businessman.

4 practicalities [plural] : the facts about something : the real things that have to be done or dealt with in a particular situation — usually + of • New teachers often find the practicalities [=realities] of teaching very different from the theories they learned in college.

practical joke noun, pl ~ jokes [count] : a joke involving something that is done rather than said : a trick played on someone • One of the children filled the sugar bowl with salt as a practical joke.

— practical joker noun, pl ~ -kers [count]

prac-ti-cal-ly /'præktikli/ adv

1 : almost or nearly • Practically [=virtually] everyone went to the game. • The room's ceiling was so low that we practically had to crawl. • I talk to him practically everyday. • The project is practically complete. • Football is practically a religion in some places.

2 [more ~; most ~] : in a way that is reasonable or logical : in a practical way • We need to discuss the issue practically [=sensibly] before we make any decisions. • Practically speaking, Alaska is too far to go for just a few days.

practical nurse noun, pl ~ nurses [count] US : a nurse who cares for sick people but does not have as much training or experience as a registered nurse — compare REGISTERED NURSE; see also LICENSED PRACTICAL NURSE

¹prac-tice (US) or Brit prac-tise /'præktəs/ verb -tic-es; -ticed; -tic-ing

1 : to do something again and again in order to become better at it [no obj] To be a good musician, you have to practice a lot. [+ obj] Have you been practicing your lines for the play? • She had to practice flying in various weather conditions before she could get her pilot's license.

2 [+ obj] : to do (something) regularly or constantly as an ordinary part of your life • He practices yoga daily. • The monks practice celibacy. • Grandmother taught us to practice good manners. • Practice what you preach—don't smoke if you tell your children not to smoke.

3 [+ obj] : to live according to the customs and teachings of (a religion) • Their family practices Buddhism. • a practicing Catholic

4 : to have a professional medical or legal business [+ obj] My cousin plans to practice medicine/law/dentistry. [=plans to be a doctor/lawyer/dentist] [no obj] There are thousands of lawyers practicing in this city. • a practicing physician

²practice noun, pl -tices

1 a [noncount] : the activity of doing something again and again in order to become better at it • Being a good musician takes a lot of practice. • I'm sure you'll learn your lines for the play with enough practice. • They'll get better with practice. • If you want to be a good musician, you have to stay in practice. [=you have to practice enough to improve and keep your skills] • I used to be pretty good at playing the piano, but I'm out of practice now. [=I haven't practiced so my skills are not as good as they were] • If you want to be a good writer, you should write every day. Remember, practice makes perfect. [=you become better at something if you practice it often] • b : a regular occasion at which you practice something [noncount] I'm late for trumpet/ballet/soccer practice. • The marching band has/holds practice every Wednesday afternoon. [count] The team's practices usually last two hours. — often used before another noun • The team was on the practice field at dawn. • a practice session

2 : something that is done often or regularly [count] She has made a practice of volunteering at a homeless shelter one weekend a month. • It is his practice [=habit] to read the newspaper each morning. • The company has been accused of unfair labor practices. [=of treating its workers unfairly] • The country's poor sanitation practices have led to widespread disease. • Burial practices vary around the world. [noncount] It is common practice among my friends to not use capital letters in e-mail. • It's good practice [=it is wise; it is a good idea] to always carry a few dollars in cash. • Letting the car get/run very low on fuel is bad practice. [=is a bad/unwise thing to do]

3 [noncount] : the action of doing or using something • the theory and practice of teaching • the practice of law/medicine • Her advice is good, but it's hard to put into practice. [=to use it in actual situations] • He worked on a farm during the summer to put his knowledge of agriculture into practice.

4 [count] : a professional medical or legal business • a pharmacist's practice • Her law practice is in the downtown area. — see also FAMILY PRACTICE, GROUP PRACTICE, PRIVATE PRACTICE in practice — used to say what is actually done or what the actual effect or result of something is • The software is designed to block pornographic Web sites, but in practice [=in reality], it blocks many other sites as well. • In actual practice, people sometimes forget to take their medication.

practiced (US) or Brit practised adj

1 : good at doing something because you have done it many times • a practiced chef • Only a few of the dancers are practiced in traditional ballet. • The diamonds may look identical to you and me, but to a practiced eye [=someone who has a lot of knowledge and experience with diamonds], one is obviously a fake.

2 always used before a noun : learned by doing something again and again • He split the log with practiced skill.

prac-ti-cum /'præktikəm/ noun, pl -cums [count] US : a course of study for teachers, doctors, nurses, etc., that involves actually working in the area of study and using the knowledge and skills that have been learned in a school

prac-ti-tion-er /præk'tɪʃənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] formal

1 : a person who works in a professional medical or legal business • a health practitioner • legal practitioners — see also FAMILY PRACTITIONER, GENERAL PRACTITIONER, MEDICAL PRACTITIONER, NURSE PRACTITIONER

2 : a person who regularly does an activity that requires skill or practice • yoga practitioners — often + of • practitioners of the art of glassblowing prag-mat-ic /præg'mætɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : dealing with the problems that exist in a specific situation in a reasonable and logical way instead of depending on ideas and theories • a pragmatic [=practical] approach to health care • His pragmatic view of public education comes from years of working in city schools. • a pragmatic leader — prag-mat-i-cal-ly /præg'mætɪkli/ adv • She approaches problems pragmatically.

prag-mat-ics /præg'mætɪks/ noun [noncount] linguistics : the study of what words mean in particular situations prag-ma-tism /'prægmə,tɪzəm/ noun [noncount] formal : a reasonable and logical way of doing things or of thinking about problems that is based on dealing with specific situations instead of on ideas and theories • The right person for the job will balance vision with pragmatism.

— prag-ma-tist /'prægmətɪst/ noun, pl -tists [count]

prai-rie /'preri/ noun, pl -ries : a large, mostly flat area of land in North America that has few trees and is covered in grasses [count] Millions of buffalo once roamed the prairies. [noncount] The train tracks extend over miles of prairie. — often used before another noun • prairie grasses/flowers

prairie dog noun, pl ~ dogs [count] : a small animal that lives on the prairies of the central and western U.S. — see picture at RODENT

¹praise /'preɪz/ verb prais-es; praised; prais-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say or write good things about (someone or something) : to express approval of (someone or something) • Critics praised her as both an actor and director. • He praised her cooking. • A good teacher praises students when they do well. • His poems praise nature. — opposite CRITICIZE

2 : to express thanks to or love and respect for (God) • We praise God for your safe arrival. • Praise Allah that you are safe! [=I thank Allah that you are safe] • People gather in churches to praise the Lord.

praise (someone or something) to the skies : to praise someone or something very much • Critics have praised the play to the skies.

²praise noun, pl praises

1 : spoken or written words about the good qualities of someone or something : an expression of approval for someone or something [noncount] He deserves praise for the way he's handled this crisis. • He won critical praise [=acclaim] for his performance. • "Good job" is high praise coming from her. She rarely compliments anyone's work. • I have nothing but praise for the hospital staff. • The poem is in praise of nature. [=the poem praises nature] [plural] The critics heaped praises on her performance. = The critics sang the praises of her performance. = The critics sang her praises. [=the critics praised her performance in a very enthusiastic way]

2 : an expression of thanks to or love and respect for God [plural] People gathered in the church to sing praises to the Lord. [noncount] hymns/songs of praise • You made it here safely. Praise be to God! [=thank God] • We were not, praise be [=thankfully], required to join hands and sing songs.

damn with faint praise see ²DAMN

praise-wor-thy /'preɪz,wəði/ adj : deserving praise : worthy of praise • praiseworthy efforts to develop an AIDS vaccine

pra-line /'pra:lɪn/ noun, pl -lines [count, noncount] : a candy made of nuts and boiled sugar

pram /'præm/ noun, pl prams [count] Brit : BABY CARRIAGE

prance /'præns/ verb pranc-es; pranced; pranc-ing [no obj]

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to walk or move in a lively and proud way • The singer pranced around on stage. • The little boy pranced across the room in his cowboy costume.

2 of a horse : to move by taking high steps : to lift each hoof up high when moving prang /'præŋ/ verb prangs; pranged; prang-ing [+ obj] Brit, informal : to damage (a vehicle) in an accident • She pranged her car.

— prang noun, pl prangs [count] • a minor prang [=accident] in a car park prank /'præŋk/ noun, pl pranks [count] : a trick that is done to someone usually as a joke • a childish prank • He enjoys playing pranks on his friends. • (US) He's always pulling pranks.

prank-ster /'præŋkstə/ noun, pl -sters [count] : a person who plays pranks on other people prat /'præt/ noun, pl prats [count] Brit, informal : a stupid or foolish person • He acts like a real prat sometimes.

prate /'preɪt/ verb prates; prat-ed; prat-ing [no obj] : to talk for a very long about something that is not very important or interesting • She kept prating (on) about what she did over the weekend.

prat-fall /'præt,fɑ:l/ noun, pl -falls [count]

1 : a sudden fall in which you end up sitting on the ground • He slipped and took a pratfall into the mud.

2 : an embarrassing mistake or accident • a politician who's known for his verbal pratfalls [=blunders]

prat-tle /'præt-/ verb prattles; prattled; prattling [no obj] : to talk for very long about something that is not important or interesting • They prattled on into the night, discussing school, music, and friends.

— prattle noun [noncount] • I was tired of listening to their prattle.

prawn /'pra:n/ noun, pl prawns [count]

1 a US : a large shrimp b Brit : SHRIMP

2 : a small lobster with long, slender claws

pray /'preɪ/ verb prays; prayed; pray-ing

1 a : to speak to God especially in order to give thanks or to ask for something [no obj] praying to God/Allah daily • There's little else to do now but hope and pray. • The minister said, "Let us pray." — often + for • We prayed (to God) for their safe return. • pray for forgiveness [+ obj] The family prayed (to God) that she wouldn't need surgery. • He prayed that they would have the strength to go on. b : to hope or wish very much for something to happen [no obj] — usually + for • She's praying [=hoping] for a chance to play in the game. [+ obj] He prayed that he would find a parking spot.

2 [+ obj] old-fashioned : to seriously ask (someone) to do something • I pray [=beg] you, tell me where they went. • I pray you be careful. [=please be careful] — used to introduce a question or request in a polite or deliberately old-fashioned way • Pray be careful. • Pray [=please] tell me what to do. • Why should I trust them, pray tell? [=tell me why I should trust them; I do not think that they should be trusted]

prayer /'preə/ noun, pl prayers

1 [count] a : words spoken to God especially in order to give thanks or to ask for something • Father said a prayer, and then we began to eat. • She told the children to say their prayers before they went to sleep. • We've been praying for her safe return, and now our prayers have been answered. = We've been praying for her safe return, and now God has answered our prayers. [=she has returned safely] — often + for • a prayer for peace • I'm very nervous about the surgery. Will you say a prayer for me? b : a fixed set of words that are spoken to God • a prayer of thanksgiving • We joined hands and recited the prayer together. • a book of hymns and prayers — see also LORD'S PRAYER

2 [noncount] : the act of speaking to God : the act of praying • The people were kneeling in prayer. • a moment of silent prayer

3 [count] : a strong hope or wish • It's our prayer that peace will come to the region soon. • The house seemed like the answer to all my prayers. [=the house had everything that I hoped for]

4 prayers [plural] : a meeting at which people pray together • Refreshments will be served following morning prayers.

5 [singular] informal : a slight chance of doing or getting something — usually used in negative statements • No one thought the team had a prayer (of winning). • "Do you think he'll get the job?" "No. He doesn't have a prayer."

on a wing and a prayer see ¹WING prayer book noun, pl ~ books [count] : a book that contains prayers and other writings used in church services prayer-ful /'preəfəl/ adj, formal

1 [more ~; most ~] : tending to pray often : DEVOUT • a prayerful man

2 : involving prayer • They gave their prayerful support to the victims of the tragedy.

— prayer-ful-ly adv

prayer rug noun, pl ~ rugs [count] : a small rug that Muslims kneel on when they pray — called also prayer mat

prayer shawl noun, pl ~ shawls [count] : a shawl that is worn over the head or shoulders by Jewish men especially during morning prayers prayer wheel noun, pl ~ wheels [count] : a round container that is filled with prayers written on paper and that turns on a tall pole ♦ Prayer wheels are used by Tibetan Buddhists.

praying mantis noun, pl ~ mantises [count] : a large insect that eats other insects by holding them in its raised front legs — called also mantis; see color picture on page C10

pre- /'pri:/ prefix

1 : earlier than : before • prehistoric • preseason

2 : in advance • prepay

preach /'pri:tʃ/ verb preach-es; preached; preach-ing

1 : to make a speech about religion in a church or other public place : to deliver a sermon [no obj] Have you ever heard that minister preach? • The minister preached to the congregation about/on the need for tolerance. [+ obj] His followers listened to him preach the gospel. • The priest preached a regular sermon that Sunday.

2 : to write or speak about (something) in an approving way : to say that (something) is good or necessary [+ obj] Some people have begun to complain about the project delays, but the mayor continues to preach patience. [=to say that people should be patient] • Although he once preached revolution [=said that there should be a revolution], he now claims to be a man of peace. • Their mother has always preached the value/virtues of a good education. • Practice what you preach—don't smoke if you tell your children not to smoke. [no obj] The mayor continues to preach about the need for patience.

3 [no obj] : to write or speak in an annoying way about the right way to behave • It's important to give teenagers helpful advice without preaching (to/at them). • I don't like being preached at/to about how I should live my life.

preach to the choir (chiefly US) or preach to the converted : to speak for or against something to people who already agree with your opinions • The speeches he makes to his supporters won't win him any more votes. He's just preaching to the choir.

preach-er /'pri:tʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person who speaks publicly about religious subjects in a Christian church or other public place

preachy /'pri:tʃi/ adj preach-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal + disapproving : trying to teach something (such as proper or moral behavior) in a way that is annoying or unwanted • We were put off by the speaker's preachy tone. • a boring and preachy writer

pre-ad-o-les-cent /,pri:ædə'lesnt/ adj : of or relating to the period of life before a child begins to develop into an adult : of or relating to the period of life before adolescence • preadolescent boys/girls • my preadolescent interests

— pre-ad-o-les-cence /,pri:ædə'lesns/ noun [noncount]

— preadolescent noun, pl -scents [count] • Is this movie appropriate for preadolescents?

pre-am-ble /'pri:æmbəl/ noun, pl -am-bles somewhat formal

1 : a statement that is made at the beginning of something (such as a legal document) and usually gives the reasons for the parts that follow [count] The preamble to the U.S. Constitution begins by saying "We the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, . . ." [non-count] He told us the news without preamble. [=without saying anything else first]

2 [count] : something that comes before and leads to something else • His early travels were just a preamble to his later adventures.

pre-ap-prove /,pri:jə'pru:v/ verb -proves; -proved; -prov-ing [+ obj] : to say that you will say yes to (someone or something) when a final or official request is made : to approve (someone or something) in advance • The bank has preapproved our loan. = The bank has preapproved us for a loan. = We've been/gotten preapproved for a loan.

— pre-ap-prov-al /,pri:jə'pru:vəl/ noun [noncount] — pre- approved adj • Participants in the program can purchase certain preapproved medications at a discounted price.

pre-ar-range /ˌpriːjə'reɪndʒ/ verb -rang-es; -ranged; -rang-ing [+ obj] : to plan or decide (something) before it happens : to arrange (something) in advance • The details of the ceremony were carefully prearranged.

— prearranged adj • They met at a prearranged time and place. • a prearranged meeting — pre-ar-range-ment /ˌpriːjə'reɪndʒmənt/ noun, pl -ments [noncount] They met by prearrangement at the restaurant. [count] There's no need to make prearrangements.

pre-cal-cu-lus /ˌpriː'kælkjələs/ noun [noncount] US : an introductory course that prepares students for the study of calculus • She is taking precalculus this semester.

— precalculus adj, always used before a noun • a precalculus course • precalculus students

pre-can-cer-ous /ˌpriː'kænsərəs/ adj, medical : likely to become cancerous • a precancerous growth/lesion

pre-car-i-ous /ˌpriː'keriəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : not safe, strong, or steady • He earned a precarious livelihood/living by gambling. • She was in a state of precarious [=delicate] health. • The government is in a precarious position. [=a dangerous position that must be dealt with carefully] • The strong wind almost knocked him off of his precarious perch on the edge of the cliff.

— pre-car-i-ous-ly adv • The vase was placed precariously close to the edge of the table. — pre-car-i-ous-ness noun [noncount] pre-cast /ˌpriː'kæst, Brit ˌpriː'kɑːst/ adj, technical : made into shapes that are ready to be used to build something • The wall is built with precast concrete panels.

pre-cau-tion /ˌpriː'kɑːʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : something that is done to prevent possible harm or trouble from happening in the future • Be sure to follow the usual safety precautions when cooking outdoors. • When driving, she always wears her seatbelt as a precaution. • Every home owner should take precautions against fire. • She took the precaution of packing extra medicine for the trip.

— pre-cau-tion-ary /ˌpriː'kɑːʃənəri, Brit ˌpriː'kɑːʃənri/ adj • The beaches were closed as a precautionary measure.

pre-cede /ˌpriː'siːd/ verb -cedes; -ced-ed; -ced-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal

1 : to happen, go, or come before (something or someone) • Riots preceded the civil war. • She preceded him into the room. • The country became more conservative in the years that preceded his election. • The new mayor is very different from the person who preceded her in office. • The meeting was preceded by a brief welcoming speech. — see also PRECEDING

2 : to do or say something before (something) • The chairman preceded the meeting with a brief welcoming speech.

pre-ce-dence /ˌpresədəns/ noun [noncount] somewhat formal : the condition of being more important than something or someone else and therefore coming or being dealt with first • The guests were introduced in order of precedence. [=the most important guests were introduced first] • The safety of the children has/takes precedence over [=is more important than] everything else. • Many small businesses complain that the government's policies give precedence to large corporations. [=treat large corporations as more important]

pre-ced-ent /ˌpresədənt/ noun, pl -dents somewhat formal

1 : a similar action or event that happened at an earlier time [count] There are no precedents for these events. [=nothing like these events has ever happened before] [noncount] There isn't any precedent for these events. = These events are without precedent.

2 : something done or said that can be used as an example or rule to be followed in the future [count] The judge's ruling was based on a precedent established by an earlier decision. • He says that the government will set/establish a dangerous precedent if it refuses to allow the protesters to hold a rally. [noncount] The judge's ruling was based/founded on legal precedent.

3 [noncount] : the usual or traditional way of doing something • The voters broke (with) precedent [=they did something that had not been done before] when they elected a woman to the position.

pre-ced-ing /ˌpriː'siːdɪŋ/ adj : existing, happening, or coming before : PREVIOUS • The preceding week he had been on vacation. • the preceding year • the preceding chapter pre-cept /ˌpriːsept/ noun, pl -cepts formal : a rule that says how people should behave [count] the basic/moral precepts of a religion [noncount] I was taught by precept and by example.

pre-cinct /ˌpriːsɪŋkt/ noun, pl -cincts [count]

1 US : any one of the sections that a town or city is divided into when people vote in an election • an electoral precinct

2 US a : any one of the sections that a city is divided into for organizing the city's police forces • a police precinct • a precinct captain/station b : a police station of a precinct • She was taken to the (police) precinct for questioning.

3 Brit : an area in a town or city where people may walk and vehicles are not allowed • a pedestrian/shopping precinct

4 : the area that is near or around a place — usually plural; often + of • within the precincts of the college — sometimes used figuratively • the private precincts of the heart/mind

¹pre-cious /ˌpreʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : rare and worth a lot of money • diamonds and other precious stones • precious jewels/jewelry ♦ A precious metal is an expensive metal (such as gold) that is used especially for jewelry. — see also SEMIPRECIOUS

2 : very valuable or important : too valuable or important to be wasted or used carelessly • We can save precious time by taking this shortcut. • They were able to be together for only a few precious hours/days. • precious resources

3 : greatly loved, valued, or important • precious memories • the family's most precious moments • a very precious [=dear] friend

4 US, informal : having a very pleasing and usually youthful appearance or quality : CUTE • Aren't those children precious?

5 formal + disapproving : having a too careful, precise, or polite quality that seems false or annoying • The sometimes precious writing makes the book difficult to read. • precious manners

— pre-cious-ly adv • a somewhat preciously written book • We have preciously [=precious] little time left. — pre-cious-ness noun [noncount] • The preciousness of the writing annoys me.

²precious adv : very or extremely • She had precious little to say. • There are precious few hours of sunlight left.

prec-i-pice /ˌpresəpəs/ noun, pl -pic-es [count]

1 : a very steep side of a mountain or cliff • He stood on the edge of the precipice.

2 : a point where danger, trouble, or difficulty begins — usually singular • He is on the precipice of a midlife crisis. • The company is now on the edge of a precipice. [=the company is close to a very bad or dangerous situation]

¹pre-cip-i-tate /ˌpriː'sɪpəteɪt/ verb -tates; -tat-ed; -tat-ing

1 [+ obj] formal : to cause (something) to happen quickly or suddenly • Her death precipitated a family crisis. • The budget problem was precipitated by many unexpected costs.

2 technical a [no obj] : to become separated from a liquid especially by a chemical process • minerals that precipitate from seawater b [+ obj] : to cause (something solid) to become separated from a liquid especially by a chemical process • precipitate minerals from seawater

— precipitating adj • precipitating events/factors [=events/factors that cause something to happen]

²pre-cip-i-tate /ˌpriː'sɪpətət/ noun, pl -tates [count] technical : a solid substance that is separated from a liquid especially by a chemical process

³pre-cip-i-tate /ˌpriː'sɪpətət/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : happening very quickly or too quickly without enough thought or planning • a precipitate [=precipitous] attack/decision

— pre-cip-i-tate-ly adv • He says the police acted precipitately in making the arrest.

pre-cip-i-ta-tion /ˌpriː'sɪpəteɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : water that falls to the ground as rain, snow, etc. • The weather forecast calls for some sort of frozen precipitation tomorrow—either snow or sleet. • a 50 percent chance of precipitation

2 [count, noncount] technical : the process of separating a solid substance from a liquid • Minerals are separated from the seawater by precipitation.

pre-cip-i-tous /ˌpriː'sɪpətəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : very steep • a precipitous slope

2 : happening in a very quick and sudden way • There has been a precipitous decline/drop in home sales recently. • People were shocked by his precipitous fall from political power.

3 : done too quickly and without enough thought or planning • a precipitous [=precipitate] action

— pre-cip-i-tous-ly adv • The slope dropped away precipitously. • Home sales are declining/dropping precipitously.

— pre-cip-i-tous-ness noun [noncount]

pré-cis /prei'si:/ noun, pl pré-cis /prei'si:z/ [count] : a brief summary of the main points and ideas of a piece of writing or speech • a précis of the book's plot

— précis verb -cis-es /prei'si:z/; -cised; -cis-ing [+ obj] Brit • She is skilled at précising complex theories.

pre-cise /pri'sais/ adj

1 a [more ~; most ~] : very accurate and exact • Be sure to take precise measurements before you cut the cloth. • The dating of very old materials has become more precise with new instruments. • a precise definition • The word has a very precise meaning. • Can you find a more precise term than "good" to describe the movie? • Could you be a little more precise about what happened? b always used before a noun — used to refer to an exact and particular time, location, etc. • She quietly closed the door to the baby's room, and at just that precise moment the phone began to ring.

2 [more ~; most ~] : very careful and exact about the details of something • She is very precise in her work.

to be precise — used to indicate that a statement is accurate and specific • one night in early summer—June 22, to be precise

— pre-cise-ly adv • It is precisely [=exactly] two o'clock. • He knows precisely how much money he has. • "Do you mean that the system is outdated?" "Precisely." = "Yes, that's precisely what I mean." • The king was popular precisely because he was so kind and generous. • I have a doctor's appointment this afternoon, or, more precisely, at two o'clock this afternoon. — pre-cise-ness noun [noncount] • the preciseness of the measurements • She does her work with preciseness. [=precision]

¹pre-ci-sion /pri'si:ʒən/ noun [noncount] : the quality of being precise : exactness or accuracy • I admire the precision of her work. — often used after with • The work was done with surgical precision. [=was done in a very precise way] • The cause of the fire cannot be determined with any (degree of) precision.

²precision adj, always used before a noun

1 : designed for very accurate measurement or operation • a precision instrument

2 : done in a very careful and exact way • precision drilling • The airplane made a precision approach for landing.

pre-clude /pri'klu:d/ verb -cludes; -clud-ed; -clud-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to make (something) impossible : to prevent (something) from happening • She suffered an injury that precluded the possibility of an athletic career. • Bad weather precluded any further attempts to reach the summit.

2 : to prevent (someone) from doing something — + from • The injury precluded her from having an athletic career.

pre-co-cious /pri'kouʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] of a child : having or showing the qualities or abilities of an adult at an unusually early age • She was a precocious child who could read before she went to school. • A precocious musician, he was giving concerts when he was seven.

— pre-co-cious-ly adv • a precociously mature child — pre-co-cious-ness noun [noncount] • the child's precociousness — pre-coc-i-ty /pri'ka:səti/ noun [noncount] • the child's precocity pre-con-celved /pri:kən'si:vd/ adj, always used before a noun : formed before having actual knowledge about something or before experiencing something — often + about or of • I didn't have any preconceived ideas/notions about/of what the job would be like when I first started.

pre-con-cep-tion /pri:kən'sɛpfən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : an idea or opinion that someone has before learning about or experiencing something directly • I came to the lecture without any preconceptions. — often + about or of • He's changing people's preconceptions about/of modern art.

pre-con-di-tion /pri:kən'diʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : something that must exist or happen before something else can exist or happen • An education is an essential/important/necessary precondition [=prerequisite] for getting a good job. • They insist on a guarantee as a precondition of/to the deal.

pre-cook /pri:'kuk/ verb -cooks; -cooked; -cook-ing [+ obj] : to cook (food) partially or entirely at an earlier time • He precooked the chicken before he grilled it. • The pasta should be precooked and allowed to cool. • precooked meals/meats

pre-cur-sor /pri'kəsə/ noun, pl -sors [count] somewhat formal : something that comes before something else and that often leads to or influences its development — often + of or to • Rhythm and blues was a precursor of rock music. • Small tremors may be precursors to big earthquakes.

pre-date /pri:'deɪt/ verb -dates; -dat-ed; -dat-ing [+ obj] : to exist or happen at an earlier time than (something or someone) • modes of transportation that predate the car • the native people who predated European settlers in America — opposite POSTDATE

pre-da-tion /pri'deɪʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : the act of killing and eating other animals : the act of preying on other animals • predation by lions

pred-a-tor /'predətə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 : an animal that lives by killing and eating other animals : an animal that preys on other animals • predators like bears and wolves • The population of rabbits is controlled by natural predators.

2 : a person who looks for other people in order to use, control, or harm them in some way • a sexual predator [=a person who commits sexual crimes against other people] • a corporate predator acquiring business rivals

pred-a-to-ry /'predətori, Brit 'predətri/ adj

1 technical : living by killing and eating other animals • predatory animals/birds/insects

2 [more ~; most ~] : wrongly harming or using others for pleasure or profit • predatory business practices • predatory acts of sexual violence • predatory men/women pre-de-cease /pri:di'si:s/ verb -ceases; -ceased; -ceas-ing [+ obj] formal : to die before (someone) • She was predeceased by her husband. [=her husband died before she did]

pre-de-ces-sor /'predəsesə, Brit 'pri:dəsesə/ noun, pl -sors [count]

1 : a person who had a job or position before someone else • The company's new president has changed many of the policies that were introduced by his predecessor. [=by the previous president] — opposite SUCCESSOR

2 : something that comes before something else • Today's computers are much faster than their predecessors were.

pre-des-ti-na-tion /pri:destə'neɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the belief that everything that will happen has already been decided by God or fate and cannot be changed

pre-des-tined /pri:'destənd/ adj : certain to do or be something or certain to happen • He felt he was predestined [=destined] to marry her when they first met. • The course of her life seemed to be predestined. • a predestined outcome pre-de-ter-mine /pri:də'təmən/ verb -mines; -min-ed; -min-ing [+ obj] : to decide (something) before it happens or in advance • The sex of the child is predetermined when the egg is fertilized.

— predetermined adj • They were to meet at a predetermined time and place. [=a time and place that they had agreed on earlier]

pre-de-ter-min-er /pri:də'təmənə/ noun, pl -ers [count] grammar : a word (such as "both" or "all") that comes before a determiner in a phrase • In the phrase "for all their trouble," the word "their" is a determiner and the word "all" is a predeterminer.

pre-dic-a-ment /pri'dɪkəmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] : a difficult or unpleasant situation • The governor has gotten himself into quite a predicament. • I don't know how to get out of the predicament I'm in.

¹pred-i-cate /'predəkert/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [+ obj] formal : to base (something) on or upon something else — usually used as (be) predicated • His theory is predicated on faulty assumptions.

²pred-i-cate /'predəkət/ noun, pl -cates [count] grammar : the part of a sentence that expresses what is said about the subject • In the sentence "The child threw the ball," the subject is "the child" and the predicate is "threw the ball."

³pred-i-cate /'predəkət/ adj, always used before a noun, grammar : used after a linking verb to describe a noun that comes before the verb • In "the sun is hot," "hot" is a predicate adjective. — compare ATTRIBUTIVE

pred-i-ca-tive /'predəkəti:v, Brit pri'dɪkəti:v/ adj, grammar : ³PREDICATE • a predicative adjective

— pred-i-ca-tive-ly adv

pre-dict /pri'dɪkt/ verb -dicts; -dict-ed; -dict-ing [+ obj]

: to say that (something) will or might happen in the future • All the local forecasters are predicting rain for this afternoon. • She claims that she can predict future events. • It's hard to predict how the election will turn out. • Many people predicted that the store would fail, but it has done very well. • She won the election, as I predicted (she would). • Sales are predicted to be the same as last year.

pre-dict-able /prɪ'dɪktəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : capable of being known before happening or being done • The results of the study were completely predictable. [=the results were exactly what we guessed or expected they would be] • They did their work at a steady and predictable rate. • She writes novels with very predictable plots.

2 : behaving in a way that is expected • I knew he would say that. He's so predictable.

— pre-dict-abil-i-ty /prɪ'dɪktə'bɪləti/ noun [noncount] • We were disappointed by the predictability of the movie.

— pre-dict-ably /prɪ'dɪktəbli/ adv • They work quickly and predictably. • It was a predictably bad movie. [=it was not surprising that the movie was bad] • Predictably [=as you would expect], he denied knowing anything about the scandal.

pre-dic-tion /prɪ'dɪkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a statement about what will happen or might happen in the future • Journalists have begun making predictions about the winner of the coming election. • Despite predictions that the store would fail, it has done very well.

2 [noncount] : the act of saying what will happen in the future : the act of predicting something • The figures and statistics are used for the prediction of future economic trends.

pre-dic-tive /prɪ'dɪktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : making it possible to predict what will happen : useful in the prediction of something • The test does not have much predictive value. • High blood pressure is predictive of future heart problems.

pre-dic-tor /prɪ'dɪktə/ noun, pl -tors [count] formal : something that shows whether or not something is likely to happen : something that is useful in the prediction of something — often + of • High blood pressure can be a strong predictor [=indicator] of future heart problems.

pre-di-lec-tion /ˌprɛdə'lekʃən, Brit ˌprɪ:də'lekʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a natural liking for something : a tendency to do or to be attracted to something • She followed her own predilections. [=she did the things she liked/wanted to do] — often + for • They shared a predilection for adventure stories. • He has a predilection for trouble. [=he often gets into trouble]

pre-dis-pose /ˌprɪ:drɪ'spouz/ verb -pos-es; -posed; -pos-ing [+ obj] formal : to cause (someone) to be more likely to behave in a particular way or to be affected by a particular condition • Past experiences have predisposed her to distrust people. • Researchers have identified a gene that may predispose some people to (develop/developing) the disease. — often used as (be) predisposed • Researchers have determined that some patients are genetically predisposed to (develop/developing) the disease. • He believes that some people are predisposed to/toward criminal behavior.

— pre-dis-po-si-tion /ˌprɪ:drɪspə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] — usually singular • He has a predisposition to be cynical. • patients with a predisposition toward cancer [noncount] She is at risk for breast cancer because of genetic predisposition.

pre-dom-i-nance /prɪ'dɑ:mənəns/ noun

1 [noncount] : the state of being more powerful or important than other people or things • a group of young reformers who have gained/won predominance within the government • The tribe fought to maintain its predominance.

2 [singular] : a situation in which there is a greater number or amount of a particular type of person or thing than of other people or things — often + of • There is a predominance of older people in the neighborhood. [=most of the people in the neighborhood are older]

pre-dom-i-nant /prɪ'dɑ:mənənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : more important, powerful, successful, or noticeable than other people or things • Red is the predominant [=main] color in the painting. • Religion is the predominant theme of the play. • She is predominant among new writers. • Older people are predominant in that neighborhood. [=most of the people in that neighborhood are older]

— pre-dom-i-nant-ly adv • The speech was predominantly [=mainly, primarily] about tax cuts. • The people in that neighborhood are predominantly [=mostly] older.

pre-dom-i-nate /prɪ'dɑ:məneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [no obj]

1 : to be more successful or powerful than other people or things — often + over • One ethnic group predominates over others in that country.

2 : to be greater in number or amount than other types of people or things • Cottages predominate along the beach. [=most of the buildings along the beach are cottages] • Older people predominate in that neighborhood. • Rain predominates [=there is a great deal of rain] in the tropical regions.

pre-dom-i-nant /prɪ'dɑ:mənət/ adj [more ~; most ~] : PREDOMINANT • the predominate color in the painting • the predominate reason for the change

— pre-dom-i-nant-ly /prɪ'dɑ:mənətli/ adv • The people in that neighborhood are predominately [=mostly, predominantly] older.

pre-eclamp-sia /ˌpri:ɪ'klæmpsɪə/ noun [noncount] medical : a serious condition that causes a pregnant women to develop very high blood pressure — called also toxemia

pree-mie /'pri:mi/ noun, pl -mies [count] US, informal : a baby that is born before it has fully developed : a premature baby pre-em-i-nent /pri'ɛmənənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : more important, skillful, or successful than others : better than others • She's the preeminent chef in a city that has many good ones. • The poem is a preeminent example of his work.

— pre-em-i-nence /pri'ɛmənəns/ noun [noncount] • the nation's preeminence in world affairs • military preeminence

pre-em-i-nent-ly /pri'ɛmənəntli/ adv, formal : to a very great degree • He is preeminently qualified for the position.

pre-empt /pri'ɛmpt/ verb -empts; -empt-ed; -empt-ing [+ obj]

1 formal : to prevent (something) from happening • The contract preempts lawsuits by the company's clients.

2 formal : to take the place of (something) • The state law was preempted by a federal law.

3 US : to be shown instead of (another television program) • The President's speech preempted regular programming.

— pre-emp-tion /pri'ɛmpʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] federal preemption of state jurisdiction • Some viewers complained about the preemption of regular programming. [count] preemptions of regular programming

pre-emp-tive /pri'ɛmptɪv/ adj : done to stop an unwanted act by another group, country, etc., from happening • The country took preemptive action against the perceived enemy. • a preemptive attack/strike by the army

— pre-emp-tive-ly adv

preen /'pri:n/ verb preens; preened; preen-ing

1 of a bird : to use the beak to clean and arrange feathers [+ obj] The bird was preening its feathers. = The bird was preening itself. [no obj] The bird was preening.

2 : to make (yourself) neat and tidy [+ obj] She stood preening herself in front of the mirror. [no obj] She stood preening in front of the mirror.

3 disapproving : to act in a way that shows you are very proud about something or pleased with yourself [no obj] The award-winners were preening backstage. [+ obj] They are preening themselves on their success.

pre-ex-ist-ing /ˌpri:ɪg'zɪstɪŋ/ adj : existing at an earlier time : existing before something else • The insurance does not cover preexisting medical conditions. • They made changes to the preexisting law.

pre-ex-is-tent /ˌpri:ɪg'zɪstənt/ adj : PREEXISTING

pre-fab /ˌpri:'fæb/ adj, informal : PREFABRICATED • a prefab home prefab noun, pl -fabs [count] informal : a prefabricated building (such as a house) • The company sells hundreds of prefabs every year.

pre-fab-ri-cated /ˌpri:'fæbrɪ'keɪtəd/ adj : made of parts that are made at a factory and that can be put together later • prefabricated buildings/houses pref-ace /'prɛfəs/ noun, pl -ac-es [count] : an introduction to a book or speech • The book's preface was written by the author.

preface verb -aces; -aced; -ac-ing [+ obj] : to introduce (a piece of writing, a speech, a remark, etc.) by writing or saying something • Each chapter in the book is prefaced by a suitable quotation. [=there is a suitable quotation at the beginning of each chapter] — often + with • She prefaces the book with a short account of what influenced her to write it. • He prefaced his remarks with a short biographical sketch.

pref-a-tory /ˈprɛfəˌtɔːri, Brit ˈprɛfətri/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : included at the beginning of a book, speech, etc., as an introduction • The speaker made some prefatory remarks. • Each chapter in the book has a prefatory quotation.

pre-fect /ˈpriːfɛkt/ noun, pl -fects [count]

1 : a chief officer or government official who is responsible for a particular area in some countries (such as Japan and France)

2 chiefly Brit : an older student who is given the job of helping to watch and control younger students in a school pre-fec-ture /ˈpriːfɛktʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count] : any one of the areas into which some countries (such as Japan and France) are divided for local government : the area that is governed by a prefect

pre-fer /prɪˈfɜː/ verb -fers; -ferred; -fer-ring [+ obj]

1 : to like (someone or something) better than someone or something else • Some people like vanilla ice cream, but I prefer chocolate. • I prefer shopping online. • She tends to prefer small college campuses. • I prefer this dictionary because of its helpful examples. • I would prefer it if you smoked outside. = I would prefer you to smoke outside. • Which one is the preferred alternative? • What is the preferred pronunciation of her name? — often + to or over • He prefers sports to reading. • He prefers a good book to a movie. • She prefers chocolate over vanilla. — often followed by to + verb • I suggested that we play a game, but they preferred to watch TV. • I would prefer not to know about it.

2 law : to make (a charge) against someone in a court of law • They preferred [=brought] charges against him for manslaughter. [=they formally accused him of the crime of manslaughter]

pref-er-a-ble /ˈprɛfrəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : better or more desirable • the preferable choice — often + to • As far as I'm concerned, physical therapy is greatly/infinately preferable to surgery. • The book is far/much preferable to the movie. [=is much better than the movie] pref-er-a-bly /ˈprɛfrəbli/ adv — used to say what is most wanted or preferred • I'd like to have the work done soon, preferably by the end of the week. • Applicants should hold a college degree, preferably with experience in the lab.

pref-er-ence /ˈprɛfrəns/ noun, pl -enc-es

1 : a feeling of liking or wanting one person or thing more than another person or thing [count] Car buyers have recently shown a growing/strong preference for smaller vehicles. • When it comes to music, everyone has their own preferences. [noncount] Some people like small cars and some people like big cars. It's a matter of personal preference. • She listed her favorite restaurants in order of preference. • He has tried not to show preference in giving out jobs.

2 [noncount] : an advantage that is given to some people or things and not to others • The policy of the school is to give preference to minority candidates.

3 [count] : something that is liked or wanted more than another thing : something that is preferred • We could drive to New York, but my (personal) preference is to go by train. [=I would prefer to go by train] • "We could go to an Italian or Chinese restaurant tonight. What's your preference?" "Either one is fine. I don't have a preference."

4 : the sexual feelings that a person has : a person's identity as homosexual, bisexual, or heterosexual [count] people with different (sexual) preferences [=orientations] [noncount] The company claims it does not discriminate on the basis of sexual preference.

in preference to : instead of (something or someone) : rather than (something or someone) • They chose her in preference to me.

pref-er-en-tial /ˌprɛfəˈrɛnʃəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : giving an advantage to a particular person or group • powerful people who demand/get/receive preferential treatment from politicians

— pref-er-en-tial-ly adv • The manager's friends are treated preferentially.

pre-fer-ment /prɪˈfɜːmənt/ noun [noncount] formal : the act of moving someone to a higher or more important position or rank in an organization • He has hopes for preferment.

preferred provider noun, pl ~-ers [count] US : a doctor, hospital, etc., that is part of a PPO preferred provider organization noun, pl ~-tions [count] US : PPO pre-fig-ure /ˌpriːˈfɪgʃə, Brit ˌpriːˈfɪgə/ verb -ures; -ured; -ur-ing [+ obj] formal : to show or suggest (something that will happen or exist at a future time) • His style of painting prefigured the development of modern art.

pre-fix /ˈpriːfɪks/ noun, pl -fix-es [count]

1 : a letter or group of letters that is added at the beginning of a word to change its meaning • Add the prefix "re-" to form the words "retell" and "recall." — compare AFFIX, SUFFIX

2 old-fashioned : a title (such as "Mr." or "Dr.") that is used before a person's name pre-fix /ˌpriːˈfɪks/ verb -fix-es; -fixed; -fix-ing [+ obj] : to add a letter, number, or symbol at the beginning of a word or number • Prefix "un" to "do" to form the word "undo." • The cost of the item was prefixed by/with a dollar sign.

pre-game /ˈpriːˈgeɪm/ adj, always used before a noun, US : happening before the beginning of a sports game • a pre-game interview

preg-nan-cy /ˈpregnənsi/ noun, pl -cies : the condition of a woman or female animal that is going to have a baby or babies : the condition of a pregnant woman or female animal [count] women who have had multiple pregnancies [=women who have been pregnant many times] • an unwanted/unplanned pregnancy [noncount] She's being careful about what she eats during (her) pregnancy. • a pregnancy test [=a medical test to see if a woman is pregnant]

preg-nant /ˈpregnənt/ adj

1 of a woman or female animal : having a baby or babies developing inside the body • pregnant women • She got/became pregnant soon after her marriage. • He got his girlfriend pregnant. [=he caused his girlfriend to become pregnant] — often + with • His wife is pregnant with twins. [=she is going to give birth to twins] • She is pregnant with her first child.

2 formal : filled with meaning or emotion because of what is going to happen or be said • There was a pregnant pause/silence before the winner was announced. — often + with • The moment was pregnant with excitement.

pre-heat /ˌpriːˈhiːt/ verb -heats; -heat-ed; -heat-ing [+ obj] : to heat (an oven) to a particular temperature before putting food to be cooked inside • Preheat the oven to 375 degrees before you put the roast in.

pre-hen-sile /ˌpriːˈhɛnsəl, Brit ˌpriːˈhɛnsajəl/ adj, technical : capable of grabbing or holding something by wrapping around it • The monkey has a prehensile tail. • The elephant has a prehensile trunk.

pre-his-tor-ic /ˌpriːhɪˈstɔːrɪk/ also pre-his-tor-i-cal /ˌpriːhɪˈstɔːrɪkəl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or existing in the time before people could write • prehistoric animals/remains • prehistoric times

2 [more ~; most ~] informal + disapproving : very old or outdated • His attitudes about women are downright prehistoric.

pre-his-to-ry /ˌpriːˈhɪstəri/ noun, pl -to-ries

1 [noncount] : the period of time in the past before people could write : the time before history was written down • We are learning about the prehistory of North America.

2 [count] : the time and events that came before and led to the development of something — usually singular • the pre-history of the Internet pre-judge /ˌpriːˈdʒʌdʒ/ verb -judg-es; -judged; -judg-ing [+ obj] : to form an opinion about (someone or something) before you have enough understanding or knowledge • Officials complain that some reporters have prejudged the outcome of the investigation. • She was wrong for prejudging him.

prej-u-dice /ˈprɛdʒədəs/ noun, pl -dic-es

1 : an unfair feeling of dislike for a person or group because of race, sex, religion, etc. [noncount] The organization fights against racial prejudice. — often + against • evidence of prejudice against women and minorities [count] religious, racial, and sexual prejudices

2 [count] : a feeling of like or dislike for someone or something especially when it is not reasonable or logical • We tend to make these kinds of decisions according to our own prejudices. • He has a prejudice against fast-food restaurants.

prejudice verb -dices; -diced; -dic-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause (someone) to have an unfair feeling of dislike for someone or something • The incident prejudiced [=biased] consumers against the company.

2 formal : to have a harmful effect on (something, such as a legal case) • The defense claims that the media coverage prejudiced the trial. [=damaged the trial so that the result of the trial is not valid] prejudiced adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having or showing an unfair feeling of dislike for a person or group because of race, sex, religion, etc. • a prejudiced person • prejudiced comments • Most Americans deny being prejudiced against people of other races.

2 : having a feeling or like or dislike for something or someone • I was prejudiced against the movie because of its title.

prej·u·di·cial /ˌprɛdʒəˈdɪʃəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : showing an unfair feeling of dislike for a person or group because of race, sex, religion, etc. : showing prejudice • prejudicial feelings

2 formal : causing or likely to cause injury or harm to someone or something • The judge ruled that the prejudicial effect of the evidence outweighed its value. — often + to • The appeals court ruled that the testimony was unfairly prejudicial to the defendant.

pre-K /ˈpriːˈkeɪ/ noun [noncount] US : PREKINDERGARTEN •

Her daughter is in pre-K this year.

pre·kin·der·gar·ten /ˌpriːˈkɪndərˌɡɑːrtən/ noun [count, noncount] US

1 : a class or program that is for children who are usually three or four years old prelate /ˈprelət/ noun, pl -ates [count] formal : a high-ranking Christian priest : a bishop, cardinal, etc.

2 : PRESCHOOL

pre·lim·i·nary /ˌpriːˈlɪməˌneri, Brit ˌpriːˈlɪməˌnəri/ adj : coming before the main part of something • Preliminary findings/studies/tests show that the drug could help patients with skin cancer. • The preliminary [=early] results of the experiment are encouraging. • a preliminary hearing • The team was eliminated in the preliminary round of the tournament. • research that is preliminary to the study preliminary noun, pl -nar-ies [count]

1 : something that comes first in order to prepare for or introduce the main part of something else — often + to • There will be a short briefing about topics to be discussed as a preliminary to the meeting. — usually plural • There were the usual preliminaries before the ceremony.

2 : a game that is played before the main part of a competition to decide which players or teams will be allowed to continue playing — usually plural • the World Cup preliminaries prelude /ˈpreljʊːd/ noun, pl -ludes [count]

1 : something that comes before and leads to something else — usually singular; often + to • The dark clouds were a prelude to the storm. • Drinks and appetizers were offered as a prelude to dinner.

2 : a short piece of music that introduces a longer piece pre·mar·i·tal /ˌpriːˈmerətəl/ adj, always used before a noun : happening before marriage • premarital sex • premarital counseling

pre·ma·ture /ˌpriːməˈtuə, ˌpriːməˈtʃuə, Brit ˈpremətʃə/ adj

1 : happening too soon or earlier than usual • Her premature death at age 30 stunned her family and friends. • Too much exposure to the sun can cause the premature aging of skin. • His retirement seems premature. • It is premature to say [=too soon to say] what the cause of the fire was. • a premature birth

2 : born before the normal time • premature babies • The baby was three weeks premature. [=the baby was born three weeks before it was expected to be born]

— pre·ma·ture·ly adv • She died prematurely. • He was prematurely gray. = His hair went gray prematurely. • The child was born prematurely.

pre·med /ˌpriːˈmed/ noun [noncount] US : a course of study at a college or university that prepares students to enter medical school • She majored in premed.

— premed adj, always used before a noun • premed students/classes pre·med·i·tat·ed /ˌpriːˈmedəˌtɛtəd/ adj : done or made according to a plan : planned in advance • premeditated murder • The attack was premeditated.

pre·men·stru·al /ˌpriːˈmenstrəwəl/ adj : happening just before a woman's menstrual period : before menstruation • premenstrual symptoms premenstrual syndrome noun [noncount] : a condition experienced by some women before menstruation that may include tiredness, irritability, anxiety, depression, headache, and stomach pain — called also (US) PMS, (Brit) PMT, (Brit) premenstrual tension

pre·mier /ˌpriːˈmiə, Brit ˈpremiə/ noun, pl -miers [count] : PRIME MINISTER • the Russian premier

Do not confuse premier with premiere.

premier adj, always used before a noun : most important or best • the city's premier restaurant • a concert by one of the world's premier [=leading] pianists

pre·miere also pre·mière /ˌpriːˈmiə, Brit ˈpremi,ɛə/ noun, pl -mieres also -nières [count] : the first time a film, play, television show, etc., is shown or performed • The movie will have its premiere next week. • We saw the Chicago premiere of the play. [=the first public performance of the play in Chicago] • the world premiere [=the first public performance anywhere in the world] of a new symphony

Do not confuse premiere with premier.

premiere also première verb -mieres also -nières; -miered also -mièred; -mier-ing also -mièr-ing

1 [no obj] of a movie, play, television show, etc. : to be shown or performed for the first time • The movie/play premieres next week.

2 [+ obj] : to show or perform (a movie, play, television show, etc.) for the first time — usually used as (be) premiered • The movie was premiered at a film festival.

pre·mier·ship /ˌpriːˈmiəˌʃɪp, Brit ˈpremiəˌʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships [count] : the job of a prime minister or the period of time when a person is prime minister — usually singular • a businessman who is seeking the premiership [=trying to be elected prime minister] • Her premiership ends this year.

prem·ise /ˈpreməs/ noun, pl -is-es

1 premises [plural] : a building and the area of land that it is on • They were asked to leave the premises. • The company leases part of the premises to smaller businesses. • The premises were searched by the police.

2 also Brit pre·miss [count] formal : a statement or idea that is accepted as being true and that is used as the basis of an argument • He disagreed with her premise. • the basic premises of the argument • a theory based on the simple premise that what goes up must come down off the premises also off premises : away from or outside of a building or on the area of land that it is on • Police escorted her off the premises. • The printing of the books is done off the premises. [=at another place] on the premises also on premises : inside a building or on the area of land that it is on • The hotel has a restaurant on the premises. [=inside the hotel] • No smoking is allowed on the premises.

pre·mised /ˈpreməst/ adj

premised on/upon : based on (a particular idea or belief) • The plan is premised on the belief that people are willing to pay more to use alternative fuel sources.

pre·mi·um /ˌpriːˈmiːjəm/ noun, pl -ums

1 [count] : the price of insurance • Health insurance premiums went up again this year. : the amount paid for insurance • The monthly premium for your health insurance is deducted from your paycheck.

2 [singular] : a price that is higher than the regular price • There is a premium [=higher price] for hotel rooms that have views of the beach. • Many customers are willing to pay a premium for organic vegetables. • Land in the county is selling at a premium. [=for a high price] — see also AT A PREMIUM (below)

3 [singular] : a high or extra value • Publishers put/place a premium on accuracy. [=publishers value accuracy very highly]

at a premium : difficult to get because there is little available • We bought bunk beds because space in the apartment is at a premium. • Overnight delivery is available when time is at a premium. [=when something needs to happen or be done very soon]

premium adj, always used before a noun

1 : high or higher than normal • Customers are willing to pay premium [=high] prices for products that are reliable. • The hotel charges premium [=higher] rates during the summer.

2 : of high or higher than normal quality • premium cigars/gasoline pre·mo·ni·tion /ˌpriːməˈniːʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] : a feeling or belief that something is going to happen when there is no definite reason to believe it will • premonitions of disaster • She had a premonition that he would call.

pre·na·tal /ˌpriːˈneɪtəl/ adj, always used before a noun, medical : relating to pregnant women and their unborn babies • prenatal [= (Brit) antenatal] care/development/testing/diagnosis • prenatal vitamins

— pre·na·tal·ly adv • The baby was tested prenatally for hereditary diseases.

pre-nup /'pri:nʌp/ noun, pl -nups [count] : PRENUPTIAL AGREEMENT

pre-nup-tial agreement /,pri:'nʌpʃəl-/ noun, pl. ~ -ments [count] law : an official agreement that two people make before they marry in which they state how much of each other's property each will receive if they divorce or if one of them dies • Did you sign a prenuptial agreement? [=prenup]

pre-oc-cu-pa-tion /,pri:ˌɑ:kjə'peɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : a state in which you give all your attention to something — usually + with • I don't understand her preoccupation with her appearance.

2 : something that you give all or most of your attention to • We need to better understand the problems and preoccupations of our clients.

pre-oc-cu-pied /,pri:ˌɑ:kjə'paɪd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : thinking about something a lot or too much — often + with • She is too preoccupied with family problems to focus on her work.

pre-oc-cu-py /,pri:ˌɑ:kjə'paɪ/ verb -pies; -pied; -py-ing [+ obj] : to be thought about or worried about by (someone) very often or constantly • The question of life after death has preoccupied many philosophers. • Her family problems continue to preoccupy her. [=she continues to spend a lot of time thinking/worrying about her family problems]

pre-op /'pri:ˌɑ:p/ adj, medical : PREOPERATIVE • a pre-op evaluation/consultation pre-op-er-a-tive /,pri:ˌɑ:prətɪv/ adj, medical : happening before an operation • preoperative assessment/diagnosis/care pre-or-dained /,pri:joə'deɪnd/ adj, formal : decided in advance and certain to happen • a preordained conclusion • Although such an outcome is likely, it is by no means preordained. [=it is not certain] pre-owned /,pri:'oʊnd/ adj : owned by someone else before : previously owned • They sell quality pre-owned [=used, secondhand] cars. • The car is pre-owned.

¹prep /'prep/ verb preps; prepped; prep-ping US, informal : PREPARE: such as a : to make yourself ready for something — usually + for [no obj] She spent all night prepping for the test. [+ obj] The runners are prepping themselves for the race. b [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) ready for something • It took me about 20 minutes to prep the vegetables. — often + for • Teachers spent the week prepping students for the test. • The patient is being prepped for surgery.

²prep noun [noncount] informal

1 US : PREPARATION • Painting a room involves a lot of prep. — usually used before another noun • These recipes require minimal prep time. [=you need only a little time to make these recipes] • college prep courses [=classes that students take to get ready for college]

2 US : PREP SCHOOL — usually used before another noun • prep students [=students who attend a prep school] • prep sports

3 Brit : HOMEWORK

³prep abbr preposition

pre-pack /,pri:'pæk/ verb -packs; -packed; -pack-ing [+ obj] : PREPACKAGE — usually used as (be) prepacked • The sandwiches are prepacked. • prepacked meals pre-pack-age /,pri:'pækəʒ/ verb -ag-es; -aged; -ag-ing [+ obj] : to put (a product) in a package before selling it — usually used as (be) prepackaged • The meals are prepackaged and ready to eat. • prepackaged software • prepackaged salads — sometimes used figuratively • a prepackaged speech [=a speech that is not original or special] prepaid past tense and past participle of PREPAY

prep-a-ra-tion /,prepə'reɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the activity or process of making something ready or of becoming ready for something • The festival involves a lot of preparation. • food/meal preparation • To complete this recipe, plan on about 30 minutes of preparation and 40 minutes of baking. • Plans for the next edition are already in preparation. [=are already being prepared/made] — often + for • Her preparation for the role included training in karate. • The boxer exercised daily in preparation for the fight. [=to prepare for the fight]

2 preparations [plural] : things that are done to make something ready or to become ready for something • The staff is making preparations to move to another building. [=the staff is doing things to become ready to move to another building] • Preparations are under way [=things are being done to become ready] for the move to the new building. — often + for • Preparations for the parade are almost completed. • They are busy with preparations for their wedding.

3 [count] : a substance (such as a cream or lotion) that you use as medicine or to improve your appearance • a vitamin E preparation • skin care preparations pre-pa-ra-to-ry /pri'perə'tori, Brit pri'pærətri/ adj, always used before a noun : used or done to prepare for something • The new employees have begun preparatory [=introductory] training. • There is a lot of preparatory work involved in teaching.

preparatory to formal : as a way of becoming ready for (something) : in preparation for (something) • Preparatory to the job interview, I researched the company.

preparatory school noun, pl ~ schools [count] : PREP SCHOOL

pre-para /pri'peə/ verb -pares; -pared; -par-ing

1 a [+ obj] : to make (someone or something) ready for some activity, purpose, use, etc. • The teacher prepared the students for the test. • Your room is being prepared now and should be ready soon. • The nurses prepared the patient for surgery. • Farmers are busy preparing the soil for planting. b : to make yourself ready for something that you will be doing, something that you expect to happen, etc. [no obj] They'll be arriving soon. We don't have much more time to prepare. — often + for • We don't have much more time to prepare for their arrival. • He prepares for games by studying tapes of the opposing team. • At this time of year, most animals are preparing for winter. [+ obj] We don't have much more time to prepare ourselves for their arrival. • She tried to prepare herself for bad news. • The sailors are preparing themselves for a long voyage.

2 [+ obj] : to make or create (something) so that it is ready for use • She prepared [=made] dinner. • Prepare a salad. • He prepared [=wrote] a report for his boss. • The pharmacist prepared the prescription.

prepared adj

1 : made at an earlier time for later use : made ready in advance • The president read a prepared statement. • The store sells a selection of prepared foods.

2 : ready for something : in a suitable condition for some purpose or activity • I got so nervous. I guess I just wasn't prepared. • She was well-prepared and scored high on the test. — often + for • Be prepared [=ready] for a long wait. • The campers were not prepared for the rain.

3 not used before a noun : willing to do something • How much are you prepared to pay? • I wasn't prepared to spend that much money. • I'm prepared to listen.

pre-pared-ness /pri'perəd'nəs/ noun [noncount] formal : the fact of being ready for something : the state of being prepared • The police have been criticized for their lack of preparedness. [=for not being prepared] • emergency preparedness [=being ready for an emergency] • The military is in a state of preparedness.

pre-pay /,pri:'peɪ/ verb -pays; -paid /-'peɪd/; -pay-ing [+ obj]

1 : to pay for (something) before you receive or use it • Special orders must be prepaid.

2 : to pay (something) before you are required to pay it • There is no penalty for prepaying the loan. [=for paying what you owe sooner than you have agreed to]

— prepaid adj • a prepaid calling card • a prepaid envelope [=an envelope for which the postage has already been paid]

— pre-pay-ment /,pri:'peɪmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] loan prepayments [noncount] We have the option of prepayment without a penalty. — often used before another noun • a prepayment penalty pre-pon-der-ance /pri'pɑ:ndərəns/ noun [singular] formal : a greater amount or number of something • A preponderance of the evidence [=most of the evidence] shows that the accused is guilty. • The preponderance [=majority] of visitors to the museum are from outside the country.

pre-pon-der-ant /pri'pɑ:ndərənt/ adj, formal : greater in number, force, or importance • A preponderant number of visitors [=most of the visitors] are from outside the country. • the country's preponderant [=dominant] power

— pre-pon-der-ant-ly adv • Visitors to the museum are preponderantly [=predominantly] foreign.

prep-o-si-tion /,prepə'zɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] grammar : a word or group of words that is used with a noun, pronoun, or noun phrase to show direction, location, or time, or to introduce an object • The preposition "on" in "The keys are on the table" shows location. • The preposition "in" in "The movie starts in one hour" shows time.

prep-o-si-tion-al phrase /ˌprɛpəˈzɪʃənəl/ noun, pl ~ phrases [count] grammar : a phrase that begins with a preposition and ends in a noun, pronoun, or noun phrase • In "He is from Russia," "from Russia" is a prepositional phrase.

pre-pos-sess-ing /ˌpri:pəˈseɪzɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : having qualities that people like : appealing or attractive • a prepossessing young musician • She lives in one of the least prepossessing parts of the city.

pre-pos-ter-ous /priˈpɑːstərəs/ adj : very foolish or silly • a preposterous excuse • The whole idea is preposterous!

— pre-pos-ter-ous-ly adv • The prices are preposterously [=absurdly] high. — pre-pos-ter-ous-ness noun [noncount] • She laughed at the preposterousness [=absurdity] of my suggestion.

prep-py or prep-pie /ˈprɛpi/ noun, pl -pies [count] US, informal + often disapproving : someone who dresses or acts like a student at a prep school (such as by wearing neat, somewhat formal clothing or by using particular words and phrases) • a rich preppy

— preppy or preppie adj • preppy clothes

prep school noun, pl ~ schools [count]

1 US : a private school that prepares students for college

2 Brit : a private school for children between the ages of 7 and 13

pre-pu-bes-cent /ˌpri:pjuˈbesnt/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : relating to or being in the period of life just before puberty • prepubescent growth • prepubescent children

pre-quel /ˈpri:kwəl/ noun, pl -quels [count] : a movie, book, etc., that tells the part of a story that happened before the story in another movie, book, etc. • His next film will be a prequel to last year's hit movie. — compare SEQUEL

pre-re-cord /ˌpri:rɪˈkɔəd/ verb -cords; -cord-ed; -cord-ing [+ obj] : to record (something, such as a radio or television program) before showing it to the public, broadcasting it, etc. • The television show prerecords most of its interviews. • a prerecorded program/interview pre-reg-is-ter /ˌpri:rɛdʒəstə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] chiefly US : to put your name on an official list in order to become a participant in something (such as a college course) before the usual time during which this list is made : to register before the official registration period • Students can preregister online. — often + for • I preregistered for the class.

— pre-reg-is-tra-tion /ˌpri:rɛdʒəˈstreɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • Preregistration begins tomorrow.

pre-req-ui-site /ˌpri:rɛkwəzət/ noun, pl -sites [count] : something that you officially must have or do before you can have or do something else : REQUIREMENT — often + for or to • Citizenship is a prerequisite for voting. • The introductory course is a prerequisite for the advanced-level courses. • Having good credit is a prerequisite to applying for a loan.

pre-rog-a-tive /priˈrɑːgətɪv/ noun, pl -tives [count] formal : a right or privilege • If you'd rather sell the tickets than use them, that's your prerogative. • It's a writer's prerogative to decide the fate of her characters.; especially : a special right or privilege that some people have • presidential prerogatives [=the rights or privileges a president has] — often + of • Education was once only the prerogative of the wealthy.

pres. abbr 1 present 2 president

pre-sage /ˈpresɪdʒ/ verb -sag-es; -saged; -sag-ing [+ obj] formal : to give or be a sign of (something that will happen or develop in the future) • Many investors are worried that the current slowdown could presage another recession. • events that presaged the civil rights movement

Pres-by-te-ri-an /ˌprezbəˈtɪrɪjən/ adj : of or relating to a Christian church in Scotland, the U.S., and other countries that is officially led by a group of ministers and elders (called a presbytery) • a Presbyterian doctrine/church • The minister is Presbyterian.

— Presbyterian noun, pl -ans [count] — Pres-by-te-ri-an-ism /ˌprezbəˈtɪrɪjənɪzəm/ noun [noncount] pres-by-tery /ˈprezbəˈteri, Brit ˈprezbətri/ noun, pl -ter-ies [count]

1 : a group of ministers and elders who are the leaders of the Presbyterian churches in a particular area

2 : the house where a Roman Catholic priest lives : RECTORY pre-school /ˈpriːskuːl/ noun, pl -schools [count, non- count] chiefly US : a school for very young children — called also nursery school preschool adj, always used before a noun : relating to the time in a child's life when the child is old enough to talk and walk but is not ready to go to school • preschool age/education/children

pre-school-er /ˈpriːskuːlə/ noun, pl -ers [count] US

1 : a child who is old enough to talk and walk but who is too young to go to school

2 : a child who goes to a preschool pre-science /ˈprɛfɪjəns, Brit ˈpresɪəns/ noun [noncount] formal : the ability to know what will or might happen in the future : FORESIGHT • He predicted their response with amazing prescience. • Her prescience as an investor is impressive.

pre-scient /ˈprɛfɪjənt, Brit ˈpresɪənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : having or showing an ability to know what will happen before it does • She was remarkably prescient about the outcome of the elections. • a prescient remark

— pre-scient-ly adv

pre-scribe /priˈskraɪb/ verb -scribes; -scribed; -scribing [+ obj]

1 : to officially tell someone to use (a medicine, therapy, diet, etc.) as a remedy or treatment • My doctor prescribed this medicine. = This medicine was prescribed by my doctor. • This drug should not be prescribed to children. • a drug commonly prescribed to treat rashes • The doctor prescribed three months of physical therapy for my leg injury.

2 : to make (something) an official rule • The law prescribes a prison sentence of at least five years for the crime. • The regulations prescribe that all employees must pass a physical examination. • We must follow the rules as prescribed by the government.

— prescribed adj, always used before a noun • the prescribed dosage of a drug • Members must obey the prescribed rules of conduct.

pre-scrip-tion /priˈskriptʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 a : a written message from a doctor that officially tells someone to use a medicine, therapy, etc. [count] The drug is only sold with a prescription. — often + for • The doctor wrote me a prescription for cough syrup. [noncount] (US) The drug is only available by prescription. = (Brit) The drug is only available on prescription. [=you can only get the drug if you have a prescription] b [count] : a medicine or drug that a doctor officially tells someone to use • I have to pick up my prescription. — often used before another noun • prescription drugs/medicine/costs

2 [count] : something that is suggested as a way to do something or to make something happen — + for • a prescription for economic recovery • a prescription for improving the educational system

pre-scrip-tive /priˈskriptɪv/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : giving exact rules, directions, or instructions about how you should do something • Critics claim the new rules/regulations are too prescriptive.

2 technical : providing rules and opinions that tell people how language should be used • prescriptive dictionaries — opposite DESCRIPTIVE

pre-sea-son /ˌpriːsiːzən/ noun, pl -sons [count] sports : a period of time before the regular season when players train and people or teams play against each other in unofficial games • The team only won two games during the preseason. • preseason training/games

pres-ence /ˈprezns/ noun, pl -enc-es

1 [count] : the fact of being in a particular place : the state of being present — usually singular • The test results showed the presence of bacteria in the water. [=showed that there were bacteria in the water] • No one was aware of the stranger's presence. • His very presence on the basketball court intimidated opponents. • She talked about the growing presence of women in the construction industry. [=the increasing number of women working in the construction industry]

2 [noncount] : the area that is close to someone — used to describe being in the same place as someone • Please don't smoke in my presence. [=near me; when I am present] • She asked them not to talk about the accident in her presence. • Their daughter is shy in the presence of [=around] strangers. • The contract was signed in the presence of two witnesses.

3 [count] : someone or something that is seen or noticed in a particular place, area, etc. — usually singular • Her mother was a constant presence at the swim meets. [=her mother always went to the swim meets] • There is a heavy military presence in the city. [=there are a lot of soldiers, military vehicles, etc., in the city] • The company is an important presence on the Internet.

4 [singular] : a way of moving, standing, speaking, etc. • He'll be remembered as a caring teacher with a warm presence. [=a kind and gentle way of speaking, behaving, etc.] • an actor with a commanding presence on the stage = an actor with a commanding stage presence [=an actor with a powerful quality that attracts attention on the stage]

5 [count] literary : something (such as a spirit) that you cannot see but that you feel or believe is present — usually singular • She felt a ghostly presence in the room.

grace (a person, group, etc.) with your presence see ²GRACE make your presence felt/heard/known : to make people aware of you by gaining power or influence over them • Women are making their presence felt in the industry. • The Internet service is making its presence known by doing a lot of advertising.

presence of mind noun [noncount] : the ability to think clearly and act quickly especially in an emergency — usually followed by to + verb • The child had the presence of mind to call for an ambulance. • He had the presence of mind to write down the license plate number of the car.

¹pres-ent /'preznt/ noun, pl -ents [count] : something that you give to someone especially as a way of showing affection or thanks : GIFT • a birthday/Christmas/anniversary/wedding present • Here's a present for you from John. • I gave/got her a book as a present. • Did you wrap the presents? — compare ⁴PRESENT

²pre-sent /pri'zent/ verb -sents; -sent-ed; -sent-ing

1 [+ obj] : to give something to someone in a formal way or in a ceremony • He presented the queen with a diamond necklace. • He was presented with a medal at the ceremony. • She presented a check for $5,000 to the charity.

2 a : to formally talk about (something you have written, studied, etc.) to a group of people [+ obj] The scientist presented his results/report to the committee. • She will be presenting a paper on methods for teaching ESL at the conference. [no obj] What time will you be presenting? b [+ obj] : to make (something) available to be used or considered • The defense will present [=produce] evidence refuting the charges. • An offer was presented for our consideration. • The opportunity presented itself [=became available], and she took advantage of it.

3 [+ obj] : to make (something, such as a play or show) available to be seen by the public • The Main Street Theater Company is presenting Shakespeare's Othello next month. • The museum is presenting an exhibition of paintings by Monet.

4 [+ obj] : to show (something) to someone • He presented his ID to the security guard. • You'll be required to present a passport when you cross the border.

5 [+ obj] : to describe or show (someone or something) in a particular way • No matter how the government tries to present what happened, it was a tragic mistake. • The article presents an accurate picture of the contemporary lives of Japanese women. • The candidate tried to present a more upbeat image of himself. • She presents herself as a very ambitious person.

6 [+ obj] : to create (a problem, challenge, etc.) for someone or something • Storing these delicate artifacts presents [=poses] a challenge for the college. • The conflicting information presents a dilemma (for us): which numbers are correct? • The shortages presented a serious problem to the government. = The shortages presented the government with a serious problem. • We have been presented with a difficult task.

7 [+ obj] a : to introduce (someone or something) to an audience • I am pleased to present our first comedian of the night. b formal : to introduce (someone) to a person who is important, of high rank, etc. • He was presented as ambassador to the king.

8 [+ obj] formal : to bring (yourself) to a particular place • She was ordered to present herself at court [=to go to court] the next day.

9 [+ obj] formal : to express (something, such as an apology) • Please allow me to present my apologies (to you). • Let me present my congratulations and best wishes (to you) on this happy occasion.

10 [+ obj] Brit : to introduce the different parts of (a radio or television program) • She presents [= (US) hosts] a popular game show.

— pre-sent-er noun, pl -ers [count] • the presenter of the award • The presenter spoke well. • (Brit) the presenter

[= (US) host] of the game show

³pres-ent /'preznt/ adj

1 a : not past or future : existing or happening now • the present [=current] situation • No further changes are planned at the present time. [=now] • The game has existed in its present form for more than 300 years. b — used to say what someone or something is now • the company's present [= (more commonly) current] employees • the present leadership of the Senate [=the people who have positions of power in the Senate now] • The ceremony honors our soldiers, past and present. [=people who were soldiers in the past and people who are soldiers now]

2 a : at the particular place or event that is being referred to — often + at • She was present at the meeting. — often + in • There was a large crowd present in the auditorium. — sometimes used as an interjection • "John Smith?" "Present!" [=here] b : existing in something — usually + in • There were high levels of lead present in the water. [=the water contained high levels of lead]

all present and accounted for (US) or Brit all present and correct — used to say that all the people who are supposed to be at a place or event are there • The students are all present and accounted for.

present company excepted/excluded — used to say that a critical comment you have made about a group of people does not include the person or people you are with • Men are such jerks—present company excepted/excluded, of course.

present writer somewhat formal — used to refer to yourself as the person who is writing something • No one—present writer included—thought the plan would work. [=no one, including me, thought the plan would work] • She is promoting her latest movie, which the present writer has not yet seen. [=which I have not yet seen]

⁴pres-ent /'preznt/ noun

1 [noncount] : the period of time that exists now : the present time • Past, present, and future are all linked together. — usually used with the • the past, the present, and the future • Let's leave things as they are for the present. We may change them in the future. • I have worked here from 2000 to the present. • Geologists believe that the present is the key to the past. • There's no time like the present for getting things done! [=it is best to get things done right away instead of waiting until later]

2 [count] : the current condition or situation of someone or something — usually singular • He was trying to escape his present by living in the past. • She moved the company out of a troubled past and into a profitable present.

3 the present grammar : PRESENT TENSE • The verb is in the present.

at present : at or during this time : at the present time : NOW • Things were bad then but they're better at present. • At present I am working as a substitute teacher.

— compare ¹PRESENT

pre-sent-able /pri'zentəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : in good enough condition to be seen by someone : not too dirty, messy, etc., to be seen • I have to make myself presentable before our guests arrive. • a presentable appearance

pre-sen-ta-tion /,prezn'teɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : an activity in which someone shows, describes, or explains something to a group of people • The charts and graphs helped me understand the presentation. • She will take your questions after she has made her presentation. • The senior accountant gave a presentation at the meeting.

2 [noncount] : the way in which something is arranged, designed, etc. : the way in which something is presented • The presentation of the food made it look very appetizing.

3 a : the act of giving something to someone in a formal way or in a ceremony [noncount] The choir sang during the presentation of the gifts. [count] The awards were given out last night, and the mayor was on hand to make the presentations. [=to present the awards] b [count] : a ceremony in which something (such as an award) is given to someone in a formal way • an awards presentation

4 [noncount] : the act of showing or presenting something to someone so that it can be seen or considered • The state has a law that prohibits the presentation of new evidence 30 days after conviction.

5 [count] : the performance of a play • We are going to see an outdoor presentation of the play.

6 [count] medical : the position of a baby inside its mother just before the baby is born • abnormal birth presentations

— pre-sen-ta-tion-al /ˌprezntetʃənəl/ adj • presentational skills present day noun

the present day : the period of time that exists now : the present time • The English of the present day is different from the English of the past.

— pres-ent-day /ˌprezntˈdeɪ/ adj, always used before a noun • present-day [=contemporary, modern] English pre-sen-ti-ment /ˌpriːzɛntəmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] formal : a feeling or belief that something is going to happen • a presentiment [=premonition] of death/danger

pres-ent-ly /ˌprezntli/ adv

1 : during the time that is happening now : at the present time : NOW • She is presently [=currently] at work on a new novel.

2 : after a short time : SOON • He'll be here presently.

present participle noun, pl ~ -ciples [count] grammar : a verb form that ends in “-ing” and that is used with “be” to refer to action that is happening at the time of speaking or a time spoken of • The verbs “dancing” in “He was dancing” and “crying” in “The baby is crying” are present participles.
✧ The present participle can also be used before a noun like an adjective. • the crying baby • the quickly rising tide present perfect noun

the present perfect grammar : a verb tense that is used to refer to an action that began in the past and is completed at the time of speaking ✧ The present perfect in English is formed with “has” and “have” and the past participle of a verb, as in “He has left,” and “They have found what they were looking for.”

present tense noun, pl ~ tenses [count] : a verb tense that is used to refer to the present

pres-er-va-tion /ˌprezəˈveɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act of preserving something: such as a : the act of keeping something in its original state or in good condition — often + of • preservation of the city's historical buildings • the preservation of land for wildlife • (Brit) a preservation order [=an official order by a court that makes it illegal to destroy or change a building, tree, view, etc.] b : the act of keeping something safe from harm or loss • wildlife preservation — often + of • the preservation of music programs in public schools • the preservation of cultural traditions c : the act of using a particular treatment on a food so that it can be eaten in the future • methods of food preservation, such as canning and freezing

2 : the degree to which something is kept safe from harm or ruin • The ancient paintings were found in a perfect state of preservation. [=they were perfectly preserved] • The buildings are in a good state of preservation. — see also SELF-PRESERVATION

pres-er-va-tion-ist /ˌprezəˈveɪʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : someone who works to preserve something (such as a building or an area of land)

pre-ser-va-tive /ˌpriːzəˈvə-tiv/ noun, pl -tives [count, noncount] : a substance that is used to preserve something: such as a : a chemical that is added to food to keep it fresh longer • This food does not contain any artificial preservatives. b : a substance that is used on wood to prevent it from decaying • The wood was treated with preservative.

¹pre-serve /ˌpriːzəv/ verb -serves; -served; -ser-ving [+obj]

1 : to keep (something) in its original state or in good condition • The committee is in charge of preserving [=maintaining] the city's historical buildings. • The fossil was well preserved.

2 : to keep (something) safe from harm or loss : PROTECT • These laws are intended to help preserve our natural resources. • They are fighting to preserve their rights as citizens. • a substance that helps preserve wood

3 : to prevent (food) from decaying • The peaches are preserved in syrup. • Salt can be used to preserve meat.

— pre-serv-er noun, pl -ers [count] • The police should be preservers of law and order. — see also LIFE PRESERVER

²preserve noun, pl -serves

1 : a sweet food made of fruit cooked in sugar [count] — usually plural • a jar of strawberry preserves [noncount] a jar of strawberry preserve

2 [count] : an area where plants, animals, minerals, etc., are protected • nature/wildlife preserves [=reserves] • Game preserves allow only carefully controlled hunting and fishing.

3 [singular] : an activity, job, interest, etc., that is available to or considered suitable for only a particular group of people •

The military was once an all-male preserve. — often + of • Raising children used to be the (exclusive) preserve of women. [=used to be thought of as something done only by women]

pre-side /ˌpriːˈzaɪd/ verb -sides; -sid-ed; -sid-ing [no obj] : to be in charge of something (such as a trial) • Court is now in session, Justice Raul Fernandez presiding. — often + at • She will preside as judge at the trial.

preside over [phrasal verb] preside over (something) 1 : to be in charge of something (such as a meeting or organization) • The vice president presided over the meeting. • The Chief Justice presides over the Supreme Court. • He has presided over the company for 15 years. 2 : to be in charge of a country, company, etc., during (a particular time or activity) • She presided over a period of relative peace and prosperity.

— presiding adj • the presiding judge/officer pres-i-den-cy /ˌprezədənsi/ noun, pl -cies [count] : the job of a president or the period of time when a person is president — usually singular • candidates for the presidency [=people who are trying to be elected president] • the third year of his presidency

pres-i-dent /ˌprezədənt/ noun, pl -dents [count]

1 : the head of the government in some countries • The President will hold a news conference tomorrow. • President Abraham Lincoln — often + of • the President of the United States

2 : someone who has the highest position in an organization or business • a bank/college president — often + of • the president of the club — compare VICE PRESIDENT

— pres-i-den-tial /ˌprezəˈdenʃəl/ adj, always used before a noun • a presidential candidate/election/government

president-elect noun, pl -elects [count] : a person who has been elected president but who has not officially become president yet

Presidents' Day noun [noncount] : the third Monday in February celebrated in most states of the U.S. as a holiday in honor of the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln — compare WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

¹press /ˌpres/ noun, pl press-es

1 a [noncount] : newspapers, magazines, and radio and television news reports • American/foreign/local press • Reports in the press suggested there had been many casualties. • freedom of the press [=the right of newspapers, magazines, etc., to report news without being controlled by the government] — often used before another noun • The murder trial has drawn a lot of press coverage. • press reports/clippings b the press : the people (such as reporters and photographers) who work for newspapers, magazines, etc. • She refused to talk to the press. • members of the press • (US) The press was waiting outside the courtroom. = (Brit) The press was/were waiting outside the courtroom. — see also PRESS CONFERENCE c — used to talk about how often or how well or badly someone or something is described in newspapers, magazines, etc. [noncount] The trial has been getting a lot of press. [=there have been a lot of press reports about the trial] • The new edition of the dictionary is getting good press. • He has gotten a lot of bad press lately. [singular] (Brit) The new edition of the dictionary is getting a good press.

2 a [count] : PRINTING PRESS • The pages rolled off the presses. • Stop the presses! — see also hot off the press at ¹HOT

b [noncount] : the act or the process of being printed • The book is on press now and due out soon. • The story is going to press. [=the story is about to be printed] • He did not return our call by/before press time. [=the time when the story was printed] c [count] : a printing or publishing business • a university press • The book is published by Federal Street Press.

3 [count] : a machine that uses pressure to shape, flatten, or squeeze something • a cookie/cider/garlic press • a trouser press

4 [count] : the act of pushing or flattening something with your finger or hand or with a device (such as an iron) — usually singular • The machine turns on with the press [=push] of a button. • (chiefly Brit) Your shirt needs a press. [=your shirt needs pressing; your shirt needs to be ironed]

5 [singular] : a large group of people gathered together in one place : CROWD — often + of • We were caught in the press of people outside the theater.

— see also FULL-COURT PRESS

²press verb presses; pressed; press-ing

1 a : to push (something) with strong or steady force [+obj]

She pressed the pieces of clay together. • The machine presses the metal/plastic into sheets. • People were pressed against each other in the crowd. • The little girl pressed her face against the window. • Dad took me aside and pressed some money into my hand. [no obj] He lightly pressed (down) on her stomach to feel the baby move. b : to push (something, such as a button or lever on a machine) with your finger or hand [+ obj] Don't press that button. • Press "Play" to start the movie. [no obj] Press here to release the buckle.

2 [+ obj] : to force or try to persuade (someone) to do something especially by repeatedly asking for it to be done • She pressed him to go with her to the ballet. • I pressed her for more details. • He is pressing [=pressuring] us for a decision. = He is pressing us to make a decision. • After the scandal, the CEO was pressed into resigning. • When pressed, he tends to give in.

3 [+ obj] : to repeat (something) often in a way that is annoying to show that it is very important • I don't want to press [=push] the issue, but it is important and needs to be addressed immediately. • He kept pressing the point that something needs to be done immediately. • They're trying to press home their message. [=trying to make their message clear and forceful] • Laborers are pressing their case for higher wages.

4 [+ obj] : to flatten or smooth out (something) with your hand, an iron, etc. • She pressed the ball of dough flat. • He pressed [=ironed] his shirt and pants.

5 [+ obj] : to push down on a fruit or vegetable to make juice come out of it • He pressed the apples to make cider. • The machine presses the juice out of the grapes. • freshly pressed [=more commonly squeezed] orange juice

6 a always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to continue moving forward in a forceful or steady way • The explorers pressed deeper into the jungle. • The troops pressed [=pushed] on/forward in spite of the snow. b : to continue to do something especially in a determined way. [no obj] — usually + on or ahead • Now that we have answered that question, let's press on. • The city pressed ahead with plans to build a casino. [+ obj] She saw an opening and pressed (home) her attack/advantage.

7 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to crowd closely around or against someone or something : to move in a large group toward or near someone or something • Reporters pressed around/about the players as they left the field.

press charges : to take legal action against someone : to officially accuse someone of a crime • He was caught shoplifting, but the store owner didn't press charges.

press for [phrasal verb] press for (something) : to make a demand for (something) • Laborers are pressing for higher wages.

press on also press upon [phrasal verb] press (something) on/upon (someone) : to force (someone) to take or accept (something) • I tried to press money on him for my half of the bill, but he refused to take it. • She's always pressing her opinions on us. — see also ²PRESS 6b (above) press (someone or something) into service : to use (someone or something) for a particular job or purpose when a special need occurs • Retired doctors and nurses were pressed into service to help care for the wounded. • The backup computer was pressed into service when the main computer failed.

press the flesh informal : to greet and shake hands with people especially while campaigning for a political office

press agency noun, pl ~ -cies [count] : NEWS AGENCY press agent noun, pl ~ agents [count] : a person whose job is to give information about an important or famous person or organization to news reporters press box noun, pl ~ boxes [count] : a special area or section of seats where reporters sit at a sports event press clipping noun, pl ~ -pings [count] : CLIPPING 1

press conference noun, pl ~ -ences [count] : a meeting in which someone gives information to news reporters and answers questions • The President will hold/give a press conference later today. — called also news conference

press corps noun, pl ~ corps [count] : a group of news reporters who are located in a particular place or who follow a particular person • the White House press corps pressed /'prest/ adj, not used before a noun : lacking something that is needed or desired — + for • I am really pressed for time/money right now. • He's pressed for space in his new apartment. — see also HARD-PRESSED press gallery noun, pl ~ -ler-ies [count] : an area especially in a court of law where news reporters sit press gang noun, pl ~ gangs [count] : a group of men who in the past would take men and force them to join the navy or army

— press-gang /'pres,gæŋ/ verb -gangs; -ganged; -gang-ing [+ obj] — often + into • He was press-ganged into the navy. [=he was forced by a press gang to join the navy] — often used figuratively in British English • He was press-ganged into working throughout the holiday.

press-ing /'presɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very important and needing immediate attention : URGENT • a pressing problem/concern • a pressing need for reform press kit noun, pl ~ kits [count] : a collection of photographs, documents, etc., that is given to newspapers, magazines, television news programs, and radio stations : a package of information about someone or something that is given to the press press-man /'presmən/ noun, pl -men /-mən/ [count] Brit : NEWSPAPERMAN press office noun, pl ~ -fices [count] : the office of an organization (such as a political party or a government department) that gives information to newspapers, magazines, television news programs, and radio stations press officer noun, pl ~ -cers [count] : a person who works in a press office press release noun, pl ~ -leases [count] : an official statement that gives information to newspapers, magazines, television news programs, and radio stations press-room /'pres,ru:m/ noun, pl -rooms [count]

1 : a room where someone talks to news reporters

2 : a room that contains printing presses press secretary noun, pl ~ -tar-ies [count] : a person whose job is to give information about an important or famous person or organization to news reporters • the White House press secretary press stud noun, pl ~ studs [count] Brit : ²SNAP 3 press-up /'pres,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] Brit : PUSH-UP

¹pres-sure /'preʃə/ noun, pl -sures

1 a : the weight or force that is produced when something presses or pushes against something else [noncount] Keep steady pressure on the cap as you turn it. [=press on the cap as you turn it] • Apply pressure to the wound to stop the bleeding. • the pressure of the compressed air inside the chamber • high/low water pressure [=a force that makes a flow of water strong/weak] • Check the car's tire pressure. [=the amount of air inside the tires] • The contents of the bottle are under pressure. [=the contents are tightly pressed into the bottle] [singular] The animal's jaws can exert a pressure of more than 750 pounds per square inch. — see also BLOOD PRESSURE b [noncount] : the action of pressing or pushing against something • The horse will respond to the slightest pressure of a rider's knee. • The fruit yields to gentle pressure when it's ripe.

2 [noncount] : the weight of the air in the Earth's atmosphere • the normal air pressure at sea level • atmospheric pressure • Pressure fell [=the air became lighter] as the storm approached. • An area of high/low pressure [=heavy/light air] is moving over the west coast.

3 : the force that you feel when people are trying to persuade or force you to do something by using arguments, threats, etc. [noncount] He felt pressure from his father to become a doctor. = His father put pressure on him to become a doctor. [=his father was trying to persuade/force him to become a doctor] • The mayor is under pressure to resign. [=people are trying to force the mayor to resign] [count] He gave in to the social pressures to act and dress like everybody else. • She felt a constant pressure to earn more money. — see also PEER PRESSURE

4 : a feeling of stress or anxiety because you have too much to do or because people are depending on you for something [count] She was dealing with the pressures of everyday life. [noncount] Can he handle the pressure of the job? • She's been experiencing a lot of pressure at work lately. • They both work well under pressure. [=they work well when the job is stressful] • Her job is high pressure. [=her job is very stressful] — see also HIGH-PRESSURE

²pressure verb -sures; -sured; -sur-ing [+ obj] chiefly US : to use pressure to force or try to force (someone) to do something — often followed by into + -ing verb • The defense pressured the quarterback into throwing a bad pass. • They pressured him into resigning. [=they forced him to resign] —

often followed by to + verb • They're pressuring him to make a decision. • They pressured him to resign. [=they tried to force him to resign by putting pressure on him] — often used as (be) pressured • Doctors are being pressured by the insurance companies. • She felt pressured to make a decision.

pressure cooker noun, pl ~ -ers

1 [count] : a special pot that is used to cook food quickly by using the pressure of steam

2 [singular] informal : a situation or place that causes you to feel a lot of stress or pressure • The new boss has turned the office into a pressure cooker.

— pressure-cooker adj, always used before a noun • the pressure-cooker [=high-pressure] atmosphere of law school pressure group noun, pl ~ groups [count] : a group of people who share an interest, concern, or set of opinions and who try to influence politics or the policies of government, business, etc. • a pressure group trying to reduce taxes pressure point noun, pl ~ points [count]

1 : a place on your body that can be pressed to stop tension or pain

2 : a place on your body where a blood vessel is near the bone and can be pressed to stop bleeding

3 : a place, area, or situation that is a source or possible source of problems : a point where pressure is applied or felt • economic pressure points

pres-sur-ize also Brit pres-sur-ise /'prɛʃə,raɪz/ verb -izes; -ized; -izing [+ obj]

1 technical a : to press (something) tightly into a space or container • A pump is used to pressurize the fuel. b : to cause the air pressure inside (something, such as an airplane) to be the same as or close to the pressure of air on the Earth's surface • The system that pressurizes the airplane's cabin failed to operate correctly.

2 Brit : ²PRESSURE • Don't let them pressurize you to do anything you don't want to do.

— pres-sur-i-za-tion also Brit pres-sur-i-sa-tion /,prɛʃə'reɪzəʃən, Brit /,prɛʃə,raɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] technical • airplane cabin pressurization — pressurized also Brit pres-sur-ised adj • the airplane's pressurized cabin • The fuel is stored in pressurized containers. [=containers that are designed to hold liquids, gases, etc., that are under high pressure] pres-tige /prɛ'stiːʒ/ noun [noncount] : the respect and admiration that someone or something gets for being successful or important • Her career as a diplomat has brought her enormous prestige. • The job has low pay and low prestige. • The family has wealth and social prestige.

— pres-ti-gious /prɛ'stɪdʒəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] • a prestigious college/university • a prestigious award

pres-to /'preʃtəʊ/ interj, US : suddenly as if by magic • A wave of the hand and, presto [(Brit) hey presto], it's gone.

pre-sum-ably /prɪ'zʊ:məbli, Brit prɪ'zju:məbli/ adv : very likely — used to say what you think is likely to happen or be true even though you are not sure • Presumably, he'll come later. = He'll presumably come later. = He'll come later, presumably. [=it is reasonable to think that he will come later] • There was hardly any furniture in the house, presumably [=probably] because they didn't have much money.

pre-sume /prɪ'zʊ:m, Brit prɪ'zju:m/ verb -sumes; -sumed; -sum-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to think that (something) is true without knowing that it is true • I presume [=assume, expect] (that) you'll fly to Chicago rather than drive. • I presume (that) the car was very expensive. = The car was very expensive, I presume. • "Is she still at work?" "I presume so, since she's not home." b : to accept legally or officially that something is true until it is proved not true • A person is presumed (to be) innocent until proven guilty in a court of law. • The court must presume innocence until there is proof of guilt. • After the earthquake several people were missing and presumed dead. [=believed to be dead]

2 formal : to do (something) that you do not have the right or permission to do — followed by to + verb • How can you presume [=dare] to speak for her? • I'm not going to presume to tell you how to do your job.

3 : to expect that someone has (a certain level of knowledge, skill, etc.) • The course presumes familiarity with basic computer programming. [=people who take the course should know basic computer programming]

presume on/upon [phrasal verb] presume on/upon (something) formal : to expect too much from (a relationship) in a way that shows that you do not understand your role in the relationship : to go beyond the proper limits of (a relationship) • I don't want to presume on/upon our friendship by asking for too many favors.

pre-sump-tion /prɪ'zʌmpʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : a belief that something is true even though it has not been proved — often + that • The presumption is that the thief had a key to the store. • There was a widespread presumption that she would appoint him as her successor. • the presumption that all students learn in the same way • Thousands of people used this drug on the presumption that it was safe. [=they used it because they believed that it was safe]

2 law : an act of accepting that something is true until it is proved not true — often + of [noncount] The trial was unfair from the beginning because there was no presumption of innocence. [singular] a defendant's right to a presumption of innocence

3 [noncount] formal : willingness to do something without the right or permission to do it • You don't know anything about my situation, and yet you have the presumption [= (more commonly) gall, nerve] to tell me what to do!

pre-sump-tu-ous /prɪ'zʌmpʃəwəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : too confident especially in a way that is rude • It would be presumptuous (of me) to tell the manager how to do things. : done or made without permission, right, or good reason • a presumptuous question

— pre-sump-tu-ous-ly adv — pre-sump-tu-ous-ness noun [noncount]

pre-sup-pose /,prɪ:sə'pəʊz/ verb -pos-es; -posed; -pos-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to be based on the idea that something is true or will happen • The rule presupposes a need to restrict student access to the library. — often + that • The plan presupposes that the state has enough money to carry it out.

2 : to require or depend on (something) in order to be true or exist • Prayer presupposes a belief in a higher being. [=in order to pray you must believe that a higher being exists]

— pre-sup-po-si-tion /,prɪ:sə'pəʊzɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] We can't be afraid to examine/question our presuppositions. [=assumptions] • The argument is based on the presupposition [=presumption] that there is life in outer space. [noncount] The argument is based on prejudice and presupposition.

pre-tax /,prɪ:'tæks/ adj : before taxes have been taken away from a total • pretax profits/income/earnings/dollars pre-teen /'prɪ:'ti:n/ noun, pl -teens [count] : a boy or girl who is 11 or 12 years old

— preteen adj, always used before a noun • a preteen girl/boy • preteen clothing

pre-tend /prɪ'tend/ verb -tends; -tended; -tend-ing

1 : to act as if something is true when it is not true [+ obj] She pretended (that) she didn't care what other people said about her. • I'm going to pretend (that) we never had this conversation. • He had a big stain on his shirt, but I pretended not to notice. • The children pretended to be asleep. • She pretended to be angry. = She pretended (that) she was angry. • He pretended to be blind. = He pretended [= (more commonly) feigned] blindness. • I don't pretend to have all the answers. [=I don't claim that I have all the answers] • (formal) He was pretending an emotion he really couldn't feel. [no obj] I don't like having to pretend. = I don't like pretending. • She looked like she was enjoying the party but she was just pretending. • It was a mistake, and to pretend otherwise would be foolish.

2 : to imagine and act out (a particular role, situation, etc.) [+ obj] Pretend (that) I'm your boss. What would you say? • The children were pretending to be animals. • He pretended to make a phone call. [no obj] Let's just pretend for a moment. I'm your boss. What would you say to me?

pretend to [phrasal verb] pretend to (something) formal : to claim that you have (something, such as a quality or ability) • She pretends to a deep religious devotion, but I don't believe her. — usually used in negative statements • I don't pretend to any expertise in these matters.

— pretended adj • I wasn't fooled by her pretended indifference.

²pretend adj, informal : not real : IMAGINARY • The little girl has a pretend [=make-believe] friend. • The children played on a pretend train.

pre-tend-er /prɪ'tendə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who claims to have the right to a particular title or position (such as king or queen) when others do not agree — usually + to • a pretender to the throne

pre-tense (US) or Brit pre-tence /'pri:tens, Brit prɪ'tens/ noun, pl -tenses

1 [count] : a false reason or explanation that is used to hide the real purpose of something : PRETEXT • He called her under/on the pretense of asking about the homework assignment. [=asking about the homework assignment was not the real reason he called her] • A reporter obtained documents from the company under false pretenses. [=by saying something that was not true, by pretending something, etc.]

2 : an act or appearance that looks real but is false [singular] Their indifference is only a pretense. [=they are only pretending to be indifferent] • We tried to keep up the pretense that everything was fine. • She couldn't even make a pretense of liking him. [=she disliked him so much that she was unable to pretend that she liked him] [noncount] Their indifference is merely pretense. • He abandoned/dropped all pretense at politeness. [=he stopped pretending or trying to be polite]

3 [count] formal : a claim of having a particular quality, ability, condition, etc. — usually singular • I make no pretense of being a history expert. [=I do not claim/pretend to be a history expert]

pre-ten-sion /prɪ'tenʃən/ noun, pl -sions formal

1 [noncount] : the unpleasant quality of people who think of themselves as more impressive, successful, or important than they really are • He spoke about his achievements without pretension. • I admire his honesty and lack of pretension. • The restaurant offers excellent food without pretension.

2 [count] : a desire to do something or a claim to be something that is impressive or important — usually plural • The movie has no artistic pretensions. = The movie has no pretensions to/of being great art. [=the movie is not trying/claiming to be artistic] • She has serious literary pretensions. [=aspirations]

pre-ten-tious /prɪ'tenʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : having or showing the unpleasant quality of people who want to be regarded as more impressive, successful, or important than they really are • He's a pretentious snob. • a pretentious restaurant/movie • The houses in the neighborhood are large and pretentious. • He uses pretentious language.

— pre-ten-tious-ly adv • a pretentiously decorated hotel
— pre-ten-tious-ness noun [noncount]

pre-ter-nat-u-ral /,prɪ:tə'nætʃərəl/ adj, formal : very unusual in a way that does not seem natural • He is a young man with preternatural [=exceptional] good looks. • She has a preternatural ability to charm people. • There was a preternatural quiet in the house.

— pre-ter-nat-u-ral-ly adv • The house was preternaturally [=strangely] quiet.

pre-text /'pri:tekst/ noun, pl -texts [count] : a reason that you give to hide your real reason for doing something : PRETEXT • The leaders used a minor clash at the border as a pretext for war. [=as a reason/excuse for starting a war] • She always managed to visit him on one pretext or another. [=she found various reasons to visit him] • She went back to her friend's house on/under the pretext that she had forgotten her purse.

pre-trial /'pri:trajəl/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US, law : before a trial • pretrial publicity • a pretrial hearing

pret-ti-fy /'prɪtə'faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (something) pretty • The city is trying to prettify its downtown.

2 disapproving : to make (something) seem better or more attractive than it really is • The movie prettified what was in reality a very bloody battle.

1 pret-ty /'prɪti/ adj pret-ti-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 a : attractive to look at usually in a simple or delicate way • a pretty dress • pretty flowers — used especially of a girl or woman • She has a pretty face. • I've never seen her looking so happy or so pretty. b : pleasant to look at or listen to • a pretty sunset/room/voice/name/poem • That song is pretty. = That's a pretty song. synonyms see BEAUTIFUL

2 always used before a noun : large or impressive • He made a pretty profit selling his antique car. • She received a pretty sum of money.

3 : pleasant to see or experience • What a pretty [=nice] day. — usually used in negative statements • The game wasn't pretty but at least we won. • It isn't going to be pretty when the mayor finds out his son has been arrested. • The kitchen was not a pretty sight [=the kitchen was very messy] after we finished making breakfast.

4 always used before a noun, old-fashioned : very unpleasant

• What a pretty [=terrible] mess you've gotten us into! • a pretty [=miserable] state of affairs

a pretty penny see PENNY

(as) pretty as a picture old-fashioned : very attractive or pleasant to look at : very pretty • She is as pretty as a picture!

pretty face ♦ Someone who is not just a/another pretty face or more than (just) a pretty face is attractive but also has other good qualities, such as intelligence. • If he wants to get people to vote for him, he's got to prove he's more than just a pretty face.

— pret-ti-ly /'prɪtəli/ adv • She dresses/sings prettily. — pret-ti-ness /'prɪtɪnəs/ noun [noncount]

2 pretty adv

1 : to some degree or extent but not very or extremely : FAIRLY • The house was pretty [=moderately, rather] big. • It's pretty cold outside. • "Did you put the keys on the table?" "I'm pretty sure I did." • The teams are pretty equally matched. • The work is pretty hard. • I have to leave pretty soon. • The movie was pretty good but not great. • (US) I'm pretty near/nearly done. [=I'm almost done]

2 : to a great degree or extent : VERY • His injury was pretty bad. [=his injury was bad] • We got pretty [=quite] close. • They've accomplished some pretty amazing things. • She was driving pretty fast.

pretty much/well informal : not completely but mostly • His ideas were pretty much ignored at the meeting. • It is pretty much the same color. • The engine is pretty well shot. [=the engine is almost completely useless] • "Are you finished yet?" "Pretty much." [=just about]

sit pretty see SIT

3 pretty verb -ties; -tied; -ty-ing [+ obj] : to make (something) pretty • She prettied the cake with icing, sprinkles, and nuts. — usually + up • The curtains pretty up the room. • Landscapers prettied the park up with flowers and bushes.

pretty boy noun, pl ~ boys [count] informal + disapproving : a man who is very attractive • Movie critics seem to finally agree that this pretty boy can act.

pret-zel /'pretsəl/ noun, pl -zels [count] : a long, thin piece of bread that is usually salted and shaped like a knot or stick pre-vail /prɪ'veɪl/ verb -vails; -vailed; -vail-ing [no obj] formal

1 : to defeat an opponent especially in a long or difficult contest • Our soccer team prevailed [=won] despite the bad weather. — often + against or over • He prevailed against/over last year's champion. • She prevailed in a lawsuit against her doctor. [=she won a lawsuit against her doctor] — often used figuratively • Justice will prevail. • Truth will always prevail [=triumph] over lies.

2 : to be usual, common, or popular • Mutual respect prevails among students and teachers here. • The house was built in the style that prevailed in the 1980s.

3 : to be or continue to be in use • The tribal custom still prevails [=persists] after hundreds of years. • The law still prevails in some states.

prevail on/upon [phrasal verb] prevail on/upon (someone) : to ask or persuade (someone) to do something • They prevailed on/upon me to play a few tunes on the piano.

prevailing adj, always used before a noun : usual, common, or popular • the prevailing opinion/fashion • She disagrees with prevailing [=current] ideas/notions about raising children. • The prevailing wind in this region is from the east. [=the wind in this region usually comes from the east]

prev-a-lent /'prevələnt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : accepted, done, or happening often or over a large area at a particular time : common or widespread • prevalent beliefs • a custom that was once prevalent here • Those teaching methods are still prevalent at some schools. • a fashion that is prevalent among teenagers

— prev-a-lence /'prevələns/ noun [noncount] formal — usually + of • the prevalence of the disease

pre-var-i-cate /prɪ'verə'keɪt/ verb -cates; -cat-ed; -cat-ing [no obj] formal : to avoid telling the truth by not directly answering a question • Government officials prevaricated about the real costs of the project.

— pre-var-i-ca-tion /prɪ'verə'keɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [noncount] Please answer clearly, without prevarication. [count] You've answered with nothing but half-truths and prevarications.

pretzel

pre-vent /prɪ'vent/ verb -vents; -vent-ed; -vent-ing [+ obj]

1 : to stop (something) from happening or existing • Seatbelts in cars often prevent serious injuries. • Can exercise and a healthy diet prevent heart disease? • The accident could have been prevented.

2 : to make (someone or something) not do something : to stop (someone or something) from doing something • He grabbed my arm to prevent me from falling. • Bad weather prevented us from leaving. • How are you going to prevent him from finding out about the party? — often used without from in British English • Her injury will prevent her competing this year.

— pre-vent-able /prɪ'ventəbəl/ adj • Many of these deaths were preventable. [=avoidable] • a preventable disease

— pre-vent-er noun, pl -ers [count] • She applied a rust preventer to the metal frame.

pre-ven-ta-tive /prɪ'ventətɪv/ adj : PREVENTIVE • preventative measures

— preventative noun, pl -tives [count]

pre-ven-tion /prɪ'venʃən/ noun [noncount] : the act or practice of stopping something bad from happening : the act of preventing something • Exercise and diet play a role in the prevention of heart disease. • crime/fire prevention • (US) an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure = (Brit) prevention is better than cure [=it is better and easier to stop a problem, illness, etc., from happening than to stop or correct it after it has started] pre-ven-tive /prɪ'ventɪv/ adj : used to stop something bad from happening • Farmers are covering their crops as a preventive measure against frost. • preventive medicine [=medicine that stops you from getting sick; medicine that keeps you healthy] • We'll take whatever preventive action is necessary.

— preventive noun, pl -tives [count] • The drug is used as a preventive against cancer.

pre-view /'pri:vju:/ noun, pl -views [count]

1 : a special show or performance that allows some people to see a movie, play, etc., before it is shown to the public • We saw the movie at a special preview. — see also SNEAK PREVIEW

2 US : a selected group of scenes that are shown to advertise a movie or television show • After seeing the preview [=trailer], I can't wait to see the movie. • Before the movie starts they always show previews of coming attractions. • There are previews of the next week's episode at the end of each show.

3 : a description of something that will happen or be available in the future • They gave a preview of the upcoming football season. • The magazine includes a preview of the newest fall fashions.

4 : an example of what something will look like • You can see a preview of the page/photo before you print it.

2 preview verb -views; -viewed; -view-ing [+ obj]

1 : to see, hear, or show something (such as a movie) before it is available to the public • Critics have not yet previewed [=seen, watched] the new movie. • The designers will preview their new lines at the fashion show.

2 : to give a general description of (something that will happen in the future) • They previewed the upcoming football season.

3 : to see an example of what something will look like • You can preview the page/photo before you print it.

pre-vi-ous /'pri:vijəs/ adj

1 : existing or happening before the present time • She has a child from a previous marriage. • She has made previous attempts to quit smoking. [=she has tried to quit smoking before] • No previous [=past] experience is necessary. • I can't go to the party because of a previous [=prior] engagement. [=because I agreed to be somewhere else before I knew about the party]

2 a : earlier in time or order • In previous [=past] years, we always went to the beach for vacation. • a previous album/book [=an album/book made before the current album/book] • The two characters met in a previous chapter. • the previous owners of the house b : immediately before in time or order • It was Tuesday, and we'd met for lunch the previous day. [=the day immediately before; Monday]

previous to somewhat formal : before (a time, event, etc.) • I lived in Boston for a while and previous to [=prior to] that, I lived in Miami.

— pre-vi-ous-ly adv • Previously, the state paid for the program. • The author's new book includes some previously published material.

pre-war /,pri:'wɔə/ adj : happening or existing before a war; especially : happening or existing before World War II • the prewar years • prewar Europe/buildings — opposite POST-WAR

prexy /'preksi/ also prex /'preks/ noun, pl prex-ies also prex-es [count] US slang : PRESIDENT

1 prey /'prei/ noun [noncount]

1 : an animal that is hunted or killed by another animal for food • The lion stalked its prey. • The bird circled above looking for prey. • The seals are easy prey for sharks. — see also BIRD OF PREY be/fall prey to 1 : to be killed by (an animal, disease, etc.) • The deer fell prey to coyotes. • Many people fell prey to disease. 2 : to be harmed or affected in a bad way by (someone or something) • After the accident, she was prey to all kinds of anxieties. • Some of his friends fell prey to drugs. • She fell prey to an online scam.

2 : someone who is easily harmed or affected in a bad way by someone or something : VICTIM • Too often elderly people are easy prey for swindlers and other criminals.

2 prey verb preys; preyed; prey-ing prey on/upon [phrasal verb] 1 prey on/upon (something) : to hunt and kill (something) for food • The wolves prey on small animals. 2 prey on/upon (someone) : to hurt, cheat, or steal from (someone) • criminals who prey on lonely elderly people • Gangs are known to prey on tourists in the city. 3 prey on/upon someone's mind : to make someone worry : to be constantly on someone's mind • Her growing debts preyed on her mind. [=she worried about her growing debts] • The thought that he could have done better preyed on his mind. • a question that preys on the minds of many of us prez /'prez/ noun, pl prez-es [count] US slang : PRESIDENT

1 price /'praɪs/ noun, pl pric-es

1 : the amount of money that you pay for something or that something costs [count] oil/gas prices • You paid a high/low/reasonable price for the car. • We bought the house at a good price. • Can you give me a price for the car? [=can you tell me how much the car costs?] • If the price is right/reasonable, I'll buy it. = If it's the right price, I'll buy it. • The price of milk rose/increased/fell/dropped. • With the coupon you can buy two loaves of bread for the price of one. [=for the same amount of money it costs to buy one] • I won't sell the house. Not at any price! [=I won't sell the house no matter how much money someone offers me for it] [noncount] High-definition television sets should come down in price over the next few years. [=they should start to cost less over the next few years] • What is the difference in price between the two cars? • Children who are older than 12 years old have to pay full price. [=the main or highest price] • Air-conditioning is included in the car's base price. [=the basic price you pay for something without adding anything extra] — often used before another noun • price cuts/increases • a price list for computer components — see also ASKING PRICE, CONSUMER PRICE INDEX, HALF PRICE, LIST PRICE, MARKET PRICE, PURCHASE PRICE, RESERVE PRICE, RETAIL PRICE INDEX, SELLING PRICE, STICKER PRICE

2 [singular] : the thing that is lost, damaged, or given up in order to get or do something • A loss of privacy is often the price (you pay) for being famous. • Giving up alcohol was a small price (to pay) for keeping his family together. • Five years in prison is a high price (to pay) for one mistake. • We won the war, but at what price? [=did we lose or give up too much in order to win the war?] • What price glory/fame? [=is glory/fame worth what you have to lose or give up in order to get it?]

3 [noncount] : the amount of money needed to persuade someone to do something • I know he said he wouldn't do it, but I think it's just a matter of finding his price.

a price on someone's head : an amount of money that will be given to anyone who kills or captures someone • The group's leader has been in hiding since the government put a price on his head.

at any price 1 : for any amount of money • We think it's the best education you can get at any price. • I wouldn't work for her again. Not at any price. 2 : without caring about what might be lost or given up • people who want peace at any price

at a price 1 : by losing or giving up something or doing something unpleasant • Success came at a price. 2 : for a very large amount of money • The chocolate is available by mail order, but at a price. [=it is expensive to have the chocolate mailed to you]

beyond price literary : extremely valuable or important • Her friendship is a treasure beyond price. [=a priceless treasure] put a price on 1 : to ask for a particular amount of money for (something you are selling) • The owners have not yet put a price on the house. 2 : to say how important or valuable something is — usually used in negative statements to say that something is extremely important and valuable • You can't put a price on true love. • The teachers there really care about the students, and I don't think you can put a price on (something like) that.

synonyms PRICE, CHARGE, COST, and FEE mean the amount of money that is asked for or given as payment for something. PRICE refers to how much money is asked for goods. • What is the price of the car? CHARGE refers to the amount that you pay for using something or for a service. • There is no charge for parking here. • What are these phone charges on the bill? COST is used to refer to what is paid for something by the buyer rather than what is asked for by the seller. • The cost of the repairs seemed very high. COST may also be used to refer to prices in general. • The cost of living is higher in big cities. FEE refers to an amount that is set by law, a business, etc., for doing something or for a particular service. • There is a $50 fee for the license.

price verb prices; priced; pric-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say or decide how much something costs : to give a price to (something) • They priced the house too high. — usually used as (be) priced • The house is priced too high. • The computer is priced at $2,000. • a reasonably priced car • high-priced televisions [=expensive televisions]

2 : to put a price on (something) : to attach a price tag to (something) • Workers quickly priced the new merchandise.

3 : to learn the price of (something that you are thinking about buying) • I've been pricing TVs [=comparing the prices of different TVs] and I know which one we should buy.

price (someone) out of the market : to make the price of something too high for (someone) • The high rents are pricing some people out of the market.

price yourself out of the market : to make the price of your services, products, etc., too high • If your fee is too high, you may find that you've priced yourself out of the market. [=people may stop wanting to pay for your services because they cost too much] — pricing noun [noncount] • The store uses low pricing to attract customers. • The company is changing its pricing policy/strategy.

price-fix-ing /'praɪs,fɪksɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the usually illegal act or practice of agreeing with business competitors to set prices at a particular level instead of allowing prices to be determined by competition

price-less /'praɪsləs/ adj

1 : extremely valuable or important : INVALUABLE • The painting is priceless. • a priceless piece of information • Good health is priceless.

2 informal : very funny • The look on his face was priceless.

price point noun, pl ~ points [count] business : a product's regular price as set by the manufacturer

price tag noun, pl ~ tags [count]

1 : a piece of paper or plastic that is attached to a product and that has the product's price written or printed on it • The price tag is missing so I don't know how much this sweater costs.

2 : the amount of money that something costs • The car has a $30,000 price tag. = The car has a price tag of $30,000. [=the price of the car is $30,000] • The equipment carries a hefty price tag. [=it is expensive] • You can't put a price tag on the safety of our children. [=the safety of our children is worth any amount of money; it is extremely important]

price war noun, pl ~ wars [count] : a situation in which companies or stores compete with each other by lowering their prices on goods or services in order to attract more customers • The airlines are engaged in another price war.

pricey also pricy /'praɪsi/ adj pric-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : EXPENSIVE • The car is a little pricey. • a pricey restaurant/store

prick /'prɪk/ verb pricks; pricked; prick-ing

1 [+ obj] : to make a very small hole in (something) with a sharp pointed object • She pricked her finger with a pin. =

The pin pricked her (finger). • The nurse pricked my finger and squeezed out a drop of blood.

2 a [+ obj] : to cause a sharp, painful feeling on or in (part of your body) • The sharp shells pricked the bottoms of our feet. b literary ✦ If tears prick your eyes, you begin to feel tears in your eyes.

3 [+ obj] : to make (someone) feel guilt, shame, regret, etc. • She was pricked by doubt/guilt/jealousy. • The photographs of the flood victims pricked my conscience [=made me feel guilty] and I knew I had to do something to help. • His conscience pricked him. [=he felt guilty; he felt that he had done something wrong]

4 of an animal : to cause (the ears) to point upward [+ obj] The dog pricked (up) its ears at the sound. [no obj] The dog's ears pricked up at the sound. — used figuratively of people • Her ears pricked (up) when they said her name. = She pricked up her ears [=she started to listen carefully] when they said her name.

prick noun, pl pricks [count]

1 : an act of making a small hole in something with a sharp pointed object • The nurse gave my finger a (little) prick (with a needle) and squeezed out a drop of blood.

2 a : a feeling of pain caused by being touched by something sharp or pointed • She felt a prick as the thorn jabbed her foot. • He felt the prick of the needle. b : a slight, sharp feeling of sadness, regret, etc. • She felt a prick of jealousy. • He felt a prick of conscience. [=a feeling of guilt]

3 informal + offensive : PENIS

4 informal + offensive : a very bad or unpleasant man prick-le /'prɪkəl/ noun, pl prick-les [count]

1 : one of usually many stiff, sharp points that grow on some plants : THORN • vines covered in prickles

2 : a slight, sharp feeling of an emotion • She felt a prickle of fear as the stranger came closer to her. • He felt the familiar prickle of excitement as the game began.

prickle verb prickles; prick-led; prick-ling : to cause or experience an unpleasant feeling that is like the feeling of having many small, sharp points against your skin [+ obj] The burrs were prickling my arm. • The wool sweater prickled my skin. [no obj] My skin prickled with fear. • The hair prickled on the back of my neck. • She felt a prickling sensation in her shoulder.

prick-ly /'prɪkli/ adj prick-li-er; -est

1 : having many sharp points • a prickly cactus/bush • The plant's leaves are prickly.

2 a : caused or seeming to be caused by something that has many small, sharp points • a prickly feeling/sensation b : causing a prickly feeling on your skin • a prickly wool sweater

3 : very difficult or complicated : requiring careful treatment • a prickly [=sensitive] issue • a prickly [=thorny] question 4 : easily annoyed or angered • He's a prickly old man. • a prickly [=touchy] personality

— prick-li-ness noun [noncount]

prickly heat noun [noncount] medical : a skin rash that people sometimes get during hot weather : HEAT RASH • suffering from prickly heat

prickly pear noun [count, noncount] : a cactus that has yellow flowers and fruits shaped like pears; also : the fruit of this plant

pricy variant spelling of PRICEY

pride /'praɪd/ noun, pl prides

1 [noncount] a : a feeling that you respect yourself and deserve to be respected by other people : SELF-RESPECT • Being able to work again gave him his pride back. • Getting caught cheating stripped him of his pride. • Pride would not allow her to give up. • It's a matter of pride that he does the work all by himself. b : a feeling that you are more important or better than other people • The novel is about a family consumed with pride and vanity. • They needed help, but their pride wouldn't let them ask for it. • I had to swallow my pride and admit I made a mistake.

2 a : a feeling of happiness that you get when you or someone you know does something good, difficult, etc. [noncount] The sight of her son holding the trophy filled her with pride. [=made her very proud] • She spoke with pride [=she spoke proudly] about her son's achievements. • She looked at her painting with pride. [=satisfaction] • He takes pride in [=is proud of] his work. [singular] He showed a great/im-mense pride in his family. b [singular] : a person or thing that makes you feel proud • These young people are the pride of their community.

3 [count] : a group of lions pride and joy : someone or something that makes you very proud and happy • Our children are our pride and joy. • The car is his pride and joy.

pride of place : the highest position or best place • The Nobel Prize winner was given pride of place at the conference. • The statue has pride of place in the center of town. • A picture of their children took pride of place on the wall.

— pride-ful /'praɪdfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] US • a prideful [=proud] parent • He was too prideful to accept their help. — pride-ful-ly adv, US pride yourself on : to be proud because of having (an ability, quality, etc.) • I pride myself on my math skills. [=I am proud of my math skills] • The restaurant prides itself on having the best pizza in town.

²pride verb prides; prid-ed; prid-ing

priest /'pri:st/ noun, pl priests [count] : a person who has the authority to lead or perform ceremonies in some religions and especially in some Christian religions • He was ordained as a Roman Catholic priest. • a parish priest priest-ess /'pri:stəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count] : a woman who leads or performs religious ceremonies in some religions • a tribal priestess

priest-hood /'pri:st,hud/ noun, pl -hoods

1 the priesthood : the job of being a priest • He is entering the priesthood. [=becoming a priest] • He decided to leave the priesthood. [=stop being a priest]

2 : a group of priests in a particular religion [count] an ancient civilization that was ruled by a priesthood [noncount] What is the influence of the priesthood in today's society?

priest-ly /'pri:stli/ adj priest-li-er; -est : of or relating to a priest or to priests as a group • the priestly class • priestly robes/vows • priestly power : like a priest • He is a kind, priestly man.

prig /'prɪg/ noun, pl prigs [count] disapproving : someone who annoys people by being very careful about proper behavior and by criticizing the behavior of other people • She is too much of a prig for my liking.

— prig-gish /'prɪgɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She is too prig-gish. • priggish people — prig-gish-ly adv — prig-gish-ness noun [noncount]

prim /'prɪm/ adj prim-mer; prim-mest [or more ~; most ~]

1 sometimes disapproving a : very formal and proper • a prim manner • He has prim views on religion. b : easily shocked or upset by rude behavior, comments, etc. • a prim [=prudish] young lady • Her aunts were very prim and proper.

2 : very neat in appearance • a prim little house

— prim-ly adv • She was primly dressed. • She spoke to him primly. — prim-ness noun [noncount]

pri-ma ballerina /'pri:mə-/ noun, pl ~ -nas [count] : the main female dancer in a ballet company

pri-ma-cy /'praɪməsi/ noun [noncount] formal : the state of being most important or strongest • Civil law took primacy over religious law. • She has established primacy in her field of study. — often + of • He believes in the primacy of the family over the state.

pri-ma don-na /,prɪmə'dɑ:nə, Brit ,prɪ:mə'dɒnə/ noun, pl ~ -nas [count]

1 : the main female singer in an opera company : DIVA

2 disapproving : a person who thinks she or he is better than everyone else and who does not work well as part of a team or group • The actress is a temperamental prima donna. • We are looking for team players, not prima donnas.

primaeval Brit spelling of PRIMEVAL

pri-ma fa-cie /,praɪmə'feɪʃə, Brit ,praɪmə'feɪʃi/ adj, always used before a noun, law : based on what is known or seen when something is first considered or dealt with • a prima facie case • There is strong prima facie evidence that she committed perjury. [=when we look at the situation now, there is strong evidence that she committed perjury, although it is possible that we will find out that she did not commit perjury when we learn more]

pri-mal /'praɪmə/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very basic and powerful — used especially to describe feelings that are like the feelings of animals and that seem to come from a part of human nature that has existed since ancient times • primal urges/instincts pri-mar-i-ly /praɪ'merəli, Brit 'praɪməreli/ adv — used to indicate the main purpose of something, reason for something, etc. • The game is designed primarily [=mainly] for younger children. • They seemed primarily [=mostly] interested in getting rich.

¹pri-ma-ry /'praɪ,meri, Brit 'praɪməri/ adj, always used before a noun

1 a : most important : MAIN • our primary [=principal] objective/goal • The economy was the primary focus of the debate. • Your safety is our primary [=foremost] concern. b : most basic or essential • primary needs • The family is the primary social unit of human life. • The primary function of our schools is to educate our young people. — compare SECONDARY, TERTIARY

2 : happening or coming first • the primary [=initial] stage of a civilization • We just started our primary flight training. — compare SECONDARY, TERTIARY

3 : not coming from or dependent on something else • The book is based mainly on primary sources rather than secondary sources.

4 chiefly Brit : relating to the education of young children • primary [= (US) elementary] education/teachers

²primary noun, pl -ries [count] US : an election in which members of the same political party run against each other for the chance to be in a larger and more important election • a presidential primary — called also (US) primary election

primary care noun [noncount] : medical care from the doctor who sees a patient first and provides basic treatment or decides that the patient should see another doctor • He provides primary care to inner-city patients. • (US) a primary care physician/provider primary color (US) or Brit primary colour noun, pl ~ -ors [count] : one of the three colors red, yellow, or blue which can be mixed together to make other colors — compare SECONDARY COLOR

primary school noun, pl ~ schools : a school for young children [count] a new primary school [= (US) elementary school, (US) grade school] [noncount] She goes to primary school. — compare SECONDARY SCHOOL

pri-mate /'praɪ,meɪt/ noun, pl -mates [count]

1 : any member of the group of animals that includes human beings, apes, and monkeys

2 or Primate formal : the highest ranking priest in a particular country or area in some Christian churches (such as the Church of England) • the Primate of England and Wales

¹prime /'praɪm/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : most important : PRIMARY • our prime responsibility • The wine industry is of prime importance to the California economy. • The police have not yet named the prime suspect in the murder investigation.

2 : of the highest quality or value : EXCELLENT • prime beef • The house is expensive because it's in a prime location. • prime farmland

3 — used to say that someone or something is a very good example of a particular kind of person or thing • The melting of ice caps is a prime example of the effects of global warming. • Orson Welles is a prime example of the movie director as artist. • a prime specimen of a racehorse

4 : most likely or very likely to be chosen for something, to experience something, etc. • The mayor has become a prime target for criticism. • Her father was unhealthy and looked like a prime candidate for a heart attack. [=he looked like someone who was likely to have a heart attack]

²prime noun

1 [singular] : the period in life when a person is best in health, strength, etc. : the most active or successful time of a person's life • young college graduates in the prime of life • She just retired, but she's still in her prime. [=still active and in good health] • He was a great pitcher once, but he's past his prime. [=is no longer as good as he was when he was younger]

2 [noncount] technical : PRIME RATE • The interest rate is two percent plus/over prime.

³prime verb primes; primed; prim-ing [+ obj]

1 : to make (someone) ready to do something : PREPARE • She was obviously primed for the questions at the press conference. • Both teams are primed for battle and ready to play.

2 : to make (something) ready for use • prime a bomb/gun • prime a pump • prime an engine

3 : to cover (a surface) with special paint in order to prepare it for the final layer of paint • We sanded and primed the woodwork before painting.

prime the pump : to do something that will help a thing to grow or develop • The government has to prime the pump to get the economy going. • That sort of language will only prime the pump for an ugly argument later.

prime interest rate noun, pl ~ rates [count] : PRIME RATE

prime meridian noun

the prime meridian : an imaginary line that runs from the North Pole to the South Pole through Greenwich, England prime minister or Prime Minister noun, pl ~ -ters [count] : the head of the government in some countries • the Prime Minister of England — abbr. PM prime mover noun, pl ~ -ers [count] : a person or thing that starts something or that has a very powerful influence on something • She was the prime mover behind the town's annual summer festival.

prime number noun, pl ~ -bers [count] mathematics : a number (such as 2, 3, or 5) that can only be exactly divided by itself and by 1

¹prim·er /'prɪmə, Brit 'praɪmə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 chiefly US : something (such as a book) that provides basic information on a particular subject • The article is an excellent primer on foreign policy.

2 : a small book that helps teach children how to read — compare ²PRIMER

²prim·er /'praɪmə/ noun, pl -ers [count, noncount] : a kind of paint that is used to prepare a surface for a final layer of a different paint — compare ¹PRIMER prime rate noun, pl ~ rates [count] : the lowest interest rate that banks will give to people who borrow money from them — called also prime, prime interest rate

prime time noun [noncount]

1 a : the time in the evening when the largest number of people are watching television • The program is being shown during prime time. • a prime-time program b : the television shows that are on during prime time • He's the best actor in prime time.

2 chiefly US, informal : the highest or most difficult level of use • This software isn't ready for prime time. [=it is not yet good enough to be used; it has problems that need to be corrected] pri·me·val also Brit pri·mae·val /praɪ'mi:vəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : very old or ancient • primeval forests • the forest primeval

2 formal : basic and powerful : PRIMAL • our primeval instincts

¹prim·i·tive /'prɪmətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : of, belonging to, or seeming to come from an early time in the very ancient past • the time when primitive man first learned to use fire • primitive animals/plants [=animals/plants that lived in ancient times or that have not changed much since ancient times]

2 : not having a written language, advanced technology, etc. • primitive societies/cultures

3 : very simple and basic : made or done in a way that is not modern and that does not show much skill • primitive [=crude] tools • The technology they used was primitive and outdated. • The camp had only a primitive outdoor toilet.

4 : coming from the part of a person that is wild or like an animal : not based on reason • primitive instincts/feelings/fears

— prim·i·tive·ly adv — prim·i·tive·ness noun [noncount]

²primitive noun, pl -tives [count] formal

1 : an artist who makes art in a simple style that is childlike; also : the art made by such an artist • The museum is known for its collection of American primitives.

2 old-fashioned : someone who belongs to a primitive society • a Stone Age primitive pri·mo /'pri:mou/ adj, US slang : of the best quality : EXCELLENT • I found a primo parking space right out front.

pri·mor·di·al /pri'mɔ:dɪəl/ adj, formal : existing from the beginning of time : very ancient • primordial gases in space • primordial [=primeval] forests primp /'prɪmp/ verb primps; primped; primp·ing : to try to make yourself more attractive by making small changes to your clothes, hair, etc., especially while looking at yourself in a mirror [no obj] The girls spent hours primping in front of the mirror. [+obj] He primped his hair while waiting for his date.

prim·rose /'prɪm,rouz/ noun, pl -ros-es [count] : a small plant with flowers that are usually a pale yellow color primrose path : an easy way of living or proceeding that will lead to problems later • The mayor is leading us down a/the primrose path by refusing to maintain the roads and only repairing them after they fail.

prince /'prɪns/ noun, pl princ-es [count]

1 a : a male member of a royal family; especially : the son or grandson of a king or queen b : a male ruler or monarch in some countries • the Prince of Monaco

2 : a man who is the best in his class, profession, etc. — usually singular • He was the prince of poets. • He is a prince among men. [=he is a very good man]

Prince Charming noun [singular] often humorous : a man who is handsome, brave, polite, etc., and would be a perfect husband or boyfriend • She was still waiting to meet her Prince Charming. • He's no Prince Charming, but he's okay.

prince·ly /'prɪnsli/ adj

1 : very large or impressive • a princely gift • Their summer house cost a princely sum. [=their summer house was very expensive]

2 : of, relating to, or suitable for a prince • a display of princely courtesy • princely duties prin·cess /'prɪnsəs, Brit 'prɪn'ses/ noun, pl -cess-es [count]

1 : a female member of a royal family; especially : a daughter or granddaughter of a king or queen

2 : the wife of a prince • Princess Diana

3 informal + sometimes disapproving : a usually attractive girl or woman who is treated with special attention and kindness • a pop music princess • She's just a stuck-up princess.

¹prin·ci·pal /'prɪnsəpəl/ adj, always used before a noun : most important : CHIEF • Vegetables are the principal ingredients in this soup. • My principal [=main] reason for moving is to have a shorter drive to work. • She is the principal cellist of the orchestra.

— prin·ci·pal·ly /'prɪnsəpəli/ adv • He is principally [=chiefly, mainly] known as a composer.

²principal noun, pl -pals [count]

1 a US : the person in charge of a public school • the new high school principal b Brit : the person in charge of a university or college

2 : an amount of money that is put in a bank or lent to someone and that can earn interest — usually singular • Our monthly mortgage payment covers the interest on our loan as well as some of the principal.

3 a : the main performer in a group of performers • The ballet featured the two principals. [=lead dancers] b : the most important person in a group • One of the principals in the assassination plot has been arrested.

Do not confuse principal with principle.

prin·ci·pal·i·ty /,prɪnsə'pæləti/ noun, pl -ties [count] formal : a small area or country that is ruled by a prince principal parts noun [plural] grammar : the main forms of a verb • The principal parts of the verb "write" include the infinitive "write," the past tense "wrote," the past participle "written," and the present participle "writing."

prin·ci·ple /'prɪnsəpəl/ noun, pl -ciples

1 : a moral rule or belief that helps you know what is right and wrong and that influences your actions [count] He has good principles. • It's against my principles to cheat. [=I believe that cheating is wrong] [noncount] As a matter of principle, he would not accept the gift. [=he did not feel that it was right to accept the gift] • She refused on principle [=because of her beliefs] to give toy guns to the children.

2 [count] : a basic truth or theory : an idea that forms the basis of something • well-established economic principles • His investment strategy is based on the principle that the stock market offers the best returns for long-term investors.

3 [count] : a law or fact of nature that explains how something works or why something happens • the basic principles of hydraulics/magnetism in principle 1 — used to say that something which has not yet happened or been done should be possible according to what is known • In principle, making the changes should be a simple matter, but there may be problems we haven't thought of. 2 : in a general way and without giving attention to details • They accepted the offer in principle.

Do not confuse principle with principled.

prin·ci·pled /'prɪnsəpəld/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having, based on, or relating to strong beliefs about what is right and wrong • a principled person [=a person who has strong moral principles; a person who tries to do what is morally right] • She took a principled stand/position on funding public education.

¹print /'prɪnt/ verb prints; print·ed; print·ing

1 : to cause (words, images, etc.) to appear on paper or cloth

by using a machine (called a printer) [+ obj] We printed 50 invitations before we ran out of ink. • Could you print (up) another copy of last quarter's report? • The new machine prints 30 pages per minute. • Your tickets are being printed now. • a slogan printed on a bumper sticker • We printed the new logo on the T-shirts. = We printed the T-shirts with the new logo. [no obj] Your tickets are printing now. • This printer allows you to print on both sides of a sheet of paper.

2 [+ obj] : to use a machine (called a printing press) to produce (books, newspapers, magazines, etc.) • They printed 10,000 copies of the book's new edition.

3 [+ obj] : to include (something) in a book, newspaper, magazine, etc. : PUBLISH • I'm surprised they printed that cartoon/story in the paper. • Her picture was printed in a magazine last month.

4 : to write (something) using separate letters that do not join together [+ obj] Print your name and address in the space provided. [no obj] Once you learn how to print, then you can move on to cursive writing.

5 [+ obj] : to produce (a photograph) on paper • Please print two copies of all the pictures on that roll. • Our vacation pictures are on my computer, but I haven't printed them yet.

a license to print money see ¹LICENSE

print out also print off [phrasal verb] print (something) out/off or print out/off (something) : to produce a paper copy of (a document that is on a computer) • Could you print out another copy for me? — see also PRINTOUT

— printed adj, always used before a noun • printed documents • Fewer people these days are getting their news from the printed page/word. [=from newspapers, magazines, books, and other printed sources]

²print noun, pl prints

1 [noncount] : the process of making a book, magazine, newspaper, etc. • The editor's job is to prepare the manuscript for print. [=for publication] • He was glad to get one of his poems into print. [=into a published magazine, book, etc.] • Her first novel is still in print. [=her first novel is still being printed for sale] • His biography has been out of print for years. [=his biography is no longer being printed] • When is the book scheduled to go to print? [=when is the book supposed to be sent to the printer?]

2 [noncount] : the letters, numbers, or symbols used in printing something : TYPE • books with large print = large-print books [=books with large letters for people who have difficulty seeing] • What is the print size of your book? — see also FINE PRINT, SMALL PRINT

3 [count] a : a photograph that is printed on paper • black-and-white prints • She bought a print [=a photographic copy] of the painting for her room. b : a picture made from pressing an inked surface on paper • a woodblock print • an exhibit of 16th-century German prints

4 [count] : a mark made on the surface of something: such as a : FINGERPRINT • The detectives found his prints on the wine glass. • Police dusted the house for prints. b : FOOTPRINT • A muddy print on the sidewalk matched the tread on the suspect's boots.

5 [count] : cloth that has a pattern printed on it • The fabric store had a variety of plaids and prints available. • a floral print dress

³print adj, always used before a noun : of, relating to, or writing for books, magazines, newspapers, etc. • print journalists/journalism • print ads/media

print-able /'prɪntəbəl/ adj

1 : suitable to be printed or published • The paper's editor isn't looking for a great article, just something printable. • The coach yelled insults at his team, none of which are printable. [=the words he used were too offensive to be shown in print]

2 : able to be printed by using a computer's printer • There are printable maps on the Web site.

printed circuit noun, pl ~ -cuits [count] technical : a circuit that uses thin strips of metal on a thin board to carry electricity

print-er /'prɪntə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a machine that is used for printing documents, photographs, etc. • I need a new printer for my office. — see picture at OFFICE; see also INK-JET PRINTER, LASER PRINTER

2 : a person or company whose business is printing books, magazines, etc. • Benjamin Franklin was originally a printer. • The manuscript was sent to the printer yesterday.

print-ing /'prɪntɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [noncount] : the process of producing books, magazines,

etc. by using machinery • color printing • a printing error

2 [count] : the act or process of printing a set number of copies of a book at one time • The book is already in its second printing, and a third printing is scheduled for later this year. • The book has had two printings of 100,000 copies each.

3 [noncount] : handwriting that uses separate letters that do not join together • Her printing is very neat.

printing press noun, pl ~ press-es [count] : a machine that prints books, magazines, newspapers, etc., usually in large numbers

print-out /'prɪnt,aʊt/ noun, pl -outs [count] : a copy of a document produced by a printer • She gave me a printout of the directions. • a computer printout — see also print out at ¹PRINT

¹pri-or /'praɪə/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : existing earlier in time : PREVIOUS • prior approval • in prior years • Do you have a prior history of back problems? • The job requires prior experience in advertising. • The defendant had a prior record of convictions. • I'm sorry, but we have a prior commitment and can't come tonight. • The contract was canceled without prior notice. [=the contract was canceled right away]

2 formal : more important than something else because it came first • We have a prior claim to the estate.

prior to somewhat formal : before (a time, event, etc.) • Prior to dinner, photographs of the wedding party will be taken. • My parents were married just prior to the war.

²prior noun, pl -ors [count]

1 a : a monk who is the head of a religious house or order b : a priest whose rank is just below that of an abbot

2 US, informal : a previous time of being arrested for or found guilty of a crime • The suspect has two priors for robbery. [=the suspect had been arrested/convicted twice before for robbery]

pri-or-ess /'praɪərəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count] : a nun who is head of a religious house or order

pri-or-i-tize also Brit pri-or-i-tise /praɪ'orə,tʌɪz/ verb -tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing

1 : to organize (things) so that the most important thing is done or dealt with first [+ obj] It's always difficult to prioritize work, school, and family. [no obj] If you want to do your job efficiently, you have to learn to prioritize.

2 [+ obj] : to make (something) the most important thing in a group • The town council hopes to prioritize the bridge construction project at the next meeting.

pri-or-i-ty /praɪ'orəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [count] : something that is more important than other things and that needs to be done or dealt with first • Reorganizing the sales force will be a top priority for the new president. • Getting the work done on time is a priority for me. • Exercising is not very high on her list of priorities. [=it's not among the things she thinks are important]

2 priorities [plural] US : the things that someone cares about and thinks are important • He has terrible priorities. [=he doesn't care about the things that are truly important] • You need to get your priorities straight and go back to school. [=you need to realize that going back to school is the most important thing for you to do] • She decided to go to the party instead of studying? Where are her priorities?

3 [noncount] : the condition of being more important than something or someone else and therefore coming or being dealt with first • These problems are important and should be given priority (over others). [=they should be dealt with first] • I know you want to buy a new stereo, but right now, saving for college has to take priority. • Health concerns should have priority over comfort. [=health concerns are more important than comfort]

pri-o-ry /'praɪəri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a place where a group of monks or nuns live : a religious house that is under the direction of a prior or prioress prism /'prɪzəm/ noun, pl prisms [count] : a transparent glass or plastic object that usually has three sides and that separates the light that passes through it into different colors — often used figuratively to describe a way of looking at or thinking about something that causes you to see or understand it in a different way • The novel is a history of early 19th-century America told through the prism of one life.

pris-mat-ic /prɪz'mætɪk/ adj, technical : using, containing, or shaped like a prism • a prismatic lens • prismatic crystals

pris-on /'prɪzn/ noun, pl -ons

1 : a building where people are kept as punishment for a crime or while they are waiting to go to court [count] a state/federal prison • The state plans to build two more prisons. [noncount] He was in prison at the time. • If caught, they're all going to prison. • She was sent/sentenced to prison for robbery. • He was released from prison. • He's scheduled to get out of prison next month. — often used before another noun • a prison cell • a prison guard • an investigation into prison conditions • an overhaul of the prison system • prison reform • the prison population • an eight-year prison sentence/term • prison time [=the time someone spends in prison] synonyms see ¹JAIL

2 [count] : a place or situation from which you cannot escape • Her marriage became a prison to her.

prison camp noun, pl ~ camps [count] : a camp where a large group of prisoners are kept especially during a war

pris-on-er /'prɪznə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who is kept in a prison • The prisoners [=inmates] have two hours of exercise per day. • a political prisoner [=a person put in prison because of his or her political beliefs]

2 : a person who has been captured and is being kept somewhere • He was captured by rebel forces and kept as their prisoner for several months before they set him free. • They took him prisoner. = He was taken prisoner. [=they captured him and made him their prisoner] • The families were held/kept prisoner for four days. — sometimes used figuratively • She's a prisoner of her fears. [=she is controlled by her fears] take no prisoners : to deal with the people you are competing with or trying to defeat in a very harsh way without mercy • He takes no prisoners when it comes to running the business. — see also TAKE-NO-PRISONERS prisoner of conscience noun, pl prisoners of conscience [count] : someone who is held in prison because of his or her political or religious beliefs prisoner of war noun, pl prisoners of war [count] : a soldier who has been captured during a war by the enemy — called also POW

pris-sy /'prɪsi/ adj pris-sier; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal + disapproving : having or showing the annoying attitude of people who care too much about dressing and behaving properly and who are easily upset by other people's behavior, language, etc. • She was too prissy to wear jeans. • a prissy do-gooder

— pris-si-ly /'prɪsəli/ adv — pris-si-ness /'prɪsɪnəs/ noun [noncount]

pris-tine /'prɪsti:n/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : in perfect condition : completely clean, fresh, neat, etc. • My office is a mess but her office is always pristine. • He was wearing a pristine white shirt. • The car is 10 years old but it's still in pristine condition. [=it still looks the way it did when it was new]

2 : not changed by people : left in its natural state • a pristine forest

pri-va-cy /'praɪvəsi, Brit 'prɪvəsi/ noun [noncount]

1 : the state of being alone : the state of being away from other people • She went upstairs for some privacy. • I don't care about what you do in the privacy of your own home. [=I don't care what you do when you are at home by yourself or with your family]

2 : the state of being away from public attention • Celebrities have a right to privacy. • She felt that the guard's request to search her was an invasion of (her) privacy. [=she felt the search did not respect her privacy]

¹pri-vate /'praɪvət/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : for the use of a single person or group : belonging to one person or group : not public • a private beach/club/property • He returned to the country on his private [=personal] jet. • It was the first time many had seen works from the artist's private collection. • a room with a private bath [=a bathroom that is not shared between several rooms]

2 : not relating to a person's official position or job • At work he was always very serious, but in his private life, he was actually very funny and relaxed.

3 a : not known by the public or by other people : SECRET • private dealings/meetings • Please keep all my personal information private. • They shared a private joke. [=a joke only understood by the few people who know what it refers to] b : not telling others about yourself : keeping your personal information secret • He's a very private person.

4 : away from other people : out of the sight and hearing of other people • Let's go somewhere private. • They were sitting in a private corner of the restaurant.

5 always used before a noun : not holding a public or elected office • private individuals • a private citizen

6 a : not paid for or controlled by the government • tax policies to encourage private industry • a private hospital/college • The mayor hired a private contractor rather than using city workers to do the job. b : not having stocks traded on the open market • a private company

7 : involving or done with a single person rather than a group • She had years of private piano study/lessons. • private students [=students who are given private lessons]

— pri-vate-ly adv • a privately held/owned company • The two leaders met privately to discuss trade policy.

²private noun, pl -vates

1 [count] : a person of the lowest rank in the U.S. or British Army or the U.S. Marines

2 privates [plural] informal : PRIVATE PARTS in private : out of the sight and hearing of other people : in a private place • We would like to speak to you in private. [=privately] • The group always met in private.

private enterprise noun [noncount] : FREE ENTERPRISE

pri-va-teer /,praɪvə'tiə/ noun, pl -teers [count] : a ship used in the past to attack and rob other ships; also : a sailor on a privateer private investigator noun, pl ~ -tors [count] : someone who works as a detective and who is not a member of a police force • She hired a private investigator to follow her husband. — called also private detective, (informal) private eye

private member noun, pl ~ -bers [count] Brit : a member of the British House of Commons who is not a minister in the government private member's bill noun, pl ~ bills [count] Brit : a bill prepared or introduced in the British House of Commons by a private member private parts noun [plural] informal : a person's external sexual organs — used as a polite way of referring to the sexual organs without having to say their names • He used a towel to cover his private parts. — called also privates

private patient noun, pl ~ -tients [count] Brit : a person who gets and pays for medical treatment outside of the National Health Service private practice noun, pl ~ -tices : a professional business (such as that of a lawyer or doctor) that is not controlled or paid for by the government or a larger company (such as a hospital) [noncount] After years as attorney general, he returned to private practice. • He is now in private practice. [count] She left the hospital clinic and now has a private practice.

private school noun, pl ~ schools [count] : a school that does not get money from the government and that is run by a group of private individuals — compare PUBLIC SCHOOL

private sector noun [singular] : the part of an economy which is not controlled or owned by the government • The private sector is growing. • private-sector businesses/gains — compare PUBLIC SECTOR

pri-va-tion /praɪ'veɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions formal : a lack or loss of the basic things that people need to live properly [noncount] The country has suffered through long periods of economic privation. [count] the privations of poverty

pri-vat-ize also Brit pri-vat-ise /'praɪvə'taɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] : to remove (something) from government control and place it in private control or ownership • The city decided to privatize the municipal power company. • a proposal to privatize the health-care system — opposite NATIONALIZE

— pri-vat-i-za-tion also Brit pri-vat-i-sa-tion /,praɪvətə'zeɪʃən, Brit ,praɪvətə'taɪ'zeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the privatization of health care

priv-et /'prɪvət/ noun [noncount] : a bush with green leaves that is often used for hedges

¹priv-i-lege /'prɪvlɪdʒ/ noun, pl -leg-es

1 [count] : a right or benefit that is given to some people and not to others • The prisoner's exercise privileges were taken away. [=the prisoner was no longer allowed to exercise] • Good health care should be a right and not a privilege.

2 [singular] : a special opportunity to do something that makes you proud • Meeting the President was a privilege. [=honor] • We had the privilege of being invited to the party. • I had the privilege of knowing your grandfather.

3 [noncount] somewhat formal : the advantage that wealthy and powerful people have over other people in a society • He lived a life of wealth and privilege. • children of privilege [=privileged children; children from wealthy families with high social status]

4 [noncount] : the right to keep important information private • attorney-client privilege [=the right an attorney has to keep information shared by a client secret] • During the investigation, the President invoked executive privilege.

5 [noncount] Brit : the right to say or do something without being punished for it • parliamentary privilege

²privilege verb -leges; -leged; -leg-ing [+ obj] formal : to give an advantage that others do not have to (someone or something) • The new tax laws unfairly privilege the rich.

privileged adj

1 [more ~; most ~] sometimes disapproving : having special rights or advantages that most people do not have • He comes from a very privileged background. • The town attracts people who are wealthy and privileged. • The President's adviser has a privileged position of trust. • She had privileged access to the files. • Only the privileged few can become members of the club. • I was privileged to be part of the winning team. [=I had the good fortune of being part of the winning team]

2 law : known only by the people who need to know • privileged [=confidential] information

¹privy /'prɪvi/ adj

privy to : allowed to know about (something secret) • I wasn't privy to their plans. [=I didn't know about their plans]

²privy noun, pl priv-ies [count] old-fashioned : a small outdoor building that is used as a toilet

Privy Council noun

the Privy Council : the group of people chosen by the British king or queen to serve as advisers privy purse noun

the privy purse : the amount of money given to the British king or queen for personal expenses

¹prize /'praɪz/ noun, pl priz-es [count]

1 : something that is won in a contest or given as an award • $500 was the prize for first place. • She won a prize for guessing correctly how many jelly beans there were in the jar. • He won first/second/third prize. • The grand prize [=the best prize] of the drawing went to his daughter. — see also BOOBY PRIZE, CONSOLATION PRIZE, DOOR PRIZE, NOBEL PRIZE, PULITZER PRIZE

2 : something that is very valuable or desirable and that is difficult to get • This picture would be the prize of any museum's collection.

²prize adj, always used before a noun

1 a : given as an award or prize • prize money • b : winning a prize • a prize [(more commonly) prizewinning] essay • the prize pig

2 : very good or impressive : deserving an award or prize • Dad brought back his prize catch, a three-foot striped bass. • a prize student

3 Brit, informal : real or complete • I felt a prize fool for making such a stupid mistake.

³prize verb prizes; prized; priz-ing [+ obj] : to value (someone or something) very highly • I know that you prize our friendship. synonyms see APPRECIATE — compare ⁴PRIZE

⁴prize (US) or Brit prise /'praɪz/ verb priz-es; prized; priz-ing [+ obj] somewhat formal : to open or move (something) with a tool • I tried to prize [(US) pry] the lid off the jar. • She prized the door open with the crowbar. — often used figuratively • He tried to prize the information out of me. [=he tried to force me to give him the information] — compare ³PRIZE prized adj, always used before a noun : very valuable or important • These are some of my prized possessions. • She was a highly prized employee.

prize-fight /'praɪz,faɪt/ noun, pl -fights [count] : a fight between two professional boxers for money

— prize-fight-er /'praɪz,faɪtə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

— prize-fight-ing /'praɪz,faɪtɪŋ/ noun [noncount] • He wrote a history of American prizefighting.

prize-giving noun, pl -ings [count] Brit : a ceremony at which prizes are awarded prize-win-ner /'praɪz,wɪnə/ noun, pl -ners [count] : someone or something that wins a prize

— prize-win-ning /'praɪz,wɪnɪŋ/ adj, always used before a noun • a prizewinning director • a prizewinning recipe

¹pro /'prəʊ/ noun, pl pros [count] : an argument for something : a reason to do something — usually plural • Make a list of the pros and a list of the cons and then compare them. • The pros outweigh the cons. [=there are more advantages than disadvantages] • Congress weighed the pros and cons of the new tax plan. [=the arguments for and against the new tax plan]

2 : a person who supports or is in favor of something • When the new law was proposed, we began hearing arguments from both the pros and the cons. [=from the people who supported it and the people who opposed it]

— compare ³PRO

²pro adv : in favor of something • Much was written pro and con about the law. [=both for and against the law]

³pro noun, pl pros [count]

1 : someone who is paid to participate in a sport or activity : PROFESSIONAL • tennis/golf pros • He just turned pro this year. [=he just became a professional this year]

2 : someone who has a lot of experience or skill in a particular job or activity • He is a pro when it comes to household repairs. • She handled that tricky situation like an old pro.

the pros US, somewhat informal : the professional level of competition in a sport • He is playing in the pros now.

— compare ¹PRO

⁴pro adj, always used before a noun

1 : paid to participate in a sport or activity : PROFESSIONAL • a pro athlete/wrestler

2 : done by people who are paid to play or compete in a sport or activity : PROFESSIONAL • pro football/basketball pro- prefix : in favor of : supporting — often used with a hyphen • pro-Democracy — opposite ANTI-pro-ac-tive /'prəʊ'æktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~] : controlling a situation by making things happen or by preparing for possible future problems • A survey was given out to customers so that the company could take proactive steps to improve their service. • The city is taking a proactive approach to fighting crime by hiring more police officers. — compare REACTIVE

— pro-ac-tive-ly adv • Regular exercise is one way to fight heart disease proactively.

pro-am /'prəʊ'æm/ noun, pl -ams [count] : an event or tournament in which both professionals and amateurs compete

— pro-am adj, always before a noun • a pro-am tournament/race

prob-a-bil-i-ty /'prɒbə'bɪləti/ noun, pl -ties

1 : the chance that something will happen [count] The probability [=likelihood] of an earthquake is low/high. • There is a low/high probability that you will be chosen. [noncount] There is some probability of rain tomorrow.

2 [singular] : something that has a chance of happening • With the dark clouds moving in, rain seems more like a probability than a possibility.

3 : a measure of how often a particular event will happen if something (such as tossing a coin) is done repeatedly [count] The probability of a coin coming up heads is one out of every two tries. [noncount] the laws of probability

In all probability : almost certainly : very likely • In all probability, he will go home tomorrow. • We will contact you, in all probability, next week.

prob-a-ble /'prɒbəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : likely to happen or to be true but not certain • a probable result/explanation • His account of what happened is more probable than not. [=his account of what happened is probably true] • It is probable that life exists outside of our planet.

probable cause noun [noncount] chiefly US, law : evidence that gives someone a reason to think that a crime has been or is being committed • The lawyer argued that there was a lack of probable cause for a search warrant. • The police had probable cause to arrest him.

prob-a-bly /'prɒbəbli/ adv : very likely : almost certainly • It will probably rain today. • They will probably be here soon. • You are probably right. • It was probably the best concert I've ever been to. • There were probably about 150 people at the wedding. • "Are you going to the picnic?" "Probably." • "Can you finish painting the room today?" "Probably not."

¹pro-bate /'prəʊ,bet/ noun [noncount] law

1 : the process of proving in court that the will of a person who has died is valid • Her will was offered for probate by the relatives.

2 : PROBATE COURT • The case will now go to probate.

²probate verb -bates; -bat-ed; -bat-ing [+ obj] US, law : to prove that (a will) is valid before a probate court • The court will probate the will. • The will was probated.

probate court noun, pl ~ courts [count, noncount] US, law : a court that proves wills are valid pro-ba-tion /'prəʊ'beɪʃən/ noun

1 : a situation or period of time in which a person who is starting a new job is tested and watched to see if that person is able to do the job properly [noncount] As a new employee, I will be on probation for three months. [singular] There is a three-month probation (period) for new employees.

2 [noncount] law : a situation or period of time in which a person who has committed a crime is allowed to stay out of prison if that person behaves well, does not commit another crime, etc. • He hoped that the judge would grant him probation. • He was sentenced to one year's probation. • He was sent back to prison for violating his probation. • She was arrested while on probation.

3 [noncount] US : a situation or period of time in which a person who has made a serious mistake or done something bad is watched and must behave well in order not to be seriously punished • Instead of firing her, they put/placed her on probation. • The student was placed on probation for copying test answers.

probation officer noun, pl ~ -cers [count] law : a person who is in charge of watching, working with, and helping people who have been placed on probation probe /'proub/ verb probes; probed; probing

1 : to ask a lot of questions in order to find secret or hidden information about someone or something [no obj] His questions made it clear he was probing for information. • He didn't like the police probing into his past. • Firefighters are still probing [=looking] for the cause of the fire. [+ obj] He didn't like the police probing him about his past.

2 [+ obj] a : to touch or reach into (something) by using your finger, a long tool, etc., in order to see or find something • The doctor probed the wound with his finger. • Searchers probed the mud with long poles. b : to look into or examine (something) carefully • She probed the files for evidence that would help the investigation.

– probing adj • The reporter asked a lot of probing questions. • Her father gave her a probing look. • a probing mind probe noun, pl probes [count]

1 : a careful examination or investigation of something • The FBI probe did not produce any new evidence.

2 : a thin, long instrument that is used especially for examining parts of the body

3 : SPACE PROBE

pro-bi-ty /'proubeti/ noun [noncount] formal : the quality of a person who is completely honest • a person of probity

prob-lem /'prɑ:bləm/ noun, pl -lems

1 [count] : something that is difficult to deal with : something that is a source of trouble, worry, etc. • Racism and sexism are major social problems. • The company is having financial problems. • She has a drug problem. [=she is addicted to drugs] • He has chronic health/medical problems. • She has a weight problem. [=her weight is not healthy] • The mechanic fixed the problem with the car. • There are a few problems with your argument. • We have to find a way to solve this problem. • She is bothered by family/personal/marriage problems. • We didn't have any problems getting here. • I have my own problems to deal with. • Mosquitoes are a problem in the summer. • When he drinks too much, he causes problems. • The problem with you is that you're too stubborn. • We would love to have a dog. The only problem is (that) [=the reason that would be difficult is] we don't have the time to take care of it. • The fact that you're late is not my problem. [=I am not responsible for helping you deal with the problem of being late]

2 [singular] a : difficulty in understanding something • I'm having a problem following your argument. b : a feeling of not liking or wanting to do something • "We'll have to leave a little early." "OK, I don't have a problem with that." [=that doesn't bother me] • "He says he won't go." "What's his problem?" [=why is he being so unreasonable?]

3 [count] : a mathematical question to be solved • a math problem • Solve these problems for homework.

no problem also not a problem informal — used to say that you are happy to do something or that you are not bothered by something • "Thanks for your help." "No problem." • "I'm sorry for interrupting you." "No problem." • "Can you get this done by lunchtime?" "No problem." • "I would like to pay with my credit card." "Not a problem." problem adj, always used before a noun : difficult to deal with • a problem child

prob-lem-at-ic /,prɑ:blə'mætɪk/ also prob-lem-at-i-cal /,prɑ:blə'mætɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : difficult to understand, solve, or fix • a problematic [=puzzling] situation •

Rules of grammar are more problematic for non-native speakers.

problem-solving noun [noncount] : the process or act of finding a solution to a problem • Let's do some problem-solving and see if we can't figure out what to do. • mathematical problem-solving • problem-solving skills

pro bono /,prou'bounə/ adj, always used before a noun, law : involving or doing legal work for free • pro bono work • a pro bono case/lawyer

– pro bono adv • The lawyer defended him pro bono. [=for free]

pro-bos-cis /prə'bo:səs/ noun, pl -bos-cis-es also -bos-ci-des /-'bo:sə,dɪ:z/ [count]

1 biology : the long, thin nose of some animals (such as an elephant)

2 biology : a long, thin tube that forms part of the mouth of some insects (such as a butterfly)

3 humorous : a person's nose especially when it is very long or big pro-ce-dure /prə'si:ʒə/ noun, pl -dures

1 : a series of actions that are done in a certain way or order : an established or accepted way of doing something [count] Installing a car battery is a simple procedure. • What is the procedure for applying for a loan? • New employees are taught the proper safety procedures. [noncount] We must follow proper court/legal/parliamentary procedure. • An identity check is standard police procedure.

2 [count] : a medical treatment or operation • the procedure for treating a burn • surgical procedures • The procedure will take two hours.

– pro-ce-dur-al /prə'si:ʒərəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal • procedural steps • Congress will vote on a procedural matter/bill.

pro-ceed /prou'si:d/ verb -ceeds; -ceed-ed; -ceed-ing

1 [no obj] a : to continue to do something • After the interruption, she proceeded with her presentation. • "Before we proceed further, does anyone have any questions?" • We will proceed according to plan. • We may not be able to proceed as planned. • How should we proceed? • After inspecting the house, the couple decided to proceed [=go ahead] with the sale. • When we've finished this part of the project, we can proceed [=go on] to the next step. b : to continue being done • The problems have been fixed and the work can now proceed. • The work is proceeding [=going] well.

2 [+ obj] : to do something after you have done something else — often used to describe behavior that is surprising, annoying, etc.; followed by to + verb • He said he didn't have much time and then proceeded to spend the next half hour talking about his vacation.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] formal : to go or move in a particular direction • All passengers must proceed to the baggage claim area. • The crowd proceeded toward the exits. • The troops proceeded north along the river.

proceed against [phrasal verb] proceed against (someone) law : to start a legal case against (someone) • They threatened to proceed against him.

proceed from [phrasal verb] proceed from (something) formal : to come from (a source) • Strange noises proceeded from the house.

pro-ceed-ing /prou'si:dɪŋ/ noun, pl -ings

1 [count] law : the process of appearing before a court of law so a decision can be made about an argument or claim : a legal action • a court proceeding — usually plural • bankruptcy/divorce/criminal proceedings • The bank is undertaking legal proceedings against him.

2 proceedings [plural] a : things that are said or done at a meeting, conference, ceremony, etc. • The secretary kept a record of the proceedings at/of the meeting. • She started the proceedings with a brief welcoming speech. b formal : an official record of the things said or done at a meeting, conference, etc. • The proceedings of the conference will be published.

pro-ceeds /'prou,sɪ:dz/ noun [plural] : the total amount of money or profit that is made • The proceeds of the concert will go to charity. • Half the proceeds will be donated to the church. • He took the proceeds from the sale of his business and invested in stocks.

pro-cess /'prɑ:səs, Brit 'prəʊ,səs/ noun, pl -cess-es [count]

1 : a series of actions that produce something or that lead to a particular result • costly manufacturing processes • How does the election process work? • Learning a foreign language can be a long/slow/difficult process. • We're remodeling our house. The whole process is expected to take a few months. • She figured out who he was by the process of elimination. [=by considering and rejecting each possible choice until only one was left] — see also DUE PROCESS

2 : a series of changes that happen naturally • the process of growth • the aging process • Breathing and the circulation of blood are life processes.

3 medical : something that sticks out of something else • a bony process on the foot in process : being worked on or done • The book is still in process.

in the process 1 : while doing something • He scored the goal but was injured in the process. 2 ✧ If you are in the process of doing something, you are doing something that takes a certain amount of time to do. • I am in the process of buying a new car/house.

2 process verb -cesses; -cessed; -cess-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to change (something) from one form into another by preparing, handling, or treating it in a special way • Food is often processed before it is packaged and sold. • He brought the film to be processed. [=developed] • The sewage plant processes waste. b : to deal with (something, such as an official document or request) by using a particular method or system • Her job includes processing insurance claims. • Your application will be processed in 5 to 10 business days.

2 : to take in and use (information) • Computers process data. • The brain processes the information that is taken in by our senses. • It took me a minute to process [=understand] what he was saying.

— processing noun [noncount] • food processing • the processing of insurance claims • information processing — see also DATA PROCESSING, WORD PROCESSING pro-ces-sion /prə'seʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 : an organized group or line of people or vehicles that move together slowly as part of a ceremony [count] a funeral/wedding procession • There was a procession of children carrying candles. [noncount] The cars moved in procession to the cemetery.

2 [count] : a number of people or things that come or happen one after another : SERIES — + of • We have had a procession of visitors today. • The new employee had a procession of meetings to go to.

1 pro-ces-sion-al /prə'seʃənəl/ adj, always used before a noun : of, relating to, or used for a procession • processional music

2 processional noun, pl -als [count]

1 : a piece of music that is played during a procession • a wedding processional

2 : PROCESSION 1 • He led a slow processional into the church.

pro-ces-sor /'prɑːsɪsə/ noun, pl -sors [count]

1 : a machine, company, etc., that treats, prepares, or handles something • a film processor • the largest seafood processor in the country • a film processor — see also FOOD PROCESSOR

2 : CPU — see also MICROPROCESSOR, WORD PROCESSOR

pro-choice /prəʊ'tʃɔɪs/ adj : believing that pregnant women should have the right to choose to have an abortion • pro-choice supporters/groups • The governor has taken a pro-choice position. = The governor is pro-choice. — compare PRO-LIFE

pro-claim /prəʊ'kleɪm/ verb -claims; -claimed; -claim-ing [+ obj]

1 : to say or state (something) in a public, official, or definite way : to declare or announce (something) • She proclaimed that she will run for governor. • The President proclaimed a national day of mourning. • He took command of the government and proclaimed himself emperor. • The magazine proclaimed him to be the best player in baseball. • He proclaimed his love for her in a poem. • She continues to proclaim her innocence. [=to say that she is innocent]

2 formal : to show (something) clearly • His behavior proclaimed his good upbringing.

proc-la-ma-tion /,prɑːklə'meɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions somewhat formal

1 : the act of saying something in a public, official, or definite way : the act of proclaiming something [count] No one believed her proclamations of innocence. [=her statements that she was innocent] [noncount] the proclamation of martial law

2 [count] : an official statement or announcement made by a person in power or by a government • The President issued a proclamation which freed the slaves.

pro-cliv-i-ty /prəʊ'klɪvəti/ noun, pl -ties [count] formal : a strong natural liking for something that is usually bad : a tendency to do something that is usually bad — usually singular • Why do some people have a proclivity for violence? [=why are some people violent?] • She has a proclivity [=tendency] to assume the worst. • He shows no proclivity towards aggression. [=he is not aggressive] pro-cras-ti-nate /prə'kræstəneɪt/ verb -nates; -nat-ed; -nat-ing [no obj] : to be slow or late about doing something that should be done : to delay doing something until a later time because you do not want to do it, because you are lazy, etc. • He procrastinated and missed the submission deadline. • He told her to stop procrastinating and get to work.

— pro-cras-ti-na-tion /prə'kræstəneɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • She is not prone to procrastination. — pro-cras-ti-na-tor /prə'kræstəneɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • Some people are procrastinators when it comes to paying their bills.

pro-cre-ate /'prəʊkriːt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [no obj] formal : to produce children or offspring : REPRODUCE • Animals have a natural instinct to procreate.

— pro-cre-ation /,prəʊkriːʃən/ noun [noncount]

proc-tor /'prɑːktə/ verb -tors; -tored; -tor-ing US : to watch students who are taking an examination [+ obj] Volunteers proctored [= (Brit) invigilated] the exam. [no obj] Teachers volunteered to proctor.

— proctor noun, pl -tors [count] • The proctor [= (Brit) invigilator] will collect the exams when time is up.

pro-cure /prə'kjə/ verb -cures; -cured; -cur-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to get (something) by some action or effort : OBTAIN • She managed to procure a ticket to the concert. • The CIA believes the group is procuring weapons. • They still need to procure a marriage license.

2 : to find or provide (a prostitute) for someone • He was charged with illegally procuring young women for wealthy clients.

— pro-cur-able /prə'kjərəbəl/ adj • easily procurable goods — pro-cure-ment /prə'kjəmənt/ noun [noncount] • the procurement of materials and supplies • Birth certificates are needed for procurement of a marriage license. — pro-cur-er /prə'kjərə/ noun, pl -ers [count] • The company is the largest procurer of building materials in the area.

1 prod /'prɑːd/ verb prods; prod-ded; prod-ding

1 : to push someone or something with your finger or a pointed object : POKE [+ obj] She prodded him in the ribs to get his attention. [no obj] — often + at • He prodded at the snake with a stick.

2 [+ obj] : to persuade or try to persuade (someone) to do something • His parents kept prodding [=urging] him to go back to school. • She was prodded into joining the team.

— prodding noun [noncount] • He didn't need any prodding to try again.

2 prod noun, pl prods [count]

1 a : the act of pushing someone or something with your finger or a pointed object : POKE • She gave him a sharp prod in the back. b : something (such as a long stick) that is used to prod an animal • He picked up a stick and used it as a prod to get the donkey moving. — see also CATTLE PROD

2 : something said or done to encourage or remind someone to do something • He needed a few prods to remember his lines. • She called me and gave me a prod about finishing the report.

prod-i-gal /'prɑːdɪgəl/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : carelessly and foolishly spending money, time, etc. • a prodigal spender • a prodigal lifestyle prodigal son/daughter : a son/daughter who leaves his or her parents to do things that they do not approve of but then feels sorry and returns home — often used figuratively • He left the company several years ago, but now the prodigal son has returned.

— prodigal noun, pl -gals [count] • The prodigal [=prodigal son/daughter] has returned.

pro-di-gious /prə'dɪdʒəs/ adj, formal

1 : amazing or wonderful : very impressive • a prodigious achievement/effort/talent

2 : very big • a prodigious amount

— pro-di-gious-ly adv, formal • He is prodigiously talented/wealthy.

prod-i-gy /'prɑːdʒi/ noun, pl -gies [count] : a young person who is unusually talented in some way • child prodigies • a chess/tennis/math prodigy

1 produce /prə'du:s, Brit prə'dju:s/ verb -duc-es; -duced; -duc-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to make (something) especially by using machines • The factory produces [=manufactures] steel. • Thousands of cars are produced here each year. — see also MASS-PRODUCE b : to make or create (something) by a natural process • The tree produces good fruit. • Honey is produced by bees. • twins produced from a single egg

2 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to exist or happen : to cause (a particular result or effect) • The insect bite produced a rash. • His suggestion produced the desired results.

3 [+ obj] : to be the source of (something or someone) : to be the place where (something or someone) comes from • The region produces large amounts of cotton and tobacco. • The college has produced some well-known scientists.

4 : to be in charge of making and usually providing the money for (a play, movie, television show, record, etc.) [+ obj] She is producing her first play/film. • He has produced many albums. • He produced and directed the movie. [no obj] On most of her movies, she both produces and directs.

5 [+ obj] a : to show (something) : to cause (something) to appear or be seen • He produced his ID for the security guard. • He suddenly produced a gun and told the cashier to hand over all the money. b : to provide (something that is wanted or needed) • They could not produce evidence that proved he was at the scene of the crime. • He'll be in trouble if he doesn't produce the money he owes them.

2 produce /'prɒ,du:s, Brit 'prɒ,dju:s/ noun [noncount] : fresh fruits and vegetables • fresh/local/organic produce

pro-duc-er /prə'du:sə, Brit prə'dju:sə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : someone who is in charge of making and usually providing the money for a play, movie, record, etc. • a record producer • the producer of the play • He is the director and producer.

2 : someone or something that grows or makes particular goods or products • wine producers • the nation's grain producers • The country is the world's leading oil producer.

product /'prɑː,ɔkt/ noun, pl -ucts

1 : something that is made or grown to be sold or used [count] dairy/software products • my favorite skin-care products • The company's newest product is selling well. [non-count] (technical) The company needs to find a way to sell more product. — often used before another noun • product design/development — see also GROSS DOMESTIC PRODUCT, GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT

2 [count] : something that is the result of a process • The sap used to make maple syrup is a natural product. • This book is the product of many years of hard work. • The finished/end product was a beautiful vase. — see also BY-PRODUCT, WASTE PRODUCT

3 [count] : someone or something that is produced or influenced by a particular environment or experience — + of • People are often products of their surroundings and upbringing. • Her politeness is a product of good parenting. • My grandfather was a product of his times. [=my grandfather was like other people who grew up with him]

4 [count] mathematics : the number that is the result of multiplying two or more numbers • 15 is the product of 3 and 5.

pro-duc-tion /prə'dʌkʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] a : the process of making or growing something for sale or use • agricultural/food/steel production • the production of grain/cars/nuclear weapons • Next year's car models are already in production. = Next year's car models have already gone into production. [=next year's car models are already being made] • The airplane is out of production. = The airplane has gone out of production. [=the airplane is no longer being made] — often used before another noun • production costs/problems • the production process/schedule — see also MASS PRODUCTION b : the process of making something naturally • the body's production of red blood cells c : the process of making a play, movie, television show, record, etc. • I took a course in film/video production. • He has a job in television production. • The sequel to the movie is in production. [=is being made]

2 [count] : a show (such as a play or movie) that is presented to the public • We saw a stage production of the novel. • The director wants her in his next production.

3 [count] : the amount of something that is made or grown for sale or use • the annual production of coal/steel/food • a rise/fall in oil production • Production levels are low/high.

4 [singular] informal : something that is very difficult or complicated • It can be a major production to get the kids ready for school in the morning. • Getting home turned out to be a real production because of all the delays at the airport. • The picnic was quite a production. There were clowns, music, and fireworks.

production line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : a line of machines, equipment, workers, etc., in a factory that builds a product by passing work from one station to the next until the product is finished • He works on the production line at the local factory. — called also assembly line, line

pro-duc-tive /prə'dʌktɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : doing or achieving a lot : working hard and getting good results • a productive meeting • I had a very productive day. • I am most productive in the morning. • a highly productive [=successful] sales team • Some staff members are more productive than others.

2 always used before a noun : producing or able to produce something especially in large amounts • productive fishing waters • productive farmland

3 formal : causing or resulting in something — + of • Your efforts have been productive of many benefits. [=have produced many benefits]

— pro-duc-tive-ly adv • The farmers learned to use their land more productively. • The team worked productively.

pro-duc-tiv-i-ty /,prɒdʌk'tɪvəti/ noun [noncount] : the rate at which goods are produced or work is completed • The country has low/high agricultural productivity. • The company is looking for ways to improve worker productivity. • There has been an increase in productivity.

prof /'prɑːf/ noun, pl profs [count] informal : PROFESSOR • a Harvard prof

Prof. abbr professor • Prof. Smith

1 pro-fane /prɒu'feɪn/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal

1 : having or showing disrespect for religious things • profane language

2 : relating to ordinary life : not religious or spiritual : SECULAR • sacred and profane customs

2 profane verb -fanes; -faned; -fan-ing [+ obj] formal + literary : to treat (a holy place or object) with great disrespect • Vandals profaned [=desecrated] the temple.

pro-fan-i-ty /prɒu'fænəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : offensive language • The comic uses too much profanity. • My mom will not tolerate profanity.

2 [count] : an offensive word • I have never heard my father utter a single profanity. — usually plural • The song is filled with profanities.

pro-fess /prə'fes/ verb -fess-es; -fessed; -fess-ing [+ obj] formal

1 : to say or declare (something) openly • He professes confidence in his friend. • They profess loyalty to the king. • He professes himself (to be) unsatisfied with their decision.

2 : to say that you are, do, or feel something when other people doubt what you say : CLAIM — followed by to + verb • They professed to be our friends. • She professed to know nothing about the missing money. • She professed to be pleased with the outcome, but we knew the truth.

3 old-fashioned : to believe in (a particular religion) • He professes Judaism/Catholicism/Islam.

pro-fessed /prə'fest/ adj, always before a noun, formal : openly said or declared • He is a professed enemy of the king. • a professed Jew/Catholic/Muslim — often used to suggest that what someone says is not true or should be doubted • His professed reason for resigning was to spend time with his family, but we heard rumors that he was caught stealing. — see also SELF-PROFESSED pro-fes-sion /prə'feʃən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [count] : a type of job that requires special education, training, or skill • The doctor talked to students who are thinking about entering/joining the profession. • the legal profession • Most professions in the medical field require years of training. • He is a carpenter by profession. = His profession is carpentry. • (humorous) She works in the (world's) oldest profession. [=she is a prostitute]

2 [singular] : the people who work in a particular profession • Their daughter recently became a member of the medical profession. • The teaching profession opposes the new law. = (Brit) The teaching profession oppose the new law.

3 [count] formal : the act of declaring or saying something openly — often + of • She made a profession of religious faith.

1 pro-fes-sion-al /prə'feʃənəl/ adj

1 always used before a noun a : relating to a job that requires special education, training, or skill • Do you have any professional experience? • professional people/photographers/electricians/soldiers • a professional career b : done or given by a person who works in a particular profession • professional services • You need professional help. • You should seek professional advice.

2 always used before a noun a : paid to participate in a sport or activity • professional athletes/golfers • a professional poker player • a golfer who recently turned professional b : done by people who are paid to play or compete • professional sports/football/poker

3 [more ~; most ~] : having or showing the skill, good judgment, and polite behavior that is expected from a person who is trained to do a job well • He deals with the customers in a very professional way. = He is very professional in dealing with the customers. • I was impressed by the calm and professional way she handled the crisis. • The presentation was very professional.

2 professional noun, pl -als [count]

1 : someone who does a job that requires special training, education, or skill : someone who is a member of a profession • medical/legal professionals • The bathtub was installed by a professional.

2 : someone who is paid to participate in a sport or activity • The tournament is open to both amateurs and professionals. • a golfer who recently became a professional • a golf/tennis professional [=a skillful golf/tennis player whose job is to teach other people how to play] — compare AMATEUR

3 : someone who has a lot of experience or skill in a particular job or activity • She handled the situation like a professional.

professional foul noun, pl ~ fouls [count] Brit, soccer : a foul that is made on purpose especially to prevent the other team from scoring a goal pro-fes-sion-al-ism /prəˈfɛʃənəˌlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the skill, good judgment, and polite behavior that is expected from a person who is trained to do a job well • A high level of professionalism is expected when working with clients. • She is highly respected for her professionalism.

pro-fes-sion-al-ize (US) also Brit pro-fes-sion-al-ise /prəˈfɛʃənəˌlaɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (an activity) into a job that requires special education, training, or skill • The country is professionalizing the military. — often used as (be) professionalized • Childcare has been professionalized.

— pro-fes-sion-al-i-za-tion (US) also Brit pro-fes-sion-al-i-sa-tion /prəˈfɛʃənəˌlaɪzəʃən, Brit prəˈfɛʃənəˌlaɪˈzeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the professionalization of sports

pro-fes-sion-al-ly /prəˈfɛʃənəli/ adv

1 : in a way that relates to someone's profession • Professionally, she is very successful, but her personal life is unhappy.

2 : by someone who has the special education, training, or skill that is required to do a particular job • The bathtub was professionally installed. [=was installed by a professional] • a professionally trained staff

3 : as a paid job • He plays soccer professionally.

4 : in a way that shows the skill, good judgment, and polite behavior that is expected from a person who is trained to do a job well • The problem was dealt with very professionally.

pro-fes-sor /prəˈfɛsə/ noun, pl -sors [count] : a teacher especially of the highest rank at a college or university • a chemistry/history professor = a professor of chemistry/history • Professor Williams will be teaching the class.

— pro-fes-so-ri-al /ˌprɒfəˈsɔːriəl/ adj • professorial duties/appointments • He had a professorial look to him. = He looked professorial. [=he looked like a professor] pro-fes-sor-ship /prəˈfɛsəˌʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships [count] : the job or duties of a professor • He accepted a professorship of poetry at the university.

prof-fer /ˈprɑːfə/ verb -fers; -fered; -fer-ing [+ obj] formal : to offer or give (something) to someone • He proffered advice on how best to proceed. • Many explanations were proffered. • the proffered testimony/evidence pro-fi-cient /prəˈfɪʃənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : good at doing something : SKILLFUL • a proficient reader • He has become very proficient at computer programming. • She is proficient in two foreign languages.

— pro-fi-cien-cy /prəˈfɪʃənsi/ noun [noncount] • a test in reading proficiency = a reading proficiency test [=a test to see how well you can read] • He shows a high level of proficiency in Spanish.

1 pro-file /ˈprɒʊˌfajəl/ noun, pl -files

1 a : the shape of a head or face that is seen or drawn from the side [count] His profile is very unusual. • An image of the President's profile appears on the coin. [noncount] The drawing showed her head in profile. [=the drawing showed the shape of her head as it is seen from the side] b [count] : the shape of something that is seen against a background — usually singular • The artist painted the profile of a boat against the setting sun.

profile

2 [count] : a brief written description that provides information about someone or something • I read a profile of her in a magazine. • patient profiles • profiles of American colleges

high/low profile — used to describe the amount of attention that someone or something is given • The actor's high profile helped promote the movie. • The company has kept a high profile in the computer industry. • I don't really like attention, so I try to keep/maintain a low profile around here. [=I try to avoid doing things that will cause people to notice me]

2 profile verb -files; -filed; -fil-ing [+ obj] : to give a brief description that provides information about (someone or something) • The mayor was profiled in the magazine last month.

profiling noun [noncount]

1 : the act or process of learning information about someone based on what is already known • consumer profiling

2 : the act or practice of regarding particular people as more likely to commit crimes because of their appearance, race, etc. • racial profiling

1 prof-it /ˈprɑːfət/ noun, pl -its

1 : money that is made in a business, through investing, etc., after all the costs and expenses are paid : a financial gain [count] The company made/turned a profit this year. • Profits are up/down from last year. • There was a rise/fall/increase/decrease in profits this year. • The profits from CD sales were donated to charity. • We sold the house at a profit. [=we made a profit when we sold our house] [noncount] The organization is not run for profit. • The film made $1,000,000 in profit. — opposite LOSS

2 [noncount] formal : the advantage or benefit that is gained from doing something • The book can be read with profit by anyone who wants to understand how the system works.

2 profit verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing

1 a [no obj] : to get an advantage or benefit from something — often + by or from • He profited by his experience/mistake. [=he learned something useful from his experience/mistake] • Everyone can profit from reading this book. b [+ obj] : to be an advantage to (someone) : to help (someone) • It would profit him to take some computer classes.

2 [no obj] : to earn or get money by or from something • The company has profited by selling its products online. • He profited greatly from his investments. • The island profits from tourism.

prof-it-able /ˈprɑːfətəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : making money • a profitable business • The movie was very profitable.

2 : producing good or helpful results or effects • a profitable [=beneficial] experience • The agreement was profitable [=advantageous] for everyone.

— prof-it-abil-i-ty /ˌprɑːfətəˈbɪləti/ noun [noncount] • trying to improve the company's profitability [=to make the company more profitable] — prof-it-ably /ˈprɑːfətəbli/ adv • He invested his money profitably. • Computers can be profitably used in schools.

prof-i-teer-ing /ˌprɑːfəˈtiːrɪŋ/ noun [noncount] disapproving : the act of making money by selling things at very high prices at a time when they are hard to get • The company was accused of profiteering during the crisis.

— prof-i-teer /ˌprɑːfəˈtiːə/ noun, pl -teers [count]

pro-fit-er-ole /prəˈfɪtəˌroul/ noun, pl -oles [count] Brit : CREAM PUFF 1

prof-it-less /ˈprɑːfətəls/ adj : not making a profit or producing a useful result • a profitless company • a profitless argument profit margin noun, pl ~ -gins [count] : the difference between the cost of buying or making something and the price at which it is sold • The company has one of the highest/lowest profit margins in the industry.

profit sharing noun [noncount] : a system in which employees receive a part of the company's profits prof-li-gate /ˈprɑːflɪɡət/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : carelessly and foolishly wasting money, materials, etc. : very wasteful • She was very profligate in her spending. • profligate energy use

— profligate noun, pl -gates [count] — prof-li-ga-cy /ˈprɑːflɪɡəsi/ noun [noncount]

pro for-ma /ˈprɒˈfɔːmə/ adj : done or existing as something that is usual or required but that has little true meaning or importance • The meeting was strictly pro forma, since the decision had already been made.

pro forma invoice noun, pl ~ -voices [count] business : a document that is provided before or with a shipment of goods and that describes the items shipped or the terms of the sale pro-found /ˈprəʊˈfaʊnd/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 a : having or showing great knowledge or understanding • a profound thinker • His knowledge of history is profound. • Her books offer profound insights into the true nature of courage. b : difficult to understand : requiring deep thought or wisdom • the profound mysteries of outer space • profound questions

2 a : very strongly felt • profound sorrow • a profound sense of loss b : very great • Computer technology has made profound [=major, significant] changes in our lives. • His paintings have had a profound effect/impact/influence on her own work.

3 somewhat formal : absolute or complete • a profound silence/sleep/deafness

— pro-found-ly adv • She was influenced profoundly by his art. • The discovery is profoundly important. • Their beliefs are profoundly different. • profoundly deaf people pro-fun-di-ty /ˈprəʊˈfʌndəti/ noun, pl -ties formal

1 [noncount] : the quality being profound: such as a : the quality of showing great knowledge or understanding • the profundity of his thoughts/insights • Her books are a mixture of playfulness and profundity. b : the quality of being very strongly felt • the depth and profundity of her feelings

2 [count] : a statement that shows great knowledge or understanding — usually plural • philosophical profundities

pro-fuse /ˈprəʊˈfjuːs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : given, produced, or existing in large amounts • He offered profuse apologies for being late. • They were profuse in their thanks. • profuse bleeding/sweating

— pro-fuse-ly adv • He apologized profusely. • She was bleeding profusely when she was brought to the hospital.

pro-fu-sion /ˈprəʊˈfjuːzən/ noun, formal : a large amount of something [singular] — often + of • a profusion of flowers/colors [noncount] The flowers grow in profusion.

pro-gen-i-tor /ˈprɒˈdʒenətə/ noun, pl -tors [count]

1 formal a : someone who first thinks of or does something : a person who begins something • the progenitors of modern art b : something that is a model for something else : something that begins the development of something else • a mechanical progenitor [=precursor] of the modern computer

2 biology : a person or animal in the past that is related to a person or animal living now : ANCESTOR • wild cats that were the progenitors of the house cat

prog-e-ny /ˈprɑːdʒəni/ noun, pl progeny [count]

1 a : a person who comes from a particular parent or family : the child or descendant of someone • Many Americans are the progeny of immigrants. b : the young of an animal or plant • The small plants are the progeny of an oak tree.

2 : something that is the product of something else • Their work is the progeny of many earlier studies.

pro-ges-ter-one /ˈprɒˈdʒestəˌroun/ noun [noncount] medical : a substance (called a hormone) that occurs naturally in women and female animals • Progesterone prepares the body for having a baby.

prog-no-sis /ˈprɑːɡˈnəʊsəs/ noun, pl -no-ses /-ˈnəʊˌsiːz/ [count]

1 : a doctor's opinion about how someone will recover from an illness or injury • Right now, doctors say his prognosis is/isn't good. — compare DIAGNOSIS

2 : a judgment about what is going to happen in the future • The president had a hopeful prognosis about the company's future.

prog-nos-tic /ˈprɑːɡˈnɔːstɪk/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : relating to or used for making a judgment about what is going to happen in the future • prognostic information/factors/signs • a prognostic weather chart

prog-nos-ti-ca-tion /ˈprɑːɡˈnɔːstəˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a statement about what is going to happen in the future • His prognostications [=predictions] are usually right.

— prog-nos-ti-ca-tor /ˈprɑːɡˈnɔːstəˈkeɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] formal • Political prognosticators believe she will lose the election.

1 pro-gram (US) or Brit pro-gramme /ˈprɒˌɡræm/ noun, pl -grams [count]

1 : a plan of things that are done in order to achieve a specific result • government programs • a program of regular dental checkups • a workout program

2 : a set of instructions that tell a computer what to do • a sorting program • He writes computer programs. ♦ In this sense, the spelling program is used in both U.S. and British English.

3 : a thin book or a piece of paper that gives information about a concert, play, sports game, etc. • a theater program

4 : something that is broadcast on television or radio • a news program [=show] • the morning program

5 US : a group of classes that lead to a degree : a course of study • The university has a great graduate program. • I enrolled in the teaching program.

get with the program informal : to start doing what others need or want you to do : to become involved and active in a useful and effective way • His boss told him that he'd better get with the program if he wants to keep his job.

2 program (US) or Brit programme verb -grams; -grammed or -gramed; -gram-ming or -gram-ing

1 a : to give (a computer) a set of instructions to perform a particular action : to create a program for (a computer) [+obj] He programmed the computer to calculate his monthly expenses and earnings. — often used as (be) programmed • The computer is programmed to create monthly sales reports. [no obj] She is learning how to program in school. ♦ In this sense, the spelling program is used in both U.S. and British English. b [+obj] : to give (a machine) a set of instructions to perform a particular action • Can you help me program my cell phone? • program a VCR

2 [+obj] : to make (a person or animal) behave or think in a particular way — often used as (be) programmed • Some people are programmed to be violent. [=some people have a natural or acquired tendency to be violent] • instinctive behaviors that are genetically programmed in animals

— pro-gram-ma-ble /ˈprɒˌɡræməbəl/ adj • a programmable calculator pro-gram-ma-tic /ˌprɒˌɡræˈmætɪk/ adj, formal : of, relating to, resembling, or having a program • programmatically changes/reforms pro-gram-mer /ˈprɒˌɡræmə/ noun, pl -mers [count] : a person who creates computer programs

pro-gram-ming /ˈprɒˌɡræmɪŋ/ noun [noncount]

1 : the act or job of creating computer programs

2 : a schedule of television or radio broadcasts • television/radio programming • The news conference interrupted regular television programming.

1 prog-ress /ˈprɑːɡres, Brit ˈprəʊˌgres/ noun [noncount]

1 : movement forward or toward a place • the rapid progress of the ship • He made slow progress down the steep cliff.

2 : the process of improving or developing something over a period of time • the progress of science • The project showed slow but steady progress. • She offered a progress report. [=a report about how much work has been done on something] • We're not finished yet, but we're making progress. [=we are moving forward in our work; our work is proceeding/progressing] in progress : happening or being done • Several projects are now in progress. • The filming is already in progress.

2 pro-gress /ˈprəˌgres/ verb -gress-es; -gressed; -gress-ing [no obj]

1 : to move forward in time • It became colder as the day progressed. [=went on]

2 : to improve or develop over a period of time • The project has been progressing slowly. • The work is progressing and should be completed soon.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition, formal : to move forward or toward a place • The caravan progressed slowly across the desert.

pro-gres-sion /ˈprəˌɡresʃən/ noun, pl -sions [count]

1 : the process of developing over a period of time • Doctors were surprised by the rapid progression of the disease. • the natural progression of his musical talent

2 : a continuous and connected series of actions, events, etc. : SEQUENCE • a progression of activities

1 pro-gres-sive /prə'gresiv/ adj

- 1 : moving forward • the progressive movements of the hands of a clock
 2 : happening or developing gradually over a period of time • a progressive disease
 3 [more ~; most ~] : using or interested in new or modern ideas especially in politics and education • a progressive community/school • a progressive candidate
 4 grammar : of or relating to the progressive tense of a verb • a progressive verb form — pro-gres-sive-ly adv • The situation grew progressively worse.

2 progressive noun, pl -sives

- 1 [count] : a person who favors new or modern ideas especially in politics and education • social progressives
 2 the progressive grammar : PROGRESSIVE TENSE • "Believe" is never used in the progressive.

progressive tense noun, pl ~ tenses [count] grammar

: a verb tense that is used to refer to an action or a state that is continuing to happen ✧ A progressive verb form in English consists of a form of the verb "be" followed by the main verb's present participle.

pro-hib-it /prəu'hɪbət/ verb -its; -it-ed; -it-ing [+ obj]

- 1 a : to order (someone) not to use or do something — + from • The town prohibited teenagers from being in the streets after 10 p.m. b : to say that (something) is not allowed • The rules prohibit dating a coworker. • The town prohibits [=forbids] parking on that street. — often used as (be) prohibited • Flash photography is prohibited inside the museum. • Alcohol is prohibited in the park.
 2 : to make (something) impossible to do • The prison's electric fence prohibits escape.

pro-hi-bi-tion /,prəu'hɪfən/ noun, pl -tions

- 1 [noncount] : the act of not allowing something to be used or done • the city's prohibition of smoking in restaurants
 2 [count] : a law or order that stops something from being used or done • a prohibition against parking on the street
 3 Prohibition [noncount] : the period of time from 1920 to 1933 in the U.S. when it was illegal to make or sell alcohol pro-hi-bi-tion-ist /,prəu'hɪfənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count]

: someone who supported the laws that made the production and sale of alcohol illegal in the U.S. during Prohibition pro-hib-i-tive /prəu'hɪbətɪv/ adj

- 1 [more ~; most ~] : so high that people are prevented from using or buying something • the prohibitive cost of rent • The price was prohibitive. [=too high]
 2 US : almost certain to perform, win, etc., in the expected way • She is the prohibitive favorite to win the nomination. [=she is almost certain to win the nomination]
 3 formal : stopping people from using or doing something • a prohibitive ruling • prohibitive legislation — pro-hib-i-tive-ly adv • The price was prohibitively high.

1 project /'prɑːdʒekt/ noun, pl -ects [count]

- 1 : a planned piece of work that has a specific purpose (such as to find information or to make something new) and that usually requires a lot of time • an ambitious project • a research/construction project • The repair turned out to be quite a project. [=it took a lot of time and effort to do]
 2 : a task or problem in school that requires careful work over a long period of time • a science project
 3 US : HOUSING PROJECT — usually plural • They grew up in the projects.

2 project /prə'dʒekt/ verb -jects; -ject-ed; -ject-ing

- 1 [+ obj] : to plan, calculate, or estimate (something) for a time in the future • He projected next year's costs as being slightly higher than this year's. • It's difficult to project funding needs so far into the future. — often used as (be) projected • The new building is projected to be finished in the fall. • The actual cost was much higher than the projected cost. • What is the projected [=expected] date of completion?
 2 [+ obj] : to cause (light, a picture, a movie, etc.) to appear on a surface — often + on or onto • The machine projects motion pictures on/onto a screen.
 3 [+ obj] : to have or show (a particular quality, image, etc., that can be seen by other people) • He projects strength. • an athlete who projects a positive image to young people • We need an actor who projects a tough-guy image. • He tried to project himself as a strong leader. [=to act in a way that would make people see him as a strong leader]
 4 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to stick out beyond an edge or surface • Two balconies projected [=extended] out over the seats below.

5 [+ obj] : to send or throw (something) forward, upward, or outward • The fountain projects a slender column of water high into the air. • You need to project your voice better if you want to be an actor. [=you need to speak louder and more clearly if you want to be an actor] — often used figuratively • The success of his first movie suddenly projected [=threw] him into an unfamiliar world of wealth and fame.

project onto [phrasal verb] project (something) onto (someone) : to believe or imagine that (your ideas, feelings, etc.) are shared by (another person) • She projected her fears onto him. [=she thought that he had the same fears she had] pro-jec-tile /prə'dʒektajəl/ noun, pl -tiles [count] formal

- 1 : something (such as a bullet or rocket) that is shot from a weapon • The cannon fires a ten-pound projectile.
 2 : something (such as a rock) that is thrown as a weapon • Someone threw a projectile at her car.

pro-jec-tion /prə'dʒekʃən/ noun, pl -tions

- 1 [count] : an estimate of what might happen in the future based on what is happening now • He gave a projection of future expenses.
 2 [count] : something that sticks out from a surface • projections on the rock wall
 3 [noncount] : the act or process of causing a picture, movie, etc., to appear on a surface • movie projection • projection equipment
 4 [count] technical : a type of map or drawing which shows all the parts of something that is curved or solid (such as the earth) on a flat surface • a projection map
 5 [noncount] : the act of speaking, singing, or producing sounds in a way that can be heard over a great distance • You need to work on voice/vocal projection. • sound projection
 6 [noncount] psychology : the act of imagining that someone else has the same ideas, feelings, etc., that you have • An example of projection is when someone thinks that everyone hates them because they hate themselves.
 7 [count] : something that is imagined or created from your ideas, thoughts, feelings, etc. — often + of • The image that we have of strangers is often just a projection of our own fears and desires.

pro-jec-tion-ist /prə'dʒekʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a person who operates a machine (called a projector) that shows movies on a screen in a theater • a movie projectionist

pro-jec-tor /prə'dʒektər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a machine that projects a movie or picture onto a screen • a movie/slide projector — see also OVERHEAD PROJECTOR pro-lapse /prəu'læps/ noun [noncount] medical : a condition in which an organ in your body moves down below its normal position • prolapse of the uterus prole /'prəul/ noun, pl proles [count] Brit, old-fashioned + impolite : a person who has low social status : a member of the working class : PROLETARIAN pro-le-tar-i-an /,prəulə'terɪjən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a person who has low social status : a member of the working class

— proletarian adj • He was proud of his proletarian origins. • a proletarian novel [=a novel about working-class people]

pro-le-tar-i-at /,prəulə'terɪjət/ noun

the proletariat : the lowest social or economic class of a community; especially : the working class • a member of the proletariat

pro-life /prəu'laɪf/ adj : opposed to abortion • the pro-life movement • The governor has taken a pro-life position. = The governor is pro-life. — compare PRO-CHOICE

— pro-lifer noun, pl -lifers [count]

pro-lif-er-ate /prə'lɪfə'reɪt/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [no

obj] : to increase in number or amount quickly • New problems have proliferated in recent months. [=many new problems have occurred in recent months]

— pro-lif-er-a-tion /prə,lɪfə'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount] cancer cell proliferation • trying to halt (the) proliferation of nuclear weapons [singular] There has been a recent proliferation of medical advertising on TV.

pro-lif-ic /prə'lɪfɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] : producing a large amount of something • a prolific author [=an author who writes many books] • a prolific inventor • She's a prolific scorer. [=she scores many points/goals] • a very prolific orchard [=an orchard that produces a very large amount of fruit] • The tree is a prolific bloomer. [=the tree produces many flowers]

— pro-lif-i-cal-ly /prə'lɪfɪkli/ adv

pro-lix /prəu'liks/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapprov-

ing : using too many words : VERBOSE • The speech was unnecessarily prolix. • a somewhat prolix writer pro-logue /'prɒʊlɔ:g/ noun, pl -logues [count] : an introduction to a book, play, etc. • a brief, one-page prologue • the prologue to his autobiography — often used figuratively • events that were a prologue to war [=events that came before and led to war] — compare EPILOGUE

pro-long /prə'lɔ:ŋ/ verb -longs; -longed; -long-ing [+obj] : to make (something) last or continue for a longer time • Chemotherapy helped to prolong [=extend] her life. • Additives are used to prolong the shelf life of packaged food. • High interest rates were prolonging the recession.

— pro-lon-ga-tion /prɒʊlɔ:ŋ'geɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • a prolongation of life/suffering prolonged adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] : lasting longer than usual or expected : continuing for a long time • a prolonged absence • a prolonged period of uncertainty • prolonged applause/discussions • a prolonged illness • a prolonged period of rain prom /'prɑ:m/ noun, pl proms [count]

1 US : a formal dance for high school students usually at the end of the school year • the junior/senior prom • the high school prom • Are you going to the prom? — often used before another noun • the prom queen • prom night

2 Brit, informal : PROMENADE CONCERT

prom-e-nade /,prɑ:mə'neɪd, ,prɑ:mə'nɑ:d/ noun, pl -nades [count]

1 Brit, somewhat old-fashioned : a public place for walking especially along a beach

2 old-fashioned : a walk taken in a public place for pleasure • They went for a promenade around town.

promenade verb -ades; -ad-ed; -ad-ing [no obj] old-fashioned : to walk in a public place for pleasure • They promenaded along the beach.

promenade concert noun, pl ~ -certs [count] Brit : a musical concert during which many people who are listening stand instead of sit prom-i-nence /'prɑ:mənəns/ noun : the state of being important, well-known, or noticeable : the state of being prominent [noncount] She is a scholar of considerable prominence. [=distinction] • He quickly gained prominence [=became well-known] in medical circles. • The company rose to prominence in the 1990s. [singular] The publicity has given him a prominence he doesn't deserve.

prom-i-nent /'prɑ:mənənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : important and well-known • socially/politically prominent families • The new policy is opposed by prominent [=leading] members of the faculty. • He quickly became prominent in the music industry.

2 a : easily noticed or seen • He placed the award in a prominent position on his desk. • the disease's prominent symptoms b : sticking out in a way that is easily seen or noticed • He has a prominent nose/chin. • prominent cheekbones • the most prominent peak in the mountain range

— prom-i-nent-ly adv • He figured prominently in the band's history. [=he had an important part in the band's history] • The award is prominently positioned where everyone can see it.

pro-mis-cu-ous /prə'mɪskjəwəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving

1 : having or involving many sexual partners • a promiscuous man/woman • promiscuous behavior • promiscuous sex

2 formal : including or involving too many people or things : not limited in a careful or proper way • He was promiscuous with his apologies. [=he apologized often for many different reasons] • a promiscuous selection of poems — pro-mis-cu-i-ty /,prɑ:mə'skju:wəti/ noun [noncount] • sexual promiscuity — pro-mis-cu-ous-ly adv

prom-ise /'prɑ:məs/ noun, pl -is-es

1 [count] : a statement telling someone that you will definitely do something or that something will definitely happen in the future • I'll be here early tomorrow, and that's a promise. [=I promise that I'll be here early tomorrow] • Do I have your promise that you'll support me? [=do you promise to support me?] • She gave me her promise. • I don't believe his promise of further tax cuts. = I don't believe his promise to cut taxes further. • He made a promise to help her. = He made a promise that he would help her. [=he promised to help her] • He kept/fulfilled his promise. [=he did what he said he would do] • He broke his promise. = He went back on his promise. [=he didn't do what he said he would do] • She never made a promise that she didn't intend to keep.

2 [noncount] : an indication of future success or improvement • a young artist who shows (a lot of) promise [=who seems talented and likely to do good work in the future] • Her early novels were full of promise. [=were very promising] • The new drug holds/has promise. [=the new drug could be effective or successful]

3 : a reason to expect that something will happen in the future — + of [noncount] There is little promise of relief in the forecast. • They were attracted by the promise of success. [singular] a sunny morning that gives every promise of a fine day • There is a promise of better days ahead.

a lick and a promise see ²LICK

²promise verb -ises; -ised; -is-ing

1 : to tell someone that you will definitely do something or that something will definitely happen in the future [+obj] He promised to buy his son a new bicycle. = He promised his son a new bicycle. = He promised a new bicycle to his son. • Promise me that you won't tell anyone. • I can't promise you that I'll be able to go, but I'll do my best. • The governor promised that the prisoners would receive a fair trial. • She promised to announce the results tomorrow. • International organizations have promised aid. • I promise to be careful. [no obj] You always promise, but you never do what you say you will. • "I won't tell anyone." "Promise?" "Yes, I promise."

2 [+obj] somewhat formal : to make (something) seem likely : to show signs of (something that is likely or expected to happen) • Those gray skies promise rain. ♦ Something that promises to be good, exciting, etc., is expected to be good, exciting, etc. • The race promises to be the most exciting of the season. • It promises to be a good game. [=it should be a good game]

1 (can) promise you — used to emphasize a statement • He's only concerned about himself, I promise [=assure] you. • I can promise you, you won't be disappointed.

promise (someone) the stars/moon/earth/world : to promise (someone) that you will do or give something great or wonderful even though it is not possible • He promised her the stars and the moon, but he never even bought her flowers. • Politicians will promise the earth when they're trying to get elected.

Promised Land noun

the Promised Land 1 : the land that was given to Abraham and his descendants according to the promise God made in the Bible 2 or the promised land : a happy place or condition that someone wants to reach : a place where dreams or hopes can come true • They came to America searching for the promised land.

promising adj [more ~; most ~] : likely to succeed or to be good : full of promise • a promising student • a promising start/debut • The neighborhood didn't look very promising.

— prom-is-ing-ly adv • His career as a quarterback began promisingly (enough) but was cut short by injuries.

prom-is-so-ry note /'prɑ:məsəri-, Brit 'prɒməstri-/ noun, pl ~ notes [count] business : a written promise to pay an amount of money before a particular date

pro-mo /'prɒmou/ noun, pl -mos [count] informal : something (such as an announcement, a brief film, or an appearance) that is used to advertise or promote something (such as a new book or movie) • radio/television promos — often used before another noun • a promo photo/shoot/appearance prom-on-to-ry /'prɑ:mən'tori, Brit 'prɒməntri/ noun, pl -ries [count] : a high area of land or rock that sticks out into the sea • a rocky/steep promontory

pro-mote /prə'mout/ verb -motes; -mot-ed; -mot-ing [+obj]

1 a : to change the rank or position of (someone) to a higher or more important one • I was promoted today! • He was promoted to senior editor. • The army major was promoted to lieutenant colonel. — opposite DEMOTE b Brit : to move (a sports team) to a higher position in a league • The team have been promoted to the First Division. — opposite RELEGATE

2 : to help (something) happen, develop, or increase • The President's visit was intended to promote [=further] foreign trade. • Mediators were present to promote dialogue. • Good soil promotes plant growth. • The school distributed pamphlets promoting good dental hygiene.

3 : to make people aware of (something, such as a new product) through advertising : to make (something) more popular, well-known, etc. • The marketing department is busy promoting the new line of men's clothes for fall. • The island is being promoted as a destination for romantic getaways.

pro·mot·er /prə'moutə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person or organization that organizes or provides money for a sports event, a musical performance, etc. • a boxing promoter [=a person who organizes boxing matches] • concert/club promoters

2 : a person or organization that helps something to happen, develop, or increase — often + of • the promoters of the congressional bill • The company is a major promoter of alternative fuels.

pro·mo·tion /prə'mouʃən/ noun, pl -tions : the act of promoting someone or something: such as a : the act of moving someone to a higher or more important position or rank in an organization [noncount] There was little chance for/of promotion within the company. [count] She was given a well-deserved promotion. b [noncount] Brit : the act of moving a sports team to a higher position in a league c : something (such as advertising) that is done to make people aware of something and increase its sales or popularity [noncount] — often + of • the promotion of a new brand of ice cream [count] The company is offering a special promotion to increase sales. d [noncount] : the activity of helping something to happen, develop, or increase • the promotion of better relations between neighboring countries pro·mo·tion·al /prə'mouʃənəl/ adj : done or used to make people aware of something (such as a new product or book) and increase its sales or popularity • promotional displays/materials • She went on a promotional tour for her novel.

prompt /'prɑ:mpt/ verb prompts; prompt-ed; prompt-ing [+ obj]

1 a : to cause (someone) to do something • Curiosity prompted her to ask a few questions. b : to be the cause of (something) • Pride prompted his angry response. • The evidence prompted a criminal investigation.

2 a : to say (something that encourages a person to talk) • "Did you hear me?" he prompted when his friend did not respond to his first question. b : to say the lines of a play to (an actor who has forgotten them) : to give a prompt to (an actor) • The actor had to be prompted by someone who was standing offstage.

3 computers : to show a message that tells (a user) to do something • The computer/program prompted me to type in a number.

— prompt·er noun, pl -ers [count]

prompt adj prompt·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : done or given without delay • The victims need prompt [=immediate] medical assistance. • We always get prompt service at that restaurant. • He was offered prompt access to the data he needed.

2 : arriving or doing something at the expected time or without delay • They were very prompt about responding to my request. • Please try to be prompt [=punctual] about keeping appointments.

— prompt·ness noun [noncount] • I was surprised by the promptness of their response.

prompt noun, pl prompts [count]

1 : the lines of a play that are said to an actor who has forgotten them • The actor was given a prompt by someone offstage.

2 computers : a message that appears on a computer screen asking the user to do something or to provide information • a computer prompt

prompt adv, Brit : exactly at the time stated • The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. prompt. [= (US) sharp]prompt·ly /'prɑ:mptli/ adv

1 : in a prompt manner : without delay • He reacted promptly during the emergency. • The student was promptly [=immediately] expelled.

2 : exactly at a particular or the correct time • She arrived promptly at 7:00 p.m. as we had agreed.

pro·mul·gate /'prɑ:məl,geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing [+ obj]

1 formal : to make (an idea, belief, etc.) known to many people • Her ideas/theories have been widely promulgated on the Internet.

2 technical : to make (a new law) known officially and publicly • The law was promulgated in April 1988.

— pro·mul·ga·tion /,prɑ:məl'geɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

prone /'proun/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] : likely to do, have, or suffer from something — usually + to • They are prone to (making) errors/mistakes. = They are error-prone/mistake-prone. [=they make many errors/mistakes] • Tests showed that the machine is prone to failure/fail. • He is somewhat prone to depression. • People in my family are prone to heart disease. • He is prone to (having) accidents. = He is accident-prone. [=he has many accidents] • an athlete who is injury-prone [=who is often injured]

2 : lying with the front of your body facing downward • He was lying on the floor in a prone position. = He was (lying) prone on the floor. — compare SUPINE — prone·ness /'prounnəs/ noun [noncount] • *prone*ness to accidents/depression

prong /'pra:ŋ/ noun, pl prongs [count]

1 : one of the long points of a fork or similar object : TINE

2 : one of the small metal parts of an electrical plug that fit into the holes in an outlet

pronged /'pra:ŋd/ adj

1 : having a specified number of prongs — used in combination • a three-pronged fork/outlet/plug

2 : having a specified number of parts — used in combination • The company has a two-pronged strategy for improving sales in the coming year.

prong·horn /'pra:ŋ,hoən/noun, pl -horn or -horns [count] : a large animal of western North America that looks like an antelope — called also pronghorn antelope

pro·nom·i·nal /'prou'nɑ:mən/

adj, grammar : relating to a pronoun or used like a pronoun • the pronominal adjective "this" in "this dog"

— pro·nom·i·nal·ly adv pro·noun /'prou,naʊn/ noun, pl -nouns [count] grammar : a word (such as I, he, she, you, it, we, or they) that is used instead of a noun or noun phrase

— see also PERSONAL PRONOUN

pro·nounce /prə'naʊns/ verb -nounc-es; -nounced; -nounc-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to make the sound of (a word or letter) with your voice • She practices pronouncing foreign words. • The "k" in "know" is not pronounced. [=the "k" in "know" is silent] b : to say or speak (a word) correctly • I'm sorry. I can't pronounce your name.

2 [+ obj] formal a : to say or announce (something) in an official or formal way • The priest pronounced a blessing on their home. • The judge pronounced sentence. [=stated the punishment for a criminal] b : to say or state that (someone or something) is something in usually an official or definite way • After reviewing the replay of the race's finish, the horse was pronounced the winner. [=was declared to be the winner] • I now pronounce you man and wife. [=I now declare that you are married] • She pronounced the party a success. [=she said that the party was a success] • The doctors pronounced him fit to go back to work. • He was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital.

3 [no obj] formal a : to state an opinion on something — + on or upon • As a grammarian, he freely pronounces on questions of proper English. • The senator pronounced upon the major issues in the election. b : to give a judgment for or against someone or something • Many senators are pronouncing in favor of the bill. • The judge pronounced for/against the defendant.

pro·nounce·able /prə'naʊnsəbəl/ adj : capable of being pronounced or said • His name is not easily pronounceable.

pro·nounced /prə'naʊnst/ adj [more ~; most ~] : very noticeable • He walked with a pronounced limp. • There has been a pronounced [=decided, definite] improvement in her condition. • The symptoms of the disease have become steadily more pronounced.

pro·nounce·ment /prə'naʊnsmənt/ noun, pl -ments [count] formal : an official public statement • He made some important pronouncements on government policy.

pron·to /'pra:n,tou/ adv, informal : without delay : right away • He told me to get there pronto. [=quickly, immediately]

pro·nun·ci·a·tion /prə'nʌnsi'eɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the way in which a word or name is pronounced [count] What is the correct pronunciation of his name? [noncount] I haven't learned proper pronunciation of French words.

2 [singular] : a particular person's way of pronouncing a word or the words of a language • He has flawless pronuncia-

pronghorn

tion. [=he pronounces words flawlessly]

¹proof /'pru:f/ noun, pl proofs

1 [noncount] : something which shows that something else is true or correct • The document was proof that her story was true. • He claims that he was home when the murder was committed, but he has no proof. • The photograph is proof positive [=definite proof] that the accident happened the way he described. • I'm living proof that success is possible. [=my success shows that other people can succeed too] — often + of • The evidence gave proof of her statement. [=the evidence proved her statement] • Do you have any proof of identity? • Keep the receipt as proof of purchase. [=evidence showing/proving that you bought something]

2 [count] a : an act or process of showing that something is true • The burden of proof [=the need to show that something is true] is on the prosecuting lawyer of the case. b mathematics : a test which shows that a calculation is correct • The proof shows that the theorem is true. • mathematical proofs

3 [count] technical : a copy of something that is going to be printed which is examined and used to make corrections before the final printing is done — usually plural • He edited the proofs of the manuscript.

4 [noncount] : a measurement of how much alcohol is in an alcoholic drink • The whiskey is 80 proof.

the proof is in the pudding see PUDDING

²proof adj, formal : designed or made to prevent or protect against something harmful • The seal of the bottle is proof against tampering. [=the seal prevents tampering] — usually used in combination • waterproof • bulletproof

³proof verb proofs; proofed; proof-ing [+ obj] : PROOF-READ • She proofed the story carefully.

proof-read /'pru:f,ri:d/ verb -reads; -read /-,red/; -reading [+ obj] : to read and correct mistakes in (a written or printed piece of writing) • He proofread the essay carefully.

— proof-reader noun, pl -ers [count] • She's an excellent proofreader. — proof-reading noun [noncount]

¹prop /'pra:p/ verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition props; propped; prop-ping [+ obj] : to support (something) by placing it against something else or by placing something under it • She propped the rake against a tree. • We propped the shed's roof with poles. • The window was propped open.

prop up [phrasal verb] 1 prop up (something) or prop (something) up : to stop (something) from falling or slipping by placing something under or against it • We propped up the beams with long boards. 2 prop (someone) up or prop up (someone) : to give help, encouragement, or support to (someone) • His faith propped him up in times of crisis.

²prop noun, pl props [count]

1 : something that is used to support something and keep it in position • He used rocks as props to keep up the fence post.

2 : someone or something that gives help or support to someone or something else • His wife was his emotional prop during his depression. • He used his inheritance money as a prop to start his own business.

3 rugby : a player who plays in a forward position on a rugby team — called also prop forward

— compare ³PROP, ⁴PROP

³prop noun, pl props [count] : an object that is used by a performer or actor or that is used to create a desired effect in a scene on a stage, in a movie, etc. • The performers used different props in their comedy routine. • The only stage props were a hanging lightbulb and a wooden chair. — compare ²PROP, ⁴PROP

⁴prop noun, pl props [count] informal : PROPELLER — compare ²PROP, ³PROP

pro-pa-gan-da /,pra:pə'gændə/ noun [noncount] usually disapproving : ideas or statements that are often false or exaggerated and that are spread in order to help a cause, a political leader, a government, etc. • He was accused of spreading propaganda. • a propaganda campaign • The report was nothing but lies and propaganda.

— pro-pa-gan-dist /,pra:pə'gændist/ noun, pl -dists [count] — pro-pa-gan-dis-tic /,pra:pə'gæ'n'distik/ adj • propagandistic writing pro-pa-gan-dize also Brit pro-pa-gan-dise /,pra:pə'gæn,daɪz/ verb -diz-es; -dized; -diz-ing formal : to spread propaganda [+ obj] They were propagandized into believing what the government wanted them to believe. [no obj] He uses his movies to propagandize for the state.

prop-a-gate /'pra:pə'geɪt/ verb -gates; -gat-ed; -gat-ing

1 [+ obj] formal : to make (something, such as an idea or belief) known to many people • The group propagates [=promotes] its antigovernment doctrine on the Web.

2 technical : to produce (a new plant) [+ obj] We are discovering new ways to propagate plants without seeds. • He propagated the apple tree by grafting. [no obj] The plants failed to propagate.

— prop-a-ga-tion /,pra:pə'geɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • the propagation of plants/ideas — prop-a-ga-tor /'pra:pə'geɪtə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • a propagator of new ideas • plant propagators

pro-pa-ne /'prəʊ,peɪn/ noun [noncount] : a colorless gas that is used for cooking and heating pro-pel /prə'pel/ verb -pels; -pelled; -pel-ling [+ obj] : to push or drive (someone or something) forward or in a particular direction • He grabbed him and propelled him through the door. • The train is propelled by steam. — often used figuratively • She was propelled [=motivated] by greed when she stole the money. • The album propelled the band to fame. — see also JET-PROPELLED pro-pel-lant also pro-pel-lent /prə'pelənt/ noun, pl -lants [count, noncount] technical

1 : a gas under pressure in a can that is used to spray out the contents when the pressure is released

2 : a fuel or an explosive substance that is used to make something (such as a rocket) go forward • rocket propellant pro-pel-ler /prə'pelə/ noun, pl -lers [count] : a device with two or more blades that turn quickly and cause a ship or aircraft to move

propelling pencil noun, pl ~ -cils [count] Brit : MECHANICAL PENCIL

pro-pen-si-ty /prə'pensəti/ noun, pl -ties [count] formal : a strong natural tendency to do something • Why do some people have a propensity for/toward violence? [=why are some people violent?; why do some people have a tendency to be violent?] • He had a propensity for crime. • She has a propensity to assume the worst. [=she tends to assume the worst]

¹prop-er /'pra:pə/ adj

1 [more ~; most ~] a : correct according to social or moral rules • That is not the proper [=acceptable] way to dress for school. • It is not proper to speak that way. • The children need to learn proper behavior. • It would not be proper for you to borrow the ladder without asking first. b : behaving in a way that is correct according to social or moral rules • She is a very prim and proper young lady.

2 always used before a noun : exactly correct • Is this the proper spelling of your name? • proper punctuation

3 always used before a noun : right or suitable for some purpose or situation • He didn't have the proper [=appropriate] training for the job. • You need to eat a proper meal instead of junk food. • Each step must be done in the proper order/sequence. • You need to get a proper [=real, decent] job. • Please put your shoes in their proper place. [=please put your shoes where they belong]

4 always used after a noun — used to emphasize that you are referring to the specific thing that is being named • Her family lived outside the city proper. [=lived in an area that was close to the city but was not actually in the city]

5 always used before a noun, chiefly Brit : complete or absolute • I felt a proper fool after making that mistake. • We are in a proper mess now.

proper to formal : belonging to or suited to (something) • Are such violent emotions proper to poetry?

²proper adv, chiefly Brit, informal : in a complete way • We sure have messed things up proper. [=thoroughly, completely] • They beat us good and proper.

prop-er-ly /'pra:pəli/ adv

1 : in a way that is acceptable or suitable • The children must learn how to behave properly [=appropriately] in church. • He doesn't know how to properly tie a necktie. • The can opener is not working properly. [=right]

2 : in a way that is accurate or correct • The boxes were not properly labeled. • Did I spell your name properly? • Properly speaking, whales are not fish. • The house properly belongs to his sister.

proper name noun, pl ~ names [count] : PROPER NOUN proper noun noun, pl ~ nouns [count] : a word or group of words (such as "Noah Webster," "Kentucky," or "U.S. Congress") that is the name of a particular person, place, or thing and that usually begins with a capital letter — called also proper name; compare COMMON NOUN prop-er-tied /ˈprɑːpətid/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : owning a lot of property or land • the wealthy, propertied classes prop-er-ty /ˈprɑːpəti/ noun, pl -ties

1 [noncount] : something that is owned by a person, business, etc. • Those books are my property. [=I own those books] • We are not responsible for the loss of personal property. • The library is public property. [=the library is owned by the city, town, or state] • He was trying to sell stolen property. — see also INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

2 : a piece of land often with buildings on it that is owned by a person, business, etc. [noncount] He was caught trespassing on private property. • She owns all sorts of property around town. • The students were caught smoking on school property. [count] He owns several valuable properties in the area. • a developer of commercial/residential properties — often used before another noun • Property values are going up. • a property tax

3 [count] somewhat formal : a special quality or characteristic of something • One of the properties of helium is its lightness. • A unique property of garlic is its strong odor. • The two plants have similar physical properties. • The herb has medicinal properties. • the chemical properties of water

hot property see ¹HOT

prop forward noun, pl ~ -wards [count] rugby : ²PROP 3 prop-h-e-cy /ˈprɑːfəsi/ noun, pl -cies

1 [count] : a statement that something will happen in the future : PREDICTION • The prophecies of the author have all come true. • His prophecy was fulfilled. [=the thing that he said would happen did happen]

2 [noncount] : the power or ability to know what will happen in the future • She has the gift of prophecy.

prop-h-e-sy /ˈprɑːfəsɪ/ verb -sies; -sied; -sy-ing [+ obj]

: to state that something will happen in the future : PREDICT • He prophesied the government's failure. = He prophesied that the government would fail. • The book claims that modern events were prophesied in ancient times.

prop-h-et /ˈprɑːfət/ noun, pl -ets

1 [count] : a member of some religions (such as Christianity, Judaism, and Islam) who delivers messages that are believed to have come from God • the Old Testament prophets • the words of the prophet • the Prophet Isaiah/Muhammad

2 the Prophet — used as another name for Muhammad, the founder of Islam

3 a the Prophets : the writers of the books of the Bible that describe what will happen in the future b Prophets : the part of the Bible that includes the books written by the Prophets.

4 [count] : a person who states that something will happen in the future • a stock market prophet [=a person who predicts what will happen in the stock market] • the local weather prophet • a prophet of doom [=someone who says that bad things will happen]

5 [count] : a person who teaches or spreads a new idea or belief • a prophet of socialism prop-h-et-ess /ˈprɑːfətəs/ noun, pl -ess-es [count] : a woman who is a prophet pro-ph-et-ic /prəˈfetik/ adj

1 : correctly stating what will happen in the future • Her warning proved to be prophetic. [=the thing that she warned would/could happen did happen] • a prophetic statement

2 : of or relating to a prophet or to prophecy • the prophetic books of the Old Testament

— pro-ph-et-i-cal-ly /prəˈfetikli/ adv • The coach prophetically promised a victory in the next game.

¹pro-phy-lac-tic /ˌprɒfəˈlæktɪk, Brit ˌprɒfəˈlæktɪk/ adj, medical : designed to prevent disease • a prophylactic drug/treatment/regimen • the prophylactic use of antibiotics

²prophylactic noun, pl -tics [count]

1 medical : something that is designed to prevent the spread of disease or infection

2 US : CONDOM

pro-pi-ti-ate /prɒˈpɪʃi,et/ verb -ates; -at-ed; -at-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (someone) pleased or less angry by giving or saying something desired : APPEASE • He made an offering to propitiate the angry gods.

— pro-pi-ti-a-tion /prɒˈpɪʃiˈeɪʃən/ noun [noncount] — pro-pi-tia-to-ry /prɒˈpɪʃiəˌtɔːri, Brit prəˈpɪʃiətri/ adj • a propitiatory offering to the gods pro-pi-tious /prəˈpɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : likely to have or produce good results • conditions that are propitious for growth [=conditions that make growth likely] • Now is a propitious time to start a business.

pro-po-nent /prəˈpounənt/ noun, pl -nents [count] : a person who argues for or supports something : ADVOCATE • a civil rights proponent — often + of • He is a leading proponent of gun control. — opposite OPPONENT

pro-por-tion /prəˈpɔːʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [count] : an amount that is a part of a whole • Some of the money goes to cover expenses, but a large proportion [=portion, percentage] is donated to charity. — usually + of • These expenses account for only a small proportion of our budget. • The proportion of people who own their own homes is slowly increasing. • The solution was made from equal proportions of water and bleach. • A high proportion of high school students enroll in college. • A large proportion of the proceeds are donated to charity. • A small proportion of people in the group was left-handed.

2 : the relationship that exists between the size, number, or amount of two things [count] — usually singular; often + of • The proportion [=ratio] of boys to girls in our class is three to one. [=there are three boys for each girl in our class] [noncount] Your share of the profits will be in proportion to the amount of work that you do. [=if you do more work, you will get a larger share of the profits]

3 : the correct or appropriate relationship between the size, shape, and position of the different parts of something [noncount] His head is large in proportion to his body. [=the size of his head seems large when compared to the size of his body] • The garage is not in proportion to the house. [=the garage is too small/big for the house] • His ears were drawn out of proportion with his head. • The size of the window seems out of proportion with the height of the wall. [count] — usually plural • The cathedral has classic proportions.

4 proportions [plural] : the size, shape, or extent of something • The carpet did not fit the proportions [=dimensions] of the room. • It's a problem of huge/massive proportions. • It was a disaster of biblical/epic proportions. [=it was a terrible disaster that affected many people]

5 [noncount] a : the importance of something when it is compared to other things : the relative importance of things • He has no sense of proportion. b ✦ If you keep things in proportion, you understand which things are truly important and you do not become upset by small things that are not important. • Let's keep things in proportion. You should be able to wait one more day after you have waited two months already. c ✦ If something gets out of proportion or is blown out of proportion, it becomes larger than it should be or it is treated as something worse or more important than it really is. • Their fears have gotten (totally/completely) out of proportion. • The story was blown out of proportion in the newspapers. • You are blowing things (all/way) out of proportion.

pro-por-tion-al /prəˈpɔːʃənəl/ adj

1 : having a size, number, or amount that is directly related to or appropriate for something • If you increase the size of the picture, keep the length and width proportional. [=increase the length and width by the same percentage so that they are related to each other in the same way] — often + to • Keep the length proportional to the width. • Your share of the profits will be proportional to the amount of work you did. • The taxi fare is proportional to the length of the ride. — see also DIRECTLY PROPORTIONAL, INVERSELY PROPORTIONAL

2 : having parts that are the correct or appropriate size in relation to each other • The features of the face in the drawing are proportional. — often + to • The head was not proportional to the body. [=the head was too large/small for the body] • The sleeves were not proportional to the length of the blouse.

— pro-por-tion-al-ly /prəˈpɔːʃənli/ adv • The profits were divided proportionally. • The ears were not drawn proportionally with the head.

proportional representation noun [noncount] : a system in which the number of seats held by members of a political party in a legislature (such as a parliament) is determined by the number of votes its candidates receive in an election pro-por-tion-ate /prəˈpɔːʃənət/ adj : PROPORTIONAL 1 • Each investor will receive a proportionate share of the profits. — often + to • The property tax is proportionate to the size of the house.

— pro-por-tion-ate-ly adv • The profits were divided proportionately. • If your sales increase, then your salary will be adjusted proportionately.

pro-por-tioned /prə'pɔːʃənd/ adj : having parts that relate in size to the other parts in a particular way • The sculpture was poorly proportioned. • She has a well-proportioned figure.

pro-pos-al /prə'pəʊzəl/ noun, pl -als

1 [count] : something (such as a plan or suggestion) that is presented to a person or group of people to consider • Everyone thought the proposal made sense. • They rejected/accepted/considered/approved my proposal. • The committee is reviewing the proposal for the new restaurant. • They put forth a proposal to sell the company. • a business proposal

2 [noncount] : the act of presenting a plan, suggestion, etc., to a person or group of people • These problems have led to the proposal of a new law.

3 [count] : the act of asking someone to marry you • She accepted his proposal (of marriage). • a marriage proposal

pro-pose /prə'pəʊz/ verb -pos-es; -posed; -pos-ing

1 [+ obj] : to suggest (something, such as a plan or theory) to a person or group of people to consider • The scientists proposed a new theory. • The mayor proposed a plan for a new bridge. • Several senators have proposed raising the tax. • I propose that we revise the bylaws.

2 [+ obj] : to plan or intend to do (something) • They propose to buy a new house. • How do you propose solving this problem?

3 [+ obj] : to suggest (someone) for a job, position, office, etc. • The chairman proposed the young executive as a candidate for promotion. • She proposed [(more commonly) nominated] her teacher for the award.

4 : to ask someone to marry you — often + to [no obj] He proposed to his girlfriend. [+ obj] He proposed marriage to his girlfriend.

propose a toast : to publicly wish a person future health, happiness, and success and ask others to raise their glasses and join in a drink • I would like to propose a toast to the bride and groom.

— proposed adj, always used before a noun • They rejected the proposed offer/plan. — pro-poser noun, pl -ers [count] • He is the original proposer of the theory.

prop-o-si-tion /prə'pəʊzɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count]

1 : something (such as a plan or offer) that is presented to a person or group of people to consider • He made an attractive business proposition. • The other company rejected their proposition.

2 : a statement to be proved, explained, or discussed • Her theory rejects the basic proposition that humans evolved from apes. • If we accept proposition "A" as true, then we must accept proposition "B" as false.

3 : something that someone intends to do or deal with • Fixing the engine will not be an easy/simple proposition. [=matter] • The election will be a tough proposition for the mayor. • The farm will never be a paying proposition. [=the farm will never make money]

4 US : a suggestion for a change in the law on which people must vote • The town voted in favor of a proposition calling for a ban on smoking in public spaces. • He expects Proposition 12 to pass by a wide margin.

2 proposition verb -tions; -tioned; -tion-ing [+ obj] : to offer to have sex with (someone) in a direct and often offensive way • He was propositioned by a prostitute. • He got drunk and propositioned a woman sitting next to him in the bar.

pro-pound /prə'paʊnd/ verb -pounds; -pound-ed; -pound-ing [+ obj] formal : to suggest (an idea, theory, etc.) to a person or group of people to consider : PROPOSE • Her new book expands upon the theory propounded in her first book.

— pro-pound-er noun, pl -ers [count]

pro-pri-e-tary /prə'praɪəteri, Brit prə'praɪətri/ adj, formal

1 : of or like that of an owner • The publisher has proprietary rights [=the rights of an owner] to the manuscript. • The investors have a proprietary interest in the land.

2 : used, made, or sold only by the particular person or company that has the legal right to do so • The computer comes with the manufacturer's proprietary software. • a proprietary drug • "Merriam-Webster" is a proprietary name.

3 : kept private by an owner • The journalist tried to get access to proprietary information.

pro-pri-e-tor /prə'praɪətə/ noun, pl -tors [count] formal : a person who owns a business or property • She is the proprietor of the store. • a restaurant proprietor

— pro-pri-e-tor-ship /prə'praɪətəʃɪp/ noun, pl -ships [count] The business is a sole proprietorship and not a partnership. [noncount] He was given proprietorship of the store.

pro-pri-e-tress /prə'praɪətrəs/ noun, pl -tress-es [count] formal : a woman who is a proprietor pro-pri-e-ty /prə'praɪəti/ noun, pl -ties formal

1 [noncount] : behavior that is accepted as socially or morally correct and proper • She acted with propriety. • He went beyond the bounds of propriety. [=he acted improperly] • She conducted herself with propriety.

2 [noncount] : the state or quality of being correct and proper • They debated the propriety of the punishment that he was given.

3 proprieties [plural] : rules of correct social behavior • When attending a wedding, there are certain proprieties that must be observed. • the social proprieties

props /'prɔːps/ noun [plural] US slang

1 : something that is said to publicly thank and give special attention to someone for doing something : credit or recognition • Props to everyone that made this movie a success. • All of the performers deserve mad props. [=very enthusiastic praise] — often + for • He gave props to his brother for his help with the project.

2 : RESPECT • The teacher earned our props.

pro-pul-sion /prə'pʌlʃən/ noun [noncount] technical : the force that moves something forward : the force that propels something • rocket/electric propulsion • Sailboats use wind as their source/means of propulsion. • a propulsion system — see also JET PROPULSION

— pro-pul-sive /prə'pʌlsɪv/ adj • propulsive forces

pro-ra-ta /prəʊ'reɪtə/ adj, formal : calculated according to the specific amount that someone has done, used, etc. • Each investor will receive a pro rata share of the profits. [=a share based on how much money each person invested]

— pro rata adv • The fee will be paid pro rata to the people who did the work.

pro-rate /prəʊ'reɪt/ verb -rates; -rat-ed; -rat-ing [+ obj]

US : to calculate (something) according to the specific amount that someone has done, used, etc. • We will prorate your monthly rent for the remaining 10 days on your lease. [=you will pay 10 days' worth of a month's rent] • The player's annual salary was prorated because he only played for the last three months of the season.

— pro-ra-tion /prəʊ'reɪʃən/ noun [noncount]

pro-sa-ic /prəʊ'zeɪk/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : dull or ordinary • He has a prosaic writing style. • the prosaic life of a hardworking farmer • She believes the noises are made by ghosts, but I think there's a more prosaic explanation.

— pro-sa-i-cal-ly /prəʊ'zeɪkli/ adv

pro-sce-ni-um /prəʊ'siːniəm/ noun, pl -ums [count] : the part of a stage that is in front of the curtain • The host walked onto the proscenium. • a proscenium arch [=an arch that is over the front of a stage]

pro-sciut-to /prəʊ'sjuːtəʊ/ noun [noncount] : a type of spicy Italian ham pro-scribe /prəʊ'skraɪb/ verb -scribes; -scribed; -scribing [+ obj] formal : to make (something) illegal : to not allow (something) • The principal proscribed [=banned, prohibited] the use of cell phones in school. • acts that are proscribed by law • proscribed conduct

— pro-scrip-tion /prəʊ'skrɪpʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount]

prose /'prəʊz/ noun [noncount] : writing that is not poetry : ordinary writing • She writes in very clear prose. — often used before another noun • She has a unique prose style. • He is a talented prose writer. • a prose narrative pros-e-cute /'prɔːsɪkjuːt/ verb -cutes; -cut-ed; -cut-ing

1 law : to hold a trial against a person who is accused of a crime to see if that person is guilty [no obj] The store's owner agreed not to prosecute if the boy returned the stolen goods. [+ obj] Shoplifters will be prosecuted.

2 : to work as a lawyer to try to prove a case against someone accused of a crime [+ obj] The case is being prosecuted by the assistant district attorney. [no obj] the prosecuting lawyer/counsel

3 [+ obj] formal : to continue to do (something) : to proceed with (something) • She criticized the government for the way it has prosecuted the war.

— pros-e-cut-able /'prɔːsə'kjuːtəbəl/ adj • a prosecutable offense prosecuting attorney noun, pl ~ -neys [count] US : DISTRICT ATTORNEY pros-e-cu-tion /'prɔːsɪ'kjuːʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 : the act or process of holding a trial against a person who is accused of a crime to see if that person is guilty [count] There has been an increase in prosecutions for gun-related crimes. [noncount] The defendant is awaiting prosecution.

2 the prosecution : the side of a legal case which argues that a person who is accused of a crime is guilty : the lawyer or lawyers who prosecute someone in a court case • The prosecution called their first witness. • The prosecution rests, Your Honor. • The defense told the jury that the prosecution had not proved its case. — often used before another noun • prosecution attorneys/lawyers — compare DEFENSE

3 [noncount] formal : the act of doing or continuing to do something — usually + of • the prosecution of the war

pros·e·cu·tor /'prɑ:sɪ,kju:tə/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a lawyer who represents the side in a court case that accuses a person of a crime and who tries to prove that the person is guilty

pros·e·ly·tize also Brit pros·e·ly·tise /'prɑ:sələ,təɪz/ verb -tiz-es; -tized; -tiz-ing formal + often disapproving : to try to persuade people to join a religion, cause, or group [no obj] He uses his position to proselytize for the causes that he supports. [+ obj] proselytize a faith/religion pro shop noun, pl ~ shops [count] : a shop where equipment for a sport (such as golf or tennis) is sold usually by people who play or teach the sport professionally pros·o·dy /'prɑ:sədi/ noun [noncount] technical : the rhythm and pattern of sounds of poetry and language

1 pros·pect /'prɑ:spekt/ noun, pl -pects

1 : the possibility that something will happen in the future [singular] the frightening prospect of going to war • She is excited by the prospect of returning to school. • Bankruptcy is an unlikely prospect for the company. [noncount] There was no/little prospect that the two parties would reach an agreement anytime soon.

2 [count] : an opportunity for something to happen — usually plural • He has few prospects for employment. • She has a lot of business prospects. = She has a lot of prospects for doing business.

3 [count] : someone or something that is likely to succeed or to be chosen • a young baseball player who's considered a top prospect • We haven't decided which car to buy yet. We're still looking at a few prospects.

4 [count] formal : a wide view of an area from usually a high place — usually singular; usually + of • a wide prospect of the surrounding country in prospect formal : possible or likely to exist or happen in the future • A great medical breakthrough is in prospect. [=expected in the future]

2 pros·pect /'prɑ:spekt, Brit prə'spekt/ verb -pects; -pected; -pect-ing [no obj] : to search an area for gold, minerals, oil, etc. — often + for • Men were prospecting for gold along the river. — sometimes used figuratively • The team actively prospects for talented players.

— pros·pec·tor /'prɑ:spektə/ noun, pl -tors [count] • a gold/oil prospector — prospecting noun [noncount] • oil prospecting

pro·spec·tive /prə'spektiv/ adj, always used before a noun

1 : likely to be or become something specified in the future • a seminar for prospective home buyers [=people who are likely to buy a home fairly soon] • prospective parents/students/employers

2 formal : likely to happen • The new law has many prospective [=expected] benefits.

pro·spec·tus /prə'spektəs/ noun, pl -tus-es [count]

1 : a printed statement that describes something (such as a new business or investment) and that is sent to people who may want to be involved in it or invest in it

2 chiefly Brit : a book or document that provides information about a school, business, etc. : BROCHURE

pros·per /'prɑ:spə/ verb -pers; -pered; -per-ing [no obj]

1 : to become very successful usually by making a lot of money • She prospered as a real estate agent. • He hopes his business will prosper.

2 : to become very active, healthy, or strong • The city prospered [=flourished, thrived] as a center for trade. • No crop can prosper in this heat. • The economy is prospering.

pros·per·i·ty /prə'sperəti/ noun [noncount] : the state of being successful usually by making a lot of money • a period of prosperity for our nation • economic prosperity

pros·per·ous /'prɑ:spərəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having success usually by making a lot of money • The company had a prosperous year. • He predicted a prosperous future. • prosperous [=affluent] merchants • a prosperous town

pros·tate /'prɑ:steɪt/ noun, pl -tates [count] : PROSTATE GLAND • enlargement of the prostate — often used before another noun • prostate cancer prostate gland noun, pl ~ glands [count] : an organ found in men and male animals that produces the liquid in which sperm is carried pros·the·sis /'prɑ:θi:səs/ noun, pl -the-ses /-,si:z/ [count] medical : an artificial device that replaces a missing or injured part of the body • She was fitted with a prosthesis to replace her missing leg. • a dental/optical prosthesis

— pros·thet·ic /'prɑ:θetɪk/ adj • She wears a prosthetic leg.

1 pros·ti·tute /'prɑ:stə,tu:t, Brit 'prɒstə,tju:t/ noun, pl -tutes [count] : a person who has sex with someone in exchange for money

2 prostitute verb -tutes; -tut-ed; -tut-ing [+ obj] : to use (something valuable, such as talent) in a way that is not appropriate or respectable and especially to earn money • a writer who prostituted his talents by writing commercials prostitute yourself 1 : to work as a prostitute : to offer yourself for sex in exchange for money • She prostituted herself for drug money. 2 : to do something that is below your level of skill or ability in order to make money • a writer who prostituted himself by writing commercials pros·ti·tu·tion /'prɑ:stə'tu:ʃən, Brit 'prɒstə'tju:ʃən/ noun

1 [noncount] : the work of a prostitute : the act of having sex in exchange for money • She was arrested for prostitution.

2 [singular] : the use of a skill or ability in a way that is not appropriate or respectable • Writing commercials was a prostitution of his talents.

1 pros·trate /'prɑ:streɪt/ adj

1 : lying with the front of your body turned toward the ground • The police found the body in a prostrate position. • a prostrate body • She was lying prostrate on the bed.

2 : so tired, upset, etc., that you are unable to do anything • They were prostrate from/with the heat. • He was prostrate with grief. [=he was completely overcome by grief]

2 pros·trate /'prɑ:streɪt, Brit prə'streɪt/ verb -trates; -trated; -trat-ing [+ obj] : to make (someone) weak or powerless — usually used as (be) prostrated • She was prostrated [=overcome] with/by grief.

prostrate yourself : to lie down with your face turned toward the ground • The worshippers prostrated themselves on the ground before the shrine.

— pros·tra·tion /'prɑ:streɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, noncount] • The campers suffered from heat prostration. [=physical exhaustion caused by heat] pro·tag·o·nist /'prɒ'tægənɪst/ noun, pl -nɪsts [count]

1 : the main character in a novel, play, movie, etc.

2 : an important person who is involved in a competition, conflict, or cause • She was a leading protagonist in the civil rights movement.

pro·te·an /'prɒtɪjən/ adj [more ~; most ~] literary + formal : able to change into many different forms or able to do many different things • a protean organism • a protean actor

pro·tect /'prɒ'tekt/ verb -tects; -tect-ed; -tect-ing

1 : to keep (someone or something) from being harmed, lost, etc. [+ obj] He had no raincoat to protect himself from the rain. • She keeps her jewelry protected in a safe. • You have to protect your business against fraud. • New laws have been passed to protect your privacy. • The forest is protected by/under federal law. • The high taxes on imported goods are intended to protect domestic producers. [no obj] Sunscreen helps to protect against sunburn.

2 : to save (someone) from financial loss caused by fire, injury, damage, etc. — usually + against [+ obj] The insurance protects you against flooding. [no obj] The insurance does not protect against damage caused by earthquakes.

3 [+ obj] sports : to try to stop opponents from scoring at (your goal) • The goalie slipped and fell, but the defenseman was there to protect [=defend] the goal.

— protected adj, always used before a noun [more ~; most ~] • a protected area/species • protected industries/markets

pro·tec·tion /'prɒ'tekʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the state of being kept from harm, loss, etc. : the state of being protected • He fights for the protection of the environment. • Hard hats provide protection for the workers' heads. • The witness was placed under police protection. — often + against • The ointment offers protection against infection. — often + from • The law ensures your protection from illegal searches.

2 : something that keeps a person or thing from being harm, lost, etc. : something that protects someone or something [count] legal protections — often + against • protections against sexual harassment — often + from • She used her briefcase as a protection from the rain. [noncount] — often + against • She used her briefcase as protection against the rain. — often + from • The rabbit's white fur serves as protection from predators during the winter.

3 [noncount] : a device (such as a condom) that is used during sex to prevent pregnancy or the spread of diseases • Do you have protection?

4 [noncount] : insurance against financial loss caused by fire, injury, damage, etc. — often + against • The policy offers complete protection against fire and theft.

5 [noncount] : a situation in which people (such as store owners) pay money to criminals so that the criminals will not hurt them or damage their property • His store was burned down because he refused to pay for protection. — often used before another noun • protection money • a protection racket

pro-tec-tion-ism /prə'tekʃənɪzəm/ noun [noncount] : the practice of helping businesses and industries in your own country by making laws that limit and tax products imported from other countries

— pro-tec-tion-ist /prə'tekʃənɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] • Protectionists are in favor of the new tariff. — protec-tionist adj • protectionist policies

pro-tec-tive /prə'tektɪv/ adj

1 always used before a noun : used to protect someone or something : giving or meant to give protection • He put a protective cover over the car. • protective clothing/gear • The police are keeping her in protective custody. [=in jail and away from others so that she will not be harmed]

2 [more ~; most ~] : having or showing a strong desire to protect someone or something from harm • an overly protective mother — often + of • She is very protective of her children.

— pro-tec-tive-ly adv • She kept her hand protectively on her purse. — pro-tec-tive-ness noun [noncount]

pro-tec-tor /prə'tektər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a person or thing that protects someone or something • She sees her older brother as her protector. • a protector of free speech • ear protectors — see also SURGE PROTECTOR pro-tec-tor-ate /prə'tektərət/ noun, pl -ates [count] : a small country that is controlled and protected by a larger one pro-té-gé /'proutə,ʒeɪ/ noun, pl -gés [count] : a young person who is taught and helped by someone who has a lot of knowledge and experience • He was a protégé of the great composer.

pro-té-gée /'proutə,ʒeɪ/ noun, pl -gées [count] : a woman who is a protégé pro-te-in /'prouti:n/ noun, pl -teins : a substance found in foods (such as meat, milk, eggs, and beans) that is an important part of the human diet [noncount] You need more protein in your diet. • These foods are an excellent source of protein. [count] These foods have all of the essential proteins.

pro tem /,prout'em/ adv, formal : for the present time but not permanently • He is serving as the chairman pro tem. [=temporarily]

— pro tem adj • the president pro tem [=the temporary president] of the U.S. Senate pro tem-po-re /prout'empəri/ adv, formal : PRO TEM

— pro tempore adj

1 pro-test /prə'test/ verb -tests; -test-ed; -test-ing

1 a : to show or express strong disagreement with or disapproval of something [no obj] The victim's family protested at/against the judge's sentence. • There is no use protesting. I will not change my mind. [+ obj] (US) • The coach protested the referee's call. • The decision was protested by dozens of people. b /'prout,est/ : to show or express strong disapproval of something at a public event with other people [no obj] Students protested at the civil rights rally. • They were protesting against the death penalty. [+ obj] (US) • Peace activists protested the war.

2 [+ obj] : to say (something that other people do not agree with or believe) in a forceful way • The defendant protested [=declared] his innocence in court. • She protested that the law was unfair. • "But I'm innocent!" he protested.

— pro-test-er or pro-tes-tor /prə'testə, 'prout,estə/ noun, pl -ers or -tors [count] • student protesters

2 pro-test /'prout,est/ noun, pl -tests

1 : something said or done that shows disagreement with or disapproval of something [count] He heard protests from the crowd. • She told him to go to bed despite his protests that he wasn't tired. [noncount] There were cries/howls of protest when the verdict was announced. • The suspect surrendered his gun without protest. • She was so upset by their decision that she resigned in protest. • He paid the fine under protest [=he paid the fine although he objected to it]

2 [count] : an event at which people gather together to show strong disapproval about something • The students launched/held/staged a protest against the tuition increase. • an antiwar protest • a protest march/demonstration/rally

Prot-es-tant /'prɑ:təstənt/ noun, pl -tants [count] : a member of one of the Christian churches that separated from the Roman Catholic Church in the 16th century

— Protestant adj • a Protestant minister — Prot-es-tant-ism /'prɑ:təstən,tɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

pro-tes-ta-tion /,prɑ:tə'steɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count] formal : a strong statement that something is true when other people do not believe it is true • Despite his protestations to the contrary, he appears to be guilty. — often + of • The police ignored his protestations of innocence.

pro-to-col /'proutə,kɑ:l/ noun, pl -cols

1 : a system of rules that explain the correct conduct and procedures to be followed in formal situations [noncount] The soldier's actions constitute a breach of military protocol. [count] They did not follow the proper diplomatic protocols. • What is the proper protocol for declining a job offer?

2 [count] : a plan for a scientific experiment or for medical treatment • an experimental protocol • a simplified treatment protocol

3 [count] formal : a document that describes the details of a treaty or formal agreement between countries • the Geneva Protocol of 1925

4 [count] computers : a set of rules used in programming computers so that they can communicate with each other • an Internet protocol

pro-ton /'proutə,n/ noun, pl -tons [count] physics : a very small particle of matter that is part of the nucleus of an atom and that has a positive electrical charge pro-to-plasm /'proutə,pləzəm/ noun [noncount] biology : the usually colorless substance that is the living part of animal and plant cells

pro-to-type /'proutə,taɪp/ noun, pl -types [count]

1 : an original or first model of something from which other forms are copied or developed • They tested the prototype of the car. • He is developing a prototype for his invention.

2 a : someone or something that has the typical qualities of a particular group, kind, etc. • He is the prototype of a conservative businessman. b : a first or early example that is used as a model for what comes later • The Sherlock Holmes stories are the prototypes of modern detective stories.

pro-to-typ-i-cal /,proutə'tɪpɪkəl/ adj : having the typical qualities of a particular group or kind of person or thing : very typical • a prototypical gangster • prototypical horror movies pro-to-zo-an /,proutə'zowən/ noun, pl -ans [count] : a tiny organism whose body is a single cell • Amoebas are protozoans.

pro-to-zo-on /,proutə'zou,ɑ:n/ noun, pl -zoa /-'zowə/ [count] : PROTOZOAN pro-tract-ed /prout'træktəd/ adj [more ~; most ~] : lasting a long time : continuing longer than necessary or expected • They reached an agreement after protracted [=lengthy] negotiations. • a protracted battle/conflict/war pro-trac-tor /prout'træktər/ noun, pl -tors [count] : a device that has the form of a half circle and that is used for drawing and measuring angles pro-trude /prout'tru:d/ verb -trudes; -trud-ed; -trud-ing [no obj] : to stick out • His lower jaw protrudes slightly. • A handkerchief protruded from his shirt pocket. — protruding adj • He has a protruding jaw.

pro-tru-sion /prout'tru:ʒən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [count] : a part that sticks out • bony protrusions on the outside of the elbow • a roof with many protrusions

2 [count, noncount] : the act of sticking out or the condition of something that sticks out • The pain was caused by a/the protrusion of a disc in his lower back.

pro-tu-ber-ance /prout'tu:bərəns, Brit prəu'tju:bərəns/ noun, pl -anc-es [count] : a usually rounded part that sticks out from a surface • There was a small protuberance [=bulge] on the skull.

pro-tu-ber-ant /prout'tu:bərənt, Brit prəu'tju:bərənt/ adj

[more ~; most ~] : sticking out from a surface usually with a curved or rounded shape • slightly protuberant [=bulging] eyes/lips proud /'praʊd/ adj proud-er; -est [or more ~; most ~]

1 a : very happy and pleased because of something you have done, something you own, someone you know or are related to, etc. : feeling pride • They are the proud parents of a hero. • I was proud that I never gave in. • She's the proud owner of a new car. — often + of • I am proud of what we have accomplished. • She's very proud of her daughter. • He has a record to be proud of. — sometimes followed by to + verb • I'm proud to know him. b : causing someone to feel very happy and pleased : causing a feeling of pride • It was one of the proudest moments of my life. [=when I felt most proud] • Her proudest accomplishment was to finish school.

2 disapproving : having or showing the attitude of people who think that they are better or more important than others : having or showing too much pride • He has a proud manner. • a proud and opinionated person

3 : not wanting to lose the respect of other people : not willing to accept help from other people • She's too proud to accept their charity.

4 : excellent or impressive • They have a proud record of public service. • a proud [=large and impressive] castle

5 literary, of an animal : having a lot of strength and spirit • a proud horse/stallion

do (someone) proud : to give someone a reason to feel proud • It did me proud [=made me feel proud] to watch her graduate from college. • She did her family proud by standing up for her beliefs. • His performance in the game did us (all) proud. • She did herself proud. [=she did well; she did something that she can be proud of]

— proud-ly adv • The new citizen was standing proudly and happily with his family. • He spoke proudly of his son's achievements. • She proudly showed off her awards. • The building stands proudly on a hillside.

prove /'pru:v/ verb proves; proved; proved or chiefly US prov-en /'pru:vən/; prov-ing

1 [+ obj] : to show the existence, truth, or correctness of (something) by using evidence, logic, etc. • The charges against him were never proved in court. • The government failed to prove its case. • We have evidence that will prove his guilt. = We have evidence that will prove that he is guilty. • It could not be proven that the suspect stole the money. • A person who is charged with a crime is considered innocent until proved/proven guilty. • mathematicians trying to prove a theorem • He climbed the mountain just to prove [=show] (that) he could. • What are you trying to prove by behaving so recklessly? [=why are you behaving so recklessly?] • I've accomplished everything I wanted to; I've got nothing left to prove. [=I do not have to do anything more to show that I am skillful, successful, etc.] • He's willing to do almost anything to prove a point. [=to show that he is right about something] • To prove her point, she got out the old research. — opposite DISPROVE

2 [+ obj] : to show that (someone or something) has a particular quality, ability, etc. • We have evidence that will prove him (to be) guilty. [=that will prove that he is guilty] • The tests proved the vaccine to be effective. • Her second album was a hit that proved her critics wrong.

3 [linking verb] : to turn out to be — used to say that something or someone is eventually found to have a particular quality, ability, etc. • The new drug may prove (to be) beneficial/effective. • The vaccine has proven (to be) effective after years of tests. • It may prove difficult/impossible to do this. • The report of the war's end proved (to be) false. • The book should prove helpful to many people. • The new system could prove to be as bad as the old one was.

prove yourself : to show that you are able to do something or to succeed • She was eager to prove herself in her new job. • She has proven herself (to be) capable of excellent work. [=she has shown that she is capable of excellent work]

— prov-able /'pru:vəbəl/ adj • The case will not be easily provable.

prov-e-nance /'pru:vənəns/ noun, pl -nances formal : the origin or source of something [count] Has anyone traced the provenances of these paintings? • The saying has its provenance in [=comes from] Greek myth. [noncount] The artifact is of unknown provenance.

prov-en-der /'pru:vəndə/ noun [noncount] old-fashioned : FOOD • a supply of provender

prov-erb /'pra:vəb/ noun, pl -erbs [count] : a brief popular saying (such as "Too many cooks spoil the broth") that gives advice about how people should live or that expresses a belief that is generally thought to be true

pro-ver-bi-al /prə'vəbijəl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or resembling a proverb • proverbial wisdom • a proverbial expression/phrase

2 : commonly spoken of : widely known • the proverbial beginner's luck • His generosity is proverbial.

— pro-ver-bi-al-ly adv

pro-vide /prə'vaɪd/ verb -vides; -vid-ed; -vid-ing

1 [+ obj] a : to make (something) available : to supply (something that is wanted or needed) • The Web site provides information about local activities. • The curtains on the windows provide privacy. • The school provided new uniforms for the band. • The goal is to provide health care to/for as many people as possible. • The store provides excellent service (to its customers). • Coffee and doughnuts will be provided at the meeting. b : to give something wanted or needed to (someone or something) : to supply (someone or something) with something • The Web site provides users with information about local activities. • The school provided the band with new uniforms. • The store provides its customers with excellent service. • Workers were provided with gloves for protection.

2 [+ obj] formal : to say that something will or should happen : to make it certain or possible that something will happen or be done • The contract provides that certain deadlines will be met. • The law provides that minors will be treated differently from adults.

3 [no obj] : to supply what is needed for someone to live • All we can do is work hard and trust that the Lord will provide.

provide against [phrasal verb] provide against (something) : to do what is needed to prepare for (something bad that might happen) • We should store extra supplies now to provide against a possible scarcity in the coming months.

provide for [phrasal verb] 1 provide for (something) : to cause (something) to be available or to happen in the future • The contract provides for 10 paid holidays. • The grant provides for more research. • The law provides for the appointment of a new official. 2 provide for (something or someone) : to supply what is needed for (something or someone) • It's hard to make enough money to provide for such a large family. • They agreed to provide for the child's education.

provided conj : IF — used to say that one thing must happen or be true in order for another thing to happen • You can make the change if you want, provided (that) the change makes sense. • You can still get health care, provided (that) you pay the cost yourself.

Prov-i-dence /'pru:vədəns/ noun [noncount] : God or fate thought of as the guide and protector of all human beings • He put his faith in divine Providence.

prov-i-dent /'pru:vədənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : careful about planning for the future and saving money for the future • provident people • a more provident policy prov-i-den-tial /'pru:və'denʃəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : happening at a good time because of luck : LUCKY • We had made a providential escape. • It seemed providential that he should arrive at just that moment.

— prov-i-dent-ly adv

— prov-i-den-tial-ly adv

pro-vi-der /prə'vaɪdə/ noun, pl -ders [count]

1 : a group or company that provides a specified service • health-care providers • an Internet provider = a provider of Internet service

2 : a person (such as a mother or father) who earns the money that is needed to support a family • She works hard and is a good provider. • He is the sole provider for his family.

providing conj : IF — used to say that one thing must happen or be true in order for another thing to happen • We can have a picnic tomorrow, providing [=as long as] it doesn't rain. • Providing we have the money, we'll travel to Europe.

prov-ince /'pru:vəns/ noun, pl -inces

1 [count] : any one of the large parts that some countries are divided into • the Canadian provinces

2 [count] : a subject or area of interest that a person knows about or is involved in — usually singular • It's a legal question that is/falls outside my province. [=it does not relate to the area that I know about] • That subject is the special province of this magazine. • Study in that area had once been the exclusive/sole province of academics.

3 the provinces : the parts of a country that are away from large cities • They left the city for life in the provinces.

¹pro-vin-cial /prəˈvɪnfəl/ adj

1 : of, relating to, or coming from a province • a provincial official • She speaks with a provincial accent.

2 [more ~; most ~] disapproving : not knowing or caring about people and events in other places : having narrow or limited concerns or interests • an artist who has been criticized for being provincial and old-fashioned • His provincial attitude was a source of irritation for her. • She is too provincial to try foreign foods.

— pro-vin-cial-ism /prəˈvɪnfəlɪzəm/ noun, pl -isms disapproving [noncount] He grew tired of the narrow provincialism of his hometown. [count] the prejudices and provincialisms of his hometown

²provincial noun, pl -cials [count] : a person who lives in or comes from a place that is far away from large cities — often used in a disapproving way to suggest that such a person has narrow or limited concerns or interests • an artist who has been dismissed as a provincial

proving ground noun, pl ~ grounds [count]

1 : a place where things or people are tested or tried out for the first time — often + for • The local racetrack became a proving ground for new jockeys.

2 : a place where scientific testing is done

¹pro-vi-sion /prəˈvɪʒən/ noun, pl -sions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of supplying or providing something • They saw to the provision of transportation for the trip. [=they made sure that transportation was provided]

2 : something that is done in advance to prepare for something else [count] Provisions should be made for regular inspections. • He made provisions to donate part of his fortune to charity after he died. [noncount] You should make provision for emergencies.

3 provisions [plural] : a supply of food and other things that are needed • I carried my provisions in one large backpack. • We brought enough provisions to last the entire trip.

4 [count] : a condition that is included as part of an agreement or law • You can enroll in the book club with the provision that you buy more books. [=you can enroll if you agree to buy more books] • Under the provisions of the contract, the work must be completed in two months.

²provision verb -sions; -sioned; -sion-ing [+ obj] : to supply (someone or something) with provisions and especially with food • They stopped to provision the ship.

pro-vi-sion-al /prəˈvɪʒənəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : existing or accepted for the present time but likely to be changed : TEMPORARY • a provisional government • provisional arrangements • The government has given provisional approval for the use of the new drug.

— pro-vi-sion-al-ly adv • The government has provisionally approved the use of the new drug.

provisional licence noun, pl ~ -cences [count] Brit : LEARNER'S PERMIT pro-vi-so /prəˈvaɪzəʊ/ noun, pl -sos [count] : a condition that must be accepted in order for someone to agree to do something • He accepted the job with one proviso: he would work alone.

prov-o-ca-tion /ˌprɒːvəˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions : an action or occurrence that causes someone to become angry or to begin to do something [count] He can turn violent at the least/slightest/smallest provocation. • Her calmness in the face of repeated provocations impressed her friends. [noncount] With hardly any provocation, the crowd began to chant.

pro-voc-a-tive /prəˈvɒːkətɪv/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : causing discussion, thought, argument, etc. • a thoughtful and provocative book/essay/idea • provocative comments • It was one of his more provocative suggestions. • an intentionally provocative style

2 : causing sexual feelings or excitement : SEXY • She was wearing a very provocative outfit.

— pro-voc-a-tive-ly adv • a provocatively thoughtful work • She was dressed provocatively.

pro-voke /prəˈvɒːk/ verb -vokes; -voked; -vok-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cause the occurrence of (a feeling or action) : to make (something) happen • His remarks provoked both tears and laughter. • His insults were intended to provoke [=start] a fight. • The results of the election have provoked [=generated] a lot of discussion. • ideas that are likely to provoke [=stimulate] change

2 : to cause (a person or animal) to become angry, violent, etc. • He just says those things because he's trying to provoke you. • The animal will not attack unless it is provoked. — sometimes + into • He was provoked into a violent reaction by their taunts.

pro-vost /ˈprɒːvɒːst, Brit ˈprɒːvɒːst/ noun, pl -vosts [count]

1 US : an official of high rank at a university

2 Brit : the head of a college at a university

3 : the head of a Scottish town pro-w /ˈpraʊ/ noun, pl prows [count] : the front of a ship

pro-w-ess /ˈpraʊəs/ noun [noncount] : great ability or skill • He is known for his prowess on the football field. • athletic/physical/technical prowess • their naval and military prowess

¹prowl /ˈpraʊəl/ verb prowls; prowled; prowling

1 of an animal : to move quietly through an area while hunting [no obj] a tiger prowling in the jungle • wolves prowling in packs [+ obj] He moved like a tiger prowling the jungle.

2 : to move through a place or area especially while searching for something often in a quiet or secret way [+ obj] The police were prowling the streets in their patrol cars. • He liked to prowl the streets late at night. • I prowled the store looking for sales. [no obj] I prowled through the store looking for sales.

²prowl noun [singular] : an act of moving through a place while searching for something : an act of prowling • a prowl through the bookshop on the prowl : searching for something often in a quiet or secret way • My cat was on the prowl. [=my cat was prowling] • reporters on the prowl for a good story

prowl-er /ˈpraʊlə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a person who moves through an area in a quiet way in order to commit a crime • There were reports of a prowler in the neighborhood.

2 : an animal that moves through an area while hunting or searching for food • Raccoons are night prowlers.

prox-i-mate /ˈprɒːksəmət/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : coming or happening immediately before or after something in a way that shows a very close and direct relationship • the proximate cause of the fire • the proximate result prox-im-i-ty /prɒːksɪməti/ noun [noncount] : the state of being near • People are attracted to the area by the proximity [=nearness] of several beaches. — often + to • I like the proximity of the bus stop to my home. • The bus stop is located in close proximity to [=near to] my home. • family members who live in close proximity (to each other)

proxy /ˈprɒːksi/ noun, pl proxies

1 [count] : a person who is given the power or authority to do something (such as to vote) for someone else • Since I wouldn't be available to vote, I nominated him to act as my proxy. — often + for • He served as a proxy for his uncle.

2 [noncount] : power or authority that is given to allow a person to act for someone else — usually used in the phrase by proxy • I voted by proxy. [=by giving another person the authority to vote for me]

— proxy adj, always used before a noun • a proxy vote

prude /ˈpruːd/ noun, pl prudes [count] disapproving : a person who is easily shocked or offended by things that do not shock or offend other people • He is too much of a prude to enjoy movies containing sex and violence.

— prud-ish /ˈpruːdɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] • She's very prudish about sex. — prud-ish-ly adv — prud-ish-ness noun [noncount] pru-dence /ˈpruːdəns/ noun [noncount] : careful good judgment that allows someone to avoid danger or risks • act with ordinary/reasonable prudence • He always exercises prudence with his finances.

pru-dent /ˈpruːdənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having or showing careful good judgment • He always listened to her prudent advice. • You made a prudent choice/decision. • She's a prudent investor. — opposite IMPRUDENT

— pru-dent-ly adv • The money was prudently invested.

pru-den-tial /ˈpruːdənsəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + old-fashioned : having or showing careful good judgment : PRUDENT • a prudential approach to managing money — pru-den-tial-ly adv

prud-ery /ˈpruːdəri/ noun [noncount] disapproving : the behavior or thinking of people who are too easily shocked or offended : prudish behavior or attitudes • sexual prudery

¹prune /ˈpruːn/ noun, pl prunes [count] : a dried plum that is often cooked before it is eaten • stewed prunes • prune juice

²prune verb prunes; pruned; prun-ing [+ obj]

1 : to cut off some of the branches of (a tree or bush) so that it will grow better or look better • She carefully pruned the hedge. • Those trees need to be pruned every year. — often + back • You should prune back the unwanted branches.

2 : to reduce (something) by removing parts that are not necessary or wanted • The students were asked to prune their essays. • The budget needs to be pruned.

— pruning noun [noncount] • The bushes need pruning.

prun·er noun, pl -ers

1 [count] : a person who prunes something • She's a skillful pruner.

2 pruners [plural] US : PRUNING SHEARS

pruning shears noun [plural] US : a garden tool that is used for cutting off the branches of trees and bushes • a pair of pruning shears — called also (US) pruners, (Brit) secateurs; see picture at GARDENING

pru·ri·ent /'prɔːrɪjənt/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + usually disapproving : having or showing too much interest in sex • He took a prurient interest in her personal life. • a book that appealed to the prurient curiosity of its readers

— pru·ri·ence /'prɔːrɪjəns/ noun [noncount] — pru·ri·ent·ly adv

prus·ic acid /'prʌsɪk-/ noun [noncount] : a very poisonous acid

1 pry /'praɪ/ verb pries; pried; pry·ing [no obj] : to try to find out about other people's private lives • I was curious, but I didn't want to pry. — usually + into • He claims that the government is improperly prying into his affairs. • They were trying to pry into my past. — compare 2 PRY

2 pry verb, always followed by an adverb or preposition pries; pried; prying [+ obj] US : to raise, move, or open (something) with a tool • pry off a tight lid • pry up a floorboard • They pried open the door with a crowbar. — often used figuratively • I couldn't pry the secret out of her. [=I couldn't get her to reveal the secret] — compare 1 PRY

prying adj [more ~; most ~] : trying to find out about other people's private lives • She tried to escape the prying eyes of her neighbors. • prying questions

PS abbr 1 postscript — used to introduce an added comment that comes after your name at the end of a letter 2 US public school psalm /'sɑːm/ noun, pl psalms [count] : a song or poem used in worship and especially one from the Bible psalm·ist /'sɑːmɪst/ noun, pl -ists [count] : a writer of psalms psal·ter /'sɑːltə/ noun, pl -ters [count] : a book that contains a collection of psalms for worship pseud /'suːd/ noun, pl pseuds [count] Brit, informal + disapproving : a person who pretends to have a lot of knowledge : PSEUDO-INTELLECTUAL • a pompous pseud pseud- or pseudo- combining form : not real : fake • pseudonym • pseudo-intellectual pseu·do /'suːdou/ adj, always used before a noun, chiefly US : not real or genuine : FAKE • a pseudo event pseu·do-in·tel·lec·tu·al /'suːdou,ɪntə'lektʃəwəl/ noun, pl -als [count] disapproving : a person who wants to be thought of as having a lot of intelligence and knowledge but who is not really intelligent or knowledgeable • She thinks her classmates are just a bunch of pseudo-intellectuals.

— psuedo-intellectual adj

pseu·do·nym /'suːdə,nɪm/ noun, pl -nyms [count] : a name that someone (such as a writer) uses instead of his or her real name • Mark Twain is the pseudonym of the American writer Samuel L. Clemens. • She preferred to write under a pseudonym. [=using a false name instead of her real name] — compare 2 ALIAS

— pseu·don·y·mous /su'dɑːnəməs/ adj • a pseudonymous author psi abbr pounds per square inch psoriasis /sə'raɪəsəs/ noun [noncount] medical : a skin disease that causes areas of your skin to become red and rough and to fall off psst /'pst/ interj — used to get someone's attention • Psst! I'm over here.

1 psych /'saɪk/ verb psychs; psyched; psych·ing [+ obj] informal : to make (yourself or another person) mentally ready to perform or compete • He was trying to psych himself before the race. — usually + up • He was trying to psych himself up before the race. — see also PSYCHED

psych out [phrasal verb] psych (someone) out or psych out (someone) informal : to make (someone) feel nervous or unable to perform well : to say or do something to make (someone) feel uncomfortable or less confident • She has a way of psyching out the competition. • He was trying to psych me out by reminding me of the last time he beat me.

2 psych abbr psychology

psy·che /'saɪki/ noun, pl psy·ches [count] formal : the soul, mind, or personality of a person or group • some hidden corner within your psyche • the female/male/human psyche • the nation's psyche

psyched /'saɪkt/ adj [more ~; most ~] informal : very eager, ready, or excited about something • Are you psyched for this party? • I'm so psyched about my vacation!

psy·che·de·lia /,saɪkə'diːljə/ noun [noncount] : the art, music, style of living, etc., that is associated with psychedelic drugs and especially with the time in the 1960s when many people were using psychedelic drugs • the tie-dyed fashions of psychedelia • music ranging from jazz to disco to '60s psychedelia

1 psy·che·del·ic /,saɪkə'delɪk/ adj

1 a — used to describe a drug (such as LSD) that affects your thinking and causes you to see things that are not real • psychedelic drugs b : caused by the use of psychedelic drugs • a psychedelic experience • psychedelic visions

2 : suggesting the effects of psychedelic drugs by having bright colors, strange sounds, etc. • hippies wearing psychedelic clothing • psychedelic color schemes • psychedelic dance music • strange psychedelic images

— psy·che·del·i·cal·ly /,saɪkə'delɪkli/ adv

2 psychedelic noun, pl -ics [count] : a psychedelic drug (such as LSD)

psy·chi·a·trist /saɪ'kajətrɪst/ noun, pl -trists [count] : a doctor who treats mental or emotional disorders : a doctor of psychiatry psy·chi·a·try /saɪ'kajətri/ noun [noncount] : a branch of medicine that deals with mental or emotional disorders

— psy·chi·at·ric /,saɪki'ætrɪk/ adj • a psychiatric clinic/hospital • psychiatric ailments

1 psy·chic /'saɪkɪk/ adj

1 a also psy·chi·cal /'saɪkɪkəl/ — used to describe strange mental powers and abilities (such as the ability to predict the future, to know what other people are thinking, or to receive messages from dead people) that cannot be explained by natural laws • people with psychic abilities/powers • reports of psychic phenomena b of a person : having strange and unnatural mental abilities : having psychic powers • She claims to be psychic. • (humorous) "How did you know that would happen?" "I'm psychic."

2 also psychical : of or relating to the mind • suffered psychic disturbances • psychic disorders

— psy·chi·cal·ly /'saɪkɪkli/ adv

2 psychic noun, pl -chics [count] : a person who has strange mental powers and abilities (such as the ability to predict the future, to know what other people are thinking, or to receive messages from dead people) : a person who has psychic powers • She claims to be a psychic.

psy·cho /'saɪkou/ noun, pl -chos [count] informal : a person who is mentally ill and often dangerous or violent : PSYCHOPATH • He plays a drug-dealing psycho in the movie.

— psycho adj • psycho creeps/killers • She can turn psycho at any minute.

psy·cho·anal·y·sis /,saɪkəwə'næləsəs/ noun [noncount] : a method of explaining and treating mental and emotional problems by having the patient talk about dreams, feelings, memories, etc. • The doctor recommended psychoanalysis.

— psy·cho·an·a·lyt·ic /,saɪkou,ænə'lytɪk/ also psy·cho·an·a·lyt·i·cal /,saɪkou,ænə'lytɪkəl/ adj • psychoanalytic explanations of behavior • She studied psychoanalytic theory. — psy·cho·an·a·lyt·i·cal·ly /,saɪkou,ænə'lytɪkli/ adv

psy·cho·an·a·lyst /,saɪkou,ænəlist/ noun, pl -lysts [count] : a doctor who helps people with mental and emotional problems by talking to them about their dreams, memories, etc. : a doctor who practices psychoanalysis

psy·cho·an·a·lyze also Brit psy·cho·an·a·lyse /,saɪkou,ænə'laɪz/ verb -lyz-es; -lyzed; -lyz·ing [+ obj] : to treat the mental and emotional problems of (a patient) by having the patient talk about dreams, feelings, memories, etc. : to treat (someone) by means of psychoanalysis psy·cho·bab·ble /'saɪkou,bæbəl/ noun [noncount] informal + disapproving : language that is used by people who talk about mental and emotional problems and that is seen as silly or meaningless : psychological jargon • a popular book filled with the usual psychobabble

psy-cho-log-i-cal /ˌsaɪkəˈlɑːdʒɪkəl/ also US psy-cho-log-ic /ˌsaɪkəˈlɑːdʒɪk/ adj

1 : of or relating to the mind : MENTAL • psychological anguish • psychological disorders • a psychological rather than a physical condition • emotional and psychological states

2 : of or relating to the study of the mind : of or relating to psychology • psychological analysis/research/tests • a psychological clinic psychological warfare : things that are done to make someone (such as an enemy or opponent) become less confident or to feel hopeless, afraid, etc. • The army used radio broadcasts into enemy territory as a form of psychological warfare.

– psy-cho-log-i-cal-ly /ˌsaɪkəˈlɑːdʒɪkli/ adv • a psychologically healthy person • The abuse left him psychologically scarred.

psy-chol-o-gist /sɑːˈkɒlədʒɪst/ noun, pl -gists [count] : a scientist who specializes in the study and treatment of the mind and behavior : a specialist in psychology

psy-chol-o-gy /sɑːˈkɒlədʒi/ noun, pl -gies

1 [noncount] : the science or study of the mind and behavior • She studied psychology in college.

2 : the way a person or group thinks [noncount] the psychology of an athlete • mob psychology • the psychology of crowd behavior [count] We need to understand the psychologies of the two people involved in the incident.

– see also REVERSE PSYCHOLOGY

psy-cho-path /ˈsaɪkəˌpæθ/ noun, pl -paths [count] : a person who is mentally ill, who does not care about other people, and who is usually dangerous or violent • a murderous psychopath

– psy-cho-path-ic /ˈsaɪkəˌpæθɪk/ adj • violent and psychopathic behavior • a psychopathic murderer psy-cho-sis /sɑːˈkɒsəs/ noun, pl -cho-ses /-ˈkɒsɪz/ [count, noncount] : a very serious mental illness that makes you behave strangely or believe things that are not true • The patient suffers from some kind of psychosis.

psy-cho-so-ma-tic /ˌsaɪkəˌsɒməˈtɪk/ adj : caused by mental or emotional problems rather than by physical illness • The doctor told her that her stomach problems were psychosomatic. • psychosomatic disorders/illness/symptoms

– psy-cho-so-ma-t-i-cal-ly /ˌsaɪkəˌsɒməˈtɪkli/ adv

psy-cho-ther-a-py /ˌsaɪkəˌθerəpi/ noun, pl -pies [count, noncount] : treatment of mental or emotional illness by talking about problems rather than by using medicine or drugs • the benefits of psychotherapy

– psy-cho-ther-a-pist /ˌsaɪkəˌθerəpɪst/ noun, pl -pists [count] • a trained psychotherapist

1 psy-cho-tic /saɪˈkɒtɪk/ adj : having or relating to a very serious mental illness that makes you act strangely or believe things that are not true : relating to or suffering from psychosis • psychotic behavior/symptoms • psychotic patients • He was diagnosed as psychotic.

– psy-cho-t-i-cal-ly /saɪˈkɒtɪkli/ adv

2 psychotic noun, pl -ics [count] : a person who suffers from a very serious mental illness : a psychotic person • His father is a psychotic.

psy-cho-tro-pic /ˌsaɪkəˌtrɒpɪk/ adj, technical : having an effect on how the mind works • psychotropic drugs pt or Pt abbr 1 part • Add 1 pt gin. • Shakespeare's Henry IV, Pt 1 2 pint • 2 qts, 1 pt 3 pt. or Pt. point • Score 1 pt. per question for a maximum score of 20 pts. • Our address is 47 Sunfish Pt. 4 Pt. port • Pt. Royale

PT abbr 1 part-time • typist position, PT 2 US physical therapist; physical therapy • My PT told me not to overdo it. • a course of PT after the injury 3 Brit physical training

PTA abbr Parent-Teacher Association • He joined the PTA. • a PTA meeting

Pte abbr, Brit private • Pte Daniel Kyle

ptero-dac-tyl /ˌterəˈdæktl/ noun, pl -tyls [count] : a large flying animal that lived long ago when dinosaurs were alive

PTO abbr 1 US Parent-Teacher Organization • The PTO is raising money for a new playground. • a PTO meeting 2 chiefly Brit please turn over ♦ PTO is written on the bottom of a page to tell the reader to continue reading on the back of that page.

PTSD abbr post-traumatic stress disorder

Pty abbr, Brit proprietary ♦ Pty is used after the names of companies in Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. • Laura Russ Yachts, Pty Ltd pub /ˈpʌb/ noun, pl pubs [count] : a building or room especially in Britain or Ireland where alcoholic drinks and often food are served • We ate at a lot of good pubs on our trip to England last summer. • an Irish pub

pub. abbr published; publisher; publishing • a rare first ed., pub. 1841 • the Kavanagh Pub. Co.

pub crawl noun, pl ~ crawls [count] informal : a visit to several or many pubs or bars in one night • She invited me to join them on a pub crawl.

pu-ber-ty /ˈpjuːbəti/ noun [noncount] : the period of life when a person's sexual organs mature and he or she becomes able to have children • He reached/entered puberty later than most of his classmates.

pu-bes-cent /pjuˈbesnt/ adj : beginning to physically develop into an adult : having reached puberty • pubescent boys/girls pu-bic /ˈpjuːbɪk/ adj, always used before a noun : of, relating to, or near the sexual organs • pubic hair • the pubic bone

1 pub-lic /ˈpʌblɪk/ adj

1 always used before a noun : of, relating to, or affecting all or most of the people of a country, state, etc. • public opinion • Public outrage over the scandal eventually forced him to resign. • The ads are intended to increase public awareness of the risks of smoking. • a study of public policy [=government policies that affect the whole population] • He is the director of public affairs. [=his work involves events, activities, etc., that a company does for the public]

2 always used before a noun a : of, relating to, paid for by, or working for a government • She was elected to a public office. • public spending/funding • public education/housing • a public corporation • a public prosecutor/officer • He was in Congress for many years but he recently retired from public life. b : supported by money from the government and from private contributors rather than by commercials • public television/radio

3 a : able to be used by anyone : open or available to people in general rather than to just a few people • a public library/restroom/telephone/beach • public property • They decided on a nearby restaurant as a convenient public place to meet. • The government has allowed public access to the documents. • The city council is holding a public meeting. b : able to be seen or heard by many people • This will be her first public performance in five years. • a public apology • Her trial will be public.

4 : known to many people • As a celebrity, she is trying to keep her private life separate from her public life. • The scandal ruined his public image. [=the scandal caused many people to change their opinion of him from good to bad] • a public figure [=a well-known person] • The results of the study have been made public. [=have been announced, published, etc., so that they are generally known]

5 : offering shares or stock that can be traded on the open market • a public corporation/company — opposite PRIVATE; see also INITIAL PUBLIC OFFERING go public 1 : to make something known to many people : to make something generally known by announcing it, publishing it, etc. • He went public with his research. 2 : to offer shares or stock that can be freely traded on the open market • The company plans to go public.

in the public eye see ¹EYE

public knowledge see KNOWLEDGE

2 public noun [singular]

1 the public : the people of a country, state, etc. • the American public • The beach is open to the public. • (US) The public is angry with the President = (Brit) The public are angry with the President. • The general public is in favor of the law. • Members of the public called for the mayor's resignation.

2 : a group of people who have a shared interest, quality, etc. • He has once again won the approval of his public [=his supporters/fans] with his latest movie. • the reading public [=people who read a lot; people who enjoy reading] in public : in a place where you can be seen by many people : in a public place • They were seen kissing in public. • The former actress is now rarely seen in public.

public access noun [noncount] chiefly US : a television channel on which any person can broadcast a program • The city council meeting will be broadcast on public access. — often used before another noun • public access television • a public access channel public address system noun, pl ~ -tems [count] : ²PA 1

pub-li-can /ˈpʌblɪkən/ noun, pl -cans [count] Brit, formal : someone who owns or manages a pub public assistance noun [noncount] US : money that the government gives to people who are poor, old, or disabled • Our family had to go on public assistance [=receive money from the government] when my parents lost their jobs.

pub-li-ca-tion /ˌpʌbləˈkeɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions

1 [noncount] : the act or process of producing a book, magazine, etc., and making it available to the public • The company specializes in the publication of dictionaries. • the book's date of publication = the book's publication date [=the date when the book was published] • My novel has been accepted for publication. [=my book will be published and sold to the public]

2 [count] : a book, magazine, etc., that has been printed and made available to the public • She has a very impressive list of publications. • a scholarly/scientific publication

3 [noncount] : the act of printing something (such as an article or photograph) in a magazine, newspaper, etc. — often + of • the publication of a photo • The publication of their findings created an immediate controversy.

public convenience noun, pl ~ -niences [count] Brit, formal : a room in a public place with a sink and toilet : RESTROOM public defender noun, pl ~ -ers [count] US : a lawyer who is paid by the government to defend people who are accused of a crime and are unable to pay for a private lawyer public domain noun

the public domain 1 : the state of something that is not owned by a particular person or company and is available for anyone to use • The software has entered the public domain. • The software is in the public domain. 2 US : land that is owned by the government • The forests are part of the public domain.

— public domain adj • public domain software • The software became public domain. • The forests are public domain.

public health noun [noncount]

1 : the health of people in general • a disease that poses a serious threat to public health

2 US : the science of caring for the people of a community by giving them basic health care and health information, improving living conditions, etc. • She got her degree in public health. • Public health officials warned of an influenza outbreak.

public house noun, pl ~ houses [count] Brit, formal : PUB pub-li-cist /ˈpʌbləsɪst/ noun, pl -cists [count] : a person whose job is to give information about an important or famous person or organization to news reporters • The actor's publicist [=press agent] declined to comment.

pub-lic-i-ty /pəˈblɪsəti/ noun [noncount]

1 : something that attracts the attention of the public • His public appearances are good publicity for the new movie. • An arrest for drunk driving is bad publicity for any celebrity.

2 : attention that is given to someone or something by newspapers, magazines, television news programs, etc. • The film has gotten some good/bad publicity. • She has received a lot of publicity for her latest novel.

3 : the activity or business of getting people to give attention to someone or something • The studio spent a lot of money on publicity for the movie. • Her antics on the show were just a publicity stunt. [=something done just to get publicity]

pub-li-cize also Brit pub-li-cise /ˈpʌbləˌsaɪz/ verb -cizes; -cized; -ciz-ing [+ obj] : to cause (something) to be publicly known : to give information about (something) to the public • The company neglected to publicize the side effects of the new drug. • He is busy publicizing [=promoting] his book. • a highly publicized murder trial public land noun, pl ~ lands US : land that is owned and taken care of by the government [count] the management of public lands [noncount] The government will auction off 20 parcels of public land.

pub-lic-ly /ˈpʌblɪkli/ adv

1 a [more ~; most ~] : in a way that is meant be heard or seen by many people • He publicly announced his resignation. = He announced his resignation publicly. • She very publicly acknowledged/admitted her mistake. b : in a way that can be used, seen, bought, etc., by anyone • The information is publicly available/accessible. • a publicly traded stock [=a stock that the general public can buy or sell] • a publicly owned company [=a company that is owned by the people who own its stock; a company that anyone can buy a share of]

2 : by a government • publicly funded research • publicly owned land

3 : by all or most of the people of a country, state, etc. • The policies have been publicly approved.

public relations noun

1 [noncount] : the activity or job of providing information about a particular person or organization to the public so that people will regard that person or organization in a favorable way • He is very experienced in public relations. • a public relations firm — called also PR

2 [plural] : the relationship between an organization and the public • Sponsoring community events is always good for public relations. — called also PR

public school noun, pl ~ schools [count, noncount]

1 US : a school that gets money from and is controlled by a local government • Both of their sons attend public school.

2 Brit : a private school that prepares students for college or for public service public sector noun [singular] : the part of an economy which is controlled or owned by the government • She has a job in the public sector. — compare PRIVATE SECTOR public servant noun, pl ~ -vants [count] : a government official or employee public service noun, pl ~ -vices

1 [count, noncount] : the business of supplying something (such as electricity, gas, or transportation) to the members of a community • The cost of public services is on the rise.

2 : something that is done to help people rather than to make a profit [count] The station is running antismoking commercials as a public service. [noncount] The company is heavily involved in public service. • The TV station showed a public service announcement [=an announcement made for the good of the public] on drunk driving.

3 [noncount] : work that someone does as part of a government : the work done by public servants • He works in public service. • She has devoted her life to public service.

public speaking noun [noncount] : the act or skill of speaking to a usually large group of people • He has a fear of public speaking. • She has a gift for public speaking. • a book on public speaking — public speaker noun, pl ~ -ers [count] • She's a gifted public speaker.

public-spirited adj [more ~; most ~] somewhat formal : having or showing a desire to help other people • a public-spirited person/act public transit noun [noncount] US : MASS TRANSIT public utility noun, pl ~ -ties [count] : a company (such as an electric company) that provides a public service and must follow special rules made by the government public works noun [plural] : buildings and structures (such as schools, highways, and docks) that are built and owned by a government

pub-lish /ˈpʌblɪʃ/ verb -lish-es; -lished; -lish-ing

1 [+ obj] : to prepare and produce (a book, magazine, etc.) for sale • It's a small company that only publishes about four books a year. • The university press publishes academic titles. • The newspaper is published daily.

2 : to have something you wrote included in a book, magazine, newspaper, etc. [no obj] There is a lot of pressure for professors to publish regularly. [+ obj] He has not published anything for a long time.

3 [+ obj] : to include (an article, letter, photograph, etc.) in a magazine or newspaper • The magazine published two of my stories.

4 [+ obj] formal : to make (something) known to many people : to make a public announcement of (something) • The committee plans on publishing their findings.

— pub-lish-able /ˈpʌblɪʃəbəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] • My professor said that my essay is publishable. • a publishable quote pub-lish-er /ˈpʌblɪʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a person or company that produces books, magazines, etc. • He submitted the manuscript to publishers of children's books.

pub-lish-ing /ˈpʌblɪʃɪŋ/ noun [noncount] : the business of producing books, magazines, etc., to sell to the public • He was hoping to get a job in publishing after college. • Her sister works for a well-known publishing company/house.

puck /ˈpʌk/ noun, pl pucks [count] : the small, hard, rubber object that is used in ice hockey • a hockey puck

puck-er /ˈpʌkə/ verb -ers; -ered; -er-ing : to pull the sides of (something, such as skin or cloth) together so that folds or wrinkles are formed [+ obj] He puckered his lips [=he squeezed his lips together in the way people do when they are going to kiss someone] and kissed her on the cheek. [no obj] His skin puckered a little around the scar. • She puckered up [=puckered her lips] and gave him a big smooch.

– puckered adj • a puckered seam • his puckered [=wrinkled] face/skin.

puck-ish /'pʌkɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] literary : having or showing a desire to cause trouble in a playful or harmless way : MISCHIEVOUS • He had a puckish smile/look on his face.

pud /'pʊd/ noun, pl puds [count, noncount] Brit, informal : PUDDING • What's for pud? • a steak and kidney pud

pud-ding /'pʊdɪŋ/ noun, pl -dings [count, noncount]

1 US : a thick, sweet, soft, and creamy food that is usually eaten cold at the end of a meal • chocolate/vanilla/butter-scotch pudding

2 : a sweet, soft food that is made of rice, bread, etc. • rice/bread pudding • tapioca pudding

3 Brit : DESSERT • What's for pudding?

4 Brit : a hot dish like a pie that has a mixture of meat or vegetables inside of it • steak and kidney pudding

the proof is in the pudding also the proof of the pudding is in the eating — used to say that you can only know if something is good or bad by trying it

— see also BLACK PUDDING, CHRISTMAS PUDDING, PEASE PUDDING, PLUM PUDDING

pud-dle /'pʌdl/ noun, pl pud-dles [count] : a small amount of water, mud, etc., on the ground • She accidentally stepped in a puddle and got her shoes wet. • After the storm, the road was covered in deep puddles.

pu-den-dum /'pjuːdendəm/ noun, pl -den-da /-'dendə/ [count] technical : the sexual organs on the outside of a person's body — used especially to refer to a woman's sexual organs; usually plural • the female pudenda

pudgy /'pʌdʒi/ adj pudg-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] informal : somewhat fat • The baby wrapped its pudgy [=plump, (Brit) podgy] little hand around my finger. • a pudgy little man pueb-lo /'pweblou/ noun, pl -los

1 [count] : a group of Native American homes that have flat roofs and that were used in the past in the southwestern U.S.

2 Pueblo [count, noncount] : a member of any of several groups of Native Americans from the southwestern U.S.

pu-er-ile /'pjʊərəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal + disapproving : silly or childish especially in a way that shows a lack of seriousness or good judgment • a puerile comedy • puerile behavior

¹puff /'pʌf/ verb puffs; puffed; puff-ing

1 : to breathe smoke from a cigarette, pipe, etc., in and out of the lungs [no obj] She sat on the porch puffing on a cigarette. • The men spent the evening puffing (away) at cigars. [+ obj] He puffed [=smoked] a pipe.

2 a : to produce or send out small clouds of smoke or steam [+ obj] He puffed [=blew] smoke into my face. • The chimney puffed white smoke into the sky. [no obj] Steam puffed (out) from the pot. b always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] : to move in a particular direction while producing clouds of steam or smoke • We watched the train puff away on its journey west.

3 [no obj] informal a : to breathe loudly especially because of hard physical activity • He was puffing and panting from running. b always followed by an adverb or preposition : to move or do something while breathing loudly • The bikers puffed up the hill.

4 a [no obj] : to become larger and rounder than normal — usually + up • Her face puffed up [=swelled] from an allergic reaction to the almonds. • The cake puffed up as it baked in the oven. b [+ obj] : to make (something) larger and rounder than normal • He puffed his chest and swaggered into the room. — usually + up • The frog puffed itself up. • He puffed up his chest and swaggered into the room.

huff and puff see ¹HUFF

puff out [phrasal verb] puff (something) out or puff out (something) : to make (something) larger and rounder by filling it with air • She puffed out her cheeks, made a wish, and blew out the candles on her cake. • A gust of wind puffed out the boat's sails.

puff (up) with pride ♦ When you puff (up) with pride or when you are puffed (up) with pride, you are very proud and stand or sit up straighter because of it. • When his daughter's name was announced as the winner, he puffed up with pride.

– puffed adj • The baby wore an adorable little dress with puffed sleeves. [=sleeves made so that they puff out]

²puff noun, pl puffs

1 [count] : an act of breathing something (such as smoke or medicine) into your lungs • He let me have a puff off his pipe. • She took two puffs on her inhaler before going for a run.

2 [count] : a movement of gas, smoke, or air that can be seen or felt • She blew out the candles in a single puff. [=an outward breath of air] — usually + of • The magician disappeared in a puff of smoke. • We saw puffs of smoke billowing from the chimney. • A sudden puff of cold air hit the back of my neck.

3 [count] : a light, round pastry that contains a sweet filling • puffs filled with cream cheese and apricot jam — see also CREAM PUFF

4 Brit, informal + disapproving : speech or writing that praises someone or something too much [noncount] The story was just a lot of public relations puff. [count] The story was just a PR puff. [= (chiefly US) puff piece]

5 [noncount] Brit, informal : BREATH 1 • Halfway up the hill, I was already out of puff.

— see also POWDER PUFF

puff-er /'pʌfə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a type of poisonous fish that can inflate its body with air so that it forms a ball — called also puffer fish

puf-fin /'pʌfən/ noun, pl -fins [count] : a black-and-white seabird that lives in the north Atlantic and has a large, colorful bill puff pastry noun [noncount] : dough that is made of thin layers that puff up during baking puff piece noun, pl ~ pieces [count] chiefly US, informal + disapproving : a story, news report, etc., that praises someone or something too much • The story was just another puff piece to help the mayor get reelected.

puffy /'pʌfi/ adj puff-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : larger than normal : SWOLLEN • When I first wake up in the morning, my eyes are puffy.

2 : soft and light • puffy clouds • puffy, white hair

– puff-i-ness /'pʌfɪnəs/ noun [noncount]

pug /'pʌg/ noun, pl pugs [count] : a small dog that has short fur, a tightly curled tail, and a wide wrinkled face — see picture at DOG pu-gi-list /'pjuːdʒəlɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] old-fashioned + somewhat formal : a professional boxer • a talented pugilist

– pu-gi-lism /'pjuːdʒəlɪzəm/ noun [noncount] • He made a career out of pugilism. — pu-gi-lis-tic /'pjuːdʒəlɪstɪk/ adj • a pugilistic career pug-na-cious /'pʌg'neɪʃəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : showing a readiness or desire to fight or argue • There's one pugnacious member on the committee who won't agree to anything.

– pug-na-cious-ly adv — pug-nac-i-ty /'pʌg'næsəti/ noun [noncount] • a player who's known for his pugnacity

¹puke /'pjuːk/ verb pukes; puked; puk-ing informal : to empty what is in your stomach through your mouth : VOMIT [no obj] I think I'm going to puke. [=throw up] • Her snobby attitude makes me (want to) puke. [=makes me sick; makes me very angry, annoyed, etc.] [+ obj] — usually + up • He puked up [=threw up] his breakfast.

²puke noun [noncount] informal : the food, liquid, etc., that comes out of your body through your mouth when you vomit : VOMIT • a puddle of dog puke

puk-ka /'pʌkə/ adj, Brit, informal : very good • They assured us that everything's pukka. [=OK] • a pukka meal

Pu-lit-zer Prize /'pulɪtsə-/ noun, pl ~ Prizes [count] : one of a number of prizes that are awarded in the U.S. each year for excellent work in writing, reporting, or music composition — called also Pulitzer

¹pull /'pul/ verb pulls; pulled; pull-ing

1 : to hold onto and move (someone or something) in a particular direction and especially toward yourself [+ obj] He pulled the door open and ran out. • The cat will scratch you if you keep pulling its tail. • Make a knot in the rope and pull it tight. • Pull the baby's chair closer to the table. • She pulled the blanket over her head. [no obj] We tried pushing and pulling but couldn't get the couch to move. • Grab the end of the rope and pull as hard as you can.

2 [+ obj] : to remove (something) by gripping it and using force • We spent the morning in the garden pulling weeds. • I accidentally pulled one of the buttons off my shirt. • The dentist said I have to have two teeth pulled. [=extracted] • He pulled the cork (out) and poured the wine. • He pulled the plug out of the socket.

3 [+ obj] a : to cause (something you are holding or something that is attached to you) to move with you as you go in a particular direction • Horses pull carriages around the park. • She was pulling a wagon behind her. b : to cause (something) to move or be directed toward something • The colors pull [=draw] the eye toward the center of the painting.

4 always followed by an adverb or preposition a [no obj] of a car, train, etc. : to move from or to a particular place • The car pulled out of the driveway. • The train pulled into the station [=arrived at the station] right on time. • I made it to the bus stop just when the bus was pulling away/out. [=was leaving] b : to move a vehicle from or to a particular place [no obj] Look both ways before pulling out (into traffic). • It's a tight squeeze, so be careful pulling in. • He pulled into the parking space. • We'll have to pull off the highway. • She pulled away from the curb and into traffic. [+ obj] He slowly pulled the car into traffic. • Pull the car into the garage.

5 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] of a car, wheel, etc. : to move to the left or right instead of straight ahead when traveling forward • I need to get the alignment of the car fixed because when I drive it pulls [=drifts] to the right/left. • The wheel pulls left.

6 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to move (your body or a part of your body) in a particular direction or to a particular position [+ obj] She wore her hair pulled back in a ponytail. • At my age, it can be hard to pull yourself up from the couch. • I tried to grab his hand but he pulled it away. [no obj] When I leaned over to kiss her, she pulled away.

7 [+ obj] : to move (a trigger, lever, etc.) in order to operate a device or machine • He pulled the trigger, but the gun didn't fire. • She dropped in a quarter and pulled the slot machine's lever.

8 : to move a boat through water using oars : ROW [no obj] The crew pulled toward shore. [+ obj] The crew pulled the boat toward shore.

9 [+ obj] a : to remove (someone or something) from a place or situation • The pitcher was pulled (from the game) [=was taken out of the game] in the third inning. b : to take (something) away • The police pulled his driver's license for drunk driving. • He had his license pulled for drunk driving. • The project was well-funded until a few companies pulled [=withdrew] their sponsorship.

10 [+ obj] : to take (a weapon) out of a pocket or other hidden place • He went into the store and pulled a gun on the cashier. [=took out a gun and pointed it at the cashier] • Someone pulled a knife on him and threatened to stab him.

11 [+ obj] : to do (something) • They pulled [=carried out] a robbery. • I pulled [=worked] two double shifts at the restaurant this week. • She loved to pull [=play] tricks/jokes on her brother. • Don't you ever pull a crazy stunt like that again! • To finish my paper for class, I had to pull an all-nighter. [=stay awake all night working]

12 [+ obj] : to hurt (a muscle, tendon, or ligament) by stretching it too much • She pulled [=strained] a muscle in her back when she tried to reach the top shelf.

13 [+ obj] sports : to hit (a ball) toward the left from a right-handed swing or toward the right from a left-handed swing • (baseball) He pulled the ball down the left-field line. • (golf) She pulled her drive into the rough. — compare PUSH

14 [+ obj] informal : to behave like (a particular person) • Whenever anyone forgot where they had parked the car, we'd say they "pulled a Dave." [=they did something that Dave often does]

15 Brit, informal : to attract (someone) sexually [+ obj] He had a brief affair with a girl he pulled in a bar. [no obj] She's wearing a short skirt hoping it will help her pull tonight.

In addition to the phrases shown below, pull occurs in many idioms that are shown at appropriate entries throughout the dictionary. For example, pull a face can be found at ¹FACE, pull someone's leg can be found at ¹LEG, and pull the wool over someone's eyes can be found at WOOL.

pull a fast one informal : to deceive or trick someone • Be careful. Someone might try to pull a fast one on you.

pull ahead [phrasal verb] : to take the lead in a race, competition, contest, etc. • The two runners were side by side until one pulled ahead. • She pulled ahead in the race. • He has pulled ahead of the other candidates in the election polls.

pull apart [phrasal verb] 1 a : to be separated into parts or pieces by pulling • The rolls pull apart easily. b pull

(something) apart or pull apart (something) : to separate or break (something) into parts or pieces • She pulled the rolls apart with her hands. — sometimes used figuratively • His gambling problem is pulling the family apart. [=is destroying the family] 2 pull (people or animals) apart or pull apart (people or animals) : to separate (people or animals) in order to stop a fight • Customers stepped in and pulled the two men apart. [=separated the two men who were fighting] pull aside [phrasal verb] pull (someone) aside : to take (someone) to one side away from other people for a private conversation • The reporter pulled me aside and asked if I knew who was in charge.

pull at [phrasal verb] pull at (something) 1 : to hold onto and pull (something) repeatedly • When she gets nervous, she pulls at [=pulls on] her ear. 2 : to breathe in the smoke from (a cigarette, pipe, etc.) • He rocked back and forth, pulling at [=pulling on] his pipe.

pull away [phrasal verb] : to begin to move farther ahead in a race, competition, contest, etc. • They pulled away in the second half and won the game easily. — often + from • In the final lap, he pulled away from the other cars and won.

pull back [phrasal verb] 1 : to decide not to do something that you had intended to do or started to do • The buyers of the house pulled back [=pulled out] at the last minute. 2 pull back or pull back (someone or something) or pull (someone or something) back : to move back from a place or position or to cause (someone or something) to move back from a place or position • The soldiers were outnumbered and were forced to pull back. [=retreat; withdraw] • The general pulled his army back. 3 pull (something) back or pull back (something) Brit, sports : to score (a goal, point, etc.) so that you are not as far behind in a game as you were before • They were behind 2-0 but they pulled back a goal [=they scored a goal to make the score 2-1] early in the second half.

pull down [phrasal verb] 1 pull down (something) or pull (something) down a : to move (something) down • I pulled down the shade. • He always wears his baseball cap pulled down over his eyes. b : to destroy (a building) completely • The wreckers pulled down [=demolished] the building. c : to make (something) smaller in amount or number : to reduce or lower (something) • The rumors that the company was filing for bankruptcy pulled stock prices down. 2 pull down (someone) or pull (someone) down US, informal : to cause (someone) to become sad or depressed • The loss really pulled the team down. [=brought the team down] 3 pull down (something) informal a : to earn (a particular and usually large amount of money) • He pulls down [=makes, pulls in] more than a million dollars a year. b : to get (something) • The show has pulled down high ratings.

pull for [phrasal verb] pull for (someone or something) US, informal : to say or show that you hope (someone or something) will succeed, get well, etc. • I hope you're feeling better soon. We're all pulling for you (to get well). • I'm pulling [=rooting] for the home team.

pull in [phrasal verb] 1 : to arrive at a place and come to a stop • "When are our guests coming?" "I think they just pulled in." • The train pulled in on time. 2 pull in (someone or something) or pull (someone or something) in : to attract (someone or something) • We hope the display will pull customers in from the street. • She's trying to pull in more votes. 3 pull in (something) also pull (something) in informal : to earn (a particular and usually large amount of money) • After just a couple of years at the firm, she was pulling in [=pulling down, making] more than $100,000. 4 pull (someone) in : to bring (someone) to a police station : to arrest (someone) • The police pulled him in for questioning.

pull off [phrasal verb] pull off (something) or pull (something) off 1 : to remove (something) from something else : to take off (something) • He pulled off the covers of the bed. • She pulled her boots off. 2 informal : to do (something difficult) successfully • We were doubtful the plan would work, but he managed to pull it off. • The team pulled off a win/upset.

pull on [phrasal verb] 1 pull on (something) : to hold onto and pull (something) repeatedly • When she gets nervous, she pulls on [=pulls at] her ear. 2 : to breathe in the smoke from (a cigarette, pipe, etc.) • He rocked back and forth, pulling on [=pulling at] his pipe. 3 pull on (something) or pull (something) on : to dress yourself in (clothing) • She quickly pulled on [=put on] her clothes/sweater.

pull out [phrasal verb] 1 : to decide not to do something that you had intended to do or started to do • The buyers of the house pulled out at the last minute. 2 pull out or pull out (someone or something) or pull (someone or something) out : to leave a place or position or to cause (someone or something) to leave a place or position • The invading army was outnumbered and was forced to pull out. [=withdraw] • Military leaders have decided to pull the troops out of the war zone. • Organizations are pulling out of the country [=are leaving the country] due to threats of civil war. — see also PULLOUT pull over [phrasal verb] 1 pull over or pull over (something) or pull (something) over : to move a vehicle to the side of the road and stop • Let's pull over and look at the map. • He pulled the car over to look at the map. 2 pull over (someone or something) or pull (someone or something) over : to force (a driver or vehicle) to move to the side of the road and stop • He was pulled over (by the police) for speeding.

pull through [phrasal verb] 1 : to survive a serious illness, injury, operation, etc. • We sat in the hospital waiting room praying that he would pull through. [=live] 2 a pull through or pull through (something) : to get through a difficult situation • I'm sure that the company will pull through, just as it has in difficult times in the past. • It was a bad time for my family, but we managed to pull through it. b pull (someone or something) through : to help (someone or something) to continue to live or succeed in a dangerous or difficult situation • His determination pulled him through. • Outside financial help is needed to pull the company through its troubles.

pull together [phrasal verb] 1 : to work together as a group in order to get something done • It was amazing to see so many people pull together to help the poor. 2 a pull together (someone or something) or pull (someone or something) together : to bring (people or things) together and organize them in order to make or do something • She managed to pull a team of researchers together. • He started his research by pulling together all the available data. b pull together (something) or pull (something) together : to make (something) by bringing together different things • The chef pulled together a menu of American and Italian cuisine. • The boss asked her to pull a brief sales report together. 3 pull (yourself) together : to become calm again : to control your emotions and behavior after you have been very upset, emotional, etc. • I know you're upset, but you need to pull yourself together. [=calm down] pull up [phrasal verb] 1 pull up (something) or pull (something) up a : to move (something) up • I pulled up the shade. b : to move (something) forward or into a position where it can be seen, used, etc. • Pull up a chair and make yourself comfortable. • Give me a moment to pull up your file on the computer. 2 pull up or pull (something) up or pull up (something) : to stop a vehicle at a particular place • We pulled up in front of the house. • He pulled up next to me at the stoplight. • He pulled the car up in front of the house. 3 pull up : to stop suddenly before completing something • A muscle spasm caused him to pull up halfway through the race. • She started to answer and then pulled up short. 4 pull (someone) up Brit, informal : to criticize (someone) severely for doing something • Her boss pulled her up for/on being late.

²pull noun, pl pulls

1 [count] : the act of moving or trying to move something by holding it and bringing it toward you : the act of pulling something • She gave the door a few hard pulls and it opened. • Give the rope a pull. • I felt a couple pulls [=tugs] on the fishing line.

2 [noncount] : special influence and power over other people • He has a lot of pull in local political circles.

3 [count] : an ability or power to attract someone or to make someone want to go somewhere, do something, etc. — usually singular • She has great box-office pull. [=she attracts a lot of people to her movies] • She resisted the pull to abandon her principles to make more money. • the irresistible pull of Hollywood for/on young actors and actresses

4 [singular] : a natural force that causes one thing (such as a planet) to be pulled toward another • The planet has a strong gravitational pull. • the pull of gravity

5 [count] : an injury that is caused by stretching a muscle, tendon, or ligament too much • He is recovering from a muscle/groin pull.

6 [count] a : the act of breathing in smoke from a cigarette, cigar, pipe, etc. • He just looked at me and took a pull on/off/at his cigarette before answering. b : the act of taking a long drink of something • He took a long pull on his beer.

7 [count] : something (such as a handle or cord) that opens or operates something when it is pulled • a drawer/bell pull

8 [count] chiefly Brit : a difficult climb up a steep hill — usually singular • a long pull uphill

pull-back /'pul,bæk/ noun, pl -backs [count]

1 : an act of removing military troops from a position or an area • the pullback [=withdrawal] of forces from the border

2 formal : an act of doing less or becoming less involved in something • a pullback in consumer spending pull-down menu noun, pl ~ menus [count] computers

: DROP-DOWN MENU

pul-let /'pulət/ noun, pl -lets [count]

: a young chicken and especially one that is less than a year old pul-ley /'pulɪ/ noun, pl -leys [count]

: a wheel or set of wheels that is used with a rope, chain, etc., to lift or lower heavy objects pulling power noun [noncount] chiefly Brit : DRAWING POWER • a performer with a lot of pulling power

Pull-man /'pulmən/ noun, pl -mans [count]

: a comfortable railroad car that carries people and is used especially for overnight travel pull-out /'pul,aʊt/ noun, pl -outs [count]

1 : an act of removing military troops from a position or an area • A pullout of troops from the region has begun.

2 : a section of a newspaper, magazine, etc., that is meant to be removed and looked at separately • That article is in the special pullout (section). • a ten-page pullout — see also pull out at ¹PULL pull-over /'pul,ouvə/ noun, pl -overs [count]

: a piece of clothing (such as a sweater) that is put on by pulling it over your head • She was wearing a light pullover. • a pullover jacket/sweater — see color picture on page C15

pull tab noun, pl ~ tabs [count] US

: a small metal ring on the top of a can or other container that you pull to open the container — called also (Brit) ring pull pull-up /'pul,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count]

: an exercise in which you hold onto a bar above your head and then pull your body up until your chin is above the bar • doing pull-ups • a pull-up bar — called also (US) chin-up

pul-mo-nary /'pulmənəri, Brit 'pulmənri/ adj, always used before a noun, medical

: relating to the lungs • the pulmonary arteries/veins

¹pulp /'pʌlp/ noun, pl pulps

1 a [noncount] : the inner, juicy part of a fruit or vegetable • The fruit has sweet, juicy pulp and hard, black seeds. • the pulp of an orange b [noncount] : the substance that is left after the liquid has been squeezed from a fruit or vegetable • I like to strain the pulp out of my orange juice. c : a soft, wet substance that is made by crushing something [non-count] The grain was mashed into pulp. [singular] mashed to a pulp

2 [noncount] : a soft material that is made mostly from wood and is used in making paper • The boxes will be turned back into pulp and be made into newspapers. • a pulp mill • This paper is made from inexpensive wood pulp.

3 [count] US : a magazine, book, etc., that is cheaply made and that deals with sex, drugs, violence, etc., in a shocking way • He made a little extra money by writing stories for a science fiction pulp. — often used before another noun • a pulp magazine • pulp fiction

4 [count, noncount] technical : the soft tissue that is inside a tooth to a pulp — used to say that someone or something is very badly beaten, mashed, smashed, etc. • He threatened to beat them to a (bloody) pulp.

— pulpy /'pʌlpi/ adj pulp-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] • pulpy orange juice • pulpy magazines

²pulp verb pulps; pulped; pulp-ing [+obj]

: to crush (something) until it is soft and wet : to make (something) into pulp

• They will pulp the unsold copies of the book. [=turn them into pulp for making paper] • the wood pulping process

pulley

pul-pit /'pul,prɪ/ noun, pl -pits [count] : a raised platform where a priest or minister stands when leading a worship service — usually singular • The pastor ascended the pulpit. — often used figuratively • The war crimes were denounced from the pulpit. [=by priests and church leaders] • People have different opinions about women in the pulpit. [=as priests or church leaders; in the priesthood] — see also BULLY PULPIT pul-sar /'pʌl,sɑː/ noun, pl -sars [count] technical : a type of star that gives off a rapidly repeating series of radio waves

pul-sate /'pʌl,seɪt, Brit 'pʌl'seɪt/ verb -sates; -sat-ed; -sat-ing [no obj]

1 : to make strong and regular beats, sounds, flashes, etc. • The lights pulsated with the music. • People danced to the pulsating sounds of hip-hop.

2 : to be filled with activity or a feeling • Virtually every scene of the movie pulsates with suspense.

— pul-sa-tion /,pʌl'seɪʃən/ noun, pl -tions [count, non-count] • artery pulsations

¹pulse /'pʌls/ noun, pl puls-es [count]

1 : the regular movement of blood through your body that is caused by the beating of your heart and that can be felt by touching certain parts of your body — usually singular • This machine measures pulse rate and blood pressure. • a strong/weak pulse • My pulse quickened when I heard the exciting news. = The exciting news set my pulse racing. [=the exciting news made my heart beat faster] • She has a resting pulse of 60. [=when she is resting, her heart beats 60 times per minute] • The nurse checked/took/felt my pulse. [=measured how fast my heart was beating]

2 : a strong, regular beat or pattern of sounds in music — usually singular • the strong pulse of the music

3 : a brief increase in an amount of electricity, light, or sound • light pulses = pulses of light • pulse waves

4 : the ideas, feelings, or opinions that are shared by a particular group of people — usually singular • Her book is a good analysis of the political pulse of the nation.

finger on the pulse see ¹FINGER

²pulse verb pulses; pulsed; puls-ing [no obj]

1 a : to move with strong, regular beats • When he gets angry, the veins in his forehead pulse. [=throb] • He could feel the blood pulsing through his veins. — often used figuratively • A rush of excitement pulsed through her body. [=she felt a sudden rush of excitement] b : to produce a strong, regular beat • Dance music pulsed from the speakers.

2 : to be filled with activity or a feeling • The city pulses with life.

pul-ver-ize also Brit pul-ver-ise /'pʌlvə,raɪz/ verb -iz-es; -ized; -iz-ing [+ obj]

1 technical : to crush, beat, or grind (something) into powder or dust • The mower pulverizes grass clippings. • Bits of pulverized rock filled the air.

2 informal : to destroy or defeat (someone or something) completely • They pulverized the opposition.

pu-ma /'pu:mə, Brit 'pju:mə/ noun, pl pu-mas also puma [count] : COUGAR

pum-ice /'pʌməs/ noun [noncount] : a gray stone that comes from volcanoes, is full of small holes, has a very light weight, and is used especially for smoothing and polishing things or for softening the skin — called also pumice stone

pum-mel /'pʌmə/ verb -mels; US -meled or Brit -melled; US -mel-ing or Brit -mel-ling [+ obj] : to repeatedly hit or punch (someone or something) very hard • He pummeled [=beat] the intruder. • She pummeled the steering wheel (with her fists). — often used figuratively • They pummeled the opposition. • Her last movie was pummeled by the critics.

¹pump /'pʌmp/ noun, pl pumps [count]

1 : a device that forces liquid, air, or gas into or out of something • an air pump • a water pump • a foot/hand pump [=a pump that you operate by using your foot/hand] • a bicycle pump [=a small pump used for putting air in bicycle tires] • (US) a gas pump = (Brit) a petrol pump — see picture at BICYCLE

2 : the act of pumping something • Three more pumps and the tire should be full enough.

pulpit

at the pump also at the pumps US, informal : at the places where customers buy gasoline for their cars • Prices are higher at the pump. [=gas prices are higher] • Expect long lines at the pumps this weekend. [=expect long lines at gas stations this weekend]

prime the pump see ³PRIME

— compare ³PUMP

²pump verb pumps; pumped; pump-ing

1 a : to move something (such as water, air, or gas) to or from a particular place with a pump [+ obj] He pumped the water up from the bottom of the boat. — often used figuratively • The President hoped the tax cuts would help pump money back into the economy. • She pumped all of her resources into starting her own business. [no obj] The machine suddenly stopped pumping. b [+ obj] : to remove water, air, etc., from (something) with a pump • We pumped the boat dry. • We had to pump the basement out. c [+ obj] : to remove the contents of (someone's stomach) by using a tube and a small pump • Doctors had to pump (out) her stomach after she swallowed poison.

2 of the heart : to move (blood) through your body by beating [+ obj] Your heart pumps blood all over your body. [no obj] My heart started pumping [=beating] fast.

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition [no obj] of a liquid : to flow in a series of movements caused by the action of a pump, by the beating of your heart, etc. • I could feel the blood pumping through my veins. • Blood pumped out of the cut.

4 : to move (something) up and down or in and out quickly and repeatedly [+ obj] He pumped his arms up and down as he ran. • She pumped the handle of the well. • pump the brake pedal [no obj] His leg nervously pumped up and down under the table.

5 [+ obj] informal : to question (someone) again and again to try to find out information — often + for • The detective pumped them for information on the murder.

pump iron informal : to lift weights in order to make your muscles stronger • I'm going to the gym to pump some iron.

pump out [phrasal verb] pump out (something) or pump (something) out informal : to produce (something) quickly and frequently • The author pumps out a book every year.

pump (someone or something) full of (something) : to fill (someone or something) with (something) by using a pump • They pumped the balloon full of helium. — often used figuratively • He pulled out a gun and threatened to pump them full of bullets/lead. [=threatened to shoot them] • She was pumped full of antibiotics/cafeine.

pump up [phrasal verb] 1 pump (something) up or pump up (something) : to fill (something, such as a tire) with air by using a pump : INFLATE • I'll be ready to go for a bike ride after I pump up my tires. 2 pump (something) up or pump up (something) informal : to increase the amount, size, or value of (something) • The company is trying hard to pump up sales. • All of the praise pumped up her ego. 3 pump (someone) up or pump up (someone) : to fill (someone) with excitement or enthusiasm • The coach made a speech to try and pump up his players. • The team was (all) pumped up for the game.

³pump noun, pl pumps [count]

1 US : a woman's dress shoe with a high heel — usually plural • She wore black leather pumps with her suit. — called also (Brit) court shoe

2 Brit : a light, soft shoe that is worn for dancing or exercise • ballet pumps

— compare ¹PUMP

pumped /'pʌmp/ adj, US, informal : excited and enthusiastic about something • I'm pumped [=pumped up] for tonight's concert.

pum-per-nick-el /'pʌmpə,nɪkəl/ noun [noncount] : a heavy and dark type of bread made from rye pump-kin /'pʌmpkən/ noun, pl -kins [count, noncount] : a large, round, orange vegetable used as food and sometimes as a decoration — often used before another noun • pumpkin pie • pumpkin soup — see color picture on page C4

¹pun /'pʌn/ noun, pl puns [count] : a humorous way of using a word or phrase so that more than one meaning is suggested • She made a pun. • The delicatessen is sandwiched, if you'll pardon/excuse/forgive the pun, between two stores. • She's a skillful pilot whose career has—no pun intended—really taken off. — often + on • The name "Dew Drop Inn" is a pun on "do drop in."

²pun verb puns; punned; pun·ning : to make a pun [no obj] a punning headline — often + on • Punning on her daughter's first name, she said, "Mary Christmas!" [+ obj] "Firefighting sparks my interest," he punned.

¹punch /'pʌntʃ/ verb punch·es; punched; punch·ing [+ obj]

1 : to hit (someone or something) hard with your fist • Stop punching your sister! • He punched my face/nose/mouth/arm. • He punched me in the face/nose/mouth/eye/belly. • She punched him on the chin/jaw/arm.

2 chiefly US : to press or push (something) with a short, quick movement • He quickly punched the buttons on his telephone.

3 : to make (a hole, dent, etc.) by pressing or cutting in, into, or through something • She punched an opening through the dough with her finger. • The tool punches holes in paper.

4 : to make a hole in (something, such as a ticket) by using a special tool • The conductor punched my railway pass.

punch holes in : to weaken or destroy (an idea, plan, belief, etc.) by proving that parts of it are wrong • Lawyers tried to punch holes in her argument.

punch in [phrasal verb] US 1 : to place a card in a time clock at the beginning of a workday so that the time is recorded on the card • The crew punched in [= (chiefly Brit) clocked in] at 8:00. 2 punch (something) in or punch in (something) : to enter (information, such as words or numbers) into a computer or other machine by pressing buttons or keys • She punched in her secret code.

punch out [phrasal verb] US 1 : to place a card in a time clock at the end of a workday so that the time is recorded on the card • It's time to punch out. 2 punch (someone) out or punch out (someone) informal : to hit (someone) repeatedly in order to cause pain or injury : to beat (someone) up • He threatened to punch me out if I talked to his girlfriend again.

punch someone's lights out informal : to hit someone's face hard with your fist • It's a good thing he's not here, or I'd punch his lights out.

punch up [phrasal verb] punch (something) up or punch up (something) US, informal : to make (something) more lively, exciting, attractive, etc. • New owners punched up the newspaper with color photographs. • The steak was punched up with a pepper sauce.

— punch·er noun, pl -ers [count] • a card puncher • He was the greatest puncher in the history of boxing.

²punch noun, pl punches

1 [count] : a quick hit with your fist • throw/land a punch • kicks and punches • He gave me a punch in the nose. [=he punched me in the nose] — see also RABBIT PUNCH, SUCKER PUNCH

2 [noncount] : energy or forcefulness • The team was well trained but lacked punch. • The last sentence in your essay needs more punch.

(as pleased as punch see PLEASED beat (someone) to the punch : to do or achieve something before someone else is able to • We were working on a new product but our competition beat us to the punch. [=our competition started selling a similar product before we did]

pack a punch see ²PACK

pull punches : to express criticism in a mild or kind way — usually used in negative statements • When he has something bad to say about a movie, he doesn't pull his/any punches. [=he does not try to make his criticisms seem less harsh than they are] • The report pulls no punches in blaming the government for this crisis.

roll with the punches see ¹ROLL

— compare ³PUNCH, ⁴PUNCH

³punch noun, pl punches : a drink made usually by mixing different fruit juices and often flavored with wine or liquor [count] a fruit punch [noncount] They plan to serve punch at the party. • a bowl/glass of punch — see also PUNCH BOWL — compare ²PUNCH, ⁴PUNCH

⁴punch noun, pl punches [count]

1 : a tool or machine for cutting holes in paper, cardboard, leather, etc. • a paper punch

2 : a hole made by a cutting tool or machine • He got an extra punch on his discount card.

— compare ²PUNCH, ³PUNCH

Punch-and-Judy show /ˌpʌntʃənˈdʒuːdi-/ noun, pl ~ shows [count] : a comic puppet show in which a puppet named Punch fights with his wife Judy punch bag noun, pl ~ bags [count] Brit : PUNCHING BAG punch bowl noun, pl ~ bowls [count] : a large bowl from which punch is served at a party punch card noun, pl ~ cards [count] : a card with holes that have been punched in different positions to represent information • old-fashioned computer punch cards — called also punched card punch-drunk /'pʌntʃˌdrʌŋk/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 of a boxer : confused and unable to speak or move normally because of being punched many times in the head • punch-drunk fighters

2 informal : unable to think or act normally because you are very tired, excited, etc. • By the time we arrived home, we were punch-drunk [=dazed] with fatigue.

punching bag noun, pl ~ bags [count] US : a very heavy bag that usually hangs from the ceiling and that is punched for exercise or training — often used figuratively to describe someone who is often criticized, hit, or defeated by another person • I'm tired of being your punching bag. — called also (Brit) punch bag punch line noun, pl ~ lines [count] : the words at the end of a joke or story that make it funny, surprising, etc. • She didn't understand the punch line.

punch-up /'pʌntʃˌʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] Brit, informal : a fight in which people punch each other punchy /'pʌntʃi/ adj punch·i·er; -est informal

1 : very exciting or lively • punchy colors • a punchy tune • punchy dialogue • shrimp in a punchy sauce

2 US : PUNCH-DRUNK • a punchy ex-fighter • She was punchy with fatigue.

punc·til·i·ous /ˌpʌŋkˈtɪljəs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : very careful about behaving properly and doing things in a correct and accurate way • She's very punctilious about grammar. • a punctilious [=meticulous] caretaker

— punc·til·i·ous·ly adv • They do their jobs punctiliously.

— punc·til·i·ous·ness noun [noncount]

punc·tu·al /'pʌŋktʃəwəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : arriving or doing something at the expected or planned time • The trains were punctual. • a punctual employee

— punc·tu·al·i·ty /ˌpʌŋktʃəˈwæləti/ noun [noncount] • Workers received bonuses for punctuality. — punc·tu·al·ly adv • She arrived punctually at 7:00.

punc·tu·ate /'pʌŋktʃəˌweɪt/ verb -ates; -at·ed; -at·ing [+ obj]

1 : to use punctuation marks in (a piece of writing) • Do you know how to punctuate a sentence correctly? • an improperly punctuated sentence

2 : to interrupt or occur in (something) repeatedly — usually used as (be) punctuated • Her speech was punctuated by frequent applause.

punc·tu·a·tion /ˌpʌŋktʃəˈweɪʃən/ noun [noncount] : the marks (such as periods and commas) in a piece of writing that make its meaning clear and that separate it into sentences, clauses, etc. • grammar, punctuation, and spelling punctuation mark noun, pl ~ marks [count] : any one of the marks (such as a period, comma, or question mark) used to divide a piece of writing into sentences, clauses, etc.

¹punc·ture /'pʌŋktʃə/ noun, pl -tures [count]

1 : a hole or wound made by a sharp point • a slight puncture of the skin

2 : a small hole in a tire that causes it to lose air • I got/had a puncture [= (US) flat, flat tire] on the way to the airport.

²puncture verb -tures; -tured; -tur·ing

1 : to make a hole in (something) with a sharp point · [+ obj] A nail punctured the tire. = The tire was punctured by a nail. [no obj] Worn tires puncture easily.

2 [+ obj] : to weaken, damage, or destroy (something, such as an argument or a person's feelings, pride, etc.) suddenly or in a way that causes surprise or embarrassment • puncture an argument • Their criticism punctured [=hurt, wounded] his self-esteem.

3 [+ obj] of a sound : to interrupt (silence) in a sudden and unexpected way • The silence was punctured [=broken, shattered] by her cry.

— punctured adj • a punctured [=perforated] eardrum • punctured tires pun·dit /'pʌndət/ noun, pl -dits [count] : a person who knows a lot about a particular subject and who expresses ideas and opinions about that subject publicly (such as by speaking on television and radio shows) • political pundits • a television pundit

pun·gent /'pʌŋdʒənt/ adj [more ~; most ~]

1 : having a strong, sharp taste or smell • a pungent herb • a pungent aroma/odor • a pungent sauce

2 : having a strong effect on the mind because of being clever and direct • a play with pungent dialogue • a pungent satire of/on current politics

— pun·gen·cy /'pʌndʒənsi/ noun [noncount] • The delightful pungency of Thai, Indian, and Mexican food comes from chili peppers and spices. — pun·gent·ly adv • a pungently sweet aroma

pun·ish /'pʌnɪʃ/ verb -ish·es; -ished; -ish·ing [+ obj]

1 a : to make (someone) suffer for a crime or for bad behavior • I think that murderers should be punished by/with life imprisonment. • She was punished for lying. • His parents punished him by taking away his allowance. b : to make someone suffer for (a crime or bad behavior) • How should I punish my child's misbehavior? • State law punishes fraud with fines. • The law states that treason shall be punished by death. [=that the punishment for treason is death]

2 : to treat (someone or something) severely or roughly • I don't understand why women continue to punish [=damage] their feet by wearing high-heeled shoes.

pun·ish·able /'pʌnɪʃəbəl/ adj : able to be punished : calling for or deserving punishment • Jaywalking is a punishable offense in this city. • a crime punishable by death [=a crime that has death as a possible punishment] punishing adj [more ~; most ~] : very harsh, difficult, or extreme • Few people can handle Antarctica's punishing cold. • She had a punishing schedule of six classes last semester.

pun·ish·ment /'pʌnɪʃmənt/ noun, pl -ments

1 : the act of punishing someone or a way of punishing someone [count] I took away my daughter's car keys as a punishment for her bad behavior. • The punishments that the government has inflicted/imposed on the protesters are severe and unjust. • The punishment for murder is life imprisonment. [noncount] I took away my daughter's car keys as (a form of) punishment for her bad behavior. • cruel and unusual punishment [=punishment that is very painful or harsh or that is too severe for a particular crime] — see also CAPITAL PUNISHMENT, CORPORAL PUNISHMENT

2 [noncount] : the state of being punished • Some religions teach that wicked people will suffer eternal punishment in hell after they die.

3 [noncount] : rough physical treatment • These hiking boots are tough enough to take any amount of punishment. [=the boots will not be ruined even if they are used very roughly] • He keeps playing football despite all his injuries. I guess he's a glutton/sucker for punishment. [=he is attracted to pain, suffering, difficulty, etc.]

pu·ni·tive /'pju:nətrɪv/ adj

1 : intended to punish someone or something • The federal government will take punitive action against the company that polluted the river. • punitive measures • The plaintiff will receive $50,000 in compensatory damages and $300,000 in punitive damages. [=money that someone is ordered to pay as a punishment for causing harm]

2 [more ~; most ~] : extremely or unfairly severe or high • Lobbyists complain that the bill would impose punitive taxes on the industry.

— pu·ni·tive·ly adv

punk /'pʌŋk/ noun, pl punks

1 [count] US, informal + disapproving : a rude and violent young man • Why can't the police do more to get the punks off our streets?

2 [noncount] a : a kind of loud and intense rock music that was most popular from the late 1970s to the early 1980s — often used before another noun • a punk musician • a punk band — called also punk rock b [count] : a person who plays punk rock or who is a fan of punk rock — called also punk rocker pun·net /'pʌnət/ noun, pl -nets [count] Brit : a small box that is used to hold soft fruits (such as strawberries and blueberries)

¹punt /'pʌnt/ verb punts; punt·ed; punt·ing

1 sports : to drop a ball and kick it before it touches the ground in sports like American football and rugby [+ obj] The kicker punted the ball 40 yards. [no obj] They punted from midfield.

2 US, informal : to avoid dealing with a problem or answering a question [no obj] The legislature has punted on important issues like health-care funding and tax reform. [+ obj] The judges are punting the decision to Congress. [=the judges are not making the decision themselves and are saying that Congress should decide]

— compare ⁴PUNT

²punt noun, pl punts [count] sports : a kick made by dropping a ball and kicking it before it touches the ground : the act of punting a ball in sports like American football and rugby • a 40-yard punt — compare ³PUNT, ⁵PUNT, ⁶PUNT

³punt noun, pl punts [count] : a long, thin boat with a flat bottom and square ends that is moved by pushing a long pole against the bottom of a river, canal, etc. — compare ²PUNT, ⁵PUNT, ⁶PUNT

⁴punt verb punts; punt·ed; punt·ing [no obj] chiefly Brit : to go on a river, canal, etc. in a long, thin boat (called a punt) • Do you want to go punting tomorrow? — compare ¹PUNT

⁵punt /'pʌnt/ noun, pl punts [count] : the basic unit of money used in the Republic of Ireland before the euro — compare ²PUNT, ³PUNT, ⁶PUNT

⁶punt /'pʌnt/ noun, pl punts [count] Brit, informal : ¹BET 1 • Maybe I'll take a punt on that horse. [=maybe I'll make/place a bet on that horse] — compare ²PUNT, ³PUNT, ⁵PUNT punt·er /'pʌntə/ noun, pl -ters [count]

1 American football : a player whose job is to punt the ball • He was one of the greatest punters in NFL history.

2 Brit, informal : someone who makes a bet : BETTOR

3 Brit, informal : CUSTOMER • Effective marketing means getting the punters to buy what you want them to buy. • The sale attracted more than 1,000 punters.

4 chiefly Brit : a person who goes on a river, canal, etc., in a long, thin boat (called a punt) pu·ny /'pju:ni/ adj pu·ni·er; -est somewhat informal

1 : small and weak • a puny little guy • I wouldn't mess with him—he makes bodybuilders look puny in comparison.

2 : not very large, impressive, or effective • puny weapons • a puny little car • We laughed at their puny attempt to trick us.

pup /'pʌp/ noun, pl pups [count] : a young dog : PUPPY • a cute little pup; also : one of the young of various animals other than dogs • seal pups

buy/sell a pup Brit, informal + old-fashioned ✧ To buy a pup means to pay too much money for something or to buy something that is worthless. To sell (someone) a pup means to trick someone into paying too much for something or into buying something that is worthless.

pu·pa /'pju:pə/ noun, pl pu·pae /'pju:,pi:/ [count] biology : an insect that is in the stage of development between larva and adult

— pu·pal /'pju:pəl/ adj, always used before a noun • the pupal stage of an insect's life pu·pate /'pju:,peɪt/ verb -pates; -pat·ed; -pat·ing [no obj] biology : to become a pupa • Unlike most butterflies, this species pupates underground.

¹pu·pil /'pju:pəl/ noun, pl -pils [count]

1 : a child or young person who is being taught : STUDENT • There are 22 pupils in the kindergarten class.

2 : someone who is taught especially artistic or musical skills by a usually famous person : DISCIPLE • a painting by a pupil of Rubens • Both Rimsky-Korsakov and his pupil Stravinsky are renowned composers of classical music. • Aristotle was Plato's most brilliant pupil.

— compare ²PUPIL

²pupil noun, pl -pils [count] : the small, black, round area at the center of the eye — see picture at EYE — compare ¹PUPIL

pup·pet /'pʌpət/ noun, pl -pets [count]

1 : a doll that is moved by putting your hand inside it or by pulling strings or wires that are attached to it

2 : a person or an organization that is controlled by another person or organization • a dictator who was perceived as being an American puppet • a puppet regime [=a government controlled by the government of another country] pup·pe·teer /'pʌpə'tiə/ noun, pl -teers [count] : a person who uses puppets in performances to entertain people pup·pet·ry /'pʌpətri/ noun [noncount] : the skill or activity of using puppets in performances pup·py /'pʌpi/ noun, pl -pies [count]

1 : a young dog • Our dog just had four puppies.

2 US, informal a — used in a playful way to refer to a thing puppet

• Why isn't the grill on? Fire that puppy up! [=turn on the grill] • This is a big program. You'll need a lot of RAM to run this puppy on your computer. b — used in a playful way to refer to a person • If they thought the new mayor would be easy to bribe, they picked the wrong puppy. [=the wrong guy] • That guy is one sick puppy. [=that guy is crazy, cruel, or disgusting] • I was one tired puppy [=I was very tired] after a long day of hiking.

puppy fat noun [noncount] Brit : BABY FAT puppy love noun [noncount] : romantic love that is felt by a child or teenager and that is not considered by adults to be real love pup tent noun, pl ~ tents [count] US : a small tent for usually two people

¹pur·chase /'pɜ:tʃəs/ verb -chas-es; -chased; -chas-ing [+ obj] formal : to buy (property, goods, etc.) : to get (something) by paying money for it • purchase a house • He purchased a new suit for a hundred dollars. • Souvenirs can be purchased at the gift shop. = You can purchase souvenirs at the gift shop.

— pur·chas·er noun, pl -ers [count] — purchasing adj, always used before a noun • purchasing agents • the company's purchasing department [=the people in a company who buy the company's supplies]

²purchase noun, pl -chases

1 : an act of buying something [count] credit card purchases • cash purchases [noncount] The CD player is guaranteed for one year from the date of purchase. • Getting a rebate requires proof of purchase. [=something, such as a receipt, that proves that you bought something]

2 [count] : something that is bought • The car was an expensive purchase. • He displayed his recent purchases with pride.

3 : a firm hold or grip that makes movement possible [singular] The ice made it impossible for the car's wheels to gain/get a purchase on the road. [noncount] The surface was so slick that the wheels couldn't gain purchase. — sometimes used figuratively • I couldn't get a purchase on the problem. [=I couldn't get a good understanding of the problem]

purchase order noun, pl ~ -ders [count] : a formal document that is used by an employee to request that something be purchased by a company purchase price noun, pl ~ prices [count] : the amount of money someone pays for something (such as a house)

purchasing power noun [noncount]

1 : the amount of money that a person or group has available to spend • Inflation decreases consumer purchasing power. — called also buying power

2 : the value of money thought of as how much it can buy • a decline in the purchasing power of the dollar pur·dah /'pɜ:də/ noun [noncount] : a custom among Muslims and some Hindus in which women stay separate from men or keep their faces and bodies covered when they are near men • Most of the women keep purdah. [=live according to the rules of purdah]

pure /'pjə:/ adj pur·er; -est [also more ~; most ~]

1 : not mixed with anything else • pure gold/silver • pure silk/cotton/wool/cashmere • pure orange juice • pure honey • pure maple syrup • pure olive oil • pure white • I was acting on pure intuition/instinct. [=only because of intuition/instinct and not for any other reason]

2 : clean and not harmful in any way • The company bottles only the purest water. • pure mountain air

3 : having a smooth and clear sound that is not mixed with any other sounds • the pure notes of the flute

4 always used before a noun : COMPLETE, TOTAL — used for emphasis • pure [=utter] nonsense/folly/fantasy • pure joy/delight • pure evil • It was pure coincidence/chance/luck that we met. • The story was pure fiction.

5 : morally good : free from sexual or evil thoughts • a pure and upright man • a pure heart • pure intentions • Don't expect me to believe you're (as) pure as the driven snow. [=morally perfect]

6 always used before a noun : relating to theory and knowledge rather than to the practical uses of something • the pure sciences • pure mathematics

7 : PUREBRED • a pure Arabian horse • a pure breed of cattle pure and simple : with nothing other than what has been mentioned — used after a noun or phrase to add emphasis • It was fraud, pure and simple. • The relationship is over, pure and simple. [=the relationship is completely over]

— pure·ness noun [noncount]

pure·bred /'pjə:bred/ adj, of animals : having parents that are of the same breed • purebred cattle • a purebred horse — purebred noun, pl -breds [count] • The dog is not a purebred.

¹pu·ree or pu·rée /'pjʊ'rei/, Brit 'pjʊ'rei/ noun, pl -rees : a thick liquid made by crushing usually cooked food (such as fruits or vegetables) [noncount] a spoonful of apple puree [count] a puree of sweet potatoes and carrots • vegetable/fruit purees

²puree or purée verb -rees; -reed; -ree·ing [+ obj] : to crush (food) until it is a thick liquid : to make a puree of (food) • She used a blender to puree the soup.

— pureed or puréed adj • pureed carrots/vegetables • a sauce made with pureed berries/beans

pure·ly /'pjəli/ adv : completely or only • They met purely by accident/coincidence. • a selection based purely on merit • He reads purely [=simply, merely] for enjoyment. [=he reads only because he enjoys reading] • The organization's mission, purely and simply, is to provide food to people who need it. • It was purely and simply a matter of greed.

pur·ga·tive /'pəgətiv/ noun, pl -tives [count] medical : a medicine or food that causes the bowels to empty pur·ga·to·ry /'pəgə'tori/, Brit 'pə:gətri/ noun, pl -ries

1 Purgatory [singular] : a state after death according to Roman Catholic belief in which the souls of people who die are made pure through suffering before going to heaven

2 : a place or state of suffering [noncount] the purgatory of drug abuse [count] The marathons were jokingly referred to as one-day purgatories.

¹purge /'pɜ:dʒ/ verb purg·es; purged; purg·ing [+ obj]

1 : to remove people from an area, country, organization, etc., often in a violent and sudden way • purge a country of an ethnic group = purge an ethnic group from a country • High-ranking officials were purged from the company following the merger.

2 : to cause something to leave the body • medicines that purge the body of toxins = medicines that purge toxins from the body

binge and purge see ²BINGE

purge yourself : to free yourself of something (such as a bad feeling or memory) • He purged himself of his old fears. [=he got rid of his old fears; he overcame his old fears]

²purge noun, pl purges [count] : the often violent and sudden removal of people from an area, country, organization, etc. • Stalin's purges • brutal postwar purges • a corporate purge pu·ri·fi·er /'pjərə'fajə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : a device that is used for removing dirty or harmful substances • We installed a water/air purifier in our home.

pu·ri·fy /'pjərə'fai/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy·ing [+ obj] : to make (something or someone) pure: such as a : to remove dirty or harmful substances from (something) • We purified the water by boiling it. • You can purify the air with a filtration system. • a bottle of purified water b : to free (someone) from guilt or evil thoughts • purify the mind/soul • She believed she could purify herself through constant prayer.

— pu·ri·fi·ca·tion /'pjərəfə'keɪʃən/ noun [noncount] • air/water purification • the purification of souls

pur·ist /'pjərɪst/ noun, pl -lists [count] : a person who has very strong ideas about what is correct or acceptable and who usually opposes changes to traditional methods and practices • jazz/music purists • a purist who only drinks European wines • a grammatical purist

— pur·ism /'pjəɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

pu·ri·tan /'pjərətən/ noun, pl -tans [count]

1 Puritan : a member of a Protestant group in England and New England in the 16th and 17th centuries that opposed many customs of the Church of England

2 : a person who follows strict moral rules and who believes that pleasure is wrong • moral puritans • She's a puritan about sex.

— Puritan adj • Puritan values/traditions/attitudes • a Puritan influence • the Puritan work ethic pu·ri·tan·i·cal /'pjərə'tænɪkəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] disapproving : very strict especially concerning morals and religion • puritanical rules • puritanical attitudes about sex pu·ri·tan·ism /'pjərə'tənɪzəm/ noun [noncount]

1 Puritanism : the beliefs and practices of Puritans

2 often disapproving : the beliefs and practices of people who follow very strict moral and religious rules about the proper way to behave and live • moral puritanism

pu·ri·ty /'pjərəti/ noun [noncount] : the quality or state of being pure: such as a : lack of dirty or harmful substances • water purity b : lack of guilt or evil thoughts • moral/religious/sexual purity

purl /'pɜːl/ noun [noncount] : a stitch used in knitting — usually used before another noun • a purl stitch

— purl verb purls; purled; purl-ing [+ obj] • Purl two stitches. [no obj] Purl across the row.

pur-lieu /'pɜːl.juː/ noun, pl -lieus [count] formal : the area surrounding a place — usually plural • the purlieus of the old fortress pur-loin /pəˈloɪn/ verb -loins; -loined; -loin-ing [+ obj] formal + humorous : to take (something that belongs to someone else) : STEAL • He managed to purloin [=filch] a bottle of whiskey when no one was looking.

— purloined adj • purloined [=stolen] love letters

¹pur-ple /'pɜːpəl/ noun, pl pur-ples [count, noncount] : a color that is between red and blue — see color picture on page C1

²purple adj pur-pler; pur-plest

1 : of the color purple • purple grapes/tulips

2 disapproving : using many fancy words • The book contains a few purple passages. • Her writing was full of purple prose.

Purple Heart noun, pl ~ Hearts [count] : a U.S. military award that is given to a soldier who is wounded or killed in battle purple patch noun [singular] Brit, informal : a period of good luck or success • The team enjoyed a purple patch in the first half.

pur-plish /'pɜːpəlɪʃ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : somewhat purple • a purplish blue

¹pur-port /'pɜːpoʊt/ noun [noncount] formal : the main or general meaning of something (such as a speech or a person's actions) • the purport of the book/visit • The letter was not read aloud, but all present were informed of its purport.

²pur-port /pəˈpoʊt/ verb -ports; -port-ed; -port-ing [+ obj] : to claim to be or do a particular thing when this claim may not be true — followed by to + verb • The report purports to be objective. [=it claims to be objective, but it may not be] • The program purports to meet the needs of gifted students. • The survey does not purport to be conclusive.

pur-port-ed /pəˈpoʊtəd/ adj, always used before a noun : said to be true or real but not definitely true or real • the purported [=alleged] crime • the purported value of the estate — pur-port-ed-ly adv • diaries purportedly [=supposedly] written by a famous author pur-pose /'pɜːpəs/ noun, pl -pos-es

1 [count] : the reason why something is done or used : the aim or intention of something • The purpose of the new resort is to attract more tourists. • There's little/no purpose in restarting the process. [=there is little/no reason to start the process again] • These ancient mounds were probably used for ceremonial purposes. [=were probably used in ceremonies] • Please keep a record of your receipts for tax/business purposes. [=for situations involving taxes/business] • Everything on the boat serves a purpose. [=everything has a particular use or function] • The loans are small but they serve a good purpose. • We were happy to know that the money was being used for a good purpose. [=for something useful, important, etc.] • She used her skills to (no) good purpose. [=she used her skills in a way that was (not) good or helpful] • Changes had suddenly been made for no apparent purpose. [=for no clear reason] • For the purpose(s) of this discussion, let's assume that sales will increase next year.

2 [noncount] : the feeling of being determined to do or achieve something • She wrote with purpose. [=she knew exactly what she wanted to write] • Sometimes his life seemed to lack purpose or meaning. • He was a man of purpose. [=he was very clear about what he wanted to do and how to do it] • We started work again with a renewed sense of purpose. • He showed great strength of purpose. [=he showed that he was very determined to achieve his goals]

3 [count] : the aim or goal of a person : what a person is trying to do, become, etc. • She knew from a young age that her sole purpose (in life) was to be a writer. [=she knew that all she wanted (in life) was to be a writer] • We shared a common purpose. [=we had the same goals] • He was searching for a higher purpose. [=a more meaningful reason to live, work, etc.]

for (all) practical purposes see ¹PRACTICAL

on purpose : in a way that is planned or intended : in a deliberate way • Someone set the fire on purpose. [=purposefully, intentionally] • I knew she hadn't done it on purpose.

to/for all intents and purposes see ¹INTENT to the purpose old-fashioned : appropriate to the situation • He didn't say much to the purpose. [=he didn't say much that was useful or helpful]

pur-pose-built /,pɜːpəsˈbɪlt/ adj, Brit : designed and built for a particular use • The art is housed in a purpose-built structure that provides a controlled environment.

pur-pose-ful /'pɜːpəsfəl/ adj [more ~; most ~] : having a clear aim or purpose • purposeful activity • a purposeful glance/grin

— pur-pose-ful-ly adv • She strode purposefully to the door and knocked loudly. — pur-pose-ful-ness noun [non-count]

pur-pose-less /'pɜːpəsləs/ adj : having or seeming to have no purpose or reason • I have to go to another purposeless [(more commonly) pointless, useless] meeting tonight. • purposeless suffering pur-pose-ly /'pɜːpəsli/ adv : in a way that is planned or intended : in a deliberate way • She purposely [=intentionally] raised her voice to attract attention.

¹purr /'pɜː/ noun, pl purrs [count]

1 : the low, soft sound that a cat makes when it is happy

2 : a sound that is like the purr of a cat • the soft purr of a car engine

²purr verb purrs; purred; purr-ing

1 [no obj] : to make a purr or a sound like a purr • The cat was purring contentedly in my lap. • The cars were purring along the highway. • The engine purred smoothly.

2 [+ obj] : to say (something) in a soft, low voice especially when you are pleased or trying to persuade someone to do something • "You look tense. Let me buy you a drink," he purred.

¹purse /'pɜːs/ noun, pl pur-s-es

1 [count] a US : a usually leather or cloth bag used by women for carrying money and personal things : HANDBAG b chiefly Brit : CHANGE PURSE

2 [singular] : an amount of money that a person, organization, or government has available to use • Many believe the work should be financed by the public purse. [=should be paid for by the government]

3 [count] : an amount of money that is offered as a prize in a competition (such as a horse race, a golf tournament, or a boxing match) • a golf tournament with a million dollar purse

purse strings ✧ A person, organization, or government that holds/controls the purse strings makes the decisions about how money is spent. • The museum's board of directors holds/controls the purse strings. When a person, organization, or government tightens the purse strings, less money is available for spending. • School administrators are already tightening (the) purse strings. When a person, organization, or government loosens the purse strings, more money is available for spending. • Companies are expected to loosen the purse strings as the economy improves.

²purse verb pur-ses; pur-sed; pur-s-ing [+ obj] : to form (your lips) into a tight circle or line • She pur-sed her lips in concentration. • His lips were tightly pur-sed.

pur-ser /'pɜːsə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : an officer on a ship whose job is to handle matters relating to money for the passengers and crew and to make sure passengers are comfortable and have what they need pur-su-ance /pəˈsuːwəns, Brit pəˈsjuːəns/ noun

in pursuance of formal : in order to do (something) or to do what is required by (something) • The changes will be made in pursuance of the contract.

pur-su-ant to /pəˈsuːwənt-, Brit pəˈsjuːənt-/ prep, formal : in a way that agrees with or follows (something) : in accordance with (something) • Pursuant to the terms of the sale, the owner shall be solely responsible for damages.

pur-sue /pəˈsuː, Brit pəˈsjuː/ verb -sues; -sued; -su-ing [+ obj]

1 : to follow and try to catch or capture (someone or something) for usually a long distance or time • Hounds pursued the fox for miles. • The criminal is being pursued by police.

2 : to try to get or do (something) over a period of time • He chose to pursue a college degree. • She wants to pursue a legal career.

3 : to be involved in (an activity) • pursue a hobby

4 : to move along (a course) • The ship pursued [=followed] a northerly course.

5 : to make an effort to find out more about (something) • I'll be meeting with my lawyer to pursue this matter further. •

My associate is interested in pursuing the case.

— pur-su-er noun, pl -ers [count] • He changed direction to confuse his pursuers.

pur-suit /pə'su:t, Brit pə'sju:t/ noun, pl -suits

1 [noncount] : the act of pursuing someone or something: such as a : the act of following or chasing someone or something • The hounds were running in the woods in pursuit of a fox. • The escaped prisoner ran through the park with the police in full pursuit [=ran through the park while being chased/pursued by the police] • A car raced past us with the police in hot/close pursuit [=following very closely behind] b : an attempt to find, achieve, or get something — + of • the pursuit of excellence/knowledge • the pursuit of happiness • the pursuit of a college degree • He would do anything in pursuit of wealth and fame. [=he would do anything to achieve wealth and fame]

2 [count] : an activity that is done for pleasure • She enjoys reading, knitting, and other quiet pursuits.

pu-ru-lent /'pjərələnt/ adj, medical : containing or producing pus • a purulent wound/discharge

— pu-ru-lence /'pjərələns/ noun [noncount]

pur-vey /pə'vei/ verb -veys; -veyed; -vey-ing [+ obj] formal : to make (something, such a product) available : to supply or provide (something) for use • a shop purveying handmade merchandise • purvey information pur-vey-or /pə'vejə/ noun, pl -ors [count] formal : a person or business that sells or provides something • a purveyor of kitchen supplies • a software purveyor

pur-view /'pə,vju:/ noun [noncount] formal : an area within which someone or something has authority, influence, or knowledge • The case is within the court's purview. • That question is outside/beyond my purview. • The moral dilemmas of the early settlers are beyond the purview of this book.

pus /'pas/ noun [noncount] medical : a thick, yellowish substance that is produced when a part of the body or a wound becomes infected • Pus oozed from the cat's injured ear.

1 push /'puʃ/ verb push-es; pushed; push-ing

1 : to use force to move (someone or something) forward or away from you [+ obj] Please stop pushing me. • Do you want to push the shopping cart? • Push [=press] the button to turn on the computer. • He slowly pushed the door open. • She pushed back her chair and stood up. • She pushed him aside and marched into the boss's office. • He pushed her out of the way. • He pushed me into the table. • He was pushed off the sidewalk into the street. • She pushed her wet hair back/away from her face. • The bulldozer pushed the rubble over the edge of the pit. — often used figuratively • Larger companies are pushing [=forcing] smaller ones into bankruptcy. • Poverty pushed them to the breaking point. • He pushed aside [=put aside] his fear of rejection and asked her out on a date. • She pushed her doubts to the back of her mind = She pushed her doubts out of her mind [=she tried not to think about her doubts] [no obj] No matter how hard I pushed, I couldn't move the boulder. • He pushed and pulled to loosen the post from the ground. • She pushed against the door, but it wouldn't open.

2 : to go forward while using your hands, arms etc., to forcefully move people or things that are blocking you [no obj] Quit (your) pushing and shoving Can't you see there are a lot of people ahead of you in line? — often + through • The paramedics pushed through the crowd. [+ obj] They pushed their way to the front row.

3 [+ obj] a : to force or try to force or persuade (someone) to do something • He pushed his son to play football. • He pushed them to accept his plan. • She pushed him into trying out for the team. b : to force (someone) to work hard at something in order to achieve success • The coach tends to push his players too hard. • Her teachers pushed her to succeed. • She was tired but she pushed herself to keep working. c : to do or say things that cause trouble for (someone) • He kept pushing his parents until they had no choice but to punish him. • If you push him too far, you'll regret it.

4 [no obj] a always followed by an adverb or preposition : to continue moving forward in a forceful or steady way • The explorers pushed (along) deep into the jungle. — usually + ahead, forward, or on • The army pushed [=pressed] on in spite of the snow. • They were tired, but they kept pushing ahead. b : to continue to do something especially in a determined way • If we want to succeed, we have to keep pushing. — usually + ahead, forward, or on • The city pushed [=pressed] ahead/forward with its plans to build a casino. • They pushed on with their plans.

5 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] : to force (someone or something) to move away from a place • The troops pushed the enemy from the city. • Settlers pushed the native people off their land.

6 [+ obj] : to cause (something) to be accepted, completed, etc., by making a special effort • The senators are trying to push the bill through Congress. • All of the editorial staff helped to push the project to completion.

7 [no obj] : to make a strong, continuous effort to get or do something — often + for • The workers are pushing hard for higher wages. — often followed by to + verb • Town residents are pushing to prevent the shopping mall from being built.

8 [+ obj] a : to make a strong effort to sell (something) • We're pushing last year's models to make room for this year's. b : to try to make (something) more popular, well-known, etc., by talking about it • He went on the talk show to push [=promote] his new film. c : to repeat (something) in order to show that it is important • They kept pushing [=pressing] the issue. • We need to get them to do something, but we don't want to push the point too much.

9 [+ obj] informal : to sell (illegal drugs) • He was arrested for pushing drugs.

10 [+ obj] a : to go up to and often beyond (a limit) • His humor pushes the limits of bad taste. • She is always pushing her body's limits with new physical challenges. b informal : to get close to (an age or number) — always used as (be) pushing • She must be pushing 80. [=she must be almost 80 years old] • The game was played in front of a crowd pushing 50,000. [=a crowd of almost 50,000 people]

11 always followed by an adverb or preposition [+ obj] : to cause or force (something) to change in a specified way • The cost of oil has pushed gas prices higher/up. [=has raised gas prices] • Stock prices have been pushed down. [=have been lowered] • Gas prices have been pushed [=raised] to record levels.

12 [+ obj] sports : to hit (a ball) toward the right from a right-handed swing or toward the left from a left-handed swing • (golf) She pushed her drive into the rough. — compare PULL be pushing up daisies see DAISY push around also Brit push about [phrasal verb] push (someone) around/about : to try to force (someone) to do what you want by making threats, using force, etc. • Don't let the bigger boys push you around—stand up for yourself!

push back [phrasal verb] push back (something) or push (something) back : to change (a planned event) to start at a later date or time • The date of the meeting has been pushed back from Tuesday to Thursday. • The start time of the game has been pushed back from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

push in [phrasal verb] Brit : to move in front of other people who are waiting in a line • He pushed in at the head of the queue. [= (US) he cut in at the head of the line]

push it/things informal : to continue to do or to try to do something when you should stop • If your mom already said "no" two times, don't push it. [=don't keep asking her] You'll just make her mad. • You've won a lot of money, but don't push it [=don't push your luck] or you could lose it all. • She pushed things too far and lost all her winnings.

push off [phrasal verb] 1 : to move from a place or position by pushing against a surface with something • She pushed off (from shore) with her oar and started paddling. • His ankle injury prevented him from pushing off with his left foot when he was skating. 2 Brit, informal : to go away : LEAVE — used in speech as a rude or angry way of telling someone to go away • Push off [=get lost], mate.

push on [phrasal verb] push (something) on (someone) : to force (someone) to accept (something) • He's always trying to push his political beliefs on other people. — see also ¹PUSH 4 (above) push over [phrasal verb] 1 push over (someone or something) or push (someone or something) over : to make (someone or something) fall to the ground by pushing • He pushed the smaller child over. • She pushed over the statue.

2 US, informal : to move so that there is room for someone else to sit or stand next to you • Push over [=shove over] so that I can sit down, too.

push paper(s) see ¹PAPER push the envelope see ENVELOPE

push your luck see ¹LUCK

2 push noun, pl pushes [count]

1 : an act of pushing something or someone — usually singular • He gave me a push. [=he pushed me] • Give the door a push to open it. • The computer starts with the push of a but-

ton. • At the push of a button, you can change a color photo into a black-and-white one.

2 : a large, organized military attack — usually singular • They're making a final push against enemy forces. • The army has launched a push toward the capital. — often used figuratively • The company is making a push into foreign markets. [=the company is entering foreign markets]

3 : a strong, continuous effort to get or achieve something — usually singular • Despite a multimillion dollar marketing push, the movie flopped. — often + for • Workers are making a determined push for higher wages. — often followed by to + verb • a push to improve public schools at a push Brit, informal : with some difficulty : by making a special effort • We can fit five people in the car, six at a push.

get the push Brit, informal : to lose your job : to be fired from your job • The employees with less experience got the push. [=were fired; got the ax]

give (someone) the push Brit, informal : to dismiss (someone) from a job : to fire (someone) • His boss gave him the push. [=gave him the ax] push comes to shove informal — used to describe what happens when a situation becomes very serious or difficult and action needs to be taken • He backed down when push came to shove. • He'll surrender if push comes to shove.

push-bike /'pʊʃ,bɑ:k/ noun, pl -bikes [count] Brit, old-fashioned : BICYCLE push button noun, pl ~ -tons [count] : a small button or knob that is pushed to operate a machine — push-button adj, always used before a noun • a push-button phone push-cart /'pʊʃ,kɑ:t/ noun, pl -carts [count] US : a cart that is pushed by a person — used especially to describe a cart that is used for selling something outdoors • selling fruits and vegetables from a pushcart push-chair /'pʊʃ,tʃeə/ noun, pl -chairs [count] Brit : STROLLER 1 pushed adj, not used before a noun, Brit, informal

1 — used to say that it is difficult to do something • You'd be (hard) pushed [=hard-pressed] to find a better place to spend your holiday.

2 : lacking something that is needed or desired : PRESSED — usually + for • I am really pushed for time/money right now.

3 : busy or active • We've been a bit pushed lately.

push-er /'pʊʃə/ noun, pl -ers [count] : someone who sells illegal drugs • junkies and pushers • a drug pusher — see also PAPER PUSHER, PEN PUSHER

push-over /'pʊʃ,ʊvə/ noun, pl -overs [count] informal

1 : an opponent that is easy to defeat • They thought the first team they played would be a pushover.

2 : something that is easy to do • The exam was a pushover.

3 : someone who is easy to persuade or influence • Dad's a pushover. He'll let me do anything I want.

4 : someone who is unable to resist the attraction or appeal of something : SUCKER — usually + for • I'm a pushover for guys with big muscles. • He's a pushover for kung fu movies.

push-pin /'pʊʃ,pɪn/ noun, pl -pins [count] US : a short pin that has a large head and that is used to attach things (such as papers or photographs) to a wall or bulletin board — see picture at OFFICE; compare THUMB TACK

push-up /'pʊʃ,ʌp/ noun, pl -ups [count] chiefly US : an exercise in which you lay on your stomach and raise and lower your body by straightening and bending your arms — called also (Brit) press-up

pushy /'pʊʃi/ adj push-i-er; -est [also more ~; most ~] disapproving : using forceful methods to make others do what you want them to do : aggressive and rude • a pushy salesperson

— push-i-ness /'pʊʃɪnəs/ noun [noncount]

pu-sil-lan-i-mous /,pju:sə'lænəməs/ adj [more ~; most ~] formal : weak and afraid of danger : COWARDLY • a pusillanimous leader

1 puss /'pus/ noun, pl puss-es [count] informal : FACE • I felt like smacking him right in the puss. [=like punching him right in the face] — see also SOURPUSS — compare 2 PUSS

2 puss noun [singular] Brit, informal : a cat or kitten • Come here, puss. [= (US) kitty] — compare 1 PUSS

1 pussy /'pusi/ noun, pl puss-ies [count] informal : a cat or kitten : PUSSYCAT — used especially by children or when talking to children — compare 2 PUSSY, 3 PUSSY

2 pus-sy /'pusi/ noun, pl pus-sies [count] informal + offensive : a woman's sex organs; also : sexual intercourse with a woman ♦ These uses of pussy are very offensive and should be avoided. — compare 1 PUSSY, 3 PUSSY

3 pus-sy /'pusi/ noun, pl pus-sies [count] chiefly US, informal + impolite : a weak and cowardly man : SISSY • He got into a fight when someone called him a pussy. — compare 1 PUSSY, 2 PUSSY

pussy-cat /'pusi,kæt/ noun, pl -cats [count] informal

1 : a cat or kitten — used especially by children or when talking to children • Look at the cute little pussycat!

2 : a person who has a kind and gentle nature • He looks tough, but he's really a pussycat.

pussy-foot /'pusi,fʊt/ verb -foots; -foot-ed; -foot-ing [no obj] informal + disapproving : to avoid making a definite decision or stating a definite opinion because of fear, doubt, etc. • He should stop pussyfooting and tell us what he wants to do. — often + around • He's been pussyfooting around for months because he's afraid of offending anyone.

pussy willow noun, pl ~ -lows [count] : a small tree with large, soft flowers; also : the flower of this tree

pus-tule /'pas,tʃu:l/ noun, pl -tules [count] medical : a small bump on the skin that contains or produces pus

1 put /'put/ verb puts; put; put-ting [+ obj]

1 always followed by an adverb or preposition a : to cause (someone or something) to be in a particular place or position • She put [=placed, set] the plant near the window. • Put the car in the garage. • I put the keys on the table. • He put his arms around her and held her tight. b : to cause (something) to go into or through something in a forceful way • He fell and accidentally put his hand through a window. c : to cause (someone) to be in a particular place or send (someone) to a particular place • The illness put her in the hospital for three days. • They put her in prison for forgery. • Her parents decided to put her in a special school for deaf children. • If she drove 55 mph for 20 minutes, that would put her about halfway there by now. d : to show that (someone or something) is in a particular place • The evidence/report puts the defendant at the scene of the crime. [=it shows that the defendant was at the scene of the crime]

2 : to write (something) with a pen or pencil in or on something • Don't forget to put your signature on the check. • He put his phone number on a napkin. • Put a circle around the correct answer. • I wrote that the answer was option B. What did you put? • She had always dreamed of writing a novel, but she never actually put pen to paper. [=started writing]

3 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to cause (someone or something) to be in a particular state or condition • Not exercising puts you at greater risk of developing heart disease. • Put the TV on channel 5, please. • Who put you in charge/command/control? • I told her some jokes to put her in/into a good mood. • His careless spending put him in/into debt. • Their actions have put them in serious danger. • Her reassuring words put us at ease. [=made us feel calm and relaxed] • Put that idea out of your mind. [=stop thinking about that idea] • They said they shot the injured horse to put it out of its misery. [=so that it would not continue to suffer] • They have put their competitors out of business. • The new technology could put him out of a job. = It could put him out of work. [=it could make him lose his job] • He's putting the children to bed. [=helping them get into their beds]

4 always followed by an adverb or preposition a : to cause (someone or something) to do work or perform a task — often + to • She put the kids to work cleaning the basement. b : to use (something) • They are ready to put the plan in action/motion. • putting an idea into action/effect/practice • The new weapon was immediately put to use by the military. • I don't need this camera, but maybe you can put it to good use.

5 always followed by an adverb or preposition : to cause (something) to have an effect on someone or something — usually + on • He puts [=places] great emphasis on the need for new leadership. [=he strongly emphasizes the need for new leadership] • She has been putting pressure on us to finish the project early. • Another child would put a heavy strain on their finances. [=would strain their finances very much] • A special tax/duty/surcharge was put on luxury items. • They want to put a limit on government spending.

6 : to say or express (something) • As she put it, "You can't please everyone." • How should I put this? I don't think you're cut out for this job. • Well put! • Let me put it another way. • I think you're incompetent, to put it bluntly. • It was a difficult experience, to put it mildly. [=it was a very difficult experience] • She finds it hard to put her feelings into words. [=to say what her feelings are]

push button

7 always followed by an adverb or preposition a : to ask (a question) or make (a suggestion) to someone • Let me put this question to you [=let me ask you this question]: what do we do now? • I put my plan/proposal before the board of directors for consideration. b : to ask a group of people to formally vote on (something) • They plan on putting the motion/resolution to a/the vote this afternoon.

8 : to add music to (words) • She writes the lyrics and he puts [=sets] them to music.

9 sports : to throw (a shot put)

I wouldn't put it past (someone) see ²PAST

put about [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) about or put about (something) Brit : to tell many people about (something) • They put about the news that he was resigning. = They put it about that he was resigning. 2 a of a boat or ship : to change direction • The ship put about and sailed back out to sea. b put (something) about : to cause (a boat or ship) to change direction • a boat that can be put about quickly put across [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) across or put across (something) : to cause (something) to be clearly understood : to get (something) across • She has had trouble putting her message across to voters. 2 put (yourself) across as (something) : to cause (yourself) to appear to be (a particular type of person) • He tries to put himself across as [=to make other people believe that he is] a nice guy.

put a foot wrong see ¹FOOT

put aside [phrasal verb] put (something) aside or put aside (something) 1 : to save or keep (something, such as money) to be used at a later time • She's been putting aside some money for a vacation. • Can you put a few minutes aside for a short meeting? 2 : to stop worrying or thinking about (something) • We need to put these problems aside for now and get the work done. • It's time to put aside our differences and start working together.

put at [phrasal verb] put (something) at (something) : to guess or estimate (something) to be (something) • The coroner put his time of death at 7:00. [=the coroner estimated that the time of his death was 7:00] • Recent estimates put the number of unreported cases at 2,000 each year.

put away [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) away or put away (something) a : to return (something) to the place where it belongs • He washed, dried, and put away the dishes after dinner. • She put the pictures away for safekeeping. • Put your notes away. It's time for the test. b : to save or keep (something, such as money) to be used at a later time • Her parents started putting away money for her education the year she was born. c informal : to eat (a large amount of food) • I used to put away huge meals before I went on a diet. • That guy can really put it away. 2 put (someone) away or put away (someone) informal : to cause (someone) to be kept in a prison or mental hospital • He's a vicious criminal. I hope they put him away for the rest of his life.

put back [phrasal verb] put (something) back or put back (something) 1 : to return (something) to the place where it belongs • Remember to put the vacuum cleaner back in the closet after you've used it. • The books had been put back neatly on the shelf. 2 Brit : to change (a planned event) to start at a later date or time • They put back [=pushed back, postponed] the game until next week. • The meeting has been put back from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

put before [phrasal verb] put (something) before (someone or something) : to ask (a person or group) to make a decision about (something) • The problem of downtown parking was put before the mayor/council. • We should put this question before the voters.

put behind [phrasal verb] put (something) behind you : to stop worrying about or being upset by (something that happened in the past) • It was a disappointing loss, but we need to put it behind us and focus on winning the next game. • Put the past behind you.

put by [phrasal verb] put (something) by or put by (something) chiefly Brit : to save (money) for a later time • She has put some money by [=put aside] for emergencies.

put down [phrasal verb] 1 put (someone or something) down also put down (someone or something) a : to place (someone or something that you have been holding or carrying) on a table, on the floor, etc. • She carefully put the vase down on the table. • The police ordered him to put down the gun. • I don't need you to carry me. Put me down! b : to add (someone or something) to a list • Don't forget to put down milk and bread on the shopping list. c informal : to say critical or insulting things about (someone or something) • He frequently puts down her work. • Her parents are always putting her down. • He puts himself down a lot, but he's really quite an attractive man. — see also PUT-DOWN 2 put (something) down or put down (something) a : to write (something) : to record (something) in writing • She says that the reporter put her quote down incorrectly. • Every night, he puts his thoughts down in a journal. • I need to put down my thoughts on paper before I forget them. • What answer did you put down on the test? b : to give (an amount of money) as a first payment when you are buying something that costs a lot of money • We put 10 percent down on the house. = We put down a 10 percent deposit on the house. • Put no money down and pay no interest on the car until next year. c : to put (something) in place on the floor or ground • Putting down [=installing] a new hardwood floor would greatly increase the value of your home. • We put down a layer of mulch in the rose garden. d : to stop (a violent or dangerous activity) by using force • Federal troops were brought in to help put down the riot. • put down a rebellion/revolt/uprising e : to kill (an animal) in a way that causes it little pain usually because it is injured or sick • They had to have their dog put down [=put to sleep] by the vet. f Brit : to end a telephone connection • She said goodbye and put down the phone [=hung up the phone] • She put the phone down on him [=she hung up the phone while he was still talking to her] g Brit : to formally suggest (something) as an idea to be discussed and voted on by a group of people : to propose or introduce (something) • putting down an amendment in Parliament 3 put down or put (something) down or put down (something) chiefly Brit : to land or to cause (an airplane) to land • Our plane put down [=landed] in New York around 2 p.m. • The pilot was forced to put [=set] the plane down in a field. 4 put (someone) down or put down (someone) : to place (a baby or child) in a bed to sleep • He put the baby down (in her crib) for a nap. 5 put (someone) down as (something) : to think of (someone) as (a specified kind of person or thing) • Most people put him down as [=believe that he is] a fanatic. 6 put (someone) down for (something) : to write the name of (someone) on a list of people who will do or give (something) • Can I put you down for a donation? [=can I write that you will give a donation?] • Sure, put me down for $20. 7 put (something) down to (something) : to say or think that (something) happened because of (something) • Let's put the mistake down to your inexperience and forget about it. • The mistake was put down to [=attributed to] his inexperience.

put forth [phrasal verb] put forth (something) or put (something) forth somewhat formal 1 : to suggest (an idea, plan, etc.) for people to think about or consider • The same argument has been put forth by many people in the opposition. • I would like to put forth some alternatives. • putting forth a plan/proposal/theory 2 : to use (something, such as energy) for a particular purpose • She put forth all her energy to win the race. • They put forth a good effort. 3 of a plant : to produce or send out (something) by growing • The trees are starting to put forth new leaves.

put forward [phrasal verb] put (something) forward or put forward (something) somewhat formal : to suggest (something) for consideration : PROPOSE • He put forward [=put forth] a theory about how the accident may have occurred.

put in [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) in or put in (something) a : to make (something) ready to be used in a certain place : INSTALL • We put in new cabinets just last year. • In order to fix the car they have to put in a new engine. b : to add (a comment) to a conversation or argument • She put a quick comment in about her busy schedule. • I'd like to put in a few words on his behalf. [=to say something that supports him] • Would you mind putting in a good word for me? [=would you say something good about me?] • You will each have a chance to put in your two cents [=to express your opinion] c : to make an official statement, offer, or request • She put in a plea of not guilty. [=she pleaded not guilty] • I need to put in [=make, submit] a report about this. • You have two weeks to put in [=submit] a claim with the insurance company. • They are putting in [=making] a $300,000 offer for the house. • I'd like to put in [=place] an order for a dozen roses. • Contractors have begun putting in bids for the job. d : to perform (a particular action) • They put in an amazing performance last night. • The prime minister put in a call to [=called] the White House. • I won't be able to stay at the party long, but I'll at least try to put in an appearance. [=to go to the party for a short time] e : to work or do something for (an amount of time) • She put in 10 hours at the office yesterday. • She put in a long day at work. • He has put in his time (in jail), and now he is a free man. 2 put in (something) or put (something) in (something) : to use (a certain amount of energy or effort) when doing something • If we put in a little more effort, we could finish by this afternoon. • He puts a lot of energy in his performances. 3 put (something) in (something) a : to invest (money) into (something) • She put her money in stocks and bonds. b — used to say what causes you to have faith, confidence, etc. • He puts his faith in reason/science. • putting her trust in God 4 put in for (something) : to ask for (something) in an official way : to formally request (something) • He put in for a leave of absence. • putting in for a promotion 5 of a boat or ship : to enter a harbor or port • The ship put in at Sydney.

put into [phrasal verb] put (something) into (something) 1 : to use (a certain amount of energy or effort) when doing (something) • He puts a lot of energy into his performances. • She put her heart into (writing) the letter. [=she expressed her feelings in a very open and honest way] 2 : to invest (time, money, etc.) in (something) • They put their entire life savings into the company. • We put a lot of money into (fixing up) that house.

put it there or put her there informal + old-fashioned — used to invite someone to shake hands with you • Put her there, pal!

put off [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) off or put off (something) : to decide that (something) will happen at a later time : POSTPONE • The meeting has been put off until next week. = We put off (holding) the meeting until next week. • I've been meaning to call him, but I keep putting it off. • I've been putting off calling him. 2 put (someone) off or put off (someone) a : to cause (someone) to wait • I need to come up with an excuse to put off the bill collector. • She finally called him after putting him off all week. b : to cause (someone) to dislike someone or something • Don't let the restaurant's dingy appearance put you off—their food is great. • I was put off by his rudeness. • (chiefly Brit) His rudeness put me off him [=made me dislike him] at once. — see also OFF-PUTTING c Brit : to allow (someone) to get off a bus or other vehicle • Could you put [=let] me off (the bus) at the next stop, please?

put on [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) on or put on (something) a : to dress yourself in (clothing) • She put on her new dress. • Put on a hat and gloves. • I'll put some clothes on and be right there. b : to apply (something) to your face or body • putting on lipstick/mascara/lotion • She puts on far too much makeup. • We tried to put on a happy/brave face [=we tried to appear happy/brave] despite our concern. c : to add to or increase the amount of (something) • The fire was getting low and we needed to put on more wood. • She put on [=gained] 40 pounds during her pregnancy. • He's put on some weight recently. d : to cause (a machine, a light, etc.) to begin to work • Would you mind if I put [=turned] the TV on? • Somebody put on the lights. e : to cause (something) to begin to be heard, seen, produced, etc. • put on a record/CD/album • putting on some music • We put on the air-conditioning/heat in the car. f : to start cooking or making (something) • Let me know when to put on the rice. • He put on a pot of coffee for his guests. g : to produce (something that entertains people, such as a play, a party, etc.) • They're putting on a concert. • He always puts on a great show/performance. • The town puts on a fireworks display every Independence Day. • We are putting on a barbecue for everyone in the neighborhood. 2 put (something) on (someone or something) a : to say that (someone or something) is responsible for or guilty of (something) • Responsibility for the accident was put on the other driver. • He puts much of the blame for his problems on the government. b : to bet (an amount of money) on (someone or something) • We put $2 on the favorite to win. • putting money on horse races 3 put (someone or something) on (something) : to add (someone or something) to (a list or group of related things) • She asked to have her name put on the list of candidates. • They put her on the list. • We put several new dishes on the menu. • "Bartender, I'll have another beer." "Okay, I'll put it on your bill." 4 put (someone) on or put on (someone) chiefly US, informal : to say things that are not true to (someone) in a joking way : to trick or fool (someone) for amusement • He said he knew the President, but I think he was just putting me on. [= (Brit) having me on] — see also ²PUT-ON 5 — used to say that you would like to speak to someone on the phone • Hi Dad. Could you put Mom on? [=could you give Mom the phone so that I can speak to her?] • Put Dave on the phone, please. 6 put (someone) on (something) : to tell (someone) to use or do (something) • Her doctor put her on medication. [=her doctor prescribed medication for her] • He decided to put himself on a diet. [=to go on a diet] 7 put (someone) on to (something) : to give (someone) information about (something) : to tell (someone) about (something that he or she did not know about before) • A friend of mine put me on to this book in high school.

put out [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) out or put out (something) a : to cause (something) to stop burning : EXTINGUISH • She put the fire out by pouring water on it. • She put out her cigarette in an ashtray. b : to stop (something) from working • Who put out [=turned off] the lights? c : to take (something) outside and leave it there • I put the dog out in the backyard before leaving the house. • putting horses out to graze • (US) Don't forget to put out the trash/garbage. = (Brit) Don't forget to put out the rubbish. d : to extend (something) outward • I put out my hand and he shook it eagerly. • She put out her arm for them to stop. e : to place (something) where people may use it • He always put out a bowl of candy for the grandchildren. • We should put out a few extra chairs in case more people arrive. f : to produce (something) • This small radiator puts out a surprising amount of heat. • They will have to put out considerable effort to meet the deadline. • It was early spring, and the trees were just starting to put out their leaves. g : to make (something) available to be bought, used, etc. • She plans to put out a new album in March. • They need to be putting out cars that get better gas mileage. • The information was given in a pamphlet put out by the university's health department. • Researchers recently put out a report/study on the issue. • The police have put out [=issued] a warrant for his arrest. • Someone put the word out [=started telling people] that the police were looking for her. 2 put (someone) out or put out (someone) a : to annoy or bother (someone) • All the attention didn't seem to put her out at all. • I'm a little put out that no one called to tell me they would be late. b : to cause (someone) to do extra work : to cause trouble for (someone) • I hope my visit didn't put you out. [=didn't inconvenience you] • Please don't put yourself out just for us. c : to make (someone) unconscious • The anesthesia put him out for a little over three hours. d sports : to cause (someone) to be out in baseball or cricket • The runner was put out at second base. — see also PUTOUT 3 chiefly US, informal + impolite : to have sex with someone • Did she put out last night? 4 of a boat or ship : to leave a harbor or port • The ship put out to sea.

put over [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) over or put over (something) : to cause (something) to be clearly understood : to put (something) across • He puts over very complicated concepts in a way that his students can understand. 2 put (yourself) over as (something) : to cause (yourself) to appear to be (a particular type of person) • She puts herself over as [=makes other people believe that she is] a modern, independent woman. 3 put (something) over on (someone) : to lie about (something) to (someone) : to trick or deceive someone • Don't try to put anything over on her. She'll see right through you.

put paid to see ²PAID

put (someone) in mind of see ¹MIND

put through [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) through or put through (something) : to cause (something) to be accepted or done successfully • They put through a number of reforms. • tax cuts that were put through by former administrations • I asked Human Resources to help me put through [=to help me get] a transfer to a different department. 2 put (someone) through (something) : to pay for (someone) to attend (school) • She has a full-time job and is putting herself through college. 3 put (someone or something) through (something) : to cause (someone or something) to experience (something) • His doctor put him through a series of tests. • She put her parents through a lot when she was a teenager. • You've been put through quite an ordeal. • I've been put through hell! • We put that truck

P

through a lot when we owned it. • The new software still needs to be put through its paces [=it still needs to be tested] before it can be made available to the public. 4 put (someone or something) through or put through (someone or something) a : to cause a phone call from (someone) to be sent to another person's phone • Please hold while I put you through (to the manager). b : to cause (a phone call) to be sent to another person's phone • Please hold while I put your call through (to the manager).

put to death see DEATH

put together [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) together or put together (something) a : to create (something) by joining or gathering parts together • You'll need a screwdriver to put the toy together. • They put their first band together when they were in high school. • Help me put together a list of what we need at the store. • She put a proposal together to give to the committee for consideration. • Her outfit was very well put together. [=the parts looked good together] b — used to say that someone or something is greater than the total of all the other people or things mentioned • You're smarter than all of those other guys put together. 2 put (something) together with (something) : to add or combine (something) with (something) • I never would have thought of putting this wine together with fish. • The lack of rain put together with [=along with, combined with] the heat ruined many of the region's crops.

put up [phrasal verb] 1 put (something) up or put up (something) a : to place (something) in a higher position • They put up the flag in the morning and take it down at night. • Sit down. Put your feet up and relax. • If you have a question, please put up [=raise] your hand. • Stop! Put your hands up (over your head)! • When she goes to work, she usually puts her hair up (in a ponytail). b : to cause (something) to be on a wall, to hang from a ceiling, etc. • She went around town putting up posters for the concert. • I just put up new curtains. c : to set or place (something) so that it stands up • putting up a tent • They put up a display of new products. • They put up a "for sale" sign in front of their house. d : to build (something) • They're putting up a new office building on Main Street. • putting up a fence e : to make (something) available for people to buy or have • The lamps were put up at auction. — often + for • They put all of their possessions up for sale. • They put the puppies up for adoption. f : to provide (money, property, etc.) in order to pay for something • They decided not to put up the money for her bail. • They put up the company's assets as collateral on the loan. g : to offer (something) as a prize • The police have put up a $1,000 reward for information leading to his capture. h chiefly Brit : to increase (something) : RAISE • They are likely to put up interest rates again this year. i US : to return (something) to the place where it belongs • It's time to put up [=put away] your toys and get ready for bed. • He washed, dried, and put up the dishes after dinner. j chiefly US : to preserve (fruits, vegetables, etc.) to be used later : CAN • Their grandmother spent the afternoon putting up peaches. 2 put up (something) a : to do (something) as a way of resisting or struggling against someone or something • We're not leaving without putting up a fight. [=without fighting] • As expected, the kids put up a fuss when we said it was time for bed. • They are likely to put up stiff resistance to any new proposals. b : to offer (something) as an argument, a suggestion, etc. • She put up a good/solid argument in his defense. • putting up a proposal c : to score (points) • They put up 20 points in the first half. • She needs to put up big numbers [=to score a lot of points] in today's game. 3 a put (someone) up : to give food and shelter to (someone) : to allow or pay for (someone) to stay in someone's home, a hotel, etc., for the night • Could you put me up for the night? • His employers put him up at a hotel. • We put our guests up in the spare bedroom. b chiefly Brit : to stay in someone's home, a hotel, etc., for the night • He put up with a friend while he was in town. • putting up at a hotel 4 put (someone) up or put up (someone) : to choose or suggest (someone) to be a candidate or competitor • The party put her up (as its candidate) for governor. • They put up their best man to compete against the champion. 5 put (someone) up to (something) : to convince (someone) to do (something stupid or foolish) • His friends put him up to (playing) the prank. • Who put you up to this? 6 put up with (something or someone) : to allow (someone or something unpleasant or annoying) to exist or happen : TOLERATE • At this school, we will not put up with bad behavior. •

I can't put up with much more of this. 7 put up or shut up informal — used to tell someone in a somewhat rude way to start doing something or to stop talking about it • You've complained long enough. It's time to put up or shut up.

2 put noun, pl puts [count] sports : the act of throwing a shot put stay put : to stay where you are : to not move or go anywhere • Stay put until I get back.

3 put adj

— see also HARD PUT pu-ta-tive /'pju:tətv/ adj, always used before a noun, formal : generally believed to be something • a putative expert • the child's putative father [=the man who is believed to be the child's father]

— pu-ta-tive-ly adv

put-down /'put,daun/ noun, pl -downs [count] : a statement that criticizes or insults someone • humiliating put-downs — see also put down at ¹PUT

1 put-on /'put'ɑ:n/ adj, always used before a noun : not real or genuine : FAKE • a put-on British accent — see also put on at ¹PUT

2 put-on /'put,ɑ:n/ noun, pl -ons [count] chiefly US : the act of saying things that are not true in a joking way • He said he knew the President, but I'm sure that was just a put-on. [=I'm sure he was just putting me on] — see also put on at ¹PUT put-out /'put,aut/ noun, pl -outs [count] baseball : an action that causes a batter or runner on the opposite team to be out • The shortstop fielded the grounder and threw to first base for the putout. — see also put out at ¹PUT pu-tre-fac-tion /'pju:trə'fækʃən/ noun [noncount] : the process or result of decaying • the smell/stench of putrefaction

pu-tre-fy /'pju:trə'faɪ/ verb -fies; -fied; -fy-ing [no obj] formal : to be slowly destroyed by natural processes : to rot and become putrid • putrefying meat/flesh synonyms see ¹DECAY

pu-trid /'pju:trəd/ adj

1 : decayed with usually a very bad or disgusting smell • putrid [=rotten] meat • a putrid odor/smell/stench [=a bad smell that something has when it is decaying]

2 informal : very ugly, bad, or unpleasant • a putrid shade of green • a putrid performance

putt /'pʌt/ verb putts; putt-ed; putt-ing [no obj] : to hit a golf ball with a special club (called a putter) so that it rolls along the ground toward the hole

— putt noun, pl putts [count] • Her putt was a few feet short of the hole. • She made/sank/holed the putt. [=she putted the ball and it went in the hole] • She missed the putt. [=she putted the ball and it did not go in the hole] — putting noun [noncount] • Her putting has improved considerably.

1 putt-er /'pʌtə/ noun, pl -ers [count]

1 : a golf club that is used to putt the ball

2 : a person who putts golf balls • a golfer who's a good/bad putter [=a golfer who putts well/badly]

2 putt-er /'pʌtə/ verb -ters; -tered; -ter-ing [no obj] Brit : to make small popping sounds while moving slowly • the motorboat puttered across the lake putter around [phrasal verb] US : to spend time in a relaxed way doing small jobs and other things that are not very important • I didn't do much last weekend. I just puttered around. [= (Brit) pottered around/about] • He spent his vacation puttering around the house/garden.

— put-ter-er noun, pl -ers [count]

1 putt-ing present participle of ¹PUT

2 putt-ing present participle of PUTT

putt-ing green /'pʌtɪŋ-/ noun, pl ~ greens [count] golf : an area covered with very short grass around the hole into which the ball must be played : GREEN; also : a similar area that has many holes and that is used for practice put-ty /'pʌti/ noun [noncount] : a soft, sticky substance that becomes hard when it dries and that is used for holding glass in window frames or for filling small holes in wood putty in your hands ♦ If someone is putty in your hands, you are able to control that person very easily. • He does whatever she wants. He's putty in her hands.

— putty verb put-ties; put-tied; put-ty-ing [+ obj] • She puttied the window to stop drafts.

put-up job noun, pl ~ jobs [count] informal + disapproving : something that is secretly arranged or decided at an earlier time in order to trick or deceive someone • That talent contest was a put-up job; you never had a chance to win!

put-up-on /'putə,pɑ:n/ adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling that someone is taking advantage of you or treating you unfairly • I was beginning to feel rather put-upon by the end of their visit. • a put-upon secretary putz /'pʌts/ noun, pl putz-es [count] US, informal : a stupid or foolish person who is not well liked • I can't believe what a putz that guy is.

puz-zle /'pʌzəl/ noun, pl puz-zles [count]

1 a : a question or problem that requires thought, skill, or cleverness to be answered or solved • a book of puns, riddles, and puzzles — see also CROSSWORD PUZZLE b : JIGSAW PUZZLE — often used figuratively • The restaurant is trying to attract more customers, and the new menu is an important piece of the puzzle. [=an important part of what is being done] • Researchers are close to finding a solution, but they haven't found the final pieces of the puzzle.

2 : something or someone that is difficult to understand — usually singular • The cause of the explosion was a puzzle. [=no one knew what caused the explosion] • His strange behavior is a puzzle to his friends. [=his friends don't understand the reason for his strange behavior]

2 puzzle verb puzzles; puz-zled; puz-zling [+ obj] : to confuse (someone) : to be difficult for (someone) to understand • The question puzzled me. [=I did not know the answer to the question] • The cause of the accident has puzzled investigators. • I was puzzled by his behavior. [=I did not understand the reason for his behavior]

puzzle out [phrasal verb] puzzle (something) out or puzzle out (something) : to understand or find (something, such as the answer to a difficult problem) by careful thinking • She puzzled out the meaning of the strange phrase.

puzzle over [phrasal verb] puzzle over (something) : to think or worry for a long time about (something) • He's been puzzling over whether to buy a new car. • We puzzled over the best arrangement for the furniture.

puzzled adj [more ~; most ~] : feeling or showing confusion because something is difficult to understand • Investigators are puzzled about the cause of the accident. • He had a very puzzled [=confused] look on his face.

puz-zle-ment /'pʌzəlmənt/ noun, formal

1 [noncount] : a feeling of being confused because something is difficult to understand • The cause of the accident has been a source of puzzlement. • The explanation only increased their puzzlement.

2 [singular] chiefly US : something that is difficult to understand • The cause of the accident is a puzzlement. [=puzzle]

puz-zler /'pʌzələ/ noun, pl puz-zlers [count] informal : something that is confusing or difficult to understand — usually singular • The question is a real puzzler.

puz-zling /'pʌzəlɪŋ/ adj [more ~; most ~] : causing or likely to cause confusion : difficult to solve or understand • puzzling questions • a puzzling metaphor/statement/event • The directions are somewhat puzzling.

PVC /'piːviːsiː/ noun [noncount] : a type of plastic used for pipes that carry water and for many other products ♦ PVC is an abbreviation of "polyvinyl chloride."

Pvt. abbr, US private • Pvt. David Logan

PX abbr, US post exchange

1 pyg-my also pig-my /'pɪɡmi/ noun, pl -mies [count]

1 Pygmy : a member of a group of very small people who live in Africa

2 disapproving : a person who is regarded as very weak, stupid, etc. • an intellectual pygmy

2 pygmy also pigmy adj, always used before a noun, biology — used to describe a type of plant or animal that is smaller than the usual size • a pygmy elephant pyjamas Brit spelling of PAJAMAS

py-lon /'paɪ,lɑ:n/ noun, pl -lons [count]

1 a : a tall tower or similar structure • The bridge is supported by concrete pylons. b : a tall, metal structure that is part of a series of structures supporting a long stretch of electrical wire • a row of electricity pylons

2 US : TRAFFIC CONE

3 American football : one of the upright markers that are positioned at the corners of the end zone

pyr-a-mid /'pɪrə,mɪd/ noun, pl -mids [count]

1 a : a very large structure built especially in ancient Egypt that has a square base and four triangular sides which form a point at the top • the ancient pyramids of Egypt b : a shape, object, or pile that is wide near the bottom and narrows gradually as it reaches the top • a pyramid of apples/oranges — see picture at GEOMETRY

2 : something that resembles a pyramid in the way its parts are arranged or organized • the social pyramid • (US) the food pyramid [=a drawing or chart that is shaped like a pyramid and that shows the type of food you should eat for a healthy diet]

— py-ra-mi-dal /pə'ræmədl/ adj • a pyramidal structure pyramid scheme noun, pl ~ schemes [count] : a dishonest and usually illegal business in which many people are persuaded to invest their money and the money of later investors is used to pay the people who invested first — called also (US) Ponzi scheme

pyre /'paɪə/ noun, pl pyres [count] : a pile of wood for burning a dead body • a funeral pyre

Py-rex /'paɪ,rɛks/ trademark — used for a type of special glass that can get very hot without breaking py-rite /'paɪ,raɪt/ noun [noncount] : a common mineral that is shiny and pale yellow in color

py-ro-ma-nia /,paɪrou'memɪjə/ noun [noncount] : a mental illness that makes people have a strong desire to set fires

— py-ro-ma-ni-ac /,paɪrou'memɪ,æk/ noun, pl -acs [count] • The fire was set by a pyromaniac.

py-ro-tech-nics /,paɪrə'teknɪks/ noun [plural]

1 : a bright display of fireworks

2 : a very impressive show or display that requires great skill • The visual pyrotechnics of the film are stunning. • verbal/musical pyrotechnics

Pyr-rhic victory /'pɪrɪk-/ noun, pl ~ -ries [count] : a victory that is not worth winning because so much is lost to achieve it • The company won the lawsuit, but it was a Pyr-rhic victory because of all the bad publicity they received during the trial.

py-thon /'paɪ,θɑ:n/ noun, pl -thons [count] : a very large snake that kills the animals it eats by wrapping itself around them

QED /'kjuː,iː'diː/ abbr — used to say that something (such as a particular fact or a logical statement) proves what you were trying to prove ♦ QED is an abbreviation of the Latin phrase "quod erat demonstrandum," /'kwɑːd'eə,ɑːt,dɛmən-'strændəm/ which means "which was to be demonstrated."

qt. abbr quart

q.t. /'kjuː'tiː/

on the q.t. or on the Q.T. informal : in a secret or quiet way

• All the arrangements were made on the q.t. • She told me about it on the q.t. • This information is private, so keep it on the q.t. [=don't tell anyone about it]

Q-tips /'kjuː,tɪps/ trademark — used for short sticks that have pieces of soft cotton at both ends

Q

q or Q /'kjuː/ noun, pl q's or qs or Q's or Qs : the 17th letter of the English alphabet [count] The word "quart" begins with a q. [noncount] The word "quart" begins with q. mind your p's and q's see 1P

QA abbr quality assurance

Q and A or Q & A noun, pl Q and A's or Q & A's [count] : a period of time or an occasion when someone answers questions that are asked by a reporter, by the people in an audience, etc. • There will be a brief Q and A following the speech. — often used before another noun • a Q and A session

QB abbr quarterback

QC abbr 1 quality control 2 Brit Queen's Counsel

Q